A great fair has lately been held in Wilmington, Del., at which the races were of exceedingly good quality The horses put forward for competition were all judged according to points, and the first premium for four-year-old stallions was won by Bentoneer, 6410, b h, by Gen. Benton, 1755, dam Guess by Electioneer, 125; g d Gazelle, by Primas, 255; g g d Mayfly (dam of Bonita, 2:18½), by St. Clair.

H. C. Royer, M. D., of Los Angeles, Cal., purchased September 18, of J. L. Connor, the roan pacing three-year-old colt Forrest Golddust Jr. by Standard Bearer; dam Molly K. Standard Bearer by Forrest Golddust; dam Comet Morgan. Molly K. by Woodford Knox; dam Kansas Bell. Forrest Golddust Jr., is a roan horse, 15½ hands, weighs about 1,000 pounds, natural pacer and showed an eighth in 19½ seconds to road cart, at Los Angeles Agricultural Park, September 17.

Probably one of the largest offers ever made to the owner of a stallion for the services of the same, has been made to W. Corbitt, Esq., of the San Mateo Stock Farm, for Guy Wilkes, 2:15½, for the season of 1890. A telegram has been received by Mr. Corbitt, offering him $20,000 for the services of the stallion next season, and also a like sum for him for 1891. The offer is made by J. E. Green, of Louisville, Ky.

At the termination of the last billiard match Mr. Saylors friends and backers were very jubilant and offered to back Saylor for any amount of money for a game of 1,000 points up even against Prof. McCleery.

McCooly asked them to pledge their word that they would do so, which was done, Mr. J. Rucker, of San Jose, acting as sookesman.

McCleery now challenges Saylor for the championship and $2000 ($1000 a side) and has placed $500 as a forfeit in the hands of Joyce & Orndroff at the Cafe Royal.

Last Saturday, attached to the north bound train, was a car, to which this sign was attached, "California stock from Hancock Johnston's Stock Farm, Los Angeles, to be sold at W. T. Woodward's, Lexington, Ky., October 15th." Within the car were 10 yet unnamed colts boasting one or other of the following speedy sires: Stamboul, 2:14¾, Monroe Chief, 2:18½; Bonnie McGregor, 2:13½; Richmond, no record, but sire of Arrow, with a record of 2:13¾. The colts were in charge of Joseph Romero, who in March last took 10 head of yearlings from the same ranch to New York City, where they sold for $7,100.—(Kern Californian).

Says a correspondent to the America Agriculturist: "Your pond, filled with stagnant water, covered in summer with green vegetation, is an unwholesome water supply for stock, and can scarcely fail to be a scource of malaria. It would be far better to drain it and cultivate the land it covers. If it is supplied by springs they may be conducted into a sunken trough or shallow brick cistern laid in cement mortar. If the pond is wholly supplied by surface water, a well would be better, unless the water in the vicinity contains Epsom salts, or other injurious substances in solution. In that case a new pond is the best available resource. It may be made to hold water if it is bottomed with puddled clay. This is clay packed down hard while in a moderately damp condition. If this is not available, cover the bottom and sides with a concrete made of gravel or broken stones mixed with the cement and sand."

It is given out that a gentleman who very modestly declines te have his name made public, has paid $5,000 for the brood mare qualities next season of the three-year-old filly Palo Alto Belle, full sister to Bell Boy, and that she will be bred to Alcantara. All that The Gazette can say regarding this secretive Crœsus is that he is a game man. Thus far nothing like the sum of $5,000 has been paid in advance, without any qualification whatever, for the use of a brood mare one season, and although Palo Alto Belle is a full sister to Bell Roy, and has herself a record better than 2:30 as a two-year old, the price is a long one. We believe that Mr. Robert Bonner once gave or offered to give $4,000 for a foal out of Green Mountain Maid, provided the youngster was foaled perfect in form and stood up to suckle. This, however, was very different from paying $5,000 cash for the use of the mare one season, then adding to that the service fee of whatever stallion might be selected, and the keep of the mare for a twelve month. But this is the era of a boom in trotting blood, especially that of Electioneer and George Wilkes, so that almost anything in the way of sensational prices may be looked for.

Speaking of Bob Swimm, the old time jockey, a contemporary gives the following interesting story: "Bobby Swimm was a great jockey, but he would drink. On one occasion in Lexington there was to be a great race between Himyar, then a three year old, owned by Major Thomas of Fayette County, and Cammie F. Swimm wanted the mount on Himyar, but Price advised against him and his offer was declined. 'Now is my chance to get square,' said Bobby; 'I'll ride Cammie F and beat the best three year old this country has ever seen.' Going to the owners of Cammie F he told them just how he felt and that he would win the race if he rode her. He got the mount. This was the night before the race and it rained all night. At the break of day Swimm took the mare out and sent her around the course once. Then he dismounted and walked around the track, carefully examining its condition. When the race came off Himyar took the lead and Bobby took a pull on Cammie F. He kept, however, forcing the colt to do his best until they entered the home-stretch. Then Himyar seemed to come away. Bobby, however, was not napping. Cammie F., under his guidance, seemed to swerve, and the shouts of the multitude went up, 'Himyar wins!' A moment later they noticed Bobby coming on the outside of the track with Cammie like a streak of chain lightning. He had got on the dry part of the track and they cheered him as he landed the mare a winner, making the deposed jockey feel well rewarded. As he walked up to Major Thomas after he had weighed in he exclaimed: 'I guess you will let me ride Himyar the next time he starts.' He never did, however, as the Major could never place any confidence in Bobby."

A NEW CIRCUIT.

The Puget Sound Cities Join in the Van and Organize an Association—A Most Auspicious Opening at Port Townsend—Seattle, Tacoma, Westminster and Victoria to Follow.

The Puget Sound country, which is now so rapidly developing, has long felt the necessity of a racing association to afford and regulate that most interesting amusement. The matter has at last been attended to, and to the united efforts of Charley Clancy and John Cort, of Seattle, is due the formation of the Puget Sound Racing Association. The new association has a most complete circuit, comprising the cities of Seattle, Tacoma, Olympia, Port Townsend, Westminster and Victoria, and expect soon to control Vancouver and several other smaller places. The headquarters of the association are at 116 Washington St., Seattle.

The association has induced any number of horse owners to enter their animals, and the prospect of a fine season of good racing is a most propitious one. While the purses which are now offered will probably be considered small, yet if the age of the association and the risks attending such an experiment are considered, they seem much larger. When the managers feel themselves treading on more reliable ground they mean to increase the size of the purses and make this circuit second to none in the Northwest.

Hereafter the dates of their spring, summer and fall meetings will be made to conform to those of the Oregon and Montana meetings, so that horse owners may be able to bring their horses here without any loss. For the greater convenience of the horsemen the managers have chartered the steamer City of Quincy for transporting the flyers around the Sound.

Great credit is due Messrs. Clancy and Cort for their already assured success. It is required a great deal hustling to bring the matter about, but they prove equal to it, and the great Sound country has them to thank for his stupendous undertaking in its interest.

The circuit opened at Point Townsend on Saturday, Sept. 21st, with three well-filled races on the programme, and continued for two days. Throughout the meeting the racing was most excellent, every finish being a driving one and the winners only snatching a victory from the wire. The attendance was poor considering the attraction, and the betting light. The track at Port Townsend, which is the property of Capt. H. L. Tibbals, an old pioneer and resident of the Key City, is situated on a nice elevation about four miles from the city, and is reached by a good road and motor line. It is a five-eighths track and surrounds a very pretty lake, which gives a good effect upon the surroundings. The track itself is an excellent one barring a few light sandy places, and is a testimonial to the ability and judgment of its proprietor. There is ample stable room, a large stand, auction booths and everything necessary for a complete racing park, within a few hundred feet is a first-class hotel.

A number of the owners, who have brought their horses here, preferred to commence running their horses at Seattle, at left out Port Townsend. Notwithstanding this, an excellent lot of animals went to Townsend, and afforded those who went to see them the "finest racing ever known on the Sound," as the press unamiously proclaimed it. All the finest animals in the Northwestern country have been drawn together, and there now seems to be a possible chance that long-disputed supremacy among owners of horseflesh will be contested and settled.

The Seattle meeting commences Thursday, September 26, 1889, and continues four days. Each day's programme contains four or five races, and they promise to be well attended.—Rural Spirit.

Improving the Pace.

The Record of 1889 Surpasses all Preceding Ones.

The following carefully prepared article is taken from the Sacramento Bee:

On Saturday evening last the thirty-sixth annual California State Fair came to a close—and a most successful one it was. At the commencement receipts each day showed an increase over the corresponding day of last year, and as the Fair progressed it became quite evident that from a financial standpoint this year's exhibition was going to be a grand success.

Prior to the opening of the racing programme, many were the queries heard as to what we could expect, but no one was so sanguine as to predict such a meeting—trotting, pacing and running—as has now gone into history. While it is true that we, on this coast, are progressing each year in the matter of breeding fine stock, and this progression is making itself quite evident at our Fall circuit meetings, it would have been considered the highest of folly for any one a few years ago to have stated in public that before 1890 we would see some remarkably

FAST CALIFORNIA-BRED YOUNGSTERS

At our State Eair—horses that would trot down in the teens. A study of our State Fair just closed, however, will show how truthful such a remark would have been, for Sunol, a three year old, trotted in 2:16½; Margaret S., a three year old, in 2:19½; Lord Byron, a four year old, 2:18; Direct, a four year old, in 2:18¼; and Yolo Maid, a four year old, paced in 2:12½. The Bee has in past years given a comparison of each year's fair with its predecessors, but it must be said that the meeting in 1889 stands "head and shoulders" above any Fair ever before given on the Pacific Coast. The meeting was of nine days' duration, and in that time four pacing, eleven trotting and nineteen running events were decided. A noticeable feature of the meeting was that while the Eastern bred horses were largely represented, Songstress, Picnic, Atto Rex and St. Patrick were the only representatives that won during the meeting.

A COMPARISON OF TIME RECORDED.

The fastest time trotted or paced at the State Fair of 1884 was 2:21; 1885, 2:18½; 1886, 2:16½; 1887, 2:15½; 1888, 2:16½; 1889, 2:12½. In 1885 five heats were trotted in 2:20 or better; in 1886, five; in 1887 five trotted and four paced; in 1888 three trotted and one paced; in 1889 nine trotted and nine paced. In 1888 there were nineteen heats trotted and seven paced in 2:25 or better, while in 1889 there were twenty-four trotted and fourteen paced.

By carrying the comparison farther it will be seen that as regards the average time of each heat trotted or paced at various fairs, the fair just closed still remains in the lead. In 1886 it required 65 heats to decide the trotting and pacing races, and the average time per mile was 2:25½; in 1887, 59 heats were required and the average time was 2:24¾; in 1888, 42 heats were required and the average time was 2:25⅝; in 1889, 50 heats were required and the average time was 2:22¼. In 1888 it required 35 heats to decide the trotting races and the average time per mile was 2:26¾; in 1889 it required the same number (35 heats) to decide the trotting races, but the avearge was reduced to 2:23¾. The pacing races in 1888 were decided in seven heats, and the average time was 2:21½. This year it required 15 heats to decide the pacing contests, and the average was 2:19¼.

THE NUMBER OF STARTERS.

At the previous State Fairs we have had a few more starters in the races than was the rule at the past one, but this in accounted for by the fact that at this year's meeting the class of horses was so good that the owners of some of the other nominations saw the folly of paying up the full entrance on horses which they knew were outclassed, hence the falling off in the number of starters. The number of entries to the stakes and purses this year was the equal of any preceeding year, and, in fact, was much larger in the thoroughbred department. In 1886 in 16 trotting and pacing races there were 59 starters, an average of 4⅛ to each race; and in 17 running races, 95 starters, an average of 5¼. In 1887 in 18 trotting and pacing races there wers 69 starters, an average of 3 5-6; and in 17 running races 80 starters, an average of 5. In 1888 in 12 trotting and pacing races there were 53 starters, an average of 4 5 12; and 18 running races 101 starter, an average of 5 11-18. In 1889 in 15 trotting and pacing races there were 60 starters, an average of 4; and in 18 running races, 90 starters, an average of 4¼.

To give its readers an opportunity of comparing this fall's meeting with that of last year. The Bee presents below a tabulated list of the trotting and pacing races:

THE HARNESS DIVISIONS.

By a perusal of the following table the reader may learn of the doings of trotters and pacers in 1888:

Class.	Winner.	Best Time	No. of Heats
Occident Stake	Redwood	2:23½	4
2:25	Valentine	2:21½	5
2:30 (pacing)	Yolo Maid	2:19	3
2-year-old	Margaret S.	2:31	2
Stallion	Woodnut	2:16½	5
2:30	Rosie Mc	2:20¾	4
3-year-old	Grandee	2:28	3
2:20	Woodnut	2:22½	3
3 minute	Maggie E.	2:23	3
2:25	Victor	2:22½	3
4-year-old	Dubec	2:28½	3
Free-for-all (pacing)	Al. Patchen	2:21	4
*Free-for-all			.
*2:40			.
*3-year-old pace			.

*Declared off on account of rain.

The following is a tabulated record of the doings of the harness division in 1888:

Class.	Winner.	Best Time	No. of Heats.
Occident Stake	Sunol	2:16½	w o.
2:23	Thapsin	2:22	3
2:30 (pacing)	Edwin C	2:18	5
2-year-old	Lorena	2:28½	3
Stallion	Direct	2:20	3
2:30	Lord Byron	2:18	5
3-year-old	Sunol	2:18	3
2:20	Franklin	2:21¼	4
3-minute	H. Wilkes	2:22½	3
2:27	Atto Rex	2:24½	3
4-year-old	Direct	2:18¾	3
Special pace	Yolo Maid	2:12½	3
2:40	Wanda	2:25½	1
Special paces	Creole	2:21½	3
2:20 pace	St. Patrick	2:19½	1

THE RUNNING EVENTS.

Below will also be found a tabulated list of the running races decided at the State Fairs of 1888-9, with the distance, winner and time in each:

Race.	Distance.	Winner and Time, 1888.	Winner and Time, 1889.
Introduction	¾ mile	Don Jose, 1:17	Racine, 1:15½
Cal. Breeders'	1½ miles	Peel, 2:12½	Picnic, 2:10½
Swift	1½ miles		Peel, 1:55
Free purse	1-mile heat.	Canny Scott, 1:45½, 1:44½	Mikado, 1: 4½, 1:44
Premium	¾ mile	Daisy D., 1:14¾	Daisy D., 1:15
Cal. Annual	1 mile	Almont, 1:42¼	Flambeau, 1:44
La Rue	2½ mile	Canny Scott, 4:02	Tycoon, 2:40½
Selling purse	1 1-16 miles	Elwood, 1:51
Sunny Slope	⅝ mile	Faustine, 1:02½	Jessie C., 1:02
Shafter	1¼ miles	Brutus, 2:11	Songstress, 1:53
Del Paso	¾-mile heats	*Not Idle, 1:15, 1:15½, 1:16	Tycoon, 1:42¼, 1:42¾
Free purse	1 mile	Edelweiss, 1:43¼	Glen Ellen, 1:42¾
Special	½-mile heats	†Blue Bonnet, 1:30¼, 1:30, 1:32¼
Cal. Derby	1½ miles	Peel, 2:38¼	Hotspur, 2:40
Palo Alto	1 mile	The Czar, 1:44	Raindrop, 1:02
Golden Gate	1½ miles	Moses B., 3:08½
Nighthawk	1 mile	Almont, 1:42¼	Rico, 1:42
Free	1 1-16 mile heats	Laura Gardner, 1:51, 1:53	†Longshot, 1:51¼, 1:52, 1:56
Capital City	1½ miles	Extract, 1:58½	Lurline, 1:49½
Prize	1½ miles		Peel, 2:08¾
Cal. Autumn	¾ mile		Racine, 1:15
Gentleman's	1 mile		Filly D., 1:47¾

NOTE—In 1889, the Premium Stake was changed to the Daisy D.; the distance in the LaRue reduced to 1½ miles; in the Shafter to 1⅛ miles; and in the Palo Alto to ⅞ of a mile. The distance in the Del Paso Stake was increased to 1-mile heats.

* Peregrine won the first heat.
† Kildare won the second heat.
† Welcome won the first heat.

THE WINNING OWNERS.

It is the custom with the leading papers in the East, to give a list of the winning owners at the large meetings, together with the amounts won by each, and as the question has been repeatedly asked, as to which stable won the largest amount, and the winnings of the various stables at the State Fair, The Bee made inquiries at Secretary Smith's office, and is thereby enabled to give the information. The Palo Alto Stock Farm (Senator Stanford) was the largest winner. Below is a list of the winnings.

Palo Alto Stock Farm—Peel, $2,320; Racine, $1 980; Flambeau, $1,865; Sunol, $1,365; Rico, $620; Raindrop, $25. Total, $8,175.

L. U. Shippee—Picnic, $1,520; Songstress, $660; Fellowcharm, $200; Moses S., $133.35. Total $2,513.35.

Pleasanton Stock Farm—Direct, $1,628 58; Margaret S., $425; Gold Leaf, $120. Total, $2,173.58.

Marcus Daly—Yolo Maid, $720; Lord Byron, $500; St. Patrick, $480; Senator, $300 Total, $2 000.

B. P. Hill—Tycoon, $1,590; Mikado, $400. Total, $1,990.

W. B. Todhunter—Hotspur, $1,435.

Matt Storns—Lurline, $1,040; Glen Ellen, $250. Total, $1.290.

The above list represents the stables that won $1,000 and over at the meeting. Below are those that won less than $1,000: R. B. Cockrell, $905; W. L. Appleby, $900; E. B. Gifford, $830; O. A. Hickok, $761.77; La Siesta Ranch, $750; W. F. Smith, $720; W. Corbitt, $600; C. A. Davis & Co., $600; B. E. Harris, $575; G. A. Doherty, $480; A. G. Todd's, $425; Oak Grove Stable, $350; B. C. Holly, $310; T. H. Griffin, $300; J. McBride, $300; T. Snider, $300; Napa Stock Farm, $250; W. Ober, $219 65; Kelly & Samuels, $200; A. C. Dietz, $150; A. Harrison, $150; H. I. Thornton, $150; W. M. Murry, $150; J. Green, $150; A. L. Hart, $150; R. H. Newton, $125; G. E. Guerne, $100; J. Coobran, $100; J. A. Goldsmith, $100; H. B. Starr, $100; Irvin Ayres, $66 65; J. W. Donathan, $50; G. W. Trahern, $50; J. B. Chase, $50.

THE KENNEL.

Dog owners are requested to send for publication the earliest possible notices of whelps, sales, names claimed, presentations and deaths in their kennels, in all instances writing plainly names of sire and dam and of grandparents, colors, dates and breed.

Whelps.

Mr. C. A. Loud's (Corvallis, Or.,) English setter bitch Rural whelped, October 2d., 1889, seven, two dogs, to owner's Romeo.

Mr. George T. Allender's (Watsonville) pointer bitch by Point—Blossom,* whelped, September 4th, 1889, one dog pup, to owner's Roscoe by Don—Sall.

W. H. Taylor's imported thoroughbred Willoughby pug bitch Fanny (by Squire Milburn's Fritz out of W. Hutton's Gyp), whelped on September 10, 1889, four puppies, to Mrs. McCleery's Budge (prize winner P. K. C., 1888). Also,

W. H. Taylor's Willoughby pug bitch Fido (imported Prince—Fanny), whelped seven puppies to Mrs. McCleery's Budge.

Deaths.

Mr. E. P. Fish (San Francisco) has lost by death the curly English retriever Fino, 14 years old.

Tom Pinch in the East.

When Mr. J. Martin Barney took his pointers Tom Pinch, Galatea and Lady Pinch east a few months ago, with the avowed intention of showing them, if possible, his many friends in California felt sure that Tom at least would take a lot of beating. The news now comes that at the Elmira, N. Y., dog show Tom Pinch won first in heavy weight pointers and Lady Pinch by Tom Pinch—Galatea won first in pointer bitches of 50 pounds and over. In light weight pointer bitches Galatea won second, being beaten by B. F. Lewis' Venice by Drake—Rowdy. Such success in such company argues high merit in Mr. Barney's pointers, and his success will be learned with pleasure and without envy by the friends who will meet him and his dogs in January at the field trials, ready for a race for almost any amount. That superb contemporary, the American Field, says of Mr. Barney's dogs:

Pointers were a good class. Mr. J. Martin Barney of San Francisco, brought his dogs east to compare them with the cracks. Tom Pinch is a worthy son of old Beulah, and a credit to her breeder, Plover. If he can breed more like Tom, he will not often have to ask "Why?" Second went to Sam, one of the best headed dogs I have seen in a long time. Third went to Ike, a fair dog but wrong in head and quarters. The prize should have gone to Prince Bang, who got V. H. C. Lad is a well built dog, but his bitch head spoils him. Mr. Barney also won first in bitches, with the good and handsome Lady Pinch. Devonshire Countess and Don's Dot had to be content with second and third, although they were handled by such good and skillful men as Fred. Kirby and Ben Lewis; for it is a fact that a good handler can make his dog score ten per cent. more than an amateur. Ned B must now go in the challenge class, he having won first at Brooklyn, but it was after the Elmira entries closed so he could not be transferred. Although a good dog, he is too leggy, and after a careful examination was obliged to lower his colors to Forest King who is probably the best lightweight pointer in the open class in America, and will make it hot for the challenge class at the Winter and Spring shows; but he needs a good and careful handler. In light-weight bitches, first went to Venus, and second to Galatea who should have changed places with Naja. She is a fine bitch with no fault except being a bit thick in skull.

The California Kennels.

There has of late years been a great improvement in California in the matter of the breeding of fine dogs, especially for field purposes. Formerly but little attention was paid to the important matter of preserving the purity of bloodlines, but this indifference is rapidly disappearing, and now all intelligent sportsmen recognize the advantages of preserving undefiled the pedigrees of their field companions. There are now a number of first-class breeding kennels in this State, both of pointers and setters, and California can boast of as purely-bred and brilliant performers in the field as any other part of the world. In San Francisco A. B. Truman has a fine kennel of Irish setters; in Solano, George W. Bassford is a prominent breeder of thorough-bred pointers—many of which have won distinction, both on the bench and at field trials—and in Sacramento is located the "California Kennel" of Messrs. Post and Watson, whose specialty is the popular Llewellin breed of setters.

THE CALIFORNIA KENNEL.

A recent visit to the California Kennel in Sacramento afforded an opportunity to examine three very fine litters of purely-bred Llewellin setter pups. The first inspected were by Loadstone, out of Janet, all evenly marked—black and white and black, white and tan; five males and one female. Loadstone is a racy looking orange and white dog, imported from Tennessee. He was sired by that wonderful field trial winner, Gladstone, whose fame has been heralded all over the world wherever sportsmanship finds a group of devotees. Gladstone was imported in utero from England, his dam being the famous Petrel, having been bred to Llewellin's Dan before being shipped to America. Dan, the sire of Gladstone, is described by "Leatherhead," the leading English critic in Bell's Life, published in London, and a leading authority on matters pertaining to sportsmanship, as follows:

So I am brought to the name of the greatest celebrity of the day, Purcell Llewellin's Dan, by Barclay Field's Duke, out of Mr. Statter's Rhœbe. Duke was a winner of the field trials at Stafford in 1886, 1887 and 1888. Mr. Statter's celebrity, Rhœbe, is looked upon as the Pocahontas in setter breeding, as she not only hit remarkably well with the above named Duke in producing Dan and a whole litter besides of field-trial winners, but she also nicked well with several pure Laverack setters, as, for instance, to old Blue Dash she produced Bruce, a winner at Shrewsbury, and perhaps as good a dog as ever sportsman shot to, besides Rob Roy, Rose and Ruoy, all winners, to Fred II., a Laverack. She had the knack of throwing them all good, but she never had a grander looking one than Mr. Llewellin's Duke, a wonderfully fine setter, possessing tremendous bone, and built to gallop on every line. He won the only event he was ever entered for at field trials, including the champion cup; but then he put his shoulder out, and was consequently never seen in public again. However, Old George, Mr. Statter's breaker, who brought out Rob Roy and the rest of Mr. Statter's noted ones, has always declared that Dan was the best one he ever broke in his life, and he has certainly proved this merit, which he inherited from Duke and Rœbe, down to future generations, as undoubtedly Dan has proved a great stud success. He is the sire of * * * Countess Bear, Countess Moll, Nora, Novel and Norna, all field-trial winners, and such good ones as Count Dick * * * (sire of Count Wind'em, spoken of further on). It is, of course, an undoubted fact that he has had some extraordinarily good chances, for there are only two other bitches in the whole of England that can be compared to Mr. Llewellin's Countess, Nellie and Lill, in any degree whatever. The best setter bitches in the world I have often stated Countess and Nellie to be, and I fear no contradictions on the subject.

Loadstone's dam Flounce, was sired by Champion Druid out of another great brood bitch, Ruby (American). Druid won five English field trials, and was imported by Arnold Burges, of Hillsdale, Mich., at a cost of $700, and was full brother to the field trial crack, Drake, owned by Luther Adams of Boston. Ruby (American) was sired by Rake, out of Fanny, a cross that is now more sought after than any other by breeders. Rake was also by Dan, out of Ruby (English), a sister to Champion Rob Roy. Loadstone is a full brother to the trial winners. Gay Gladstone, Florence Gladstone and Lindo, and a full brother in blood to those other trial winners, Sportsman, Gladstone's Boy, Dan Gladstone, Lillian and Keystone, the latter five being out of Sue. Flounce was full sister to the winners Sue, Buckellew, Juno A. and Flaxy.

JANET, THE DAM OF THE LITTER.

First referred to, was imported from Dowling, Mich., and was sired by Count Noble, out of Dashing Novice, and was a winner at the California trials held in Marin County in 1885, and was also the dam of Haroldine, who performed so brilliantly in the Derby of 1887.

Count Noble was imported from Mr. Llewellin's kennel in England in 1880, and that year won the National Derby run at Vincennes, Ind., and he has won at several trials since. Count Noble has been one of the few great sires of the world. Among the famous performers got by him are Gath, Roderigo, Carrie J., Nellie Bly, Countess Magnet, Sweetheart, Janet, San Roy, Count Piedmont, Katie D, Dashing Noble, Oliver Twist, Prince Noble, Bohemian Girl, Fred G, and others, all winners in the hottest company. But then Count Noble's prepotency is not so much a matter of surprise when one considers his breeding, he being by Count Wind'em out of Nora. Count Wind'em was conceded to be the handsomest setter in Europe, and was a crack field trial winner as well. Mr. Llewellin refused $4,000 offered by A. H. Moore of Philadelphia, for Count Wind'em, and at another time an offer of $5,000 from an English gentleman.

Count Wind'em was sired by Count Dick, out of the beautiful bitch Phantom, litter sister to Petrel, dam of Gladstone; and, with her equally beautiful sisters, Puzzle and Princess, Mr. Llewellin swept the decks in their classes at bench shows for a number of seasons. In 1879 Mr. L. H. Smith, of Strathroy, Ont., visited England. Mr. Smith is undoubtedly one of the best judges of field dogs on this side of the ocean, having imported a number of the best and bred a number of field trial winners. While in England he was invited by Mr. Llewellin to the latter's seat in Leicestershire, Ormsby Hall. In the American Field of August 30, 1879, Mr. Smith, in describing the dogs in Mr. Llewellin's kennel, thus speaks of Count Wind'em: "Soon Wind'em was walking across the floor of the fine old dining-room. I wish I could describe him so that those who read this could imagine they see him, but I cannot. * * * He is a beauty of beauties, and the king of dogs. To see him on game, as I did, is something one can never forget. Money can't buy Wind'em—I wish it could. I will not say what I would give for him; if I did I have no doubt some of my friends would consider me a very fit subject for a lunatic asylum."

The reporter for the American Field, in reporting the English trials held in April, 1879, writes of Count Wind'em: "Many gentlemen present stated that they considered Count Wind'em the grandest-looking setter that has ever appeared at any of the trials, while the way in which he does his work speaks for itself."

Count Noble's dam, Nora, was a great field trial bitch, and no doubt Noble owes much of his fire and dash to his brilliant mother. Nora was from one of the best crosses that Mr. Llewellin ever made, viz., the Dan-Nellie cross, as it produced the three great sisters, Nora, Novel and Norna.

Dashing Novice, Janet's dam, divides with Sue the honor of being the best bitch ever raced in public trials in America. Dashing Novice was whelped in Mr. Llewellin's kennel in England, and in April, 1881, when only nine months old, won third in the English Derby, and in December of the same year won first in the National Derby at Grand Junction, Tenn. She also won the Pennsylvania Derby in the same year, and has won at other trials since. Dashing Novice is superbly bred, being by Dash II., out of Novel. Dash II., was sired by Blue Prince, out of Armstrong's Kate, she by Laverack's Old Blue Dash, out of Old Kate, a sister to the great winner, Duke, spoken of above.

Dash II. was a beautiful dog of almost faultless form, and was selected by Stonehenge, the authority on the proper form of dogs the world over, to illustrate the English setter in his last edition of "Dogs of the British Islands." Dash II. won five English field trials, and was then purchased by Mr. Llewellin at the long price of $1,650, and for his new owner sired three different winners of the English Derby, viz: Dashing Bondhu, Dashing Ditto and Dashing Clinker. The former, in addition to winning the Derby, also won the aged stake while still in his puppy form, beating the great crack, Macdona's Ranger.

Novel (Dashing Novice's dam) is best described by G. Thorpe Bartram, the English correspondent of the American Field, in his "Notes on the English Field Trials of 1880," which appeared in that paper on June 10th of that year. Speaking of Novel, he says: "As to Purcell Llewellin's Novel has fallen the lion's share of honors. I shall, therefore, give her first place. She having won in the brace stakes and also run through the mixed aged stakes at Debden, entitles her to the 'blue ribbon' of the season, and she well deserves the prizes awarded to her. In appearance she is a beautiful animal. She is perfectly broken, requires no looking after at all, is as stanch as a rock, exhibits no jealousy, and is first class at backing. She exhibits a lovely temper, as seen by the anxiety she displays in obeying her instructions. It will be remembered by your readers that she was only put out of a big stake in 1878 in the last round by Dash II." Bred to the latter dog, she threw Dashing Novice, the dam of the California Kennel's Janet. "Leatherhead," in Bell's Life, said of Novel, "I should doubt if there is any setter living that could beat the beautiful bitch Novel."

THE NEXT LITTER EXAMINED

Was a beautiful lot of four dogs and three bitches, all evenly marked—orange and white—by Loadstone, out of Enid. Enid is a handsome orange and white bitch, imported from Georgia, sired by Gleam, out of Doe, and is a half-sister to the field trial bitch Daisy F., and is an exceedingly well-bred one. Gleam was sired by Lincoln, out of Blaze. In 1877, Harry Bishop and Joseph A. Dew, two wealthy residents of Tennessee, concluded to establish a first-class kennel of Llewellin setters and cast about for a stud dog. J. C. Higgins, of Wilmington, Delaware, brother of the present United States Senator from that State—who is also very fond of setters—had, a few months before, imported from Mr. Llewellin's kennel the dog Lincoln, by Dan, out of Lill II. Messrs. Dew and Bishop journeyed to Wilmington and inspected Lincoln, and were greatly pleased with him, but thought they would go to England and see what they could do there in the way of getting a stud dog to meet their fancy, and also some bitches. They went and found nothing that money would buy that suited them as well as Lincoln, although they offered $3,000 for Count Wind'em; so, when they returned they purchased Lincoln for $1,500, and placed him at the head of the Montview Kennel at Columbia, Tenn.

Lincoln, after their purchase of him, won first in the aged stake at Patoka in 1879, and first in brace stakes with Count Fred, and many of the Lincoln partisans always claimed that Lincoln was the peer of Gladstone in the field, although the dogs never met in competition. When in England Messrs. Dew and Bishop purchased from Mr. Llewellin the bitch Countess Bear, winner of the first English Derby, and before starting for America bred her to Reed's Sam a winner of eight English field trials. Countess Bear was sired by Dan out of Countess.

About 1880 the Montview kennel was broken up, and Countess Bear was advertised for sale at $750. As soon as Mr. Llewellin heard of it he cabled across and bought her back at that price. After she arrived again in England she whelped two winners of the English Derby, viz; Dashing Bondhu and Dashing Clinker, while Dashing Beauty, sister to Dashing Bondhu, won the puppy stake at Mansfield the same year that Bondhu won, beating a field sixteen. These three were sired by Dash II. Countess, the dam of Countess Bear, when she came out, was the most beautiful bitch that had ever been seen in public in England, and while she swept the bench by her beauty and perfect form, she also cleaned up most of the prizes at field trails by her wonderful speed, range and nose.

Countess Bear, shortly after arriving in this country, whelped to her service by Sam, and Blaze was one of the few—if not the only one— that reached maturity. From the crossing of Blaze with Lincoln came Gleam. Doe, the dam of Enid, was sired by Buckellew, a trial winner, out of Brimstone, the latter by Gladstone out of Swaze, by Rake out of Fanny. Thus Enid, through her dam, Doe, gets one cross of Gladstone, one of Druid, and two of Rake-Fanny.

The next lot of youngsters to be inspected was

A LITTER BY HAROLD, OUT OF SUNLIT.

Sunlit and her dam, Sweetheart, are the pride of the California Kennel. Sunlit is a bitch of the highest form. She can boast of having more field trial winners in her pedigree than any setter in the world, barring her brothers and sisters. Out of her first fourteen ancestors twelve are field trial winners, and she herself won the California Derby of 1888, with but nine days' handling. Brought home after her run in the derby, she laid around her kennel yard until three weeks before the trials last January, when she was taken to Bakersfield, hunted eight times and started in the aged stakes in which she beat her first three opponents. Running rank and willful, she was beaten for first, and then for second by her litter brother, Sirius, she winning third.

She was sired by Sportsman, and is out of Sweetheart.

Sportsman won the National Derby of 1884, without an error, from one of the hottest fields that ever started, his full brother, six months older (Gladstone's Boy) being second, and his litter sister Lillian, dividing third. This was the only Derby that Sportsman started in, and Gladstone's Boy won the other two, viz.: the Eastern and Southern, and Lillian won a place in each of them. Sportsman was sired by Gladstone, out of Sue.

Sue's field trial record has never been equalled in America. She won first in three all-aged events, divided second in another with Dashing Novice, and a champion stake with Gath. A grand bitch herself, her progeny and their "progeny's progeny" inherit her great qualities.

SWEETHEART, JANET'S LITTLE SISTER,

With only a few days' handling, divided second and third in the California Derby of 1884. The great field qualities that she displayed suggested to her owners that they ought to select a dog fully her peer to which to breed her. The choice was easily made, after surveying the field, and Sweetheart was shipped by express to Tennessee to be bred to Sportsman. After being bred she was expressed back to California, and in due time she presented her owners with a beautiful litter of eight, everyone perfectly marked, and all that came to maturity proved to be nelders. She whelped in May, and the following November won the California all-aged stake at Hanford from a good field of dogs, among them being Lassie, Tom Pinch, Mountain Boy, Dashing Money, and Royal Duke II.

Harold, the sire of Sunlit's puppies, was imported from Tennessee. He ran second in the aged stake run at Hanford in January, 1888. He is a little brother to Gath's Mark, who won the Eastern all-aged stake in 1886, when a puppy; also to Gath's Hope, who won the National Derby of 1886 and sired Dave R, who won the America Derby of 1887, as also Gath's Pride, sire of Crofton, who won the Texas Derby of 1889. Harold was sired by Gath out of Gem.

Gath is called the "Phenomenal Gath," on account of the remarkable brilliancy of his public performances at field trials. The expression "choke bore nose" and "Creedmoor nose" were coined to describe the great distance at which he would point birds. Gath was sired by Count Noble, out of Peep O'Day by Gladstone out of Clip, who was from that splendid cross, Leicester—Dart.

Peep O'Day won a place in her derby year, first in an all-aged stake, and other places at field trials, and was one of the best bench bitches ever shown. Clip was also a field trial winner. Gem, Harold's dam, was a grand bitch by Gladstone out of Gazelle, by Druid out of Jolly May, by Rob Roy out of Pocahontas, by Rock out of Dora. Gem started but once, and that was in the first series of the National Derby of 1884, against Lillian, who won third. Mr. Bryson, owner of Lillian, wrote concerning that contest, that if Gem had not been interfered with by her handler she would have beaten Lillian.

Rob Roy won the Shrewsbury championship and four other trials in England, and was imported to America by Arnold Burges at a cost of $1,000.

Rock was sired by Bruce, a winner of the Shrewsbury championship, out of Daisy, a trial winner, and won the Shrewsbury championship himself, and was then imported to America by Luther Adams at a long price.

Limited space forbids anything like a description of the noted dogs thus briefly referred to, but this partial statement of the records made by them indicates the sort of field dogs that are now being bred in California.

The London Stook Keeper has these strictures upon the recent movement by the American Kennel Club to make the rendering of official reports by dog show judges to the American Kennel Gazette, obligatory.

For an institution in a Republican country, we must say the American Kennel Club is an extraordinarily autocratic body. Its last imperial decree, insists that judges shall furnish reports for publication in their official organ, and, considering that the judges are gentlemen who discharge the judicial duties with no other return than that very empty one—"the honor of the thing," an observer cannot help being struck with the curious idea of blending an onerous obligation with an honorary office.

The committee of the American Kennel Club probably smooths out any objections to this proposal with the excuse that appears to satisfy all doubts on sporting subjects in the United States: "It's English, you know."

But is this English? We think we can show our Transatlantic cousins that they have misunderstood the practice in this country, and have gone far beyond what is done by our club. The English Club would never have ventured upon such an arrogant step as insisting that all judges at shows held under Kennel Club Rules should write the reports for their paper. The utmost that they do is to forward a polite appeal to the judges at their own shows for their notes on the classes they judged. This courteous request is often acceded to, and sometimes not. To many men such a task is not easy—nay, it is even disagreeable, and we are pleased to say that in this monarchical country we are too independent to be bullied into doing other people's work. If our commitees with their invitations to judge were to couple the request for a gratuitous report, they would have to create a new breed of judges, for the body of men who at present give their services gratis would draw the line at being compelled to act as reporters at the same time.

The American Field is of opinion that their club is justified in making this demand, and says they "cannot see why a competent and honest judge should refuse to report." We don't see what competence and honesty have to do with the question; it is rather an affair of complaisance. Our contemporary continues: "If a judge cannot give a reason for an award, he is not competent; and if he will not give it he is open to suspicion. In either instance, he is unfit for the position, and the sooner it is known the better." There is so much haughty contempt for the liberty of the subject displayed in this sentiment, that we are quite prepared to read that reticent judges have been delivered into the hands of the hangman. It must be a fine thing to live in a free country.

BASE BALL.

Base Ball Briefs.

Finn's new pitcher, Clarke, is a dandy, despite his weak showing last Sunday. He has a most deceptive change of pace, while his curves and drop ball will fool the strongest batter. Clarke will make monkeys of the Oakland sluggers before the season ends.

Robinson denies that he intends to purchase the Sacramento franchise. It is to be hoped the Colonel speaks the truth, but it is generally believed that he has a longing to hold as much power in the league as Harris. Nobody thinks for a moment that the latter has disposed of his interest in the local club, but on the contrary he virtually controls both the San Franciscos and Stocktons. The patrons of the game are willing to submit to this, but should Robinson buy out the Sacramentos and thus place the league clubs under the control of two men, for foxy Tom would not let go of his interest in the Oaklands, there would be a large sized rebellion, and the California League would soon be in a large-sized hole. There has been too much scheming in the California League already and the magnates had better let well enough alone. The only thing that can be said in favor of the plan is that Robinson would take O'Neill to Sacramento, and the "poet," "general," "ball player" and loud-mouthed coacher would not be seen so often on the home grounds.

Milt Whitehead will not be seen on a California diamond again this season and probably not at all. The great infielder is broken down in health and has betaken himself to his beloved ark on the San Joaquin, where, amid his guns and dogs, he hopes to build himself up again. Next season will in all likelihood see him in a National League uniform, as he is thoroughly disgusted with California base ball. Whitey will be a "find" for any team.

John Montgomery Ward is making a holy show of himself with his crazy brotherhood scheme. The plan has "failure" stamped on the face of it, and the ball players are foolish to allow themselves to be drawn into it. Ward has always been a disturbing element in the National League, and John B. Day would lastingly benefit the game by placing the bantam shortstop on the black list, and let him sink into the obscurity he deserves. Such men as Ward are better off the diamond than on it.

Whitehead's illness is a severe blow to Finn's chances of winning the pennant. Pete Sweeney has been signed to cover third boy for the 'Friscos, but any man who cannot keep up with the Washingtons, is altogether too slow for a California League team. This was amply demonstrated last Sunday.

Jack Donahue has been engaged by Mone to act with Sheridan as umpire. Donahue will last in that position about three weeks, when he will go the way of Foreman, Young, Sylvester, and the rest of them. Dig up somebody who is capable of filling the position, Mr. Mone!

Gleason has seen fit to release O'Day for "trying to down Zeigler." There is no need of anybody trying to "down" the ex-Wheeling twirler; he will "down" himself. By the way, when will the Sacramento Club secure a manager who is capable of judging a ball player when he sees one?

BASE STEALS.

Col. Robinson and the Sacramento Club—Ward's crazy scheme.

THE WEEKLY

Breeder and Sportsman.

JAMES P. KERR, PROPRIETOR.

The Turf and Sporting Authority of the Pacific Coast.

Office, No. 313 Bush St.

P. O. Box 2300.

TERMS—One Year, $5; Six Months, $3; Three Months, $1.50.

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Money should be sent by postal order, draft or by registered letter, addressed to JAMES P. KERR, San Francisco, Cal.

Communications must be accompanied by the writer's name and address, not necessarily for publication, but as a private guarantee of good faith.

ALEX. P. WAUGH, - - - - - Editor.

Advertising Rates

Per Square (half inch)

One time	$1 00
Two times	1 75
Three times	2 40
Four times	3 00
Five times	3 50

And each subsequent insertion 50c. per square.

Should an Advertisement run without change three months or more 50c. per square, counting from the first insertion.

Advertisements running six months are entitled to 10 per cent. discount on rate of 50 cents per square each insertion.

Those running twelve months are entitled to 20 per cent. discount on rate of 50 cents per square each insertion.

Special Notice to Correspondents.

Letters intended for publication should reach this office not later than Wednesday of each week, to secure a place in the issue of the following Saturday. Such letters to insure immediate attention should be addressed to the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, and not to any member of the staff.

San Francisco, Saturday, Oct. 12, 1889.

Dates Claimed.

Pacific Coast Trotting Horse Breeders' Association—October 12th, 16th and 19th.
Los Angeles Agricultural Association—Oct. 21st to 26th.
State Agricultural Society—Running Meeting—April, 1890.

Blood Horse Association.

At last a date has been fixed for the fall meeting of the Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association and the initial day will be November 16th, by which time it is expected that the Haggin, Hearst, Ashe and Baldwin stables will have returned from their summer campaign in the East and be prepared to take part in this, the closing meeting of the year. There is every probabilily that the hitherto invincible El Rio Rey will meet the Palo Alto crack, Racine, and the great Sir Modred colts, Ballarat and Tournament. Entries will close on November 1st

A Correction.

Reporters are liable to make mistakes at times, and it is possible that one was made in our commissioner's report of the race mentioned below. At any rate, we publish the following letter:

PETALUMA, Oct. 5, 1889.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I am instructed by the Board of Directors of this society, to request that you publish a correction of your report of the race between Emma Temple, Hazel Kirke and Belle B., trotted over our course on Aug. 29th, in which you say that in the last heat of the race Emma Temple fouled Belle B., and imply that by reason of the foul Emma Temple won the heat and race. The judges of that race have stated that the fact is that Belle B. fouled Emma Temple, and that she won notwithstanding, and the Board ask that in justice to the owner, the driver, and the mare, you make the correction. Yours truly,

WM. P. EDWARDS, Sec'y.

Information Wanted.

There is a great deal of work necessary in the compilation of the Year Book, and it is imperative that all of the pedigrees given should be absolutely correct. Mr. Wallace has worked hard to make it as perfect as possible, and at times has to call on outside aid for assistance. In the current number of the monthly he gives a list of horses whose breeding he is extremely anxious to know all about and says

"Go over the list carefully and give (1) the name of the breeder, with his address; (2) if you don't know the breeder then the owner, and his address; (3) be sure of the identity of the horse, and then give what you know of his history and pedigree."

Babe,	ch g,	made at	Nevada City,	Aug.	24,	2:24¼
Belle Button,	br m,	"	" Napa,	"	17,	2:20
Flora Belle,	bl m,	"	" Napa,	"	13,	2:25
Geo. Washington,	b h,	"	" Petaluma,	"	30,	2:30
J. R.,	b g,	"	" Napa,	"	13,	2:24½
Kate Agnew,	gr m,	"	" Nevada City,	"	21,	2:28½
Lohengrin,	b g,	"	" Nevada City,	"	21,	2:27½
Lorena,	bl m,	"	" Petaluma,	"	28,	2:27¾
Lookout,	b g,	"	" Napa,	"	13,	2:25
Ned Lock,	ch h,	"	" Santa Rosa,	"	24,	2:28¼
Thomas Rider,	br g,	"	" Napa,	"	17,	2:20½

We know a majority of the owners of the above, and feel confident that they can give the required information. If letters containing the same are sent to this office, they will be forwarded to Mr. Wallace.

Margaret S.

All California trotting horse breeders have been on the tiptoe of excitement for the past week, hopeing and trusting that the representative from the Golden State would be able to win the Spirit of the Times Futurity Stake at Cleveland, Ohio, October 8th. The day has come and gone and California has had another laurel added to her wreath. Margaret S. won easily in straight heats, as the following telegram shows:

CLEVELAND, OHIO, Oct. 8th.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, S. F.:—Margaret S. won in three straight heats with great ease. M. SALISBURY.

As soon as the news was received the leading headquarters of sporting men were thronged with enthusiastic horsemen, and the event of the day was the sole topic of conversation. Many regrets were expressed that she had not been pushed a little to show her speed, but still congratulations were in order, and Andy McDowell had to shake hands with almost every one he met, while J. H. Neal, the Secretary of the Pleasanton Stock Farm Company, came in for an equal share of sympathetic expressions, he having come down from the farm to learn the news. One of the contestants in the race was Fortuna, by Florida, owned by J. W. Know, who is well known to all breeders of California, and from the newspaper reports it was thought the brown filly might prove a formidable opponent to Margaret S. However, the summary given below shows that there was really nothing to fear from her. For the full particulars we will have to await news from our Cleveland correspondent, simply giving the result as telegraphed.

SUMMARY.

Pleasanton Stock Farm's b f Margaret S., by Director	1	1	1
Miller & Sibley's b f Palo Alto Bell, by Electioneer	2	2	3
J. W. Knox's br f Fortuna, by Florida	3	3	2
L. W. Friar's b f San Malo, by Nugget	4	4	4

Time, 2:23½, 2:22½, 2:24.

P. C. T. H. B. A.

On Thursday evening the directors of the above mentioned association met at the office of this paper and made their final arrangements for the forthcoming meeting, which begins today at the Bay District track. From the class of horses entered, there is every prospect of this being one of the most brilliant racing gatherings ever held in the State. The track has been especially prepared for fast work, and it will be a great surprise if several of the present records are not cut down.

Our Futurity Stake.

There can be no doubt now as to the result of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN Futurity Stake for trotting foals of 1890. Applications are being made, and nominations sent in almost daily, proving that the small breeders of California, appreciate the effort that has been put forward in their behalf. With the united aid of all interested, this will be one of the richest stakes ever trotted for in the United States by youngsters and will also be the means of advertising the almost illimitable resourses of California in the matter of raising trotters. Any person desiring entry blanks can secure them by making applications at this office.

Shall Pacers be Registered.

For some years there has been a strong inclination on the part of many breeders to have pacers registered, so that whatever benefits in the way of honors accrue to trotting families from the produce "going better than a thirty gait," might be enhanced by the acceptance of the records of the sidewheel fraternity, even if those who make the laws saw fit to place the mark at a lower rate of speed than is now in vogue for the trotters. As no action has ever been taken by the National Trotting Horse Breeders' Association, a meeting was held at Nashville on the 18th of last month to perfect an organization in the interest of pacing horse owners through which it was hoped their claims might in future be brought before the National Board and relief granted them. In the current number of Wallace's Monthly there is an able article on the question which shows it is more than probable the near future will see the now belittled pacer thought more of, and the sire and dam receiving proper credit. The article is as follows:

For several years we have not said a word about admitting the pacers to standard rank, but "we have kept up a terrible thinking" all the same. Believing, as we do, that the pace and the trot are one and the same gait, interchangeable and intertransmissible, and that speed at the trot comes from speed at the pace, it would be strange if we did not recognize the value of pacing blood and insist that it should have all the honors to which it is entitled for what it has done and what it is still doing. The time will come when the pacer will be welcomed to his just rank, but whether it has yet arrived remains to be seen. When we first advanced the idea that the pace and the trot were merely two different manifestations of the same gait we were laughed at. But now all intelligent and thinking men see that we were right.

In the matter of registration and rank there is a cause growing out of the oneness of the two gaits that constantly operates in depleting the strength of the pacing element, and this same cause will operate powerfully against the strength of any pacing association that may be formed. We here refer to the constant transfer of producing pacers from the pacing-ranks to the trotting-ranks. To illustrate this we turn anywhere and find a pacing mare that has produced a 2:30 trotter, and this makes her a standard trotting mare. She has also produced a pacing colt that in time becomes the sire of a 2:30 trotter. This colt has a standard dam, and these two facts make him a standard trotting sire. Here, then, we have the old mare and the young stallion, both pacing bred, and both taken out of the ranks of the pacers and inserted in the ranks of the trotters. If there was a pronounced antagonism between the pace and the trot, the pacer might hold his own, but owing to the plasticity and oneness of the two gaits the pacers will continue to increase in numbers till all that is of real value in the different tribes will be absorbed in the standard ranks of the trotters. This is really the best argument, and indeed the only argument that can be urged against the policy of a separate organization for the development and registration of the pacer, as a pacer.

In the past ten years the pacer has advanced almost immeasurably in the popular estimation, and the chief element in his enhanced value is the fact that is now known of all men that he is a great transmitter of trotting speed. He electrifies us with his tremendous flights, but the solid foundation of his popularity is in the fact that he is faster and comes to his speed with less work than the trotter. It has been charged sometimes that he is faint-hearted, but we have never been convinced that he is less courageous than the average of the trotters and runners. He has so much speed and is often driven with so little judgment, that he exhausts himself in the first part of the course, and this lack of judgment and unskillful handling have given rise to the impression that he is wanting in courage and staying qualities.

In answering the question 'as to the desirability of forming a pacing organization" we must consider it in the light of the condition of things as suggested above. Whatever is right is "desirable," and there can be no doubt about the abstract right of the fast pacer to standard rank; but the process of absorption is rapidly carrying the best pacing lines into the trotting standard at any rate, and we must consider what will be left for the pacing standard.

The second question as to "what the standard should be as compared with the trotting standard" is not easily answered on any philosophical ground, and we will therefore suggest that the popular opinion would probably demand that 2:25 pacing should be considered equal to 2:30 trotting. Then when the rules are changed so as to require a faster rate than 2:30 for admission to standard rank the 2.25 would be reduced accordingly.

As to the third question we are not prepared to give a definite answer; for although we are supposed to know as much on this point as anybody else, we really do not know what it would amount to as a separate publication. We know that the pacers were very numerous and very fast long before the first thoroughbred reached this country. We know also that no thoroughbred ever paced, and yet there are plenty of fools in the world who insist that the pacer came from the thoroughbred. The truth is that while we know something of the extreme antiquity of the pacer, we know but little of his immediate lines of descent. There are plenty of boys and "bums" editing "horse departments" in country newpapers everywhere who would be glad of the job to compile a pacing register, but the employment of such a compiler would be the immediate death of the enterprise and the mortification of all connected with it. If the organization should be formed, and if the project of compiling and publishing a book of pedigrees should be determined upon, we would make a careful study of the situation and determine as near as possible just what such a publication would amount to, embracing the material not embraced in the Trotting Register.

Since the foregoing was put in type, we have received the following from Maj. Campbell Brown, of Spring Hill, Tenn., and it presents the question so ably that it should receive the careful consideration of every member of the National Association of Trotting-Horse Breeders. A State Association has been formed in Tennessee, and this movement will be followed in several other States. The trend of public opinion is strongly toward doing justice to the pacer:

DEAR SIR: You may have seen a call for a meeting of breeders of pacing-horses to be held at Nashville, September 18th, to organize an association. The meeting was held and was very strongly attended, and much interest shown. It was determined to organize a State Breeders' Association, to take steps for verifying, recording and preserving our pedigrees, and to urge the formation of other State associations, or rather the holding of meetings in other States, with a view to forming a national association. There is a feeling among breeders of pacing horses that the time has come when they should be recognized as entitled to equal consideration with trotting horses, when the practical identity of the two gaits should be admitted in the records, as it is upon the turf and the road, and when speed at the pace should entitle a horse to equal recognition with speed at the trot. I do not mean that we claim for the pacer a 2:30 standard. But, speaking for myself, I think a 2:25 pacer ought to rate with a 2:30 trotter at least.

Many gentlemen seem to favor the issue of a Pacing Register, entirely distinct from the Trotting Register; some of them because they think it a judicious step, others because they despair of recognition by the trotting horse interest. But I think quite the majority of pacing-horse breeders, both in numbers and prominence, would prefer that the same hands which have built up the Trotting Register should take charge of our interest also, believing the two so interwoven that they cannot advantageously be separated.

Can you not move in this matter? Our people (I speak now for the pacing-horse owners) find themselves so hampered that they are simply compelled to have some means of placing their pedigrees upon record. Your book, if opened to them, would furnish just what they desire, ready at hand and carrying authority. If it must continue to exclude them they will be forced to seek a monthpiece and a record elsewhere. I know your favorable opinion of the pacer, the value you assign to him as furnishing an element of speed in the trotter, and your inclination to open the door to him. Is not the time come when this must be done? The pacer has "shown up" tremendously this year, especially among trotting-bred horses; and associations which have heretofore ignored him have been compelled to give him his place, as at Lexington, where for the first time they have opened two pacing races—the free for all and the 2:16 class.

It seems to me that it will be a misfortune to both sides if we are compelled to set up our tent outside of the trotting interest, instead of joining with it, and I hope that we shall not be compelled to do it. When I think of Roy Wilkes, 2:13¾; Adonis, 2:14; Don Pizarro, 2:14¾, etc., as not entitled to registry by reason of performance, where any trotter that can scramble and shuffle along in 2:30 gets in, I do not blame the rules, for they were all right enough when they were made, but I think it time they were changed.

Very sincerely yours, CAMPBELL BROWN.

W. H. Jones, M. R. C. V. S., is a new comer to San Francisco, but an old hand at the veterinary business, having practiced fifteen years in London, England, and four years in Australia. The Doctor has his office at the Club Stables, where he will be pleased to meet prospective clients and show his credentials, which are of the best.

ROHNERVILLE.

The Ninth District Agricultural Association, held their annual fair at Rohnerville. The large and enthusiastic crowds that turned out each day showed that Humboldt is quite a sporting country. Since last year a good deal has been done for the convenience of the officials and spectators, the noticeable feature being a compact and commodious stand for judges, the press, and timers, while a lofty, spacious, grand stand has been built for the convenience of the ladies. The fair opened on Tuesday, Sept. 24th. A magnificent band discoursed sweet strains to the vast crowds of people who were on the grounds early in the day, while at 10 o'clock the stock parade took place and as the long string of animals filed past, it was generally conceded that they were a credit to the country, H. S. Hogoboom's and W. H. Smith's entries being particularly admired. The cattle parade was also very good, Shorthorns, Jerseys, Ayrshires, Holsteins and Herefords being all well represented. As soon as the cattle parade was over the first race was called up, G. C. Barber, H. M. Devoy and W. S. Lamb officiating in the judges' stand. The first race was a district half mile and repeat, with three entries. S. Brown's S B. was made a red hot favorite in the pools and when racing started at 11 o'clock, the starter got them away at the first attempt. S. B. was in front all the way, winning the heat by two lengths in 0:56¾.

When they came out for the second heat there was again very little delay. S. B. under a strong pull laid back until half the distance, when he was given his head and cantered home an easy second. Time 0:55.

The deciding heat was postponed until after lunch, when the judges seriously warned the riders against attempting to hold either of their horses, and when the flag fell S. B. jumped off in front and won easily by two lengths. Time, 0:55¼.

The 2:40 trot was called up at 11 o'clock. Hogoboom's Waldstein was deemed such a certainty that hardly any pools could be sold. Waldstein had the pole and trotting steadily drew away from his opponent, going under the wire in 2:33¼, with Steinway badly distanced.

SUMMARY.

Rohnerville, Sept. 24th.—Trotting, 2:40 class; purse, $480.
H. Hogoboom's b s Waldstein, Director—Nellie by Electioneer .....Hogoboom 1
N. Groton's g g Pete Steinway, Steinway—Sciatica.....Groton dis
Time, 2:33¼.

The special trot for named horses had only two starters, but produced a hard race. When the pair came out Billy was too fast while scoring up and when the bell sounded went right out, but breaking on the turn was five lengths behind at the quarter, and settling down he trotted steadily, and gaining on his opponent down the stretch had the heat won at the drawgate when he broke badly, Able taking the heat. Time, 2 49¼. After the usual interval they came out again and got away at the first attempt, with Able slightly in front. Billy, however, went clean past him on the turn, and never being headed, jogged home four lengths in front. Time, 2:48.

The third heat was soon over. Able trotting fast took the inside position on the turn, but leaving his feet was passed by Billy, who trotted very steadily to the head of the stretch, where Able closed up and with the leader breaking was two lengths in front when Billy settled down, and in a hard driving finish beat him a length. Time, 2.45¾.

Pools which had been chopping and changing on every heat, now sold even up, and when the word was given both horses were going steadily. Able led to the quarter when he broke badly, while Billy trotted away and won readily by ten lengths.

The fifth and deciding heat was a good thing for Billy, who was in front all the way, winning easily. Time; 2:45½.

SUMMARY.

Rohnerville, Sept. 24th. Named Race. Purse $230.
M. Parrot's g g Billy Kid, Poscora Hayward—by J. Smoker.....H. S. Hogsboom 2 1 2 1 1
Mr. Young's g g Able, Poscora Hayward—Unknown .....Young 1 2 1 2 2
Time, 2:49¼, 2:48, 2:45¾, 2:44, 2:45½.

WEDNESDAY.

The grounds were again well filled, the day being very fine, while a gentle breeze made it much more enjoyable. When the first race, six furlongs and repeat, was called up, four horses responded, and at 11:30, after a few false starts, the flag was dropped with Lucky Dan slightly in front, Nighttime second. Dan set the pace and increased his lead in the first quarter, while Why Not passed Nighttime and went in hot pursuit of the leader, and catching him in the stretch after a jostling finish won the heat. Susie D just beat Dan for the place. A complaint of foul riding was made against Beard, but the judges did not allow the foul. The second heat was an easy thing for Why Not, who got off in front and stayed there, winning readily in 1:21¼.

SUMMARY.

Rohnerville, Sept. 25th, 1889. Three-quarter mile and repeat; free for all. Purse $200.
H. S. Hogoboom's Why Not, Three Cheers—Nellie C.....Beard 1 1
Mr Phillips' Lucky Dan, Compromise—Frankie Divine..Wadden 3 2
Lamdon Hunt's Susie D., Kyrie Daly—by Imp. Hercules...Quinn 2dis
Mr. Lathrow's Nighttime, Norfolk—Puss..... dis
Time—1:20, 1:21¼.

The Ferndale buggy race was the next on the programme. A good deal of local interest was taken in the event in which seven prominent gentlemen had their horses entered. The race was mile heats, two in three. Dr. Glasscock's Biddy won easily in straight heats. Time 3:14, 3:15. The entries were made by Dr. Glasscock, R. D. Dun, H. D. Smith, R. W. Roberts, Dr. Ring, H. Blum and H. D. Hansell.

The next race on the programme was the trotting race for the 2:36 class. Ira had such a reputation that only Pete Steinway turned out against him. After a slow heat in 2:40 Ira was sent right out from the wire for a record, trotting in grand style, and made the first quarter in thirty-four seconds, and skipping once, went past the half in 1:13, and finished strongly the full mile in 2:26¾. Ira is by Piedmont and if sent down to the Bay could probably trot in 2:20.

SUMMARY.

H. Cooper's b s Ira, Piedmont—by Mohawk Chief.....Hunt 1 1
N. Groton's g g Pete Steinway, Steinway—Sciatica.....Groton 2dis
Time—2:40, 2:26¾.

The programme ended with a two-year-old trotting race, Mazeppa by Poscora Hayward trotted very unevenly and was beaten in straight heats by Nancy Moor, a good looking daughter of the Grand Moor.

SUMMARY.

Rohnerville, Sept. 25th.—Two-year-old, mile heats, two in three; purse, $400.
Lamb Bros.' b f Nancy Moor, Grand Moor—Lady Lightfoot.....Groton 1 1
A. C. Roussin' g c Mazeppa, Poscora Hayward—by John Bull.....Hass 2 2
Time, 3:01, 2:57.

THURSDAY.

There was again a big attendance at the Park in the morning. A slight fog overhanging the grounds kept it much cooler and pleasanter than usual. The first race was called up at 10:30, half mile and repeat, with two starters, Edith R. and Little Cap. Edith sold choice for $20 to $10 for Cap. The non favorite won in straight heats by a neck each time, and though there was a good deal of murmuring, no complaint was made.

SUMMARY.

Rohnerville, September 26th.—Half mile and repeat; free for all. Purse $150.
Mr. Coleman's b g Little Cap.....“Ed” 1 1
H. Cooper's b m Edith R., by Woodbury, dam by Gilpatrick .....Hunt 2 2
Time, 0:51, 0:52.

The Equestrienne tournament was the next and the most interesting feature of the day's proceedings. After the usual exercises by the three contestant had been gone through, Miss Gertrude Campton, a local young lady, was awarded first prize, while Miss B. Cowan and Miss Jessie Strain, of Eureka, were given second and third prizes. At half past one, Nancy Moor and Able came out together for the three-year-old and under trot. The gelding is a three-year-old, while the filly won the two-year-old race the day previously. When the word was given Able went off in front and stayed there to the distance, when he broke badly, the filly taking the heat in 2:56.

When they were sent away for the second heat, Able trotted very steadily and drawing away from the game little mare distanced her in 2:47¾.

SUMMARY.

Rohnerville, Sept. 26th.—Three years old and under; purse, $150.
Mr. Young's g g Able, Poscora Hayward—Unknown .....Young 2 1
Lamb Bros.' b f Nancy Moor, Grand Moor—Lady Lightfoot.....Groton 1 dis
Time, 2:56, 2:47¾.

The yearlings were then called up, Eby's mare was withdrawn, lame, leaving only two starters, Hogoboom's brown filly Sacramento Girl by Alcazar, out of Viola by Flaxtail, trotted in grand style winning readily in the good time of 2:56.

SUMMARY.

Rohnerville, Sept. 26th.—Yearling dash one mile, purse $175 and $25 extra to lower the record.
H. S. Hogoboom's b f Sacramento Girl, Alcazar—Viola ...Hogoboom 1
A. C. Roussin's br f Desdemona, Grand Moor—by John Bull... Hass 2
Time, 2:56.

As the afternoon was yet young, a special race 600 yards, was made up with three starters. The trio ran a very pretty race, Susie winning in the last stride by a neck, Edith R. second time, 0:34½.

SUMMARY.

Rohnerville—600 yard dash. Purse, $30.
Mr. Hunt's s m Susie D., Kyrle Daly—by Imp. Hercules.....Hunt 1
H. Cooper's b m Edith R., Woodbury—by Gilpatrick.....Woods 2
S. Brown's ch m S. B.....“Ed” 3
Time, 0:34½.

FRIDAY.

People began to pour in at a very early hour from the country and the vast concourse swelled to such an extent, that at nine o'clock all teams and buggies were switched off into an adjacent field. At half past nine when the stock parade took place, the directors had every reason to be proud of the grand success before them. Over 4,000 people were on the grounds while the stands and enclosures were filled. The association and the private stands were packed with a brilliant gathering of ladies. The weather although rather cold in the morning, was nice and warm in the afternoon. After the parade the first race was a mile and a quarter with three entries. Why Not sold favorite in what few pools were sold. At the third attempt the trio were started with Lucky Dan in front. When they passed the stand Dan was a length in front of Why Not with Nighttime thirty yards back. Why Not closed up on Dan round the turn, while Nighttime hard ridden up the backstretch, was within two lengths of the leaders at the upper turn but died away to nothing in the stretch, and Why Not beat Lucky Dan a neck after a whipping finish. Time, 2:19½.

SUMMARY.

Rhonerville, Sept. 27th.—Mile and a quarter dash, all ages; purse, $200.
H. S. Hogoboom's ch m Why Not, Three Cheers—by Joe Hooker .....Beard 1
Mr. Phillips' b g Lucky Dan, Compromise—Frankie Devine ... .Madden 2
Mr. Lathrow's ch s Nighttime, Joe Hooker—Puss.....Pierce 4
Time, 2:19½.

At half past one, in the trot for named horses, four turned out, selling evenly in the pools. As the heats were split up, this and the free for all race were trotted in alternate heats. A good deal of time was wasted in scoring for the word when the quartette were finally started Billy Kid went out in front, with Abel second. Abel, driven hard, went to the front on the turn, and taking the inside went on and won easily, Billy Kid second. Time 2:42.

After scoring up a few times the bell was tapped, and Able, going well, soon was two lengths in front of his field. Racket was urged up the backstretch and got within a length of Abel at the head of the stretch, and with both driven hard down the straight, was beaten half a length. Poscora Haywood should have been distanced, but was not. Time 2:45½.

When the third heat was called Abel went off in front, but breaking badly at the first turn, Billy Kid went past him, and trotting steadily had a good lead at the half, witn Racket second. Billy Kid trotted home easily, while Racket broke at the drawgate, and was passed by Abel, who finished second. Time 2:47.

Before the fourth heat Abel upset his sulky, but no damage was done. When the bell was tapped Abel broke badly, while Billy Kid and Racket went out for the heat, Billy having a length the best of it to the half, when Racket closed and both trotted evenly to the head of the stretch, when Billy left his feet and Racket took the heat in 2:43½, Poscora distanced. When they came out for the fifth heat Abel was dead tired and broke before the turn, while the other pair went together to the half and round the turn, when both broke and Billy caught first and was going fast when Racket came up to him again, but breaking was beaten for the heat in 2:43.

The sixth heat was a very pretty race between Billy Kid and Racket to the head of the stretch, when both broke several times, running under the wire with Billy half a length in front of Rachet. There was a good deal of tall kicking, but the judges gave the heat to Billy. Time, 2:45¼.

SUMMARY.

Rohnerville, Sept. 27th.—Special race for named horses. Purse $150.
M. Parrot's g g Billy Kid, Poscora Hayward—by Smoker.....Hogoboom 2 3 1 2 1 1
Mr. Young's g g Able, Poscora Hayward.....Young 1 1 2 3 3 3
Mr. Dungan's b m Racket, Bonner.....Miner 3 2 3 1 2 2
Mr. McGregor's ch s Poscora Hayward, Jr.....Smith 4 4 4 dis
Time, 2:42, 2:45½, 2:47, 2:43½, 2:43, 2:45¼.

The free for all trot was a very interesting race between Patchen and Ira. The first heat was very closely contested. Ira went out half a length in front of Patchen, and both trotting steadily kept the same positions until the stretch, when Ira looked a sure winner, though both were being driven hard, and Ira breaking at the distance post was beaten out a length. Time, 2:26¼.

At half past two the three turned out for the second heat. Patchen took the lead from the wire, but at the quarter Ira challenged Patchen, and passing him at once led three lengths round the turn, and being eased went under the wire a length in front. Time, 2:25½.

The third heat was about the same as the second. Ira took the lead before the turn, and trotting in grand style won by two lengths in the remarkably good time of 2:24½. Hass was taken out of the sulky before the fourth, and Smith put up behind Cling. Cling was driven out from the word and hung on to Ira to the half mile, when Patchen closed up, and when in the straight came fast, and splendidly driven beat Ira after a hard finish. Time, 2:25¼.

Fifth Heat—It was five o'clock when the horses came out for the fourth heat, but the crowd stayed out to see the finish. When the word was given Ira and Patchen trotted together to the half, where Cling came up on the outside and both Patchen's and Cling's sulkies rattled against Ira's, knocking out a spoke or two. Ira broke badly, while Patchen went on winning the heat. Hunt, the driver of Ira, made a big kick, but after investigation the heat and race were given to Idaho Patchen in 2:29.

SUMMARY.

Rohnerville, Sept. 27th —Free-for-all; purse, $400.

T. G. Knight's b s Idaho Patchen, H. B. Patchen—by Lusbig.....Helman	1	2	2	1	1
H W. Cooper's b s Ira, Piedmont—Irene.....Hunt	2	1	1	2	2
Mr, Graham's b g Cling.....Hass	3	3	3	3	3

Time, 2:26½, 2:25¼. 2:24½, 2:28, 2:29.

The meeting wound up in great shape, and when—as is hoped—the Northern Associations combine and organize a regular circuit, Rohnerville will have one of the best attended and most properous race meetings in the State.

Names Claimed.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I hereby claim the name of Hollywood for chestnut stallion with star in forehead, foaled April 16, 1889, by Woodnut, dam Blanche by Whipple's Hambletonian, 2nd dam Lady Allen by Ethan Allen, 3rd dam Lizzie by General Taylor.

Also chestnut filly, foaled April 27, 1889, Maud W., sired by Woodnut, dam Maud P. by Nutwood, 2nd dam by Star of the West, 3d dam a mare brought from the East by Joseph Palmer, a high bred mare and standard, but after Mr. Palmer's death the pedigree was lost and we cannot trace it.

OAKLAND, Oct. 6, 1889. HENRY PIERCE.

Horses at Bay District.

Unusual signs of activity have been noticed for some weeks at the Bay District track. The track itself has been reclayed and improved in many places, and before the rain was faster probably than it has ever been, and there was—and is—every indication that several records would be smashed at the initial meeting of the Pacific Coast Trotting Horse Breeders Association. A number of horses have steadily been undergoing preparations there, and after San Jose and Fresno they were reinforced by the circuit horses. On Wednesday last a small but select crowd of horsemen were out to see how the horses were working and looking; among the spectators were Messrs. Ariel Lathrop, Lee Rose, Quinton, Gonzales, Bradbury, Tompkins and Dr. Bowhill.

As the track was not in condition for work in the morning a look through the stables was deemed advisable. Marvin and Scott Quinton have stalls in the same row, the last one, in the rear of the grand stand. The Palo Alto Stable has eleven representatives, Palo Alto, 2:13¾; Sunol, 2:13¾; Arol, 2:24; Eva W. 2:25½; Colma, a three-year-old grey filly by Electioneer out of Sontag Mohawk; Wavelet, a bay four-year-old by Piedmont out of Wave, the latter, Wave a nine-year-old bay mare by Electioneer, dam Waxy; Sport, a five year-old grey stallion by Piedmont, dam Sontag Mohawk, (dam of Sallie Benton 2:16¾; Eros, 2:17½); Anselma, a chestnut four-year-old mare by Ansel 2:20, dam Elaine 2:20, (dam of Norlaine yearling record 2:31); Bow Bells, a son of Electioneer and Beautiful Bells and a splendid bay yearling filly by Electioneer, dam Lady Ellen 2:29½.

It is the present intention to give a record to as many as possible. Marvin says they have eight or ten Electioneers who would have brought up had it not been for distemper. Scott Quinton has under his care fifteen head from the Daly Stable. Mascot and Favonia, were left on the ranch. He has with him Yolo Maid with a pacing record of 2:12; Lord Byron, 2:18; St. Patrick, pacer, 2:20; Hattie D., a three-year-old Electioneer with a record of 2:26¾; Prodigal, a three-year old brother to Patron 2:14½; Senator, a bay stallion record 2:26½; Baroness, a two-year-old daughter of Baron Wilkes; Nadjy a brown two year-old filly by Stamboul out of a Nutwood mare was bought at Rose's Stock Farm for $3500 in New York Lady Bryon, a slashing brown two-year-old Electioneer; Brown Silk, a good looking two-year-old by Baron Wilkes; a brown yearling colt by Electioneer, dam by Geo. Wilkes; a yearling chestnut filly by Senator, and a very pretty bay filly by Electioneer out of a sister to Woodnut; and a lightish chestnut yearling Guy Wilkes filly.

P. Williams has three useful looking horses, particularly Silver Bow, a bay two-year-old by Robert McGregor, 2:17½. Holly brought Pink, San Diego and Frank. Jimmy Dustin's six include Fleet, 2:24, J. R, 2:24½, Ned Winslow, pacer, 2:17½, Gus Wilkes, 2:22, and the two crack Valensin yearlings. Mr. Tompkins has his two stallions, big, strong, short-legged horses, one by Almont, dam by Messenger Duroc, the other a six-year-old bay by Whipple's Hambletonian, out of Emblem by Tattler. Andy McDowell has two of the Pleasanton Stock Farm, Direct, 2:18¼, and Gold 2:11¼. J. H. Goldsmith has Regal Wilkes, Hazel Wilkes, 2:20, Lillie Stanley, 2:17½, and Memo. W. Vioget has Wanda, 2:24. Lee Shaner has Dawn, 2:18¾, Junio, 2:22, and several yearlings under his supervision.

Fieldwick has Wells Fargo, 2:18¾. Allie Whipple and a Sidney pacer. Jas. Nolan has quite a string, including Big Jim, a Dan Voorhees mare, a Sultan gelding pacer, another pacing gelding by Robert McGregor, 2:17½, out of Jeannie, 2:27¼, a good looking Nutwood gelding and the bay gelding by Nephew, out of Tehema. Walter Maben has Moro, 2:27, Dubec, 2:28¼, Mista, 2:29, Reverie and another in the Rose string, while last, but by no means least, Orrin Hickok has his usual big string, including Stamboul, 2:14¼, Alfred S., 2:18, Adonis, 2:14, Gracie S., 2:28, and the much vaunted Wilkes-Lucy pacer.

BILLIARDS.

The Saylor-McCleery match for $1,000 was the chief topic in billiard circles last week. Plenty of coin changed hands, but the play especially on McCleery's side was very poor. The Saylor party pledged themselves to match Ben to play McCleery 1,000 points, even up for $1,000 or more. Although nothing definite is known as yet, still those who know the Professor are confident that they will be obliged to come to the front, as he don't relish a defeat, and, is, in fact, the champion of the Coast. The records compiled by T. R. Bullock for McCleery's new book on billards, arrived here on the 9th, so the book will make its appearance shortly. We can say that it is a most comprehensive work and valuable to the expert, as well as to the amateur.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

1. In the game of Pin Pool, when the balls are frozen, the rule in California is that both balls must be moved, East and South the player can play direct at the pins or cushion.

2. No answers or discussions sent by wire. We publish them only.

3. No answer.

4. The Balk-line game is not played unless the lines are drawn on the table.

5. At present there is no emblem of the championship of the Pacific Coast at billiards,

CLENDENYONE.

ATHLETICS.

Athletic Sports and Other Pastimes.

Edited by Arphippus.

The programme for the coming Olympic Club games has at last been issued, and the athletes are settling down in earnest to hard work.

The wheelmen are still getting into trim for the pavilion tournament, and the oarsmen are preparing themselves for the great championship race which will take place early next month.

RUNNERS, WALKERS, JUMPERS, ETC.

Horace Coffin is seriously thinking about competing in the one mile walk on Thanksgiving Day. An athlete with such a clean record finds it very hard to keep off the track.

Phil Moody, of the P. A. C., will run in the "hundred."

McDonald, of the O. A. C, will stand a very fair chance of winning the Novice race.

Chas. B. Hill, the ex-amateur champion walker of the Pacific Coast, has severed his connection with the Lick Observatory, and is at present in the employ of a prominent insurance company on Sansome St., in this city. Mr. Hill has fully decided not to appear on the cinder path again.

J. J. Larkey, the amateur sprinter, has started in to train for the O. A. C. games. He will compete only in the one hundred yards race.

William Zehfus thinks he will go in the walk.

The friends of Frank L. Cooley are confident that he will win the mile run.

McArthur has not as yet decided whether he will enter the games or not.

Walter A. Scott has probably retired from the track for good.

On Saturday, Oct. 5th, A. B. George, of the New York Athletic Club, lowered the American amateur three miles running record of 15 min , 16 2-5 sec., made by E. C. Carter, New York City, Sept. 17, 1887. George's time was 15 minutes, 11 1-5 seconds.

Raye Lock, a local professional runner, was recently defeated in a mile run at Eureka, Cal. His opponent was a stranger who boasted that he could run any man in the world a mile race. Lock believed the man was bluffing and so made a match with him for a mile race for $100 a side. The race took place immediately after the match was made, and to his great surprise, Lock, who was out of condition, was very easily defeated by the stranger, who turned out to be a well known Eastern professional runner.

A member of the Y. M. C. A. of this city claims to have run one hundred yards at the games of the Y. M. C. A. of Virginia City, Nevada, last year in the fast time of 10 1-5 seconds. He intends competing in the Thanksgiving games.

The programme of games for November 28th has been issued at last. Two of the events we take exception to, namely, the standing high jump and the two hundred and twenty yards' run, scratch. Quite a number of good men have been training hard for some time past for the latter event, but now that the race will be a scratch one, the chances are that the entries will be limited to one or two. It is a great pity that the Athletic Committee did not make this event a handicap. The cutting out of the running high jump is also another blunder, and all the good jumpers on the coast will be debarred from competing in the games. It has been hinted that these changes in the programme were made in the interest of a couple of members of the O. A. C. This rumor, of course, we do not credit, but still we think the alteration never should have been made.

C. C. Johnson of the P. A. C. will surprise everybody in the standing high jump.

At the Canadian championship games, held September 28th, W. A. Burkhardt, the one mile amateur champion walker of America, was disqualified for unfair walking. The majority of the people present were of the opinion that Burkhardt was the squarest walker on the track and that his being ruled out meant "crooked business."

The University athletes are confident of winnnng the championship flag for 1890.

Tom McGee is now working in his father's office on Montgomery street, and will not attend the University any more. He will however continue to represent the W. A. C. at future field days.

E. Cooke Hill, of the W. A. C, while summering in the wilds of Mendocino County, exhibited to a black bear cub his medals for running, and the cub thereupon acknowledged his inability to beat Cooke in a race for liberty. Mr. Bear rather reluctantly accompanied the champion runner back to Berkeley, and is now on exhibition at the Zeta Psi House.

Gibbs, '93, while at football practice on the Yale College grounds Sept. 24th, was thrown and had his leg broken.

The 72-hours go-as you-please race, contestants travelling twelve hours daily, closed at New Haven, Conn., on the evening of Sept. 28th, the score of those who were on the track on the closing evening being: Hegelman 375 miles, Gurrero 356, Smith 348, Connors 343, Horan 340, Sherlock 326, Elson 276, Dean 238.

F. B. Pratt has presented the Amherst College students with a track and athletic grounds.

While engaged in a game of football at Newburg, N. Y., on Sept. 27th, young Joe Donohue, the well known champion skater, fell and badly sprained his knee, and he will be obliged to nurse it for some weeks. This will most likely necessitate a postponement of his trip to Europe with his friend, G. M. L. Sacks, for the purpose of testing the powers of the skaters of Norway and the region round about.

CHAMPIONS OF CANADA.

About five thousand persons gathered on the Rosedale Lacrosse Grounds in Toronto, Ont., on Saturday afternoon, September 28th, to witness the annual competitions for the championship of Canada, under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic Association of Canada. Finer weather could not have been had, barring a rather stiff north wind, which interfered somewhat with the performers on the cinder path. Owing to recent heavy rains, however, the track, although firm, was sodden and slow, proving a barrier to the making of exceptionally fast time.

The New York clubs sent strong delegations to the meeting, and, as usual, their representatives carried off the lion's share of the prizes; in fact, they took every contest but one, the pole vault, and that was won by the representative of an English organization, leaving the Canadian athletes minus a single first prize, although they made a fairly good showing. Only one new record was made, and that was accomplished in an exhibition throw of the "fifty-six" by J. S. Mitchell, who sent the lump of iron a distance of 27ft 4in. Both Owen and Westing were defeated in the "hundred," the former falling in his heat when Copland was leading him by six feet, and the Manhattanite being also beaten by his club-mate in the final heat, in which they ran first and second. Copland was unfortunate in the hurdle race, injuring his left leg above the knee so badly between the third and fourth flights that he had to be carried off the field and medically attended to.

Former best Canadian records were excelled in the long jump, throwing the hammer and putting the 56-lb. weight, while Pritchard did an excellent performance in the high jump, clearing a height of 5ft 11½in. in an exhibition, after having won at four inches less. Big and bronzed "Joe" Queckberner was defeated in throwing the hammer, but in an exhibition throw afterwards he surpassed the distance achieved by the winner. Summary:

One hundred yards run—First heat: H. D. Carr, Toronto Lacrosse Club, first, in 10 4-5 sec; F. T. Ducharme, Detroit Athletic Club, second, by three yards. Second heat: A. F. Copland, Manhattan Athletic Club, first, in 10 2-5 sec; W. B. Coster, New York Athletic Club, second, by 6 ft. Third heat: Fred Westing, Manhattan Athletic Club, first, in 10 2-5 sec; J. P. Lee, New York Athletic Club, second, by 6 ft. Final heat: Copland first, in 10 1-5 sec; Westing second, by 2 ft; Coster third, and Carr fourth.

Putting the shot—George R. Gray, New York Athletic Club, first, 42 ft 6¾ in; Frank L. Lambrecht, Manhattan Athletic Club, second, 42 ft 6 in; C. A. J. Queckberner, Staten Island Athletic Club, third, 38 ft 3½ in.

Running high jump—R. K. Pritchard, Staten Island Athletic Club, first, 5 feet 7½ inches; A. Schroeder, New York Athletic Club, second, 5 feet, 6½ inches; D. F. O'Brien, Detroit Athletic Club, third, 5 feet six inches; T. J. Lee, New York Athletic Club, fourth, 5 feet 5 inches. In a subsequent exhibition jump the winner cleared the bar at 5 feet 11½ inches.

Throwing the hammer—W. L. Condon, New York Athletic Club, first, 100 feet 3 inches; C. A. J. Queckberner, Staten Island Athletic Club, second, 98 feet 1 inch. In exhibition throws afterwards Queckberner reached respectively 100 feet 4 inches and 100 feet 10 inches.

Half mile run—W. C. Dohm, New York Athletic Club, first, in 2 minutes 2 2-5 seconds; W. C. Downes, New York Athletic Club, second; F. Johnston, Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, third.

One furlong run—A. W. S. Cochrane, New York Athletic Club, first, in 23 4-5 seconds; John Owens, Jr., Detroit Athletic Club, second; T. J. Lee, New York Athletic Club, third; W. B. Coster, New York Athletic Club, fourth.

Three mile walk—C. L. Nicoll, Manhattan Athletic Club, first, in 22 minutes 41¾ seconds; E. D. Lange, Manhattan Athletic Club, second.

Pole vault—E. L. Stones, Ulverstone Cricket and Athletic Club, England, first, 10 feet 6 inches; D. F. O'Brien, Detroit Athletic Club, second, 10 feet 6 inches, the latter declining to attempt a higher jump, as desired by Stones. The latter then essayed the task of beating his English record of 11 feet 7 inches, but failed.

Throwing 56 lb weight—J. S. Mitchell, New Jersey Athletic Club, first, 26 feet 5 inches; C. A. J. Queckberner, Staten Island Athletic Club, second, 25 feet 4 inches; W. L. Condon, New York Athletic Club, third, 23 feet 6 inches; F. L. Lambrecht, Manhattan Athletic Club, fourth, 23 feet 1½ inch; George R. Gray, New York Athletic Club, fifth, 22 feet 2 inches. Afterwards Mitchell attempted to beat the record, throwing the missile 26 feet 11 inches at the first attempt and 27 feet 4 inches at the second, forming a new record.

Hurdle race, 120 yards—G. Schwegler, Staten Island Athletic Club, first, in 17 1-5 seconds; F. T. Ducharme, Detroit Athletic Club, second; A. F. Copland, Manhattan Athletic Club, fell and injured his leg when he was on even terms with his opponents.

One mile race—A. B. George, Manhattan Athletic Club, first, in 4 minutes 39 4 5 seconds; E. Hjertberg, New Jersey Athletic Club, second.

Running long jump—Malcolm W. Ford, Staten Island Athletic Club, first, 22 feet 7¾ inches; J. J. Moore, Bayside Rowing Club, Toronto, second, 21 feet 8¾ inches.

Quarter mile run—W. C. Dohm, New York Athletic Club, first, in 52 3-5 seconds; W. Christie, Titan Athletic Club, second, by a yard; G. J. Bradish, New York Athletic Club, did not finish.

Two mile run—A. B. George, Manhattan Athletic Club, first, in 9 minutes 38 4-5 seconds; W. T. Young, Manhattan Athletic Club, second.

THE WHEELMEN.

It is hinted that Frank Hart the colored pedestrian will win the coming seven day race. He has been practicing hard on his wheel for some weeks past and is reported to be in splendid condition.

Several records will possibly be lowered by the professionals.

For the past week or so several of the local riders have been making nightly moonlight trips to the cliff. The boys all enjoy the fun and wish that the moon would never wane.

Several ladies on their tricycles, accompanied by gentlemem friends, also took moonlight trips through the Park during the week.

The regular monthly meeting and smokers of the San Francisco Bicycle Club took place last Thursday evening. There will be a club run to-morrow and members are requested to assemble in full uniform at the Sausalito Ferry at 8 o'clock. The run will be to Camp Taylor. The recent rains have laid the dust and the roads will be in fine condition.

The membership of the Oakland Bicycle Club is rapidly increasing.

IN THE SURF.

The Lurline Swimming Club has gone over to the Silent few. That organization ceased to exist after the last meeting. Discussion amongst the members appears to have been the cause of the bursting of the Club.

Now that the wet weather has set in, the regular bathing season will soon close. The bath houses at Santa Cruz, Monterey, and Capitola are becoming deserted as all the San Francisco people are returning to their homes.

The Shelter Cove and Terrace Baths did a rushing business last Sunday.

AT THE OARS.

The bay was as smooth as glass on Sunday last, and several crews were out for a practice spin.

Three crews from amongst the amateur members of the Ariel Club were out as follows:

Crew No. 1.—I. I. Larkey, stroke; Louis F. Nunan, W. P. Adams, bow; C. A. Lipp, cox; Charles Pless.

Crew No. 2.—Herman Pless, stroke; Ed. Finley, George Pless, Johnson Hardy, bow; Master Pless, cox.

Crew No. 3.—I. I. Larkey, H. O. Farrell, bow; P. N. Gafney, Hy Tank, stroke; George Phelan cox.

M. H. Growney of the Ariels took a spin in his single shell. He looks in fine condition.

Leander Stevenson and Walter Blake were also out their shells.

Fred Jackson the well-known oarsman of Vallejo was on Long Bridge on Sunday and visited the boys at the different boat houses. He stated that he would row on Thanksgiving Day.

Louis Oser, of Stockton visited the Ariel Club house on Sunday.

The Epsy Amateur Crew took a spin.

John Sullivan of his Pioneers took the shell out at 10 o'clock and did not show up until nearly three. Some of the boys suggested that he event ashore and fell asleep.

The South End Rowing Club held its first meeting this year on Sunday last, On account of the meeting none of the crews were out. It was decided to put the following crew in the field for the professional race: McDowell; Duplessis; Doherty and Thomas.

The big professional crew rowed to Hunters Point, where they took a swim.

The Stockton crew are training faithfully for the professional championship race. They evidently mean mischief.

The Ariels professional crew was not appointed until a few days ago, and will hardly make as good a showing as if they had longer time to practice. However, they will be close up ae the finish.

The Ariel crew will be, Al Branch, stroke, Henry Frankbow, Fred Smith, aft. wait, Henry Brown, fd. waist.

The Pioneer crew will consist of W. C. Espy, George Espy, W. Cummings and F. McDonald.

The following will represent the Dolphins: Charles Peterson, stroke; Hy Peterson, forward waist: Fred Conway, aft waist; Chas. Long, bow.

A three-mile race with a turn, between two crews from the Ariel and Pioneer Clubs, for a French dinner, was to have come off last Sunday, but owing to a misunderstanding about the date the contest was postponed until the 20th inst. The Ariel crew will be: H. G. Farrell, J. J. Larkey, L. F. Nanan and Herman Pless.

The California Dramatic and Sporting News promised to subscribe a challenge cup valued at $1000 for the great professional race, but as the Ariel Club, representing the donor, refused to make that paper the stakeholdor, the proprietors have withdrawn their promise and will not give the cup.

The Ariel Club will give $100 to the club that beats the coast record of 21 minutes 7 seconds for three miles.

A prominent member of the Dolphin Club thinks that 20 minutes will be beat.

Max Manheim, better known as the "Polish oarsman," got himself into a pretty scrape on Long Bridge last Sunday morning. Manheim is a member of one of the rowing clubs, and therefore imagines that he ought to be "on the inside" in racing matters. He accused Charley Long, of the Pioneers, of crookedness, and followed up his assertions with several foul epithets which he applied to Long. The latter is a very quiet and unassuming young man and not at all inclined to be quarrelsome, and he asked some of his friends to remove Manheim. The latter refused to leave and kept on looking for a fight with Long. At last Long's patience gave out and he dealt Manheim a stinging blow on the face that severely cut him and swelled his nose. The bruised and bleeding oarsman fled from the place, having had enough of Long's strength. He swore out a warrant for Long's arrest.

CLUB JOTTINGS.

The regular monthly exhibition of the Pacific Athletic Club will take place on the 14th. The club's gymnasium is on Mission St., near 20th, in the building formerly known as the Mission Rink. Several well known boxers will appear at the exhibition and everything will be done to make it the most interesting entertainment given by the club since its birth.

The Fall games of the University of California, will be held in the middle of November. The events will be open to members only. At a meeting of the Association Students held last Wednesday, it was voted to levy an assessment of 75 cents per capita to defray expenses, including music.

There are now forty-four names on the membership roll of the U. A. C. Each member is an active athlete. Great interest is taken in the coming field day, as it is expected that several college records will be lowered. The Olympic athletes are anxiously awaiting the results of these games that they may find out whether the 'Varsity boys have gained any headway or not since the last championship meeting.

The California Club will probably abandon the idea of trying to secure out-door grounds for its amateurs.

Tom Ransome '91 and Merrill '91, are organizing a University of California Tennis Club, having secured already forty-five members.

A big effort will be made next summer to send a team of athletes from the U. A. C. to Mott Haven, to compete in the Intercollegiate games. McGee, McNear, Moffett and E. Cooke Hill, would probably carry off three-fourths of the prizes.

The rain will cause a delay in the finishing of the Olympic Club's out-door grounds, and the chances are very slim that the track will be ready for Thanksgiving Day.

The Pacific Athletic Club will hold a grand benefit at its new quarters 2411 Mission St., on Monday, Oct. 14, 1889. The following boxers will contest: Joe Choynski—Hynes; Ed Graney—Frenchy; W. Bogan—Armstrong; J. Hesketh—Huntington; N. Sullivan—Kehoet Mack; E. Morrisey—Schmitt and Richet; G. Mullet, and a host of others.

THE GUN.

The Selby Trophy.

By courtesy of Mr. Palmer, Superintendent of the Process Department of the Daily Examiner, we are enabled to present a cut of the trophy offered by the Selby Smelting and Lead Company of this city to the State Sportsman's Association. Ink cannot do justfce to the beautiful design or the exquisite finish of the trophy. The base and column are of choicest onyx. A coin silver rail surrounds the base. On one side is placed a silver model of the boxes in which Standard cartridges are sent out. On the other side rests a shell case, upon which lies a hammerless gun. The column is supported by two pigeons, delicately chased in silver, with extended wings. Above the pigeons on one side are a pair of hammerless guns, crossed. On the other side a shield of silver, upon which to inscribe the name of the winning team. Surmounting the column is an exquisitely carved pigeon in pure silver, just in the act of taking flight. The pigeon rests upon a lump of horn silver ore. Every portion of the trophy is perfectly and most elegantly finished, and a more fitting, more artistic or richer testimonial has never been competed for in California. Its value intrinsically is great, but its artistic worth is vastly greater, and the winning team may well be proud of the splendid evidence of skill.

From Mr. C. A. Loud.

Editor Breeder and Sportsman:—At last our long looked for rain has made its appearance and with it come the ducks, the geese, and the snipe: many flocks have been seen passing up river for the past few days, and reports come in of several good bags being made. Still the river is very low and ponds nearly dry, it will take several days hard rain to fill them up. Quite a number of snipe have been brought into town by our local hunters in the past few days, having been found in the dry prairie fields as the snipe grounds are very dry yet. Charles Reed, who lives a few miles below town and is the owner of a fine pack of bear hounds, in company with several sports from town, returned yesterday after a few days bear hunt; they report them scarce having only killed two, an old bear and cub, also one deer: the rain drove them in.

Professor Bristow, Berthold and O. C. Robbins of this town returned the other day from a three weeks camping trip in the Cascades, they report deer plentiful, having killed eighteen, all they wanted, and plenty of fine trout.

Zel Job and Lon Dyer took the hills for grouse last Saturday and bagged an even two dozen fine birds. There is a move on foot among the sportsmen here to plant bob white quails and prairie chickens in this valley. They also talk of a petition to the Legislature to repeal the Mongolian pheasant law, and then make war upon this tramp bird, but it will be a long time before he can be removed. Still I believe they can be driven from the valley with the shot gun.

I was much interested in reading over the Standard challenge match, shot off at Stockton, to note the experience of Major S. I. Kellogg. I did not know that any other than myself had ever met with his misfortune. In the year 1885, while shooting at Dayton, Florida, with a new Manhattan hammerless, I took my stand at the score and carefully put my cartridge in, shoved up my safety and called "pull". Well, Major Kellogg knows just how I felt to see the bird going for dear life, and the crowd laughing at me and saying, "Why did you not shoot," thinking of course I had forgotten to push up my safety. Well, it was more of a wonder to me than it was to them, why I did not shoot, but I failed to discover what the trouble was until I was caught again in the same match. I soon found out that the Manhattan hammerless could be loaded without cocking. Although this gun was a good hard shooter, I parted with it soon after. I do not know of any other hammerless with this miserable failing, but suppose there may be others, but I should say they are badly constructed pieces of machinery. I think Major Kellogg was entitled to another shot, and I think it was so intended by the gentlemen that framed the American Shooting Association rules. C. A Loud.

Corvallis, Or. October 3, 1889.

Early this summer Charley Harding, of Bakersfield, when hunting on the southern slope of the Piute Mountains, lost his watch in the brush. Last week one of the Walser boys found the watch in Walker's Basin, lying on top of some sands washed down the mountain sides by the cloud burst. It was a curious find, for the watch must have been washed a long distance, and only the crystal was broken. Upon being wound the watch ticked away as merrily as ever. That timepiece was never born to be drowned.

To the Top of Mt. Whitney.

[By C. E. Sherman.]

VI.

A call to horse, and the cavalcade with due military precision dropped the pleasures of midday dallying and fell into marching line. Over the nearly level valley bed, then across the bridge over the South Fork, shortly afterward bridging the North Fork, and then by a good road over a rolling country, skirting the banks of the beautiful Kern River, an easy half a Sabbath day's journey and Kernville, altitude 2650 feet, marked the day's end of the pilgrimage. The two bridges are last year's work. Formerly both streams had to be forded and the dreary stretch of sand between them—just above their point of junction—plodded through as best might be.

Supervisors suffer boundless glory, it is true, but they are men with unlimited cares, and in sparsely settled counties enjoy only limited means, but verily, many of their deeds live after them. A miserable road is ordered repaired, and the meanest chuck hole of the whole lot, murmurs as it expires, "I came to my death at the instance of Supervisor ———." A rock that has jostled the wheels of a generation finally comes before the Board, and between their upper and nether millstones, is ground into unpalatable powder. In times gone by during flood time, these forks were crossed in boats, and several lives have been lost. But now these fine bridges and the good road-bed between them, stand as enduring monuments, and are no doubt placed above to the credit of the Kern County Board of Supervisors. Here below, they have been charged to the County Bridge fund.

At one time J. D. Schuyler, then Assistant State Engineer, ran an extended and thorough series of levels through this part of the country, to the intent of ascertaining the proper places for storage reservoirs. Just below the junction of the North and South Forks of Kern River, he found what he pronounced the best site of all. With a dam 100 feet high and 600 feet long, a great lagoon with two arms would be formed. The larger one backing water up the South Fork nearly to Weldon, a distance of perhaps seven miles, the other arm upon the North Fork, reaching about six miles, and covering the present town-site of Kernville with from 12 to 14 feet of water. In places these arms would reach a width of four miles, and an immense body of water could be stored. Careful estimates of condemnation damages were also made. The cost would be heavy, but the body of water thus secured would be immense, and perhaps ample for all requirements.

In 1859, Lovely Rogers and —— Caldwell, while hunting horses, found the "Cove" mines, consisting of the Lady Bell, Jeff Davis, Beauregard, Big Blue and several others, all afterward called the Sumner mines. Rogers & Co. built the first quartz mill, four stamps with wooden stems, about one-half mile above the present town of Kernville, and afterward sold to J. W. Sumner & Co. They worked the mines for some time, building an eight stamp mill, about a mile and a quarter above the present town, and a lit le further up the river than the present mill, and then sold out to Captain Peck Thereafter Nieswander & Park built a 16 stamp mill. Then E. R. Burke took hold of the mines and worked them with little success, until the discovery of the "west vein," which was very rich and productive. In 1873, he organized a company which worked the mines very extensively. Immense hoisting and pumping works—at one time consuming nearly 50 cords of wood daily—were placed upon the mine, and near by, a magnificent eighty stamp mill, with all modern appliances, was erected and run by water power. About $750,000 more than the output was expended, when the mines closed down. Manager Burke is reported once to have said, "My parties have spent three quarters and I can't see why they don't spend another quarter, so as to make it even change." With perhaps some costly faults, Manager Burke has been the patron saint of Kernville, and his large heart often prompted him to splendid deeds of thoughtfulness and charity. At one time there was a strike among the miners, and the safety of the hoisting works was threatened, when Burke assisted by his wife as a brave and noble helpmeet, both armed and both prepared to fight, guarded the place by night and by day, so faithfully that the threatened damage remained undone.

The costly hoisting works ceased moving, the eighty stamps hung quiet, and the mines laid idle until 1879, when work was recommenced and carried on very successfully for some years, stopping at last only by a combination of untowar l accidents, among which were the financial straits of the operators in other lines of business, and the dastardly trick of burning down the hoisting works. The fire from them worked down into the mine and an immense cave is the result. But there are golden harvests in that group of mines, awaiting the economical and practical operator. He will, however, need almost a gold mine with which to reopen this, as the fire has created sad havoc, and the river must be harnessed to the task of hoisting ore and pumping water from the depths of the earth.

The first building where the town now is was a saloon, erected in 1862 by Luie Clary. Before it was fairly finished, a party of prospectors chanced along, brought his entire stock, and from their drunken orgies the place received the name of Whisky Flat. The next to build, also a saloon, was a man by the name of Hamilton, who in addition started a store, closely followed by Davidson. Until '67 and '68 there was very slow growth, but in 1872 when the "west vein" was struck, the town grew rapidly and contained a population of perhaps 600. In 1864 the citizens, properly not liking the name of Whisky Flat, met in mass meeting when Captain Peck christened the town with the name of Kernville.

There are lives and lives; as of men, so of villages. There are overgrown youth, roystering manhood and premature decay; usually the quick drawn life of a mining town. There is dull infancy, stupid, prime and flabby, but Methusalemistic old age; the cabbage state of many towns far east of the frontier, where an exciting event would surely cause syncope. Then comes a lusty infancy, a youthful manhood disgraced and almost choked by wild oats, then, and usually by matrimonial influences, a transformation in the nature of reformotion and a hale, respectable age. So Kernville, wild, reckless and almost outcast as Whisky Flat, took unto itself as a bride the North and South Fork vallies richly dowered with agricultural promise, and now, amid its fruits and vines, its grains and alfalfa enjoys a placid maturity, endowed with comfortable abundance.

Demonstrating the abundance of quail about Bakersfield, Kern County, Messrs. C. E. Lechner and Morgan Haus drove seven miles from the city on the afternoon of October 1, and returned in time for dinner with five dozen quails and five ducks.

CALIFORNIA STATE SPORTSMAN'S ASSOCIATION.

Eighth Annual Tournament.

Sacramento Sends the Champions.

The Talent Surprised.

The eighth tournament of the State Sportsman's Association began at San Jose on Wednesday last. While the Association is not primarily a trap-shooting organization, so many of the members like to meet in friendly competition at the traps when the body convenes each year, that the shooting programme has year by year been elaborated, until, as in the case this year, the list of regular and special prizes is very considerable, and the value represented reaches hundreds of dollars. Most of the shooters reached San Jose by the early afternoon trains on Tuesday, only a half dozen coming in during the evening. So many had indicated their intention to be present that no one hotel could accommodate them all, and the result was that every hostelry in beautiful San Jose sheltered its contingent of mighty Nimrods. The local committee of arrangements, Messrs. F. E. Coykendall, George C. Anderson and Al. Ingalsby, had labored seduously to perfect all arrangements for the meeting, and it is merely according them their due to write that at no former meeting have all details been more faithfully cared for. The shooting ground used was the minor portion of the Agricultural Park, which was a stubble field. The recent rains had laid all dust, freshened the air and made the weather springlike, so that conditions were favorable to first rate work. There was a measure of disappointment felt that several of the gun clubs of the State failed to send teams, but as five teams were on hand the first day was well filled. The hour set for beginning was 9 o'clock on Wednesday, and it is to the credit of Mr. Coykendall that actual shooting began but a short time after the hour mentioned. A comfortable shooting house had been erected, together with scorer's stand, rails to keep the crowd back, etc. By 9 o'clock of the first day some sixty or seventy shooters and perhaps two hundred spectators had gathered at the race track for the first event.

Wednesday, October 9th.—The first match was:

Selby Trophy Team Match, open to teams of five bona fide members of any regularly organized gun club on the Pacific Coast, contestants to have been members of such clubs on September 1, 1889. Entrance fee, $100 for each team, birds extra; each team to shoot at 100 single live birds. American Shooting Association rules for single live-bird shooting to govern. Selby Standard Shotgun Cartridges only to be used. One or more teams may be entered from any club. No competitor to shoot in more than one team. All contests for the trophy to be held under auspices of the California State Sportsman's Association at its annual tournaments. The trophy shall become the property of the team which shall win it three times, not necessarily consecutively. If three or more teams enter, the trophy and fifty per cent. of entrance money to first; thirty per cent. of entrance money to second; twenty per cent. of entrance money to third.

1st.—Trophy and Fifty per cent of entrance.
2d.—Thirty per cent of entrance.
3d —Twenty per cent of entrance.

4th.—One Silver Smoking Set, offered by F. E. Smith, San Jose, for best individual score in any team

5th.—Three hundred Standard Catridges, offered by Major S. I Kellogg, for best individual score by a member of non-winning team.

6th —One Split Bamboo Rod, offered by Clabrough, Golcher & Co. for second best individual score by a member of a non-winning team.

7th.—Stag handled Hunting Knife, offered by E. T. Allen, for third best individual score by member of a non-winning team.

8th —One pair Hunting Shoes, value $5,00, offered by R. Liddle & Co., for fourth best individual score by a member of a non-winning team.

9th.—One set of Fine Carvers, offered by H. Boschken, for fifth best individual score by a member of a non-winning team.

10th.—One Lightning Gun Cleaner, offered by Frank L. Holmes, for sixth best individual score by a member of a non-winning team.

11th.—"The Road to the Village," framed; water color; offered by Messrs. T. J. Bass & Co., 10, 12 and 14 Eddy street, San Francisco.

12th.—One box of choice perfumes, offered by Greenebaum's, 128 Post street, San Francisco.

Five clubs sent teams, the California Wing Shooting Club of San Francisco, the Blue Rock Club of San Francisco, the Pacific Gun Club of Sacramento, the Colton Gun Club of Colton, and the Garden City Gun Club of San Jose. The teams were carefully selected, and were thoroughly representative. Some individuals failed to shoot up to their averages, but the work as a whole was of a very high order. The birds were good, freshly caught farm pigeons not particularly quick from the traps, but able to carry a lot of lead out of bounds. But two clean scores were made, by Mr. J. M. Morrison, of the Pacific Gun Club, and Mr. Jos. Delmas, of the Garden City Club. Both gentlemen had average birds, and scored high by sheer good shooting. Four men got nineteen each, C. E. Mack and Wm. King, of the Pacifics, Dr. O F. Britton and Martinez Chick, of the Colton club. The eighteens were five in number, Messrs. Haas and Robinson, of the California Wing Shooting Club, and Messrs. F. B. Norton, S. I. Kellogg and H. C. Golcher, of the Blue Rock Club.

Crittenden Robinson and Ed Fay had their usual bit of hard luck, the first losing one and the latter three birds dead just out of bounds. The winning team shot well together, being steady, and taking all sorts of birds easily. The Colton Club, which won second suffered somewhat by the tumble of one of its best shots, Mr. "Wiley," who scored but fourteen, but the splendid work of Dr Britton and Mr. Chick held the team up. Gus Knight shot more than half the match without a fore-end for his gun, having mislaid it. Mr. Unger, of the team, was out-lucked, losing two hard-hit birds.

The American Association rules governed the shooting, and were unfavorably commented upon by many of the participants. The shooting was done in squads, one man from each of the five teams being allotted to each squad, and the men alternating at the traps shot by shot. For convenience the score by teams is given. Selby Team Match:

PACIFIC GUN CLUB TEAM.

C. E. Mack	11111	11111	11111	11110—19
Adam Damm	11110	10110	10111	00111—14
Lewis J. Nicholas	11001	11011	11111	11111—17
Wm King	10111	11111	11111	11111—19
J. M. Morrison	11111	11111	11111	11111—20
Total				89

COLTON GUN CLUB TEAM.

Dr. O. F. Britton	11101	11111	11111	11111—19
E. Unger	11011	01110	11101	11111—16
Gus Knight	01110	01111	11101	11111—16
B. Wiley	10111	11110	01001	01111—14
M. Chick	01111	11111	11111	11111—19
Total				84

BLUE ROCK CLUB TEAM.

F. B. Norton	11111	01101	11111	11111—18
C. F. Boardman	11101	11110	00101	01101—13
S. I. Kellogg	10111	11111	11101	11111—18
H. C. Golcher	11011	11111	11111	11110—18
A. F. Adams	11101	10111	01100	10111—14
Total				81

CALIFORNIA WING SHOOTING CLUB TEAM.

Dr Slade	1 1 0 0 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0—16
C. J. Haas	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—18
C. M. Osborne	1 0 0 1 0 1 0 1 1 1 0 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—14
E. Fay	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 0 0 1—15
C. Robinson	0 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—17
Total	81

GARDEN CITY WING SHOOTING CLUB TEAM.

Joseph Delmas	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1—18
F. E. Coykendall	0 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1—15
George C. Anderson	1 1 1 1 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 1—15
S. A. Childs	1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 0 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 0 0 1—14
Joseph Faull	1 1 0 1 0 0 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 0 1 0 1 0 1 1 1—14
Total	78

After the trophy match was finished, the scores announced and the prize money distributed, a protest was entered against the score of Mr. C. F. Boardman as kept by the official scorer, on the ground that a miss should have been scored to that gentleman in his fourteenth round instead of a kill, thus making the Blue Rock Club and the California Wing Shooting Club tie.

The official scorer was proved to have made one or two other errors, and as four scores of the shooting kept by disinterested persons agreed in making Mr. Boardman's score 13 instead of 14, the Referee, after long deliberation, decided that the official score should be corrected and the clubs made a tie. At this writing, Wednesday evening, the matter has yet to be determined, but will be shot off on Thursday morning.

After the main match a pool at Blue Rock Targets was shot off as follows:

At 10 single Blue Rocks; $2.50 entrance; four monies. Mr. Chick won first; those having 8 divided the rest.

M. Chick	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—9
A. Wiley	1	0	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—8
Dr. Brittan	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	0	1	1—8
George A. Anderson	0	1	0	0	1	1	1	1	0	1—6
F. E. Coykendall	0	0	0	0	0	1	1	1	1	0—4
Joseph Delmas	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	1—8
Gus Knight	0	0	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	0—6
— Brown	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	0—8
— Roberts	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	0	0	0—5
— Cadwallader	1	1	0	0	0	1	1	1	1	1—7
H. Smith	0	0	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	1—7
S. I. Kellogg	1	1	0	1	0	0	1	0	1	1—6
A. B. Sperry	0	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—8
L. DeZaldo	0	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—8
S. A. Childs	0	1	0	1	1	0	1	1	1	1—7
F. B. Norton	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	0	1	1—8

THURSDAY.

The second day of the meeting was perfect as to climatic conditions, being cool and with just breeze enough to clear away the smoke, the wind flowing directly from the traps to the smoke and thereby favoring the shooters. All of the participants were on the grounds at nine o'clock A. M. promptly, but little delay was occasioned by an effort to settle the question left pending at the close of the team match on Wednesday. The referee announced that he had decided the official score to have been enoneously kept in respect to a bird scored as killed by Mr. C. F. Boardman which should have been scored a miss.

He ordered Mr. Crittenden Robinson to finish his incomplete score of the evening before which the latter did. Killing his bird, and making the California Wing Shooting Club team, and the Blue Rock team, tie. A reasonable time was allowed the captains of the teams to determine whether they would shoot the tie off, divide the money or take some other course. The California Club team was willing either to shoot or divide, but the Blue Rock team refused to do anything. Finally the Referee called the teams to the score to shoot off The first man called was Dr. Knowles, a member of the California Club team who killed his bird. Then Mr. Morton of the Blue Rock team was called, but he refused to go to the score, and the referee decided that the California Wing Shooting Club team was entitled to third place and money. A formal demand was made upon Mr. Morton, Captain of the Blue Rock team for the $100 enoneously paid to him. Mr. Morton expressed his willingness to turn over the portion personally received by him, but could not recover the portions held by others of the teams.

The regular matches of the day were then proceeded with, and the first race was perhaps the most brilliant match ever shot in the State, all conditions being suitable and the men being in good form. Mr. C. J. Haas of Stockton scored ten clean kills on good birds without using his second barrel. Mr. Martinezchich also had a clean score, tastily made. Mr. "Wiley" of Colton, who had hard luck on Wednesday, killed all of his birds cleanly. Charles Merrill of Stockton, the champion three years ago, piled up ten kills also, as did Frank Rushtaller of Sacramento. Mr. Leffler, of Stockton was another ten man, as was Mr. E. Unger of Los Angeles. Henry A. Bassford took his share of the pot with a clean score, and Mr. Evans, who came from Portland to attend the tournament, did likewise. Among those who got none of the coin were a multitude of cracks, among them many who usually are "in it" at the end of almost every hard race. The number of spectators was large and the excitement noticeable as the match neared its conclusion. Many incidents of interest might be noted if time permitted, but must be deferred until next week. The business meeting of the Association was held on Friday evening, too late to be reported in this issue. To-night the tournament closes and members are to be banqueted by the San Jose members, Messrs. Coykendall, Delmar, Anderson, Ingalsby, Farrel and others.

SCORES,

At ten live birds, Hurlingham style. Entrance $5. Prizes in this and all succeeding matches, except when otherwise specified, 40, 30, 20 and ten per cent of entrance. State Association rules to govern in this and all other matches except when otherwise specified. Money and special prizes divided by the nine who had clean scores.

Coykendall	1	0	w
Chick	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—10
Sperry	0	1	0	0	1	1	1	1	0	1— 6
Wiley	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—10
Haas	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—10
Merrill	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—10
Coons	1	1	1	1	0	w
Randall	1	1	1	0	0	w
Slade	1	1	1	1	1	0	w
Kellogg	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1— 9
Smith	1	0	w
Nicolaus	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	w
Rushtaller	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—10
Norton	1	1	1	0	w
Leffler	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—10
Fay	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	w
Robinson	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1— 9
Sutherland	1	0	w
Scarlett	0	1	w
Burnett	1	0	w
Knight	1	1	0	w
Golcher	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1— 9
Adams	0	1	w
Boardman	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1— 9
Farell	1	0	w
Morrison	0	0	w
Fanning	1	0	w
Pratt	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1— 9
Unger	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	10
Hobson	1	1	1	1	1	0	w
West	0	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1— 7
Bassford	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—10
Reams	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	0	0	1— 7
Evans	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—10
Bringham	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1— 9
Jones	0	w
Taffe	1	0	w
Britton	1	0	w
McMurtry	1	1	1	0	0	w
Rice	0	w

The second race of the day was a curio, at ten Blue Rocks, thirty yards rise, use of both barrels. Most of the targets were broken at 50 yards and over, and the match was more a test of the guns than the men. The entrance was $2.00 and the money was divided by those who scored seven each.

Kellogg	1	0	0	0	1	1	0	0	1	0—4
Sperry	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0—1
Wiley	0	0	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1—7
Chick	0	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	0	1—7
Haas	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	1	1—4
Unger	0	0	0	1	1	1	1	0	0	0—6
Beckeart	0	0	0	1	0	1	0	1	0	0—3
Coons	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	0	1—3
Knight	0	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	0—6
Norton	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	1—3
Burnett	0	0	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1—7
Randell	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	0	0	1—7
Martin	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	1	1—4
Ashley	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	1	0—2
Britton	1	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	0	1—7
Ross	1	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	w
Scarlett	0	1	0	0	1	0	1	1	1	0—6
Smith	0	1	0	1	0	1	1	0	0	0—4
Golcher	0	0	0	0	0	w
Taaffe	0	1	1	0	0	0	1	1	1	0—5
Nicolaus	0	1	0	0	1	1	0	1	0	0—4
Fanning	1	1	1	1	0	1	0	1	1	0—7
Pratt	1	1	1	0	0	0	0	1	0	0—4
Bassford	1	1	1	0	0	1	0	1	1	1—7
McMurfry	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0—1
Leffler	0	1	0	1	0	1	0	0	0	0—3
Delmas	1	1	1	0	0	1	1	0	0	1—6
Evans	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	0	1	0—6
Coykendall	0	1	1	0	1	0	1	0	1	0—5
Fay	0	1	1	0	1	0	0	1	0	0—4
West	0	0	0	0	0	w
Robinson	1	0	0	0	1	1	1	0	0	1—5
Cadwallader	1	0	0	1	1	0	0	0	1	1—5
Coykendall	1	1	1	0	0	1	0	1	1	1—6
Faull	1	0	0	1	0	0	1	1	0	0—4
Closs	1	0	1	0	0	0	1	1	0	1—4

After the Blue Rock Race was done, the regularly listed match at 6 live birds Hurlingham style was begun, but could not be finished before it grew too dark to shoot, and the score must appear next week.

Mr. J. S. Fanning, one of San Francisco's crack shots, returned last week from a seven-months' seal-shooting trip in Behring's Sea. The exposure to all sorts of weather and the constant necessity for alertness in order to circumvent the wary game, have in no degree lessened the athletic proportions of Mr. Fanning. Mr. Ed. Funcke was one of the shooters on the Lily L., and both gentlemen speak in the highest terms of the consideration shown them by Captain E. P. Miner, commander of the sealer. The fact that almost all of Mr. Fanning's seal shooting was done with the shotgun will go far to insure to that sturdy trap shot a goodly share of the prizes at San Jose.

ROD.

Bay fishing was poor on last Sunday.

P. C. Johnson and wife caught 35 lbs. of rock cod in the vicinity of Goat Island.

The steamer Whitelaw will leave for the Cordell Banks at midnight with a fishing party on board under the direction of Henry M. Castillar.

Some good messes of smelt were caught at the old Oakland wharf on Sunday.

To-morrow the tides will be favorable and the moon will be in its last quarter, so that good fishing may be looked for.

FOR  SALE

DANIEL WEBSTER,

One of the Finest Bred Stallions in the State of California.

Stands 15½ hands high. His weight is 1,150 pounds, and his color a majestic black. He is an exceedingly stylish animal. He was foaled in June, 1881, and is by Carr's Mambrino (his mother being Beautiful Belle), he by Mambrino Patchen, he by Mambrino Chief, by Mambrino Paymaster, by imported Messenger. Daniel Webster's dam was Beautiful Bell, by Taxation, by Lexington—dam Black Swan by Messenger Carrol—his dam Messenger Maid by Cooper's Bay Messenger—Swan's first dam being Katy Aubrey, by American Eclipse—second dam Buzzard, and fourth dam Mary Grey, by imported Messenger. Can be seen at the Club Stables, 409 Taylor Street. Price within the reach of any one wanting a stallion.

THE BUCKINGHAM.
OLD STRAIGHT WHISKIES.
141 Montgomery Street.
303 Bush Street, S. F.
M. J. BALFE, Proprietor.

EGAN & ADDINGTON,
Bank Exchange,
2d and K Streets, Sacramento.
Superior Wines, Liquors and Cigars.

Pacific Coast.

Blood Horse Asso'n.

Fall Racing Meeting, 1889.

Bay District Track.

San Francisco,
NOVEMBER 16, 19, 21, 23.

Entries Close FRIDAY, Nov. 1.

FIRST DAY—NOVEMBER 16th.

No. 1—Purse, $400; for three-year-olds and upwards; $15 entrance from starters to go to second horse. Winners in 1889 at this distance when carrying weight for age or more of one race to carry five pounds, of two or more 10 pounds extra. Maidens beaten at this distance if three years old allowed seven pounds; if four years old or over allowed twelve pounds. One mile.

No. 2—The Ladies Stakes for two-year-old fillies. Closed.

No. 3 The November Stakes for all ages; $25 entrance, $10 forfeit with $500 added; $75 to second, $25 to third. Winners over this distance this year of two races (handicaps excepted) to carry five pounds of three such races to carry ten pounds extra. One mile and a half.

No. 4—Selling Purse $350, of which $50 to second, for three years old and upwards. Fixed valuation $1,000; three pounds allowed for each $100 less down to $700 then one pound for $100 down to $300; selling price to be named through the entry box at 5 P. M., the day before the race. Three-quarter mile heats,

SECOND DAY—NOVEMBER, 19th.

No. 5—Purse, $400; $50 to second, $25 to third for three-year-olds and upwards. Winners this year of any race over this distance (handicaps and selling races excepted) to carry three pounds, of two such races five pounds of three or more ten pounds extra. Beaten maidens allowed three pounds. Three-quarters of a mile.

No. 6—The Vestal Stakes; for three-year-old fillies. Closed. One and one-quarter miles.

No. 7—The Record Stakes; for all ages; $25 entrance, $10 forfeit, with $500 added, of which $50 to second, $25 to third. Weight for age. Five furlongs.

No. 8—Purse $350. Handicap; for two-year-olds; $10 from starter, $5 declaration. First horse to take the purse, second horse 70 per cent., third horse 30 per cent, of starting money and declarations. Weights announced on the first day of the meeting. Declarations due at 5 P. M. the day before the race. Seven furlongs.

THIRD DAY, NOVEMBER 21.

No. 9—Selling purse $350, $50 to second; for all ages. Final valuation, $1,200. Two pounds allowed for each $100 less down to $800, then one pound for each $100 down to $300. Selling price to be named through the entry box at 5 P. M. the day before the race. One and one-sixteenth miles.

No. 10—Purse $350, $50 second; for three-year-olds and upwards. Weight for age. Half mile heats.

No. 11—The Autumn Stakes; for two-year-olds. Closed.

No. 12—The Fame Stakes; for three-year-olds. Closed. One and three-quarter miles.

FOURTH DAY, NOVEMBER 23rd.

No. 13 Purse $400; $50 to second, $25 to third; for three-year-olds and upwards. Horses that have started at this meeting and not won; if beaten once allowed five pounds; twice, ten pounds; three times, fifteen pounds. One and one-sixteenth of a mile.

No. 14—Purse $350; $50 to the second; for two-year-olds that have started and not won at this meeting. Horses beaten once allowed five pounds, twice, eight pounds; three times, fifteen pounds. Winner of No. 8, if carrying in that race rule weights or more not barred. Three-quarters of a mile.

No. 15—The Holiday Handicap for all ages; $25 entrance; $10 declaration; $500 added, of which $100 to second, $50 to third. Weights announced on the third day of the meeting at 10 o'clock A. M. Declaration due at 5 P. M. the day before the race. One and three-eighths of a mile.

No. 16—Purse $350; $50 to second. Owners' Handicap for all ages. Weights to be named through the entry box at 5 P. M. the day before the race. One mile.

CONDITIONS.

These races will be run under the Revised Rules of the Association, adopted February 4, 1887. Owners and trainers will be supplied with copies on application to the Secretary.

Colonial bred horses foaled on Colonial time, i. e., between August 1st and December 31st, allowed as follows: Two and three-year olds, eight pounds; four-year-olds, five pounds; five-year-olds, three pounds.

In all stakes starters must be named to the Secretary or through the entry box at the track on or before 6 o'clock P. M. of the day before the race. In all stakes the right to forfeit ceases at 10 o'clock A. M. of the day on which the race is run. (Rule 43.)

Entrance free for starters in purses. Non-starters can declare out at 6 o'clock P. M. of the day before the race by paying 5 per cent. of the amount of the purse. All horses not so declared out will be required to start. (Rule 22.)

All declarations void unless accompanied by the money.

The Association reserves the right to postpone races on account of unfavorable weather or other sufficient cause.

Entries close with the Secretary on Friday, November, 1, 1889.

M. F. TARPEY.
First vice-President.

E. S. CULVER, Secretary.
313 Bush Street, S. F.

"TOBEY'S,"
214 Post Street,
Between Grant Avenue and Stockton Street,
Adjoining New Hamman Baths.
D. J. TOBIN, Proprietor.

ROME HARRIS. JOHN MERIGAN.

"Laurel Palace,"

N. W. corner Kearny and Bush Streets,
SAN FRANCISCO.

RENO.

[By our Special Commissioner.]

From Stockton to Reno is not much of a ride, especially when the company is good, for the early part of the evening is devoted to "fighting the battles over again," and making predictions as to the probable results of the forthcoming week. An elegantly fitted up sleeping car was attached to the train, and when we had all talked ourselves out, retired to the tastefully arranged couches, where one can sleep just as comfortably as though in the best hotel in the land. At half past seven we arrived at Reno, and went at once to the Depot Hotel and were cordially received by Messrs. Parry and Fitzgerald, who, during the week, made our party feel very much at home. They keep an excellent hostlery, set a good table, and the attendance is all that could be desired.

The opening day of the fair was marked by charming weather, the change from the hot air currents of the San Joaquin to the pleasant breezes of Nevada being very welcome, and was heartily appreciated by the California contingent. Everything was in apple pie order for racing, the Directors having worked earnestly for a successful meeting. Too much praise cannot be given Messrs. Winters, Powring and Stoddard for their indefatigable efforts in this direction, as the last Legislature refused to assist them in any way and the society have had to shoulder the entire financial responsibility, but thanks to good weather and extensive patronage, the fair has been a complete success in every particular.

The opening event was a seven-eighths dash for the runners, and had as starters Nerva, Johnny Gray, Condor and Billy D. The "talent" thought they had a cinch with Nerva and plunged on the Elmwood Stable representative, she selling for $20 against $8 for the field. Geo. Howson rode his old gray gelding in capital style and landed him a winner. Time, 1:31¼.

SUMMARY.

Nevada Agricultural Society, Reno, Nev., Sept. 30th—Selling race, seven-eighths of a mile; entrance $20, $100 added, $50 second horse.

G. Howson's g g Johnnie Gray, aged, Shiloh—Margery	Howson	1
E. Lichtenstein's s g Billy D., aged, Norfolk—unknown	Chas. Zobel	2
Lem Allen's ch h Condor, 3, Frank Rhodes—Mary	E. Summers	3
Elmwood Stables' bh m Nerva, 6, Bob Wooding—Lizzie Marshall	J. Johnson	0

Time, 1:31¼.

The free for all trotting race had only three contestants, the veterans being Victor, Thapsin and Rabe. Wilbur Smith had an easy thing of it, carrying off first money in three straight heats, the second falling to Rabe, who trotted splendidly. "Hayseed" did not seem at himself, the Plumas horse having contracted the sniffles while down in the lower country.

SUMMARY.

Reno, Nev., September 30th.—Free for all. Purse $1,200.

W. F. Smith's g g Thapsin by Berlin, dam Lady Hubbard	Smith	1	1	1
G. S. Nixon,s ch g Rabe by Strader, dam Little Rose	Dennison	2	2	3
G. A. Doherty's b s Victor by Echo, dam by Woodburn	Doherty	3	3	2

Time, 2:27¼, 2:25½, 2:26¼.

There was a great deal of money went into the pool-box on the concluding race of the day, which was a quarter mile dash between Mollie, who hails from Montana, and Rondo, a crack short horse from Austin. The excitement was intense as the pair travelled toward the starting post, and a considerable sum of money was bet privately between those most interested. Mollie got a trifle the best of the send off, but Rondo managed to beat her out at the wire, his nose showing first in front.

SUMMARY.

Reno, Nev , September 30th.—Match race. Quarter of a mile.

E. Steiner's ch h Rondo by Vanderbilt, dam Duchess, 115	1
Mollie, g m, 110	2

Time, 0:22.

SECOND DAY.

There was a much larger attendance on the second day of the meeting, the stock parade drawing out many visitors. The racing sport was started with a seven-eighths dash, there being only two starters, Trahern's G. W. and Thompson's Lulu S. The Stockton horse had an easy race, the mare being no match for him.

SUMMARY.

Reno, Nev., October 1st.—Seven-eighths dash. Purse $250.

G. W. Trahern's b g G. W. by Kyrle Daly, dam Elizabeth	C. Dennison	1
W. Thompson's ch f Lulu S. by Joe Hooker, dam by Wildidle	C. Winchell	2

Time, 1:35.

The next contest was very spirited, and was heavily played in the boxes, all of the entries having strong support. It was a five-eighths dash, and the starters were Nabeau, Johnny Gray, Painkiller, E. D. and Applause. Applause won after a good fight. Time, 1:03½.

SUMMARY.

Reno, October 1st.—Five-eighths dash. $100 added.

W. George's b g Applause, Three Cheers—Alice N.	Stevenson	1
G. Richardson's b c Painkiller, Joe Hooker—Betsy McGuire		2
Geo. Howson's g g Johnny Gray, Shiloh—Margery	Howson	3
G. W. Trahern's br f E. D., Powhattan—Haidee		0
Elmwood Stable's b g Nabeau, Nathan Coombs—Beauty		0

Time, 1:03¼.

The card now showed a mile dash, the starters for which were Hotspur, Billy D. and Nerva. Hotspur proved too much for the other pair, and won handily in 1:45½.

SUMMARY.

Reno, Nev., October 1st.—One mile dash. $100 added.

D. Denison's b h Hotspur, Joe Daniels—Wildidle	Denison	1
Boots' ch m Nerva, Bob Wooding—Liz Marshall	C. Dennison	2
Schwartz's ch g Billy D., Norfolk—unknown	Zobil	3

Time, 1:45½.

The trotting race of the day was for the three-minute class, and it was long drawn out, six heats being necessary to decide it. In the betting there was a good deal of fluctuation, owing to the heats being split, but "Buster" McConnell managed to land Snowslide a winner, he winning the third, fifth and sixth heats.

SUMMARY.

Reno, Nev., October 1st.—3:00 trotting class.

J. Raycraft's Snowslide	"Buster"	4	2	1	2	1	1
J Guion's Julien	Guion	3	1	2	1	2	2
J. P. Sweeney's Gibber	Sweeney	1	4	4	4	4	3
J. F. Emmett's Ordway	Smith	2	3	3	3	3	d

Time, 2:53, 2:52, 2:51, 2:48, 2:50, 2:52.

THIRD DAY.

The third day of the fair was even more satisfactory than the preceeding ones. The ladies' riding tournament was participated in by Miss Anna Kemler of Sacramento, Miss Allen of Churchill, Mrs. Elliott of Glendale, Miss Nellie Winters of Washoe Valley, and Miss McIntosh of Reno. The various movements were eagerly watched, and the vast audience enjoyed the riding. The ring-catching feature was something new. The wind-up was a mile dash around the track, Miss Nellie Winters coming under the wire first, the whole thing creating much amusement.

The district pacing race did not afford much sport, as the speed displayed was of the slow order, and even at that, Frenchy was distanced in the first heat.

SUMMARY.

Reno, Oct. 2nd, 1889. Pace, 3 in 5. Purse $400.

D Circe, Prince	Circe	1	1	1
J. P. Sweeney, Sam Lewis	Sweeney	2	2	2
A. C. Leeper, Frenchy	Leeper	dis

Time—2:37, 2:39, 2:32.

The 2:35 trotting class were the next to claim attention, there being four of them to test their merits. Ouida S. had the speed of the party, and won as she pleased, Mr. Tryon handling the mare superbly.

SUMMARY.

Reno, October 2d.—2:35 trotting. Purse $600.

Tryon's Ouida S.	Tryon	1	1	1
Henry George's Nevada	Gove	2	2	2
Trefrey's Dinah	Trefry	3	3	3
Sweeney's Alpha	Sweeney	4	4	4

Time, 2:38½, 2:39, 2:35.

The fun of the day concluded with a mixed race for trotters and pacers, the entries being Victor, Little Hope and Edwin C., the two latter belonging to the side wheel fraternity, while "Hayseed" was the only one to uphold the honors of the trotters. Mr. Johnson's Edwin C. won the race in miserably slow time, the track not being as fast as it was at Sacramento, when he made his record of 2:15. Victor won the third heat in 2:28, and it seemed an effort for him even to do that.

SUMMARY.

Reno, Nev., October 2d.—2:20 pace and trot mixed. Purse $300.

Edwin C.	"Buster"	1	1	2	1
Victor	Doherty	2	2	1	2
Little Hope	C. David	3	3	3	3

Time, 2:30½, 2:27, 2:28, 2:36.

A seven-eighths dash for the bangtail division was the first event of the day, and caused no little speculation among the bettors, but the Winters' nomination won the first money with all ease, the time being very fast for the distance, 1:28.

SUMMARY.

Reno, Oct. 3d, 1839. ⅞ dash; purse $150.

Noretta	Winchell	1
Painkiller	D. McIntosh	2

Time—1:28.

A mile and a sixteenth, heat race, was next on the programme, there being only two contestants, Dave Douglas and Parole; the former, well ridden by young Dan Dennison, won in straight heats, the time being 1:56 and 1:59.

Now came a five-eighths dash, and although there were only two stables represented yet four horses faced the starter, the two from the Winters' stable being Chan Haskell and Florence A, while Herzog and E. D. carried the colors of the Dennison stable. The jockeys were Courtney, Winchell and the two Dennison boys, but Winchell, on Florence A, got away with the ducats, the stable companion, Chan Haskell, taking second place. Time 1:03.

A three-eighths and repeat race came next and as entries there were Rondo, Johnny Allen, Red Rock and theold timer, Johnny Gray. Rondo, as in his former race, won easily, he taking first money in straight heats in the good time of :35½ and :35.

We now come to a five-eighths for maidens, $100 being added by the society, and there were four entries, Installation. Lulu S, Condor and Sallie C. The winner turned up in Installation, who negotiated the distance in 1.04. She is a brown filly by Inauguration, dam Brown Maria, and is owned by the Elmwood Stables.

A dash of three-quarters of a mile finished up the day's sport and as Applause and G. W. had both won a race it was only fitting that the other entry Johnny Gray should win this one. The following is the

SUMMARY.

Reno, Oct. 3rd.—Three-quarters of a mile dash; purse, $100 added.

J. Howson's g g Jno Gray, a, Shiloh—Margery	Howson	1
W. George's b g Applause, a, Three Cheers—Alice N	Stevens	2
G. W. Trahern's b g G. W., 3, Kyrle Daly—Elizabeth	D. Denison	3

Time, 1:17.

Lack of space prevents full details of the last two days' racing, but the following are the

SUMMARIES.

Reno, Oct. 4th.—Seven-eighths of a mile dash; $100 added.

G. W. Trahern's b m E D, Powhattan—Haidee	C. Dennison	1
W. George's b g Applause, Three Cheers—Alice N	C. Stevenson	2
Steiner's ch h Rondo, Vanderbilt—Duchess		4
Boots' ch m Nerva, Bob Wooding—Liz Marshall		3

Time, 1:31.

Two-year-old trot; purse, $100.

Evan Williams' b c Our Jack, Gibralter—Unknown	H. Willis	1	1
E. L. Hubbard's br c Dan Mace, Gibralter—Maud D	Hubbard	2	3
J. Raycraft's b c S. T. Swift, Gibralter—Liz McMahon	Buster	3	2

Time, 3:19, 3:18.

Reno, Oct. 4th —2:25 class; purse $225.

Levy's g h Jno. Hayward, Alonzo Hayward	Gove	2	1	1	2	1
C. David's b m Nona Y., Admiral—Black Flora	David	1	2	2	1	2
R. H. Walton's br h Argent, Sterling—Madam Buckner	R. H. Walton	3	3	3	3	3

Time, 2:28, 2.27, 2:33½, 2:33, 2:33.

Pace, 2:20 class; purse, $280;

Johnson's b g Edwin C., Elector—Lady Coonie	Buster	1	1	1
Bradbury's ch g Little Hope, Tempest Jr.—S. T. B. by Blue Bell	C. David	2	2	2
Costillo	Tryon	3	3	3

Time, 2:30, 2:34, 2:30.

Reno, Oct. 5th.—One-half mile dash. Match, $500 a side.

W. George's b g Applause, Three Cheers—Alice N.	1
Red Rock	2

Time, 0.50.

Three-eighths Dash.

Frank B.	1
Lexie F.	2

Time, 0:37.

Named Race. Trotting.

R. H. Walton's br h Argent, Sterling—Madam Buckner	Walton	2	1	2	1	1
C. David's b m Nona Y., Admiral—Black Flora	David	1	2	1	2	2

Time, 2:30, 2:32, 2:34, 2:36½, 3:37½.

Reno, Oct. 5th.—

J. Deter's b s L. Almont, Tilton Almont—by Latham	Lige Downer	3	2	2	1	1	1
S. C. Tryon's ch m Ouida S, Jim Mulvenna—by Jack Hawkins	Tryon	2	1	1	2	2	2
Nevada	Buster	1	3	3	dr
Dinah	Owner	dis

Time, 2:38½, 2:36½, 2:40, 2:42, 2:49, 2:42.

Reno, Oct. 5th.—2:22 Class. Purse $300.

G. A. Doherty's b s Victor, Echo—by Woodburn	Doherty	2	1	1	1
W. F. Smith's g s Thapsin, Berlin — Lady Hubbard	W. Smith	1	3	3	2
D. Dennison's b g Rabe, Strader—Little Rose	D. Dennison	3	2	2	3

Time, 2:30, 2:29, 2:37, 2:30.

Grand Initial Meeting

—OF THE—

Pacific Coast

TROTTING-HORSE

Breeders Ass'n,

AT THE

Bay District Track,

October 12, 16, 17, 18, 19.

Races.  Races.

FIRST DAY—SATURDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1889.

Race 1.—Sunol will start in the three-year-old trotting stake to beat her own record of 2:13¾.

Race 2.—National Stallion Race—2:20 Class.

Junio, 2:22, b s by Electioneer, named by Alfred Gonzales.

Direct, 2:18¼, blk s by Director, 2:17, named by Pleasanton Stock Farm.

Dawn 2:18¾, ch s by Nutwood, 2:18¾, named by A. L. Whitney.

Race 3.—Special purse, $600.

1. Melrose, named by John Green.
2. Moro, named by R. T. Carroll.
3. Richmond Jr., named by L. J. Rose Jr.
4. Big Jim, named by L. E. Clawson.
5. Lucy Abbot, named by Chris Smith.
6. Kitty Almont, named by J. H. White.

SECOND DAY—WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16.

Race 4.—Four Year Old Trotting Stake.

Balkan, 2:29½, br h by Mambrino Wilkes, named by Irvin Ayres.

Direct, 2:18¼, blk h by Director, 2:17, named by Pleasanton Stock Farm.

Hazel Wilkes, 2:20, ch f by Guy Wilkes, 2:15½, named by San Mateo Stock Farm.

Race 5.—Free for all Nomination Purse, $2,000.

1. Palo Alto, named by Palo Alto Stock Farm.
2. Lillie Stanley, named by Pleasanton Stock Farm.
3. Dawn, named by A. L. Whitney.
4. Alfred S., named by O. A. Hickok.
5. Lord Byron, named by Marcus Daly.

THIRD DAY.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1889.

Race 6.—Trotting—2:24 class. Purse $600. Did not fill.

Race 7.—Trotting—2:28 class. Purse $600.

1. Richmond Jr. named by L. J. Rose, Jr.
2. Lucy Abbot named by Chris. Smith.
3. Big Jim named by L. E. Clawson.
4. Colma named by Palo Alto Stock Farm.
5. Wavelet named by Palo Alto Stock Farm.
6. Balkan named by Irvin Ayres.

Race 8.—Free-for-all Pacing. Purse $500. Yolo Maid, Adonis, Gold Leaf and St. Patrick barred.

1. Little Hope.
2. Mink.
3. Edwin C.
4. Ned Winslow.
5. Racket and others.

FOURTH DAY.

Race 9.—Stanford Stake.

Sunol, 2:16½, will be driven to beat the three-year-old record.

Stamboul, 2:11¾, will be driven to beat his own record.

Fleet, two-year-old, will start to beat 2:24.

Grand speed contests against time and between matched horses.

Race 10.—Free-for-all Pacing. Purse $1,000.

FIFTH DAY, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19th.

Race 11.—Two year-old Trotting Stake.

Race 12.—Trotting. 2:30 class. Purse $2,000.

Lord Byron named by Marcus Daly.

Figaro named by Souther Farm.

Nona Y. named by Napa Stock Farm.

Balkan named by Irvin Ayres.

Alfred G. named by Geo. E. Guerne.

Race 13.—Trotting. 2:20 class. Purse $1,000.

Junio named by A. Gonzales.

Hazel Wilkes named by San Mateo Stock Farm.

Emma Temple named by H. J. Agnew.

Bay Rose named by J. N. Ayers.

Thapsin named by E. H. Miller Jr.

ALL RACES COMMENCE PROMPTLY AT 1 O'CLOCK.

Admission to the Grounds and Grand-stand, $1.00.

Members' tickets delivered at the Secretary's office, at the gate.

J. H. WHITE, President,

WILFRED PAGE, Secretary.

Club Stables,

Los Angeles, Cal.,

FOR SALE.

The largest and one of the best located Stables in the City. Has 100 Stalls, 40 Boarder, Stock of Buggies, Phaetons, Carriages, Hacks and Harness.

Are nearly all new, and of the best makes. Stable doing a business of $2000 per month.

Address,

GEO. I. BAILEY,

112 South Los Angeles Street,

LOS ANGELES, CAL.

Race Track to Lease.

RACE TRACK
AND FAIR GROUNDS
OF THE
Sonoma and Marin District Agricultural Society,

Including the following privileges: Farming the infield, the use of the Club-house (except during our regular District Fair), the keeping of both Bars, and the keeping of the Restaurant in the Grand Stand.

The lessee will be required to keep the track in good order, and the fences, grounds and buildings clean and in good repair, and to cultivate the ground between the trees as needed.

Lease to expire October 1st, 1890.

The Society reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

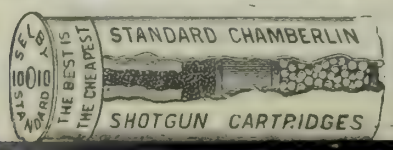
Sealed bids to be addressed to me at Petaluma, which will be opened at the office of the Society on OCTOBER 19th 1889, at 1 o'clock P. M.

WM. P. EDWARDS, Secretary.

PERRIER-JOUET
& Co.
EPERNAY
CHAMPAGNE

W. B CHAPMAN,

Sole Agent for Pacific Coast.



For sale by all first-class Wine Merchants and Grocers.

NOTICE.

C. BRUCE LOWE,
Pedigree Stock Agent,
19 Bligh Street,

SYDNEY, New South Wales.

Reference—J. B. HAGGIN, ESQ.

THOROUGHBRED

Clydesdale Mares

FOR SALE.

Fifth Annual Importation by MR. JOHN SCOTT.

Ex "Alameda."

Can be seen at Bay District Track.

For particulars, apply to

KILLIP & CO., Auctioneers,

22 Montgomery Street, S. F.

KENNEL ADVERTISEMENTS.

A Bargain.

A RED SETTER SLUT,

About three years old can be bought very cheaply by applying by letter to

MRS. BOWES,
469 Tehama Street, San Francisco.

Great Dane Puppies for Sale

Sire Cæsar, 10523, A. K. S. B., winner of 1st and special, San Francisco, 1888; 1st and special, San Francisco, 1889.

Dam Dora, 10531 A. K. S. B., winner of 2nd San Francisco, 1889; H. C. San Francisco, 1888. Puppies whelped Sept. 8, 1888; steel and silver gray and nicely marked. Price $35.

Also puppies by Cæsar out of a prize English Mastiff bitch. Price $25. Address,

NAHL.
2436 Central Ave, Alameda Cal.

POINTER PUPPIES.

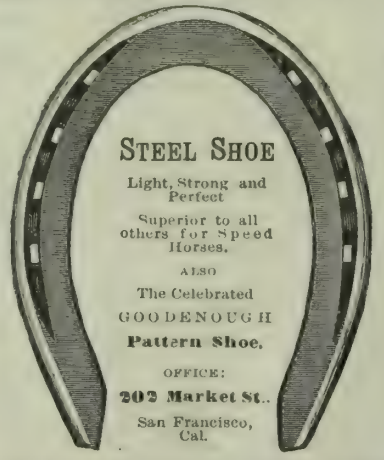
TWO WHITE AND LEMON BITCH PUPPIES, nearly five months old, perfectly healthy, of good size, very handsome and superbly bred, being by Climax (Bang Bang—Bellona) out of Drab D. (Vandevort's Don—Vandevort's Drab), for sale. Address

WILLIAM DeMOTT, San Rafael.

Fox-hound for Sale.

FINE ENGLISH FOX HOUND BITCH, well broken. Winner of 2d prize at San Francisco Bench Show of 1889. Price $50.

Apply to



CLABROUGH, GOLCHER & CO.,
630 Montgomery Street, S. F.

Stud Irish Setter.

CHAMPION MIKE T., 6435, A. K. S. B. (Nemo—Nida) winner of first whenever shown, sixteen firsts and specials, never beaten. In the stud to approved bitches, fee $25. Irish setter puppies by Champion Mike T. 6435 A. K. S. B.—Champion Lady Elcho T. 6451 A. K. S. B., for sale. Two pointers, a year old, by Rush T. 10 69 A. K. S. B.—Champion Patti Croxteth T. 10128 A. K. S. B. for sale. Address,

A. B. TRUMAN,
1425 Steiner St., S. F., Cal.

California Horse Shoe Co's

I have used in my business the Steel and Iron Shoes made by the above Company, and take great pleasure in saying they are the best I have ever used in twenty-two years' practice. I have never seen anything like the STEEL SHOE made by this Company. I can fully recommend them to every practical Horseshoer in the country. Yours respectfully,

No. 8 Everett Street. JOHN GRACE.

GOLDEN EAGLE HOTEL

Corner SEVENTH and K STREETS, SACRAMENTO.

FIRST CLASS IN EVERY RESPECT.

The LARGEST and FINEST HOTEL in the City.

W. O. BOWERS, Proprietor.

Free 'Buss to and from the Hotel.

Telephone, Telegraph Office and Messenger Service at Hotel.

TENTH ANNUAL FAIR
OF THE
District AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION No. 6,
Los Angeles, Cal.

Time of Nomination for the GUARANTEE PURSE, $2 000, for the 2.20 Class, EXTENDED TO OCTOBER 1ST.

Speed Programme and Entries, October 21st to 26th, inclusive.

1.—Running. Half-mile dash; for two-year-olds. L. J. Felton, of Santa Ana, b g Steve Stroud, Al workman, of Los Angeles, b m Henrietta, Chino Ranch, b f Idle Belle; John Gries, Compton, s g Washington Bartlett; L. J. Rose, sorrel filly; Wm. Baker, Santa Paula, s m Humming Bird; Harry E. Rose names Ross Mead; N. A. Covarrubias names b g Gumbo; J. Samuels, Sacramento, b g Pliny and b m Adelaide; Ben P. Hill, San Diego, g King David; M. A. Forrester, Capistrano, ch f Juanita.

2.—Running. Mile dash; for all ages. Charles Thomas, Jr., San Jacinto, b s Cordovia, U. F. Del Valle, Camulos, blk g Del; Al Moraine, Los Angeles, g g John Treat; Harry E. Rose names Dan M. Murphy; John Reavey, Sacramento, b f Bessie Shannon; W. L. Appleby, Santa Clara, Wild Oats; B. P. Hill, ch g Mikado, ch m Odetta, br c Sid, and ch g Tycoon; Chas. Horan, Sacramento, s g Jim Duffy; Kelly & Samuels, br m Welcome.

3.—Trotting. 2:20 class. L. J. Rose, b g Dubec; E. B. Gifford names blk g Don Tomas; J. W. Donathan blk g Franklin.

4.—Running. One-half mile and repeat for all ages. Chino Ranch, b g Idle Man; Harvey McLain, dk b s Typesetter, Kelly & Samuels, b m Susie S.; B. P. Hill, gr m Eva; E. R. Den, Santa Barbara, names b m Ella Hill; M. A. Forrester b g Johnny F.

5.—Running—one and one-eighth mile dash, all ages—L. J. Felton of Santa Ana, b g Steve Stroud; E. C. Donalech of Los Angeles s g Nacho B.; Al Moraine of Los Angeles, g g John Treat; J. D. Dunn of Los Angeles s s Four Aces; Chas. Horan, s g Jim Duffy; Kelly & Samuels, b g, Ed. McGinnis; W. L. Appleby, g Wild Oats; B. P. Hill, ch m Odetta, ch g Mikado, br c Sid, ch g Tycoon; E. R. Den names b s Othello.

6.—Trotting, 3-minute class—L. J. Felton, br g Othello, C. A. Durfee, b s Raymon; Chino Ranch, b s Woolsey; L. J. Rose, b m Moro, J. D. Dunn, s m Orphan Girl; John F. Dodson, Willmington, br m Duchess; H. W. Lawrence, Santa Barbara, names br s Rucker; A. F. McPhail, Santa Barbara, names s s Glenwood, J. B. Kennedy, Long Beach, names dark red g Danger.

7.—Pacing, 2:30 class—Henrietta Stock Farm, Wilmington, ch s Rory O'More; Geo. A. Vignolo, L. A., s m Sunrise; A. J. Candle, Santa Ana, blk m Roxy; W. P. Johnson, Alhambra, r g Phil Frehler; Geo. H. Clark, Fairview, Orange County, b g P. G.; J. Willits, Santa Ana, names blk s Silkwood; Thos. L. Burke, San Diego, b g Olett.

8.—Running—three-quarters mile dash for 3-year-olds—Al Graham, L. A., s m Nelly Gray, Chas. Thomas, Jr., b s Cordova; P. C. Donalech, s g Nacho B.; John Reavey, b f Bessie Shannon; W. L. Appleby, g Wild Oats; B. P. Hill, ch m Odette; Harry E. Rose mm s b g Dan M. Murphy; E. R. Den names b m Ella Hill; M. A. Forrester names ch f Lomita.

9.—Running—one mile and repeat for all ages—Chino Ranch, ch g, Tip; W. L. Appleby, g Wild Oats; B. P. Hill, br c Sid, ch g Mikado; Kelly & Samuels, br m Welcome.

10.—Ladies' riding—to be filled at any time up to date of meeting.

11.—Trotting, 2:27 class—E. B. Gifford, blk m Bell B; Chino Ranch, b s Albion; L. J. Rose, b g Dubec; D. J. Murphy names blk s Soudan.

12.—Running. One and one-half mile dash; for all ages. P. C. Donalech's s g Nacho B.; J. D. Dunn's s s Four Aces; Charles Horan's s g Jim Duffy; Kelly & Samuels' b g Ed McGinnis; W. L. Appleby's Wild Oats; B. P. Hill's ch m Odette, ch g Mikado, br c Sid; E. R. Den's b s Othello.

13.—Running. Five-eighths of a mile dash; for two-year-olds. L. J. Felton's b g Steve Stroud; John Gries' Compton, s g Washington Bartlett, Chino Ranch's b f Idle Belle; L. J. Rose's s f; J. W. Donathan's San Jose, ch c Herbert Earl; Kelly & Samuels' b g Pliny, b m Adelaide; B. P. Hill's King David; Harry E. Rose names Rosemeade; N. A. Covarrubias names b g Gumbo; Al Workman names Henrietta; M. A. Forrester's ch f Juanita.

14.—Guarantee Purse, $2,000; entries extended to October 1st.

15.—Running. One and one-quarter mile dash; for all ages. U. F. Del Valle's blk g Del; Al Moraine's g g John Treat; John Reavey's b f Bessie Shannon; W. L. Appleby's Wild Oats; B. P. Hill's ch g Mikado, br c Sid, ch g Tycoon; Chas. Horan's s g Jim Duffy; Kelly & Samuels' br m Welcome; E. R. Den names b s Othello.

16.—Running. Seven-eighths of a mile dash; for three-year-olds. Al Graham's s m Nelly Gray; Chas. Thomas Jr.'s b s Cardova; P. C. Donalech's s g Naicho B.; Harry E. Rose names b g Dan M. Murphy; E. R. Den names b m Ella Hill; John Reavey's b f Bessie Shannon; B. P. Hill's ch m Odette.

17.—Trotting. 2:50 class. C. A. Durfee's b s Raymon; L. J. Felton's br g. thello; John F. Dodson's br m Duchess; Ellis Williams' ch s Goldnut; Chino Ranch's b s Woolsey; L. J. Rose's bl. m Moro; J. B. Denman, Norwalk, b g Victor; J. D. Dunn's s m Orphan Girl; H. W. Lawrence names b s Rucker; J. Willits names b m Daisy W.; J. W. Robinson, Los Angeles, names Gov. M.

18.—Trotting. 2:35 class. M. E. Ryan, Hanford, s m Addie E.; Wm. Smith, Los Angeles, b m Belle Forest; George C. Smith, Santa Maria, b m Topsy; Thos. Chrisman, Ventura, b g Richmond Jr.; Joe Roads, Visalia, gr m Kitty Agnew; D. E. Whiting names ch s Inca Jr.; N. A. Covarrubias names b g Nigger Baby; J. B. Kennedy names dark red g Danger.

19.—Running. Two-mile dash; for all ages. Chas. Thomas, Jr.'s b s Cardova; P. C. Donalech's s g Naicho B.; Chino Ranch's ch g Tip; G. L. Waring, Santa Monica, g g Telephone; J. D. Dunn's s s Four Aces; W. L. Appleby's g Wild Oats; B. P. Hill's br c Sid.

Shoes For Comfort, Elegance and Durability.

Having my own Factory, and giving my personal supervision to all work I am in a position to warrant perfect satisfaction. Inspection invited.

Gentlemen's Park Riding Boots made to Order.

FACTORY—S. W. cor. Battery and Jackson Sts.
SALESROOM Pioneer Building, corner Stevenson and Fourth Streets.

A full line of Boots and Shoes constantly on hand, and rules for Self-Measurement by Mail.

JNO. T. SULLIVAN.

"DICKEY'S,"

SIXTH AVENUE AND D ST.

Near entrance to Bay District Track.

Choicest Brands of

WINES AND CIGARS.

A Delightful Resort.

Telephone 1455 J. R. DICKEY, Propr.

FIRST ANNUAL FAIR
OF THE
Healdsburg Driving Park Association,

OCTOBER 16th to 18th inclusive
1889.

Healdsburg, Sonoma Co., Cal.

SPEED PROGRAMME.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16TH.

No. 1.—Running—Free for all. Three quarters of a mile and repeat. Purse $100; $35 to second.

No. 2.—Trotting District yearlings. Mile dash. Purse $50; $15 to second.

No. 3.—Trotting.—District two-year-olds. Purse $100.

No. 4.—Trotting—District. Free for all. Purse $100.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 17TH,

No. 5.—Trotting—Free for all stallions in the district. Purse $100.

No. 6.—Running—For all ages. One-quarter mile. Purse $75; $15 to second.

No. 7.—Trotting — District. Three-minute class. Purse $100.

No. 8.—Running — One-half mile. For district horses. Purse $100; $35 to second.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 18TH.

No. 9.—Trotting District four-year-olds. Purse $150.

No. 10.—Trotting—2:40. District. Purse $100.

No. 11.—Free for all roadste owned in the district. Owners to drive. Purse $75; $15 to second.

No. 12.—Purse of $200 for horses driven a mile the closest to four minutes. Winner to take all. Entrance $250.

No. 13.—Consolation purse. $50. Open to all runners beaten at the meeting. Entrance free. $15 to second. One-half mile.

No. 14.—Special purse of $100. Open for named horses. Best three in five.

Entrance 10 per cent. unless otherwise specified.

Entries close October 10th at 10 A. M. with the Secretary.

For conditions and particulars address the Secretary.

R. H. WARFIELD, President.

H. W. PECK, Secretary.

CALL FOR A

Pacific Coast Trotting Association.

A Convention will be held at San Francisco on MONDAY, OCTOBER 14th, 1889, at 7:30 P. M., at the Palace Hotel, under the auspices of the Pacific Coast Trotting Horse Breeders' Association,

For the purpose of forming a

Pacific Coast Trotting Association,

and harmonizing the interests of the trotting turf on this coast under one management.

All Trotting, Driving and Track Societies and Clubs interested in the formation of the proposed association are earnestly requested to send accredited delegates or representatives to the convention.

By order of the Board of Directors P. C. T. H. B. A.,

WILFRED PAGE, Sec'y,

P. O., Penn's Grove, Sonoma Co., Calif.

John D. Gall. Jas. P. Dunne

"The Resort,"

No. 1 Stockton Street, cor. Ellis,

San Francisco.

PHIL J. CRIMMINS. JOHN C. MORRISON.

"Silver Palace,"

36 Geary Street,

San Francisco, Cal.

SAMUEL VALLEAU. JAS. R. BRODIE

J. R. BRODIE & CO.,
Steam Printers,

—And Dealers in—

Pooseller's and Bookmaker's Supplies.

401—403 Sansome Street, corner Sacramento, San Francisco.

Breeders' Directory.

Advertisements under this heading 50c. per line per month.

HORSES AND CATTLE.

PETER SAXE & SON. Lick House, San Francisco, Cal.—Importers and Breeders for past 18 years of every variety of Cattle, Horses, Sheep and Hogs.

HOLSTEIN THOROUGHBREDS of all the noted strains. Registered Berkshire Swine. Catalogues. F. H. BURKE, 491 Montgomery St., S. F.

CLEVELAND BAYS and Norman Horses, Jersey Cattle, and pure bred Poland China Hogs.—DR. W. J. PRATHER, Fresno, Cal.

G. VALENSIN Valensin Stock Farm, Pleasanton, Alameda County, Cal.—The get of Sidney, 2:19¾; Valensin, 3 year old, 2:23; Shamrock, 2 year old, 2:25, out of first-class mares, for sale at reasonable prices.

SAN MIGUEL STOCK FARM, Walnut Creek, Contra Costa County, Cal.—Standard-Bred Trotters, Colts and Fillies for Sale. IRVING AYERS, No. 34 Fremont Street, S. F.

MAPLE GROVE FARM — GEO. BEMENT & SON.—Registered Ayrshire Cattle and Essex Swine. Oakland, Cal.

HENRY C. JUDSON. Wild Idle Farm.—Breeder of Thoroughbred Horses. The home of "Wild Idle." P. O. Santa Clara; Box 223.

W. S. JACOBS. Sacramento, Cal. — Breeder of Thoroughbred Shorthorns and Berkshire Hogs.

J. H. WHITE, Lakeville, Sonoma County—Breeder of Registered Holstein Cattle.

M. D. HOPKINS, of Petaluma—Registered Shorthorn, Holstein and Devon Cattle, Shropshire Sheep, for sale.

EL ROBLAR RANCHO—Los Alamos, Cal., Francis T. Underhill, proprietor, importer and breeder of thoroughbred Hereford Cattle. Information by mail. C. F. Swan, manager.

SHORT-HORNS—Imported and Recorded Short-Horns of the best strains. Catalogues. Address P. PETERSON, Sites, Colusa Co. Cal.

PAGE BROTHERS.—Penn's Grove, Sonoma Co. Cal. Breeders of Short-Horn Cattle; Draft, Roadster and Standard Bred Horses.

VALPARAISO PARK. — Thoroughbred Durham Cattle. Address F. D. Atherton, Menlo Park.

JAMES MADDOCK, Petaluma, Cal.—Trotters trained at reasonable prices. Stock handled carefully. Correspondence solicited.

SETH COOK, breeder of Cleveland Bay Horses, Devon, Durham, Polled Aberdeen-Angus and Galloway Cattle. Young stock of above breeds on hand for sale. Warranted to be pure bred, recorded and average breeders. Address, Geo. A. Wiley, Cook Farm, Danville, Contra Costa Co., Cal.

B. F. RUSH, Suisun, Cal., Shorthorns, Thoroughbred and Grades. Young Bulls and Calves for Sale.

WANTED

To know present whereabouts and owner of stallion

"EFFINGHAM,"

by "SPECULATION," dam thoroughbred Belmont mare "JIB." Address,

R. J.

Care "Breeder and Sportsman," 313 Bush Street, San Francisco.

Situation Wanted.

THE UNDERSIGNED WANTS A STEADY position on a first class Stock Breeding Farm. Has had many years experience in handling stallions of all kinds. Also in breeding mares and caring for their foals. Strictly sober and reliable. Can give satisfactory references. Address

CHAS. H. GEMMILL.
Santa Rosa, Cal.

Highland Farm,

LEXINGTON, KY,

Home of Red Wilkes.

Standard-bred Trotting Stock

For Sale,

Sired by Red Wilkes, Wilton, 2:19¼; Allandorf and Sentinel Wilkes, out of highly bred Standard Mares of the most fashionable blood of the day.

W. C. FRANCE, Proprietor.

Brushes.

BUCHANAN BROS.,
Brush Manufacturers,

609 Sacramento Street, two doors above Montgomery.

Horse Brushes of every description on hand and made to order. Bristle Body Brushes our Specialty

JESSE E. MARKS & CO.,
Wholesale and Retail Dealers of Choice Brands
Havana & Key West Cigars
922 MARKET ST., S. F.

R. LIDDLE & SON
538 Washington St., S. F.,
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
Guns, Rifles and Pistols.
A Full Line of FISHING TACKLE and SPORTSMAN'S GOODS,
Orders by mail receive prompt attention.

BOYCE TABLETS.

Leg and Body Wash.

THE BOYCE TABLETS are packed in a nicely decorated metal box with hinged lid—one hundred tablets in each box; directions for use plainly engraved upon the box; therefore, the convenience of the package—no liability to leakage and breakage—economy and ready solubility, together with the absolute certainty of their action, will at once commend the use of BOYCE'S TABLETS to the intelligent horsemen of the country. TABLETS sufficient to make one hundred pints of leg and body wash are conveniently carried in an inside coat pocket or in the hip-pocket of the trousers.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., August 23, 1889.

BOYCE TABLET CO., Terre Haute, Ind.

GENTLEMEN: I look upon horses the same as human beings. They say that a horse has no soul. I don't believe that is possible. It does not seem to me that so true, brave and noble an animal as a horse, after having spent a life of toil and drudgery, will die, and that is the end. I feel like thanking everyone who does a kind act for the horse family, and for that reason, if for no other, I take the opportunity of thanking you for having invented a medicine that brings as much comfort to them as I am sure your CELEBRATED TABLETS do. Mr. Wm. McClosson, the foreman of my stable, tells me that he has never tried anything in his long experience that gives such relief to a sore horse as the wash prepared from your medicine.

Hoping for the sake of the horse family that every horse owner in the land will try it, I remain,

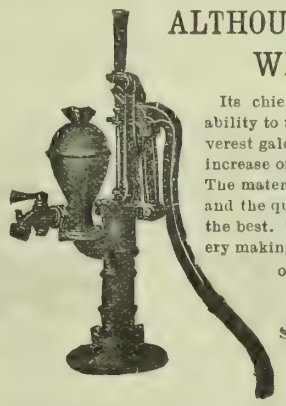
Yours truly, JOHN SPLAN.

Price per Box of One Hundred Tablets, $2, sent postpaid to any part of the United States; six boxes for $10. A sample of BOYCE'S TABLETS will be mailed to any address on receipt of four cents to pay postage. These TABLETS are warranted to keep in any climate. Address

BOYCE TABLET COMPANY,
600 Wabash Avenue, - - - Terre Haute, Indiana.
J. A. McKERRON, Pacific Coast Agent,
228-230-232 Ellis Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Ho! For the Races!

GENTLEMEN PAY all BETS on HEATS and RACES in

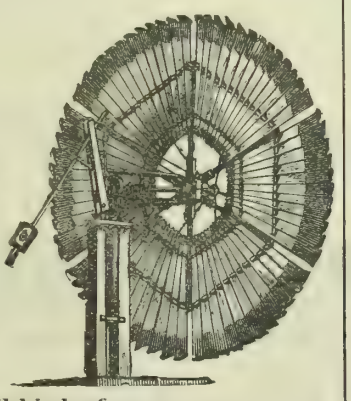


MOËT & CHANDON
CHAMPAGNE.

-:- "WHITE SEAL," -:-

THE PERFECTION OF A DRY WINE.

For Sale by all the Leading Grocers and Wine Merchants.



SHERWOOD & SHERWOOD,
PACIFIC COAST AGENTS,
212--214 Market Street, San Francisco, Cal.

ALTHOUSE VANELESS WINDMILL.

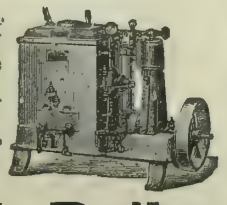
Its chief points of merit are: Its ability to take care of itself in the severest gale—being so arranged that no increase of wind increases its speed. The material used in its construction and the quality of workmanship being the best. The simplicity of its machinery making it almost impossible to get out of order.

Send for Special Prices.

We are Manufacturers of all kinds of

Cistern, Well and Force Pumps.

Adapted for every kind of requirement for both hand and power use. Railroad Pumps, Steamboat Pumps, Mine Pumps, Windmill Pumps, Rotary Pumps. Fire Engines, Hydraulic Rams, Hose, Garden Tools, Pump Materials and Tanks. We carry a full line of Pipe, Pipe Fittings, etc.



Send for Special Catalogue, mailed free upon application.

WOODIN & LITTLE,
509 and 511 Market Street, - - - San Francisco, Cal.

THE SHIPMAN AUTOMATIC

For description of this ENGINE, see Breeder and Sportsman of March 16th, 1889.

Coal Oil Engine and Boiler.

1, 2, 4, 6 and 8 orse-Power - - $150 to $800.

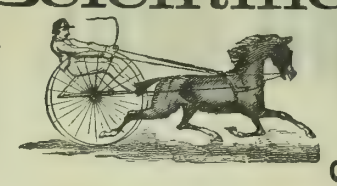
Feeds itself with Oil and Water. Perfectly Self-Regulating and Automatic Throughout.

Operated at FULL CAPACITY on ¼ Gallon OIL per HORSE POWER per Hour.

No Engineer required. Your boy of 12 years can understand and operate it. Full head of Steam in ten minutes. Absolutely Safe and positively exempt from all Accidents and Irregularities.

For Pumping, Running all classes of Machinery, and for Propelling Boats, Yachts, Launches, Etc.

CAN BE LEFT AT WORK ENTIRELY UNATTENDED. NO SMOKE, NOISE, DIRT OR ODOR.



Fire Formed by Fine Spray of Oil and Steam Mixed, passing through the Atomizer.

Will, unassisted, extinguish their own fires at any steam pressure desired, and as pressure decreases, relight them.

☞ LARGE NUMBER IN USE. Send for Free Catalogue, and addresses of people using them.

OSBORNE & ALEXANDER,
628 Market Street, San Francisco.
Mechanics' Tools and Hardware, Leading Bicycles & Tricycles.
Workshop Machines by Steam and Foot Power.

Scientific Horse Shoeing

BOYD & MORGAN

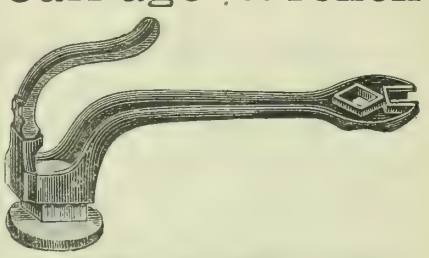
Are now permanently located at

No. 413 TAYLOR STREET,

Next door above CLUB STABLES.

Partibular attention given to Track and Road Horse. Our Motto: "The Shoe to fit the foot vs. The foot to fit the shoe."

We have references from the leading Trainers, Drivers and Breeders of the Coast. Give us a trial.



THE BOHANON SULKY!
BEST MADE.
Perfect Riding Buggies, Breaking Carts.
Fine Repairing, Reasonable Prices

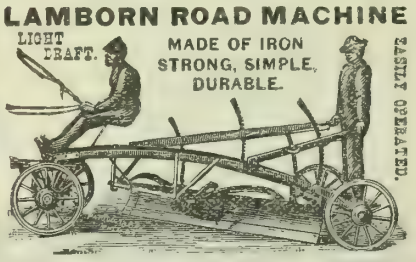
Bohanon Carriage Co., 161-163 Ogden Ave., CHICAGO.

Send for Catalogue.

The Universal Carriage Wrench

CHEAPEST AND BEST CARRIAGE WRENCH MADE.

HOLDS THE BURR FIRMLY.



IMPOSSIBLE TO DROP INTO THE DIRT.

To fix Axles ⅝ to 1¼ inch, each ..... 50 cents
To fix Axles 1⅜ to 2⅛ inches, each ..... 60 "

Must be tried to be appreciated,

G. G. WICKSON & CO.,
3 and 5 Front Street, San Francisco.
251 N. Main Street, Los Angeles.
141 Front Street, Portland.

LAMBORN ROAD MACHINE

TRUMAN, HOOKER & CO.,
SAN FRANCISCO. - CALIFORNIA

IF YOU WISH A GOOD REVOLVER PURCHASE ONE OF SMITH & WESSON'S

Finest small arms ever manufactured and the first choice of all experts. In calibres 32, 38 and 44-100. Single or double action, Safety Hammerless and Target models. Best quality wrought steel, carefully inspected for workmanship and stock. Unrivaled for finish, durability and accuracy. Do not be deceived by cheap malleable iron imitations often sold for the genuine article. They are unreliable and dangerous. The SMITH & WESSON REVOLVERS are stamped upon the barrels with firm's name, address and dates of patents, and are guaranteed perfect. Insist upon having them, and if your dealer cannot supply you, an order sent to address below will receive prompt attention. Descriptive catalogue and prices upon application.

SMITH & WESSON,
Springfield, Mass.

For any Kind of a

SORE THROAT

USE

McCLELLAN'S

DIPHTHERIA REMEDY

An Unfailing Cure.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS

$3,000. GUARANTEED. $3,000.

THE BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN'S -: Futurity Stakes :-

For Mares Covered in 1889.

Trotting Foals of 1890.

Subscriptions payable as follows: $10 on January 1st, 1890, when nominations close; $10 August 1st, 1890; $10 January 1st, 1891; $10 January 1st, 1892; $10 January 1st, 1893, and $50 for starters, payable July 1st, 1893.

Race to be mile heats three in five in harness; to be trotted on a course in California offering the largest amount of added money. Race to be governed by the Rules of the Association, of which the selected track is a member. Nominators not making all payments forfeit former ones, and the entire amount of forfeits and payments, together with added money, will be divided as follows: 65 per cent. to first horse, 20 per cent. to second horse, 15 per cent. to third horse.

The BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN guarantees $3,000, to be divided as above stated.

If the payments, etc., amount to more than $3,000, the additional amount, after deducting cost of advertising, will also be divided in the same proportion to the winning horses.

Nominators whose mares prove not to be in foal, will be refunded the amounts paid upon furnishing a written statement to that effect before August 1, 1890.

In nominating, give name of mare and stallion to whom she is bred, and within sixty days after foaling forward description of foal.

ADDRESS,

BREEDER and SPORTSMAN,

313 BUSH STREET, SAN FRANCISCO.

$3,000. GUARANTEED $3,000.

By-Laws

—AND—

Rules and Regulations

—OF THE—

NATIONAL

Trotting Association

ALSO THE AMERICAN

Trotting Association,

AND THE

PACIFIC COAST BLOOD-HORSE ASSOCIATION.

With Betting Rules.

For Sale at the Office of the

Breeder and Sportsman,

313 Bush St., S. F., Cal.

Price, 25c. each.

By Mail, Postage Paid, 30c. each.

AL. LEACH & CO.

AUCTION

POOL SELLERS

Will be pleased to give terms to Racing Associations throughout the Pacific Coast. We have perfect facilities, and can give any references or security desired. Address

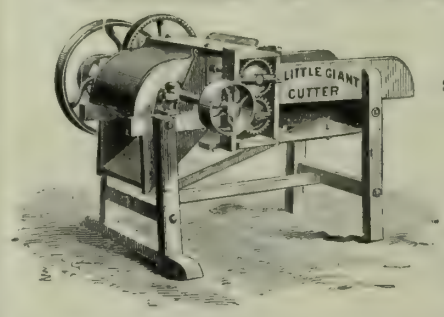
8 Eddy Street,

San Francisco.

J. O'KANE,

767 MARKET STREET.

Horse Boots, Clothing and Furnishings,



For Track, Driving Training and Stable.

Every requisite for Horsemen.

Harness, Medicines, Etc.

THE CELEBRATED

Ross Feed Cutters,

WONDERFUL CUTTING CAPACITY.

STRONGEST AND MOST POWERFUL CUTTER MADE.

Furnished Complete with Patent Indestructable Elevators.

Greatest Capacity with Least Driving Power.

Awarded 1st Premium

California State Fair

FRY YEAR, OVER ALL OPPOSITION.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—The capacity of the Ross is not controlled by the length of the knives, as on all other Cutters, but they can cut from two to four times the quantity that any other machine will handle successfully. The Ross are the largest Cutters built, and they are used by the largest stock raisers on the Pacific Coast, who have discarded other makes as inferior and unsatisfactory.

Send for Catalogues.

Steam Engines and Boilers a Specialty.

G. G. Wickson & Co.,

251 North Main St., Los Angeles, 3 & 5 Front St., San Francisco,

---

KILLIP & CO.,

LIVE STOCK AND GENERAL AUCTIONEERS,

22 Montgomery Street, San Francisco,

SPECIAL ATTENTION PAID TO SALES OF

High-Bred Horses and Cattle.

At auction and private sale.

Will Sell in All Cities and Counties of the State.

REFERENCES.

HON. C. GREEN, Sacramento.
HON. J. D. CARR, Salinas.
J. P. SARGENT, ESQ., Sargents.
HON. JOHN BOGGS, Colusa.
HON. L. J. ROSE, Los Angeles.
HON. A. WALRATH, Nevada.
J. B. HAGGIN, ESQ., San Francisco.

Represented at Sacramento by Edwin F. Smith Secretary State Agricultural Society.

At San Jose by Messrs. Montgomery & Rea, Real Estate Agents.

Being the oldest established firm in the live-stock business on this Coast, and having conducted the important auction sales in this line for the past fifteen years, amounting to one half a million of dollars, we feel jutified in claiming unequaled facilities for disposing of live stock of every description, either at auction or private sale. Our list of correspondents embraces every breeder and dealer of prominence upon the Pacific Coast, thus enabling us to give full publicity to animals placed with us for sale. Private purchases and sales of live stock of all descriptions will be made on commission, and stock shipped with the utmost care. Purchases and sales made of land of every description. We are authorized to refer to the gentlemen whose names are appended.

KILLIP & CO., 22 Montgomery Street.

Old Hermitage Whiskies

"STEINER'S,"

No. 311 BUSH STREET,

San Francisco.

Under Breeder and Sportsman Office.

Southern Pacific Co.

(PACIFIC SYSTEM.)

Trains leave and are due to arrive at San Francisco.

LEAVE (FOR)	FROM OCTOBER 6, 1889.	ARRIVE (FROM)
7.30 A M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose ...	†12.45 P M
7.30 A M	Sacramento and Redding, via Davis	7.15 P M
8.00 A M	Martinez, Vallejo, Calistoga and Santa Rosa	6.15 P M
8.30 A M	Los Angeles Express, Fresno, Santa Barbara and Los Angeles	11.15 A M
8.30 A M	Niles, San Jose, Stockton, Galt, Ione, Sacramento, Marysville and Red Bluff	5.45 P M
10.30 A M	Haywards and Niles	2.15 P M
†12.00 M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose	‡ 3.45 P M
†1.00 P M	Sacramento River Steamers	‡ 6.00 A M
3.00 P M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose	9.45 A M
3.30 P M	2d Class Sacramento, Ogden and East, connects at Davis for Knight's Landing	10.45 A M
4.00 P M	Stockton and §Milton; Vallejo, Calistoga and Santa Rosa	9.45 A M
4.30 P M	Sacramento and Knight's Landin via Davis	10.15 A M
‡ 4.30 P M	Niles and Livermore	‡ 8.45 A M
‡ 4.30 P M	Niles and San Jose	‡ 4.45 P M
5.30 P M	Haywards and Niles	7.45 A M
6.30 P M	Central Atlantic Express, Ogden and East	7.45 P M
7.00 P M	Shasta Route Express, Sacramento, Marysville, Redding, Portland, Puget Sound and East	7.45 A M
8.00 P M	Sunset Route, Atlantic Express. Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Deming, El Paso, New Orleans and East	8.45 P M

SANTA CRUZ DIVISION.

‡ 7.45 A M	Newark, San Jose and Santa Cruz	‡ 8.05 P M
8.15 A M	Newark, Centerville, San Jose, Felton, Boulder Creek and Santa Cruz	6.20 P M
2.45 P M	Centerville, San Jose, Felton, Boulder Creek and Santa Cruz	†11.20 A M
4.45 P M	Centerville, San Jose, Almaden, and Los Gatos	9.50 A M

Coast Division (Third and Townsend Sts.)

7.25 A M	San Jose, Almaden and Way Stations	2.30 P M
8.30 A M	San Jose, Gilroy, Tres Pinos; Pajaro, Santa Cruz; Monterey; Pacific Grove, Salinas, San Miguel, Paso Robles, Santa Margarita (San Luis Obispo) and principal Way Stations	6.12 P M
10.30 A M	San Jose and Way Stations	5.02 P M
12.01 P M	Cemetery, Menlo Park and Way Stations	3.38 P M
* 3.30 P M	San Jose, Tres Pinos, Santa Cruz, Salinas, Monterey Pacific Grove and principal Way Stations	†10.00 A M
* 4.20 P M	Menlo Park and Way Stations	* 7.58 A M
5.20 P M	San Jose and Way Stations	9.03 A M
6.30 P M	Menlo Park and Way Stations	6.35 A M
11.45 P M	Menlo Park and principal Way Stations	* 7.28 P M

A M for Morning. P M for Afternoon.
*Sundays excepted. †Saturdays only. ‡Sundays only. ‖Mondays excepted. §Saturdays excepted.

6 DOS

DO you bet?
DO you go to the races?
DO you know HOW to bet?
DO you know BEST system?
DO you want Good ADVICE?
DO as you ought to do:

SEND FOR PROSPECTUS TO

GOODWIN BROS.,

241 BROADWAY, NEW YORK,

Who will mail you

FREE OF CHARGE,

one of their circulars showing the GREAT SUCCESS they have met with from the time they established the system of "Point" providing in this country in 1881; it also contains

MANY OTHER INTERESTING ITEMS

with which the general public is not familiar.

HEALD'S

Business College, 24 Post St.

—San Francisco.—

The most popular school on the Coast
P. HEALD, President. C. S. HALEY, Sec'y.
☞ Send for Circulars

The Poodle Dog

"Rotisserie,"

FIRST-CLASS IN EVERY RESPECT.

Elegant Family Dining Rooms.

S. E. cor. GRANT AVE. and BUSH STREET.

ANDRE POTENTINI, Proprietor.

Fine Hats,

Latest Styles and Colors.

Meussdorffer & Hubner

8 Kearny Street, San Francisco,

Next to New Chronicle Building

The Washington Park Club,

CHICAGO, ILL,

Announce the following Stakes to close October 15th, 1889, to be run at their Summer Meeting of 1890, beginning Saturday, June 21st, and ending Saturday, July 19th, for which a programme will be arranged for

TWENTY-FIVE DAYS' RACING

WITH MORE THAN

$100,000

In Added Money to Stakes and Purses.

$5,000. THE HYDE PARK STAKES. $5,000

A SWEEPSTAKES for two-year olds (foals of 1888), $150 each, $50 forfeit, or only $10 if declared out on or before February 1st, or $25 by April 1, 1890. All declarations void unless accompanied with the money; with $5,000 added, the second to receive $1,000 and the third $500 out of the stakes. A winner of any stake race of the value of $1,500 to carry three pounds, of two or more stake races of any value, five pounds extra. Maidens allowed five pounds. Three-quarters of a mile.

$1,000. THE KENWOOD STAKES. $1,000.

A SWEEPSTAKES for colts two years old (foals of 1888), $50 each, half forfeit, or only $10 if declared out on or before February 1st, or $15 by April 1, 1890. All declarations void unless accompanied with the money; with $1,000 added, the second to receive $200 and the third $100 out of the stakes. A winner of any stake race of the value of $1,000 to carry three pounds; of $2,000, five pounds; of three or more stake races of any value, seven pounds extra. Maidens allowed five pounds. Five furlongs.

$1,000. THE LAKESIDE STAKES. $1,000.

A SWEEPSTAKES for fillies two years old (foals of 1888), $50 each, half forfeit, or only $10 if declared out on or before February 1st, or $15 by April 1, 1890. All declarations void unless accompanied with the money; with $1,000 added, the second to receive $200 and the third $100 out of the stakes. A winner of any stake race of the value of $1,000 to carry three pounds; of $2,000, five pounds; of three or more such races of any value, seven pounds extra. Maidens allowed five pounds. Five furlongs.

$1,000. THE DREXEL STAKES. $1,000

A SWEEPSTAKES for three-year-olds (foals of 1887), $100 each, half forfeit, or only $10 if declared out on or before February 1st, or $20 April 1, 1890. All declarations void unless accompanied with the money; with $1,000 added, the second to receive $200 and the third $100 out of the stakes. A winner of any three-year-old stake race of the value of $1,000 to carry three pounds; of $1,500, five pounds; of three or more three-year-old stake races of any value, seven pounds extra. Maidens allowed seven pounds. One mile.

Fixed Events for 1891.

To close October 15, 1889, and to be run at the Summer Meeting of 1891.

$10,000. THE AMERICAN DERBY. $10,000

A SWEEPSTAKES for three year-olds (foals of 1888); $250 each, $100 forfeit, or only $20 if declared out on or before February 1st, or $40 April 1, 1891. All declarations void unless accompanied with the money; with $10,000 added, the second to receive $2,000 and the third $1,000 out of the stakes. A winner of any three-year-old stake race of the value of $2,000 to carry three pounds; of $3,000, five pounds; of three or more three-year-old stake races of any value, seven pounds extra. Maidens allowed seven pounds. TO BE RUN ON THE FIRST DAY OF THE MEETING. One mile and a half.

$1,000. THE ENGLEWOOD STAKES. $1,000

A SWEEPSTAKES for fillies three years old (foals of 1888); $100 each, half forfeit, or only $10 if declared out on or before February 1st, or $20 April 1, 1891. All declarations void unless accompanied with the money; with $1,000 added, the second to receive $200 and the third $100 out of the stakes. A winner of any three-year-old stake race of the value of $1,000 to carry three pounds; of $1,500 five pounds; of three or more three-year-old stake races of any value, seven pounds extra. Maidens allowed seven pounds. One mile.

$1,500. THE SHERIDAN STAKES. $1,500.

A SWEEPSTAKES for three year-olds (foals of 1888); $100 each, half forfeit, or only $10 if declared out on or before February 1st, or $30 April 1, 1891. All declarations void unless accompanied with the money; with $1,500 added, the second to receive $300 and the third $100 out of the stakes. A winner of any three-year-old stake race of the value of $1,000 to carry three pounds; of $1,500, five pounds; of three or more such stakes of any value, seven pounds extra. Maidens allowed seven pounds. One mile and a quarter.

In addition to the above other stakes for two and three-year-olds, and all ages, to be run at the Summer Meeting of 1890, will be advertised in due time, to close JANUARY 15, 1890.

In no case will less than $1,000 be given in added money to Stakes.

All Purses and Handicaps, $600 to $800.

Please observe that in the above stakes, declarations are permitted for a small forfeit.
Turfmen failing to receive entry blanks, can obtain them by applying to the Secretary.
Nominations and all communications to be addressed to the Secretary, Room 32, Palmer House, Chicago, Ill.

J. E. BREWSTER.

COLE'S OSSIDINE.
An Infallible Cure
FOR CURB
Splint Ring & Sidebone, Spavin
ALL
Bone Enlargements Sore Shins &c
Richard Cole
TRADE MARK

OSSIDINE

Results obtained at the well-known KALAMAZOO FARM.

KALAMAZOO, MICH., Sept. 15, 1888.

GENTLEMEN:—We have used OSSIDINE for the past two years, and consider it invaluable for Sprung Tendons, Curbs, Ringbone, and Spavins; there is nothing equals it and for us it effected a permanent cure where firing failed, although performed by one of the most successful veterinarians on the continent. We have recommended it to others with like success, and believe it has more merit than any blister ever used.

Very respectfully yours,
S. A. BROWNE & CO., Prop's.

This scientific preparation is an absolute cure for all bony or callous lumps on horses, and is a more powerful absorbent than "firing," without creating the slightest blemish.

Acknowledged by leading horsemen of the world to be the ONLY preparation that will remove a Bone Spavin after it has become ossified.

We have authority also to refer to Mr. JEROME I. CASE, Mr. FRED. GEBHARD, Mr. JOHN PORTER (Trainer to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales),
And hundreds of others from whom we have very flattering testimonials.

One Style Only. $3.00 per Bottle.

A. P. BUSH & CO.,
149 Pearl St.,
BOSTON, MASS.,
Sole Agents for United States and Canada.
Beware of Imitations.

SOLD BY C. N. Crittenton, A. R. Van Nest & Co., and C. M. Moseman & Bro., NEW YORK CITY.
Morrisson, Plummer & Co., Peter Van Schaack & Sons, CHICAGO, ILL.
John D. Park & Son, CINCINNATI, O.; Floyd & Foster, DETROIT, MICH.; F. S. Slosson, CLEVELAND, O.; Meyer Bros. Drug Co., ST. LOUIS, MO.; R. A. Robinson, LOUISVILLE, KY.; H. H. Moore & Sons, STOCKTON, CAL.

ATTENTION, HORSE BREEDERS!

We have in Stock all of the FENCE WIRES as shown by above cut. Our different styles of RIBBON WIRES make a neat, durable and cheap fence, and will not Injure Stock. For prices, address

A. J. ROBINSON,
26 Beale Street, S. F. Manufacturers' Agent.

DR. THOS. BOWHILL, M.R.C.V.S

VETERINARY SURGEON.

Graduate New Veterinary College, Edinburgh. Awarded the Highland and Agricultural Societies Medals for Horse Pathology, Anatomy, Physiology and Histology. The Williams' Prize, '84-'85, for highest works in professional examinations, and six first-class certificates of merit. Honorary Member Illinois State Veterinary Medical Association.

CENTENNIAL STABLES,

1523-25 California Street. Telephone No. 66.
Veterinary Infirmary and Residence, 2209 Jackson Street. Telephone 4128.

Dr. Wm. H. Jones, M.R.C.V.S.

Veterinary Surgeon,

(CLUB STABLES)

409—411 Taylor Street, San Francisco.

Consultations by letter, and cases of URGENT NECESSITY in the interior will receive prompt attention.

H. E. CARPENTER,

Veterinary Surgeon,

Graduate of Ontario Veterinary College, Toronto, Canada.

RESIDENCE AND VETERINARY INFIRMARY
331 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco.
Telephone 3069.
☞OPEN DAY AND NIGHT.☜
No risk in throwing Horses. Veterinary Operating Table on the premises.

DR. C. MASOERO,

Veterinary Surgeon,

Successor to DR. A. DeTAVEL,

GRADUATE OF ROYAL VETERINARY COLLEGE, TURIN.

OFFICE AND INFIRMARY,

No. 811 HOWARD STREET,

Between Fourth and Fifth. SAN FRANCISCO.

Telephone, No. 457.

R. WATKINS,

Veterinary Dentist,

Of twelve years practice, is now permanently located in San Francisco, and may be found at C. S. Crittenden's Golden Gate Livery and Riding Academy, 24 to 28 Golden Gate Avenue.

Will treat ailments of the horse's mouth, and cure all such. Siderein Pullers and Tongue Lollers etc. Satisfaction guaranteed. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. Examination Free.

Don't Fail to Read the Following:

DR. FISHERMAN'S Carbolized Alkaline LOTION

Cures after all other Remedies have Failed.

And is recommended for Sprains, Sores, new and old Bruises, Galls, Swellings, Scratches, Thrush, Grease Heels, Curb, Rheumatism. It has no equal for restoring Weak Knees and Ankles to their original condition. Cow's Swelled Udder, Barbed Wire Wounds, Mange, Itch, Skin Diseases, etc. To those who want their Horses to carry flossy manes and tails we recommend this Lotion as a wash to do the work finely; also, a valuable addition to the water in cleansing Sponges, Cloths, etc. It is valuable as an internal remedy for Coughs, Colic, Congestion or Fever. You really get Half a Gallon of Remedy for $1.00, or Two Gallons for $3.00, after being adulterated as directed.

LYNDE & HOUGH, Proprietors.

116 California St., S. F.

Or ask your Druggist for it.

HORSE OWNERS!

TRY GOMBAULT'S

CAUSTIC BALSAM.

A Safe, Speedy and Positive Cure for Curb, Splint, Sweeny, Capped Hock, Strained Tendons, Founder, Wind Puffs, all Skin Diseases or Parasites, Thrush, Diphtheria, Pinkeye, all Lameness from Spavin, Ringbone or other Bony Tumors. Removes all Bunches or Blemishes from Horses and Cattle.

Supersedes all Cautery or Firing.
Impossible to Produce any Scar or Blemish.

Every bottle sold is warranted to give satisfaction. Price $1.50 per bottle. Sold by druggists, or sent by express, charges paid, with full directions for its use. Send for descriptive circulars. Address
LAWRENCE, WILLIAMS & CO., Cleveland, O.

BROU'S INJECTION

A PERMANENT CURE

in from 3 to 6 days, of the most obstinate cases; guaranteed not to produce Stricture; no sickening doses; and no inconvenience or loss of time. Recommended by physicians and sold by all druggists. J. Ferré, successor to Brou), Pharmacien, Paris.

Horse Boots

Horse Boots

Breaking Harness, Racing Outfits,

HORSE CLOTHING, at all prices.

BREEDING HOBBLES and GAITING HOBBLES

THE BEST IN USE.

VETERINARY R[illegible]EDIES:

Bege, Ossidine, Stevens' Ointment, Gomba[illegible]ustic Balsam, Dixon's and Going's Powders (condition, cough, colic and wo[illegible]hel's Liniment, Campbell's Horse Foot Remedy, Liniments, Healing and Hoo[illegible]ats—all kinds.

SOLE AGENT for Pacific Coast for K[illegible]EL'S LINIMENT and CAMPBELL'S HORSE FOOT REMEDY.

J. A. McKERRON,

228, 230 and 232 Ellis Street, - - - - - San Francisco.

1889 SOUTHER FARM 1889

P. O. Box 149. San Leandro, Cal.

JESTER D. 5696.

- Almont, 33..... Sire of 31 trotters and 2 pacers in 2:30 list.
  - Alexander's Abdallah, Sire of 6 in 2[illegible]ist.
    - dambletonian, 10, Sire of 41 in 2:30 list.
    - Katy Darling
  - Sally Anderson. .....
    - Mambrino Chief, 11, Sire of 6 in 2:30 list.
    - Kate, by Pilot Jr., 12. Sire of 9 in 2:30 list.
- Hortense.....
  - Messenger Duroc, 106..... Sire of 15 in 2:30 list; also sire of Elaine, dam of Norlaine, yearling rec. 2:31¼.
    - Hambletonian 10. Sire of 41 in 2:30 list.
    - Satinet, by Roe's Abdallah Chief,
  - Nelly McDonald Thoro-bred.. (See Bruce's American Stud Book.)
    - Colossus, son of imp. Sovereign.
    - Maid of Monmouth, By Traveler.

See BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of August 25, 1888, for photograph and description.

FIGARO.

- Hambletonian, 725 (Whipple's)
  - Guy Miller.....
    - Hambletonian, 10. (Rysdyk's)
    - Bolivar Mare.
  - Martha Washington.....
    - Burr's Washington.
    - Dam by Abdallah, 1.
- Emblem.....
  - Tattler, 300 ....
    - Pilot, Jr., 12.
    - Telltale..... (Telamon. Flea.)
  - Young Portia...
    - Mambrino Chief, 11.
    - Portia by Roebuck.

See BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of September 1, 1888, for photograph and description.

The above stallions will make the season of 1889 at the Souther Farm, one and one-half miles northeast of San Leandro. Each horse is limited to thirty mares besides those of the Souther Farm. Terms, for either horse, Twenty-five Dollars for the season, with privilege of return in season of 1890, if mare fails to prove with foal. Good accommodation and the best of care for all mares sent to the Farm, but no responsibility for accidents.

Colts Broken and Trained. Horses Boarded in any manner desired at all times.

GILBERT TOMPKINS, Proprietor.

Home Work Superior to all Imported.

First Premium Awarded at Last State Fair.

This Cut shows my Own Make of Light Trotting Cart

Fitted with Stirrups like any Sulky, and with Removable Foot Board.

Weight 76 lbs. Adapted for Training or Trotting.

My Sulkies are Endorsed by our Leading Horsemen.

Choice Line Sulkies and Carts Always in Stock.

ORDERS FILLED AT A MOMENTS NOTICE.

W. E. SHAW,

Manufacturer of

CARRIAGES and LIGHT VEHICLES.

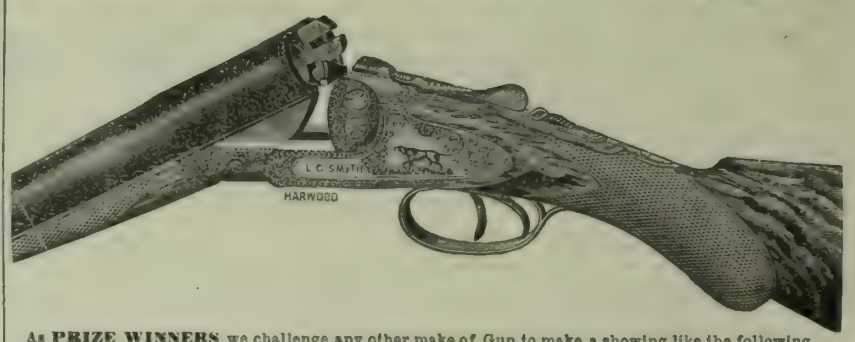
1621 Market Street, San Francisco, Cal.

FIRST CLASS REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.

Send for Circulars containing Cuts and Testimonials.

J. C. JOHNSON & CO.,

IMPORTERS, MANUFACTURERS, AND DEALERS IN



HARNESS & SADDLERY

☞ We carry a large assortment of goods in our line, from the cheapest to the best made.

400 to 404 Market Street

Corner BATTERY STREET, San Francisco.

The "L. C. Smith" Guns

As PRIZE WINNERS we challenge any other make of Gun to make a showing like the following.

All Previous Records Broken.

Never before were 100 live pigeons killed straightly in a similar match, under same conditions, until the L. C. SMITH GUN was made and did it. In the hands of Mr. Al Bandle, of the firm of Bandle Arms Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, this wonderful score was made. Capt. A. H. Bogardus scoring with a 12-gauge L. C. Smith in the match against Bandle, the very high score of 95. A remarkable score with a 12-guage.

—OFFICIAL SCORE—

Made in the mate h at 100 live pigeons, Hurlingham rules, barring gauge of gun, between Capt. A. H. Bogardus of Elkhart, Ill.,and Al Bandle, of Cincinnatti, Ohio, on Independent Gun Club grounds, Cincinnati, Ohio, Christmas Day, December 25, 1888:

AL BANDLE, 10-gauge L. C. Smith gun.....	CAPT. A. H. BOGARDUS, 12-gauge L. C. Smith gun...
1121112111 2121112112 11221	1122121222 0122121121 01112
1111122112 2111112212 11121	1012122111 1110112111 11222
1112221112 1112111112 11121	1221212122 2211012111 12111
1211121111 1222111211 11212—100	1111112221 1111112122 22111— 95

2 Denotes killed with second barrel.

S. A. TUCKER, Meriden, Conn., Referee. A. C. DICK, Cincinnati, O., Trap Puller.
ED. TAYLOR, Cincinnati, O., Official Scorer. H. BOGARDUS, Elkhart, Ill., Trap Announcer.

The PARKER Hammerless Shot Gun.

At the Annual Tournament of 1889, held at Cannes, France, the grand prize, consisting of 2000 Francs and a Valuable Cup. was won by The Parker Hammerless.

The first Parker Hammerless Gun made won the championship of America at Decatur Illinois.

SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED CIRCULAR.

PARKER BROS., Makers,

New York Salesroom, 97 Chambers St. Meriden Conn.

Poplar Grove Breeding FARM.

Standard-bred Trotters, Colts and Fillies.

The get of CLOVIS, 4909; PASHA, 2039; APEX, 2935,

For Sale.

Address S. N. STRAUBE, Poplar Grove Breeding Farm,

Fresno, Cal.

Inspection by intending purchasers invited, and information by mail.

For Sale by Pleasanton Stock Farm Co.

ONE STALLION COLT, 1 year old, by DIRECTOR, 2:17, dam Sweetness, record 2:21¼. This Colt is a half brother to Sidney, the great Sire of Pacers.

ONE STALLION COLT, 1 year old, by DIRECTOR, 2:17, dam Echora, record 2:23¾. This Colt is a full brother to Direct, record 2:23 at Three Years Old.

ONE FILLY, 1 year old, by CLOVIS, dam Nettie, trial record to Wagon 2:26.

ONE STALLION, 2 years old, by NUTMONT, he by Nutbourne, brother to Nutwood, dam by Electioneer. This Colt can trot very fast.

ONE STALLION, 2 years old, by SIDNEY, dam Fernleaf. This Colt is a full brother to Gold Leaf.

ONE FOUR-YEAR-OLD FILLY, GOLD LEAF, pacing record 2:15.

ONE THREE-YEAR OLD FILLY, by DIRECTOR, dam by a son of Whipple's Hambletonian. This is a grand mare in looks and breeding, and is very fast.

ONE Filly, 2 years old, by MONROE CHIEF, full sister to Miss Gilmer, sold at auction when three years old for $1,700.

ONE PACING HORSE, 4 years old, by STEINWAY, dam by Nutwood This horse is very stylish, and can show a 2:10 gait.

One Brown Mare, heavy in foal to DIRECTOR, by Gibraltar, dam May Day, by Cassius M. Clay. This Mare is very fast; showed a quarter in 34 seconds, and is a half sister to Margaret S., that got a record of 2:31 at twenty-four months old.

One Brown Mare, by DEL SUR, he by The Moor, heavy in foal to Director. This Mare is very fast.

For particulars call on or address M. SALISBURY, 320 Sansome Street, Room 96, San Francisco, or

ANDY McDOWELL, Pleasanton, Cal.

TWENTY PAGES.

BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN

Vol XV. No 16.
No. 313 BUSH STREET.

SAN FRANCISCO, SATURDAY, OCT. 19, 1889.

SUBSCRIPTION
FIVE DOLLARS A YEAR.

CALIFORNIA

MARGARET S. WINS.

Three Close and Interesting Heats Trotted at the Cleveland Driving Park.

THE FUTURITY STAKE RACE.

In the next column will be seen a picture of the handsome cup won by Mr. M. Salisbury, of the Pleasanton Stock Farm Co., with his great filly Margaret S. Our correspondent has also sent us a detailed description of the race which is given below:

The Spirit of the Times' Futurity Stake for three-year-olds was trotted at the Cleveland Driving Park yesterday and proved to be a very interesting contest, although it took but three heats to decide it. The attendance was fair for so cold and raw a day, and many prominent horsemen from all over the country were present. Of the nine youngsters entered but four faced the starter—Margaret S., 2:19¼; Fortuna, 2:25½; Palo Alto Belle, 2:26½; and San Malo, 2:29¼. While it was known that the California filly, Margaret S., was fast enough to win if at herself, many thought her recent trip across the continent and the change of climate would have a tendency to tie her up, and placed their money accordingly. But the result showed that she still had her speed with her, as she won in straight heats, although Palo Alto Belle and Fortuna gave her a good race. The track was a little hard, and the temperature and strong wind blowing up the homestretch were decidedly against extreme speed, so that, everything considered, the performance was first-class, and the race what it was predicted to be, one of the best three-year-old events of the season. The time between heats was taken up with trials against time, but few of which were successful.

In the pools Margaret S. was the choice at $10 to $7 for the field. Fortuna drew the pole, with Margaret S. second, San Malo third and Palo Alto Belle on the outside. After scoring a few times they were sent away with Palo Alto Belle a length behind. Margret S. went to the front and took the pole from Fortuna at the turn, with the Belle close behind, and at the quarter pole they were on even terms. The race up the back stretch was a pretty one between the leaders, Palo Alto Belle leading by half a length at the half. In going the third quarter Fortuna went up on the others, and coming into the stretch the three were neck and neck, with San Malo five lengths behind. At the seven-eighths they were still even, when George Starr, who was up behind Margaret S., called on the filly and she gamely responded, gradually drawing away from the others, and winning by an open length, Palo Alto Belle a neck ahead of Fortuna, and San Malo fourth. Time, 2:23½.

After the first heat Margaret S. sold at $10 to $4 for the field. In the second heat Margaret S. again took the lead closely followed by Palo Alto Belle and Fortuna, while San Malo cut across the track to the pole behind the others. Going round the turn Palo Alto Belle forged ahead, and led Margaret S. and Fortuna by a length at the quarter, with San Malo, owing to a break, ten lengths behind. They went up the backstretch a-flying in this order, and the positions were unchanged until coming down the stretch, when Starr again called on the young daughter of Director, and as before she immediately put on more steam, overhauled the Belle, then drew away from her, and won by two lengths in 2:22½, the fastest mile of the day. Palo Alto Belle was second, Fortuna third, and San Malo fourth.

The Spirit's Futurity Stakes Cup,

Won at Cleveland, O., October 8th. 1889,

—BY—

MARGARET S,

A California bred Filly, the property of

The Pleasanton Stock Farm Co.

It was now a foregone conclusion than the California filly would win, and the field had no backers. The scoring for the third heat was long and tedious, the driver of Fortuna trying to get off ahead, which Mr. Edwards would not allow, while Palo Alto Belle was giving a good imitation of Guy, in spite of Stinson's efforts to get her away. They were finally given the word with the Belle a length behind, and Fortuna having the best of it. The latter made a spurt and took the pole from Margaret S. at the turn and led to the three-quarter pole, when Margaret S. repeated her previous performances, and beat her to the wire in 2:24. Palo Alto Belle was third and San Malo fourth.

SUMMARY.

Pleasanton Stock Farm's b f Margaret S, Director—May Day ..... G. Starr	1	1	3
Miller & Sibley's b f Palo Alto Belle, Electioneer—Beautiful Bells..... R. C. Stinson	2	2	2
R. Simmon's br f Fortuna, Florida—Emily..... J. W. Knox	3	3	2
L. W. Prior's b c San Malo, Nugget—Zelinda Wilkes. G. Fuller	4	4	4

Time by quarters:—

	¼	½	¾	Mile
First heat	:36½	1:11½	1:46½	2:23½
Second heat	:36½	1:10½	1:45½	2:22½
Third heat	:36¼	1:10½	1.46¼	2:24

Mr. Salisbury, the owner of Margaret S., received $3,738 and the Spirit cup, valued at $1,000, for the filly's victory. Miller & Sibley's amount was $1,068, and Mr. Simmons $534.

R. C. Stinson drove the bay stallion Governor Stanford, by Electioneer, to beat 2:30, and brought him under the wire in 2:23¾.

The judges on Tuesday were William Edwards, George W. Short, and M. L. Hanna; timers, H. K. Devereaux, Samuel McMillen, and C. R. Edwards.

Margaret S., the winner of the stake and cup, is a California bred filly, foaled August 4, 1886. She is a handsome bay, sired by Director, 2:17, out of May Day, 2:30 (as a five-year-old). May Day was by Ballard's Cassius M. Clay Jr., out of a mare by Hiram Drew.

Margaret S. is owned by the Pleasanton Stock Farm Company. Her turf career was begun in 1888, when she trotted in three races as a two-year-old. In the first race she was beaten by the Palo Alto filly Sunol in 2:28½ and 2:26¾. She won the second in 2:31½ and 2:31, and lost the third after taking the first heat in 2:34½.

Early in the present season she began to show great speed, and was entered in the California circuit in three-year-old stakes, and in some 2:27 and 2:30 class races. She started first at Santa Rosa in the 2:30 class, where she got third money. Two days later she started in the three-year-old stake against Palo Alto's Colma, and won in straight heats in 2:25½, 2:25½ and 2:25½. She next appeared at Petaluma, where she met Lillian Wilkes and Sunol, and was defeated, but in fast time. Two days after she was in the 2:30 class against a field of five aged horses, and took second money.

During the next week she came to Oakland and again met Lillian Wilkes and Sunol and got second money over Lillian Wilkes in 2:21, 2:24½ and 2:20

The filly then went to Sacramento and on the 14th of September trotted the greatest race ever made by a three-year-old, going against a field of five aged horses in the 2:30 class, taking the first heat in 2:19½ and the third in 2:19½. In the fourth heat she was a nose in front of Lord Byron in 2:19½, but the judges gave her second place, and on account of darkness postponed the race until the following Monday, when she was fourth in the decisive heat in 2:18. The following day she started against Sunol and finished close up in 2:20½, 2:21¾ and 2:18.

Margaret S. has been called the gamest filly that ever appeared upon the turf. There is no quit in her. In all her races she has made but two breaks, those being caused by accidents. She has a square, even action, the action which does not tire. She wears seven-ounce shoes, with a two-ounce toe-weight forward and a running plate of one-ounce and a half behind. She wears quarter and arm boots forward and skelpers behind.

There are a great many persons surprised that Mr. McDowell was not taken back East to drive Margaret S. in this race, as he has had full charge of her from the time she first developed into a trotter. It was Mr. Salisbury's intention to take the trainer and driver back, but Mr. Salisbury had a number of horses entered on the circuit here, and Mr. McDowell knowing that anyone can drive Margaret S, prevailed on Mr. Salisbury to let him remain and look after the California contingent, while Geo. Starr was engaged to drive the filly in this great race.

VISALIA.

TUESDAY, OCT. 8.

The Fifteenth District Fair and Agricultural Association of Visalia opened to-day with a rather slim attendance on account of the heavy rain of yesterday. Rain began falling about noon time and continued all the afternoon and quit late in the evening resulting in changing the dusty appearance of the town to a muddy condition of streets. The hotels are crowded to over flowing and not a vacant room is to be found in town. The first race of the meeting was a trot for yearlings half mile and repeat. There were four entries S. N. Straube's Dot, H. P. Perkins' Early Rose, W. H. Fox's M. C; J. McKin's Irene Barnes.

Dot was favorite selling for $10 the field bringing $8 against her, with little scoring they were soon off. Dot at once assumed the lead and would have then ended the race if there had been a distance flag. Time, 1:39½.

The second heat was a repetition of the first. There were nopools sold after the first heat. Time, 1:35.

SUMMARY.

Visalia, Oct. 8th. Yearling trot; ½ mile heats; 2 in 3. Purse $150.

S. N. Straube's b f Dot, Apex—Ella	J. Donahue	1 1
H. P Perkins' b f Early Rose	Charles Spencer	2 2
W. H. Fox's b g M. C	L. J. Jackson	3 3
John MacKin s b f Irene Barns	John MacKin	4 4

Time—1:39½, 1.35.

The second race was a two year old trot, with three starters, Lizzie Thorn, owned by Straube, Richmond Chief, owned by J. M. Crawford, and Cherokee Prince, owned by L. J. Jackson. Few pools were sold, Lizzie Thorn bringing $10 against $5 for the field.

In the first heat Lizzie Thorn soon took the lead, and distanced her competitors. Time 2:51.

SUMMARY.

Visalia, Oct. 8th. Two year old trot; ½ mile heats, two in three; purse $135.

S. N. Straube's br f Lizzie Thorn, Nephew—Fannie	J. Donahue	1
J. M. Crawford's g h Richmond Chief	Geo. Baylis	dis
L J. Jackson's ch h Cherokee Prince	L. J. Jackson	dis

Time—2:51.

The third and last race was a trot for three year olds, with John Ayers Lyda C and S. N. Straube's Theodosia. Lida won handily in 2:44.

The second and third heats were also won by Lyda. Time 2:46 and 2:52.

SUMMARY.

Visalia, Oct. 8th. Three year old trot. Purse $180.

J. F. Ayers' b f Lyda C, 3	J. N. Ayers	1 1 1
S. N. Straube's blk f Theodosia	J. Donahue	2 2 2

Time—2:44, 2:46, 2:52.

WEDNESDAY

Unlike the first day—to-day we found a respectable sized crowd at the track. The rain having cleared away the dust and inspired the people to more enthusiasm in regard to the races. Betting also was good. The talent was not disappointed as the favorites won three out of the four races. Messrs. H. P. Perkins, W. H. Hammond and R. O. Newman were again in the judges stand and gave great satisfaction to the public by their fair and impartial decisions. The track having been worked especially for the runners since yesterday was in excellent condition. The first race of the day was a quarter dash for yearlings, which brought out five starters.

Tulare Chief, owned by W. B. Fudge of Visalia, was at once installed favorite, selling for $10 against $9 for the field. Tulare Chief is a mite of a colt, being a very late foal, but he showed his superiority of speed over his larger sized and more matured competitors by winning handily in 0:24½.

SUMMARY.

Visalia, October 9th.—Running. Yearlings. One-quarter mile; 2:55 class.

W. B. Fudge's b c Tulare Chief	L. Jones	1
T. Stokes' br f Mustang Baby	J. Boseman	2
G. W. Smith's br c Elbow	F. Bustillo	3
J A. Hodges' b c Prince Albert	J. Lacey	0
B. Stokes' ch c Dashaway	C. Jones	0

Time, 0:24½.

SECOND RACE

Was a half mile dash, for two-year-olds, with six starters. Little Confidence sold favorite for $20, Fair Maid $10, with the field bringing $6. Fair Maid was a bad actor at the post, and practically lost all chances of victory before they got off. When they did start, Confidence took the lead, closely followed by the Maid to the head of the stretch, when the field began to close up. Narvice on Alice D. making a great ride, winning by a nose from Wild Flower after a driving finish. Time, 0:53¼.

SUMMARY.

Visalia, October 9th.—Running; two years old. Half mile. Purse $285.

J. Jordan's ch f Alice D., 2	J. Narvice	1
J. H. Walker's ch f Wildflower, 2	L. Newell	2
R. Boseman's y c Little Confidence, 2	R Boseman	3
W. F. Fudge's g f Fair Maid, 2	L. Jones	4
J. H. Johnson's b f Daisy, 2	F. Bustillo	5

Time, 0:53¼.

THIRD RACE.

For three-year-olds. One half mile and repeat, with six starters. Claud Roy, a fine looking colt, was favorite in the pools selling for $20, Francis F. $7, and the field for $6. Claud Roy, ridden by Joe Narvice, came under the wire easily several lengths ahead. On the second heat the pools sold Claud Roy $80, field $8. Claud Roy again won the heat in similar style, time 0:52¼, giving him the race.

SUMMARY.

Visalia, Oct. 9th—Running, one half mile and repeat; for three-year-olds. Purse $495.

J. R. Jones' b c Claud Roy	J. Narvice	1 1
H. C. Ray's ch c Chance	L. Newell	4 2
J. D. Billingsby's Francis F	L. Jones	2 3
George Smith's r c Geronimo	F. Blair	3 4
J. C. Kennedy's b c Billy Lee	P. Morgan	5 5

Time, 0:52, 0:52¼.

Fourth and last was a 600-yard race with six to face the starters' flag, Gipsy Girl selling choice at $30, Confidence bringing $10, with the field $8. Gipsy Girl won the race with Confidence a good second.

Visalia, Oct, 9, 1889.—Running 600 yards. Purse $150,

B. F. Stokes' ch f Gipsy Girl	R. Boseman	1
L. A. Blasingame's ch h Confidence	J. A. Hunt	2
J. Stokes' r g Dandy Jim	J. Narvice	3
F. Work's b s Spring Water	O'Brien	0
W. S. Burris' p g Pinto	F. Morton	0

Time, 0:32.

THURSDAY.

Thursday found a large crowd at the track, many brought out by the advertised balloon ascension, which proves a very taking feature of the district fairs. The racing public were not disappointed in expecting a fine day's sport and good racing.

The races opened with a special pacing event promptly at one o'clock, with three contestants. Pools sold: Mink $10, Birdie and Doc bringing $5.

First Heat—Little Doc led the way and Mink broke on the turn. They continued the first mile with Doc leading, the favorite second, Doc winning, closely followed by Mink. Time 2:27.

Second Heat—Little Doc led to the quarter, when Mink passed him and kept his place, winning the heat. Time 2:29½.

Third Heat—Little Doc kept in the lead all the way, with Mink close up under a perceptible pull, Birdie distanced. Time 2:26.

Although Doc got the decision of the heat, the talent stayed with Mink. The driver, Mr. Helman, was taken out and Baylis put up.

Fourth Heat—Little Doc was ahead the first quarter, when Baylis, with Mink, pulled away and kept in an easy lead the remainder of the heat, winning handily. Time 2:28.

Fifth Heat—Mink sold $10, Doc $7. Mink led all the way and Doc was "quite gone" at the finish. Time 2:38.

SUMMARY.

Visalia, Oct. 10, '89.—Pacing, special.

R. Agnew's b g Mink, a, unknown	Bayliss	2	1	2	1 1
W. Ober's b g Little Doc, a, Sargent's Patchen—Jennie		1	2	1	2 2
Nanny's blk m Birdie	Jackson	3	3	distanced

Time, 2:27, 2:29½, 2:26. 2: 8, 2:38.

Second race was a three-minute class trotting. It being a concluded fact that Daybreak would win this race there were no pools sold. Daybreak is a fine looking horse sired by Dawn, dam Gazelle. Daybreak easily distanced Solano Chief and Oakland Boy in the first heat. Time, 2:35½.

SUMMARY.

Visalia, Oct. 10, 1889.—Trot, three-minute class.

J. R. Jones' ch h Daybreak, Dawn—Gazelle	McCue 1
J. V. Caldwell's b h Solano Chief	De Witt dis
Dudley Evans' ch h Oakland Boy Jr.	Evans dis

Time, 2:35½.

Third race was a three quarter of a mile dash, running. Bay Bolton was withdrawn before going to the post on account of lameness. Hello sold first at $20, Brady $8, field $4. They got off at the second attempt. Hello at once took the lead closely followed by Brady. At the three-quarter pole the field moved up, but could not overhaul the leaders. Hello came under the wire first closely followed by Brady.

SUMMARY.

Visalia, October 10th.—Running. Three-quarter mile dash. Purse $150.

A. D. Harrison's ch g Hello, a, Shannon—Marshra	Narvice	1
Davis' b h Jack Brady, 5, Wildidle—Sour Grapes	Cooper	2
Bustillo's b m Leap Year, 5, Norfolk—imp. Lady	Bustillo	3

Springwater also ran.

Time, 1:17.

Fourth and last race was a special, 600 yards and repeat, with four entries. Toots was favorite in the pools, selling at $40, Chance bringing $8 and field $2. Toots won the heat in the good time of 0:31¾.

Second Heat—Toots won in 0:32.

SUMMARY.

Visalia, October 10th.—600 yards and repeat; special.

Stokes' Toots	Boseman	1 1
Griggs' Alex	Carithers	3 2
Newell's Chance	Newell	2 3
Fudge's Fred F	Jones	4 4

Time, 0:31½, 0:32.

The American Trotting Association.

The following persons and horses, suspended for non-payment of entrance and other causes, have been reinstated, provision having been made for the claims, viz.:

Joseph Clark, Chicago Ill., and blk g Pat Legg (pacer) and b g Dick C (pacer), suspended by order of the member at Elgin, Ill.
Geo. Espey, Warrenville, Ill,. and b m Pearl, suspended by order of the member at Aurora, Ill
Wm. Richardson, Winona, Minn., and blk h Little Rock, suspended by order of the member at Rochester, Minn.
W. O. Selkragg, Northeast, Penn., and b h Oak Hill, suspended by order of the member at Erie, Penn.
J. W. Voglesong, Elyria, Ohio, and b m Plush, and blk h Orphan Boy, suspended by order of the member at Detroit, Mich.
Will Frazier, Wayne, Neb., and - - Banquet and - - Sunset, suspended by order of the member at Aberdeen, Dakota.
A. J. Bailey, Rock Rapids, Iowa, and br m Lady Florence, suspended by order of the members at Denison, Dunlap and Manning, Iowa.
Wm. Fleming, Elkhart, Ind,. and - - Billy F., suspended by order of the member at South Bend, Ind.
D. R. Mille, Des Moines, Iowa, and ch h Chestnut Wilkes, suspended by order of the member at Oskaloosa, Iowa.
Frank Dunlap, Oakley, Ohio, and b h Windell (pacer), suspended by order of the member at Carthage, Ohio.
——, ——, The b h King of the West, suspended by order of the member at Missouri Valley, Iowa.
D. F. Butin, Des Moines, Iowa, and blk m Wapsie B, suspended by order of the member at Oskaloosa, Iowa.
Thompson McKean, Bradford, Ill., and b m Dolly, and br h Speedwell suspended by order of the Board of Appeals.
Bart Buntin, Kewanee, Ill., and b g Contender (pacer), and b g Keeler, suspended by order of the member at Oberly, Missouri.
——, ——, The b h Redfield (pacer), suspended by order of the member at Peoria, Ill.
Geo. C. Raymond, St. Paul, Minn., suspended by order of the member at St. Paul, Minn.
Lee Mantle, Butte City, Montana, and blk m Evening Star, suspended by order of the member at Colfax, W. T.
A. B. Lake, Caldwell, Ohio, and rn g Bob Ingersoll (pacer), suspended through error by the member at Zanesville, Ohio.

Sept. 25. 1889. J. H. STEINER, Secretary.

The following persons and horses are suspended for non-payment of entrance and other causes, viz:—

July 11th. 1889. By order of the Coopersville Agricultural Association, Coopersville, Mich:—
George Bradford, Ravena, Mich., and b g Little Robin.
L. A. Dunlap, Vermontville, Mich., and blk g Dr. H.
John Carmichael, Muskegon, Mich., and b h Brightwork.
L. G. Dunton, Grand Rapids, Mich., and b G John L.
S. H. Clink, Muskegon, Mich., and br h Major Bob Wilkes.
C. L. Gilbert, Fremont, Mich., and b g C. L. G.

Sept 2nd, 1889. By order of the Creston District Agricultural Fair, Creston, Iowa:—
J. M. Fisher, West Liberty, Iowa, and ——Tom Tinker.
J. W. Miller, Winterset, Iowa, and ——Bingham.
D. W. Aldrich, Galesburg, Ill., and ——Bell Langtry.

Sept. 12tt, 1889. By order of the Ashland Fair Co., Ashland, Ohio:—
J. S. Carver, Wooster, Ohio, and b m Kitty C. (runner).

Sept. 16th, 1889. By order of the Shenandoah District Fair Association. Shenandoah, Iowa:—
Andy Dill, Glenwood, Iowa, and ch m Maud Dill.
F. C. Osborne, ——and ch m Maud Archibald.
Gene Hodgins, Cherokee, Iowa, and b m Miss Archibald.

Sept. 18th, 1889. By order of the Huron County Agricultural Society, Norwalk, Ohio:—
C. B. White, Fremont, Ohio, and rn m Maud Clay.
H. L. Richards, Plymouth, Ohio, and ch m Bessie R.

Sept. 18th, 1889. By order of the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture. Lincoln, Nebraska:—
Frank Budger, Bolklemon, Neb., and b g Plow Boy (runner).
Winslow & Bradley, Cankakee, Ill., and b h Nutland.
C. C. Baker. Decorah, Iowa, and b g Thalberg.
Charles McCormick, Omaha, Neb., and blk m Lorene (pacer)
Pat McEvoy, Elkhorn, Neb., and b h Salaam.
Pat McEvoy, Elkhorn, Neb., and b m Vaveta.

Sept. 19th, 1889. By order of the Cass County Agricultural Society, Atlantic, Iowa:—
Jay Guno, Frankfort, Kansas, and b m Anna H. (runner).

Sept. 20th, 1889. By order of the Montgomery County Fair, Crawfordsville, Indiana:—
E. E. Coates, Veedersburg, Ind., and b h Little Gift (pacer).
A P. Haines, Paris, Ill., and —— Hoosier Watt (pacer).
A. P. Haines, Paris, Ill., and dn g Sherbon Dun (pacer).
George Harding, Paris, Ill., and ——Jinks.
J. H. Wilcox, Frankfort, Ind., and b m Daisy Young.
A. T. Jackson, Jr., Kewanna, Ind., and ch h Red Rover.
Wm. Hiatt, ——and ch m Faunie H. (pacer).
A. Schicketanz, New Ross, Ind., and br m Blue Wing (pacer).
A. Schicketanz, New Ross., Ind., and ch h Prince Echo (pacer).
A. Schicketanz, New Ross, Ind., and ch m Flora Hammond (pacer).
T. D. Anderson, Brownsburg, Ind., and b g Dan A. (pacer).

Sept. 20th, 1889. By order of the Queen City Full Mile Driving Club, Cincinnati, Ohio:—
L. Barkhurst, Wellsburg. W. Va., and blk h Buck Eye Chief, Jr.

Sept. 20th, 1889. By order of the Buenna Vista County Agricultural Society, Alta, Iowa:—
E. F. Farnsworth, Storm Lake, Iowa, and gr h Starlight.
A. P. Fleming, Webster City, Iowa, and blk h Frank Worlington,
W. J. Duncan, Le Mars, Iowa, and b h Guy Chatham.
W. J. Duncan, Le Mars, Iowa. and b h Tommy Pashaw.

Sept 20th, 1889. By order of the Minnesota State Agricultural Society, Hamline, Minn.:—
Jas. A. Graham. Biggsville, Ill., and ch h Earl McGregor.
Henry Shaw Milwaukee, Wis., and wh g White Cloud (pacer).

Sept. 21st, 1889. By order of the Mission Ridge Driving Park, Chattanooga, Tenn:—
A J. McKimmin. Pulaski, Tenn., and ch g Jimbone.
A, J. McKimmin Pulaski, Tenn., and br g Blackwood.
L. C. Neal, Petersburg, Tenn., and b h Rock Bottom (pacer)
L. P. McGaw Jr., Columbus, Tenn., and ——McCoy C.

Sept. 26th, 1889. By order of the Overland Park Club, Denver, Colorado:—
A. C. Beckwith, Evanstown Wyoming Territory, expelled.

J. H. STEINER, Secretary.

Sept. 26, 1889. By order of the North Indiana and Southern Michigan Agricultural Society, South Bend, Ind.
John B. Moore, Monroe, Mich., and b m Nightingale,
John Hooper, Fort Wayne, Ind., and b m Elsie B.
E. W. Cribbs, Decatur, Mich., and b b Readlight.

Sept. 25, 1889 By order of Washington Co. Agricultural and Mech'n Association, Marietta, Ohio.
P. W. Brown, Bourneville, Ohio, and b g Contest (runner).

Sept. 26. 1889. By order of the Hutchinson Fair Association, Hutchinson, Kansas.
J. O. King, Peabody, Kan., and b g Bronco (runner).
W. A. Burkett, Abbeyville, Kan., and ch h Rienzi McGregor.
W. A. Burkett, Abbeyville, Kan., and br m Julia McGregor.
J. B. Wobb, Abbeyville, Kan., and br m Julia McGregor.
Jesse S. Austin, Burrton, Kan., and b h Adventurer.
J. T. Hopper, Pratt, Kan., and b g Harry H (pacer).

Sept. 26, 1889. By order of Park Co. Agricultural Society, Rockville, Indiana.
A. Schickentanz, Plainfield, Ind., and ——

Sepe. 26. 1889. By order of the Alton Driving Park Association, Alton, Illinois,
A. Ryan, St. Louis, Missouri, and rn g Blue Bill.
Joel Cory, St. Louis, Missouri, and rn g Blue Bill.

Sept. 26, 1889. By order of the Erie Co. Agricultural Society, Sandusky, Ohio.
Vantine & Co., Sandusky, Ohio, and blk m Lucy V.
L. N. Lease, Tiffin, Ohio, and ch g Locust (Snake Hunter).

September 26, 1889. By order of the Lake View Driving Park, Peoria, Ill.
J. A. Farrow, Paris, Ill , and b m Olivette.
G. E. Whitney, Winterset, Iowa, and ch m Lady Gay.
G. E. Whitney, Winterset, Iowa, and b h Tangent (pacer),
C. S. Corning. Peoria, Ill., and blk g Leslie.

Sept. 27, 1889. By order of the Douglas Co. Agricultural Society, Alexandria, Minn.
W. W. Powell, Long Prairie, Minn., and b g Stranger.
Thos. Cassidy, Grand Forks, Dakota, and gr g King
Frank Minnette, Alexandria, Minn., and b m Fanny M.

Oct. 5, 1889. J. H. STEINER, Secretary.

The following persons and horses, suspended for non-payment of entrance and other causes, have been reinstated, provision having been made for the claims. viz.:

L. E. Lefler, Racine, Wis., and the b h Silas F and Badger State, suspended by order of the member at Oskaloosa, Iowa.
G. W. Andress, Galion, Ohio, and b h Etolie, suspended by order of the member at Kenton. Ohio.
George W. Baker, ——, and b g Barney W, suspended by order of the member at Point Pleasant, W. Va.
James Longabore, Belton, Mo., and b m Fanny Clinker (pacer), suspended by order of the member at Lima, Ohio.
J. M. Karmany, Mankato, Minn., and ch g Bologus, suspended by order of the members at Dennison, Manning, Dunlap and Missouri Valley, Iowa.
Lem Folk, Perlin Center, Ohio, and b h Sir Oracle, suspended by order of the member at Youngstown, Ohio.
C. V. Mathio, Canal Fulton, Ohio, and ch h Malbrook, suspended by order of the member at Youngstown, Ohio.
Dud Donovan, Cardington, Ohio, and b g Blaine, suspended by order of the member at Delaware, Ohio.
Chas. Feeny, Denver, Col., and br h Corrigan, suspended by order of the member at Genesco, Ill.
M. E McHenry, Freeport, Ill., and b g Illinois Egbert, suspended by order of the member at Rochester, Minn.
R H. Newton, Woodland, Cal, and br g Thomas Ryder (pacer), suspended by order of the member at Petaluma, Cal.
——, ——. The - - Maggie Almont (pacer), suspended by order of the member at Hutchinson, Kansas.
E. D. Coleman, St. Louis, Mo., and b h Monitor Prince, suspended by order of the member at Hannibal, Mo.
Altonwood Stock Farm, New York and ch g Fred, suspended by order of the member at Erie, Penn.
Mayes Bros., Lincoln, Neb., and - - Black Crook, suspended by order of the members at Oskaloosa and Ottumwa, Ia.
John Atkinson, Ottawa, Ill., and blk g Little Nell, suspended by order of the member at Pontiac, Ill.
——, ——, The blk m Little Nell, suspended by order of the member at Milwaukee, Wis.
Cassidy & Gaylord. Denver, Col,, and blk h L. C. Lee (pacer), suspended by order of the member at Butte City, Mont.
W. W. Essig, Detroit, Mich., and - - Little Frank (pacer), suspended by order of the member at Blenheim Ont.
E Klinkert, Racine. Wis., and b m Hattie K., suspended by order o the member at Ottumwa Iowa.
E. Klinkert, Racine, Wis., and b m Hattie K. and b g Jim Wilson (pacer) suspended by order of the member at Oskaloosa, Iowa.
Coxey Stock Farm, (J. S. Coxey) Eminence, Ky., and b m Toinette
Coxey Stock Farm, (J. S. Coxey) Eminence, Ky., and b m Kentucky Girl.
Coxey Stock Farm, (J. S. Coxey) Eminence, Ky. and br m Extract.
Coxey Stock Farm, (J. S. Coxey) Eminence, Ky., and b h Seaside, suspended by order of the member at Zanesville, O.
Dyer & Storns, Slater, Mo., and ch g Frank Patchen, suspended by order of the member at Sedalia and Kahoka, Mo.
(Note) Geo. J. Dyer remains suspended with Tom Rogers (pacer) by order of the member at Kahoka, Mo.
Geo. W. Spear, Minneapolis, Minn., suspended by order of the member at Rochester, Minn.
Iowa J. Smith, Burlington, Iowa, and blk g Egmont, suspended by order of the member at Omaha, Nebraska.
Iowa J. Smith, the b g Friendship (formerly Consul) suspended by order of the members at Matoon and Poora, Ills.
T. D. Anderson, Brownsburg, Ind., and b g Dan A. (pacer) suspended by order of the member at Crawfordsville, Ind.
H. A. Oswald, Minneapolis, Minn., and ch h Keller V., suspended by order of the Board of Appeals.
R. Hobson, Caro, Mich., and gr m Hardnocks, suspended by order of the member at Lansing, Michigan.
M. Lovett, Guide Rock, Neb., and — — Coppermont, suspended by order of the member at Kearney, Nebraska.
J. L. Nash, Iowa, and — — Coppermont, suspended by order of the member at Kearney, Nebraska.
David Leary, Chicago, Ills., and dn g Charlie Golddust, suspended by order of the member at Elgin, Ills.
A. Doughty, Libertyville, Ills., and b m Helen M., suspended by order of the member at Marengo, Ills.
J. E. Taylor and P. Padrant, St. Joseph, and b g C. K. Davis, pacer.
J. E. Taylor and P. Padrant, St. Joseph, Mo., and b m Maggie Miller.
J. E. Taylor and P. Padrant, St. Joseph, Mo., and br g Two Eyes, suspended by order of the member at Milwaukee, Wis.
J. J. Chadwich, Dakota, Ills., and blk h Aubrey, suspended by order of the member at Milwaukee, Wisconsin.
John Hooper, Fort Wayne, Ind., and b m Elsie B, suspended by order of the member at South Bend, Indiana.

J. H. STEINER, Secretary.

The $10 000 Stallion Race.

Ever since the great Balch stallion race at Boston, many strange stories have been going the rounds, the following from the Boston Democrat being the latest:

"John Splan was offered $500 by a prominent Boston horseman not to drive Nelson. This proved that Doble was looking for the race at that time, and that he thought he could beat Nelson with his owner up.

"Splan did not drive Nelson.

"C. H. Nelson, who weighed over 170 pounds, did.

"Just before Driver Robbins got ready to go on the track, a scene was enacted which settled the fate of the stallion race, if the judges could be kept in the dark.

"The dramatis personae were Robbins, a horseman vitally interested in the success of Nelson (though not his owner); a go between who is connected with one of Boston's leading hotels, a stock farm owner, and a man behind the scenes who had newspaper work to look after.

"A check was written on one of two blanks furnished by the stock farm man, the blank being that of a country bank not fifty miles from Boston. The amount was $5000, and the check was signed by the vitally interested party.

"The stock farm man came to the Park to back Alcryon. He backed Nelson and, strange to say, he got "the tip" from Alcryon's driver.

"Now for a point which puzzled many horsemen. Why did Alcryon make so many bad breaks when he is known to be such a handy actor?

"The answer is simple. He lost his toe-weights.

"But, he seemed to be losing a good many toe weights.

"Thereby hangs a tale.

"A prominent man in Boston has the Bonner idea of horse shoeing, and is so imbued with the idea that he has a blacksmith of his own who makes a study, under the direction of his employer, of the feet of prominent trotters. What more natural than that he should visit Alcryon, who, as a speedy trotter, naturally attracted attention.

"On going to see him, the blacksmith found him with shoes of a certain pattern, having peculiarities which attracted him. These facts the blacksmith mentioned to his employer, and on returning the second time he found he had a new set of shoes ready, and there was a difference, which, to the initiated, meant a great deal. There were two points of difference. One related to the hind shoes. On one set there was a front tip or calk which was used to regulate the action of the horse on the track. The second related to—those toe-weights.

"On the first pair the toe-weights were fashioned in such a manner that their removal by any means other than mechanical appliances was an impossibility. The second set were different, and so different that our friend was seized with an inquiring turn of mind. He found out where the shoes were made and made a visit to the blacksmith, who told him that he had received orders not to tell of the new set of shoes.

"This was a staggerer.

"What mystery should there be about Alcryon's shoeing?

"None—if everything was fair and above board.

"So deeply was the gentleman in question impressed with the result of his investigation that he determined on laying the case before the judges on the day of the race. On maturer thought he considered that being in the breeding business and without interests in the result, outside the desire to see a square race, he let the matter drop but will tell his story at the proper time, if called on.

"There were men who had their doubts and who expressed them. One was the lessee of the Park. He told the judge at the start to look out for the race. The other was judge at the distance, J. G. Davis, who said what he thought to the judges. Another man was David Bonner, who expressed the opinion that Alcryon had not tried to win and who was ready to call the third heat off and trot it over again.

"What the result would have been had Alcryon gone for the race or for any part of it the writer is not prepared to say, but the fact remains that Alcryon's driver was given a check for $5000, not to try and win, and that Robbins thought his horse was the superior is proven by the tampering with the horse's feet."

The Democrat's story would be a little stronger testimony if it gave any names.

Nutwood, 2:18 3-4.

Belmont, Almont and Wood's Hambletonian were beyond comparison the greatest sons of Alexander's Abdallah, who was, considering his short years of service, the most prepotent son of the great progenitor. Belmont has not proven so prolific of speed as Almont and Wood's Hambletonian heretofore, but he has this season taken a "fresh start," as it were, and has added to his list some ten or eleven new 2:30 performers. Twenty of his sons have sired trotters in the list, and chief among them is the great Nutwood, eight of whose get have this year entered the 2:30 list, showing records of 2:20 to 2:30 as follows:

Frank, ch g, Oakland, Cal	2:20
Antelope, b h, Spokane Falls, W. T.	2:23¼
Nina D, b m, Napa, Cal	2:26½
Redwood, b h, Chico, Cal	2:27
Nutgall, b g, Lexington, Ky	2:29
Wilkeswood, b h, Chicago, Ill	2:29¼
Atwood, b c, Cleveland, Ohio	2:29½
Lizzie Mac, b m, Shelbyville, Ky	2:30

Nutwood previously had twenty-one trotters and three pacers in the list, and the new additions increase his roll of honor to twenty-eight trotters and four pacers, a total of thirty-two—a larger list, if I am not mistaken, than any horse ever had at nineteen years of age. Of this number seven are in the 2:20 list, in which he leads all stallions, living or dead, except Electioneer and George Wilkes. That Nutwood is breeding on, is this year becoming quite evident. His son Hawthorne is the sire of Tempest 2:19, Moses S, (two years old) 2:29¼, and J. C. Shelly (two years old), 2:29¾.

Antelope 2:23¼ is the sire of the c estnut colt Ned Lock, record 2:28¼.

Jim Mulvenna 2:27¾ is the sire of Lorena, two years old 2:30.

Judge Salisbury, sire of Glenville, two years old, 2:30.

Dawn 2:18¾ is the of Annabel, yearling record 3:05½, and three other fast yearlings and two-year-olds that will be heard from this fall.

Nutwood's daughter, Maple, produced Hattie D. three-year-old record 2:26¾.

This is, indeed, a wonderful showing for a horse that spent so many years of his on the turf.

Mr. F. D. Stout, his owner, in the course of a private letter, writes as follows:

"Nutwood still retains his vigor and strength, and does not appear to act a day older than he did ten years ago, and he can trot to-day faster then he ever could, and we have driven h m the last eighth mile on our track this year in 15½. His sire, Belmont (sire of thirty-one in the 2:30 list), and his dam, Miss Russell (dam of four in 2:30 list), are both hale and hearty, and both breed regularly.

"Our stock is doing very nicely, and we have had a very satisfactory season, both in sale and performance of our stock. We only have two Nutwoods left that are a year old, but we have a good lot of weanlings, by far the best we have ever had, and we are now busy getting them ready for winter.

"Nutwood has had a full season, and we have been obliged to refuse mares, and his book for 1890 is now over half full. Next year may be his last season to the public, as he will have all the mares by that time that any one horse should serve, and do the horse, the mares and the produce justice."

From this it will be seen that Nutwood's qualities are highly esteemed by the breeding public, and that he is fulfilling to the fullest extent the high hopes that the founder of Glenview cherished, and which he had a right to expect from a developed son of a great producing sire and dam.

VERCHAMP.

Penalty for Stealing Names.

It may as well be understood that we will not tolerate any foolishness about changing names of horses, as registered, and then taking the number attached to the original name and giving it to the new name. The course we pursue in such cases is fully illustrated in the following case. Mr. Samuel H. McCartney, of Pittsburg, Pa., sends an application with two dollars for the registration of a filly called Zita. Along with the application he sends a circular of her sire called "Butler Wilkes 4749." The filly is represented to be out of a mare by Balsora.

MR. SAMUEL H. MCCARTNEY, Pittsburg.—

DEAR SIR: I herewith return you your application and the fee of two dollars for the registration of Zita. You say the filly is by Butler Wilkes 4749. There is no horse of that name registered. If this is the horse Butler 4749, his owner has stolen a forbidden appendage, and is now advertising him under a false name. When a horse becomes registered and numbered, the number becomes a part of the name. Under the rules of this office we cannot register anything by a horse called Butler Wilkes, for we have no such horse registered. A man may attempt to "beat" the rule with the regard to names, and he may go along swimmingly for two or three years, but as soon as the first of the progeny of his horse comes for registration the rule will "beat" him. The Breeders' Association has undertaken to prevent the confusion growing out of the duplication of names under certain conditions, and laid down a specitic rule on the subject, and it is our plain duty to maintain that rule in its integrity.

Yours truly,

J. H. WALLACE.

The Trotter a Profitable Horse for the Farmer to Breed.

I hope no one will think from the above heading that I am going to advocate the idea of a farmer buying a sulky and an outfit of toe weights, trotting boots, etc., and learn the business of training and developing the trotter, or even breeding the trotter with the one idea of speed alone in view, and with no regard for size, substance, or other qualifications that go to make up a generally useful animal. All of these contrivances for developing speed are very useful in their place, but their place is not with the farmer. So, too, breeding to some undersized stallion, whose whole stock in trade is that he represents in his breeding some single noted trotter or producer of trotters may (?) have its place, but that is certainly not with the farmer. Each year brings new proof that the trotter is fast being developed into a more generally useful animal, and better adapted to a greater number of purposes than any other breed of horses that has ever existed and as such is fast gaining in popularity and advancing in price. The trotter originated with the necessities of the people requiring a horse that could travel and pull some kind of a vehicle for a long distance at a rapid gait, and the trotting gait being better adapted to this purpose than any other way of going, and at the same time furnishing a means of sport both in trotting races and road driving, have together combined to develop the trotter to the present standard. Never in the history of breeding any kind of animals have actual tests of merit so completely controlled every step that has been taken. Every trotting bred horse that is standard has attained that rank either by actual performance or by being related through both sire and dam to those that have performed. The word breeding, when applied to the standard bred trotter, has more practical meaning than when applied to any other breed of animals.

I like the name trotter. It expresses the way of going as distinguished from the thoroughbred or running horse, and what I have written so far is to set people thinking, to see if their prejudices have not got the better of the facts.

It cost no more in feed and care to raise a trotting bred colt to three years, worth from $150 to $500, than it does to raise a steer worth from $50 to $60 to the same age. But it must be remembered that not every trotting bred colt will sell for more than a steer. To get more than the price of a common work horse a breeder must in some way become acquainted with what qualities the public demand in a trotting bred colt, to make it saleable without the trouble and expense of developing, and then to know what lines of breeding produce these qualities with the greatest uniformity.

I believe a great many farmers would find it not only a pleasant recreation, but a profitable part of their business to devote a little of their spare time to informing themselves on this subject, and each year to raise one or more trotting bred colts, where there is a trotting bred stallion accessible. The fact of a horse being standard and registered is not of itself proof sufficient that he possesses the qualities demanded by the farmer; but it is proof that the breeding is as represented, and if that breeding is in good lines, adds to the value of his produce, and is a standing advertisement, circulating all over the world, and assists very much in making sales.

Every owner of such a horse should be able to furnish enough facts relating to the sire, substance, speed, color and general characteristics of his near ancestors, so those who patronize him could do so intelligently.

In no other branch of breeding has there been kept so perfect and complete a history of each individual member of the breed as with the trotters if an intelligent use is made of the recorded facts no other branch of breeding should produce more certain results.

The Bible says, "give me neither poverty nor riches," which I take to mean that kind of blissful sort of existence that comes from raising first-class trotting-bred roadsters and carriage horses that always sell for a good price, and hoping that some day one of them will turn out a world-beater, and sell for enough to make a fellow rich.—A Gardner, in American Breeder.

Robert Bonner on Speed.

Albemarle, writing for the Sportsman, says: I dropped in to see Mr. Frank Roberge, the expert horseshoer, and in reply to my question, "How is business?" he replied, "Very dull, as but few of my customers have yet returned from the country." As your readers are, perhaps, aware, Mr. Roberge shoes the horses owned by Mr. Robert Bonner, and during my call Mr. Bonner happened to drop in.

I learned that Maud is at the farm at Tarrytown and in the best of health.

That 2:08¾ does not represent the utmost limit of her speed, Mr. Bonner firmly believes. "She was not in perfect condition when she acquired her present record," said he, "and it was not as creditable a performance as when she trotted at Lexington in 2:09¼ late in the season when the ground was frozen and the track necessarily slow." She was a great mare that day," he added, thoughtfully, as if reviewing her wonderful performance. With a view of drawing an opinion from Mr. Bonner as to why the rate of speed is increasing so fast, I said: "I have at different times published the opinions of prominent owners and trainers as to the great improvement shown in the speed at the trotting gait, and as to whether it was due to better breeding, better training, better tracks, or all combined. It would give me pleasure to also place your views before our readers."

"A brief review of the past will completely answer your questions," said Mr. Bonner. "I began driving away back in 1856, and at that time a three-minute horse was fast. But little attention was then given to breeding, and beyond the Canuck who furnished knee action, there was but little in a trotting pedigree to recommend it to the breeders of the present day.

"I see you like a Morgan cross in a trotting pedigree to give action?" I suggested.

"Certainly I do," was the reply. "With the action of the Morgan, the lengthened stride of the Hambletonian family and a thoroughbred foundation for stamina we have the essential elements for producing the fast trotter." But to return to the subject, he continued: "When I began driving no intelligent thought had been directed toward breeding the trotting horse, whereas to day hundreds of thousands of dollars are invested and controlled in the business by many of the foremost men in the country. From the trotter with at most one good trotting cross we have progressed to Maud S. and Jay-Eye-See of to-day, and the breeding of each of these seems to be as nearly perfect for producing extreme speed as we can breed at present."

"I see you favor a strong infusion of thoroughbred blood?" I said as he paused.

"Most assuredly," was the answer. "And it seems to me that no intelligent student of the science of breeding the trotting horse can in the light of actual developments ignore such blood. Look at Senator Stanford—he has been breeding for years, and with hundreds of horses, and everything that unlimited wealth could do, he never succeeded in breeding a trotter to beat 2:16, until the trotting blood was backed up with the thoroughbred, as in the pedigree of Palo Alto and Sunol."

"Then you attribute the great improvement made in the rate of speed shown by trotters to better breeding?" I suggested.

"Largely to that; but the improvement has been most noticeable in the rate from 2:20 to 2:15," was the reply. "We are breeding many more trotters that can beat 2:20, but as we near the limit of extreme speed we do not find any that have beaten the 2:10 of Jay-Eye-See or the 2:08¾ of Maud S, and I am free to say that when the record of Maud S is beaten, it will, in my opinion, be by a horse more highly bred; that is, with a stronger infusion of the thoroughbred blood than she has."

"But do you not think that the improvement in training, in constructing vehicles, and in trotting tracks has fully kept pace with the improvement in breeding?" I suggested.

"Undoubtedly so," replied Mr. Bonner. "As an example, when Dexter made his greatest performance, he was shod in a manner that would be called very imperfect now. If I remember correctly, he was shod with about an eighteen ounce shoe forward. His action was excessive, and much of his force was lost in this manner. Had he been shod with a lighter shoe, say, about eleven ounces, and a light toe weight added, his stride would have been lengthened, and he at the same time have carried less weight. So, also, in constructing tracks and keeping them in order. I well remember when a gentlemen from Kentucky described to me a scraper he was using on his track, and I had him build one and send it to me. It improved my track two or three seconds, and the track machines now in use are fully as much superior to the first crude inventions. Improvement in speed, therefore, has been the natural result of intelligent methods in breeding, training and the facilities for constructing fast tracks and improved vehicles."

"Have you any expectation of the two-minute trotter being bred?" I asked.

"None whatever, speaking from our present knowledge," was the reply. "At the present time we have but few thoroughbreds that can run a mile in 2:00, and draw the weight of sulky and driver required by trotting regulations. When we breed the trotter to equal the runner in speed, it will be time enough to speculate about a two-minute trotter."

The pacer L. C. Lee 2:15, is reported permanently broken down.

Robert Bonner sent a telegram congratulating Senator Stanford on the grand performance of his horse Pala Alto recently. In referring to the matter afterward Mr. Bonner said: I was particularly glad to see that the fastest trotter yet bred in California comes from a daughter of Planet. Planet has more of the formation that gives us trotting action, than any thoroughbred I ever saw. Thoroughbred blood, in my judgement, is the key to further improvement in our trotters. The trotter that beats 2:08¾ will have still more of the thoroughbred blood than Maud S."

Last Thursday at Salinas, the judges were evidently running under Boise Basin (everything goes) rules, the race was a six hundred yards and repeat, with five starters, Captain Al a two year old was in with four others, and though it was weight for age, and according to State Fair rules, he should have carried 94 lbs. he was allowed to carry 115. Roundout won the first heat, Captain Al the second; the pair came out for the third heat, and Captain Al won, but the judges declared it no heat, and brought all the horses out again, why no one knows, and declared all bets off, Grover Cleveland won this time, and then the judges sent all to the stable except the three who had a heat each, and allowed Captain Al to carry 94 lbs.; after a hard race, Cleveland beat the two year old by half a length but the judges gave the race to Captain Al on a foul.

DONOVAN.

The Rich Lancashire Plate falls to the Duke of Portland.

The Lancashire plate of 12 000 sovs. added to a sweepstakes of 20 sovs each for starters; for two year-olds 7st 5lb, three 9st 2lb, four 9st 9lb; m and g allowed 3lb· the winner (handicaps excepted) of 1,000 sovs once 4lb, twice of 1,000 or once of 2,000 7 lb, or once of 4,000 10lb extra; the nominator of the wiuner to receive 1,000 sovs out of the stakes, the owner of the second to receive 1,000, the nominator of the second to receive 500 out of the stakes, the owner of the third 300, and the nominator of the third 200 out of the stakes. Seven furlongs. (292 subs, 22 of whom declared ft on December 6, 1887, 35 on April 3, 1888, 75 on December 4, 1888, and 18 on April 2, 1889.)

Duke of Portland's Donovan, by Galopin—Mowerina, 3 yrs, 9st 12lb ..... F. Barrett	1
Mr. C. Perkin's Chitabob, Robert the Devil—Jennie Howlett, 3 yrs, 9 st 12 lb ..... Fagan	2
M· Ephrussi's Alicante, by Hermit—Madeira, 2 yrs, 7 st 9 lb...Luke	3
Lord Calthorpe's Seabreeze, 4 yrs, 10 st 2 lb ..... Robinson	0
Mr. D. Baird's Enthusiast, 3 yrs, 9 st 12 lb ..... Warne	0
Mr. Abington's Pioneer, 3 yrs, 9 st 6 lb ..... J. Watts	0
Mr. Vyner's Minthe, 3 yrs, 9 st 6 lb ..... J Osborne	0
Mr. A. Taylor's John O'Gaunt, 3 yrs, 9 st, 2 lb ..... T. Cannon, Jr.	0
Lord Hasting's St. Patrick, 3 yrs, 9 st 2 lb ..... G. Barrett	0
Mr. Milner's Antibes, 3 yrs, 8 st 13 lb ..... T. Loates	0
Colonel Heyward's Sabrina, 2 yrs, 7 st 2 lb ..... Blake	0

(Winner trained by G. Dawson.)

BETTING AT STARTING.

6 to 4 on Donovan	33 to 1 agst Enthusiast
9 — 2 agst Alicante	33 — 1 — Minthe
7 — 1 — Chitabob	50 — 1 — Antibes
100 — 7 — St. Patrick	200 — 1 — John o'Gaunt
20 — 1 — Seabreeze	200 — 1 —Sabrina
33 — 1 — Pioneer

PLACE BETTING—(1-2-3).

4 to 1 on Donovan	3 to 1 agst Seabreeze
7 — 4 — Alicante	3 — 1 — Antibes
7 — 4 agst Chitabob	100 — 30 — Enthusiast
5 — 2 — St. Patrick	100 — 30 — Minthe
5 — 2 — Pioneer

THE RACE.

The parade was led by Enthusiast, who was followed by Seabreeze, John o' Gaunt, Chitabob, Pioneer, Alicante, Minthe, Sabrina, Antibes, St. Patrick and Donovan. In the canter past the stand nothing went better than Donovan, Chitabob, Enthusiast and Alicante. The lot proceeded to the post, and after a couple of breaksaway were despatched to a moderately good start. The first away was Seabreeze, but she was soon steadied, and Chitabob dashed to the front, followed by Enthusiast, St. Patrick, Seabreeze and John o, Gaunt, who were clear of Donovan and Pioneer; who in turn were in front of Alicante, Minthe and Antibes; whilst Sabrina, who could not live the pace, was last. Chitabob's speed easily kept him in front of his field, and in the first quarter of a mile he had increased his lead by two lengths. At this point of the race his immediate follower was Enthusiast, whilst John o' Gaunt went on third. Then, at a close interval, came Donovan and Pioneer, who were separated by daylight from Antibes and Minthe, whilst Sabrina was tailed away. Along the top of the bend of the course Donovan gradually closed with Enthusiast, whom he headed when fairly round the bend for home, Chitabob turning into the straight with an undiminished lead. Half a mile from home, however, Donovan became second, with Enthusiast and Pioneer in his wake, whilst John o'Gaunt beaten, was next, just in front of Seabreeze, whilst St. Patrick went on next from Alicante, who from this point gradually crept forward on the outside.

Half way down the straight Donovan drew up to the heels of Chitabob, and the race then became a match, but it was easy to see that Donovan would win, for he was pulling for his head, whilst Chitabob was going straight to his bit. Three hundred yards from home Fagan's whip was up, and his fate was sealed. He struggled on, but struggled in vain, as Donovan strode away from him, and won easily by two lengths. From the distance Alicante asserted her superiority to the rest, and finished two lengths behind Chitabob. At an interval of four lengths from the French filly, Pioneer was fourth; Seabreeze was placed fifth, about a neck behind Mr. Abington's horse. Then at a clear interval came Enthusiast, St. Patrick and Antibes in a cluster; apart from them were Minthe and Sabrina together, whilst tailed off was John o' Gaunt, who pulled up slightly lame. Time of the race, 1:39 2-5.

PEDIGREE OF THE WINNER.

DONOVAN, ch c, 1886.
Mowerina (Stockings): Stockwell (The Baron; Pocahontas); Go Ahead (Melbourne; Mowerina).
Scottish Chief, Fly Duchess, Vedette (Galopin): Lord of the Isles (Touchstone; Fair Helen); Merope (Voltaire; Daughter of); Miss Ann (Little Known; Bay Missy); Flying Dutchman (Bay Middleton; Barbelle); Mrs. Ridgway (Birdcatcher; Nan Darrell); Voltigeur (Voltaire; Martha Lynn).
Voltaire: Blacklock; Phantom mare.
Martha Lynn: Mulatto; Leda.
Birdcatcher: Sir Hercules; Guiccioli.
Nan Darrell: Inheritor; Nell.
Bay Middleton: Sultan; Cobweb.
Barbelle: Sandbeck; Danoletta.
Voltaire: Blacklock; Phantom mare.
Daughter of: Juniper; Sorceress mare.
Touchstone: Camel; Banter.
Fair Helen: Pantaloon; Rebecca.
Little Known: Muley; Lacerta.
Bay Middleton: Camilla; Birdcatcher.
The Baron: Echidna; Glencoe.
Pocahontas: Marpessa; H. Clinker.
Melbourne: Cervantes mare.
Mowerina: Touchstone; Emma.

Donovan holds an unique record in Turf annals. The Bard had a two-year-old record that puzzled people; Thormanby's wear-and-tear form has never been surpassed; but the "lucky duke's" score fairly staggers readers. Melanion's victory at Leicester added a bagatelle of £436.7 s to an already enormous pile, and yesterday's win throws a sum of £10,000 into the same plethoric heap. This latter item makes Donovan's total up to the present £38,075 for the present year, while if the 1888 winnings be added the colt must be credited with £54,542 15s—a truly wonderful figure. Good luck, indeed, befriended the lord of Welbeck, "at his birth the fairies danced upon the hearth." His record of turf prizes for the last two years reads thus:

	1888.	1889.	Total.
Donovan	£16,487	£38,055	£54,542
Ayrshire	8,675	20,000	28,675
Semolina	—	8,310	8,310
Johnny Morgan	950	1,900	2,850
Ulva	—	959	959
Deschamps	504	—	504
Melanion	—	442	442
Elsie	—	332	332
Turcophone	—	300	300
The Apple	194	—	194
	£26,810	£70,298	£97,108

Such doings deserve special chronicling—they are as rare as rich. Few people pick up as precious horse-shoes as the present Bentinck; still fewer manage their affairs so admirably. There is something in heredity, perhaps; but is this the only moral?

PERFORMANCES OF THE WINNER.

The performances of Donovan will be still so fresh in the minds of our readers that it is hardly necessary to give a lengthy notice of the colt's doings. We may, however, give a few brief particulars. Donovan was bred by his owner, the Duke of Portland, and has for all his many engagements been prepared by G. Dawson, at Newmarket. His first season saw him to the fore on eleven occasions, while this year he has won the Prince of Wales's stakes at Leicester, Newmarket Stakes, the Derby, Prince of Wales's Stakes at Ascot, and the St. Leger, while on September 21st, he further supplemented his long victorious list by adding over £10,000 to the big account already placed to his owner's credit The race also definitely decided that the Duke of Portland's colt is by far the best of his year.

ENGAGEMENTS.—Donovan is engaged in the Royal Stakes, at the Newmarket Second October Meeting, and a Free Handicap, for three-year-olds, at the Newmarket Houghton Meeting. The events of 1890 for which he has been entered are the Rous Memorial Stakes, at Ascot, and the Lancashire Plate, at the Manchester Autumn Meeting.

The Wilkes Family this Year.

We have compiled the following table showing the performers contributed to the 2:30 list in 1889, by the descendants of George Wilkes, says the Kentucky Stock Farm. The table very likely omits some of the new performers, and the season is not yet over, but the showing is truly a remarkable one, notwithstanding and will no doubt prove valuable to the army of breeders interested in the Wilkes blood. George Wilkes himself has added one new trotter and one new pacer to his roll of honor, giving him a total of sixty-seven performers, seven of which are pacers. Four of the six great three-years-olds of this year are of the Wilkes family, and two of the Kentucky's best two-year-olds are the produce of daughters of George Wilkes. The breeding-on capacity of this strain is well illustrated in the table below, twenty-nine sons having contributed sixty-nine new trotters and pacers to the list, while his daughters have eight. In the next generation they have already begun to show up; the daughters of his sons have put five in the list this season and his grandsons have added three.

1889.

PRODUCING SONS OF GEORGE WILKES.

ALCONTARA, 2.23.
Ariel, ch m 2:26½
Black Victor, blk s, dam Victory by Administrator 2:29¼
Empress Genetic, b m, dam by Strathmore (p) 2.19
Miss Alice, b m, dam Thorndale Maid 2:20½

ALCYONE, 2:97.
Alcy Wilkes, b h, dam by Stanhope's Black Hawk 2:26¾
Hallie B., b m, dam by American Clay 2:29½

ADRIAN WILKES.
Waterloo Boy, b g, dam by Mambrino Abdallah (p) 2:28

AMBASSADOR, 2:21.
Embassy, b f 2:29½
Keokee, blk m 2:30
Nellie H., blk m 2:28½
Wyandot, ch s 2:27½

BARNEY WILKES.
Barney, b g (3), dam untraced (p) 2:25½
Mary S., dam Gin Burner by Frank Allen 2:28
Mattie Wilkes, b m (4), dam by Titus 2:28½

BOURBON WILKES.
Forrest Wilkes, b h, dam Ned 2:28½
Sharper, ch h, dam by Joe Downing 2:16¼
Charleston, b h, dam by Abdallah Mambrino 2:27
Wilkemont, bh, dam Lark by Abdallah Mambrino 2:28

COUNT WILKES.
Bald Wilkes, dam (Wilcox's dam) 2:30

FAVORITE WILKES, 2:25½.
Crawford Wilkes, b h, dam by Mambrino Patchen (p) 2:24½

FERGUSON.
Yum-Yum, b m 2:29¼

GUY WILKES, 2:15½.
Hazel Wilkes, b m, dam by Arthurton 2:20
Lillian Wilkes, b m (3), dam by Langford 2:17¾

GEORGIA WILKES.
Billy Wilkes, b g, dam untraced 2:29

HAMBLETONIAN WILKES.
Phœbe Wilkes, br f 2:29

JAY BIRD.
Allerton, br h (3), dam Gussie Wilkes by Mambrino Boy 2:19½
Five Points, br g, dam by Daniel Lambert 2:29¾
King Bird, rn g, dam by Captain 2:17¾
Queen Wilkes, rn m, dam by George Wilkes 2.29½

KENTUCKY WILKES, 2:21½.
Virginia Evans, b m, dam Lady Thornton 2:24

KING WILKES, 2:22½.
Minnie Wilkes, b m 2:28½

LUMPS, 2:27.
Lunette, b f, dam by Gen. George H. Thomas 2:25¾
Annie Dickinson, br m (3), dam by George Wilkes (p) 2.23¼

LYLE WILKES
Chief, b g, dam Lady Yeiser 2:26½
Konantz, b h, dam Lady Gregory by Corbeau 2:29¾

MACEY, 2:29 (p.).
Lucy Macey, b f, dam by Allegheny Boy 2:26½

MAMBRINO WILKES 6083 (of California).
Clara P, b f 2:29½

MARK FIELD.
Veritas, b g, dam untraced.

ONWARD, 2:25¼.
Boaz, b h, dam Ruth by Pasacas 2:28½
Catherine Leyburn, ch m (3), dam by Star Almont 2:27½
Dessie Wingate, b m, dam Dora by Bayard Jr 2:23
Glycera, br m, (3), dam Ravenna, by Princeps 2.26
Olmedo Wilkes, b m, dam by Dictator 2:25½

PETOSKEY.
Dick Wilkes, b h, dam by Dictator (p) 2:26½
Nellie O'Neil, b m, dam Fanny Jackson 2:22¾

RED WILKES, 2:40.
Dally Wilkes, gr f (3), dam by Alta 2:28½
Jean Wilkes, b m (5), dam by Hambrino 2:27½
Lady Wilkes, b m, dam Lady Dillard 2:29½
Red Bell, ch h (4), dam by Anthony Wayne (p) 2:17
Red Bud, b h, dam by Blackwood Jr (p) 2:29½
Redfield, b h, dam Loretta by Enfield (p) 2:28½
Red Lassie, b f (3), dam by Squire Talmage 2:24¾
Wabash, ch h (4) dan by Mambrino Patchen 2:30

ST. GOTHARD, 2:27.
Berthard, b h 2:28½
Howard Wilkes, b g 2:30
Queen Wilkes, b m 2:26½
Rose Wilkes, b m 2:28½

SIMMONS, 2:28.
New York Central, b h, dam by Mambrino Boy 2:29½
Simmicolon, ch h, dam Colon by Strathmore 2:29½

WALSINGHAM.
Latitude, b c 2:30

WILKES COLLINS.
Administrator Wilkes, b h, dam by Administrator 2:30
Almont Wilkes, b h, by Almont 2:28¾

YOUNG JIM.
Dandy Jim, gr g, 4, dam Caprara by Daniel Lambert 2:30
Maggie F., b m, dam by John Nosley 2:27
Minneola, ch h, dam Jessica by Hamlet 2:27
Sallie B., dn m, dam by Copperbottom 2:26

YOUNG WILKES, 2:28½.
Tariff, blk g, dam by Robert Whaley 2:21½

PRODUCED BY DAUGHTERS OF GEORGE WILKES.
Annie Dickinson, b f, by Lumps (5) 2:23¾
San Malo, b c by Nugget 2:29¾
Chastelard, b h by King Rene 2:29¾
Fortuna, b f (3), by Florida 2:25¾
Ignis Fatuus, b h by Editor 2:29¾
Queen Wilkes, b m by Jay Bird 2:29½
Wilkeswood, b c by Nutwood 2:25½
Wilkie Russell, b h by Mambrino Russell (p) 2:29¾

PRODUCED BY DAUGHTERS OF SONS.
Mambrino Maid (4), b m by Mambrino Startle, dam by Red Wilkes 2:23¾
Frenzy (2) gr f by Florida, dam by Young Jim 2:27½
Burns McGregor (2), b c by Robt. McGregor, dam by Young Jim ..... 2:—
Benoni, br c (3), by Pretender, dam by Onward 2:28½
Prince Regent, b h by Mambrino King, dam by Alcantara ..... 2:—¾

SIRED BY GRANDSONS.
President Wilkes, b c (4) by Ashland Wilkes, son of Red Wilkes (p) 2:26
Fancy Bess, b f by Olmedo Wilkes, son of Onward 2:27
Bloomfield, b h by Billy Wilkes, son of Harry Wilkes, 2:13¾ .. 2.27½

The Standard.

[AS REVISED AND ADOPTED BY THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF TROTTING-HORSE BREEDERS, DECEMBER 14, 1887.]

IN order to define what constitutes a trotting-bred horse and to establish a BREED of trotters on a more intelligent basis, the following rules are adopted to control admission to the records of pedigrees. When an animal meets the requirements of admission and is duly registered, it shall be accepted as a standard trotting-bred animal:—

FIRST.—Any stallion that has himself a record of two minutes and thirty seconds (2:30) or better, provided any of his get has a record of 2:25 or better, or provided his sire or his dam is already a standard animal.

SECOND.—Any mare or gelding that has a record of 2:30 or better.

THIRD.—Any horse that is the sire of two animals with a record of 2:30 or better.

FOURTH.—Any horse that is the sire of one animal with a record of 2:30 or better, provided he has either of the additional qualifications: (1) A record himself of 2:25 or better. (2) Is the sire of two other animals with a record of 2:25 or better. (2) Has a sire or dam that is already a standard animal.

FIFTH.—Any mare that has produced an animal with a record of 2:30 or better.

SIXTH.—The progeny of a standard horse when out of a standard mare.

SEVENTH.—The female progeny of a standard horse when out of a mare by a standard horse.

EIGHTH.—The female progeny of a standard horse when out of a mare whose dam is a standard mare.

NINTH.—Any mare that has a record of 2:25 or better, and whose sire or dam is a standard animal.

Best Trotting Records.

1 mile—2:08¾, Maud S., against time, in harness, accompanied the distance by a running horse, Glenville, O., July 30, 1885 ..... 2:13½, best time in a race between horses, Maud S., Chicago, Ills., July 24, 1880 ..... 2:13¼, Maxey Cobb, against time, accompanied by running horse—fastest stallion time, Providence, R. I., Sept. 30, 1884 ..... 2:13½, Phallas, fastest heat by a stallion against other horses, Chicago, July 14, 1884 ..... 2:15½, Jay-Eye-See, half-mile track, Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 14, 1887 ..... 2:15¾, Great Eastern, under saddle, third heat, Morrisania, N. Y., Sept. 22, 1877 ..... 2:10¾, Jay-Eye-See, against time, best five-year-old record, Providence, R. I., Sept. 15, 1883 ..... 2:16, Manzanita, third heat, best four-year-old record, Lexington, Ky., Sept. 3, 1876 ..... 2:14, Axtell against time, accompanied by a runner, best three-year-old record, Chicago, August, 1889 ..... 2:18, Sunol, 2 years, against time, San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 27, 1888 ..... 2:31¼, Norlaine, yearling, against time, San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 12, 1887.

2 miles—4:43 against time, Fanny Witherspoon, Chicago, Ill., Sept. 25, 1885.

3 miles—7:21½, Huntress, harness, Brooklyn, L. I, Sept. 21, 1872.

4 miles—10.34½, Longfellow, wagon, California, Dec 31, 1869.

5 miles—13:00, Lady Mac, harness, San Francisco, Cal., April 2, 1874.

10 miles—27:23¼, Controller, harness, San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 23, 1878.

20 miles—58:25, Captain McGowan, harness, half-mile track, Boston, Oct. 31, 1865.

Pacing Records at One Mile.

Johnston, harness, against time, Chicago, Ills., Oct 3, 1884, 2:06¼.

Brown Hal, best stallion record, Cleveland, Ohio, July 31, 1889, 2.12½.

Westmont, July 10, 1884, Chicago, Ills., with running mate, 2:01¾.

Ed Rosewater, two years old, Council Bluffs, Iowa, Nov. 3, 1888, 2:20½.

Yolo Maid, 3 years old, San Francisco, Oct. 13, 1888, 2:14.

Gold Leaf, four years old, 2:11 on August 17, 1889, at Napa.

Arrow, five years old, 2:13¼, made at Cleveland, Ohio, August 1, 1888.

Fastest Time on Record.

Miles.	Running.
¼	Jim Miller, 2, Deer Lodge (Mont.), Aug. 16, 1888 ..... / †Sleepy Dick, a, Kiowa (Kan.), Nov. 24, 1888	0:21½
¾	Daniel B., 5, 118 lbs., Helena (Mont.), July 4, 1888	0:34¼
½	Geraldine, 4, ——, Westchester Course, Aug. 30, 1889	0:46
⅝	Britannic, 5, ——, Westchester Course, Aug. 31, 1889	0:59
¾	El Rio Rey, 2, 126 lbs., Westchester Course, Aug. 31, 1889.	1:11
⅛	Britannic, 5, 110 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 5, 1889	1:26 2-5
	Ten Broeck, 5, 110 lbs., Louisville, May 24, 1877 ..... (against time)	1:39¾
1	Maori, 4, 105 lbs., Chicago, July 12, 1889, (in a race)	1:39 4-5
1 1-16	Wheeler T., 3, 98 lbs., St. Louis, June 1, 1886	1:47¾
1¼	Terra Cotta, 4, 124 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, June 23, 1888	1:53
1 3-16	Joe Cotton, 5, 108½ lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 7, 1887	2:00¼
1⅜	Kingston, 5, 122 lbs., Gravesend, Sept. 24, 1889	2:06½
1 m	500 yds. Ben d'Or, 4, 115 lbs., Saratoga, July 25, 1882	2:10¾
1⅜	Triboulet, 4, 117 lbs., San Francisco, April 26, 1888 ..... / Richmond, 6, 122 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, June 27, 1888	2:21½
1½	Firenzi, 4, 113 lbs., Monmouth Park, Aug. 2, 1888 ..... / Luke Blackburn, 3, 102 lbs., Monmouth Park, Aug. 17, '80 / Jim Guest, 4, 98 lbs., Chicago, (Washington Park, July 24 '86)	2:34
1⅝	Hindoocraft, 3, 75 lbs., Westchester, Aug. 27, 1889	2:48
1¾	Glidelia, 5, 116 lbs., Saratoga, Aug. 5, 1882	3:01
1⅞	Enigma, 4, 90 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 15, 1885	3:20
2	Ten Broeck, 5, 16 lbs., Louisville, May 29, 1877	3:27½
2¼	Monitor, 4, 110 lbs., Baltimore, Oct. 20, 1880	3:44½
2¼	Springbok, 5, 114 lbs., / Saratoga, July 29, 1875. ..... / Preakness, a, 114 lbs., /	3:58¾
2½	Aristides, 4, 104 lbs., Lexington, May 13, 1876	4:27½
2¾	Ten Broeck, 4, 104 lbs., Lexington, Sept. 16, 1876	4:58½
2¾	Hubbard, 4, 107 lbs., Saratoga, Aug. 9, 1873	4:58¾
3	Drake Carter 4 115 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 6, 1884	5:24
4	Ten Broeck, 4, 104 lbs., Louisville, Sept. 27, 1876	7:15¾

Miles.	Heat Races.
¼	Sleepy Dick, a, Kiowa (Kan.), Nov. 24, 1888	0:21¼	—0:22¼
½	Rogus, a, 113 lbs., Helena (Mont.), Aug. 24, 1888	0:48	—0:48
⅝	Kittie Pease, 4, Dallas (Tex.), Nov. 7, 1887 ..... / Sadie McNairy, 3, 98 lbs., Chicago, July 2, 1888	1:00	—1:00
		1:02¾	—1:03
¾	Lizzie S., 5 118 lbs., Louisville, Sept 28, 1883	1:13¾	—1:13¾
1	Bounce, 4, 90 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 7, 1881	1:43	—1:41½
1	3 in 5. L'Argentine, 6, 115 lbs., St. Louis, June 14, 1879	1:43—1:44	—1:47¾
1 1-16	Slipalong, 5, 115 lbs., Chicago (Wash. Park), Sept. 2, 1885.	1:01¾	—1:48
1¼	Gabriel, 4, 112 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 23, 1889	1:56	—1:56
1¼	Glenmore, 5, 114 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 25, 1880	2:10	—2:14
1½	Keno, 6, Toledo, Sept. 16, 1880 (1st and 3d heats)	2:43½	—2:45
2	Miss Woodford, 4, 107½ lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 20, 1884	3:33	—3:31¾
3	Norfolk, 4, 100 lbs., Sacramento, Sept. 24, 1885	5:27½	—5:29¾
4	Ferida, 4, 105 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 15, 1880	7:23¾	—7:41

†Made in a heat race.
*Doubtful, and made in a heat race.

THE PACIFIC COAST TROTTING HORSE BREEDER'S ASSOCIATION.

A GRAND MEETING.

Big Jim Falls Dead on the Track—Sunol Jogs a Mile in 2:15 3-4.

A more beautiful day was never seen in San Francisco than Saturday, October 12th, the delightful afternoon causing about a thousand persons to congregate at the Bay District track to witness the contests of speed, the programme for which had been prepared by the Directors of the new organization, which has started their initial meeting under such favorable auspices. The ladies, who usually patronize the track in large numbers, were noticeable by their absence, a rumor having gained currency that Sunol would only be jogged for the three-year-old trotting stake, she being the only paid up entry, and as a natural consequence, many staid away who would otherwise have been in attendance if they could have anticipated what sport was in store for them.

Among the gentlemen lovers of horse flesh present, were many familiar faces, and the opening day was somewhat of a reunion. Among the well-known faces to be seen, were Senator Leland Stanford, Congressman-elect Thomas J. Clunie, ex-Senator L. J. Rose of Los Angeles, Dr. R. Gross of Eureka, Dr. Bovett of Montana, Dr. T. Maclay of Petaluma, Dr. Proctor of the same place, J. B. McDonald of Marysville, Frank Jackson of Los Gatos, Gen. J. W. B. Montgomery of Butte County, Ariel Lathrop, manager Palo Alto Stock Farm, W. S. Hobart, owner of Stamboul, Thomas Francis Meagher, Frank H. Burke, Dan Waldron, R. T. Carroll, Lee James, President of the Napa and Solano Agricultural Fair Association, Mr. McCollum, of Napa Hotel fame, Ira Pierce, ha Oakland capitalist, Walter Overton, just returned from a trip to the East, Chas. Pond, brother of the Mayor of San Francisco, Harry Benedict, late of the Mint, J. H. White, who as president of the Breeder's Association, has worked hard to make it a success, Tom Williams, man of the world and a keen follower of all sporting events, J. H. Neal representative of the Pleasanton Stock Farm, G. Valensin, the owner of Sidney, Capt. Ott, the well-known pilot, M. F. Tarpey, vice-President of the Blood Horse Association, Richard Gird, ofthe celebrated Chino Ranch, Los Angeles County, and owner of the full brother to Sunol, C. S. Crittenden, of the Golden Gate Stables, William Corbitt, of the San Mateo Stock Farm, Capt. Ben Harris, the old-timer Tom Atchison, Ira Ramsdale, who has lately invested in running horses, Chas. Holbrook, formerly of Chico, but now a resident of San Francisco, Capt. N. T. Smith, of the S. P. R. R. company, John McKerron, the great California horse-boot man, the well known E. A. Fargo, Joe Spanier was also seen shaking hands with his friends, Lot D. Slocum, after whom the fast trotting horse is named, Patt Farrell, the old driver who has a license to ride for any one, Pete Brandow, the laughing driver, was also to be seen showing his good nature to the audience, and with a hearty, cheery laugh for everyone, Dr. Bowhill, of the new horse infirmary, W. L. Ashe from Merced, Mr. Seymour of the Russ House, A. Gonzalez, owner of the stallion Junio and many other fast ones, Adolph Spreckels, one of the sugar kings, C. W. Smith, owner of Abbottsford, J. B. Wattles, a sport-loving member of the Pacific Union Club, was also shaking hands with many friends.

The official judges of the day were H. M. LaRue, F. L. Coombs and President Green, of the State Agricultural Society, while the timers were R. T. Carroll, L. J. Rose and H. W. Brown. The first attraction put forth by the association was the three-year-old trotting stake, for which Sunol was the only starter. Mr. Marvin came down the stretch three times, and at last nodded for the word, the filly moving very slow, at least to the eye of the spectator, for her easy frictionless gait causes her to cover ground much faster than the ordinary observer would suppose. She passed the quarter pole in 36 seconds, and was at the half in 1:11¼, but from here to the wire the filly came with a rare burst of speed, the distance being negotiated in 1:04½, the total time for the mile being 2:15¾. It was patent to every one present that she could have beaten Axtell's record, but it was deemed expedient by Mr. Marvin and Mr. Lathrop to postpone the trial for a record until this week.

Orrin A. Hickok then drove Stamboul a single heat, more to please the spectators than anything else, he being accompanied by a running mate. The noted stallion has improved wonderfully within the past month, and there is now a chance that L. J. Rose, the former owner of Stamboul, may win his bet from "Counseller" Crawford, of Lexington, Ky., that Stamboul in 1889 would lower his record to 2:12 or better. He went easily and gracefully to the half in 1:08, and came home in 1:07, showing much of his old speed.

National Stallion Stake.

The first real race of the day had as contestants Direct, Dawn and Junio, they being the starters for the National Stallion Stake, all the others failing to pay up. A very large contingent had arrived from Sonoma County, and to a man they backed the field at $40, Direct bringing from $35 to $40. After several attempts the bell was tapped to a moderate send-off, Junio breaking immediately the wire was passed. Lee Shaner carried Dawn to the front, and soon had two clear lengths of daylight between him and Direct, Junio being still two further lengths behind the little black. At the quarter pole Dawn was six lengths to the good, and at this point Shaner took him back a little, evidently to have something in reserve if it became necessary on the homestretch. When well up the backstretch Direct was only two lengths to the bad, and on the turn was lapping the wheel of Dawn. Junio in the meantime was trailing, well in hand, Marvin keeping him for the finish. As the pair of leaders turned into the straight Dawn still had a slight advantage, but Direct came up slowly inch by inch until at the drawgate was on even terms with the son of Nutwood. At this point Shaner struck Dawn with the whip and he seemed to quit, not relishing the punishment. Direct came under the wire, winner in a jog by four lengths, Junio about five lengths behind Dawn. Time, 2:18½. The investors in the mutuals were fortunate enough to receive $8.95 for each ticket purchased.

Second Heat—The pools now showed that the talent were satisfied that Direct could not lose for he sold readily at $60, the field bringing but $15. Twice they failed to get off, but a third attempt resulted in the bell starting them, Junio in the lead, and Dawn fully one and a half lengths behind. As they passed the quarter Andy McDowell sent Direct along to make fight for first place with Junio. At the half the Electioneer horse broke and Direct went to the front and on the upper turn was six lengths ahead of his opponents. Dawn was not taking kindly to his work and was evidently out of the race. As they came down the homestretch Andy pulled Direct up, and as they passed the wire there was about three lengths separating each from the other. Time, 2:19½. Mutuals paid $6.35.

Third Heat—All interest in the race was now over, the only question being who would receive second money. The Dawn money had evidently all gone in in the first two heats, for there were no field buyers in the third heat. The trio were soon away, Direct taking the lead almost at the start, and was never headed in the heat. On the backstretch the three were in processional form with Junio in the middle. The positions were never altered, Direct winning the heat and race, Junio taking second money and Dawn third. Time 2:19½.

SUMMARY.

Bay District Track, Oct. 12th, 1889. Grand National Stallion Stake; purse $3,000.

Pleasanton Stock Farm's blk h Direct, Director—Echora.....McDowell	1	1	1
A. Gonzales' ch h Junio—Electioneer, dam by Granger..Marvin	3	2	2
A. L. Whitney's ch h Dawn, Nutwood—Countess.....Shaner	2	3	3

Time—2:18½, 2:19½, 2:19½.

The next event on the card was a specially made-up race, in which the starters were L. J. Rose, Jr.'s Richmond Jr., R. T. Carroll's Moro, C. W. Smith's Lucy Abbott, J. H. White's Kitty Almont and L. E. Clawson's Big Jim. Richmond was the favorite in the betting, selling at $60, Moro $22 and the field $28. The field scored several times, and were at last tapped off, Big Jim taking the lead on the first turn, Kitty Almont and Moro were now striving for second and third positions, Melrose being fourth, the favorite fifth and Lucy Abbott last. Big Jim reached the half mile pole in 1:11 he being a much better horse than almost anyone thought him to be and he had opened up a gap of at least a dozen lengths. Moro nothing daunted by the distance set sail for the leader and the two had a merry fight down the homestretch, Big Jim ultimately winning, as Moro broke near the drawgate. The placed positions were Kitty Almont second, Melrose third, Richmond fourth, Moro fifth and Lucy Abbott last. Time 2:24½. Mutuals paid $13.70.

Second Heat—The pool selling now changed somewhat the field selling for $50, Richmond, Jr., $33, and Moro $11. Big Jim again went to the front when the word was given, but he lost his feet on the turn and Moro passed him, followed by Lucy Abbott, Melrose being in fourth place. When Big Jim caught he was at Melrose's wheel, Kitty Almont and Richmond trailing behind. As they entered the straight Nolan saw there was no chance to win with Big Jim, so he pulled him up and took last place. Moro won easily, Lucy Abbott second, Melrose third, Kitty Almont fourth, and Richmond, Jr., fifth. Time, 2:27½. Mutuals paid $18.

Third Heat—John A. Goldsmith now appeared behind Richmond, Jr., and the change was perceptible at once. Richmond winning, with Moro a close second, the burst of speed displayed by Richmond proving him a rare good one for a "green un". Kitty Almont was third, Melrose fourth, Lucy Abbott fifth and Big Jim sixth. Time, 2:24½.

Fourth Heat.—Richmond was again an established favorite he bringing $50 to $8 for Moro and $6 for the field. It took several attempts to get them away, but at last they got a good start and the favorite took a commanding lead almost immediately which he kept to the head of the backstretch where Hickok brought Moro along very fast and reached the head of Richmond, but could not pass him as Goldsmith let out another link, the black horse having plenty in reserve. Down the homestretch he had the heat won, and came under the wire two lengths inadvance of Moro, Melrose third, Kitty Almont fourth, Lucy Abbott fifth and Big Jim. Time, 2:24½.

The horses were called out for the fifth heat but it was so dark that while scoring up the judges announced that the race was postponed until Monday. Several of the horses were well under way, Lucy Abbott going the whole course and Pete Brandow received a cheer when finishing. The crowd separated, very few having any idea of the catastrophe on the backstretch. Big Jim had been going so strong round the turn that Nolan could not pull him up and just before the three-eighths he staggered and swerved to the inside fence. Nolan pulled hard on the other rein and turned him round, when he fell, dead, facing the reverse way of the track, having broken a blood vessel. The loss is a severe one to Mr. Clawson, the horse being valued at $3,000. He was by Gen. Benton, dam Dame Winnie (dam of Palo Alto 2:13¾) and was eight years old.

MONDAY.

Continuation of Special Race.

Fifth Heat—Only a few spectators turned out to see the unfinished race, which was called up promptly at three o'clock on Monday afternoon before a moderate though thoroughly representative gathering, among whom the principal topic of conversation was Big Jim's death. Mr. Clawson, the owner, and Nolan, the driver of the horse, were the recipients of many expressions of condolence and regret. Nolan was very much cut up, for the horse had been educated by him, and to him the credit should be given, for, as Clawson said, he had taught Big Jim how to trot and to trot fast, no one else having handled him during his career, in which he won two matches and two races, and now was going so well that 2:20 or better would have been his mark this fall. Nolan, who graduated with the best trotting-horse trainers in the world, is a particularly painstaking handler, and his work is gradually being more appreciated. At present among his string are some that show great promise, the most prominent being a good looking black stallion, Guy Davis, by Erwin Davis, the property of Mr. Ayres; a bay mare by Dan Voorhees (2:23½), dam Nellie, a thoroughbred mare; a bay gelding by Goldnut; Birdie, a big gelding by Sultan (2:24), dam by Sterling, 6223; and a chestnut pacer by Robert McGregor, 2:17½.

There were now five horses left in the race and Killips most seductive tones could not elicit a solitary bid when the horses came ont at 3 o'clock with McDowell behind Kitty Almont. They scored up half a dozen times and then received the word with all five in a good line. Melrose was the first to fall out, breaking ere fifty yards had been covered, and on the first turn Moro went all to pieces and dropped back behind Melrose: Meanwhile Kitty Almont and Richmond Jr. were trotting steadily and fast, the mare having a shade the worst of it until they swung into the backstretch, when she trotted in grand style and crowding Richmond caused him to break and lose six lengths. Kitty kept going well and led five lengths round the turn, Richmond second three lengths in front of Abbott.

Richmond was now trotting fast, and slowly gained on Kitty, getting to her wheel half way down the stretch and up to her head at the drawgate, but the effort told on him, and he broke again, Kitty winning the heat by three lengths, Richmond second, seven lengths in front of Melrose, who had passed Lucy Abbott in the stretch, Moro was a bad last. When the time was announced, 2:22¾, everyone congratulated the owner, J. H. White, on the good record his mare had obtained.

Sixth Heat—Messrs. Killip & Whitehead contrived to get a few pools sold at $60 for Richmond, $12 for the field. Richmond, Kitty Almont and Moro were the only three eligible to start, and they received the word at the first attempt, with Kitty a shade in front trotting fast, and going right out, was two lengths in front when fairly round the turn, with Richmond half a length in advance of Moro. Goldsmith urged Richmond, and under pressure he drew up to Kitty, being only a neck behind at the half, and stayed there all the way round the turn, getting level at the drawgate when the mare broke, running under the wire a nose in front of Richmond, who took the heat, with Kitty Almont second and Moro, who was only two lengths back, third. Time, 2:22¾.

SUMMARY.

Bay District Track, Oct. 12th and 14, 1889.—Postponed trot for special class. Purse $600.

L. J. Rose's b g Richmond Jr., by Richmond, dam by Cal. Belmont.....Goldsmith	5	5	1	1	2	1
J. H. White's bl m Kittie Almont, by Tilton Almont, dam by Hamlet.....McDowell	2	4	3	4	1	2
R. T. Carroll's bl m Moro, by Pasha, dam by Messenger Duroc.....Hickok	4	1	2	2	5	3
C. W. Smith's ch m Lucy Abbott, by Abbottsford, dam by Whipple's Hambletonian.....Brandow	6	2	5	5	3
John Green's br g Melrose, by Sultan, dam by Tenbrook.....Green	3	3	4	3	4
L. E. Clawson's br g Big Jim, by General Benton, dam Dame Winnie.....Nolan	1	6	6	6	died

Time, 2:23½, 2:27½, 2:24½, 2:24¾, 2:22¾, 2:24¼.

WEDNESDAY.

The weather being fairly good a large crowd was expected to witness the free-for-all and four year old races, but contrary to expectations only a small assemblage congregated at the track, and they were almost entirely horsemen, among whom in addition to those mentioned before were Messrs. L. U. Shippee, the well known Stockton Director and owner of a large stable of horses; Harry Agnew, the Honolulu trotting horse owner; N Coombs, one of the Coombs Bros.' of Napa and part owner of Lillie Stanley; Thos. Seales, one of the executors of the Seales estate, owners of Alfred S; C. H. Corey, of San Jose, the owner of Almont Patchen and others; George Van Gordon, superintendent of Senator Hearst's San Simeon Ranch; Bob Milroy, Van Ness' old partner; Frank Baldwin, the energetic Fresno managing director; Fred Loeber, the St. Helena owner of trotters; T. C. Snider, the owner of Creole; H. S. Hogoboom, the well known owner and driver from Eureka; Worth Ober and Harry Helman just returned from Visalia; Judges Levy and Lawler represented the bench; John McCord, president of the San Jose Jockey Club; Nick Steiner, whose Bush-street resort is the popular horseman's lounging place; Mr. O'Kane, the well known horse outfitter; Messrs. Kingsley and Schwartz deserted their pool rooms and were on the ground; and Dr. W. F. Egan, the tall vet was to be seen; Captain Travers, Senator Moffitt, John Rowen, William Foote, the well known counsellor; Wm. Dunphy, the cattle king, Captain Egan, Mr. Edwards, A. T. Schweer, L. E. Crellen, Jos. Diamond, R. F. Morrow, the former owner of Elector, Alex McCord, Col Pullen, Captain Hamley, A. T. Hatch, the well known fruit grower and owner of Guide and other promising trotters; Colonel Morehead from Livermore Valley; Captain Johnson drove his neat team out each day; Colonel Gregory, the popular greyhound owner, was as usual smiling.

Senator McCarthy was combining political discussion with trotting horse doctrines; Mr. McBain, of Menlo Park; Phil Crimmins, the well known politician; D. Biggs, of Biggs' Station, while late in the afternoon Joseph Cairn Simpson, at one time owner of Marion (dam of El Rio Rey and Emperor of Norfolk) and other well known race horses, while Anteeo and Antevolo are recalled by all trotting men.

The first race on the programme was the trot for four year olds with three paid up entries. Direct was made a big favorite and won in straight heats 2:19½ each time. The Free-for-all was the heaviest betting race witnessed so far during the meeting, the Montana Stable and followers losing a barrel of money on Lord Byron who was easily defeated by Alfred S. in straight heats, and the crowd dispersed at a very early hour.

Four Year Olds, Trotting.

The first race called up at one o'clock sharp was the four year old trotting stake, with three horses left in. Direct was the public favorite and sold readily first choice for $50 and $60 to the field's $20 and $25. In the field were Balkan and Hazel Wilkes, a strong tip being out on the latter, but she failed to come up to expectation, for Direct won in straight heats in singularly—2:19½ each time. When the trio came out for the first heat Balkan had the pole, and after scoring up several times the word was given with all well together and under way. Direct, trotting rapidly, took the inside position on the first turn and passed the quarter a good length in front of Hazel, who was an open length in advance of Balkan. The little black trotted very steadily, passing the half in 1:10½, two lengths in front of Hazel, while Balkan had dropped back six lengths. Hazel closed the gap a little on the turn, but could never get on even terms with Direct, who won as McDowell pleased, with Balkan at the drawgate when he went under the wire. Time 2:19½.

Mutuals paid $6.55.

Second Heat—Direct was made a red-hot favorite, speculators tumbling over one another to bet $50 to $8 or $10 for the field. The word was given at the third score, with Balkan two lengths in the rear. Direct at once showed the way to Wilkes, and going in his well-known resolute style, passed the quarter a length in front, with Balkan ten lengths in the rear. Andy woke the black up, and going the next quarter in thirty-three seconds, had two lengths the best of Hazel at the half in 1:10½, Balkan a long way in the rear. Direct increased his lead round the turn and came down the stretch, easily winning by three lengths. Hazel second and Balkan nearly a distance back. Time 2:19½.

Mutuals paid $6.20.

Third Heat—The third heat was called up after the first heat of the free-for-all, and as pools were selling rapidly on it, the four year old was not touched. After scoring on e the word was given with all three well in line. Goldsmith drove Hazel from the start and hung on to Direct, who was only a neck in front at the quarter, with Balkan four lengths in the rear. Direct drew out a little up the backstretch, passing the half a big length in front, and increasing his lead round the turn, swung into the homestretch three lengths in front. Hazel came right up to him before the seven-eighths pole, but when Andy shook his whip Direct shot out two lengths in front again. Goldsmith drove hard the rest of the way, and Direct caught the whip one, two, three inside the drawgate, and though he responded well, evidently did not relish the race, winning only by a neck from Hazel, with Balkan six lengths back. Time 2:19½.

SUMMARY.

Bay District Track. Four year old trotting stake.

Pleasanton Stock Farm's blk h Direct, Director—Echora.....McDowell	1	1	1
San Mateo Stock Farm's ch m Hazel Wilkes, Guy Wilkes—Blanche.....Goldsmith	2	2	2
Irvin Ayres' b h Balkan, Mambrino Wilkes—Fanny Fern.....Hinds	3	3	3

Time—2:19½, 2:19½, 2:19½.

Free-for-all Trotting.

With Palo Alto and Dawn declared out, the free-for-all looked like a good thing for Alfred S, who easily obtained a record of 2:18 at Fresno, but the Montana contingent evidently fancied Lord Byron, for pool selling was brisk with Alfred S choice at $250 to $115 Lord Byron, and $12 Lillie Stanley. Very little time was wasted on the start, and all three left the wire together. Lord Byron hit his leg and broke before the turn, dropping back a long way in the rear, while Alfred and Lillie trotted pretty evenly round the turn; the gelding sharpened up, passing the quarter with daylight between him and the mare, while Byron was fully fifty yards back. Byron was on his best behaviour up the backstretch, and closed the gap fast, and when the homestretch was reached was only sixteen lengths behind Lillie, while Alfred was going easily, two lengths in front. Hickok looked back once in the straight, and seeing there was no danger, jogged home two lengths in front. Byron was almost level with Lillie at the drawgate, but breaking, lost the place by two lengths. Time 2:24. Mutuals paid $6.10.

Second Heat—The poor time made in the first heat and the burst of speed displayed by Byron caused pools to sell at a big rate. Alfred brought $470, the field $105, and any quantity of pools were sold at that rate of odds, and with almost as much money in every ticket. The word was received after the second score, and with Alfred and Byron both trotting steadily and fast, Stanley was soon in the rear. Hickok took the gelding a length in front of Byron, and watching him all the way up the backstretch, kept his advantage, and on the turn drew out still further. Quinton drove Byron hard down the stretch and got to within half a length of Hickok (who had a lot in reserve) inside the distance, when Byron left his feet and Hickok again won easily. Lillie was only just inside the flag. Time, 2:18½. Mutuals paid $6.45.

Third Heat—No one could be persuaded to bet a cent against Alfred S., so the box was locked up and the mutuals closed. When the trio scored up the first time, Lillie broke just before the wire and they were rung back. The next time they came up level and received the word, Lillie was not going fast enough for the other two, and was pulled in behind Alfred, who led Byron a length round the turn, and though the latter came up to his neck half way up the stretch, Hickok let out a link, and was a length in front at the half. Byron stayed right on his wheel round the turn, and when in the homestretch Quinton made his effort and drove the stallion for all he was worth, while Hickok sat still watching him, and without once touching Alfred, won by half a length, which could easily have been made seven or eight. Lillie was forty yards behind, pulling up when Goldsmith found that pursuit was useless. Time, 2:19½.

SUMMARY.

Bay District Track.—Free for all; purse $2,000.

O. A. Hickok's b g Alfred S., Elmo—Flora Marshall....Hickok	1	1	1
Marcus Daly's b h Lord Byron, General Benton—May Day.....Quinton	3	2	2
Coombs & Salisbury's b m Lillie Stanley, Whippleton—Dolly McMann.....Goldsmith	2	3	3

Time, 2:24, 2:18½, 2:19½.

The official judges—Messrs. H. M. LaRue, F. Coombs and J. H. White; L. J Rose taking Mr. Coombs' place during the free-for-all. Timers—Messrs. Ariel Lathrop, Chris Smith and Capt. N. T. Smith. Clerk of the course, etc.—Wilfred Page.

Racing at Seattle.

FIRST DAY, SEPTEMBER 26TH.

Running—Three-eighths dash; purse $250.

Sweigert's ch g Little Dick, 115.....Backus	1
A. Hall's wh g White Cloud, 115.....Holman	2
C. Clancy's s g Sugar in the Barrel, 115.....Newington	3
G. Ross' br g Bangum, 115.....Stevens	0
H. S. Anderson's rn g Blue Dick, 115.....Anderson	0

Time, 0:35.

Mutuals paid $18.75; betting, 4 to 1 against.

Trotting and pacing; 2:32 class; purse $250.

G. A. Small's blk h Henry B.....Enos	2	1	1	1
C. Clancy's blk m Rosie C.....Turner	1	5	4	3
T. Shaw's blk g Dart.....Langston	3	3	2	2
D. T. Beal's b m Mollie C.....Bunker Sr.	4	4	3	5
Mr. Lynn's br g Billy Egbert.....Bunker Jr.	5	5	4	4

Time, 2:38, 2:39, 2:34, 2:35.

Running—Three-quarter mile; purse $200.

R. Morris' Murphy.....Holman	1
R. Donaca's J. M. R.....Parker	2
B. S. Anderson's Little Maud.....Anderson	3
S. Coyle's Daisy A.....Garrison	0
W. Bunker's Cyclone.....Bunker	0

Time, 1:18½.

Mutuals paid $23.75; betting, 8 to 1 against.

SECOND DAY.

Running—Half mile and repeat; purse $250.

R. Donaca's Bingo.....Glover	1	2	1
R. Morris' Ben L.....Holman	2	1	2
S. Coyle's Daisy A.....Garrison	4	3	0
M. Costello's Red Bird.....Newington	3	4	0

Time, 0:51, 0:52, 0:53.

Mutuals paid $9.75, $20.25, $8; betting, 2 to 1 against.

Trotting—2:40 class; purse $200.

McLeod's Delcoe.....Wood	1	2
John Cort's Fleeta F.....Connors	2	1
Stone's Ivanhoe.....Stone	3	3

Time, 2:41, 2:44½.

Mutuals paid $14 11.

Postponed on account of rain.

Isador Cohnfeld is suing Dan McCarthy in the New York City Court for $2,000 which he says he is behind in a horse trade made with the California dealer. Cohnfeld says that on September 16, at Fleetwood, he gave in exchange for the horse known as Ned Fay, a horse and mare together worth $1,300, and $700 cash. Ned Fay was guaranteed to be only five years old, as sound as a new silver dollar and a first-class roadster. He declares that the horse fell far behind the warranty, and that when he proposed trading back McCarthy would not listen to any such proposition. An attachment was granted against the property of McCarthy in the suit, and Judge Ehrlich denied a motion to vacate it.—Horseman.

Racing at Salinas.

The weather was splendid last week and quite a large crowd turned out, every one being much pleased with the sport provided. On Friday Jesse D. Carr, O. H. Willoughby and H. S. Ball were in the judges' stand. The unfinished race only required one heat, Albert winning easily in 2:43½. The first race on the regular programme had three entries and took six heats to finish the race. Lee, who sold for little or nothing in the pools, broke badly in the first three heats, but settling down in the last three, just naturally outstayed and outtrotted the other two. The 2:35 class was easily won by St. Patrick, driven by Donathan, who lost the third heat and then took the fourth and race. The half mile and repeat had to be postponed owing to darkness until Saturday, when Jesse D. Carr was joined in the stand by Messrs. M. Lynn and A. Wideman. The half mile and repeat was at once called up and three horses came out Lady R was made favorite but lost the first heat, not making much of an effort. In the second there was only about a neck between the first three. Lady R was given the heat, though most people thought that Kitty C won. In the third heat Lady R won readily by two lengths. The free-for-all trot was easily won by John L, a son of Junio. The novelty race was not very interesting. Grover Cleveland took the quarter and Rondout the other four.

THIRD DAY.

Sherwood Park, Salinas City, Oct. 10, 1889. Running, 600 yards and repeat. Purse $150.

Cockrill Bros.' br cCaptain Al, 2,Kingston—in Black Maria.....Hennesey	2	1	2	1
S. N. Matthews' sor h Grover Cleveland, a. Starr King—by Orphan Boy.....Alviso	3	2	1	2
M. P. Kelly's br h Roundout, 3, Kingston—by Ironclad.....Fred Ross	1	5	3	3
Wm. Pinkerton's b g Jesse, a, Sir Garnet—Unknown.....	4	3	5	ro
James Bardin's b f Effie C, 3, Kingston — Unknown.....Cota	5	4	4	ro

Time, 0:32½, 0:32½, 0:32½, 0:32½.

SUMMARY.

Sherwood Park, Salinas City, Oct. 10, 1889. 3:00 class. Purse $150.

James B. Iverson's br g Alex. S, 4, Mambrino Jr.—Salinas Belle	1	1	1
H. Falkenburg's br h Monte Cristo, Monte Cristo—Kittie....	2	2	2
Frank Bullene's sor g Sorrel Frank, Fred Patchen—Unknown	3	3	3

Time, 3:04½, 3:03, 3:05.

SUMMARY.

Sherwood Park, Salinas, Oct. 10th.—2:45 class. Purse $150.

L. Hansen's b s Albert, Vermont Jr.—by Dan Voorhees.....	1	1	1
Robt. Orr's s m Mary D., Brown Jug—unknown.....	2	2	2
R. S. R. Clayton's b s Fred Grant, Gen. Grant—by Rattler....	3	3	3

Time, 2:46, 2:44½, 2:43½.

Concluding heat trotted October 11, 1889.

Sherwood Park, Salinas City, Oct. 11th.—2:35 class. Purse $200.

Geo. Theuerkauf's ch g Lee,4,by Gen. Lee, dam by Belmont.....P. McCartney	2	2	2	1	1	1
N. N. Craig's b h Acrobat by Sterling, dam s. t. b. by Tom Hal.....N. N. Craig	3	1	1	2	3	3
J. B. Iverson's b g Mambrino Boy, 5, by Carr's Mambrino, dam Salinas Belle.....Jas. Dwain	1	3	3	3	2	2

Time, 2:31½, 2:29, 2:33½, 2:31½, 2:34½, 2:32½.

Sherwood Park, Salinas City, Oct. 11th.—2:45 class. Purse $150.

W. H. Wisecarver's b h St. Patrick, 4, Carr's Mambrino—by Dan Voorhees.....J. W. Donathan	1	1	2	1
W. E. Peck's d g Sport, unknown.....P. McCartney	3	2	1	2
Sargent Bros.' b m Monterey Damsel (pacer), Mountain Chief—unknown.....Jas. Dwain	2	3	3	3

Time, 2:35½, 2:39½, 2:42½, 2:39.

Sherwood Park, Salinas City, Oct. 12th.—Running. Half mile and repeat. Purse $100

P. Collins' b m Lady R., Wildidle—Lady Williamson..Alviso	3	1	1
Kavanaugh Bros.' b m Kitty C., Kingston—Lady Golden..Ross	1	2	2
Wm. Pinkerton's b g Jesse, Sir Garmt—unknown....Bresette	2	3	ro

Time, 0:50, 0:50, 0:52.

Sherwood Park, Salinas City, Oct. 12, 1889.—Free-for-all trotting Purse, $250.

Jack Cochran's ch m Alloreta, Altoona—Nellie..Jack Cochran	1	1	1
Jas. H. Harris' ch m Maud H., Carr's Mambrino—by Dan Voorhees.....J. W. Donathan	2	2	2
Wm. Chalmer's b g Billy C., Unknown—Unknown, ...Ad-.....Hicox	3	3	3

Time, 2:38, 2:28, 2:30½.

Sherwood Park, Salinas City, Oct. 12, 1889.—Two-year-old district trotting mile heats. Purse, $150.

George Graves' br c John L., Junio—by Fred Patchen....Jas. H. Harris	3	1	1
Iverson & Vanderherst's b c Alfred G.,Junio—by Oliver Cromwell.....Jas. Dwain	1	2	2
A. D. Shaw's bl f Diana Wilkes, General Wilkes—Dottie S...H. .....Falkenburg	2	3	3

Time, 3:00, 2:50½, 2:50.

Sherwood Park, Salinas City, Oct. 12, 1889.—Running, Novelty race, 1½ miles; first four quarters $25 each, last quarter $50.

M. P. Kelly's br h Roundout, Kingston—by Ironclad.....Hennesey	1
Wm. Pinkerton's b g Jesse, Sir Garnet—Unknown.....Bresette	2
Wm. Pinkerton's b f Pignet, Sir Garnet—Unknown....Ed. Conrads	0
S. N. Matthew's ch h Grover Cleveland, Starr King—by Orphan Boy.....Fred Ross	0
James Bardin's b m Effie C., Kingston—Unknown.....Fred Cota	0

Time, 2:19.

The final stock parade and award of premiums took place on Saturday, and was worthy of the celebrated stock country around Salinas, cattle being particularly good in the beef classes. After the stock parade the Ladies' Tournament took place, and the grounds were filled with daintily attired ladies and visitors from all parts of the State. After the usual exercises, Jesse D. Carr, Esq., in a few well-chosen and appropriate remarks, announced the result of the competition:

Miss Maud Wisecarver, first prize, $25.
Miss Lottie Templeton, second prize, $20.
Miss May Patton, third prize, $15.
Miss Minnie Gilkey, fourth prize, $10.
Miss Herva Hickman, fifth prize, $5.
Miss Iva McLean, sixth prize, $3.

AWARD OF PREMIUMS.

THOROUGHBREDS.

Best stallion three years old and over $5, M. P. Kelley's Roundout; best stallion two years old $2.50, Chas. Cockrill's Captain Al; best sucking colt $2, Jesse D. Carr's Dixie; best three-year-old and over mare $8, Chas. Cockrill's Daisy D.

ROADSTERS.

Best stallion or gelding four years old and over $10, J. B. Iverson's Mambrino Boy; three years old $7.50, Abel Watson's Erwin Davis Jr.; two years old $5. Jessie D. Carr's Gabilan; best mare three years old $7.50, P. M. Jack's Lady St. Clair; one year old $5, P. Kilburn's Aunty Wilkes.

HORSES FOR ALL PURPOSES.

Best stallion four years old and over $15, James Storm's Nonpareil; two years old $7.50, P. Kilburn's Mariano; one year old $1.25, C. E. Callihan's Pride; sucking colt $3, P. Kilburn's Alfred; mares four years old and over, P. Kilburn's Maud; gelding four years old and upwards $10, Wm. Robson's Charley, second prize $5, J B. Iverson's Kingsley; best mare four years old with colt, J. B. Iverson's Salinas Belle.

CARRIAGE HORSES.

Best span carriage horses $10, Jesse D. Carr's Merchant and mate; single buggy horse $2.50, H. DeGroat's Grover Cleveland; saddle horse $2.50, H. DeGroat's Joe.

The judges recommend special premiums for Wm. Pinkerton's Jesse, not entered in time.

GRADED DRAFT HORSES.

Best mare four years old and over $7.50, James Storm's Nellie; best sucking colt $2.50, George Fiese's George.

SWEEPSTAKES.

Best stallion with four or more of his colts, $10, William Robson's bay horse Pollock; best mare with four or more of her colts $10, J. B. Iverson's Salinas Belle; best stallion of any breed or age $15, James Storm's Nonpariel; best mare of any breed or age $15, P. Kilburn's Aunty Wilkes; best colt of any breed foaled in 1889 $5, J. R. Hebbron's Bonnie B; best gelding of any breed or age $5, J. B. Iverson's Mambrino Boy.

DURHAM CATTLE.

Best bull three years old $10, John Sexton's St. Nicholas; second prize, $5, Matt Williams' Fausly Duke; best bull two years old $3.75, M. Lynn's Parnell; best bull one year old $3.75, Matt Williams' Benjamin Harrison; best bull calf $2.50, Matt Williams' Forest King; best cow four years old $10, M. Lynn's Forest Rose the 8th; second prize $5, Matt Williams' Flora the 5th; best cow three years old $7 50, Matt Williams' Flora the 8th; second prize $5, M. Lynn's Nora the 12th; best heifer two years old $3 70, M. Lynn's Forest Rose the 12th; best heifer one year old $5, Matt William's Nora's Beauty; second prize $3, M. Lynn's Flora the 10th; best heifer calf $5, Matt William's Nora the 14th; second prize $3, M. Lynn's Flora the 11th.

HERDS—DURHAM.

First prize $15, Matt Williams; second prize $10, M. Lynn.

The committee recommended special premiums for David Jack's Herefords, Johnny and Mary.

Carson Summaries.

Carson, Oct. 9th, 1889. ⅝ mile dash. Purse $75.

Billy D	1
Rock	2
Black Oak	3
Frank B	0
Lexie F	0
Butcher Boy	0
Shamrock	0

Time :37½.

Carson, Oct. 9th, 1889. 1 mile. Purse $250.

Nerva.....Johnson	1
Dave Douglas.....Dennison	2
Jno Gray.....C. Winchell	3

Time—1:45.

Half mile dash. Purse $250.

Applause	1
Rondo	2
Painkiller	3
Lookout	0

Time—:48½.

Carson, Oct. 9th.—Special Trot.

Victor.....2	1	1	1
Rabe.....1	3	2	2
Jno. Hayward.....3	2	3	3

Time, 2:28, 2:28½, 2:27½, 2:26.

Carson, Oct. 9th.—Pace.

Costello.....Tryon	2	2	1	1	1
Prince.....Trefrey	3	1	3	2	2
Sam Lewis.....Sweeney	1	2	2	2	3

Time, 2:34, 2:36, 2:36, 2:37, 2:40.

Five-eighths of a mile dash for two-year-olds.

Winters' Stable Florence A	1
Winters Stable's Chan Haskell	2
Mowhawk, for Herzog	3

Carson, October 9th.—2:35 class. Purse $400.

Nevada.....Levy	5	1	1	0	3	1
Dinah.....Trefrey	2	3	2	0	1	2
Ouida S.....Tryon	1	2	3	3	2	wd
Almont.....Downer	3	dis
Alpha.....Sweeney	4	dis

Time, 2:34½, 2:36, 2:36, 2:37½, 2:39, 2:38.

Carson, Oct. 11th.—Five-eighths of a mile dash. Purse $200.

Billy D	1
Condor	2
Rock	3
Minnie B	0

Time, 1:05.

2:50 trot.

Ordway	1	2	1	3	1
Julian G	3	1	2	1	2
Snowslide	2	3	3	2	3

Time, 2:56½, 2:52, 2:53½, 2:54, 2:50½.

Carson, Oct. 11th.—Match race trot.

L. Almont.....Downer	2	1	1	1
Hancock.....Sullivan	1	2	2	2

Time, 2:41, 2:43, 2:41, 2:40.

2:24 class trot. Purse $500.

Jno Hayward.....Levy	3	3	3	2	1	1	1
Argent.....Walton	2	1	1	3	3	2	2
Rabe.....Denison	1	2	2	1	2	3	3
Sparkle.....Doherty	dis

Time, 2:31½, 2:32, 2:31, 2:25, 2:30 2:30, 2:33.

Carson, Oct. 12th.—2:20 pace and trot.

Victor	3	1	1
Edwin C	1	dis
Little Hope	4	2	dis
Creole	2	3	dis

Time, 2:28, 2:27, 2:27.

Five-eighths of a mile. Purse $100.

Painkiller	1
Mohawk	2
Nabeau	3

Time, 1:02

Carson, Oct. 12th, 1889. ¾ dash. Purse $150.

Flora A.....C. Winchell	1
Painkiller.....Samuels	2
Nerva.....Johnson	3

Time—1:16½.

Six hundred yards and repeat.

Dewdrop	1	1
Hawthorne	2	2
Jno Allen	dr

Time—:34 :32.

Carson, Oct. 12th, 1889. One-half mile and repeat.

Condor	1	3
Minnie B	3	1
Rock	2	2
Lexie F	4	4

Time—:50, :50½.

Postponed until Monday morning;

On Saturday night the judges, having received information that the race was not being run out on its merits, declared the race and all bets off.

James Bowers, brother of Mr. Bowers of the Golden Eagle Sacramento, has been in California for some months and has ultimately decided to stay here as the climate suits him. As a driver and trainer, he has a good reputation back East, and last week he purchased from J. McCord, Sunny Knoll, Sacramento, a brown filly foal, (sister to Mary Lou 2:25½, and Ned Winslow pacer 2:17½); a bay yearling stallion by Tom Benton dam Lady Talmage by McCracken's Black Hawk and a chestnut gelding two years old by Tom Benton dam Fannie by McCracken's Black Hawk. Next season Mr. Bowers who has been driving Tom Benton for some time should have quite a nice stable.

Grim's Gossip.

Mr. M. Salisbury has refused $28,000 for his inimitable filly Margaret S.

The Pacific Coast Trotting Horse Breeders Association is already an assured thing for the future.

Mr. James Galway, owner of the Preakness Stable, on October the 8th, signed Martin as his principal jockey for the season of 1890.

If Hamilton, Winchell and Barnes figure in the saddle next month at the Blood Horse meeting, they should prove a drawing card.

Elkwood, the Suburban winner in 1888, with 119 lbs. up was sold to Mr. Kitson for $5,000, and will stand at the Erdenheim Stud Farm next season.

Four horses have already fallen dead on the Fair Grounds track at Lexington, Ky. The last to go below was a two-year-old son of Cuyler, called Tom Forman.

Margaret S. if not already at home, will be within a day or two. She is accompanied by Roy Wilkes the celebrated pacer who will winter on the Pacific Coast.

Eastern gossipers say that August Belmont, the well known banker will import an English Jockey for next season. Garrison, it, is said will ride for John A. Morris.

Chitabob bv Robert, the Devil out of Jennie Howlett, ran second to Donovan for the Lancashire Plate and is for sale at £10.000 according to the London Sporting Life.

One singular feature of the four-year-old trot on Wednesday was that Direct, who led all the way, passed the half in 1:10½, and went under the wire in 2:19½ in every heat.

Axtel, 2:12 has been sold to an Illinois and Indiana syndicate for the reputed sum of $105,000. His new owners can get the amount back in service fees in less than four years.

The Maltese Villa Stable is almost certain to be represented at the Blood Horse Fall Meeting. Geraldine if in form, will probably astonish some of the quarter-horse contingent.

Junio received second money in the National Stallion Stakes, beating Dawn for the place. His time was but slightly slower than that made by the winner, being 2:20¾ and 2:20¼.

There is every reason to believe that Los Angeles and Caliente' with possibly a couple of two year olds, will represent the Santa Anita stable at the forthcoming Blood Horse meeting.

Col. Thornton's James Madison (Anteeo—Lucy Patchen) is working very well at Pleasanton, and Swann will bring him up to the Bay for a record before the year is out. His best mile so far has been 2:27.

Andy McDowell handled Kitty Almont with the skill of a master hand in the finish of the special race on Monday, the record he obtained for Kitty Almont, particularly pleasing all the friends of J. H. White.

A number of inquiries have been made relative to the breeding of Constantine, recently sold by T. C. Anglin to W. H. Crawford for $20,000. He is by Wilkes Boy, dam Kincora by Mambrino Patchen.

Jack Dowd will start to California soon with Sunday, Joe Bowers, White Stockings and Regent Jr. Jack says: "I will beat Geraldine or go broke." After the fall meeting down there his stable will go to New Orleans.—Rural Spirit.

It is now rumored in Eastern horse circles that Sam Gamble has offered $10,000 for Rosa Wilkes 2:18¼. This game daughter of the imortal George Wilkes is in foal to Nutwood 2:18¼. This would be a great addition to the brood mares of California.

R. H. Newton and his pacing horse Thomas Rider, was suspended by the American Association, at the instance of the member at Petaluma. However, the ban has been removed, and both owner and horse have been restored to good standing.

Casey Winchell was one of the attractions at Reno. Mr. Winters sent back for Winchell to ride at the meeting, as it was improbable whether El Rio Rey would start again this season, and if he did one of the crack Eastern riders could easily be obtained.

J. S. Trask, Prescott, Wyn., bred and raised the mare Kitty Van, that ran the half mile and repeat at Fresno, beating Susie S , in the good time of 49½ and 49. She is by Vanderbilt, son of Norfolk, dam April Fool, by Waterloo, son of imp. Yorkshire.

Frank Lowell of Sacramento, is in Kentucky, attending to Fallis 2:23, whom he leased to A. J. Alexander, of Woodburn, Kentucky. If he does not dispose of the stallion he will return to California with him and prepare him for a better record after next season's stud duties.

El Rio Rey is a candidate for the rich American Derby of 1890, although an erroneous statement to the contrary has been widely published. We learn from Secretary Brewster that Theodore Winters made four entries for this event, as follows: El Rio Rey, Chan Haskell, Barrett and Rascal.

Scott Quinton will leave for Bitter Root Valley, Montana, early next month, and winter there. There had been a general impression that the trotters would stay on the coast, but Mr. Quinton says emphatically no, they will not; the winter is mild enough in the valley for us.

The three year old Halcyon, by Fallis, dam Girofle, has had his name changed and will hereafter be called "Fresno." He will be taken down to the Southern City of the San Joaquin and there stood for stallion service. He is a grandly bred young fellow and should command a large amount of patronage.

It is doubtful if Hanover will ever see the post again. His tendon is bowed in the very leg that was operated upon a year ago, and he cannot be trained. The Dwyers will probably sell him if they can get their price. If not, they will try and train him again next season, although it is doubtful if it can be done successfully.

Hickok's face never gives much indication of a good thing, in fact he could probably give the Sphinx seven pounds and a beating. On Wednesday his face was perfectly immobile, and while Quinton was driving hard down the stretch the veteran was as cool and collected as if out for exercise, and that was really about all it was.

On one of the Nevada tracks during the last few weeks, in a race they had a horse who would only go the reverse way of the track so the judges obligingly started them off that way.

Senator Hearst returned on Wednesday night from the East. He will probably not start anything at the fall meeting of the Blood Horse Associotion. He says, weather and track good, Gorgo can beat all comers.

Signorina (St Simon—Star of Portice) the winner of the Middle Park Plate, the crack English two year old race which is run over the Bretby Stakes Course at Newmarket has now won six races and has never yet suffered defeat she carried 126 lbs. in her last race.

Some one suggested at Carson, during the progress of a race that a change of drivers would be advisable. The judges agreed, and McConnell's name was mentioned, but the judges said no, what's the matter with Buster, we know he is a good driver, and don't know anything of your man McConnell.

History repeats itself in many ways, and so does racing. People say there is no such thing as luck. Clawson owned La Grange, who obtained a record of 2:23½, and then died on the track. Big Jim, after a careful education, gets the same record with ease (2:23½), and drops dead on the track before the race is over. "Sic eunt fata hominum."

Ormonde should be in his Southern home ere this. South America spares neither money nor time when procuring good horses, and the magnificent son of Ben d'Or and game old Lily Agnes should, although bad in his wind, make a good stallion. Worse roarers than he have not transmitted the propensity here. Prince Charlie, to wit.

Some men are born lucky, and some are born rich, and Johnny Goldsmith belongs to the former class. On Wednesday afternoon, he lost a valuable diamond, and he had no idea where the brilliant could have been dropped, but later in the afternoon, one of the stable boys found the missing stone among the bedding in one of the stalls.

Most of the leading drivers and owners express themselves as highly gratified with the success of the trotting meetings this year, and predict a bright future for trotting sport. The present season has shown a large increase in attendance as well as in the number of horses and size of the fields, while the excitement has been greater, and the speculation heavier than in previous years.

A. T. Hatch had his aptly named stallion Guide (Director —Imogene) worked out for the last time this season. The good looking black worked in his best style, the fastest heat was 2:27. Next year Guide will be sent for a better record and should easily get one near 2:20. Mr Hatch has several promising youngsters including one by Sidney dam by Irvington and another by Guide out of an Admiral mare.

Tom Benton, the sire of Ned Winslow pacer 2:17¼, and Mary Lou four year old 2:25½ has also a pacer three years old who received first money at Quincy to stay out. The three are out of mares by McCracken's Black Hawk. Tom Benton who will be driven for a record next week, is by Gen Benton 1755, dam Nellie Patchen, by G. M. Patchen Jr. 31, grand dam Lize a mare who trotted in Wisconsin in 1859 or 1860.

When the four year old race was over on Wednesday, I had a talk with McDowell about Direct, in answer to the question "how do you account for Direct being beat at Oakland". The shrewd driver looked up and said rather slowly "that race taught me a lesson. I will never again allow friends around my stable, especially where the odds are as large as they were in that race." And that was all he would say.

Among the many horsemen at the opening day of the P. C. T. H. B. A. was J. B. McDonald of Brigadier fame. Jim says he has let up on Fedora for this season. The six year old daughter of Brigadier 797 and American Maid has almost perfect frictionless, untiring action, and will next year make a grand campaigner. Jim says, that although he would sell, $2,500 is the price, and he is not anxious to let her go at that figure.

The best ringer in the running business is, says the Denver Field and Farm, a seven-year-old mare at present running out on grass at Salt Lake City; Cayuse Molly, Gray Molly, or Mormon Ann as she is called, is said to have run three furlongs in 31 seconds. When she beat Kitty Ward at Glenwood Springs the talent took $7000 on the deal. Her owners are said to be meditating a trip to California.

H. S. Woods & Son of Blue Lake are building up a fine blood stock farm, and animals of their breeding are gaining a local reputation. The Humboldt Mail says: "We saw two fine specimens of red polled cattle on Tuesday of last week, raised at their farm, and then on their way to Ferndale, where they had been sold one to J. Davenport, and the other to J. Worthington. The animals were eight months old, large and gentle, and as near alike as two peas."

A Mare mule which has been in use as a work animal, at the ranch of Hon. T. Dywer, near Cheyenne, Wyo., dropped a colt a week ago, and has taken such care of her progeny that the remarkable creature, though under-sized, is healthy and will live. The colt's body is like that of a horse, while the ears are very long and the head mulish. The sire is a light grade French stallion. There are but few other authenticated instance of a mule foaling. A mare mule at the Paris zoological gardens and her colts are driven in a cart.

Friday morning the old racehorse, Billy the Kidd, was shot on a farm near Rossville, says the Nevada State Journal. He had his hind leg cut by barbed wire some weeks ago, and of late he had become so helpless that he was scarcely able to stand up, and Mr. A. D. West, owner of the horse, ordered that the animal be shot. The Kidd figured prominently on the turf several years ago, his forte being long distance races. He was sired by Leinster, and his dam was by Lilly Simpson, being a full brother to Dave Douglass.

Mr. Newton, the well known Australian importer, has sustained a severe loss, in the death of his chestnut colt Derelict imp (Robinson Crusoe—Beatrice). Last Spring at Sacramento, nearly all the horsemen said he had big head, but as there was some doubt in his owner's mind, he was brought to the city, and then removed to Oakland. Last week he died. Mr. Newton says most distinctly from osteo-pyrrhosis or Big head. The colt was offered for sale last Spring for $6,500, and from his exceptional breeding should have been invaluable in the stud, while as a race horse, he ought to have been a good one.

Adonis is rounding to in grand form, and Mr. Hickok is correspondingly happy. As a natural consequence, there has been a deal of badinage between the rival pacing men, and now Mr. Hickok wants to wager $5,000 that he can beat Yolo Maid, and the Montana parties are willing to take it up, if time is given them to get the mare back to proper shape. Mr. Hickok is also willing to bet that Adonis can beat Little Brown Jug's three heats. There is a strong probability that a match will be arranged between Adonis and Yolo Maid.

Shelby Barnes, the little colored jockey commonly known as "Pike" last week signed a contract to ride for "Lucky" Baldwin next year from Feb. 1 to the close of the racing season in the East. The jockey's interests were looked out for in the drawing of the contract by Counselor Abe Hummel. Through him also the difficulties between Baldwin and his first jockey, Isaac Murphy, were satisfactorily adjusted without the necessity of a suit at law. It is generally believed that Murphy will ride for the Dwyers almost exclusively next season.

Since our last issue Axtell has made another new record, the present one being for three-year olds, 2:12, but in making this he also establishes a new stallion record for all ages. The cutting was done at Terre Haute, Indiana, on Friday, October 11th. With good weather here there are at least two horses that can beat Axtell's record, and I only hope my Eastern readers will not think I am puffing California, for there is a chance that before this copy may reach them that not only the three-year old record is beaten, but that the stallion record is also rubbed out.

Mr. S. N. Straube, of Fresno has sold the well-known stallion Pasha 2039, record 2:36, to D. Bryson, of Stockton the consideration being $5.000. Mr. Bryson has secured a valuable horse one that should received a large amount of patronage from the horse breeders of San Joaquin county. Pasha is by Sultan 2:24, dam Madam Baldwin by the Moor; 2nd dam by Ben Lippencott he by Williamson's Belmont. He has the double cross of the Moor blood which has produced great speed in his full brother Bay Rose 2:20¼.

Bookmaking is very shaky as to its legal position in the East. Ike S. Thompson & Co., on October the 8th, received the privilege of making a book at the New-York Jockey Club track on the Jerome Park races. This privilege was granted, for the purpose of accomodating a number of the West Chester track patrons, who do not want to play in the city pool rooms. It was afterwards suggested to Mr. Morris, that the making of such a book might be considered an infraction of the law. Mr. Morris's attorney concluded that it might be so construed and permission was revoked, and the Jerome Park book, which did only a light business, was closed at once.

At the Bucks County Fair grounds at Doylestown, Penn., last week, matrimony and horse-racing were mixed together. A country "galoot" and his best girl were married on the track immediately in front of the grand-stand. The words "go" and "send-off" were given by Justice of the Peace J. Freeman Hendricks. The name of the meek-eyed and gentle filly was Miss Elise D. Heston. The "party of the second part" is known by the name of George Washington Bethel. The judges were not called upon to assign the contestants in the race their respective positions. What next? How the match will terminate remains to be seen.—Philadelphia Item.

Hotspur 3 years old by Joe Daniels dam Sister to Jim Douglas who has been entered in W. B. Todhunters name in several stakes will run in future with the Dennison Bros. as owners. The new firm are also owners of the two year old chestnut filly Minnie B (Prince of Norfolk dam by Wildidle) who is entered in several stakes next year in G. W. Trahern's name. Young Dan and his brother who are about as quiet, careful handy boys as any on the coast should make a good showing with their stable for Hotspur showed his mettle at Sacramento and took about the whole programme up country since, while the filly is one of the most promising at Sacramento and if there is any thing the boys don't know why sure old Dan will tache 'em? and what Dan does not know is not worth knowing.

When the race for the Spirit Futurity Stakes was over President Edwards summoned the owners of the winning colts to the judges' stand, where each in turn was congratulated and presented with his share of the winnings. To the owner of Margaret S. Colonel Edwards said, "You have come a long distance, and Margaret S. has won a race, which was for blood from start to finish. Many predicted that coming from California over a long journey to Cleveland the filly could not be able to win in the chilly climate of Cleveland, but those who have seen this race know that she has trotted as game a race as any horse did and won. Before this race we could recognize no man, but since it is over let us congratulate you." He then presented the cup and a check. The recipient, as did the owner of Palo Alto Belle and Fortuna made brief speeches.

Probably few persons are aware how many thoroughbred horses are annually sent abroad from England. The last volume of the "Stud Book," just issued, shows that during the four years 1885–88 nearly 2,300 English racehorses were dispatched to various quarters of the globe—an average of little short of 600 per annum. Of these the greater number —some 900—went to different parts of South America, to Buenos Ayres in particular, though Monte Video, Brazil, Rio de Janeiro, River Plate and the Argentine Republic have had a considerable share. Only 118 were exported to the United States, and these were for the most part a very moderate lot. To France 91 horses, including some very good ones, and 192 mares, have been dispatched. Germany has imported close upon 700; Holland 20 horses and a dozen mares; India 39 horses and five mares; Italy 21 horses and 18 mares; Poland horses and five mares; Portugal five horses and a dozen mares; Russia 10 in all; and Spain the same number.

At Newmarket, on the 25th ult., the third day of the First October meeting, the Granby Plate of £300, for two-year-olds, run over the Peel course (six furlongs), was won by Mr. August Belmont's chestnut colt Polonius by St. Blaise, out of Polenta, by Macaroni, carrying 117 lbs. and ridden by F. Barrett. It was the colt's first race and he started favorite at 11 to 10 against winning cleverly by a neck from the Duke of Beaufort's brown filly Procids, with three others running. Mr. Belmont shipped Polonius to England last year. He ran as the entry of Mr. Leopold de Rothschild, and was trained at Newmarket by Hayhoe and is nominated for the Derby of 1890. Vigilant, of the London Sportsman, says: "For the Granby Plate the good-looking and conspicious Polonius was made favorite and fully justified the confidence placed in him. He was bred in America at Mr. Belmont's stud and is by St. Blaise, to which horse he bears considerable resemblance, and yesterday's victory should be by no means the only one regarded against his name."

THE GUN.

STATE ASSOCIATION TOURNAMENT.

Colton Wins the Diamond Medal.

A. W. Bruner, Champion.

Last week this paper presented the results of the shooting on the first two days of the San Jose tournament, the hour for going to press precluding any later report. In this issue the remaining matches appear.

FRIDAY, October 11th.—The attendance on the third day was larger than before, many ladies being present. The day was fine and pleasant. The wind was slight and on the whole rather favorable than otherwise to the shooters. The day opened by shooting off the match, which was interrupted by darkness on Thursday. The contest for the Fay diamond medal was next called. There were thirty-three entries for this match, but one of them, Mr. Evans, was ruled out, after he had shot seven birds, on the ground that the medal was open only to residents of California, and Mr. Evans lives in Oregon. The match proved to be a very long one, and occupied most of the day. It was after 4 o'clock before the second match was called. This match was originally fixed for fifteen birds, but owing to the lateness of the hour, the number was reduced to ten. Even with this reduction the match did not close until after sun-down.

The first match, at six birds, Hurlingham style, $5 entrance, had forty-two entries, including about the pick of the trap shots of California. It was a bruising race, only clean scores being available to secure money or prizes. Thirteen tied on six each. They decided to divide the entrance money and draw lots for the three remaining prizes. Captain Pratt drew a lightning gun cleaner, Mr. Coons a pair of Canadian hunting boots, and Dr. O. F. Britton a revolver.

The score was:—

Chick	1	1	1	0	1	0—4
Wiley	1	1	2	1	1	1—6
Robinson	1	1	1	2	1	1—6
Merrill	1	1	1	1	0	1 5
Leffler	0	w				—0
Burnett	1	2	2	1	0	w 4
Haas	2	2	0	1	1	1—5
Bassford	1	1	1	1	1	0—5
Sutherland	1	2	2	1	1	1—6
Smith	1	0	w			—1
Taaffe	1	2	1	1	1	0—5
Roberts	0	0	1	2	0	w—2
Scarlett	1	0	w			—1
Reams	1	1	0	w		—2
F. Coykendall	1	2	2	1	0	0—4
Randall	1	0	1	1	1	0—4
Levy	1	1	1	2	2	1—6
Pratt	1	2	2	2	2	1—6
Beckeart	1	0	1	1	1	1—5
Fanning	1	1	1	2	2	1—6
Slade	0	w				—0
Kellogg	2	2	1	2	2	1—6
Coons	1	1	1	2	1	1—6
Delmas	1	2	1	2	0	1—5
Knight	1	2	2	1	0	1—5
Faull	1	1	1	0	1	1—5
Ruhstaller	1	2	2	1	0	1—5
Sperry	1	1	2	1	1	0—5
Fay	1	1	1	1	2	1—6
Best	0	2	1	1	1	1—5
Close	1	2	1	1	1	1—6
Boardman	1	1	1	0	1	1—5
Unger	1	1	1	1	1	1—6
King	2	1	0	w		—2
Bringham	1	0	2	1	0	w—3
Morrison	2	2	1	1	1	1—6
Gruhler	1	0	w			—1
Scroggs	1	0	0	w		—1
Nicolaus	2	1	1	2	1	1—6
Evans	0	1	1	2	1	1—5
Britton	1	1	1	1	1	0—5
West	w

The next race was for the diamond medal presented by Mr. Edward Fay, representing the Association championship for the year. Thirty-two men qualified for the match, the entrance money, one hundred and sixty dollars, going to the winner of the medal last year, Mr. Crittenden Robinson. The match was one of the prettiest ever seen, despite the fact that Messrs. Fay, Robinson, Haas and other cracks were shut out. At the end three had clean scores, Messrs. "Wiley," of Colton, Merrill of Stockton, and King of Sacramento. These gentlemen shot off the tie in such clean, graceful and mutually considerate style as to arouse the enthusiasm of the spectators. Mr. "Wiley" fairly outshot his competitors and carried away the rich trophy.

SCORE.

FAY DIAMOND MEDAL MATCH.

At twenty-five birds, Hurlingham style. Entrance $5. Entrance money to go to winner of medal last year. Open to members of the Association only.

PRIZES.

1st.—The Fay Diamond Medal, won by Wiley.

2d.—One pair Paltaloons, value $16, offered by T. W. Hobson, San Jose, won by King.

3d.—One Sole Leather Gun Case, offered by Clabrough, Golcher & Co., won by Chick.

4th.—One Lemaire Field Glass, offered by E. T. Allen, won by Merrill.

5th. | One pair Gentleman's best shoes, offered by I. Lasky, San Jose, won by Britton.

6th.—Two cans best Gun Oil, offered by Clabrough, Golcher & Co., won by Norton.

7th.—One best Waterproof Hunting Coat, one fine Canvas Hunting Hat, one Folding Pocket Stool, offered by E. T. Allen, San Francisco, won by A. B. Sperry.

8th.—One Lightning Gun Cleaner, offered by Frank L. Holmes, Oakland, won by Taaffe.

9th.—One Adams & Westlake Pullman Car Oil Stove, value $8 50, offered by John F. Meyers & Co., 863 Market street, San Francisco, won by Delmas.

10th.—One Embossed Leather Photograph Album, offered by Davis Bros., Golden Rule Bazaar, San Francisco, won by Osborn.

11th.—One case Old Kentucky Whisky, offered by Beemis & Graves, San Jose; value $25; won by Unger.

12th.—One Split Bamboo Rod, value $35, offered by A. G. Spalding & Bros., of Chicago and New York, won by H. A. Bassford.

Bringham	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	0	0	1	1	0	—15
Merrill	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	—20
F. Coykendall	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	0	0	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	—15
Bassford	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	—19
Reams	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	—17
Haas	1	1	0	1	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	0	—16
Evans	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	— 7
Slade	1	1	0	0	w														— 2
Robinson	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	1	0	w					—10
West	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	0	w									— 7
Sperry	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	0	—18
Faull	0	1	0	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	—14
Delmas	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	—18
W. B. Hobson	0	0	1	0	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	0	1	1	0	—13
Knight	1	1	1	0	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1—17
Smith	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0—16
Kellogg	1	0	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	0	1	1	1—16
Baldwin	1	1	1	0	0	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	2	0	1	0	0	1—13
Taaffe	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	—17
Ruhstahller	0	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	0	1	1—15
Nicholaus	1	1	1	1	0	0	1	0	w										— 5
De Vaull	1	0	1	1	0	1	1	0	0	0	0	1	1	0	w				— 7
Chick	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	—19
Wiley	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	—26
Fanning	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	1	—17
Pratt	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	0	1	1	0	1	1	0				—11
Fay	0	0	0	w															— 0
Randall	1	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	—17
Britton	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	0	1	1	1	—18
Levy	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	—17
Unger	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	—19
Boardman	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	0	1	0	1	1	0	0	1	—15
King	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	—20

	First Tie.	Second Tie.	Third Tie.	Fourth Tie.
Merrill	1 1 1 1	1 1 1 1	1 1 1 0
Wiley	1 1 1 1	1 1 1 1	1 1 1 1	1 1 1 1
King	1 1 1 1	1 1 1 1	1 1 1 1	1 1 0 1

The next match was listed as at 15 live birds, but as the supply of pigeons was none too large, the match was reduced to ten birds. It was a hard fought battle, and was finished in twilight. The conditions, prizes and winners were: Entrance money divided among the nine who had clean scores. The special prizes awarded by lot.

Second match—At 15 live birds, Hurlingham style. Entrance $10.

PRIZES.

1st—Forty per cent. of entrance.

2d—Thirty per cent. of entrance.

3d—Twenty per cent. of entrance.

4th—Ten per cent. of entrance.

5th—One Sole-leather Gun Case, offered by F. Schilling & Son, San Jose, won by Reams.

6th—One Stamped-leather Shell Bag, offered by E. T. Allen, San Francisco, won by Cooms.

7th—One best Quail Hunting Coat, offered by Clabrough, Golcher & Co., San Francisco, won by Taafe.

8th—One Lightning Gun Cleaner, offered by Frank L. Holmes, won by Kellogg.

9th—One Case assorted Wines and Brandies, offered by La Franc & Maison, San Jose, won by Sperry.

SCORE.

Robinson	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—10
Smith	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	w
Cooms	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—10
Delmas	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1— 9
Randall	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	0— 8
Kellogg	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1— 10
Taafe	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—10
Coykendall	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	0	w
Sperry	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—10
Bassford	1	0	w
Haas	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—10
Merrill	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—10
Sutherland	1	0	1	w
Chick	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	0— 8
Leffler	0	0	w
Coffin	1	1	1	1	1	0	w
Pratt	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	0	0	1— 7
Burnett	1	1	0	w
Reams	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—10
Fanning	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1— 9
Evans	1	1	1	1	0	1	0	w
Close	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—10
Bringham	1	1	1	0	0	0	w

SATURDAY, OCT. 12TH.

The Winchester Repeating Shotgun match was regularly set for Friday, but could not be reached, and in consequence was shot off on Saturday morning. It was unique, a go-as-you-please, use of six loads permitted. Only a few had had experience with the repeating shotgun, and it speaks volumes in behalf of the shooting powers and ease of manipulation of the arm that novices should score so finely with it. Frank E. Coykendall was quickest, getting in four shots on some of the targets. Messrs. Austin B. Sperry and Martinez Chick tied on 17 and divided 40 and 30 per cent. of the entrance money. Major Kellogg, Dr. Britton and Mr. "Smith" tied on 16 and divided 30 per cent. of the entrance money, and the two shotguns, Mr. Smith getting one of the guns and Major Kellogg the other by lot. The other prizes were allotted as hereinafter mentioned.

THE WINCHESTER REPEATING SHOT GUN MATCH.

E. B. Rambo, Esq.. 418 Market St., S. F., offers two Winchester Repeating Shotguns, on following conditions: Match to be shot at 12 single and 4 pairs Blue Rock Targets. A. S. A. Rules. Entrance $5. Only Winchester Repeating Shotguns to be used.

PRIZES.

1st—One Winchester Repeating Shotgun, offered by E. B. Rambo, San Francisco, and ten per cent of entrance, won by Smith.

2nd—One Winchester Repeating Shotgun, offered by E. B. Rambo, San Francisco, won by S. I. Kellogg.

3d—Forty per cent of entrance, divided.

4th—Thirty per cent of entrance, divided.

5th—Twenty per cent of entrance, divided.

6th—One case, qts., Champagne Cider, offered by the Cutting Packing Co., San Francisco, won by George Anderson.

7th—One dozen photographs, offered by Hill & Franklin, San Jose, won by Capt. Pratt.

8th—One hundred Standard Excelsior Cartridges, offered by S. I. Kellogg, won by Maillot.

9th—One Set Gun-cleaning Implements, offered by Clabrough, Golcher & Co , San Francisco, offered by Cook.

10th—One Lightning Gun Cleaner, offered by Frank L. Holmes, Oakland, won by H. A. Bassford.

11th—One Case of Fine Cal. Wines, offered by Kohler & Frohling, San Francisco, won by Coons.

SCORE.

Chick	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1—11	10	11	10	11—17
Kellogg	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1—11	10	11	10	11—16
Haas	1	0	1	1	1	1	0	0	1	1	0	0— 7	10	11	10	10—16
Scarlett	0	1	1	0	0	1	1	1	0	1	0	1— 8	10	10	00	10—1[illegible]
Maillot	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1—11	00	00	10	11—14
Sperry	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—12	11	10	11	00—17
W. J. Golcher	1	1	0	1	0	1	0	1	1	0	1	1— 8	00	11	10	11—13
F. Coykendall	0	0	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	0— 7	10	11	10	00—11
Pratt	1	0	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1— 10	10	10	10	11—15
Fanning	0	1	0	0	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1— 8	11	10	00	10—12
Delmas	0	0	0	1	1	0	0	1	1	0	0	1— 5	10	10	10	00— 8
Britton	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	0	1	1—10	10	10	11	11—16
Coons	0	0	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1— 9	10	11	11	10—15
Cook	1	1	1	0	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1—10	10	10	10	11—15
Smith	1	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	0— 9	10	11	11	11—16
R. Coykendall	0	0	1	1	0	1	1	0	1	1	1	1— 8	01	10	11	00 12
Bassford	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	0—10	11	10	01	01—15
Beckeart	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	0	0	1	1	0— 8	11	01	00	01—12
Boardman	1	0	1	0	0	1	0	1	1	1	1	1— 7	10	00	00	00— 8
Anderson	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	0—10	10	10	10	11—15
Faull	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	1	1	0	0— 3	11	00	w	— 5

The second match of Saturday was the Standard Challenge Medal match, which was a heavy affair, twenty-four men entering and shooting off their hundred birds each. Several of the Southern delegates entered the match and shot for choices of the prizes, except the medal, for which they were barred by reason of residence. Messrs. Kellogg and H. A. Bassford tied for the medal and drew for it, Major Kellogg getting the trophy for the second time. The best score was made by Martinez Chick and the next by H. T. Hopper, who shot as Smith. The Keystone method for rapid firing was tried and proved very successful.

All of the prizes against which names of winners do not appear remain to be allotted by a drawing among the various ties, to be conducted by mail.

STANDARD CHALLENGE MEDAL MATCH.

At 50 single and 25 pairs Blue Rocks. A. S. A. Rules. Entrance $10. Printed conditions upon application.

PRIZES.

1st.—The Standard Challenge Medal and two hundred Standard Cartridges, offered by S. I. Kellogg, won by Kellogg.

2d.—Thirty per cent. of entrance, won by Chick.

3d.—Twenty per cent. of entrance, won by Hopper.

4th.—Ten per cent of entrance.

5th —One-half dozen Pearl-handled Table Knives and one-half dozen Silver Forks, manufactured by Geo. C. Shreve & Co., offered by Col. Chas. Sonntag, San Francisco, won by H. A. Bassford.

6th.—One elegant No. 16 Light-running New Home Sewing Machine, value $70, offered by C. E. Naylor, manager New Home Sewing Machine Co., 725 Market Street, San Francisco, and 18 South Second Street, San Jose.

7th —One Split Bamboo Rod, value $12.50, offered by R. Liddle & Co., San Francisco.

8th.—One pair Wading Stockings and Brogues, offered by J. Kœnig, San Jose.

9th.—One Ammunition Case, offered by Clabrough, Golcher & Co., San Francisco.

10.—One case Fredericksburg Export Lager Beer, offered by the Fredericksburg Brewing Co , San Jose, Cal.

11.—One Hunter's Hatchet, with Leather Belt and Metal Sheath, offered by E T. Allen, San Francisco.

12.—One five-pound box of the finest Bonbons, offered by Maskey's, Kearny St., San Francisco.

13.—One finest finish Silk Hat, offered by K. A. Lundstrom, 605 Kearny St., San Francisco.

14.—One Buggy Whip, value $5,00, offered by Fred Stern, San Jose.

15.—One hundred Standard Excelsior Cartridges, offered by the Selby Smelting & Lead Company.

16.—One Revolver, offered by F. Schilling & Sons, San Jose.

17.—One Lightning Gun Cleaner, offered by Frank L. Holmes, Oakland.

18 —One Case Fine Table Wine, offered by Kohler & Frohling, San Francisco.

SCORE.

	Singles.	Doubles.	Totals.
Kellogg	44	43	87
Haas	45	32	77
Bassford	48	39	87
Anderson	43	37	80
F E. Coykendall	43	41	84
Reams	31	37	68
Chick	49	44	93
Delmas	38	43	81
Lane	39	32	71
Scarlett	35	34	69
Coykenkall	40	36	76
Cadwallader	43	30	73
Sperry	40	34	74
Burnett	37	40	77
Taafe	42	38	80
Knight	46	40	86
Fanning	40	37	77
Pratt	44	36	80
O'Neal	43	36	79
Cook	48	33	81
Evans	43	39	82
Coombs	46	35	81
Smith	49	40	89
Close
Britton	47	[illegible]	86
Bringham
Ingalsbe	26	19	[illegible]

The last regularly listed match of the meeting was next shot off:

At 12 single Blue Rock targets. Entrance $2.50. Prizes, 40, 30, 20 and 10 per cent. of entrance. American Shooting Association Rules to govern.

PRIZES.

1st—Forty per cent. of entrance and one Colt's New Lightning 45-60 Octagon Barrel Rifle, offered by Clabrough, Golcher & Co , San Francisco, won by H. A. Bassford.

2d—Thirty per cent. of entrance, won by Knight.

3d—Twenty per cent. of entrance, won by Chick.

4th—Ten per cent. of entrance, won by Evans.

5th—One hand-mand Leather Shell Case for one hundred shells, offered by E. T. Allen, San Francisco, won by Cadwallader.

6th—One Lightning Gun Cleaner, offered by Frank L. Holmes, Oakland, won by O'Neil.

7th—One pair Suspenders, offered by Morgan Bros., 218 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, won by Cook.

8th—One fine inlaid Tennis Racquet, offered by Will & Fink, San Francisco, value $10, won by Geo. Anderson.

SCORE.

F Coykendall	1	0	1	1	1	0	0	1	0	0	0	1— 6
Boardman	0	0	1	0	1	1	1	1	0	1	0	1— 7
Knight	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—12
Cadwallader	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	0	1— 9
Anderson	1	1	1	0	1	1	0	0	1	0	1	1— 8
Cook	1	1	0	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	1	1— 9
Delmas	1	0	1	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	1	0— 8
R. Coykendall	1	1	1	1	0	0	1	1	1	1	1	1—10
Ingalsbe	0	1	0	0	1	0	0	1	1	1	0	1— 8
O'Neil	1	0	1	0	1	1	0	1	1	0	1	1— 8
Evans	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	0	1	1—10
Bassford	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1—12

Pool shooting followed the regular matches, and the scores are subjoined.

At 10 singles and 5 pairs Blue Rocks, $5 entrance. Kellogg first, F. E. Coykendall second, Pratt third, Delmas fourth.

Delmas	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	12112—16
Anderson	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	12111—15
F E. Coydendall	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	22221—18
Kellogg	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	22221—19
Pratt	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	21122—17
Fanning	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	21211—16
R. Coykendall	0	0	1	0	1	1	1	0	1	1	12112—15
Ingalsbe	1	1	1	1	1	0	0	1	0	1	11111—12
Knight	1	1	1	0	1	0	1	1	1	1	12222—17

Similar conditions.

Kellogg	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	21222—17
Anderson	1	1	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	21222—18
Pratt	1	1	1	0	1	0	1	0	1	1	12211—14
Fanning	0	1	0	0	0	1	1	0	1	0	22121—11
Delmas	0	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	0	22012—14
R. Coykendall	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	11222—17
Knight	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	21212—18
Ingalsbe	0	1	1	0	0	0	1	0	0	1	20102—10
F. Coykendall	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	22222—20

Prizes—F. Coykendall first, Anderson and Knight divided second and third, Kellogg fourth.

At 20 single Blue Rocks.

Kellogg	1 0 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 0 1 1 1 0 1 1	—15
R. Coykendall	1 0 0 1 0 1 1 1 0 0 w	— 5
Anderson	1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 0 w	—10
Delmas	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1	—18
F. Coykendall	1 1 1 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 0	—16
Cadwallader	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	—18
Knight	1 1 0 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	—18
Pratt	0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1	—17
Ingalsbe	0 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 0 0 0 0 0 1	—12
Barker	0 1 1 1 0 1 1 0 0 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0	—14
Balata	0 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 1 0 1 0 0 0 w	— 5

Prizes: Delmas, Cadwallader and Knight divided first, second and third; Pratt, fourth.

At 12 singles and 4 pairs Blue Rocks.

The fourth match was for 12 singles and 4 pairs, with the following result:—

F. Coykendall	1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 0	1 2 0 1—14
Pratt	0 1 1 0 0 1 0 1 1 0 0 0	2 1 2 1—11
Kellogg	0 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1	2 2 2 1—16
Knight	1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0	2 2 2 2—18
Delmas	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1	1 2 1 2—17
Cadwallader	1 0 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	2 1 2 1—16
R. Coykendall	1 0 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1	2 1 2 2 17
Fanning	0 1 1 0 1 1 0 1 0 1 0 1	2 2 1 0—12
A. Barker	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1	2 1 0 2—16

Prizes—Knight first, Delmas and Coykendall divided second and third, Cadwallader and Kellogg divided fourth.

At 30 single Blue Rocks:—

Pratt	0 1 0 0 0 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 0 1 1 2 1 1 1 1	1—21
F. Coykendall	1 1 1 0 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1	1—25
Kellogg	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	1—30
Delmas	1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 0 1 1 1 1 1	1—26
Knight	1 0 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 0 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1	1—24
Fanning	1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0 0 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 0 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	1—23
Cadwallader	0 1 1 0 0 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	1—25
R. Coykendall	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 0 1 1	1—28

Prizes—Kellogg first, R. Coykendall second, Delmas third, F. Coykendall and Cadwallader divided fourth.

Several general average prizes were offered and won as follows:

The Chicago Burlington & Quincy Railway, by W. D. Sanborn, San Francisco agent, offers a Silver Cigar Stand for the best average score of live birds, during the tournament, competitors to take part in every listed match, won by Jos. Delmas, of San Jose.

The Garden City Gun Club, offered a Silver Pitcher, value $40, for the best individual score at Blue Rocks on October 12th, contestants to compete in all matches listed for that day, won by Martinez Chick, of San Diego.

Wm. A. Seaver, of San Francisco, offered one Remington, New Model, Double Barrel Shotgun, latest improved style, value $40,00 to the competitor killing the greatest number of both live and inanimate birds in all listed matches shot during the tournament, won by Martinez Chick, of San Diego.

Board of Forestry to the C. S. S A.

SECRETARY CALIFORNIA STATE SPORTSMAN'S ASSOCIATION.

The press of this State having announced that during the Convention now pending at San Jose an injury would be made into the inquiry arising to the fish-bearing streams of this State, due to the destruction by fires of the timber growth aligning these streams, and to suggest remedial measures in case such damage and injury were found to exist. Now, therefore, the State Board of Forestry having cognizance of such purposed action by your honorable body, begs to submit to your attention and consideration the following facts:

1.—That the agents of the Board have posted conspicuously and over a large area of this State, warning notices against violation of the forest fire law.

2.—That by the offering of liberal rewards, by the employment of competent agents, and by the retention of the best legal talent, the Board has been untiring and vigilant in endeavoring to bring to justice offenders against this law.

3.—That despite some arrests (trials of which are now pending), the inefficiency of the law, and the obvious difficulties attendant upon securing evidence of an incontestable character, have hitherto operated as a bar to the successful prosecution of these cases, but that such failure has in no way operated to induce the Board to relax its vigilance, nor cease from all reasonable efforts to punish wrong-doers.

4.—That in the opinion of the Board, the evil under consideration by your body is a most grave and serious one. Not alone from the mechanical injury to fish and game incident to the terrific heat of forest fires, but from the necessarily raised temperatures of all waters exposed to unbroken sunlight, and the sure and inevitable shrinkage in volume which must enure from the timber denudation of the water sheds tributary to these water courses.

5.—That this Board has ascertained the utter impracticability of staying a forest conflagration when under headway. Back firing has proved efficacious in rare instances, and the risks incident thereto are so grave (when high winds prevail) that it is a remedy only to be entertained as a last resort—and in any case implies the ready availibility of a large force of men, a condition not always at command in timbered and sparsely settled districts.

6.—The board has also rejected the suggestion made that every trail, water course, camping ground, and stock route to the mountains, should be placed under police surveillance. It would require an army of men, and all the revenue of the State to perform this service, and still offer no adequate assurance that fires would not originate somewhere.

7.—After weighing all the measures and suggestions made to them for the abatement of the existing evil, the Board is still of the opinion that punitive measures are the only ones offering any solution of the difficulty, and that bringing to justice a few offenders, will not only act as a deterrent to other evil-doers, but, result in campers prospectors and others exercising greater caution in the suppression of their camp fires.

8.—To this end the State Board of Forestry asks the hearty co-operation of your body, and that such of your agents for the protection of fish and game as are in the field be instructed to gather such information of a criminating nature as they may with regard to the origin of these fires, and report the same to the office of this Board, which will thereupon send an agent to the spot and push the matter to an ultimate issue.

9.—This Board furthermore respectfully suggests that your honorable body by resolution or petition urges the co-operation of the State Commission of Fish and Game with our Board, in order that their agents may work to the same end and that no effort be spared to accomplish this desideratum.

This Board has now in preparation a memorial, asking Congressional aid and intervention from the destruction of the forest timber lands of the Federal Government within this State, and for the passage of stringent laws for the punishment of forest fire fiends.

Your endorsement of this memorial is asked for, and continued, active and harmonious co-operation with our Board earnestly sought, to the end that thriving and prosperous homes be not imperilled, that the permanent character of our streams and water courses be not endangered, and that the forests—our pride, and California's grandest monuments be not ruthlessly swept away, and desolation and destruction alone remain to mark their site.

Commissioners { WALTER S. MOORE, JNO. D. SPRECKELS, FRANK J. MOFFITT.

W. S. LYON, Forester.

State Sportsman's Association Annual Business Meeting.

The eighth annual business meeting of the association was held in the parlors of the Lick House, San Jose, on the evening of October 11th.

In the absence of the President, R E. Wilson, who was in Mexico, and the vice-President, Dr. S. N. Cross, who was in New York, the meeting was called to order by the Secretary. Mr. A. B. Sperry, of Stockton, was chosen temporary Chairman.

The Chair was authorized to appoint a committe of three on credentials, and Messrs. Osborn, Robinson and Kellogg were so named.

The Committee on Credentials reported the following persons entitled to seats.

California Wing Shooting Club—Messrs. Robinson and Fay.

Recreation Gun Club—Messrs. Payne and Holbrook.

Colton Gun Club—Messrs. Bruner and Roberts.

Grass Valley Sportsman's Club—Messrs. Fletcher and Elliott.

Stockton Gun Club—Messrs. Sperry and Haas.

Rod and Gun Club—Messrs. Unger and Britton.

The convention was then regularly called to order, and the minutes of the preceding meeting read and approved.

The report of the Directors being called for, the Secretary, on behalf of the Board, reported that the specific aims of the association had been kept closely in view throughout the year, and that the Board had established and maintained very friendly relations with the Fish Commissioners, who especially were deeply interested in the objects of the association, and were ready to furnish funds for the prosecution of violators of the fish and game laws, and for the introduction of game fish and game birds not found in California. The report was adopted.

The following letter and subjoined communication were then read:

SAN BERNARDINO MT., Oct. 6, 1889.

Secretary of California Sportsman's Association, —DEAR SIR:—In California the interests of the political economist, the farmer and the sportsman all unite in demanding the preservation and intelligent management of our mountain forests.

We need a body of forest officers whose duty it should be to regulate the cutting of timber, prevent forest fires, patrol the forests and protect them and also see to the enforcement of fish and game laws.

I venture to send you a suggestion for the action of your convention so that you can adopt a course that will aid the efforts of the American Forestry Congress in this direction.

I have been moved to this course by the view from my camp on this mountain of great stretches of dead trees burned to death in past years and by miles of dead trees burnt in a forest fire this year. The fish and game of the State must disappear if the forests are destroyed. Yours respectfully,

ABBOT KINNEY,
of SANTA MONICA, Cal.

WHEREAS, The waste, robbery and destruction by fire of the mountain forests of California must diminish, if not exterminate, the game of the state, and

WHEREAS, The destruction of our forests in destroying our water supply, first, by the fact that rain upon steep mountains, which have been denuded of all brush or trees, rushes off suddenly with impetuosity, carrying sand earth, stones and boulders, which must again be deposited upon the lands of the valley. Second, by the fact that the rainfall thus wasted in destructive floods and torrents is incapable of supplying the springs and streams, and,

WHEREAS, These effects of waste and fire are injurious alike to the lover of nature, to the irrigator, to the business and commerce dependent upon agricultural returns, and to the sportsmen of California, therefore, be it

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to memorialize Congress in favor of a withdrawal of the mountain forests lands from entry or sale and the creation of an efficient Forest Department for the management of such forest preserve, so that the ripe timber may be cut while the new growth to replace the trees used is protected, and that the watersheds of our streams and springs shall be secured from undue denudation and consequent failure of their water supply.

The communication and proposed resolutions of Mr. Kinney were received and placed on file. In speaking to the resolutions, Mr. H. T. Payne of Los Angeles said that the keynote of success was the protection of the game and fish of the State. They have been growing less from year to year by the reckless market hunter without right or justice. The laws were excellent, but were constantly violated. A committee was needed to draft suitable laws to be presented to the next Legislature, in which the following subjects should be attended to.

First—The abolition of the present State Board of Forestry and State Board of Fish Commissioners.

Second—The enactment of a new law dividing the State into five districts, the lines of these districts to be so drawn that the climatic conditions of each entire district would be as near the same as possible.

Third—Providing for the appointment by the Governor of one commissioner for each of these districts; each commissioner to receive a salary of say $2000 per year and necessary traveling expenses; each commissioner to give his entire time to the business of his office.

Fourth—This commission of five to have entire supervision of the forests, fish and game of the State.

Fifth—This commission shall employ at least one man in each district at the necessary salary as a field marshal, whose business it shall be to remain constantly in the field for the purpose of apprehending and arresting violators of the forest, fish and game laws of the State.

Sixth—The commission shall adopt such rules and regulations, not inconsistent with the State laws, as it shall deem necessary for the proper protection of the forests, fish and game, for the restocking of streams, for the planting of trees along the public highways, and the importation and distribution of foreign varieties of game.

Seventh—This committee shall make a bi-annual report of all its work and its expenditures, and submit to each legislature an estimate of the necessary appropriation for the successful workings of the commission for the next two years.

Eighth—This commission, by the action only of four-fifths of its members, shall have power to change the dates as provided by the State law, of the seasons in which game or fish may be legally taken in the various districts, but it shall in no case extend the length of said open season.

Mr. Payne addressed the meeting in support of the resolutions offered by him, and asked that a good working committee be appointed by the chair to take the matter in hand and present it to the legislators.

Crittenden Robinson spoke upon the subject. His ideas concurred with those of Mr. Payne, whom he said had embodied in the resolution, the thoughts best calculated to bring about the results desired by the association.

Chairman Sperry expressed himself as in sympathy with the resolution, but he did not approve of paying excessive salaries.

The Secretary did not approve of the enactment of such a bill, believing that it would be a decidedly unpleasant thing for the officers to seek information that would tend to prosecute violators, and for that reason it would be a difficult matter to find suitable men to accept the position.

Mr. Payne replied that the salary was little as an attraction compared to the hearty approval of the sportsmen of the state, that an officer would receive by the acceptance of the office, and the application of proper attention.

Mr. Robinson moved that the matter be referred to a committee of five to embody the ideas therein in a bill to be presented to the incoming Legislature, and also to be reported at the next annual meeting of the association. The motion was carried.

Treasurer Knowles through Major Kellogg made his annual report, showing a balance of cash on hand of $44.95.

Mr. Robinson and the secretary called the attention of the members to the fact that the Fish Commissioners are awaiting the action of the association on their recommendation for the proper stocking of streams and the distribution of game birds throughout the State, there being $2000 available for that purpose. It was decided to recommend that the commission furnish and turn out a supply of wild turkeys, Eastern prairie chickens and Eastern quail. The subject of introducing Chinese pheasants and the Copper pheasant of Japan, was talked of at length, but the general impression was that the former were detrimental to the existence of California's pride, the quail. They are so prevalent in Oregon that they are anxious to rid themselves of the pest. They were made a special subject for individual inquiry as to their habits, etc.

The secretary urged that all persons having suitable localities in which to care for imported birds make known their wishes to the secretary of the association, who would communicate them to the Fish Commissioners and probably secure what they asked for.

Mr. Payne offered a resolution providing that hereafter at all meetings of the association only members shall participate and all matches shall be shot under the Association rules, except that for the Selby trophy, which shall be shot for under the American Shooting Association rules. Adopted.

On the motion of Mr. Unger, of Los Angeles, a vote of thanks was tendered Dr. J. J. Miller, A. W. Ingalsbe, F. E. Coykendall, G. Anderson, Joe Delmas and J. H. Faull, the committee of arrangements of the Garden City Gun Club, for generous entertainment, to the local press for full and able reports of the tournament and to the Lick House for the use of its parlors.

Mr. Close, of Portland, Or., Mr. Bringham, of Tacoma and Mr. Evans, of Portland, spoke in favor of a union of the association with the Sportsmen's Association of the Northwest, which includes Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana, but no formal action was taken.

Mr. Payne pressed the claims of Los Angeles as a suitable place for the next meeting, but finally withdrew it in favor of Sacramento, which then received a unanimous vote, the association deciding to meet there on the second Thursday of Oct., 1890.

Wm. Taaffe, Mountain View; J. M. Morrison, L. J. Nicholas, W. J. King, J. Ruhstaller, Adam Damm, Chas. E. Mack Jr., Sacramento; H. T. Hopper, Traver, Chas. Reams, Vacaville; T. A. Bringham of Tacoma and the Colton Gun Club, were elected to membership in the association.

Dr. Britton, H. A. Bassford and Mr. Osborn were appointed a committee on Nomination of Officers and presented the following names, and they were unanimously elected:

President, H. T. Payne of Los Angeles; vice-president, A. B. Sperry of Stockton; secretary, H. H. Briggs, 313 Bush St., S. F.; treasurer, Dr. S. E. Knowles of San Francisco; directors, F. E. Coykendall of San Jose, Charles J. Haas of Stockton, A. W. Bruner of Colton, H. A. Bassford of Vacaville, J. M. Morrison of Sacramento.

The association then passed complimentary votes about the San Jose Mercury and the San Jose Times, both of which journals had published full and accurate reports of the daily proceedings. Adjournment was then had.

BANQUET.

On Saturday evening the association was invited to a banquet at the Lamolle House, and about 9 o'clock forty men sat down around a beautifully decorated and heavily laden table. President Payne took the head of the table, and was nominally supported by vice-President A. B. Sperry on the right and the Secretary on the left. The two gentlemen mentioned and Dr. O. F. Britton were cordial in their efforts to help things along, but somehow they did not seem to be very effective. Mr. Sperry spoke seven or eight times in response to a toast which was not announced. The Secretary was equally verbose, and Dr. Britton was thoroughly appreciative of all that was said by his confreres.

A letter from Hon. S. W. Boring, Major of San Jose, was read, extending welcome and expressing regrets that he could not be present. Then Mr. Sperry made a speech. A season of rest followed, broken by Mr. Sperry, who fairly corruscated if the enjoyment of Dr. Britton was not feigned. The Secretary made three or four remarks, but it was not until President Payne, after gracefully thanking the entertainers for the courtesies extended, called out that brilliant young exponent of Western journalism, Mr. C. M. Shortridge of the Mercury, that anything like method began to be perceptible. In introducing Mr. Shortridge, Mr. Payne said:

"It affords me," said he, "great gratification to note how from year to year the interest in sporting matters increases in the State, and how our Association grows in strength, numbers and influence. We have had many fine meetings at various places, but none equal to this. The attendance has been

Continued on page 336.

THE WEEKLY

Breeder and Sportsman.

JAMES P. KERR, PROPRIETOR.

The Turf and Sporting Authority of the Pacific Coast.

Office, No. 313 Bush St.

P. O. Box 2300.

TERMS—One Year, $5; Six Months, $3; Three Months, $1.50.

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Money should be sent by postal order, draft or by registered letter, addressed to JAMES P. KERR, San Francisco, Cal.

Communications must be accompanied by the writer's name and address, not necessarily for publication, but as a private guarantee of good faith.

ALEX. P. WAUGH, - - - - - Editor.

Advertising Rates

Per Square (half inch)

One time	$1 00
Two times	1 75
Three times	2 40
Four times	3 00
Five times	3 50

And each subsequent insertion 50c. per square.

Should an Advertisement run without change three months or more 50c. per square, counting from the first insertion.

Advertisements running six months are entitled to 10 per cent. discount on rate of 50 cents per square each insertion.

Those running twelve months are entitled to 20 per cent. discount on rate of 50 cents per square each insertion.

To Subscribers.

The date printed on the wrapper of your paper indicates the time which your subscription is paid.

Should the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN be received by any subscriber who does not want it, write us direct to stop it. A postal card will suffice.

Special Notice to Correspondents.

Letters intended for publication should reach this office not later than Wednesday of each week, to secure a place in the issue of the following Saturday. Such letters to insure immediate attention should be addressed to the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, and not to any member of the staff.

San Francisco, Saturday, Oct. 19, 1889.

Dates Claimed.

Pacific Coast Trotting Horse Breeders' Association—October 12th, 16th and 19th.
Los Angeles Agricultural Association—Oct. 21st to 26th.
Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association, November 16th, 19th, 21st and 23d.
State Agricultural Society—Running Meeting—April, 1890.

The Speed Driveway.

On Wednesday evening a large and influential committee met at the offices of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN to perfect arrangements for a grand matinee to be given for the purpose of raising funds to complete the Speed Driveway. The gentlemen present were Ariel Lathrop, H. J. Agnew, R. T. Carroll, D. S. Quinton, C. W. Smith, Capt. N. T. Smith, L. U. Shippee, C. S. Crittenden, F. H, Coombs, Wilfred Page, J. H. White, Col. H. I. Thornton, L. E. Clawson and J. H: Neal representing the Pleasanton Stock Farm. The meeting opened with the selection of Col. Thornton as chairman and Wilfred Page as secretary. After considerable discussion, it was deemed advisable to offer a first-class programme to consist of three races ,one for the free-for-all pacers, Adonis, Yolo Maid and Gold Leaf. Rabe Junio, Emma Temple, Franklin, Balkan, Alfred G., Mary Lou, Bay Rose and Thapsin were named as horses that would make a good race, Hazel Wilkes, Lord Byron and Direct were also named for the third race.

An executive committee with full power to act in the premises were selected, the gentlemen being A. B. Speckles, R. T. Carroll, C. S. Crittenden, W. S. Hobart, C. W. Smith, P. A. Finigan and M. F. Tarpey.

The committee is one of the best that has ever undertaken like work and the names are an assurance that the gathering will be a grand one. Mr. Lathrop said that he would take $250, worth of tickets, and it was stated that J. B. Dickey would take a hundred tickets and H. Schwartz fifty. The concensus of opinion was that the affair would be a grand success. Now that a committee has been appointed to raise the necessary funds to finish the Driveway, it would not be out of order for them also to demand from the old committee a full and complete accounting of the moneys already expended. Thirty-two thousand dollars and over has already been expended and the work is not yet compete. An investigation may possibly show where the money went, and by whom it was fritted away. There has been a useless expenditure of private funds in this matter and those who contributed so liberally are entitled to a thorough explanation. It is to be hoped that the new committee will be able to hand over the necessary amount of funds to complete the road as it is a necessity in a large city like San Francisco.

Obituary.

It is with extreme regret that we have to announce the death of W. J. Lyle, editor of the Kentucky Stock Farm, which occurred at his home, Danville, Ky., on the 4th of this month. The deceased was a bright, intelligent writer, and from his indefatigable efforts, has made his journal one of the best in the country. He is thus spoken of by one of the editors of his own State:

"Mr. Lyle was an excellent citizen in every sense of the word. Upon those with whom he had business he made a lasting, good impression. Among those with whom he was on terms of intimacy he was beloved. He was gentle in manners and kindly in disposition; zealous in the discharge of his duty and faithful to every trust. Few better men have ever blessed the community with the warmth of their sunny family, and leaves a vacant place in the business community not easily filled."

The P. C. T. H. B. A.

The citizens of San Francisco have failed to support the efforts put forth by the Directors of the Pacific Coast Trotting Horse Breeders' Association for their pleasure and amusement. A splendid programme was arranged, but the attendance was very slim, the populace not seeming to care whether first-class racing was given or not. There must be something radically wrong with the San Francisco public, for there were not as many persons present on the opening day as might be seen at any ordinary country fair. Too much credit cannot be given the officers of the society, for they have worked faithfully and earnestly to make the affair a success. In addition to their other troubles, rain set in on Thursday morning and continued almost without stopping until the time we go to press. A meeting of the Board was held on Thursday evening to determine what action should be taken, and it was resolved to postpone the meeting until the first good day and track.

Dams.

"How is he bred," is a question often asked, and in nineteen times out of twenty it is the breeding of the dam that the information is asked about. The intelligent breeder now wants strong lines on the lower side of a pedigree and the dam is the great subject of inquiry. For the information of our readers we give the following table, arranged in a hurried manner, and subject, without doubt, to many corrections. Of the number looked up the dams of eight winners were by George Wilkes, Dictator follows close with six, Belmont and Mambrino Patchen are next in order, with five each. Daniel Lambert, Hambletonian and Almont each have four, American Clay, Whipple's Hambletonian, Woodford Mambrino, Alexander's Norman and Happy Medium three each; Abdallah Mambrino, Harold, Pilot Jr., Clark Chief, Pacing Abdallah, Brown Chief and Blue Bull got the dams of two each.

Goodwin's Turf Guide.

No. 10 of this valuable reference book of the turf is to hand and as usual is brimful of reliable information to followers of the turf. It has over 500 pages of closely printed matter, containing all the performances on the American running tracks since Jan. 1st, and arranged in such a convenient form that any detail required can be had at a glance. Turf terms and phrases are there explained in full, the scale of riding weights, jockey's mounts, fastest time both for the year and on record, a list of horses whose names have been changed, and in fact a complete education of the American turf may be had for 75 cents. This is a great book, and every horseman should have one, which may be had through any bookseller or direct from Goodwin Bros., 241 Broadway, New York, on receipt of price.

California Veto.

The pedigree of the above mentioned horse has been a mystery for many years, and as his name appears in the catalogue of many California breeding farms, a great deal of time has been spent in trying to clear it up. It remained for Dr. Latham to solve the puzzle, and he has obtained the following certificate:

In 1847 I bought a thoroughbred mare, named Chealan, from Joe Campbell, of Russellville, Ky. Chealan was sired by Woodpecker, and at the time I bought her was five years old. In 1848 I bred her to the thoroughbred horse Veto, owned by Corvet & Blevins, of Cass County, Mo. This horse Veto had been bought by Corvet & Blevins in Buttels Lick, Ky. In 1849 Chealan foaled a sorrel filly. In 1853 I brought this filly to California; I named her Veto after her sire. In 1854 I sold this Veto mare to Mr. Thale Potter. From Mr. Potter's hands she passed to the ownership of Mr. Sam Miller. She was bred to Williamson's Belmont, and she foaled a colt known as Tyree's Veto.

STOCKTON, Sept. 28, '89. ANDERSON DAVIS.

On Wednesday last Hickok worked Adonis, his crack pacer out three heats, the first two slow, and the last in 2:19¾, not 2:12 as was circulated by one of the dailies.

The Four-Year-Olds.

There is always a falling off in the payments of a stake race when some particular horse has developed a great deal of speed, and it requires a lot of nerve to continue making payments when it is almost a foregone conclusion that one is liable to be shut out in the race. Although there were a number of entries in the four year old stake, only three full payments were made, Direct and Hazel Wilkes having frightened out the others with the exception of Balkan, a horse that has had epizootic for about two years. The smallness of the field detracted somewhat from the interest, and yet the race was a grand one from a sportsman's standpoint. The winner, Direct, has been campaigned throughout the circuit, and has made a name for himself second to no horse of his age in the country. In the last three races for which he has started Direct has won them all in straight heats, and seven of the nine heats have been trotted in less than 2:20, and the last five heats have all been trotted in exactly the same notch, 2:19½. This is a marvellous showing for a horse of his age, and still his competitors are justly entitled to a great deal of credit, Hazel Wilkes lapping him out in almost every heat, and in the last one she was only beaten by a head, showing that she must have travelled her miles fully as fast as Direct, as she was on the outside all the way. Hazel Wilkes is a filly that any one may feel proud of owning, and Mr. Corbitt is fortunate in the possession of such a speedy daughter of Guy Wilkes. The last of the four year olds to start at the Breeders' Meeting was Balkan, by Mambrino Wilkes, dam Fanny Fern, who has been afflicted with sickness off and on for about two years. The youngster showed so much improvement twenty-four hours before the day set for the race that Mr. Ayres determined to start him, and although he only received the third money he showed a remarkably good heat in the third, as he only finished about five lengths behind the winner, and he finished as fresh as either of the others. His time, taken separately in the last heat, was 2:22¾. A circumstance worthy of remembrance is the fact that in the three heats not a break was made by any of the horses, each acting with level heads and pure trotting gait from beginning to end. It was a good race and heartily appreciated by all who saw it.

The B. & Y. Hoof Oil.

The value of the B. & Y. Hoof Oil as a cure for all cases of scratches, sores, cuts, wounds, bruises, corns, thrush, foot rot, quarter crack, sand crack, dry, hard, brittle or fevered hoofs, and the thousands of other local ailments of horses is attested by hundreds of testimonials from well-known horsemen and veterinary surgeons. The peculiar quality of this oil is that it keeps the hoofs sound and in perfect condition, and, by those who have used it, is considered an indispensable article in every well-regulated stable. It is being introduced to the trade on this coast by Hunt & Doremus, 99 Flood Building, this city, who are also agents for Stengle & White's enamel leather dressing, an excellent article for renovating carriage tops and harnesses. Read their advertisement in another column.

Our State Fair Edition.

The last number of the San Francisco BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN to hand is a beautiful paper, got up in the finest style of the art, with a handsome cover, and splendidly illustrated with the California trotting and running "stars." The letterpress is fine, and as interesting as a first class novel. Altogether this is about as excellent a specimen as we have yet seen of turf journalism, and we would like to see every horseman with a copy of this special number, which would give him a comprehensive idea of the great Californian breeding interests.—Prince Edward Island Agriculturist.

The special state edition of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN is a beauty, and reflects much credit upon that wideawake publication.—Vallejo Weekly Times.

The BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of this city got out a State Fair edition which, besides containing likenesses of Electioneer, Mambrino Wilkes, Stamboul, Lillian Wilkes, and other famous flyers, has on its cover portraits, chromo-lithographs of F. Gebhardt's "Greenback" and "St. Savior," handsome enough to hang in glazed frames.—(S. F. Rural Press.)

Frank H. Dunton, editor of Dunton's Spirit of the Turf, writes: "Permit us to congratulate you on your brilliant State Fair edition.

John H. Wallace, of Wallace's Monthly, writes: "Congratulations on your new outside and enlarged inside; let the good work go on."

NEW YORK, September 25, 1889.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN—

Gentlemen: Will you kindly mail me a copy of your valuable journal of the issue of September 14th. The portrait of Greenback, while a trifle too light in coloring, is an exquisite piece of workmanship. I desire to add it to my "Turf Gallery," which is one of the most complete in the world.

Very truly yours,

WALTER. S. VOSBURGH,
"Vigilant"
Racing Editor
Spirit of the Times.

On Wednesday morning, Faust, (the Sidney yearling sold by Mr. Valensin to the Water Stock Farm) was worked out two heats, the first time he has ever gone a full mile, in 2:38, and 2:35½. The colt pleased everyone by his easy, resolute style of going under Dustin's careful guidance. Mr. Valensins yearling filly Habibi is at present resting on the ranch, but will be put into work again in four or five weeks time, and one or the other should go near the yearling record.

CORRESPONDENCE.

A Complaint From the Owner of Topsey.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—Dear Sir, Much has been said about myself and my black mare Topsey in different papers all over the State Now allow me to state the facts in detail. On the 23d day of August I entered my mare Topsey in the 2:30 race, to be trotted over the San Luis Obispo Agricultural Association track on Sept. 28th, 1889. I sent my entrance money to the Secretary of the Association, and it so appears this was all they wanted, as I believe, Gabriel's trumpet could not have gotten a word out of them, for I wrote and wrote to the Secretary, asking him if the races had filled, also, if the race had not filled, to please return my entrance money. But not a word came from that gentleman for three weeks. Then he wrote me that he had no power to return any money, as the Vice-President instructed him to return no money except by order of the Board of Directors, and also stated that the Vice-President, Mr. L. M. Warden, would be at the Santa Maria fair and would arrange matters to my entire satisfaction. Now, just why the Honorable Vice-President did not arrange matters to my entire satisfaction is hard to tell. It may be on account of my black mare Topsey beating and, in fact, shutting out Miss Monroe, a San Luis Obispo mare that has been very fast in the papers all summer; in fact, the papers had her trotting very fast, and the owner told me that she had trotted in 2:20, and could trot easy in 2:22. Well, this mare was shut out in 2:32 by Topsey, on a very heavy and sandy track. This was the starting point of my trouble, and it had a bad effect on the Vice-President, for he told me if I wanted my money back I would have to come to San Luis Obispo and trot for it. On the 23d of Sept. I shipped my mare Topsey to San Luis Obispo to trot for the purse they were holding my entrance money for. I stayed there all the week, and on Friday evening, Sept. 27th, 1889, they offered Pat McCartney and myself $150 to trot in the free-for-all race the next day. We refused to trot for the purse they offered, and therefore decided to publish a poster to show why we would not trot Flora G and Topsey, as it was generally understood and expected that they would trot on that day. The following is a copy of the poster.

TO THE PUBLIC:—We the undersigned being desirous of not having the public misled by any rumor or publication, state as follows:

Flora G. and Topsy will not trot to-day for reason that the directors of the San Luis Obispo Fair Association offered a $400 purse for Free-for-all trotting, and we brought our horses here to trot for said purse, but said Directors say that they will give only $150 purse for said race, and we, the owner of Flora G. and Topsy, refuse to trot our horses for that amount.

GEO. C. SMITH,
PAT MCCARTNEY.

This made the Directors indignant, and after the fair was over they went to work to see how much damage they could do me. They knew that I wanted to give my mare a record and sell her or make a valuable brood mare of her, by giving her a good record, for there is no doubt but what she could have trotted in 2:23, as I have trotted her here over a very sandy track in 2:26.

On Sept. 30th, after the fair was over, they ruled me and my mare Topsy off for six months just long enough to keep me from trotting at Santa Barbara and Los Angeles, at which places my mare was entered. Remember they did not rule Pat McCartney or his mare Flora G. off, and he, Pat McCartney, was a party in the poster as much as I was. This shows spite work on the part of the society, and they surely had no jurisdiction over me or my mare Topsy as she was not in any race after they declared all races of; also, if I had committed any offense (which I did not), it was in the town of San Luis Obispo and not on the race course, which is some two miles from San Luis Obispo. I claim that there is no rule to justify them in ruling me or my mare off, and I further claim that the Directors have no right in the judges' stand nor have they the power to rule any one off. The Directors acted as judges at San Luis Obispo, and one or the other of them had a horse in a race almost every day.

On Friday, September 27th, wherein Prince B took a part, one of the Directors also had a horse in the same race, and he was in the judges' stand during the progress of said race. Prince B acted badly in the two first heats, and would have been shut out if they had had a distance flag (the fair was run without a distance flag). So the owner (Mr. A. Phillips) came to me and wanted me to drive his horse, which I did. After scoring up even two or three times, they got Prince B at a disadvantage of about a length. They were tapped off, which caused the crowd to hiss the Directors, and the Director who had a horse in the race was standing by the side of another director who started the horses, but for all that Prince B won in three straight heats. This may be the cause of myself and my mare Topsy being ruled off.

Hoping that I have not taken too much of your time and space in your valuable paper, I am yours truly,

GEO. C. SMITH.

SANTA MARIA, Cal., Oct. 9th, 1889.

The Chicago Stable.

A report has been extensively printed within the past week or so to the effect that the horses in the Chicago Stable were to be sold at auction in Kentucky this fall, and that the proprietor would retire from the turf, but the statement has no foundation in fact. A representative of the Horseman called on Mr. Hankins, the proprietor of this well-known stable, and in reply to an inquiry he said that he had seen the paragraph in the papers, and that it was the first imitation he had received of any intention or desire to sell his horses. "I shall race next year," he said, "but shall drop the name of Chicago Stable, and run my horses in my own name, George V. Hankins, retaining the same colors I have used from the start. I shall confine my racing operations entirely to the West, not sending any horses East. Instead of selling my horses I shall add quite a number to the younger division of my stable when I find the kind I want. Mr. Johnson will not train another year, as his health is not good and his extensive private interests demand his attention. However, I have about concluded arrangements with an excellent man for the position. Tom Kiley will in all probability be head jockey for the stable, and the light weights have been selected, but none of them have signed as yet. My horses will be shipped from the East to Lexington, Ky., where they will remain until about the middle of January, when they will be taken to Memphis and shaped up for the spring meeting there, after which the stable will come along up the line." We are glad to be able to publish the above, for the Western turf, and in fact the turf of the country, can ill afford to lose a stable containing such cracks as Terra Cotta, Jacobin, Little Minch, Wheeler T., Egmont, Huntress, Santalene, Kalkolah and several gilt-edge youngsters to be added.—(Horseman.)

American Stables.

These stables of American country houses have grown to be models of luxury, and are quite as gorgeous and conspicuous as the dwelling houses themselves, with as much architectural pains bestowed upon them. As Americans become more devoted to out-door life and sports the stable daily takes a larger place in their interest and affections. One of the most complete stables in this county is set up in Genesee county, and more nearly resemble those of some great English country house in a hunting shire than anything known to our methods of life. The Walworths, to whom these stables belong, own some sixteen thousand acres of the Genesee valley, exactly the same tract of land that was granted to them two hundred years ago by the King of England, when it was only sixteen thousand acres of impenetrable wilderness. Not a foot of it has been sold or exchanged hands, but has passed from father to son through all changes of government. In the center of this they have a superb dwelling nearly a century old, and very little changed by modern influences except that it has been gradually enlarged from generation to generation, and modern conveniences added as they are needed, but the colonial architecture and furnishing of the house remain unchanged. The stables, of course, are entirely modern, and are very large, with room for some thirty horses, for not only are they needed for use in coach, dog cart, drag and pony carriage, but for mounts for the family and their guests in the hunting season.

This place is really the only genuine hunt anywhere about New York. The Walworths, being ardent sportsmen, have carefully preserved their covers, and have in every lease of land retained the right to hunt across it. Some half a dozen of the best New York's cross-country riders passed through here recently, to the Walworths'. For the last two weeks in September and the first two or three weeks in October, the place is always as full as it can hold of hunting guests who get sport as good as any in the best grass country in England. Two of these New Yorkers carried their own hunters with them, for their horses and grooms are made quite as welcome as themselves, and the next month will see a series of fox hunts and steeple chases where those who have not their own horses may ride a mount from the long list of thoroughbreds in the stalls of this great stable. Strange to say, very few people know about this very uncommon survival of colonial days lying amid the fluctuating social life of our Republic, and the newspapers have never given it any notoriety outside of the set of riding people who are fortunate enough to be asked there for autumn hunting. The Walworths are, as might be supposed, people of great wealth and refinement, but live the greater part of their lives on their own domain, and are rarely seen in New York, except for a month or two of the opera season in winter.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Proper Care of a Colt.

I notice in your issue of the 3d inst. a long article from the pen of some would-be horseman who, it seems, does not give his name, but instead thereof thinks it necessary to sign himself "So-We-Go, which transposed or turned around is simply Ogewos, meaning in the language of one of the Indian tribes, bad horse. This man or woman is not without some ability, and judging from his writings, his knowledge has been picked up from the say so or talk of horsemen rather than from any experience of his own.

The care and culture of the two-year-old of course is all important, but it would seem necessary to first have the yearling to start on. In operative masonery it is hardly practicable when building a chimney to begin at the top or midway and work down; the more prudent mechanic would begin at the bottom and build up. To be fair in this case we will assume that "Bad Horse" has some kind of a yearling when he starts in, but he only assumes to give instructions for the well bred.

Let us now consider the yearling, I will, however, only trouble you with a short article, as I do not believe in long, tedious, dull correspondence, or editorials. The period of gestation is very important, and we must consider the case from up to down, to keep the order started by "So-We-Go." We will, however, start with the suckling at the day of its birth, and presume that it is of good parentage, both sire and dam, that it is sound and able to stand and walk within fifteen minutes after it breathes. At the age of a week most farmers come to work the dam and let the suckling follow around as best he can, and at the age of four months, the colt then being considered of sufficient age to wean, and the dam has performed a good summer's work; worked just as hard as her gelding mate or mare with no colt. This method is entirely wrong. The heated blood, tiresome labor of both mare and colt, is really killing both.

The mare and colt during the first four, five or six months should be kept in good pasture where there is plenty of good water and shade. While it may be practicable to wean the colt at four months, we certainly prefer six, and now comes the most important period of the entire five years of the colt's growth, and if starved or stunted the first winter it never fully recovers not only the size, but the whole form of the animal is injured never to be regained.

The colt should be fed on plenty of good clean hay, plenty of water at all times, and we would give half and half of ground oats and wheat bran twice a day, about two quarts at a mess; we give this dry, but if scalded and then cooled it will be better. A well-to-do farmer told me once, this would be too much; I think he was right for the first week or two, but certainly not for the cold winter days, nor the spring either. I asked him what damage it would do; his answer was too rapid a growth. He had previously told me that he would treat a colt just as he would a boy. I asked him if he ever knew too big a growth of boy, but to this there was no answer. The colt should have a good warm place to protect himself from cold weather and storms, a bed of dry straw or sawdust to sleep upon, or to lie down at pleasure; he must not be confined to the stable, but have a yard, or, better still, an open field to run in; in no case should he be allowed to stand on a hard floor.

Be sure to watch him close that he does not get lousy. He may be handled by halter breaking, leading behind the cutter, or by the side of another with pleasure. These points attended to, I will warrant a satisfactory result. The time spent in attending a single colt is so much greater in proportion than would be the case of two, three or four that it is always economy to have at least two, and as many more up to six as the case may be.

We have made this calculation upon the spring colt in the latitude of lower Michigan, northern Illinois Wisconsin and Iowa, etc. Further south of course this first wintering would be changed somewhat.

The practice of driving and speeding yearlings is one of the errors of latest and should be condemned by all horsemen.—John Bragman, in Dunton's Spirit.

Answers to Correspondents.

Answers for this department MUST be accompanied by the name and address of the sender, not necessarily for publication, but as proof of good faith. Write the questions distinctly, and on one side of the paper only. Positively no questions will be answered by mail or telegraph.

Dave Grumm.

Please give me the pedigree of McClellan's Duke, owned at one time by Charles McLaughlin, deceased.

Answer—We presume you mean Duke McClellan 8080. If so, he was foaled in 1872, by Gen. McClellan 144, dam Ocean Nell (the dam of Dan Voorhees 2:23¼); pedigree not traced.

F. E. D.

A. bets B. that three horses had beaten Dexter's time, 2:17¼, before Maud S.

Answer—A. wins. Smuggler, Rarus and Goldsmith Maid beat his time before Maud S. beat it.

J. G.

Please let me know how many heats were trotted between Guy Wilkes, Stamboul, and Woodnut at the Oakland Track, in August, I think a year ago 1888. And did Woodnut win in Sacramento or Stockton. Has Guy Wilkes retired from the track?

Answer.—On August 27th 1888, at the Oakland Track, the three horses you name trotted five heats, Guy Wilkes winning the first, fourth and fifth heats. Woodnut won at Sacramento, not at Stockton. Guy Wilkes has been retired from the track.

Can any of our readers send in any information about "The Sacramento mare" owned at one time by Louis Belcher who lived on the San Joaquin River.

Names Claimed and Registered.

Property Coombs Bros., Napa, Cal., Oct. 16th.

The following named horses have been registered in Vol. 8 Wallace's Register as standard:

The Dane 11304 (formerly Coronado, and named changed on account of having been previously claimed), bay colt, foaled February 19 1888, by Stamboul, dam Dollie McMann.

Lord Clive 11227, bay colt, foaled March 15, '89, by Sable Wilkes, dam Veronica by Alcona 730; second dam Fontana by Almont; third dam Fannie Williams by Alexander's Abdallah.

Lillie Stanley, record 2:17½, by Whippleton, dam Dollie McMann. Dollie McMann's pedigree untraced.

Coloma, black mare, foaled 1886, by Alcona Clay, son of Alcona 730. The dam of Alcona Clay is Madona by Cassius M. Clay Jr; second dam by Joe Downing. The dam of Coloma is Fontana by Almont; second dam Fannie Williams by Alexander's Abdallah.

Comedy, black filly, foaled March 1, '89, by Director, dam Dollie McMann, the dam of Lillie Stanley, record 2:17½.

Property Oscar Mansfeldt, Oakland, Cal.

Anteeo Wilkes for black colt, foaled May 12, 1889, sired by Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼; first dam Amy Fay by Anteeo, 2:16¼; second dam by Alexander, 2:31¼; third dam by Naubuc, the full brother to Thomas Jefferson, 2:23; fourth dam Sacramento Maid, 2:38. Mare bred back to Guy Wilkes.

Alma M. for brown filly, foaled April 22, '89, sired by Antevolo, 2:19¾; first dam Frolic by Altoona, son of Almont; second dam by Sargent's Patchen.

I hereby claim the name of Sir Walter, for my chestnut colt, three white legs and one white foot, blaze on face, foaled March 7th 1889, by Joe Hooker dam Dolly Varden.

N. S. HAMLIN, Marysville.

Time: Suppressed and Otherwise.

It would be next to impossible to intelligently breed either the trotting or running horse without the help of the stop-watch, and it is a great pity that this all important implement can be made to lie—that is, that the timing judges sometimes do so. There are a large number of motives to make the watch go either slow or fast. The one that is the most often played, is that game that some ringers play that go through the free-for-all and fast class races on our half-mile tracks, particularly at our County Fairs. Here the officials make a bargain with the drivers, that their horses shall not be made uneligible to say the 2:30 class, and so the time is hung out 2:29½, 2:29¼, 2:30, when the trotting was done in 2:26 or 2:27. And the bad part of it is, that really honest, reputable men, that would scorn to suppress time or sell out in a race, are sitting right over in the grand stand, and have their watches out in every heat, and know what time is being made, but still do not expose these thieves. Bad name, is it not, but just, for the next race the winner of this one starts in he will perhaps have an honest horse and driver, taking only second place while if the ringer were not in, first money would be his, so you see this is clear robbery, and should be classed with pulling the favorite, or any other horse; keeping a horse in second place until some important entries close, so that you can have second money now, and start in a slow class next month, and various other such trickeries.

Another reason for a variation of the time is to secure registration by going in the 2:30 list. Here the time is made to be faster, instead of slower than it really is. I know of an instance of this, where a horse that could only speed a quarter at about a 2:37 gait was given a "record" below 2:30 on a half-mile ring, and then was reported as having trotted a match on one of our Grand Circuit tracks. This made her sire and a few other horses standard, and registered. I hope to get the full proofs in regard to this fraud soon.

Another case of the watch's erratic movements has come upon the field of action this year, when certain trotting and racing associations hung out purses of five hundred or a thousand dollars for horses to beat certain time, and in two cases, if the papers are to be believed, they falsified the time by a fourth of a second, and so saved their money.

If all reports are true, Oliver K. trotted in 2:15 and a fraction when his record of 2:16¼ was given him. If that is so, it was good retribution that he should go lame the next year, and so miss the chance of winning in a class one second lower than where he belonged.

If all honest men would disclose on these instance of time being suppressed or compressed the horse world would be much better.—L. C. BAKER, in the Horse World.

George Van Gorden, manager of Senator Hearst's Piedras Blancas Rancho in San Luis Obispo has made arrangements with A. McDowell, the well known Pleasanton driver to handle a four year old son of Director, dam by Echo, grandam by Elmo; the colt has been worked at intervals on the ranch but is inclined to pace. Next season Andy should have a good colt for he has all Director's characteristic points except color, being a dark (dappled) brown.

Continued from Page 333.

larger, the number of contestants greater, the quality of shooting finer, and the entertainment given the members more extensive than ever before. The management of the Garden City Gun Club has indeed been unequalled, and I take great satisfaction in expressing to that club on behalf of the Association our cordial thanks for their careful management of the meeting and cordial entertainment. To give something of general emphasis to appreciation of that kindness, I propose that we drink the health of the Garden City Gun Club, and that we stand as we drink it."

The toast was drank with enthusiasm. Dr. Miller was called on to respond, but asked Mr. Shortridge to speak for him. Mr. Shortridge in doing so said:—

"I feel highly the honor of speaking for the Garden City Gun Club to the State Sportsman's Association. We have been proud to have the Association visit us, and all that we have done in the way of entertainment has been an attempt to show how fully we appreciate the honor and the pleasure of having you among us. There is something ennobling in sport. It stimulates the more generous instincts of the heart, and develops a true manhood. Show me a true sportsman, and I will show you a man to whom I am willing to give my friendship and confidence unhesitatingly. I was never more in earnest than when I speak of friendship, and it is with sincerity that I pledge to you a cordial and heart felt friendliness wherever and whenever we may meet hereafter. Let us stand together for that sport where luck and skill go hand in hand, and let us as a body endeavor to raise the standard of sport in this Golden State of ours, until the laws in regard to game and sportsmanship shall be an honor to our glorious Commonwealth."

The toast, "The Garden City," was responded to by the referee who had acted through the meeting. After speaking in high terms of San Jose, he spoke of the consideration which had been shown him by the members of the association during the three days' contests. "This kindness and courtesy," said he, "has been very gratifying to me. My position was a trying one. I was called upon to supervise and overlook men, some of whom, with the double-barrel shot-gun, are the peers of any in the world, and many of whom are intimately acquainted with all the rules of trap shooting even to the most involved points. That kindness has given me much to be thankful for, and I assure you that I deeply and fully appreciate it. This has been the greatest meeting our association has ever had, and we will all go away with many pleasant memories of our stay in the Garden City." He closed by complimenting the management of the Garden City Club on the establishment of the team trophy match which he said was a proof of genius and practical common sense on the part of the management. The team matches, he said, will surely result in good to the association, and through it to sportsmen generally throughout the State.

The Pacific Club of Sacramento was toasted, and a response made by Mr. Coons of that city. Mr. Evans responded to "The Sportsmen of the Northwest;" Mr. Coykendall to the "Game and Fish of California;' Mr. Sperry to "Stockton, the Birthplace of the Association;" C. M. Shortridge and A. Hoehner to the "Press of California."

The health of the Garden City Club was then drank once more, and three rousing cheers given for the members, after which the company dispersed.

The following gentlemen were present: Messrs. Payne, Briggs, C. M. Shortridge, Sperry, Britton, F. E. Coykendall, A. W. Ingalsbe, Booksin, Tupper, Fanning, Burnett, Knight, Miller, Anderson, Reams, Scarlett, Miner, Bassford, Evans, Coons, Faull, W. B Hobson, Joe Delmas, R. Coykendall, F. J. Leffler, Will De Vaull, Camiraux and Bradley.

To the Top of Mount Whitney.

BY C. E. SHERMAN.

VII.

Reaching Kernville at 4 P. M. July 31st, a requisition was made, so it is said by one who seems to know much, and the sum of 25 cents was expended with wise economy, when the party passed through the town, fording the river a little above it, and sojourned for the night at the ranch of Joseph Cyrus, accepting the kindly proffers of his hospitality. Here are fine orchards, extensive fields of alfalfa, and for the choicest gems of the place, some splendid and well-born stallions. Sub-Deacon Daggett and the host shivered many a kindly lance over the merits of their respective equines, and the word was passed that ere too many moons, on other courses, their pets should try each others' metal.

Soon the long shadows of the lofty mountains came creeping over, rosy tints gave place to purple, gently the darkness of the night enwrapped the earth and the pilgrims in the sweet regions of Dreamland, rested and gathered strength for the travail of the coming day. Before them was the steepest ascent of the pilgrimage, not unsurmountable nor undurable, but a tedious monotony, constantly up and up and up, for twelve weary miles. No trials to call out lofty manhood; nothing to test the nerve and inflame the courage, thereby speeding the way; but only patient plodding with quick drawn breath and shortening step, until, the Hill Difficulty overcome, the glories, the beauties and the promise of the heights stand fully unveiled. Glimpses now backward now forward, with the winding of the trail, truly were granted, of such mountain grander as hardly can be described. But the way was rugged, the ascent steep and the eyes as with him of the muck rake were bent to the task and saw not the beauty of the hills.

Perhaps half way toward the summit, in an exceedingly rugged country, are located what were once known as the Harley group of mines. How the discoverer ever wandered so far away and so high will never be known. Yet it seems as though the prospector from the places of his discovering has an overmastering desire to wander into the most difficult places.

The prospector, bad luck to his enemies, never has received his due reward on earth. It is a mighty task to which he girds himself; to follow Nature into her fastnesses and there single handed and alone, to wrest from her treasury its golden stores. It requires high courage to become a solitary by day and night for month after month. Without the faculty of place, a man is soon lost; but never the prospector. Woodcraft, sun wisdom, shadow hints, star teachings, the lesson of mosses, the sermons of twigs and stones—all these he uses. He is a mighty Nimrod and lofty at cooking beans. Then to find his vein of ore requires the utmost patience and the most thorough inspection.

At the foot of a mountain he finds a bit of "float"; that is some little or large piece which by the eating of time has broken from the vein and rolled downward, none know how far. If satisfied with it, and here judgment has sway, up the mount he climbs, espying every rock with laborious patience until he finds more of the same family. And so on until he finds no more. Sometimes the vein sticks out of the ground, more often it is covered with the dirt, the leaves and debris of ages. Then he must dig and delve, and generally when his quest is found his judgment bids him leave it and hunt further for something better. And so season in and season out he toils unseen of men, aging by time, weakening by endeavor, rarely ever on this earth finding the foot of the rainbow, until at length he dies, leaving funds in the bank of Hope yet undrawn. He is a kindly soul, generally an original thinker, with exceeding contrary notions and deserves in the hereafter not only a harp of gold, but just as much of the ore from which it came, as will for once make him satisfied.

At the Cyrus ranch, packing the loads and riding on horseback, became the necessities of the future. Here the Chaplain and the Sub-Deacon, who had hitherto been riding in chaises befitting their cloth, took their first lessons in the mysteries of tying irregular objects fast to moveable bases and themselves became horsemen. To pack and fairly start, required until 10 a. m. Then pressing forward without lunch and no delays, except to replace and resinch slipping packs, first passing through a bare and open country and then amid timber, the twelve mile climb with 4500 feet ascent was made in six hours and at 4 p. m., altitude 7150 feet, Sumner Meadows were reached and camp "Done-climbed-up" was made.

The "Cultus" Bear.

Among the bears the great brown or cinnamon bear, called by the Indians of the Northwest the "Cultus" bear, is perhaps the ugliest customer to handle.

He is as bad a customer as the grizzly, and his temper is sometimes even worse, though perhaps he is not so hard to kill.

In the city of Seattle lives a man who has probably killed as many bears as any man now in the West. Born on the frontier, he was reared as a hunter and backwoodsman, and before the age when most boys are through with school he was an expert with the gun and rifle. He was so accustomed to wild beasts that he had learned to have no fear of them, and to rely on his own prowess and his trusty rifle. Well armed he would not hesitate to attack, single handed and alone, any animal which roamed forest, mountain or prairie. In his latter years he has become a keen sportsman, and a writer of renown over the nom de plume of "Silalicum." The following is a tale of his boyhood's home. His father, the old pioneer, finding the country in Illinois becoming settled fast, gathered together his household goods and with his family started for the far Northwest. Here in the fertile, smiling valley of the Sumass River, near the border of British Columbia, he built his new abode. Here the boy continued to follow the deer and hunt bears, panthers and wolves during the winter months. One evening in June, as the sun was declining, he came from the field, and picking his way through the blackened logs in the edge of the timber, started to bring home the cows whose bells could be heard jingling musically among the dark vistas of the virgin forest. As he reached the edge of the clearing the father shouted from the cabin door: "Hold on, Will! I want a deer," at the same time coming out with the shotgun in his hand. The gun was a light Parker, hardly seven pounds in weight. "All right" said Will, turning and starting back to meet his father. "What is she loaded with?"

"Double B's," said the old man.

Will took the gun, and stole carefully along the trail scanning every opening where the deer might be expected. Suddenly he heard a noise in the thicket, at a turn in the trail, as of some animal advancing through the bush. Stepping behind a tree, he stood with gun ready waiting for the game to break cover.

Then the bushes parted, and out came a great brown bear followed by two little ambling cubs. Will raised his gun; as the sight showed against the long hair of the neck, the stream of fire flashed forth, and down went the bear struggling and yelling in the trail. As the boy started forward to finish her, the high swilal bushes and young firs at his side, parted before an awful uprising mass of brown which, in a second, towered above his head, and before the brave boy could spring aside, a great he bear standing on his hind legs, and seeming ten feet high, stood over him with horrid growl and open mouth, his great paws raised for the crushing death blow. Quick as lightning, Will threw up the muzzle of his gun, and fired right under the bear's chin; the great mass toppled over backward, and fell with a crash, bearing down the bushes and saplings in its fall.

The boy thought this bear done, for he began punching him in the stomach with the muzzle of his gun. In a second the bear recovered, and with that lightning rapidity of movement, which seems impossible in so heavy looking an animal, gained his feet, and the boy felt that his hour had come.

Instinctively he held his gun up with both hands at arms' length to ward off the blow, but the great paws came down like a falling tree; the gun, with broken stock, flew through the trees thirty feet away, and the boy, half stunned with the blow, rolled almost under a great log at the side of the trail. He felt the weight of the bear pressing the breath out of his body; its hot blood gushing on his face, and with all his young strength he struggled to get under the log and away from the monster. As the bear raised a little to get at him, he scrambled and plunged under, and around the end of the log just as the great beast reached him with its paw, and the claws clutched his collar. "I don't know how it happened," said Will, "but I broke away somehow, leaving my clothes with him, and I never stopped or looked back till I got home. When I got there I had hardly anything on me but my collar and one boot." His father had gone away taking the hounds with him. Will got some clothes, took down his repeating rifle, and, taking the two shepherd dogs, started out to kill his bear, followed by his brave sister, who would not see him go out alone to hunt the monster. The dogs frisked and frolicked about thinking they were out after grouse, hunting through the crap-apple thickets and among the bush along the creek bottom. Coming to the scene of the struggle, Will soon gave them an idea of the game which was afoot, and they took up the bloody trail.

All the bears had disappeared in the forest, showing that the shot had not been instantly fatal even at close range.

The experienced dogs followed closely on the trail, and the boy worked along after them as well as he could, over fallen logs among the gathering shadows of the great trees. Suddenly there was a chorus of yells, then two howls of mortal agony, and all was still. With cocked rifle and hushed breath, Will crept on, every sense on the alert, and soon, amid the darkness of a dense thicket of sapling pines, he saw the two dogs stretched out dead. As daakness was coming on fast, he yielded to the entreaties of his sister, and they both returned to the cabin saddened and heavy hearted. Many a day the gentle girl mourned the loss of her favorites. Will, however, was bound to kill that bear or find his carcase. Bright and early the next morning, he started out to find an Indian hunter who was a great man on the trail. The "Siwash" who was fond of the young hunter, at once agreed to come.

Long and patiently he trailed the bear until at last he said pointing to a thicket "Cultus bear in there." Will crept cautiously in until in the shadow of the thicket. Then his eyes shaded from the stronger light soon became accustomed to the dim shade, and he saw quite near him the brown hair showing well up over a great fallen tree. The rifle sprang to his shoulder, his keen eye flashed over the sights and report after report followed until the smoke obscured his vision. Backing out of the thicket he waited. All was still. The two slowly worked their way in and there, lying across the log,, was the body of the bear cold and stiff.

The double B shot from the gun had done its work, and the bear had bled to death the night before. In the excitement of the moment he had shot too far to the left cutting away a part of the neck on one side. The bear had been on the boy so suddenly there had not been time to raise the gun and take aim.

Some days later a neighbor chopping in the woods, heard a wailing cry from a thicket; as he approached the spot a little bruin cub ran out and played about him like a dog. Taking the little creature up he carried it home. Then he got his rifle and, after some trouble, he came on the old she bear which had died from the effect of the other charge from the little gun.

E. H. FORBUSH.

San Joaquin Shooting Club.

The latest addition to the number of fine shooting clubs of California is the San Joaquin Shooting Club, of which the officers are, President, Capt. Henry Kenitzer; vice-President, C. T. Sanders, Treasurer, Thomas H. Day, Secretary, Jas. M. Streeten, and Chief of Commissary, J. G. Leibert. The members are Henry Kenitzer, John G. Leibert, C. T. Sanders, Howard Black, Thomas H. Day, O. E Brady, F. C. Zimmerman, R. Tiernan, Achille Roos, Jas. M. Streeten, Henry F. Emeric, Henry F. Wagner.

The membership includes some of the best shots and most consistent sportsmen of the State. The club has rebuilt the ark Alameda originally constructed by William Ryan. The new boat is a comfortable, perfectly appointed and even elegant shooting house. The club owns in addition a thirty-five foot steam launch of latest design, the engine being one of the Naphtha sort. The launch has been thoroughly tested on the bay, and has proved effective. The name of the launch is "Reagan's Sneezer," and if there is anything in a name, she will have the benefit of a twister.

While waiting to begin the trial trip, some gamins stood on the dock commenting on the new craft. Said one, "What steamer 's that?" Another who knew the builder's name and the peculiarity of the Naphtha engine, said, "That's Reagan's Sneezer." The name will stick.

On Saturday last the club boarded the launch, and taking the ark in tow, proceeded in state to the shooting ground, which will be used for the present about Elk Slough, on the San Joaquin River. The trip was much enjoyed, and the land owners received the club cordially, giving permission to shoot when and where the members pleased. Few ducks were found on Bouldin Island, but feed is abundant and prospects good for a lively season. The club is thoroughly fitted out, and will skim the cream from the sport along the river for many seasons to come.

Pacific Union Club Match.

The members of the Pacific Union Club, many of them, are expert in all the exercises usually characteristic of gentlemen, and the club contains the best anglers and shots in the State. A contingent of members fond of trap shooting visited San Bruno last week and spent a day at the traps. The birds were quick, with a strong favoring wind and the fact that almost all of the participants made high scores argues great expertness with the gun.

The first match was between Fish Commissioner J. Downey Harvey and Mr. J. M. Adams, the wager being a banquet at the rooms of the club. The wager was won by Mr. Adams, with a score of 17 to 15 out of a possible 25.

The second match was between Mr. Charles Josselyn and Mr. C. E. Worden for a stake of $100, and resulted in a tie of 18 to 18, but was finally determined in favor of the latter by a single shot.

In the third match, Mr. George Crocker tied sixteen points with Mr. Frederick Webster, but upon a second pair won the wager.

Before the arrival of the evening train, the shooting was suspended, and after another round of refreshments, the club left for the city. The following gentlemen participated in the day's amusement: C. E. Worden, Edgar Preston, J. M. Adams, Frederick Webster, Harry Woodward, Daniel Gillette, D. T. Murphy, A. C. Tubbs, Harry Veuve, R. B. Woodward, J. M. Quay, who scored the matches, and J. B. Wattles, who acted as judge.

The story about a bear-killing exploit in which our esteemed contributor "Silalicum" was the hero, is graphically told by Professor E. H. Forbush, President of the Natural History Society of Worcester, Mass. Professor Forbush has spent many years in field work, his collecting tours having carried him over pretty much the whole continent.

There was some misunderstanding about the reduced fare certificates used in connection with the recent meeting of the State Sportsman's Association, and all who failed to secure the reduced fare are requested to send their certificates to the Secretary at 313 Bush street, San Francisco. He will endeavor to straighten the tangle. All certificates should be stamped by the home ticket agents at places where the tickets for San Jose were purchased.

The Association reports fill so much space this week as to shut out almost everything else. The scores made by the representative men who gathered at San Jose may be studied with profit. Never before in the State have so many dead shots met. The interest in the meeting extended as far as Tacoma and Portland, and the Northern men are to be congratulated upon the fine shooting and general likeableness of their representatives, Messrs. Bringham, Close and Evans. The meeting next year at Sacramento will be a big one, and year by year the tournaments will increase until they number as many shooters as any in the country. It is to be hoped that members will not lose sight of the duties resting upon them aside from trap shooting. Game and fish protection are vastly more important than the trap work.

ATHLETICS.

Athletic Sports and Other Pastimes.

Edited by Arphippus.

SUMMARY.

The exhibition at the Mission Skating Rink on Monday evening for the benefit of the Pacific Athletic Club was a big success.

The professional bicycle men are in good condition for the tournament which opens at the Mechanics Pavilion to-morrow afternoon.

The out-door athletes are training hard for Thanksgiving Day, and the oarsmen are anxiously waiting for a final decision in regard to the proposed regatta.

RUNNERS, WALKERS, JUMPERS, ETC.

Dave Egan of the C. A. C. says that he will not compete in the November games. He has grown very fleshy of late, but he asserts that he will be in fine condition for the spring outdoor meeting.

A large crowd of amateurs were at the Bay District Track on Sunday morning. Williams of the O. A. C. and a well-known local professional runner ran several impromptu sprint races, and the Olympic amateur, who has improved very much in the last few months, downed his man every time.

Young O'Kane was also noticed amongst the crowd, and if he keeps up practice until Thanksgiving Day he will need but a very small handicap.

Captain George W. Jordan of the O. A. C. is closely watching the boys, as he is fully determined to frame handicaps that will leave no room for growling.

The University track recently received a coat of cinders and is now in good shape for practicing on. A large number of the U. A. C. athletes run on it morning and evening.

If Peter McGlade of the Law School enters the mile walk, Clift will be forced to break the college record.

The twenty-second annual fall games of the New York Athletic Club were held at their grounds on Travers Island Saturday, Oct. 5. About two thousand spectators were present, a large proportion of whom were ladies. The following is a list of the different events, with the names of the winners:—

100 Yards Run—Third heat: W. B. Coster, N. Y. A. C., 1st; W. N. Christie, T. A. C., 2nd, by 1 yd. Time 10 2-5 sec.

220 Yards Run—Third heat: T. J. Lee, N. Y. A. C., 1st; W. S. Cochrane 2nd. Time 23 2-5 sec.

440 Yards Run—W. C. Dohm, N. N. A. C., 1st; W. M. Christie, T. A. C., 2nd. Time 51 sec.

600 Yards Run—W. C. Dohm, N. Y. A. C., 1st; I. A. Deveraux, M. A. C., 2nd; L. R. Sharp, N. Y. A. C., 3rd. Time 1 min 13 4-5 sec.

880 Yards Run—W. H Dohm, N. Y. A. C., 1st; W. F. Thompson, S. I. A. C., 2nd; Ernest Thorpe, S. I. A. C., 3rd. Time 2 min 4 3-5 sec.

One Mile Run—A. B. George, M. A. C., 1st; E. Hsertberg, N. Y. A. C., 2nd; G. Y. Gilbert, N. Y. A. C., 3rd. Time 4 min 44 3-5 sec.

Three Mile Run—A. B. George, M. A. C., 1st; E. C. Carter, N. Y. A C, 2nd; W. D. Day, N. J. A. C., 2rd. Time 15 min 11 5-5 sec.

220 yards hurdle race—(2 feet 6 inches high) George Schwegler, S. I. A. C. 1st, A. Brown, P. A. C.; 2nd, L. Levien, A. A. C., 3rd. Time, 27 1-5 sec.

120 yards hurdle, (3 feet 6 inches high)—Final heat, Geo Schwegler, S. I. A. C, 1st; F. C. Puffer, N. I. A. C. 2nd; E. M. Vandervoort, M A C, 3rd. Time 16 4-5 seconds.

Running high jump—A. Nickerson, S. I. A. C. first, 5 feet 7½ inches; H. L. Hallock, S I A C second, 5 feet 7½ inches; E E. Barnes, N J A C, third, 5 feet 4½ inches. The two first men tied and on tossing for first place Nicherson won.

Running broad jump—M. W. Ford, S I A C, first, 21 feet 11½ inches; E. E. Barnes, N I A C, second, 21 feet 5 inches; C. T. Wiegand, N Y A C, third, 3d 21 ft.

Pole vault—Z. A. Cooper, B A A first, 9 feet 10 inches; A. Schroeder, N Y A C, second, 9 feet 6 inches; C. T. Weigand; N Y A C, third.

Putting the 16-pound shot—George R. Gray, N Y A C first, 42 feet 10 inches; F. L. Lambrecht, M A C second, 42 feet 6½ inches; E. J. Giavinni, N Y A C, third, 33 feet 11½ inches.

Obstacle race—G, I. Bradish, N Y A C, first; G Y Gilbert, N Y A C, second; J. C, Devereux, M A C, third; B. G. Woodruff, N J A C finished first in this race but was disqualified for not following the rules of the race.

All the athletes are invited to attend the cross country run of the Olympic Athletic Club which will take place at Millbrae to-morrow.

T. P. Conneff, the amateur five-mile champion of America, and Sid Thomas, the amateur ten-mile champion of England, will run a five-mile match race at the Manhattan Athletic Club Grounds, New York City, on Nov. 5th.

Joe Hesketh, the light weight champion boxer of the Pacific Athletic Club, will enter the O. A. C. boxing tournament, and one of the prizes will no doubt fall to him.

The G. G. A. C. is without a good out-door athlete to place in the field on Nov. 28th.

It is rumored that William Soto and Capt. Phil. Moody will soon run a 190-yard race. Moody is willing to give William Soto three yards start, but Soto wishes five yards. The Pacific Athletic Club desires to see both gentlemen settle this small difficulty. Who shall carry the target?

THE WHEETMEN.

H. M. Lichtenstein and three other wheelmen rode down to San Jose on Saturday last. They report the roads in splendid order.

Charley Fonda keeps in constant practice so that if anything turns up he will not have to go in off the reel.

To-morrow the great seven-days race will begin at the Pavilion. The races are certain to attract a large crowd of people. It is almost a forgone conclusion that several world records will be lowered. The ladies appear to be deeply interested in the female riders and will no doubt be largely represented at the Pavilion during the tournament.

AT THE OARS.

The bay was unusually rough on Sunday and only a few of the crews took their customary practice spins.

Only one crew left the Ariel Boat House: George Phelan, stroke; H. Pless and C. Pless, waist; Edward Finley, bow. H O. Farrell had the crew in charge.

W. H. Growney the single sculler of the Ariels has ordered a boat from Ruddick, with all the latest improvements. When the boat is ready Mr. Growney will commence practice and when in condition he will challenge all the local scullers to row for the championship of Mission Day.

The vicinity of Tiburon is an excellent location for a boat-house and some of the oarsmen should make an effort to establish a good rowing club over there.

Eugene Flanders of the Ariels is confident that he can defeat any of the Whitehall scullers, and is anxious to row some of the local men.

Ed. Finley, the rising young sculler of the Ariel Club performed a rather hazardous and difficult task on Sunday morning. The small boat of the club drifted away from the float and was on its way out to the bay when Finley happened to perceive its fast receding form. He immediately divested himself of his clothing and plunged into the rather rough and choppy water. The boat was fully a quarter of a mile away from the float when he first perceived it, but after a hard swim the daring young oarsman managed to reach it. Owing to the strong wind and rough water, the job of bringing the boat back to shore was a very hard one, but after a hard battle Finley, who is an expert swimmer, succeeded in landing it at the float.

CLUB JOTTINGS.

The amateur members of the California Athletic Club will not be allowed to enter the boxing tournament of the O. A. C. The O. A. C. is not to be blamed for its action in the matter. It is simply a case of paying the C. A. C. back in its own coin. Two of the most promising young amateurs the C. A. C. ever had in its ranks were expelled from the club for competing in games held under the auspices of the P. C. A. A. A. This is no doubt one of the reasons why the P. C. A. A. A. has been so stringent in the application of its rules.

The following notice has been posted up in the club rooms of the C. A. C.:

Any member of the California Amateur Athletic Club entering an athletic tournament under the designation of "unattached" or as belonging to any other athletic club than the California Amateur Athletic, will be expelled from the California Athletic Club. PHILO JACOBY, President,
OTTO FREUND, Secretary.

The amateur branch of the Golden Gate Athletic Club appears to be on the wane. The club evidently does not care whether it has any amateur out-door men or not.

Commencing November 14, 1889, the Olympic Athletic Club will hold a grand Amateur Boxing Tournament at the rooms of the Olympic Club, in the Alcazar Building, 120 O'Farrell Street, San Francisco, Cal. The tournament will be open to all bona fide amateurs. Representatives of the clubs composing the Pacific Coast Amateur Athletic Association must be duly accredited by the secretaries thereof. All other entries shall be deemed "unattached." Unattached applications must bear satisfactory endorsement. The entries will be divided into six classes, as follows:

Bantam	not exceeding		115 lbs.
Feather	"	"	125 lbs.
Light	"	"	135 lbs.
Welter	"	"	145 lbs.
Middle	"	"	158 lbs.

Heavy, any weight.

Each bout will be four rounds, for points.

Trophies to the value of one thousand dollars will be distributed among the first and second men in each class. The tournament will be held under the Olympic Athletic Club rules for amateur boxing, adopted October 5, 1889. Professionals will not be permitted, under any circumstances, to act as seconds. Entries close at the office of the Olympic Club, Tuesday November 5, 1889, at ten o'clock P. M. All entries will be subjected to the following constitutional tests of the Pacific Coast Amateur Athletic Association:

Definition of an Amateur.—"An amateur is one who has never competed in an open competition, nor for either a stake, gate money or entrance fee; one who has never competed under a fictitious name, nor with a professional for any prize; or where gate money was charged; one who has never instructed, pursued or assisted in the pursuit of athletic exercises as a means of livelihood, nor for gain nor any emolument; one whose membership of any athletic club was not brought about nor does not continue because of the waiver of the initiation fee or the remission of dues; nor because of any understanding, express or implied, whereby his becoming or continuing a member of such club would be of any pecuniary benefit to him whatever, either directly or indirectly; and who shall in all respects conform to the Constitution, By-Laws and Rules of this Association."

Definition of an Amateur Club.—"And of such amateur athletic clubs which, in addition to the adoption of the foregoing definition, shall have a bona fide amateur membership of at least twenty-five, and which shall be organized and continued for amateur athletic pursuits; and whose membership shall consist only of amateurs."

"No club which is a branch of, or bears the name of, or directly or indirectly receives support from, or whose members are required to qualify by first becoming members of any club which makes a specialty of professional contests, shall be eligible to membership in this Association."

1—Competitors shall weigh on the day of competition (at some hour to be fixed by the Board of Directors), in boxing costume, without gloves.

2—Competitors shall box in light boots or shoes (without spikes) or in socks, with knickerbockers, trousers, tights or trunks, and shirt (with or without sleeves), and boxing gloves of fair size and first quality.

3—In all competitions the ring shall be roped and of not less than sixteen (16) feet, or more than twenty-four (24) feet square. The posts shall be padded.

6—The Board of Directors shall appoint a referee, two judges and two time-keepers. When the judges disagree the referee shall decide. All decisions shall be declared by the referee and shall be final. None but the referee and the competitors shall be allowed in the ring during rounds.

5—In all competitions the number of rounds shall be four. The duration of each round shall be three minutes, and the interval between rounds shall be one minute. When thought necessary in order to reach a decision, an extra round, or rounds, may be ordered, in which case the interval between the extra round, or rounds, and the preceding round shall be three minutes. Should a glove burst or come off, it shall be replaced by the referee. Any tampering with the gloves by forcing the hair from the knuckles, or otherwise, shall be considered foul.

6—Each competitor shall be entitled to the assistance of two seconds (not professionals), who, during the rounds, shall not interfere, advise or direct the competitors; shall refrain from all offensive and irritating expressions, and in all respects conduct themselves with order and decorum.

7—Where a competitor draws a bye, such competitor shall be bound to spar such bye for the specified number of rounds, and with such opponent as the judges of such competition may approve. If such opponent be chosen from among the previously defeated competitors in the class, and he shall be adjudged the winner of the bye, he shall be re-instated, and eligible for further contest.

8—During the competition, if either competitor be knocked down, fall through weakness or otherwise, he must get up unassisted, ten seconds being allowed him to do so. The referee, meanwhile, must stand between the competitors, and if the competitor fails to come to the scratch in the ten seconds allowed, he shall lose the bout. A competitor on one knee shall be considered down.

9—If either competitor shall willfully throw himself down without receiving a blow (whether blows shall previously have been exchanged or not), he shall be deemed to have lost.

10—Any competitor voluntarily quitting the ring previous to the decision of the judges or referee shall be deemed to have lost.

11—In all competitions the decision shall be given in favor of the competitor who displays the best style and obtains the greatest number of points. The points shall be—for "Attack"—direct clean hits with the knuckles of either hand on any part of the front or sides of the head or on the body above the belt; for "Defense"—guarding, slipping, ducking, counter-hitting or getting away. Where points are otherwise equal, consideration shall be given the man who does most of the leading. A competitor clinching, to avoid punishment, shall forfeit points.

12—The referee may disqualify a competitor for delivering a foul blow, given intentionally or otherwise, and may also disqualify any competitor who is boxing unfairly, by kicking or hitting with the open glove, by hitting with the inside or butt of the hand, the wrist or elbow. No butting or wrestling allowed.

13—In the event of any question arising not provided for in these rules, the judges and referee shall have full power to decide such question or interpretation of rule.

14—In order that these competitions may be conducted in an orderly manner, it is suggested that the referee should request all persons present to refrain, while a competition is in progress, from any loud expression or demonstration.

PACIFIC CLUB ATHLETES—THEIR BENEFIT EXHIBITION A BIG SUCCESS.

About fifteen hundred people gathered in the Mission Skating Rink last Saturday evening to witness the benefit exhibition of the Pacific Athletic Club. Many ladies were noticed among the audience The exhibition netted the club about $250, which sum will be laid out for new paraphernalia for the gymnasium A fine brass band played popular selections during the evening. There were no programmes issued and the reporters found much difficulty in ascertaining the name of the performers. President, C. Giry opened the proceedings by making a brief but neat speech in which he stated the purpose of the exhibition. In conclusion he expressed a hope that the Pacific Athletic Club would yet become the Artisan's Olympic Club.

The first three events on the programme consisted of boxing exhibitions by very clever amateurs.

The next event was tumbling by eight amateur members of the club. Their names were Kehoe, Mack, Barry, Steve, Behlow, Russell, O'Dell and Ridley.

Professor Schwartz and his pupil Mr. Ritcher, next gave an exhibition of Graeco-Roman wrestling. The pupil won the first fall and the Professor the second one.

The horizontal bar act by Messrs Kenney, (clown) Behlow and Steve, was very good and called forth much applause.

F. Hemme, a young amateur member of the club, gave an excellent exhibition of slack wire walking.

Several exhibitions of boxing were given during the evening, the best one being by Joe Ohoynsky and Fred Woods. The former merely played with the latter, who by the way is indeed a very clever amateur middle weight.

A four-round contest between Joe Hasketh and Ed Morrissey, wound up the evening's fun. Some persons circulated a report to the effect that a "knock out" would be the chief event of the evening, but the report proved to be incorrect.

AQUATICS.

Last Sunday was the 25th anniversary of the Pioneer Rowing Club; nearly all the active members put in an appearance, and either took a row or stood around extolling the powers "of we fellers" a quarter of a century ago. Judging from the accounts related, they must really have scorched the Long Bridge Course in these times when they "hit her up to forty six." They had no open faced fly back split second timers in those days to record their mighty flights of speed or we might now hold the record for all distances, but, said Capt. Bannan, "I tell you what it is boys, us big four, Ned Nelson, Mike Long another man and myself rowed out of sight in three minutes when we were training for the Denny Brothers of Sacramento; yes, sir, three minutes myself and three other men."

Messrs. Sullivan, Long, Grouney, Heenan, Griffin, Stevenson and Brown were out in their singles last Sunday and during the week. There is some talk of a single scull race Thanksgiving, and all of the above mentioned will probably participate.

There is considerable talk of a championship barge race being rowed the 3rd of November, but the indications are that it will not amount to much. No crew can jump into a boat, take a few rows and then expect to make any kind of a race, and it is a fact nevertheless that there is no crew on our bay which has sat in a boat together half a dozen times since July 4th.

Edward Hanlan, ex-champion of the world, is writing a book, giving his experiences as a sculler, covering a period of fourteen years of races he has rowed and men he has met on the water, the title is "Roaming in a Shell in three Countries."

Thos. E. Flynn has resumed rowing, and is looking for a bargain in a shell. Anyone having a good new and sound $150 boat can dispose of it to Sir Tom for at least $40 spot cash, or $50 at ninety days.

Pete Mc Donald says that his last official act as President of the Pacific Rowing Association will be to adjourn that worthy body "Shin die". All right Peter' though the Heavens fall, do as you think best, no one cares, only don't disturbe its comatose state and Dominus Vobiscum.

Henry Peterson says he wants just one more chance at O'Conner over the Alameda Course, and thinks he can redeem himself.

LOST
A backer for Peterson.
FOUND
Two Ex Champions at Toronto.
WANTED
A man to row Searle.

Fast California Colts.

The trotting two year olds that have appsared in the California circuit this year are a better average lot than came out last season, though no one among them holds the supremacy over the other that Sunol held in 1888, says Hark Comstock in the New York Spirit. On the question of speed I have not yet seen one that has as much foot as Mr. George Valensin's black filly Fleet, by Sidney, out of Flight, by Buccaneer, though she has not yet won a competing race, and several of the others have beaten her. Her mile at Napa in 2:24 I did not see, but am told that she did it without skip or break. I believe it is faster than has yet been made by any other two year old as early in the season. Col. Strader, of Kentucky, spoke of it as a very superior performance. Her fault has heretofore been that she has been very unsteady in company, and when excited by it has shown a wilful temper and a disposition to kick. In this respect she is entirely unlike the Sidneys as a family. To humor her waywardness she has taken most of her work alone, and consequently while she has learned to go very fast miles by herself she has not been taught the duties of a race mare. Consequently the owner drew her out of the race in which she was to have started against Pedlar and Lorena at Santa Rosa, and decided to work her solely for a record breaker against time, but at Petaluma James Dustin was asked to get up behind her, and he worked her out two separate miles, both better than 2:27, in which she showed so much more steadiness that her owner reconsidered his plan. Dustin then took charge of her and commenced to work her in company. Her progress was sufficiently encouraging to decide them to start her in the two year old trot at Sacramento against Lorena, Pedlar and Regal Wilkes. She won the first heat in 2:28½, was third in the second heat in 2:30¼, and was distanced in the third in 2:31½, having tired so badly that many pronounced her the softest yet of all the Sidneys. But there are facts back of the case that put a more favorable light upon the performance. Dustin knew that he would have difficulty in getting her to go steadily in company unless he got her thoroughly tired before the race began. It is said that in the forenoon he gave her a mile in 2:29, and that shortly before the race he drove her two miles out in 5:10, which was probably quite as tiring as two separate miles in 2:30 with a race between.

While this work "steadied" her it was a pretty stiff dose to give a two-year-old on the eve of a race, and as the mile in which she was dismissed was really the sixth fast one she had trotted that day, it is not so much to be wondered that she tired almost to a standstill at the three-quarter pole. Dustin acknowledged his mistake, but said that he was misled as to her condition and the kind of work she had been given before she came into his hands, which was designed rather to sharpen her speed than to stay her up in endurance. I did not see her race, but have several times seen her at work. Four days after her race I caught her the middle half of a mile with a runner at her side in 1:10¼. The mile as a whole was not fast—2:30½—a break in the first quarter and a hindrance on the track in the last quarter having retarded her. She was started at Stockton a mile and repeat against time, as her owner was confident she could do two heats at a rate that would remove any impression that may have arisen from her race that she is faint-hearted. She did the first mile in 2:25 and the repeat in 2:24½, the latter an official record.

There has always been among running horses, and always will be among trotters, some strains that are gifted with an unusual amount of speed, that tire quicker than some other strains that cannot reach the same flights of speed, but when crossed rightly these very speedy strains are of inestimable value in breeding. That they need bracing up with stouter blood is true, but usually they possess an innate power that acts as a lubricator in the combination of stouter blood, to reproduce a pure frictionless action. It is not so many years ago that the Clay blood was in disgrace for being soft, and was belittled with the nickname of "sawdust." Yet in such stallions as George Wilkes, Electioneer, Victor von Bismarck, Dauntless, The Moor, etc, it had so potent an influence in lubricating the action of other crosses, that the most intelligent breeders of to-day accord the Clay blood an estimate of highest value

That the Sidneys are subject in a measure to criticism upon their gameness I am not prepared to dispute, but I do not believe in shutting our eyes to the great value that may be derived from the immense speed that goes with the blood. Adonis, the bay four-year-old pacer, who drove Yolo Maid out three heats in 2:12¼, 2:14½ and 2:15½ at Sacramento, is by Sidney, out of a daughter of Captain Webster, son of thoroughbred Belmont, and is a very game horse. He has not the turn of speed possessed by either Yolo Maid or Gold Leaf, but he can come nearer doing three heats at his best mark than any pacer I have seen, and, if I mistake not, is one that will train on as he matures. He is an instance going to show that if crossed on hard bottomed lines, like Belmont in running or Mambrino Patchen in trotting lines, there need be no fears that the Sidneys will fail to stay out their races. No stallion is adapted to all crosses. If I owned Palo Alto I would like to try the experiment of breeding him upon some Sidney fillies, and if I owned Sidney I would surely try to get hold of some thoroughbred mares of the same character as those with which Governor Stanford has been so successful, and in addition to that I would get, if possible, as many typical granddaughters of Mambrino Patchen as I could (it being no longer practicable to get his daughters), the Mambrino Patchen cross having assimilated much thoroughbred quality through the dam of Lady Thorn, which is a wonderful broodmare element. The Mambrino Patchens themselves were not overspeedy as a family, and lacked something of pliability in their action. But whenever a good lubricating cross strikes the line out jumps a high-class trotter. There are many sons of Mambrino Patchen whose daughters must prove of great value as broodmares, but among them all I confess I have not seen any that seemed to hold the type of the family more closely than the get of Mambrino King, which possesses all the broodlike conformation and even more quality and finish than the get of the old horse. Then, too, they are coming to the front on the track; his progeny are dead game and promise to surpass in trotting capacity the get of the old horse. For these and many reasons, as it becomes necessary to adopt a new generation, I would have great faith in the progeny of Mambrino King to continue the splendid influence inaugurated by his sire, and to cross with Sidney, Electioneer, Wilton, Bell Boy, Stamboul, all of the Wilkes and other great natural speed givers. Popular as the blood of Mambrino Patchen is, I think few people fully realize its immense value as a capacity giver to other strains. It possesses so much of the thoroughbred organism converted to trotting habits that it is doing for the present generation of trotters much such a work of refinement as was effected at an early stage by the blood of Seely's American Star. But I am diverging and will try to illustrate this in a future letter.

Perhaps the next in speed of the two year olds that have appeared on the circuit is Pedlar, bay colt by Electioneer out of Penelope, by Mohawk Chief; 2nd dam thoroughbred Planetia, by Planet; 3rd dam La Henderson, by Lexington; 4th dam Kitty Clark, by imp. Glencoe, etc. Pedlar showed a trial of 2:26 before going out on the circuit, but has been quite uncertain in his races. He occasionally trots a heat very steadily, and then unaccountably acts badly in the next. He made his first start at Santa Rosa, where he was strong favorite in the betting, but continually broke, and was defeated in the slow time of 2:38 and 2:33 by the steady-going and reliable Lorena. At Petaluma he started against her again, and though he had far the most speed, he broke so that she easily beat him the first heat in 2:30. After this, however, he got on his good behavior and won the two succeeding heats in 2:27¾ and 2:35¼ without a break. At Sacramento he made his third start against Lorena, Regal Wilkes and Fleet. I did not see the race, but by report he led the field steadily and handily in the first heat until past the half-mile pole, when he broke and made such bad work of it that all passed him and he was distanced. He does not appear to be a bad tempered horse, but in this case is said to have refused to take the bit after breaking, like a horse whose mouth has been hurt. I think he is the making of a great horse. He is very handsomely turned, of good size and good length, powerfully knit, with capital legs and feet, and as clear-winded a colt as can be found. His action is bold, strong and clear. He is said to have worked a mile better than 2:25 at Oakland.

Regal Wilkes, the big bay son of Guy Wilkes, is also a very fast two-year-old. If I recollect rightly, his dam is by Sultan; second dam by The Moor. He was most of the time favorite in the betting before the two-year-old race at Sacramento, his first start, but got no better than second position in each heat, Fleet taking the first in 2:28½ and Lorena the second and third in 2:30¼ and 2:31¼. The race did him good, and a week later at Stockton he had a walk-over for the two-year-old stake, in which he announced an attempt to beat 2:30. He succeeded in winning in 2:26½, which is, I believe, the fastest record for a California two-year-old this season, excepting Fleet's. He is owned by Mr. Wm. Corbitt, and it is said that for age and handling was considered last Spring as promising as anything yet raised at San Mateo. He was not in the trotting string in the early part of the campaign, and being somewhat short of work, tired a little at the finish of his mile in 2:26½. He is much larger than the typical fast-trotting two-year olds, and need's age to give strength to his growthy proportions. Lorena is a large, rangy brown filly by Jim Mulvenna, 2:27¼, son of Nutwood, dam Elmorena by Elmo; second dam by Cassius M. Clay; third dam by Harris' Hambletonian. She was bred and is owned by Capt. Ben Harris, of San Francisco, and is the best "money" two-year-old of the lot, for although she has not yet shown as much speed as either of the others, what she has you can rely on. At Napa she lost to Del Mar, son of Electioneer, in 2:34 and 2:30. The following week, at Santa Rosa, she beat Pedlar in 2:38 and 2:33½. Still a week later he beat her in faster time, after she had taken the first heat in 2:30, and nearly the measure of her speed as far as one can judge from her races. A week later at Oakland she won the first heat in 2:30½, lost the second to Mista, by Alcazar, in 2:31, taking the third and race in 2:31. At Sacramento she lost the first heat in 2:28½ to Fleet, winning the second and third, respectively in 2:30¼ and 2:31½, thus winning three races out of five starts, whereas none of her opponents have won more than a single race. In her last race she defeated Fleet, Pedlar and Regal Wilkes. Lorena is a big-gaited, steady-going mare, with very true, even action, entirely devoid of those rough-gaited features that so often characterize the descendants of Nutwood.

Miste, bay filly, by Alcazar was not entered in the regular two-year-old stakes, but her owner, Mr. L. J. Rose, sent her to the circuit and succeeded in getting on some races for her with the winner of different stakes. After Del Mar won his first race at Napa where he got a record of 2:30, she met him at Petaluma two weeks later, and downed him in 2:34½ and 2:29. After Lorena won the stake at Petaluma, Mr. Rose got a race with her at Oakland, but though he captured the second heat in 2:31, the more steady Lorena got away with the race.

There are many other good two-year-olds that have been held back, some of which may appear in the later circuit, when a general lowering of records is looked for by those already described. Among the dark ones are some thought to be quite as good as those that have shown publicly.

Palo Alto's performance at Stockton, when he won in straight order in 2:16¼, 2:17¾, 2:13¾; average time, 2:16, was not an unlooked for event, as my former letter foreshadowed. I did not see the race, but Mr. M. Salisbury, owner of Direct and Margaret S., as well as several others who were present, say that had the track been fit near the pole, he would with the same effort have gone a second faster in the final heat. It had been harrowed deep for the runners near the inside, obliging him to keep well out from the pole all the way around to get fast footing. That he will, barring mishaps, cut his record down still faster before the season closes, very few doubt who have watched his progress. Sunol has gone back to Palo Alto, as she is homesick and does not thrive while travelling. It is understood that she will be prepared for a fast mile later in the season. How fast, I will not undertake to say, as I do not want to make the readers of The Spirit dizzy. It seems almost ridiculous to say it, but those who ought to know say with a perfectly sober face that when she is Sunol there is no part of a mile in which she cannot take the lead from Palo Alto. Whether it will ever come out publicly or not remains to be seen. He has been a very certain and reliable horse throughout his turf career. She has been quite the contrary as to condition, but is apparently thoroughly sound. Yours,

HARK COMSTOCK.

A Swimming Horse.

Though not exactly a sporting item, all lovers of the horse will be interested in the account of the following feat of a horse at Glenelg on Saturday week. Early in the afternoon a stray horse on the sands was observed to make his way into the water and deliberately swim out to sea. People on the jetty watching the event expected him to proceed perhaps a hundred yards or so and then return, but the hundred yards grew into a quarter, and the quarter swelled to the half, and still the horse kept on his seaward course. People naturally wondered how far out this latest long-distance swimmer would proceed, but on he went until his body was but a speck on the horizon, and he was fully three miles from shore. Then he turned around and leisurely returned towards land, and struck in the direction of the entrance of the Patawalonga creek. When quite close to land some boys frightened him, and he coolly turned to the left and swam down the coast for fully another mile, eventually landing midway between Henley Beach and Glenelg, after being for fully three hours in the water. Dozens of people watched the occurence, which was the subject of no end of wonder. —[Sydney (Australia) Referee.

Axtell's New Owners.

A telegram from Chicago quotes Col. J. W. Conley as saying: "I am proud of my purchase, and if the horse lives it is only a matter of a few years when he will earn in stud fees and purses what I paid for him. His record of 2:12 Thursday at Terre Haute is four seconds better than the fastest made by horses a year older, and shows Axtell to be without a peer among young horses. I have already booked thirteen mares to him for the next season at $1,000 each, and can easily get all the others I want. Axtell will be shipped today from Terre Haute to Lexington, where he will remain until cold weather, and then will probably be taken to California. With the advantage of the coast climate, Axtell will, in my opinion, be ready next summer to lower the record of 2:08¾ made by Maud S. My horse will be entered and started in races next season, and where there is money enough hung up to make an inducement—that is, after the early part of the season, when he will be in the stud."

Col. Conley, the man who bought Axtell, is an Ohioan by birth, and has been a resident of Chicago twelve years. He has been interested in trotters for a quarter of a century. He is now owner of Johnston, the fastest pacer in the world; record 2:06½.

Axtell has been taken to Lexington, Ky., from whence he will be returned to Terre Haute and placed in Budd Doble's care. The colt will be sent to California with Mr. Doble's string this fall, and will winter at Los Angeles. Early in the spring he will be returned to Terre Haute, where he will stand during the season of 1890.

Col. Conley is quoted by the Associated Press from Chicago as being the sole purchaser of Axtell. This is a mistake. There are four owners, as at first announced, and they each have shares of $26,250 in the horse, or $105,000 altogether. Col. Conley is one of the owners, and Mr. Ijams of Terre Haute and Messrs. Brush and Moran of Detroit the others.

BASE BALL.

Clarke has torn down all the idols set up by San Francisco fans, and established himself in their place. The youngster has been given three trials and has proven himself a ball player in every sense of the word. Last Sunday's game was enough to tear the heart out of a veteran twirler, yet never once did "Dad" lose spirit. His support was about the vilest ever given a boxman, but the ex-Omahan kept up his deceptive delivery through all the muffs, fumbles, passed balls and sky-rocket throws that characterized the work of the home team, and in the last two innings he let out an extra link or two and won the game, despite the efforts of his comrades to give it away. Clarke not only showed himself to be a great pitcher, but he also fields his position superbly is a darling base winner and is quite handy with the stick.

Robinson has distinguished himself in a new role—that of the baby act. Last Sunday he entered a formal protest with the California League Directors against the playing of Clarke with the San Franciscos, claiming it was in direct violation of the rules of the League to sign an Eastern player after August 15th. The rules say that no player shall be signed after that date without the consent of at least three of the Directors, and this consent Finn had when he signed Clarke. The Colonel evidently forgot all about that rule when he signed Wehole and Stallings, as they were secured after that date, and none of the managers were asked to give their consent. Robinson sees the pennant slipping out of his grasp and he is squealing, but it will do him no good.

A word to President Mone! In the Eastern leagues the umpires are kept apart from the players as much as possible. They are strictly prohibited from borrowing any money or accepting presents from any player, and, when practicable, are obliged to travel on separate trains and to board at Hotels other than the ones occupied by players. This is done for the purpose of preventing any jobs being put up between the umpires and players, and to insure perfectly fair and impartial umpiring. In view of this fact, Mr. Mone, it does not seem to be just the proper thing for the California League umpires to associate daily and nightly with the players at a favorite resort on O'Farrell street. Friendships are bound to be formed, and animosities will spring up that are bound to have more or less influence in rendering decisions on the ball field. The actions of the umpires at all times should be as strictly under control as those of the players; they are paid good salaries and during the championship season they should not be permitted to associate with the players at the card and billiard tables whenever they desire.

Goodenough and Lang are having a pretty race for base-running honors. The latter is slightly in the lead, but he has the advantage of having participated in more games than the Sacramentan. Speaking of base running, Tom Brown and Jimmy Fogarty, both California boys, had the same number of stolen bases to their credit in the National League season just closed. Brown will probably receive the gold watch that was offered to the best base runner, as he did not play as many games as the Philadelphian. Brown's daring base running has won a number of games for the Bostons this season.

Jerry Hurley can have anything he wants in Stockton. His back-stop work is a revelation to the Slough City fans. Clarke says that with such a catcher he thinks he could win every game the 'Frisco's are scheduled to play.

Pete Sweeney says he will never attempt to play third base again. It is a wise resolution, and one that he ought to religiously keep. He will not retire from the game, however, but will finish the season on first base for the local team, Charley Sweeney going to second and Hanley to third. This last change is a poor one for Hanley, although covering second base with great success is unable to throw across the diamond with any degree of accuracy. Finn should put Charlie Sweeney on the left corner and keep Hanley where he is.

Harry Howard is one of the most brilliant infielders ever seen on a California diamond. Quick as lightning in his movements, accurate in his fielding and throwing, and ever on the alert to back up a play. It seems a pity that he should be kept in the outfield. Harris would soon find a vast difference in the work of his team if Howard was brought into second base and Creamer placed in the right garden.

George Van Haltren and wife will arrive from Chicago in a few days. Van will probably be seen on the local diamond in the exhibition games at the close of the regular season, between the Bostons and the California Clubs.

Two of the California clubs will start for "furrin parts" about the middle of January to be gone about two months. Manager Harris will take the Stockton Club to Honolulu, where a series of games will be played with the Hawaiian League, consisting of five clubs, arrangements for which have already been perfected. Colonel Robinson and the Oaklands will leave for Cuba via the Southern route, playing exhibition games at Los Angeles, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas, at New Orleans and the cities of the Gulf States. Both trips ought to prove successful financially, for [the California League and players are as well known as any in the country,

ROD.

Of Great Interest.

The subjoined communication to the Board of Fish Commissioners indicates both a high degree of public spirit on the part of Mr. Loud, and also the widespread interest which the activity of the Fish Commission of California is arousing. Mr. Loud's opinions are entitled to credence, and we urge other sportsmen to send us their views, in order that out of the knowledge of many a wise selection of birds to be imported may be made. Mr. Loud's communication is as follows:

CORVALLIS, OREGON, October 1, 1889.

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF FISH COMMISSIONERS, State of California.

Dear Sirs and Gentlemen:—There seems to be quite a difference of opinion as regards the kind of game birds that should be planted in California. Being an old resident of your State, and soon to be again, I feel somewhat interested in this matter, and having spent several months in Oregon, a greater part in the field, I have made it a study to note the habits of the Mongolian pheasant. After getting all the information I could from the farmers and the local sportsmen in and around the valley, I feel satisfied in saying they would not be a bird that would suit the people or the sportsmen, being unfit for food after matured. They compare with the sage hen when grown, being too tough for table use; also very destructive to crops, especially the vineyards and gardens.

The interest I have to see a good game bird planted in California has caused me to write the few letters that have been published in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN and to recommend the bob white quail and the prairie chickens, being both fine game birds for the table at any age, being hardy and good breeders and feeding greatly upon wild seeds, I feel satisfied that these birds can be found along the line of the Santa Fe Railroad, in Indian Territory and the Pan Handle of Texas.

I spent several months during the past winter hunting in that section and feel warranted in saying the birds can be easily obtained there. An agent should be sent from California to attend to this in person and to prepare a large crop to keep the birds in as they are collected; to visit the farmers and show them how to trap and to collect them from the trappers as many of the farmers are too poor to keep a team. When ready for transportation, small cases made low, so the birds cannot climb over each other, should be made four or five tiers high with handles on the side so they can be handled easily, and arranged with water and feed troughs, each compartment holding about fifty birds if "quail" or 250 to a coop, and about one half as many prairie chickens.

Should your honorable boad not find a person well posted in this matter in hand, your humble servant will offer his services, to visit the before named country and collect birds and return with them to California: and should you decide to introduce the wild turkey, I feel sure they can be secured in the same location. I will refer you to E. T. Allen, gun store, 416 Market Street, and to J. K. Orr. Wishing you success in your undertaking, I remain,

Yours respectfully.

C. A. LOUD, Corvallis, Oregan.

A Fruitful Trip.

Deputy Fish Commissioner F. P. Callundan, spent last week in clearing Russian River of Indian fish traps between Ukiah and Cloverdale.

These traps are made by driving a double line of stakes across the river and filling the spaces between the stakes with interlaced willows. At distances along these wicker dams baskets are attached. Then a quantity of a plant known as amole or soap root is distributed through the wicker work. This soap root has a curious effect on the fish which approach the traps. It appears to stupefy them, and when they get into the baskets, which are distributed along the weirs, they are easily captured by the Indians.

Mr. Callundan thinks he destroyed at least fifty within twenty miles. He found a large camp of Indians on the Russian River preparing to put in four brush dams, but they ceased their work when told that the law forbade structures of this kind.

On the first of last month a law went into effect which prohibits the placing of sawdust in any stream where its presence would be injurious to fish. As several parties have been convicted for violating this law, and as the Commissioners evidently intend to enforce the same, millowners are preparing to burn this product in the future.

Mr. Callundan reports a wholesale slaughter of game by illegal means in the northern coast counties. Traps are used in some localities in large numbers to capture quail. As it is unlawful to capture quail in this manner, it is a common practice to shoot into a trap filled with captured quail for the purpose of marking them with shot wounds.

Despite the rough state of the water on Sunday last several immense catches of rock cod were reported.

Two gentlemen from this city caught three hundred and fifty at Kershaw Point, the catch weighing two hundred and two pounds.

Several large catches were made at Angel Island and at California City.

The smelt did not bite very freely on account of the rough water.

Several well-known professional boxers rowed over to Alcatraz and at the setting of the Sun they were on their way back to the city with four hundred pounds of very large rock cod.

The fish bit unusually well in the vicinty of Goat Island, on account of the strong wind the boats that went over there early in the morning were compelled to return to Oakland before noon.

A gentleman who was fishing off the wharf at Santa Cruz on Sunday last caught a very large skate, which measured about six feet from tip of nose to tip of tail and weighed about sixty pounds. The gentleman had just hooked a large rock cod when the skate swallowed cod and hook. A row boat had to be procured to land the fish.

THE KENNEL.

Dog owners are requested to send for publication the earliest possible notices of whelps, sales, names claimed, presentations and deaths in their kennels, in all instances writing plainly names of sire and dam and of grandparents, colors, dates and breed.

M. D. Walter is located at the Kinney place, near Bakersfield, with his string of dogs for the coming field trials. There are ten dogs in the string.

Henry Wormington in London.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—According to promise, I write you these few lines, hoping to find you as jolly as ever. I often think of you and do wish you was here with us, especially when I get in with a lot of these jolly, red-faced old Englishmen. Most of them are like yourself in regards to their size and weight, and it is hard work to get them to take a drink till after business hours. Then, you bet, they are ready for it, and don't you forget it. They never think of going to bed till 12 o'clock, and, as you know, that don't do me, as I like to go to bed early and get up early. They are great people for telling jokes and singing some good, old-fashioned songs, but they cannot beat you. I would give a good deal if I could tell them one quarter of what you could. They would laugh themselves to death, I think. Well, we have just returned from Paris; have seen it by night and by day. It is a wonderful city London is grand, but nothing to compare with Paris at this time. I am glad to get back, as I do think it would kill me to be there much longer, as there is so much to be seen my poor old eyes have nearly gone back on me. I don't see however my poor old stomach has been able to stand it so well, but I do think the trip is going to do me good. My daughter Alice is getting fat, and I am several pounds heavier than I was the last time I saw you. It is very strange, but I can eat meats here and in California I cannot. I often take a small rump steak 1½ inches thick and mutton chops the same. But crossing that devilish English Channel made me deathly bad, but not sick. Alice was very seasick. I would actually rather cross the Atlantic Ocean than the channel. We had a lovely passage over, and in fact we had a nice trip the whole 6,000 miles. I have shown Miss Alice the house she was born in. She is well pleased with the English people and also with England much better than she expected she would be. I must say they all treat us very kindly, and I do assure you we have invitations enough to go and visit friends and relatives for the next six months. This is the third visit to old England since I landed in America in 1856, with just one copper cent in my pocket, and I do assure you they treat me better this time than they ever did for this reason. I have always told them the truth about America and the people, and I am happy to think I did for several reasons, although many times I was used to think they doubted my word by their actions; but a great many of the old folks that were used to want to know so much about America are living yet and have sons and daughters living in some parts of America and doing well, and several of them have written back to their fathers and mothers, and told them that what Mr. Henry Wormington and Mrs. Wormington told them about America was correct, but I tell you, they do want to know so much that it tires me out sometimes.

I assure you the exhibition is grand, and to do it justice it would take one month. We took a ride up in the tower. I have sent you several papers since I left; don't know if you got them or not. I have only had but one thing happen since I left to make me feel bad, and that was when I first landed at my father's house to see the two dear old souls changed so much in the last eighteen years. Mother was going on crutches, so crippled up from rheumatics; father was out riding his horse, and very childish for all that he can sit up straighter in the saddle to-day than I can, but I am afraid he will come to grief, as these English horses are so fast and strong, that if his saddle should ever turn with him he will be killed. My mother asked me to talk to him in regard to it, which I have done, as he might take notice of what I would say to him. "Bless your soul, Harry, if I had a good hunter I could do a little more fox hunting yet." What do you think of that? Nearly ninety years old, he always was a good rider and a splendid shot; he has a beautiful horse and carriage, but prefers to go in the saddle all alone; he told Alice and I it was at our command at any time. I hope you go to see Mrs. W. sometimes; I often wish I had her with me to do some of the talking, as she can do it. Alice is like myself, not very good at it; I'm a little bashful, but she is improving. I don't suppose you will be able to make half this out, but read what you can, and burn it. Please remember me to all inquiring friends if I have any.

LONDON, England, Sept. 20, '89. H. WORMINGTON.

FOR  SALE

DANIEL WEBSTER,

One of the Finest Bred Stallions in the State of California.

Stands 15½ hands high. His weight is 1,150 pounds, and his color a majestic black. He is an exceedingly stylish animal. He was foaled in June, 1881, and is by Carr's Mambrino (his mother being Beautiful Belle), he by Mambrino Patchen, he by Mambrino Chief, by Mambrino Paymaster, by imported Messenger. Daniel Webster's dam was Beautiful Bell, by Taxation, by Lexington—dam Black Swan by Messenger Carrol—his dam Messenger Maid by Cooper's Bay Messenger—Swan's first dam being Katy Aubrey, by American Eclipse—second dam Buzzard, and fourth dam Mary Grey, by imported Messenger. Can be seen at the Club Stables, 409 Taylor Street. Price within the reach of any one wanting a stallion.

THE

B. & Y. HOOF OIL

GOOD FOR MAN OR BEAST.

Will positively destroy the effects of the "Cattle Fly"

A SURE CURE for Sores, Scratches, Cuts, Wounds, Bruises, Corns, Thrush, Foot Rot, Quarter Crack, Sand Crack, Dry, Brittle, Hard and Fevered Hoof, or any local trouble about the Horse.

Warranted to make the hoof grow without cause of complaint on the part of the horse-shoer for gumming his rasp.

B. & Y. New Process Neats Foot Oil,

Best Leather Oil made.

CHEAP AND LASTING.

Recommended by leading Harness Men, Drivers and Trainers. Is well adapted to wet weather, as it does not open pores like old process goods.

Ask your dealer for it, or send to

HUNT & DOREMUS,

99 FLOOD BUILDING, - San Francisco.

At Auction!

—:o:—

THURSDAY, Oct. 24, '89,

At 1 P. M., on the Premises,

In the City of PETALUMA,

.....Known as the.....

Fillebrown Place,

Formerly known as the Hinman Place.

23 ACRES of LAND,

with all Improvements, consisting of Two-Story Dwelling House, with Outsheds Barn, Dry House, three Chicken Houses, two Wells of good water. Water is piped to the house. Two sub-drains on the property carry off the surplus water.

Fine Full Bearing Orchard of Eighteen Acres,

Consisting of PLUM, FRENCH PRUNE, GERMAN PRUNE, PEAR, ALMOND, APPLE, PEACH, WALNUT TREES and GRAPE VINES.

The property lies within twenty minutes' walk of the Railroad Depot, and ten minutes from the Postoffice.

Sale made by order of Probate Court and Subject to Confirmation.

The attention of REAL ESTATE OPERATORS is called to this Sale, as the proximity of the Property to the center of the city admits of its being subdivided into small tracts at a good profit.

The property commands a view of the entire City and Valley.

TERMS OF SALE—Ten per cent of the purchase money payable to the Auctioneer at the time of sale, balance on confirmation of sale by Superior Court.

MIDDLETON & SHARON,

AUCTIONEERS.

22 Montgomery Street, S. F.

PERRIER-JOUËT & Co.

EPERNAY

CHAMPAGNE

W. B CHAPMAN,

Sole Agent for Pacific Coast.

For sale by all first-class Wine Merchants and Grocers.

HORSE OWNERS!

TRY GOMBAULT'S

CAUSTIC BALSAM.

A Safe, Speedy and Positive Cure for Curb, Splint, Sweeny, Capped Hock, Strained Tendons, Founder, Wind Puffs, all Skin Diseases or Parasites, Thrush, Diphtheria, Pinkeye, all Lameness from Spavin, Ringbone or other Bony Tumors. Removes all Bunches or Blemishes from Horses and Cattle.

Supersedes all Cautery or Firing.

Impossible to Produce any Scar or Blemish.

Every bottle sold is warranted to give satisfaction. Price $1.50 per bottle. Sold by druggists, or sent by express, charges paid, with full directions for its use. Send for descriptive circulars. Address

LAWRENCE, WILLIAMS & CO., Cleveland, O.

CATTLE.

The Dairy.

One of the most striking instances of the effect of feed on product is recorded by the Mark Lane Express as the result of a recent experiment at one of the English agricultural colleges. An Irish cow was selected for the experiment. One month after calving, she having up to that time received nothing but pasture grass, she was fed 3½ pounds of crushed oats night and morning, making seven pounds of grain a day, for two weeks. She made 8 pounds of butter per week. Then she was given for two weeks 3½ pounds of decorticated cotton seed cake night and morning. The yield of butter was the same, but higher colored and of firmer texture. Then the ration was made up of 1½ pounds of the cotton seed cake and 1½ pounds of the crushed oats, 3 pounds of which were fed night and morning. This increased the butter yield to 10 pounds a week, although the feed of grain was one pound less daily, showing the two foods in combination to be much more effective than either alone. Then equal parts of decorticated cottonseed cake, crushed oats, wheat bran and palm nut meal were mixed together and 3 pounds of this combination fed to the cow night and morning. The butter yield at once came up to 14 pounds a week. This shows the effect of combination and variety. Next there was a return for two weeks to the 3½ pounds of crushed oats night and morning—one pound more a day than of the mixture—when the butter yield suddenly dropped to 6 pounds a week. A permanent return was then made to the last named mixture and ration, when the butter yield went up again to 12 or 13 pounds a week and remained there "for a considerable time." There is a hint here worth remembering and acting on. We have all the foods named but the palm nut meal, and that we suppose we can get as well as the English dairymen who are said to be adopting the ration. Cannot some of our experiment stations find a good substitute for the palm nut meal, and form a ration that will include corn meal and be just as effective as the one that appeared to operate so magically upon the Irish cow? It is probable that other breeds would be favorably affected in the same way by such a ration which seems to flatly contradict the generally accepted idea that the butter yield cannot be materially increased by feed.

The Boston people—or, rather, milk dealers—appear to be considerably waked up on the milk question. They are trying to get at some scale whereby milk may be bought and sold without doing injustice to any one. Naturally their first drive is at the amount of solids contained in the average milk of the different herds. Analyses of 391 samples showed 19 below 11 per cent. of solids, 121 between 11 and 12, 192 between 12 and 13, 51 between 13 and 14, and 8 above 14 per cent. of solids. Car No. 1 contained 88 samples averaging 12½; car No. 2 contained 11 samples averaging a little over 12; car No. 3 contained 52 samples averaging 12; car No. 4 contained 71 samples averaging 12, and car No. 5 contained 112 samples averaging 12¾ per cent. of solids. The low average is attributed to the wet weather and extra succulency of the feed. The milk is said to be deficient in sugar and fat. The lack of sugar in sweet corn, which has been noticed by many, is given as evidence of the truthfulness of this conclusion: The quantity of milk has been increased, but the quality lowered. The increase has been mainly in the element of water. It causes lower figures, but the extra amount makes up for this loss in price and keeps the dairyman's receipts at about a fair average. Now all this analysis of milk and development of facts is interesting and confirmatory of the popular opinion about the effect of excessive moisture on quality, but what does it settle as far as the equity of the case is concerned? The analyses shows only the condition at the time when the samples were taken, but do not touch the future at all. There is a constant daily variation in quality which must daily be ascertained in order to do justice to all concerned. Have the Boston men discovered any method whereby they can test the milk of any dairy on every car that reaches them? If not, they are still beating the air. The test for solids is as simple and just as any, as it is made by simple evaporation. Can this be done every day? And then can average samples of every herd be always taken? This taking of samples is a nice thing to do. One or two cans may not truly represent the rest, and the sample taken from a single can may not truly represent the contents of the whole can. The obstacles in the way of reaching perfect justice are many.

We see there is some discussion as to the origin of the present creamery system. Mr. G. S. Bliss, of Vermont, former secretary of the Vermont Dairymen's Association, is right when he says it did not originate with Jesse Williams of Rome, N. Y., who is the accounted father of the associated cheese-making in this country. In all probability, however, associated cheese-making suggested associated butter making. The first butter made in factories was in those that took a portion of the cream off from the milk before making cheese. Then followed carrying the milk to factories and setting it in deep cans in pools of water. Somewhere between 1870 and 1874—about 1873, we think, it was suggested through the columns of the Utica Herald, then popular among dairymen, that by a uniform system of setting milk at home and a uniform system of skimming, only cream need be carried to the factory, and thus save much handling of milk both ways. It was not long afterward before the Fairlamb system of cream-gathering was started in the West—first in Iowa, we believe—and cream was rated by the guage, there being placed in the side of the can a scale which was supposed to indicate the amount of cream required to make a pound of butter. The system spread rapidly and began to come East, when it was discovered that a guage of cream might make a pound, a half a pound, or a pound and a half of butter, but the average was about right. Then Schock & Bolinder invented their churn test, which was rapidly adopted by the creameries, and other tests have since followed, but none better than the first churn test for buttermaking. The later tests show more accurately how much fat there is in the cream, but they do not indicate what portion can be extracted by the churn. This is a brief and we believe correct outline of the origin of the present creamery system.

If of sufficient importance, doubtless dates could be obtained, as most of the parties at first engaged in it are still living. Mr. Bliss is right in saying that "creamery butter" as a brand is about as definite as the phrase, "as big as a piece of chalk." It never was definite. As soon as Eastern men began to invest their capital in Western creameries, all the best butter in the market was at once quoted as "creamery," and the brand was boomed for all it was worth. But the brand has gradually lost its popularity, it having become well known that all the real fancy butter in the market is made in well-appointed and well-managed private dairies. Many private dairymen, from the beginning of the popularity of the creamery, put up their butter in creamery packages and branded it "creamery," because, as they said, "it was made by the creamery process," and this practice is still continued. A few private dairymen who know what their goods are as to quality, have had the courage to stand aloof from the popular drift, and they all get a good price for their butter. At least nine-tenths or more of the butter made in the country—it was in 1880, 27-28ths—is made in the private dairy, and the most of it is first-class and consumed at home, it never having occasion to go go into the general market. The private dairy does not deserve the abuse which it has received from the boomers of the creamery system.

In breeding dairy stock, individual merit and the possession of desirable qualities are more to be considered than the breed, which is valuable only as it indicates the probable possession of these qualities, with the power to transmit them. The breed or the individual animal that possesses the most desirable points and gives the best return, in milk, beef or work, is the one to be desired. In breeding for beef, not only quantity but quality should be considered. If for work, both weight and endurance, coupled with activity, should be aimed at. The dairy animal should be bred more for quality than for quantity, more for the value of the returns at the pail than for size. Too many Holsteins have been reared because they were Holsteins, and too many Jerseys because they were Jerseys, and so on. The small animal with the rich mess of milk needs to be bred up and to have the flow increased. The large animal with the large yield of only fairly good milk needs to be bred for the improvement of the quality of the milk. This can be done by selecting and breeding from the animals giving the richest milk. We want more lean meat in our hogs, which means more nitrogenous food and exercise. For mutton sheep we want the large carcass of lean and fat well mixed and tender, and for wool we want not only weight but fine and even fiber, strong and elastic. In short, we must always have a purpose in view in breeding, and subordinate everything else to that purpose.

It will generally be observed that big feed and big yield go together. There is nothing unphilosophical about this. So long as the yield increases with increase of feed, it pays, no matter how much may be fed, provided the cow's system will stand it and convert the extra feed into milk and butter. It becomes thus far a mere question of converting raw material into manufactured product. A cow cannot make something out of nothing and the point to be determined is only how much many be fed with a paying profit. In some of the remarkable tests, it would not be strange if the feed should be pushed beyond the point of profit, nor if the cow should be injured by forcing her beyond her normal capacity. The Holstein-Friesian Register calls attention to the feed of the Jersey cow Cromwell Maid, when from July 21 to July 27, 1887, she averaged 19½ quarts of milk per day, which made 29 pounds and 12 ounces of butter. Her daily grain feed was 6 quarts of corn meal, 7 quarts oatmeal, 2 quarts of pea meal, 1 quart of oil meal, and 6 quarts of mid'lings. This is figured ont to be 34 87 pounds of grain feed daily, which is certainly very high for a 900 pound cow. But how could she be expected to produce such a prodigious result without it? Comparison is made with the feed of the Holstein-Friesian cow De Kol 2d, which made 33 pounds and 6 ounces of butter in 7 days. The daily ration was 18 pounds of hominy chop, 7 1-2 pounds of wheat bran, and 3 1-2 pounds of cotton seed meal—a total of 29 pounds of grain. She wheighed 1500 pounds, and averaged a pound of butter for 6 1-2 ounces of grain feed, while the Jersey consumed 8 7-32 ounces of grain feed for a pound of butter. Thus it appears that a pound of Jersey butter costs more grain feed than a pound of Holstein-Friesian butter, the smaller animal eating the more. We do not question the fairness of this statement, as far as it goes; but unfortunately there is a big ommission. Only the grain feed is given. How much grass, hay, or other food did each animal consume? With this ommission, the comparison is incomplete.

CANOEING.

Oakland Canoe Club.

The quarterly race for the Mayrisch badge came off last Sunday, and as there had never before been so much preparation and anticipation of a great race for the honors, a large crowd of guests and admirers of aquatic sports were assembled at the Cakland Canoe Club's quarters by one o'clock, eagerly watching the various canoes as they took their "preliminary canters" up and down the estuary before the start. The holder of the badge for the last three months has been the Mystic, the Frolic having held it for the two preceding quarters. She, however, was unfortunately disabled on the very day of the last race, and so could not enter. There was therefore, intense interest to see which one of the old rivals would excel. There were also others who considered their chances most promising. Mr. R. Engelbrecht's dark horse Surprise, built for the occasion, Gypsy, like the Mystic, having a new plate centreboard in place of a radix; Dart, with a new set of sails, deck seats, etc., and many others.

The wind, which had been freshening all the morning, blew a stiff gale by two o'clock, and several of the canoes which intended entering withdrew at the first flag. The following canoes appeared at the line: Mystic, Com. W. W. Blow; Gypsy, A. H. Blow; Frolic, Vice-Com. H. D. Harrison; Bonita, A. Gump; Whisper, W. Morrow; Dart, H. Olsen; Tuck, A. Parle; Surprise, R. Engelbrecht. At the word a very fair start was effected, the Gypsy at once taking the lead, closely followed by the Mystic and Whisper. The canoes fairly flew before the gale, presenting a beautiful spectacle. Suddenly Frolic pulled up on and passed Whisper and Mystic, and a little later on Gypsy. Presently Gypsy's rudder broke, and she had to retire. The Tuck had also disappeared from the scene. Dart lost his main sail and was delayed in coming round to recover it, but pulled up again in good style, passing Mystic, and at the stake, where the wind lightened considerably, coming close up to the leader. After rounding and hauling sheets it looked bad for Frolic, with her reduced canvas, Dart being close behind her, but the wind came up again with greater violence than ever, and away they went, scuppers under. Mystic was over-crowded, and sagged off from the wind and was soon some distance to leeward. Frolic gradually drew away from Dart, going somewhat closer, and finally finished first by one and one-half minutes. The times were as follows:—

	Start.	Finish.	Expd. Time
Frolic	2 35	3 12	37
Dart	2 35	3 13½	38½
Whisper	2 35	3 14½	39½
Mystic	2 35	3 14-50	39-50
Bonita	2 35	3 20½	45½

Surprise did not round stake.
Gypsy retired.
Tuck retired.

The judge was Oscar W. Davis of the Mohawk Canoe Club, of Troy, N. Y. Timekeeper, Hervey Darneal.

This was one of the best races ever held on the estuary, and a test of the boats in heavy weather. Most of the canoes were over-canvassed from excess of zeal on the part of their skippers. Frolic has won the badge now three times, that is, every time she has entered for it. The Surprise is likely to develope speed when got into proper shape.

TENTH ANNUAL FAIR
OF THE
District
AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION
No. 6,
Los Angeles, Cal.

Time of Nomination for the GUARANTEE PURSE, $2 000, for the 2:20 Class, EXTENDED TO OCTOBER 1ST.

Speed Programme and Entries, October 21st to 26th, inclusive.

1.—Running. Half-mile dash; for two-year-olds. L. J. Felton, of Santa Ana, b g Steve Stroud, Al Workman, of Los Angeles, b m Henrietta, Chino Ranch, b f Idle Belle; John Gries, Compton, s g Washington Bartlett; L. J. Rose, sorrel filly; Wm. Baker, Santa Paula, s m Humming Bird; Harry E. Rose names Rose Mead; N. A. Covarrubias names b g Gumbo; J. W. Donathan, San Jose, ch c Herbert Earl; Kelly & Samuels, Sacramento, b g Pliny and b m Adelaide; Ben P. Hill, San Diego, g King David; M. A. Forrester, Capistrano, ch f Juanita.

2.—Running. Mile dash; for all ages. Charles Thomas, Jr., San Jacinto, b s Cordovia, U. F. Del Valle, Camulos, blk g Del; Al Moraine, Los Angeles, g g John Treat; Harry E. Rose names Dan M. Murphy; John Reavey, Sacramento, b f Bessie Shannon; W. L. Appleby, Santa Clara, Wild Oats; B. P. Hill, ch g Mikado, ch m Odetta, br c Sid, and ch g Tycoon; Chas. Horan, Sacramento, s g Jim Duffy; Kelly & Samuels, br m welcome.

3.—Trotting. 2:20 class. L. J. Rose, b g Dubec; E. B. Gifford names blk g Don Tomas; J. W. Donathan blk g Franklin.

4.—Running. One-half mile and repeat for all ages. Chino Ranch, b g Idle Man; Harvey McLain, dk b s Typesetter; Kelly & Samuels, b m Susie S.; B. P. Hill, gr m Eva; E. R. Den, Santa Barbara, names b m Ella Hill; M. A. Forrester, b g Johnny F.

5.—Running—one and one-eighth mile dash, all ages—L. J. Felton of Santa Ana, b g Steve Stroud; E. C. Donalech of Los Angeles s g Nacho B.; Al Moraine of Los Angeles, g g John Treat; J. D. Dunn of Los Angeles s s Four Aces; Chas. Horan, s g Jim Duffy; Kelly & Samuels, b g, Ed. McGinnis; W. L. Appleby, g Wild Oats; B. P. Hill, ch m Odetta, ch g Mikado, br c Sid, ch g Tycoon; E. R. Den names b s Othelo.

6.—Trotting, 3-minute class—L. J. Felton, br g Othello, C. A. Durfee, b s Raymon; Chino Ranch, b s Woolsey; L. J. Rose, b m Moro, J. D. Dunn, s m Orphan Girl; John F. Dodson, Willmington, br m Duchess; H. W. Lawrence, Santa Barbara, names br s Rucker; A. F. McPhail, Santa Barbara, names s s Glenwood, J. B. Kenne y, Long Beach, names dark red g Danger.

7.—Pacing, 2:30 class—Henrietta Stock Farm, Willmington, ch s Rory O'More; Geo. A. Vignoli, L. A., s m Sunrise; A. J. Candle, Santa Ana, blk m Roxy; W. P. Johnson, Alhambra, r g Phil Freiler; Geo. H. Clark, Fairview, Orange County, b g P. G.; J. Willits, Santa Ana, names blk s Silkwood; Thos. L. Burke, San Diego, b g Olett.

8.—Running—three-quarters mile dash for 3-year-olds—Al Graham, L. A., s m Nelly Gray, Chas. Thomas, Jr., b s Cordova; P. C. Donalech, s g Nacho B.; John Reavey, b f Bessie Shannon; W. L. Appleby, g Wild Oats; B. P. Hill, ch m Odette; Harry E. Rose names b g Dan M. Murphy; E. R. Den names b m Ella Hill; M. A. Forrester names ch f Lomita.

9.—Running—one mile and repeat for all ages—Chino Ranch, ch g, Tip; W. L. Appleby, g Wild Oats; B. P. Hill, br c Sid, ch g Mikado; Kelly & Samuels, br m Welcome.

10.—Ladies' riding—to be filled at any time up to date of meeting.

11.—Trotting, 2 27 class—E. B. Gifford, blk m Bell B; Chino Ranch, b s Albion; L. J. Rose, b g Dubec; D. J. Murphy names blk s Soudan.

12.—Running. One and one-half mile dash; for all ages. P. C. Donalech's s g Nacho B.; J. D. Dunn's s s Four Aces; Charles Horan's s g Jim Duffy; Kelly & Samuels' b g Ed McGinnis; W. L. Appleby's Wild Oats; B. P. Hill's ch m Odette, ch g Mikado, br c Sid; E. R. Den's b s Othello.

13.—Running. Five-eighths of a mile dash; for two-year-olds. L. J. Felton's b g Steve Stroud; John Gries' Compton, s g Washington Bartlett, Chino Ranch's b f Idle Belle; L. J. Rose's s f; J. W. Donathan's San Jose, ch c Herbert Earl; Kelly & Samuels' b g Pliny, b m Adelaide; B. P. Hill's King David; Harry E. Rose names Rosemeade; N. A. Covarrubias names b g Gumbo; Al Workman names Henrietta; M. A. Forrester's ch f Juanita.

14.—Guarantee Purse, $2,000; entries extended to October 1st.

15.—Running. One and one-quarter mile dash; for all ages. U. F. Del Valle's blk g Del; Al Moraine's g g John Treat; John Reavey's b f Bessie Shannon; W. L. Appleby's Wild Oats; B. P. Hill's ch g Mikado, br c Sid, ch g Tycoon; Chas. Horan's s g Jim Duffy; Kelly & Samuels' br m Welcome; E. R. Den names b s Othello.

16.—Running. Seven-eighths of a mile dash; for three-year-olds. Al Graham's s m Nelly Gray; Chas. Thomas Jr's b s Cardova; P. C. Donalech's s g Naicho B.; Harry E. Rose names b g Dan M. Murphy; E. R. Den names b m Ella Hill; John Reavey's b f Bessie Shannon; B. P. Hill's ch m Odette.

17.—Trotting. 2:50 class. C. A. Durfee's b s Raymon; L. J. Felton's br g thello; John F. Dodson's br m Duchess; Elias Williams' ch s Goldnut; Chino Ranch's b s Woolsey; L. J. Rose's bl m Moro; J. B. Denman, Norwalk, b g Victor; J. D. Dunn's s m Orphan Girl; H. W. Lawrence names b s Rucker; J. Willits names b m Daisy W.; J. W. Robinson, Los Angeles, names Gov. M.

18.—Trotting. 2:35 class. M. E. Ryan, Hanford, s m Addie E.; Wm. Smith, Los Angeles, b m Belle Forest; George C. Smith, Santa Maria, b m Topsy; Thos. Chrisman, Ventura, b g Richmond Jr.; Joe Roads, Visalia, gr m Kitty Agnew; D. E. Whiting names ch s Inca Jr.; N. A. Covarrubias names b g Nigger Baby; J. B. Kennedy names dark red g Danger.

19.—Running. Two-mile dash; for all ages. Chas. Thomas, Jr.'s b s Cardova; P. C. Donalech's s g Naicho B.; Chino Ranch's ch g Tip; G. L. Waring, Santa Monica, g Telephone; J. D. Dunn's s s Four Aces; W. L. Appleby's g Wild Oats; B. P. Hill's br c Sid.

John D. Gall. Jas. P. Dunne

"The Resort,"

No. 1 Stockton Street, cor. Ellis,

San Francisco.

PHIL J. CRIMMINS. JOHN C. MORRISON.

"Silver Palace,"

36 Geary Street,

San Francisco, Cal.

THE BUCKINGHAM.
OLD STRAIGHT WHISKIES.
141 Montgomery Street.
303 Bush Street, S. F.
M. J. BALFE, Proprietor.

Breeders' Directory.

Advertisements under this heading 50c. per line per month.

HORSES AND CATTLE.

PETER SAXE & SON. Lick House, San Francisco, Cal.—Importers and Breeders for past 18 years of every variety of Cattle, Horses, Sheep and Hogs.

HOLSTEIN THOROUGHBREDS of all the noted strains. Registered Berkshire Swine. Catalogues. F. H. BURKE, 401 Montgomery St., S. F.

CLEVELAND BAYS and Norman Horses, Jersey Cattle, and pure bred Poland China Hogs.—DR. W. J. PRATHER, Fresno, Cal.

G. VALENSIN. Valensin Stock Farm, Pleasanton, Alameda County, Cal.—The get of Sidney, 2:19¾; Valensin, 3 year old, 2:23; Shamrock, 2 year old, 2:25, out of first-class mares, for sale at reasonable prices.

SAN MIGUEL STOCK FARM, Walnut Creek, Contra Costa County, Cal.—Standard-Bred Trotters, Colts and Fillies for Sale. IRVING AYERS, No. 34 Fremont Street, S. F.

MAPLE GROVE FARM—GEO. BEMENT & SON.—Registered Ayrshire Cattle and Essex Swine. Oakland, Cal.

HENRY C. JUDSON. Wild Idle Farm.—Breeder of Thoroughbred Horses. The home of "Wild Idle." P. O. Santa Clara; Box 223.

W. S. JACOBS, Sacramento, Cal. — Breeder of Thoroughbred Shorthorns and Berkshire Hogs.

J. H. WHITE, Lakeville, Sonoma County—Breeder of Registered Holstein Cattle.

EL ROBLAS RANCHO—Los Alamos, Cal., Francis T. Underhill, proprietor, importer and breeder of thoroughbred Hereford Cattle. Information by mail. C. F. Swan, manager.

SHORT-HORNS—Imported and Recorded Short-Horns of the best strains. Catalogues. Address P. PETERSON, Sites, Colusa Co. Cal.

PAGE BROTHERS.—Penn's Grove, Sonoma Co. Cal. Breeders of Short-Horn Cattle; Draft, Roadster and Standard Bred Horses.

VALPARAISO PARK. — Thoroughbred Durham Cattle. Address F. D. Atherton, Menlo Park.

JAMES MADDOCK, Petaluma, Cal.—Trotters trained at reasonable prices. Stock handled carefully. Correspondence solicited.

SETH COOK, breeder of Cleveland Bay Horses, Devon, Durham, Polled Aberdeen-Angus and Galloway Cattle. Young stock of above breeds on hand for sale. Warranted to be pure bred, recorded and average breeders. Address, Geo. A. Wiley, Cook Farm, Danville, Contra Costa Co., Cal.

B. F. RUSH, Suisun, Cal., Shorthorns, Thoroughbred and Grades. Young Bulls and Calves for Sale.

WANTED

To know present whereabouts and owner of stallion

"EFFINGHAM,"

by "SPECULATION," dam thoroughbred Belmont mare "JIB." Address,

R. J.
Care "Breeder and Sportsman," 313 Bush Street, San Francisco.

Situation Wanted.

THE UNDERSIGNED WANTS A STEADY position on a first class Stock Breeding Farm. Has had many years experience in handling stallions of all kinds. Also in breeding mares and caring for their foals. Strictly sober and reliable. Can give satisfactory references. Address

CHAS. H. GEMMILL.
Santa Rosa, Cal.

Highland Farm,

LEXINGTON, KY,

Home of Red Wilkes.

Standard-bred Trotting Stock

For Sale,

Sired by Red Wilkes, Wilton, 2:19¼; Allandorf and Sentinel Wilkes, out of highly bred Standard Mares of the most fashionable blood of the day.

W. C. FRANCE, Proprietor.

Brushes.

BUCHANAN BROS.,
Brush Manufacturers,

609 Sacramento Street, two doors above Montgomery.

Horse Brushes of every description on hand and made to order. Bristle Body Brushes our Specialty

JESSE E. MARKS & CO.,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers of Choice Brands

Havana & Key West Cigars

922 MARKET ST., S. F.

R. LIDDLE & SON

538 Washington St., S. F.,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

Guns, Rifles and Pistols.

A Full Line of FISHING TACKLE and SPORTSMAN'S GOODS.

Orders by mail receive prompt attention.

BOYCE TABLETS.

Leg and Body Wash.

THE BOYCE TABLETS are packed in a nicely decorated metal box with hinged lid—one hundred tablets in each box; directions for use plainly engraved upon the box; therefore, the convenience of the package—no liability to leakage and breakage—economy and ready solubility, together with the absolute certainty of their action, will at once commend the use of BOYCE'S TABLETS to the intelligent horsemen of the country. TABLETS sufficient to make one hundred pints of leg and body wash are conveniently carried in an inside coat pocket or in the hip-pocket of the trousers.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y, August 23, 1889.

BOYCE TABLET CO., Terre Haute, Ind.

GENTLEMEN: I look upon horses the same as human beings. They say that a horse has no soul. I don't believe that is possible. It does not seem to me that so true, brave and noble an animal as a horse, after having spent a life of toil and drudgery, will die, and that is the end. I feel like thanking everyone who does a kind act for the horse family, and for that reason, if for no other, I take the opportunity of thanking you for having invented a medicine that brings as much comfort to them as I am sure your CELEBRATED TABLETS do. Mr. Wm. McClosson, the foreman of my stable, tells me that he has never tried anything in his long experience that gives such relief to a sore horse as the wash prepared from your medicine.

Hoping for the sake of the horse family that every horse owner in the land will try it, I remain,

Yours truly, JOHN SPLAN.

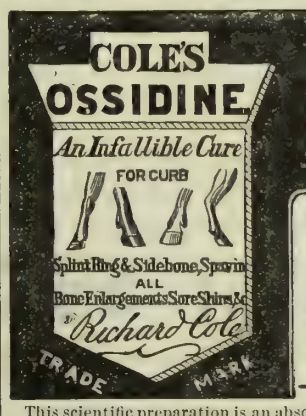
Price per Box of One Hundred Tablets, $2, sent postpaid to any part of the United States; six boxes for $10. A sample of BOYCE'S TABLETS will be mailed to any address on receipt of four cents to pay postage. These TABLETS are warranted to keep in any climate. Address

BOYCE TABLET COMPANY,
600 Wabash Avenue, - - - Terre Haute, Indiana.
J. A. McKERRON, Pacific Coast Agent,
228-230-232 Ellis Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Ho! For the Races!

GENTLEMEN PAY all BETS on HEATS and RACES in

MOËT & CHANDON



CHAMPAGNE.

-:- "WHITE SEAL," -:-

THE PERFECTION OF A DRY WINE.

For Sale by all the Leading Grocers and Wine Merchants.

SHERWOOD & SHERWOOD,
PACIFIC COAST AGENTS,
212--214 Market Street, San Francisco, Cal.

OSSIDINE

Results obtained at the well-known KALAMAZOO FARM.

KALAMAZOO, MICH., Sept. 15, 1888.

GENTLEMEN:—We have used OSSIDINE for the past two years, and consider it invaluable for Sprung Tendons, Curbs, Ringbone, and Spavins; there is nothing equals it: and for us it effected a permanent cure where firing failed, although performed by one of the most successful veterinarians on the continent. We have recommended it to others with like success, and believe it has more merit than any blister ever used. Very respectfully yours,

S. A. BROWNE & CO., Prop's.

This scientific preparation is an absolute cure for all bony or callous lumps on horses, and is a more powerful absorbent than "firing," without creating the slightest blemish.

Acknowledged by leading horsemen of the world to be the ONLY preparation that will remove a Bone Spavin after it has become ossified.

We have authority also to refer to

Mr. JEROME I. CASE, Mr. FRED. GEBHARD, Mr. JOHN PORTER (Trainer to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales),

And hundreds of others from whom we have very flattering testimonials.

One Style Only. $3.00 per Bottle.

A. P. BUSH & CO.,
149 Pearl St.,
BOSTON, MASS.,
Sole Agents for United States and Canada.
Beware of Imitations.

SOLD BY C. N. Crittenton, A. R. Van Nest & Co., and C. M. Moseman & Bro., NEW YORK CITY. Morrisson, Plummer & Co., Peter Van Schaack & Sons, CHICAGO, ILL. John D. Park & Son, CINCINNATI, O.; Floyd & Foster, DETROIT, MICH.; F. S. Slosson, CLEVELAND, O.; Meyer Bros. Drug Co., ST. LOUIS, MO.: R. A. Robinson, LOUISVILLE, KY.: H. H. Moore & Son, STOCKTON, CAL.

NOTICE.

C. BRUCE LOWE,
Pedigree Stock Agent,
19 Bligh Street,
SYDNEY, New South Wales.
Reference—J. B. HAGGIN, ESQ.

"DICKEY'S,"

SIXTH AVENUE AND D ST.
Near entrance to Bay District Track.
Choicest Brands of
WINES AND CIGARS.
A Delightful Resort.
Telephone 1485. J. R. DICKEY, Propr.

Shoes For Comfort, Elegance and Durability.

Having my own Factory, and giving my personal supervision to all work I am in a position to warrant perfect satisfaction. Inspection invited.

Gentlemen's Park Riding Boots made to Order.

FACTORY—S W. cor. Battery and Jackson Sts.
SALESROOM—Pioneer Building, corner Stevenson and Fourth Streets.

A full line of Boots and Shoes constantly on hand, and rules for Self-Measurement by Mail.

JNO. T. SULLIVAN.

SAMUEL VALLEAU. JAS. R. BRODIE

J. R. BRODIE & CO.,
Steam Printers,
—And Dealers in—
Poolseller's and Bookmaker's Supplies.
401—403 Sansome Street, corner Sacramento, San Francisco.

EGAN & ADDINGTON,
Bank Exchange,
2d and K Streets, Sacramento.
Superior Wines, Liquors and Cigars.

Pacific Coast.

Blood Horse Asso'n.

Fall Racing Meeting, 1889.

Bay District Track.

San Francisco,
NOVEMBER 16, 19, 21, 23.

Entries Close FRIDAY, Nov. 1.

FIRST DAY—NOVEMBER 16th.

No. 1—Purse, $400; for three-year-olds and upwards; $15 entrance from starters to go to second horse. Winners in 1889 at this distance when carrying weight for age or more of one race to carry five pounds, of two or more 10 pounds extra. Maidens beaten at this distance if three years old allowed seven pounds; if four years old or over allowed twelve pounds. One mile.

No. 2—The Ladies Stakes for two-year-old fillies. Closed.

No. 3 The November Stakes for all ages; $25 entrance, $10 forfeit with $500 added; $75 to second, $25 to third. Winners over this distance this year of two races handicaps excepted) to carry five pounds of three such races to carry ten pounds extra. One mile and a half.

No. 4—Selling Purse $350, of which $50 to second, for three years old and upwards. Fixed valuation, $1,000; three pounds allowed for each $100 less down to $700 then one pound for $100 down to $300; selling price to be named through the entry box at 5 P. M., the day before the race. Three-quarter mile heats.

SECOND DAY—NOVEMBER, 19th.

No. 5—Purse, $400; $50 to second, $25 to third for three-year-olds and upwards. Winners this year of any race over this distance (handicaps and selling races excepted) to carry three pounds, of two such races five pounds of three or more ten pounds extra. Beaten maidens allowed three pounds. Three-quarters of a mile.

No. 6—The Vestal Stakes; for three-year-old fillies. Closed. One and one-quarter miles.

No. 7—The Record Stakes; for all ages; $25 entrance, $10 forfeit, with $500 added, of which $50 to second, $25 to third. Weight for age. Five furlongs.

No. 8—Purse $350. Handicap; for two-year-olds; $10 from starter, $5 declaration. First horse to take the purse, second horse 70 per cent., third horse 30 per cent. of starting money and declarations. Weights announced on the first day of the meeting. Declarations due at 5 P. M. the day before the race. Seven furlongs.

THIRD DAY, NOVEMBER 21.

No. 9—Selling purse $350, $50 to second; for all ages. Fixed valuation, $1,200. Two pounds allowed for each $100 less down to $800, then one pound for each $100 down to $3 0. Selling price to be named through the entry box at 5 P. M. the day before the race. One and one-sixteenth miles.

No. 10—Purse $350, $50 second; for three-year-olds and upwards. Weight for age. Half mile heats.

No. 11—The Autumn Stakes; for two-year-olds. Closed.

No. 12—The Fame Stakes; for three-year-olds. Closed. One and three-quarter miles.

FOURTH DAY, NOVEMBER 23rd.

No. 13 Purse $400; $50 to second, $25 to third; for three-year-olds and upwards. Horses that have started at this meeting and not won; if beaten once allowed five pounds; twice, ten pounds; three times, fifteen pounds. One and one-sixteenth of a mile.

No. 14—Purse $550; $50 to the second; for two-year-olds that have started and not won at this meeting. Horses beaten once allowed five pounds, twice, eight pounds; three times, fifteen pounds. Winner of No. 8, if carrying in that race rule weights or more not barred. Three-quarters of a mile.

No. 15—The Holiday Handicap for all ages; $25 entrance; $10 declaration; $500 added, of which $110 to second, $ 0 to third. Weights announced on the third day of the meeting at 10 o'clock A. M. Declaration due at 5 P. M. the day before the race. One and three-eighths of a mile.

No. 16—Purse $350; $50 to second. Owners' Handicap for all ages. weights to be named through the entry box at 5 P. M. the day before the race. One mile.

CONDITIONS.

These races will be run under the Revised Rules of the Association, adopted February 4, 18 7. Owners and trainers will be supplied with copies on application to the Secretary.

Colonial bred horses foaled on Colonial time, i. e., between August 1st and December 31st, allowed as follows: Two and three-year olds, eight pounds; four-year-olds, five pounds; five-year-olds, three pounds.

In all stakes starters must be named to the Secretary or through the entry box at the track on or before 6 o'clock P. M. of the day before the race. In all stakes the right to forfeit ceases at 10 o'clock A. M. of the day on which the race is run. (Rule 43.)

Entrance free for starters in purses. Non-starters can declare out at 6 o'clock P. M. of the day before the race by paying 5 per cent. of the amount of the purse. All horses not so declared out will be required to start. (Rule 22.)

All declarations void unless accompanied by the money.

The Association reserves the right to postpone races on account of unfavorable weather or other sufficient cause.

Entries close with the Secretary on Friday, November, 1, 1889.

M. F. TARPEY.
First vice-President.

E. S. CULVER, Secretary.
313 Bush Street, S. F.

"TOBEY'S,"

214 Post Street,
Between Grant Avenue and Stockton Street,
Adjoining New Hamman Baths.
D. J. TOBIN, Proprietor.

ROME HARRIS. JOHN MERIGAN.

"Laurel Palace,"

N. W. corner Kearny and Bush Streets,
SAN FRANCISCO.

$3,000. GUARANTEED. $3,000.

THE BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN'S -: Futurity Stakes :-

For Mares Covered in 1889.

Trotting Foals of 1890.

Subscriptions payable as follows: $10 on January 1st, 1890, when nominations close; $10 August 1st, 1890; $10 January 1st, 1891; $10 January 1st, 1892; $10 January 1st, 1893, and $50 for starters, payable July 1st, 1893.

Race to be mile heats three in five in harness; to be trotted on a course in California offering the largest amount of added money. Race to be governed by the Rules of the Association, of which the selected track is a member. Nominators not making all payments forfeit former ones, and the entire amount of forfeits and payments, together with added money, will be divided as follows: 65 per cent. to first horse, 20 per cent. to second horse, 15 per cent. to third horse.

The BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN guarantees $3,000, to be divided as above stated.

If the payments, etc., amount to more than $3,000, the additional amount, after deducting cost of advertising, will also be divided in the same proportion to the winning horses.

Nominators whose mares prove not to be in foal, will be refunded the amounts paid upon furnishing a written statement to that effect before August 1, 1890.

In nominating, give name of mare and stallion to whom she is bred, and within sixty days after foaling forward description of foal.

ADDRESS,

BREEDER and SPORTSMAN,

313 BUSH STREET, SAN FRANCISCO.

$3,000. GUARANTEED $3,000.

By-Laws

—AND—

Rules and Regulations

—OF THE—

NATIONAL

Trotting Association

ALSO THE

AMERICAN

Trotting Association,

AND THE

PACIFIC COAST BLOOD-HORSE ASSOCIATION.

With Betting Rules.

For Sale at the Office of the

Breeder and Sportsman,

313 Bush St., S. F., Cal.

Price, 25c. each.

By Mail, Postage Paid, 30c. each.

AL. LEACH & CO.

AUCTION

POOL SELLERS

Will be pleased to give terms to Racing Associations throughout the Pacific Coast. We have perfect facilities, and can give any references or security desired. Address

8 Eddy Street,

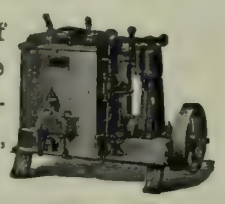
San Francisco.

J. O'KANE,

767 MARKET STREET.

Horse Boots, Clothing and Furnishings,

For Track, Driving Training and Stable.



Every requisite for Horsemen.

Harness, Medicines, Etc.

THE SHIPMAN AUTOMATIC

For description of this ENGINE, see Breeder and Sportsman of March 16th, 1889.

Coal Oil Engine and Boiler.

1, 2, 4, 6 and 8 Horse Power - - $150 to $800.

Feeds itself with Oil and Water. Perfectly Self-Regulating and Automatic Throughout.

Operated at FULL CAPACITY on ¼ Gallon OIL per HORSE POWER per Hour.

No Engineer required. Your boy of 12 years can understand and operate it. Full head of Steam in ten minutes. Absolutely Safe and positively exempt from all Accidents and Irregularities.

For Pumping, Running all classes of Machinery, and for Propelling Boats, Yachts, Launches, Etc.

CAN BE LEFT AT WORK ENTIRELY UNATTENDED. NO SMOKE, NOISE, DIRT OR ODOR.

Fire Formed by Flue Spray of Oil and Steam Mixed, passing through the Atomizer.

Will, unassisted, extinguish their own fires at any steam pressure desired, and as pressure decreases, relight them.

☞ LARGE NUMBER IN USE. Send for Free Catalogue, and addresses of people using them.

OSBORNE & ALEXANDER,

628 Market Street, San Francisco.

Mechanics' Tools and Hardware, Leading Bicycles & Tricycles.

Workshop Machines by Steam and Foot Power.

KILLIP & CO.,

LIVE STOCK AND GENERAL AUCTIONEERS,

22 Montgomery Street, San Francisco.

SPECIAL ATTENTION PAID TO SALES OF

High-Bred Horses and Cattle.

At auction and private sale.

Will Sell in All Cities and Counties of the State.

REFERENCES.

HON. C. GREEN, Sacramento. HON. J. D. CARR, Salinas.
J. P. SARGENT, Esq., Sargents. HON. JOHN BOGGS, Colusa.
HON. L. J. ROSE, Los Angeles. HON. A. WALRATH, Nevada.
J. B. HAGGIN, Esq., San Francisco.

Represented at Sacramento by Edwin F. Smith, secretary State Agricultural Society.

At San Jose by Messrs. Montgomery & Rea, Real Estate Agents.

Being the oldest established firm in the live-stock business on this Coast, and having conducted the important auction sales in this line for the past fifteen years, amounting to one half a million of dollars, we feel justified in claiming unequaled facilities for disposing of live stock of every description, either at auction or private sale. Our list of correspondents embraces every breeder and dealer of prominence upon the Pacific Coast, thus enabling us to give full publicity to animals placed with us for sale. Private purchases and sales of live stock of all descriptions will be made on commission, and stock shipped with the utmost care. Purchases and sales made of land of every description. We are authorized to refer to the gentlemen whose names are appended.

KILLIP & CO., 22 Montgomery Street.

Old Hermitage Whiskies

"STEINER'S,"

No. 311 BUSH STREET,

San Francisco.

Under Breeder and Sportsman Office.

Southern Pacific Co.

(PACIFIC SYSTEM.)

Trains leave and are due to arrive at San Francisco.

LEAVE (FOR)	FROM OCTOBER 6, 1889.	ARRIVE (FROM)
7.30 A M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose ...	*12.45 P M
7.30 A M	Sacramento and Redding, via Davis	7.15 P M
8.00 A M	Martinez, Vallejo, Calistoga and Santa Rosa	6.15 P M
8.30 A M	Los Angeles Express, Fresno, Santa Barbara and Los Angeles	11.15 A M
8.30 A M	Niles, San Jose, Stockton, Galt, Ione, Sacramento, Marysville and Red Bluff	5.45 P M
10.30 A M	Haywards and Niles	2.15 P M
*12.00 M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose	* 3.45 P M
*1.00 P M	Sacramento River Steamers	* 6.00 A M
3.00 P M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose	9.45 A M
3.30 P M	2d Class Sacramento, Ogden and East, connects at Davis for Knight's Landing	10.45 A M
4.00 P M	Stockton and §Milton; Vallejo, Calistoga and Santa Rosa	9.45 A M
4.30 P M	Sacramento and Knight's Landin via Davis	10.15 A M
* 4.30 P M	Niles and Livermore	* 8.45 A M
* 4.30 P M	Niles and San Jose	‡ 4.45 P M
5.30 P M	Haywards and Niles	7.45 A M
6.30 P M	Central Atlantic Express, Ogden and East	7.45 P M
7.00 P M	Shasta Route Express, Sacramento, Marysville, Redding, Portland, Puget Sound and East	7.45 A M
8.00 P M	Sunset Route, Atlantic Express. Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Deming, El Paso, New Orleans and East	8.45 P M

SANTA CRUZ DIVISION.

‡ 7.45 A M	Newark, San Jose and Santa Cruz	‡ 8.05 P M
8.15 A M	Newark, Centerville, San Jose, Felton, Boulder Creek and Santa Cruz	6.20 P M
2.45 P M	Centerville, San Jose, Felton, Boulder Creek and Santa Cruz	*11.20 A M
4.45 P M	Centerville, San Jose, Almaden, and Los Gatos	9.50 A M

Coast Division (Third and Townsend Sts.)

7.25 A M	San Jose, Almaden and Way Stations	2.30 P M
8.30 A M	San Jose, Gilroy, Tres Pinos; Pajaro, Santa Cruz; Monterey; Pacific Grove, Salinas, San Miguel, Paso Robles, Santa Margarita (San Luis Obispo) and principal Way Stations	6.12 P M
10.30 A M	San Jose and Way Stations	5.02 P M
12.01 P M	Cemetery, Menlo Park and Way Stations	3.38 P M
* 3.30 P M	San Jose, Tres Pinos, Santa Cruz, Salinas, Monterey Pacific Grove and principal Way Stations	*10.00 A M
* 4.20 P M	Menlo Park and Way Stations	* 7.58 A M
5.20 P M	San Jose and Way Stations	9.03 A M
6.30 P M	Menlo Park and Way Stations	6.35 A M
‡11.45 P M	Menlo Park and principal Way Stations	‡ 7.23 P M

A M for Morning. P M for Afternoon.
*Sundays excepted. †Saturdays only. ‖Sundays only.
‡Mondays excepted. §Saturdays excepted.

6 DOS

DO you bet?
DO you go to the races?
DO yon know HOW to bet?
DO you know BEST system?
DO you want Good ADVICE?
DO as you ought to do :

SEND FOR PROSPECTUS TO

GOODWIN BROS.,

241 BROADWAY, NEW YORK,

Who will mail you

FREE OF CHARGE,

one of their circulars showing the GREAT SUCCESS they have met with from the time they established the system of "Point" providing in this country in 1881; it also contains

MANY OTHER INTERESTING ITEMS

with which the general public is not familiar.

HEALD'S

Business College, 24 Post St.

San Francisco.

The most popular school on the Coast
P. HEALD, President. C. S. HALEY, Sec'y.
Send for Circulars

The Poodle Dog

"Rotisserie,"

FIRST-CLASS IN EVERY RESPECT.

Elegant Family Dining Rooms.

S. E. cor. GRANT AVE. and BUSH STREET.

ANDRE POTENTINI, Proprietor.

Fine Hats,

Latest Styles and Colors.

Meussdorffer & Hubner

8 Kearny Street, San Francisco,

Next to New Chronicle Building

THOROUGHBRED

Clydesdale Mares

FOR SALE.

Fifth Annual Importation by MR. JOHN SCOTT,

Ex "Alameda."

Can be seen at Bay District Track.

For particulars, apply to

KILLIP & CO., Auctioneers,

22 Montgomery Street, S F.

KENNEL ADVERTISEMENTS.

A Bargain.

A RED SETTER SLUT,

About three years old can be bought very cheaply by applying by letter to

MRS. BOWES,
469 Tehama Street, San Francisco.

Great Dane Puppies for Sale

Sire Cæsar, 10523, A. K. S. B., winner of 1st, and special, San Francisco, 1888; 1st and special, San Francisco, 1889.

Dam Dora, 10531 A. K. S. B., winner of 2nd San Francisco, 1889; H. C. San Francisco, 1888. Puppies whelped Sept. 8, 1889, steel and silver gray and nicely marked. Price $35.

Also puppies by Cæsar out of a prize English Mastiff bitch. Price $25. Address.

NAHL.
2436 Central Ave, Alameda Cal.

POINTER PUPPIES.

TWO WHITE AND LEMON BITCH PUPPIES, nearly five months old, perfectly healthy, of good size, very handsome and superbly bred, being by Climax (Bang Bang—Bellona) out of Drab D. (Vandevort's Don—Vandevort's Drab), for sale. Address

WILLIAM DEMOTT, San Rafael.

Fox-hound for Sale.

FINE ENGLISH FOX-HOUND BITCH, well broken. Winner of 2d prize at San Francisco Bench Show of 1889. Price $50.

Apply to

CLABROUGH, GOLCHER & CO.,
630 Montgomery Street, S. F.

Stud Irish Setter.

CHAMPION MIKE T., 6435, A. K. S. B. (Nemo—Nida) winner of first whenever shown, sixteen firsts and specials, never beaten. In the stud to approved bitches, fee $25. Irish setter puppies by Champion Mike T. 6435 A. K. S. B.—Champion Lady Elcho T. 6451 A. K. S. B., for sale. Two pointers, a year old, by Rush T. 10069 A. K. S. B.—Champion Patti Croxteth T. 10128 A. K. S. B. for sale. Address,

A. B. TRUMAN,
1426 Steiner St., S. F., Cal.

California Horse Shoe Co's

I have used in my business the Steel and Iron Shoes made by the above Company, and take great pleasure in saying they are the best I have ever used in twenty-two years' practice. I have never seen anything like the STEEL SHOE made by this Company. I can fully recommend them to every practical Horseshoer in the country.

Yours respectfully,
No. 8 Everett Street. JOHN GRACE.

GOLDEN EAGLE HOTEL

Corner SEVENTH and K STREETS, SACRAMENTO.

FIRST CLASS IN EVERY RESPECT.

The LARGEST and FINEST HOTEL in the City.

W. O. BOWERS, Proprietor.

Free 'Buss to and from the Hotel.
Telephone, Telegraph Office and Messenger Service at Hotel

Scientific Horse Shoeing.

BOYD & MORGAN

Are now permanently located at

No. 413 TAYLOR STREET,

Next door above CLUB STABLES.

Partibular attention given to Track and Road Horse. Our Motto: "The Shoe to fit the foot vs. The foot to fit the shoe."

We have references from the leading Trainers, Drivers and Breeders of the Coast. Give us a trial.

THE BOHANON SULKY!

BEST MADE.

Perfect Riding Buggies.
Breaking Carts.
Fine Repairing,
Reasonable Prices.

Bohanon Carriage Co., 161-163 Ogden Ave., CHICAGO.

Send for Catalogue.

The Universal

Carriage Wrench

CHEAPEST AND BEST CARRIAGE WRENCH MADE.

HOLDS THE BURR FIRMLY.

IMPOSSIBLE TO DROP INTO THE DIRT.

To fix Axles ⅜ to 1¼ inch, each ..... 50 cents
To fix Axles 1⅛ to 2⅛ inches, each ..... 60 "

Must be tried to be appreciated,

G. G. WICKSON & CO.,

3 and 5 Front Street, San Francisco.
251 N. Main Street, Los Angeles.
141 Front Street, Portland.

LAMBORN ROAD MACHINE

TRUMAN, HOOKER & CO.,

SAN FRANCISCO. - - CALIFORNIA

IF YOU WISH A GOOD REVOLVER PURCHASE ONE OF SMITH & WESSON'S

Finest small arms ever manufactured and the first choice of all experts. In calibres 32, 38 and 44-100. Single or double action, Safety Hammerless and Target models. Best quality wrought steel, carefully inspected for workmanship and stock. Unrivaled for finish, durability and accuracy. Do not be deceived by cheap malleable iron imitations often sold for the genuine article. They are unreliable and dangerous. The SMITH & WESSON REVOLVERS are stamped upon the barrels with firm's name, address and dates of patents, and are guaranteed perfect. Insist upon having them, and if your dealer cannot supply you, an order sent to address below will receive prompt attention. Descriptive catalogue and prices upon application.

SMITH & WESSON,
Springfield, Mass.

For any Kind of a

SORE THROAT

USE

McCLELLAN'S

DIPHTHERIA REMEDY

An Unfailing Cure..

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS

DR JOHN C. HINGSTON

M.R.C.V.S., London, England.

Veterinary Surgeon & Dentist,

The most noted Operator in the Profession.

CASTRATES IN TWO MINUTES with the animal standing. Acknowledged to have no equal with the Firing Iron.

PERFORMS ALL OPERATIONS WITH THE ANIMAL STANDING.

Specialist in Lameness.

The highest testimonials from the most noted Owners, Trainers and Breeders in America and England.

Will visit any place on reasonable terms.

Address, THE "BALDWIN" HOTEL,
San Francisco.

DR. THOS. BOWHILL, M.R.C.V.S

VETERINARY SURGEON,

Graduate New Veterinary College, Edinburgh. Awarded the Highland and Agricultural Societies Medals for Horse Pathology, Anatomy, Physiology and Histology. The Williams' Prize, '84-'85, for highest works in professional examinations, and six first-class certificates of merit. Honorary Member Illinois State Veterinary Medical Association.

CENTENNIAL STABLES,

1523-25 California Street. Telephone No. 66.

Veterinary Infirmary and Residence, 2209 Jackson Street. Telephone 4128.

Dr. Wm. H. Jones, M.R.C.V.S.

Veterinary Surgeon,

(CLUB STABLES)

409—411 Taylor Street, San Francisco.

Consultations by letter, and cases of URGENT NECESSITY in the interior will receive prompt attention.

H. E. CARPENTER,

Veterinary Surgeon,

Graduate of Ontario Veterinary College, Toronto, Canada.

RESIDENCE AND VETERINARY INFIRMARY

331 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco.

Telephone 3069.

OPEN DAY AND NIGHT.

No risk in throwing Horses. Veterinary Operating Table on the premises.

DR. C. MASOERO,

Veterinary Surgeon,

Successor to DR. A. DeTAVEL,

GRADUATE OF ROYAL VETERINARY COLLEGE, TURIN.

OFFICE AND INFIRMARY,

No. 811 HOWARD STREET,

Between Fourth and Fifth. SAN FRANCISCO.

Telephone, No. 457.

R. WATKINS,

Veterinary Dentist,

Of twelve years practice, is now permanently located in San Francisco, and may be found at C. S. Crittendens' Golden Gate Livery and Riding Academy, 24 to 28 Golden Gate Avenue.

Will treat ailments of the horse's mouth, and cure all such. Siderein Pullers and Tongue Lollers etc. Satisfaction guaranteed. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. Examination Free.

Don't Fail to Read the Following:

DR. FISHERMAN'S

Carbolized Alkaline LOTION

Cures after all other Remedies have Failed.

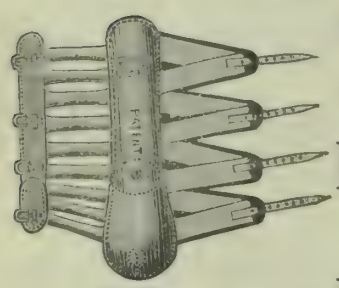
And is recommended for Sprains, Sores, new and old Bruises, Galls, Swellings, Scratches, Thrush, Grease Heels, Curb, Rheumatism. It has no equal for restoring Weak Knees and Ankles to their original condition. Cow's Swelled Udder, Barbed Wire Wounds, Mange, Itch, Skin Diseases, etc. To those who want their Horses to carry flossy manes and tails we recommend this Lotion as a wash to do the work finely; also, a valuable addition to the water in cleansing Sponges, Cloths, etc. It is valuable as an internal remedy for Coughs, Colic, Congestion or Fever. You really get Half a Gallon of Remedy for $1.00, or Two Gallons for $3.00, after being adulterated as directed.

LYNDE & HOUGH, Proprietors.

116 California St., S. F.

Or ask your Druggist for it.

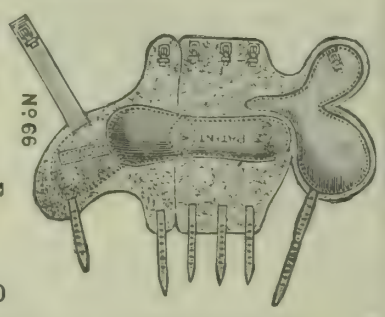
BROU'S INJECTION



A PERMANENT CURE

in from 3 to 6 days, of the most obstinate cases; guaranteed not to produce Stricture; no sickening doses; and no inconvenience or loss of time. Recommended by physicians and sold by all druggists. J. Ferré, successor to Brou), Pharmacien, Paris.

Everything for Trotter or Runner.



At J. A. McKERRON'S,

No. 67

228, 230 and 232 Ellis St., San Francisco

SOUTHER FARM

1889 1889

P. O. Box 149. San Leandro, Cal.

JESTER D. 5696.

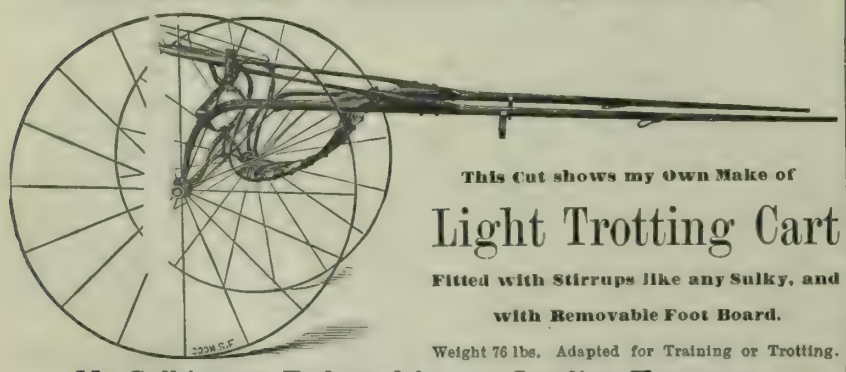
- Almont, 33..... Sire of 31 trotters and 2 pacers in 2:30 list.
  - Alexander's Abdallah, 15,.... Sire of 6 in 2:30 list.
    - Hambletonian, 10, Sire of 41 in 2:30 list.
    - Katy Darling
  - Sally Anderson.....
    - Mambrino Chief, 11. Sire of 6 in 2:30 list.
    - Kate, by Pilot Jr., 12. Sire of 9 in 2:30 list.
- Hortense.....
  - Messenger Duroc, 106..... Sire of 15 in 2:30 list; also sire of Elaine, dam of Norlaine, yearling rec. 2:31½.
    - Hambletonian 10. Sire of 41 in 2:30 list.
    - Satinet, by Roe's Abdallah Chief,
  - Nelly McDonald Thoro-bred.. (See Bruce's American Stud Book.)
    - Colossus, son of imp. Sovereign.
    - Maid of Monmouth, By Traveler.

See BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of August 25, 1888, for photograph and description.

FIGARO.

- Hambletonian, 725 (Whipple's)
  - Guy Miller.....
    - Hambletonian, 10. (Rysdyk's)
    - Bolivar Mare.
  - Martha Washington.....
    - Burr's Washington.
    - Dam by Abdallah, 1.
- Emblem.....
  - Tattler, 300 ....
    - Pilot, Jr., 12.
    - Telltale..... Telamon, Flea.
  - Young Portia...
    - Mambrino Chief, 11.
    - Portia by Roebuck.

See BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of September 1, 1888, for photograph and description.



The above stallions will make the season of 1889 at the Souther Farm, one and one-half miles northeast of San Leandro. Each horse is limited to thirty mares besides those of the Souther Farm. Terms, for either horse, Twenty-five Dollars for the season, with privilege of return in season of 1890, if mare fails to prove with foal. Good accommodation and the best of care for all mares sent to the Farm, but no responsibility for accidents.

Colts Broken and Trained. Horses Boarded in any manner desired at all times.

GILBERT TOMPKINS, Proprietor.

Home Work Superior to all Imported.

First Premium Awarded at Last State Fair.

This Cut shows my Own Make of

Light Trotting Cart

Fitted with Stirrups like any Sulky, and with Removable Foot Board.

Weight 76 lbs. Adapted for Training or Trotting.

My Sulkies are Endorsed by our Leading Horsemen.
Choice Line Sulkies and Carts Always in Stock.
ORDERS FILLED AT A MOMENTS NOTICE.

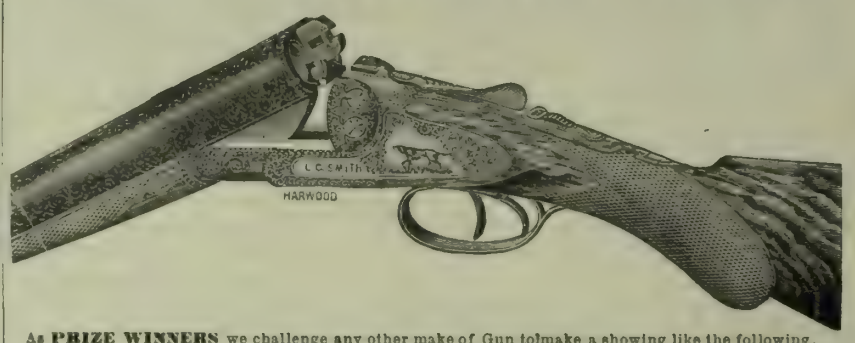
W. E. SHAW,

Manufacturer of

CARRIAGES and LIGHT VEHICLES.

1621 Market Street, San Francisco, Cal.
FIRST CLASS REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.
Send for Circulars containing Cuts and Testimonials.

J. C. JOHNSON & CO.,



Importers, Manufacturers, and Dealers in

HARNESS & SADDLERY

We carry a large assortment of goods in our line, from the cheapest to the best made.

400 to 404 Market Street,
Corner BATTERY STREET, San Francisco.

The "L. C. Smith" Guns

As PRIZE WINNERS we challenge any other make of Gun to make a showing like the following.

All Previous Records Broken.

Never before were 100 live pigeons killed straightly in a similar match, under same conditions, until the L. C. SMITH GUN was made and did it. In the hands of Mr. Al Bandle, of the firm of Bandle Arms Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, this wonderful score was made. Capt. A. H. Bogardus scoring with a 12-gauge L. C. Smith in the match against Bandle, the very high score of 95. A remarkable score with a 12-guage.

——OFFICIAL SCORE——

Made in the mate h at 100 live pigeons, Hurlingham rules, barring gauge of gun, between Capt. A. H. Bogardus of Elkhart, Ill., and Al Bandle, of Cincinnati, Ohio, on Independent Gun Club grounds, Cincinnati, Ohio, Christmas Day, December 25, 1888:

AL BANDLE, 10-gauge L. C. Smith gun.....	CAPT. A. H. BOGARDUS, 12-gauge L. C. Smith gun...
11211112111 2121112112 11221	1122(21222 0122121121 01112
11111122112 2111112212 11121	1012122111 1110112111 11222
11212211112 1112111112 11121	1221212122 2211012111 12111
12111121111 1222111211 11212—100	11111122221 11111112122 22111— 95

2 Denotes killed with second barrel.

S. A. TUCKER, Meriden, Conn., Referee. A. C. DICK, Cincinnati, O., Trap Puller.
ED. TAYLOR, Cincinnati, O., Official Scorer. H. BOGARDUS, Elkhart, Ill., Trap Announcer.

The PARKER Hammerless Shot Gun.

At the Annual Tournament of 1889, held at Cannes, France, the grand prize, consisting of 2000 Francs and a Valuable Cup, was won by The Parker Hammerless.

The first Parker Hammerless Gun made won the championship of America at Decatur Illinois.

SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED CIRCULAR.

PARKER BROS., Makers,

New York Salesroom, 97 Chambers St. Meriden Conn.

Poplar Grove Breeding FARM.

Standard-bred Trotters, Colts and Fillies.

The get of CLOVIS, 4909; PASHA, 2039; APEX, 2935.

For Sale.

Address S. N. STRAUBE, Poplar Grove Breeding Farm,
Fresno, Cal.

Inspection by intending purchasers invited, and information by mail.

For Sale by Pleasanton Stock Farm Co.

ONE STALLION COLT, 1 year old, by DIRECTOR, 2:17, dam Sweetness, record 2:21¼.
ONE STALLION COLT, This Colt is a half brother to Sidney, the great Sire of Pacers.
ONE FILLY, 1 year old, by DIRECTOR, 2:17, dam Echora, record 2:23½.
ONE STALLION, This Colt is a full brother to Direct, record 2:23 at Three Years Old.
ONE STALLION, 2 years old, by CLOVIS, dam Nettie, trial record to Wagon 2:26.
ONE FOUR-YEAR-OLD FILLY, 2 years old, by NUTMONT, he by Nutbourne, brother to Nutwood, dam by Electioneer. This Colt can trot very fast.
ONE THREE-YEAR OLD FILLY, 2 years old, by SIDNEY, dam Fernleaf. This Colt is a full brother to Gold Leaf.
ONE Filly, GOLD LEAF, pacing record 2:15.
ONE PACING HORSE, by DIRECTOR, dam by a son of Whipple's Hambletonian. This is a grand mare in looks and breeding, and is very fast.
One Brown Mare, 2 years old, by MONROE CHIEF, full sister to Miss Gilmer, sold at auction when three years old for $1,700.
One Brown Mare, 4 years old, by STEINWAY, dam by Nutwood
This horse is very stylish, and can show a 2:10 gait.
heavy in foal to DIRECTOR, by Gibraltar, dam May Day, by Cassius M. Clay. This Mare is very fast; showed a quarter in 34 seconds, and is a half sister to Margaret S., that got a record of 2:31 at twenty-four months old.
by DEL SUR, he by The Moor, heavy in foal to Director. This Mare is very fast.

For particulars call on or address M. SALISBURY, 320 Sansome Street, Room 96, San Francisco, or

ANDY McDOWELL, Pleasanton, Cal.

TWENTY PAGES.

BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN

Vol XV. No 17.
No. 313 BUSH STREET.

SAN FRANCISCO, SATURDAY, OCT. 26, 1889.

SUBSCRIPTION
FIVE DOLLARS A YEAR.

Monterey.

By Grim.

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" is an old and trite expression, and no matter how much one may love the excitement of the race track, it becomes absolutely necessary at times to make a change if only for variety sake. The determination to make a visit is an easy matter, if one has the time and the "wherewithall" and can readily be carried out when a small valise is all that is required to be taken along, so that the interminable bother attendant upon packing is dispensed with. A few days ago, ex-Senator Tim McCarty, Mr. N. Steiner, and the writer started for the old capital city to view the wonders of that ancient town.

The early morning train was taken as time was rather limited, and the few days' vacation had to be made the most of, and every hour was precious.

The ride on the Monterey division of the Southern Pacific Railroad is one of the most charming in the State, the land being justly celebrated for its productiveness and picturesque scenery, the beauty of which is intensified by the many elegant residences and magnificent private parks which appear almost the entire way. The journey passed very pleasantly, as many friends were traveling in the same direction. He of whom it was aptly said "he is credited by the United States to the Court of Newmarket," the justly celebrated Richard Ten Broeck, Esq., was on the train, and many a reminescence his presence brought back to mind. With the Hon. Creed Haymond, Judge McFarland, W. H. Dunphy, ex-Mayor Alvord, and a whole host of Pacific Union Club men, how could time hang heavily with such a party, all of whom were determined to get the most possible enjoyment out of the smallest space of time. The rich and fruitful section through which we were passing called forth many favorable comments, especially from a number of Eastern and European tourists who were making the trip for the first time.

San Mateo, Menlo Park and San Jose were each passed in rapid succession, Mount Hamilton now showing his head crested with the world-famed Lick Observatory. At Gilroy we lost a number of our fellow passengers, who were on their way to the Gilroy hot springs. At Castroville the Cockrill Brothers' racing contingent left the train, they being on their way to Soledad, while we continued on to Del Monte, which is a station about one mile from Monterey. The depot is situated on the verge of the Hotel Del Monte's grounds, and the scene that greets the eye of the stranger is one long to be remembered. Massive oaks, indigenous to the soil, each older than any of our party, with their great gnarled branches reaching out and drinking in the rays of the noonday sun. Tall bunches of pampas grass towering twenty feet in height, while magnificent flower beds lend a perfume to the air that puts the amazed spectator in mind of the fabulous stories told in the Arabian nights. As the distance to the hotel is but short, many of the gentlemen walk up the well kept pathways to the Mammoth building, while the ladies avail themselves of the luxurious coaches which are in attendance to convey them up the main carriage way.

The hotel, in size, is one of the largest to be found at any seaside resort, and is kept at the very highest standard. It can accommodate about a thousand guests, and is furnished in a most sumptuous manner. The table is served with every luxury to tempt the most fastidious palate, while the attendance is admirable. The grounds have been laid out by an artist, as is evident by the exquisite designs to be seen everywhere, while the prestine beauty of the place has not deteriorated any, but has rather been added to by the wild vines and ivy which have been trained to embrace the rough, rugged coats of the old trees. Then the moss hangs from the limbs in such profusion that one is tempted to exclaim, "This is the perfection of all that is beautiful."

The Bay of Monterey is only a short distance from the main buildings, and here is to be found a fine swimming bath, subdivided, so that one may bath in salt water of any heat desired. If fresh water is preferable, then that can be had also. The baths, like all the surroundings, are fitted up in the highest style of art, and cannot be surpassed in the country.

The stables are divided into two parts, one of which is for the exclusive use of the work horses needed around the place, while the other is saved exclusively for the fast horses used by the guests. A look was taken through the latter place, and we found the animals all kept in the best of style. Of carriages there are about fifty, of all conceivable styles and descriptions from the Petaluma cart to the English drag capable of carrying a score of pleasure-seekers. There are drivers in plenty to carry excursionists to any of the favored spots in the vicinity, all of them courteous and accommodating. A team was secured and a drive taken to Cypress Point, where we all stood on a high cliff overlooking the seas, and saw the seals sporting on the rocks away below, with none to molest them. The return trip was made by another road, each turn in which produced new panoramic wonders.

Arriving at Monterey the old State House was visited and although rather dilapidated, it still has its charms from the historic memories connected therewith. The town is one of the oldest on the coast and has so many traces of the ancient adobe structures remaining that it requires only a short stretch of the imagination to fancy oneself in the heart of Mexico. The "Greaser" is to be seen everywhere which simply adds to the hallucination.

The Monterey whaling station was called at but "no sign" was visible and the men were idle. We sauntered along the beach hoping against hope that we might hear the cry of "there she blows," but luck was against us and we had to be contended with listening to some of the yarns pitched by the sailors, many of whom have been there for years. And such yarns, Jonah and the whale sank into insignificence beside them. One old fellow told how he had been towed out to sea by a whale once, and was picked up, five days sail from land. He told it with much seriousness, and has probably told it so often, that he actually believes it himself now. Bidding good-bye to the men at the station we retraced our steps to the hotel stopping in at the club house, the verandah of which was almost taken up by ladies and their escorts, sipping lemonades and other light drinks. The view from this point is particularly enchanting, the play grounds, tennis and croquet lawns being close at hand, and every few seconds the air is ladened with the peal of merry laughter as points are made or lost. And the children are romping and running, swinging and shouting, hilarity and good nature both at their height. The fern beds are well worthy of a visit, there being a multiplicity of them, collected from all over the world. Palms from every quarter of the globe are to be seen growing in profusion, while hundreds of varieties of the cactus, are tastefully arranged, all adding to the beauty of this fairy scene. One of the odd features of the place is a maze or labyrinth that always entices the unwary to enter, but woe to the party who fails to take a guide in with them, for although the place is only one hundred feet square it is a long walk into the centre and how to get out after you are once in is a perfect puzzle.

We lost our way, and had it not been for the assistance rendered by a small boy, might have been there yet. The Laguna covers a large body of ground, and all the natural scenery with which it abounds has been improved on by the floral artist. There are boats in plenty for the use of the guests, and they are readily taken advantage of by those who roam along the shore. In the centre of the lake there is a large spout which throws water to a height of sixty feet, this being the waste water from the water works, which were built by the company to supply the town and hotel. There is a large ice manufactory and cold storage rooms for the reception of meats, fowl, fish and fruit, and at any season of the year game of all kinds can be had. Terrapin are grown on the place, and this delicious article of food, which is so highly prized, is frequently to be found on the bill of fare. It seems almost impossible to imagine the amount of money that has been lavished on El Monte by the Improvement Company, but from reliable sources we learn that $2,500,000 has been expended, and it takes $250,000 per annum to carry on the ordinary expenses. Every day in the year the walks are all thoroughly brushed, so that there is not the least speck of dust discernable anywhere. There is another thing in favor of the Hotel Del Monte that makes it one of the most pleasant places in the world to visit, and that is a complete absence of affected style, so much of which is seen both at the Eastern resorts and at the Continental spas. All seem to dress as they please and do just as they please. It is a home away from home, where all are happy and contented. A word should be said for the genial manager, Geo. Schonewald, and his able chief clerk, Mr. Clough, who watch after the interests of their patrons in a manner that is worthy of imitation by all hotel men in the country.

From Australia.

By the last mail a letter was received from an Australian friend by an attache of the Breeder and Sportsman, part of which will bear publication, as from it is gained the information that as race tracks increase and flourish, jobbery also increases and that good horses were soon off their feet. In and around Melbourne with its 400,000 population, racing was continued for almost every day in the year, barring Sundays. People are becoming tired of the sport, and toward the end of the season (July 31st) many of the regular attendants kept away altogether. The gentleman writes:

I may as well now proceed to say that the annual meeting of the members of the Victoria Racing Club, on the 6th of the present month, put the Turf of the colony on a more satisfactory basis. In the first place, two of the old members of the committee—the law makers of racing—were sent to the right about in one of the strongest polls ever known, their successors being both leading legal lights, one a barrister and the other an attorney. At that very meeting it was announced that racing was to be cut down to about two days per week in the neighborhood of Melbourne during the ensuing year, whilst the Victoria Racing Club claim the whole fortnight for the four days of the ensuing spring meeting, as well as for the same period during the autumn, also a week for the two days of the Grand National meeting in the winter. So far, so good; and as I am writing at the end of the first month, I may say that a decided improvement is at this date very apparent. The old established racing clubs at Bendigo, Ballarat and elsewhere, that have suffered through the plethora of racing in Melbourne, are also now looking up and hoping for better times.

I ought not to pass over the balance sheet of the Victoria Racing Club for the past year, as a remarkable illustration of "Sport in Australia." There were twelve days' racing during the year, four for the spring, the same for the autumn, and one each for New Year's Day, April, the Queen's Birthday, and the Grand National Meeting. The four days spring fixture, of course, shows up best, and may be classed as wonderful. The expenses, in the shape of stakes, etc, ran up to £19,873, but the receipts were £45,229, leaving the great balance in hand of £25,355. I think I can safely say this beats anything ever known in America, and Mr. Byron Moore, the secretary, is naturally proud thereat. He is a great organiser, and the Melbourne Cup day—the second of the four days' spring meeting—is the day that he particularly excels himself on. Some other figures in connection with the balance sheet of Australia's leading racing community ought not to be omitted. For instance, the receipts from members' subscriptions come to £6,725. On the other side, £10,527 was spent on the Flemington course and the training grounds in improvements, and £10,000 defrayed the purchase of the club's offices and headquarters in Bourke street, Melbourne. Well may the colony be proud for next November, in the shape of the Melbourne Cup of 50 sovs. sweepstake, with 5,000 sovs. added. It is furthermore a creditable feature of the present season's programme that not a single selling race figures thereon.

Baker City Races.

The weather on Thursday was rather cloudy, but luckily rain did not fall and a large attendance resulted at the track. The half mile dash (which should have been run on Wednesday, Oct. 9th, but as I wrote you was postponed until today) was called up at one o'clock. Sunday was a big favorite at $20, Napa $16, Jou Jou $5. There was very little delay at the post, and Sunday getting well away, led from start to finish, Napa second.

SUMMARY.

Baker City, Oct. 10th.—Free for all, one-half mile dash, purse $150.
J. Dowd's b g Sunday, by Sun Dance, dam Norma, 115 lbs.. .. .Shorty 1
J. H. Hamilton's Napa, 3yl by Napa, dam unknown, 115 lbs....Moss 2
W. H. Babb's ch c Guido, by Double Cross, dam Aurora, 95 lbs Burger 3
Jou Jou also ran.
Time, 0:49.

The three-quarters and repeat had five starters, Coloma being made favorite at $20, Tom Daly $10, Miss Dudley $6, Dan Gannon and Osceola Jr. $3 each. Daly delayed the start a long while. But, when the flag fell got well away, and the race was between he and Coloma. After a hard finish Daly got the heat by a short head. Time, 1:17. Mutuals paid, $7 60.

Coloma was made a still bigger favorite at $25 to $6 Daly, and $3 for the field. After two or three attempts the quintette were started and Coloma getting well away soon had the rest of them strung out, and leading Daly a length into the straight, beat him by an open length with Gannon distanced. Time, 1:17½.

McCaugh was taken down and a fresh rider put up on Daly for the third heat and both horses were well in motion, when the flag fell at the first attempt Coloma drew away from the gelding and won all the way finishing six lengths in front Time, 1:16.

SUMMARY.

Running—Three-quarter mile and repeat; purse $250.

W. L. Whitmore's ch h Coloma, 4, Joe Hooker—Callie Smart 115 ..... Herman	2	1	1
W. H. Babb's ch g Tom Daly, a. Patsy Duffy—Sunshine, 116 ..... McCaugh	1	2	2
J. H Hamilton's b m Miss Dudley, 110 ..... Jones	3	3	d

Time, 1:17, 1:17½, 1:16.
Dan Gannon and Osceola Jr. also ran.

The third race was a special trotting race with three entries. J. S. C. and Stemwinder sold together for $20 to $7 for Coquetta. After scoring up twice the bell was rung, Stemwinder having a shade the best of it. Coquetta broke badly on the first turn, losing four lengths, while J. S. C., who left his feet, caught handily, and hung on to Stemwinder's wheel. Stemwinder trotted squarely and never losing his feet, while the other two broke again, the mare beating J. S. C out for the place three lengths behind Stemwinder. Time, 2:37¼.

Mutuals paid $8.20.

Second Heat—Pools changed. Stemwinder sold favorite for $20, the other two bringing $15 each. After scoring up several times the word was given, with Stemwinder two lengths the worst of it, and J. S. C. a length in front. The latter trotted well to the quarter pole when he broke, and Coquetta took the lead. Stemwinder, who was coming fast, broke badly, being pulled almost to a walk. J. S. C., who did a lot of tall running down the straight, finishing two lengths behind Coquetta. Time, 2:36½.

Mutuals paid $8

Third Heat—Stemwinder sold for $15 to $25 for the other two. After scoring up once the word was given, with Stemwinder again a length the worst of it. J. S. C. cut out the work round the turn, but breaking, was passed by Coquetta, who was never headed, and with the other two running and skiving all the way. Stemwinder finished two lengths behind the mare. Time, 2:38. Mutuals paid $17.

Fourth Heat—Coquetta sold for $20 to $5 for the field, and went out in front, and trotting steadily was never headed, winning as she pleased in 2:40.

SUMMARY.

Trotting Special. Mile heats 3 in 5; purse $400.
Alexander's blk m Coquetta, Altamont—unknown..Alex. Lewis 2 1 1 1
C. H. Lewis' ch g Stemwinder, Altamont—by Scamperdown .....C. H. Lewis 1 2 2 2
E. H. Mix's b s J. S. C., Echo—Vyron .....W. Hogoboom 3 3 3 3
Time, 2:37¼, 2:36½, 2:38, 2:40.

FRIDAY.

A very large and interested crowd was on the track and grounds all day, the principal attraction being the stock parade, which was greatly admired, and the formal opening of the exhibition by Hon. T. C. Hyde. In the afternoon the school children were all given free admission, and they turned out in great numbers, evidently enjoying the day's sport. The first race on the programme was a novelty, with four entries. Pools were sold with Sunday barred. Tom Daly sold choice for $20 to $15 for the rest. A long, tedious delay took place, and when the flag was dropped Osceola was left at the post. Sunday led Napa a length past the quarter, Daly three lengths back. The half was passed in the same way, and then Daly closed up, and passing both, led two lengths past the three-quarters, and five at the end of the mile. Time: Quarter :24½, half :49¾, three-quarters, 1:20½, mile, 1:51. Mutuals paid: Sunday on the quarter $6 75, and on the half $5 35; Daly on the three-quarters $7 40, and on the race $6.

The special trot had three starters, of whom Stemwinder had had a hard race the day before, but was made favorite at $20, Knox bringing $8, and $3 for Kinney. At the second score the word was given, Knox leading a length round the turn, but before the half was reached all three broke, Stemwinder falling back. Knox kept in front to the turn, when she broke and Stemwinder came up and took the lead, but the mare gradually closed up, and driven hard, just got the heat by a neck from Stemwinder. Time 2:33.

Mutuals paid $7 70.

Second Heat—Knox was made favorite, $20 to the field's $8. The trio were soon started, the mare going to the front on the turn, and with the other two breaking, trotted along leisurely, winning by a length from Kinney, who made up a lot of ground in the stretch. Time 2:34.

Mutuals paid $8 55.

The third heat was very uninteresting, Maud Knox winning as she pleased. Time 2:34.

SUMMARY.

Trotting, Special; mile heats, 3 in 5. Purse $200.
J. Misner's ch m Maud Knox, Winthrop Knox—by Pathfinder .....Misner 1 1 1
Joe Kinney's b g Joe Kinney, Alwood—by Bellfounder..... 3 2 2
C. H. Lewis' b g Stemwinder, Altamont—by Scamperdown.....Lewis 2 3 3
Time—2:33, 2:34, 2:34.

SATURDAY.

Five races were on the correct card for the wind-up day, and with brilliant weather and a very good attendance a good day's sport was witnessed, although the programme could not be finished. The first race was for two-year olds, with $500 added, but as there were only two entries the $500 offered by the association was withdrawn. The two youngsters, which were both from the same stable, ran the six furlongs easily in 1:19, Raindrop winning by five lengths. Time, 1:19. Mutuals paid $6.

SUMMARY.

Rural Spirit Stake; for two-year-olds; six furlongs. Purse $2 0.
R. E. Bybee's b f Raindrop, 107.....Lockley 1
W. A. Scroggin's b c Roebucker, 107.....Davis 2
Time, 1:19.

The second race was a mile and a half for a purse of $500, with three starters. Colma was made favorite at $20 to $7 for the field. The flag fell to a very even start. Herman cut out the pace with Colma, leading Moses B two lengths for the first mile, when Moses drew up to him and the pair ran head and head to the drawgate, when Herman shook Colma up and drew away, winning by three lengths, Dan Gannon a bad last all the way. Time, 2:41.

SUMMARY.

One and one-half mile handicap, for all ages. Purse $500.
W. L. Whitmore's ch h Coloma, 4, Joe Hooker—Callie Smart 118 .....Herman 1
R. E. Bybee's ch h Moses B, 4, Leinster—Aunt Jane, 114..McCaugh 2
J. O. Mundy's b g Dan Gannon, 91 .....Lockley 3
Time, 2:41.

The third race was a two-year-old trotting race, which should have taken place the day before. Pandora, a useful filly by Pathfinder won easily in straight heats without a skip or break, while her opponent was very unsteady.

SUMMARY.

Trotting, mile heats, 2 in 3, for two-year-olds; purse $290.
T. H Tongue's b f Pandora, Pathfinder - by Autocrat..Geo. Graves 1 1
William Hogoboom's b c Billie S. Bedouin—by Bellfounder .....W. Hogoboom 2 2
Time—2:54¼, 3:00.

The heats in the fourth race and the trot against time were sandwiched. Three horses came out for the fourth race. Palatina selling favorite at $20 to Little Joe's $17 and Bradshaw's $10. Joe had the pole, and a start was effected at the second score. Palatina broke badly before the turn; Little Joe and Bradshaw going evenly, were fifty yards in front at the quarter. Bradshaw broke badly up the backstretch, and was passed by Palatina, who trotted very fast and gradually drew up to Little Joe, who broke in the stretch, and running hard was only brought down just before the wire, a length behind Palatina, Bradshaw saving his distance by judicious running. Time 2:26½.

Mutuals paid $28.

Second Heat—Palatina sold for $25 to the field's $10. When the bell was rung Bradshaw broke and Palatina, trotting rapidly, opened up a big gap when the quarter was reached, and with the other two alternately running and trotting, jogged home an easy winner 60 yards in front of Little Joe. Time 2:33.

Mutuals paid $10.

Third Heat—Very few pools were sold, Palatina bringing $30 to the field's $16.

Ennis was taken out of the sulky and Hogoboom drove Bradshaw. Palatina was very erratic, and before the quarter was reached broke twice, losing fifty yards, but settling down, soon made up most of the difference, and when in the homestretch went up to the leaders, but breaking again, lost the heat by three lengths, Bradshaw first, Palatina set back for running to third place. Time 2:29.

Fourth Heat—Palatina still sold a big favorite at $20 to $8. Palatina broke before the first turn, losing thirty yards, but closing up on the backstretch, came up between the leaders and took the pole at the head of the stretch. Bradshaw trotted fast down the stretch, being only beaten a neck, Joe seven lengths back. A big kick was made that Palatina fouled Bradshaw, the judges eventually giving it a dead heat. Time, 2:28½, but not announced.

The race was then postponed until Monday, when Bradshaw was not brought out, being lame, and was declared distanced. Palatina sold readily for $20 to $5 for Joe. After a long delay the judges started the pair. Palatina, who was again very unsteady, breaking before the turn, and again on the turn, Joe led three lengths at the quarter and trotting steadily retained his advantage until the homestretch was reached, when Palatina came up to him, and trotting steadily, carried him off his feet at the distance and won by a length. Time, 2:30½.

SUMMARY.

Trotting—Free for all; purse $500.
Van B DeLashmutt's sp m Palatina, Milton Medium—Snowflake.....Alex. Lewis 1 1 3 0 1
A. C. Krey's b g Little Joe, Bob Winters—by Fitzsimmon's St. Lawrance.....C. H. Lewis 3 2 2 3 2
J. H. Butler's b g Col. Bradshaw, Messenger Chief—by Vermont.....D. F. Ennis 2 2 1 0 d
Time, 2:26½, 2:33, 2:29, 2:28½, 2:30½.

A special purse of $200 was offered on Saturday for Mr. Toney's ch s Gold Dust and Mr. Cozart's blk s Blacksmith to beat 2:30. Each horse had three separate trials. Blacksmith trotted very steadily in 2:37, 2:35½, and 3:37¾. Gold Dust went the first heat in 2:43½, the second with a running mate in 2:37½, and the third in 2:33, in which he ran almost as much as the runner.

Monday afternoon was filled out with a trot between Maud Knox and Coquetta for half the gate receipts. Maud who was trotting very steadily won easily in straight heats while Coquetta behaved very badly, breaking frequently.

SUMMARY.

Trotting, mile heats, 3 in 5, for one-half the gate money.
J. Misner's ch m Maud Knox, by Winthrop Knox, dam by Pathfinder .....Misner 1 1 1
Alex Lewis' blk m Coquetta, by Altamont, dam unknown, ...Lewis 2 2 2
Time, 2:37¾, 2:43, 2:30½,

The premiums in the stock department were announced on Friday after the parade, which was one of the best ever seen in Oregon.

THOROUGHBRED HORSES.

J. T. Wisdom's stallion Chesapeake, first, $30.
J. T. Wisdom's mare Little Gem, first, $20.
J. T. Wisdom's yearling col Ordinance, first, $5.
The above named three as a family, first, $15.
J. O. Mundy's stallion Dan Gannon, second, $15.

HORSES OF ALL WORK.

Leonard Cole's stallion Robert B, first, $25.
Geo. Ebell's stallion Jingo, second, $12.50.
E. P. Lee's 3-year-old stallion Frank Neghart, first, $15.
J. J. Cozart's brood mare Annie C, first, $20.
L. Sisley's 2-year-old mare Lillie, first, $7.50.

DRAFT HORSES.

Chas. McClure's stallion Royal Blue, first, $20.
James Ferguson's stallion St. Cyr, second, $10.
Henry Kinnison's brood mare Betsy, first, $20.
J. T. Wisdom's brood mare Queen, second, $10.
J. T. Wisdom's mare Queen and colt, first, $15.
J. T. Wisdom's 2-year-old mare Go Easy, first, $7.50.
Jas. Ferguson's stallion and five colts, St. Cyr, first, $10.
David Littlefield's 2-year-old stallion Noisy Dave, first, $7.50.

ROADSTERS.

J. W. Wisdom's stallion Challenger, first, $25.
J. J. Cozart's stallion Blacksmith, second, $12 50.
J. T. Wisdom's brood mare Ami, first, $15.
J. J. Cozart's gelding Andy, first, $10.
Carriage Horses—J. W. Wisdom's C. L. P. and Challenger Chief, first, $7.50.
James York's Fossil and Foslina, second, $4.
J. J. Cozart's sucking colt Sweepstakes, first, $7.50.
Jacks—S. Scott's Duke of Arabia, first, $10.

CATTLE.

Shorthorns—Geo. Chandler's bull Barrington General, first, $20.
F. P. Lee's bull under two years old, Eagle Valley Chief, first, $15.
Geo. Chandler's bull calf under 9 months, Howard, first, $10.
F. P. Lee's bull calf under 9 months, Hasty, second, $5.
L. Sisley's bull Philip, second, $10.
Geo. Chandler's cows in milk Beauty and Royal Phillis, first, $20.
F. P. Lee's cow in milk Red Belle, second, $10.
Geo. Chandler's heifers under 2 years old, Annie 2d of Pine Grove and Moss Rose of Elm Grove, first and second, $15.
Chas. Chandler's calf under 9 months old, Loretta, first, $10.
Geo. Chandler's calf under 9 months old, Valentine, second, $5.
Herefords—Geo. Chandler's bull Tychobroke, first, $20.
Holsteins—Geo. Ebell's bull Wild Oats, first, $20.
Aug. Ebell's cow Delorge, first $20.
Grades—Geo. Chandler's 2 years old cows Annie and Julia, first and second, $15.
Geo. Chandler's best animals produce of the same animal under 2 years old, Peachbloom and Fashion, first and second $11,50.

SPECIAL PREMIUMS.

Champion—Shorthorn bull 3 years old, Geo. Chandler's Barrington General first $20.
Geo. Chandler's best bull of one breed and three of his produce, Tychobroke, Peachbloom, Fashion and Lady, first $20.
F. P. Lee's best bull and three cows all of the same breed, Morton, Red Belle, Pansy Blossom and Fairy Maid, first, $20.
Geo. Chandler's best bull and three cows all of the same breed, Barrington General, Beauty, Royal Phillis and Moss Rose 42d second, $10.
A. J. Nickum's best bull on ground for beef breeds, first $20.
L. Sisley's best bull on the ground for beef breeds, second $10.
Aug. Ebell's best milch cow first $20.
F. P. Lee's best milch cow Pansy, second $10.

SHEEP.

Merinos—Chandler's & Geer's 3 years olds Silver Fleece and Gold Drop first and second, $22,50.
Also 2 pens of ram lambs, first and second $15.
Also 2 pens of 1 year olds ewes, first and second, $15.
Also 2 pens of three lambs, first and second, $11,50.

Carson Premiums.

Premiums were awarded the following horses and cattle at Carson:

THOROUGHBREDS.

Best stallion four years old and over, Idle A; best mare four years old and over, May Blossom, both owned by L Allen; best stallion, three years old, Barham, owned by J. C. Moore; best mare three years old and over, Installation, owned by C. T. Boots; best Percheron stallion, Paul, owned by Mrs. Roberts; best draft horse, Jerome, owned by L. Fray; best horse of all work, French Pete, owned by A. Charlebois.

Best stallion two years old, Chan Haskell; best stallion one year old, Rey Del Rey first, Black Bart second; best mare two years old, Florence A.; best mare one year old, Olita first, Florence E, second, all owned by Theodore Winters.

CLEVELAND BAYS.

Best stallion four years old, Commonwealth; second, Blooming Heather, both owned by T. J. Herman, who also took the sweepstakes for best stallion of any age or breed.

ROADSTERS.

Best mare four years old and over, Flora, owned by Mrs. Roberts; best mare, Flora B, owned by D. Bigler; best horse two years old, Our Jack, and best horse three years old, Dick Kelly, both owned by E. Williams; best stallion, Ernest Harris, owned by J. P. Sweeny.

GRADED HORSES.

Best stallion four years old and over, Gibraltar; best stallion one year old, Sullivan; best stallion one year old, Gibber; also best standard bred trotter, Alpha; all owned by J. P. Sweeny; best stallion two years old, Ace of Diamonds, owned by M. Fay.

HOLSTEINS.

Best bull four years old and over, best cow two years old, best cow four years old and over, best bull three years old, all owned by S. P. Davis.

Best bull two years old, Skobeloff, owned at Orphan's Home.

SWEEPSTAKES.

Best bull any age or breed, Saratoga, best cow any age or breed, Black Queen, best calf under one year, Major Ormsby, all owned by S. P. Davis.

CROSS BREED.

Best bull, three years old, Pink, owned at Orphan's Home; best bull, two years old, Prince, owned by W. J. Smith.

JERSEYS.

Best bull three years old, Davenport; best cow two years old, Lola S. first, Lola second; best herd, one male and three females, Davenport, Lola S., Lola and Emma S., all owned by Governor C. C. Stevenson.

One reputed horseman (heaven save the mark) who was lately in Chicago, told two of his stable boys that he had left their wages with Mr. Brewster at the Palmer House and they could call and collect. The boys called on Mr. Brewster and were informed that no money had been left for them. Every effort was made to stop the swindler, but he got away. However, the Washington Park Club in consideration of his actions will refuse hereafter to accept any entries from him. Try and guess what Calfornian would do such a mean thing.

The American Trotting Association.

The following persons and horses are suspended for nonpayment of entrance and other causes, viz.:

September 20, 1889. By order of the Tri-State Fair Association, Toledo, Ohio.
J. P. Dabo, Wyandotte, Mich., and gr g Bob T.
Cole & Hall, Monroe, Mich , and Little Daisy.
J. W. Davis. Hudson, Mich., and Essie D.

Sept. 28, 1889. By order of the Kansas State Fair Association, Topeka, Kan.
G. P. Updegraff, Topeka, Kan., and Honor.

Sept. 28, 1889. By order of the Wisconsin State Agricultural Society, Madison, Wis.
David C. Davies, Columbus Wis., and ch m Julia D.

Sept. 28, 1889. By order of the Loraine Co. Agricultural Society, Elyria, Ohio.
A. M. Bassett, Wellington, Ohio, for the balance of the season.

Sept. 30, 1889. By order of the Holmes Co. Agricultural Society, Millersburg, Ohio.
Snyder & Palmer. Millersburg, Ohio, and br h Summit.
S E. Mayers, Millersburg, Ohio, and b g Tim D.
J. Ravery, Beck's Mills, Ohio and b m Maggie B (pacer).

October 1, 1889 By order. of the Ashtabula Co. Agricultural Society, Jefferson, Ohio.
H. B. Kingsley, Cortland, Ohio, and b h Atlantic Boy (pacer).
Frank Kingsley, Fowler, Ohio, and b h Atlantic Boy (pacer).

October 2, 1889. By order of the Wellsville Fair Association, Wellsville, Mo.
Robt. Sudeby, Bowling Green, Mo., for twelve months.

October 3, 1889. By order of the Juncau Co. Agricultural Society, Mauston, Wis.
O. F. Angle, Sparta, Wis., and b m Amie.
Ed. Stitt, Sparta, Wis., and b m Amie.
Chas. Lake, Sparta, Wis., and b h Reberdeen.
Ed. Stitt, Sparta, Wis., and b h Reberdeen.

Oct. 18, 1889. J. H. Steiner, Secretary.

Some Notes From Ireland.

I took an opportunity when at Cork Park last week for the races (which, by the way, were very poor,) to pay a visit to Baltimore and view the annual regatta, which is now looked upon as a highly important aquatic event in the South of Ireland. The programme was of such length that something had to be abandoned. Father Davis, P. P., with Mr. Thomas Bushe and Mr. T. Salter, exerted themselves energetically and untiringly on board the committee boat all day, and the large concourse of onlookers present did not fail to appreciate the excellent bill of fare worked out for them. The event in which the greatest interest was centred was the bona fide six-oared yawl race. For this three splendid clippers entered, namely: The Champion, owned by Kelsall Bros, Liverpool; the Jubilee, owned by the Skibbereen Fishery Company; and the Commodore, of Cape Clear, Mr. Pat. Burke owner. The Champion came in an easy winner, the Jubilee being six lengths behind, and Commodore a good third. There were several other contests of minor importance. The band of the Piscatorial School, under Mr. Nicholas Punch, discoursed a choice selection of music, and a display of fireworks concluded the day's sport.

I wonder how many persons in Ireland never heard of, much less visited, the Irish Baltimore, or ever associated the name with any other than a distant city? The truth is, the great State across the Atlantic was named after the unpretentious little fishing village from whence the vast takes of mackerel are dispatched for American use. The word signifies "the village that grew up about the big house;" and the ivy-covered ruins of the Irish "big house" once occupied by the ancient O'Driscolls, looked down from an imposing height upon the peaceful array of dwellings which have, from time, to time grown up about its wrecked and deserted site. The mackerel fishing is the chief industry of the place, and to see a whole fleet of boats go out on a fine, calm day is a charming sight; but to see the same boats return with their fresh and delicious cargo, and to watch the spoil being landed by the gratified takers, is one more gratifying still—even though we know that not the sight of a golden guinea will tempt even the most needy fisherman to dispose to a retail purchaser of the very smallest specimen of his glittering take. All are immediately salted down, packed in barrels (of which vast piles lie in the sheds by the shore) and started off on their trans-Atlantic journey.

Looking down at the tempting sea-spoil as it is landed from the boat, we learn for the first time perhaps what a beautiful fish the mackerel is. There he lies, he and his comrades, with their sharp greyhound noses, well moulded, tapering bodies, formed accurately for speed—and, oh, what a glorious show of color—the very commonest specimens being as splendidly provided for in that way as the rarer and more exclusive genera. The green and blue tints mingling together on the back, emerald and sapphire superbly blended, the lovely opalescent gleams; faint rose and coral, and heliotrope, changing with every light that falls on them, and all, alas, altering too soon to the dull dun, brown and cloudy yellow, which are all that tardy eyes ever see of the wonderful coloring of this too little esteemed fish. The rainbow hues fade out, the daffodil shade behind the eye turns to a sickly green, and if the salting is not proceeded with almost as soon as harbor is reached, the labors of the takers are in vain and the harvest of the sea is lost.

The Baroness Burdett-Coutts takes a kindly and unceasing interest in Baltimore and its surroundings, and to her generosity in advancing money for building cottages, furthering the fishery, and promoting the general industry of the place, its present air of prosperity is in a large measure due, I was glad to be told that not one penny is at present due to the Baroness, whose timely advances have all been paid off. There is a splendid and newly erected school—a kind of piscatorial seminary, I fancy—very large and extremely imposing, built of fine grey stone and most substantially fashioned, which at once strikes the eye of the visitor entering the village—and on a rising ground close to the sea, and literally "on the edge of the steep" is the Protestant church, wanting only the "tower in ruins" to bear out the exact similitude of "The Garden of Sleep." Even the "regal red poppies" uprear their gaudy heads in the warmth of of the lovely September days. Heaven knows how old that church is. I doubt if many of the present dwellers on earth exactly know—but the ruins of a still older one exist, and are shown, filling the mind with a curious wonder concerning the antiquity of the district. The church and chapel are lighted by oil lamps—gas having, seemingly, not found its way to Baltimore yet—although there is talk about running a steam train to it from Skibbereen by and by. I was delighted with the clean, homely look of all the cottages, the bright face of the little post office, the thriving appearance of the cattle, and the native Irish (spoken in all its musical purity) by some of the older peasantry.

I wonder how many people know there are a hundred thousand men and women in Ireland to-day who speak nothing but the pure Irish tongue, and further, that there are eight hundred thousand bi-linguists whose English is of a very imperfect type. Nearly all these exist in the south and west of the Green Isle—a non-knowledge of English being somewhat rare in the north. I had a great deal to notice during the lengthy drive back to Skibbereen. The female peasantry all wore long blue cloaks, with immensely deep collars or capes, which could be utilized as hoods when occasion or stress of weather required, and these are, I believe, regarded as heirlooms, and are handed down from mother to daughter, and from aunt to niece, with a due appreciation of the value of such household goods. The previous day having been wet, we saw a great many of these cloaks spread out on hedges and palings, some of them patched and darned and almost brown with age, but still carefully preserved for bestowal on the next female generation.

Speaking of hedges, reminds me to say that I never saw anything more wonderful or more beautiful than the fuchsia hedges in that Southern country. Go along for miles and you will meet them everywhere; sometimes you can drive between them—seven, eight, and up to ten feet high—beautiful glossy green, unspoiled by dust or depredator, with millions of little crimson bells nodding and shaking in the pleasant breeze. These fuchsia hedges are, I am told, never planted and never cared for. They are said to grow and flourish naturally, and it is only where they abound about the better class of farm houses that they are trimmed and kept within prosaic bounds. The cottagers dry their clothes on them, and set their salted fish on them (when the splitting process has been effected) to dry thoroughly in the sun and wind. The cats climb up them to bask, and to await birds, perhaps; and the hedgehogs lie curled up under their shadow, but nobody seems to think anything of their loveliness, and the children never stop to pluck a blossom as they go by. And oh, the lovely little wells and springs of pure, sun-kissed, yet icy water, scattered freely along the roadside, purling and dancing and covering the delicious water cress with diamond spray. Where the fuchsia hedges are not, there are blackberries—wild raspberries they call them there—not the wretched, stunted things that one sees and laments for along suburban roadways, but large, luscious, glistening fruit, black as ebony, even in September, and deliciously sweet through its acidity.

We drove home by Lough Ine, a salt water lake of extraordinary beauty—handsome as anything to be seen at Killarney; the shores grandly wooded, the water at the margin clear enough to show the shining pebbles beneath its heaps of seaweed borne in from the Atlantic, on which it opens—fine natural oyster beds, and on one side of the landing an ancient interesting oratory of the sixth century. For twelve hundred years that rude little edifice resisted the serious attacks of time, and it was not until last year, while under inspection by a couple of tourists, that the gable, which they were watching from a distance of several yards, suddenly crumbled and fell. The residence of the well known and always honored Beecher family is on the margin of this exquisite lake and the lovers of the beautiful can scarcely help envying them their picturesque home. The present owner was formerly an officer in the Household Guards, but now lives, very much retired, in the bosom of his lengthy family, and amid such surroundings as resemble fairyland rather than solid earth.

The Beecher family used to be able to drive for forty miles through their own actual estate, and the property, even in these altered times is extremely extensive. Skirting it, we drove presently past Lissard, the stately and solidly-built residence of The O'Donovan, overlooking another supremely beautiful stretch of water. Lissard has four entrances. We drove past three of them, and noticed on the roof of one, an extremely pretty little monkey, evidently well fed and cared, and tethered by a strap around the body to a pole that ran up the entire side of a small dwelling. In that window was a parrot, and I learned that the caretaker has a sailor son whose custom it is to bring home some live stock on his return from every voyage. The O'Donovan has a passion for etchings, and, needless to say, knows how to entertain. He is a tall, handsome specimen of an Irishman, in the autumn, not the winter, of his days, and his lady wife is an extremely beautiful woman. I need not, I fancy, tell our English readers that the prefix "The" to the surname signifies "the head of the ancient clan of the name," and the title descends from father to son. Saxon visitors some years ago did not understand it as generally as now, and it is told of either The O'Donovan or The O'Donoghue that on sending an invitation to a Major Bull, stationed with a troop at Buttevant, the sender of the letter was astonished at receiving back an answer: "The Bull has much pleasure in accepting The O'Donoghue's kind invitation," etc. The officer, it appeared, meant no sarcasm, but simply thought the prefix was an ordinary custom of the country, and that he would be doing a polite thing in adopting it.

As we neared Skibbereen my host, who was driving me, drew my attention to a comfortably clad peasant who was lingering close to a very clean cottage door. "Ask this man a few questions," he whispered me; "his name is Murty Malony, and if his answers don't astonish you I'll consider our drive wasted." Always ready for fun and new impressions I said (as my driver drew up in a friendly way): "Good evening, Mr. Malony" "Oh, good evenin' to you," he answered in a queer, stolid, unsmiling fashion. "That's my name, unless I was changed at nurse." "And what is your general occupation?" I enquired. "Me ackipation? Sure, I'd know; unless its pullin' the divil b' the tail." "Aren't you a farmer?" "Eh, a what?" "An agriculturist?" "Och, murther!" "A small farmer?" "Mighty small, indade." "What stock have you?" "Two pair o' stockin's." "I mean live stock." "Oh, bastes! Well, I have a boneen, a pusheen and a dogyeen." You mean a little pig, a little cat and a dog. Ay, thats it. And under whom do you hold? Oh a lot of people Under Barney the Brag, and he howlds under Sandy Ned, and he under Molly Finn, and she under Buck Jack, and he just howlds his chin over water. Are you married? Ay, twice over. And a family, I suppose. Yis, two of them. What do you chiefly live on? Prayties. Oh, but you have something to eat with them. Sorra thing. What do I have? Why, bacon. Och, glory, sure the pig is the gintleman, that kapes the roof over our heads. Well, milk then? Divil a milk. Cock us up indade, wid dainties. Faix, if we drank milk Barney the Bragd have to go without his silver chain on Sundays, and Ned'd have to hop on one crutch instead of two, and Molly Finn'd have to drive an ass instead of the grey mare; and how could Buck Jack, as grinds Molly and all of us, rowl in his carriage and compare with the English nobility, if me and the likes of me was to drink milk with my prayties! Oh, drive on, I whispered my companion; or I shall fall under the wheels with laughing. And on we drove, leaving Murty laughing also in his sleeve for he thought I was English, and that he had done me fairly.

I wish I had space to notice even one half of the lovely places that can be visited from the district of which I have been writing, notably, Schull, and its historic surroundings, and all the exquisitely beautiful country that lies between Castle Townsend and Rineen; but I am bound to say the railway company does little to induce travelers to acquaint themselves with these delightful regions. From Dublin to Cork the journeying is good; express trains do it in five hours, and most of the carriage accommodation is excellent but there my praises must necessarily stop. From Cork to Skibbereen is slow torture. The look of the station is enough to turn the milk of human kindness to gall and bitterness; the second class carriages are not even equal, much less superior, to the ordinary third; three hours are consumed in doing a journey of fifty miles, and nearly twenty stations are stopped at by every train that travels on the line. There is no fast train from one weeks end to another, or seemingly any desire to keep pace with the advance of the times. I hope the country will lay these truths to heart, and accepting them in the fair spirit in which they are meant, take some steps towards rectifying existing grievances and encouraging travel, which is in great measure the life and backbone of trade.

Nannie Power O'Donoghue, in Sportsman.

A Great Stud Farm.

We have on our table the very ornate and complete catalogue issued by Hon. W. L. Scott of the thoroughbreds in his Algeria Stud Farm at Erie, Pa. Rarely, indeed, is so complete a little work of this sort issued, and the main spirit in the compilation and tabulating of the pedigrees is Mr. F. B. Whipple, the manager and superintendent of the farm.

The four stallions at service at Erie, are all well known to fame, three of them on the course, as well as at the stud. Rayon d'Or, Algerine and Wanderer were all fine turf performers, and on the cardinal principle that like begets like they have reproduced themselves in their progeny time and again. Rayen d'Or's get have steadily increased their American winnings since 1886, their first year, up to the one just closing, when Chaos and Tenny will put the mighty Frenchman high up in the list of winners, to say nothing of Tea Tray, Gipsey Queen, Bronzomarte and many others.

Algerine and Wanderer, as well as Kantaka, the three other stallions at Erie have done well at the stud for their chances, and bid fair to be worthy companions of Rayon d'Or.

The list of brood mares at Erie is quite impressive, as no less than eighty-five high bred matrons are included in the catalogue to hand. Seven of these are by War Dance, six by Rayon d'Or, five by Virgil, four by Australian, two by Lord Lyon, two by Kantaka, two each by Victorious, Bonnie Scotland, Longfellow, Macaroon, Duke of Magenta, Doncaster, King Alfonso, Glenelg, Hurrah, Scottish Chief, Mortemer, three each by imp. Eclipse and Leamington, and one by each of no less than twenty-eight other stallions. This forms a collection of all degrees of blood that is absolutely priceless to a breeder of thoroughbreds.

AQUATICS.

Partly on account of inclement weather, and more particularly from lack of enthusiasm, the affairs in local boating circles are quieter than for some years. The much talked of championship badge race petered out, and now the single scullers are talking of a shell race on Thanksgiving Day. The boys are all inclined to enter it. There should be some incentive from the public, but they say that they do not hardly feel like chipping in among themselves, raise a little money and then row for it. To row a good race requires some weeks of self-denial and hard work, and on this bay the sculler receives very little encouragement. Victoria, Portland and Salt Lake City gave a regatta this year, and very liberal purses, but in this city only on July 4th are the rowing men recognized, and after collecting nearly twenty thousand dollars, the Fourth of July committee generously, after much wrangling, set aside three hundred dollors for the regatta, and then made a programme that called for several crew and at least two single races. After hard training, etc., the winning crew got $75; that is, the professional, and the amateurs got four medals that Uncle Harris, in a fit of great liberality, might advance three dollars on. The successful single sculler for his work and training receives $50 for rowing down eight or ten men. This is indeed a liberal city for rowing men.

According to late advices Edward Hanlan has joined the gang, and is open for propositions. The other day there was to be a regatta but on account of all that was advertised to start not doing so the purs was pruned down and Hanlan, who had already rowed a short mile race, refused to start against those who were in the three mile race, stating that he was merely engaged to go and row one race there and as he had fulfilled his contract he would take his wages and go. Teemer had made a race with Hanlan for $500 a side, but when it came to putting up the stakes, E. L. Suter, Hanlan & Co., backed water and proposed to row for the gate and divide it equally. Teemer, who had an idea that fit and well he can out row any man in America, declined the proposition, remarking: "The day has gone by when you can dictate terms to scullers and as I led the parade the last few times we met Ned, I am thinking hereafter you will have to put up some money and row on your merits.

Think of that to the mighty Hanlan, the man who romped away from all the men he ever rowed against while he was Ned Hanlan, and who has won over $100,000 in stakes and purses. Alas, how the mighty hath fallen.

The other evening, while discussing Hanlans fast mile of 5:19, made last week, a gentleman in the party offered to wager $500 even that there were two scullers in this city who could duplicate it, naming Henry Peterson and Chas. Long. Owing to the fact that Lander Stevenson did not have $500 with him, and none of the others having sand enough to cover the bet, the Plunger escaped. According to that, Pete must have improved considerably since we saw him row last March. And Charley, why, he would have to row nearly twice as fast as when he rowed Henry Henchman at Stockton.

Wm. Grouney wished to keep the fact that he ordered a new shell of Ruddick a secret, and was much disgusted when he saw in the morning papers that it was public property, but someone told him that it no one subscribed for the morning papers in Victoria or Stockton, consequently the great sculler is still casting covetous eyes for the championship of the two burgs mentioned. Our exchanges will please not mention anything further about Mr. Grouney's new boat until he gets his game tied up with a deposit, then please give it a column with a double header.

A meeting will soon be held consisting of two representatives of each rowing club. The object of the meeting will be to make some arrangement with regard to the proposition from the railroad to build boat houses, etc., for the clubs across the bay.

The Standard.

[AS REVISED AND ADOPTED BY THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF TROTTING-HORSE BREEDERS, DECEMBER 14, 1887.]

In order to define what constitutes a trotting-bred horse and to establish a BREED of trotters on a more intelligent basis, the following rules are adopted to control admission to the records of pedigrees. When an animal meets the requirements of admission and is duly registered, it shall be accepted as a standard trotting-bred animal:—

FIRST.—Any stallion that has himself a record of two minutes and thirty seconds (2:30) or better, provided any of his get has a record of 2:35 or better, or provided his sire or his dam is already a standard animal.

SECOND.—Any mare or gelding that has a record of 2:30 or better.

THIRD.—Any horse that is the sire of two animals with a record of 2:30 or better.

FOURTH.—Any horse that is the sire of one animal with a record of 2:30 or better, provided he has either of the additional qualifications: (1) A record himself of 2:35 or better. (2) Is the sire of two other animals with a record of 2:35 or better. (3) Has a sire or dam that is already a standard animal.

FIFTH.—Any mare that has produced an animal with a record of 2:30 or better.

SIXTH.—The progeny of a standard horse when out of a standard mare.

SEVENTH.—The female progeny of a standard horse when out of a mare by a standard horse.

EIGHTH.—The female progeny of a standard horse when out of a mare whose dam is a standard mare.

NINTH.—Any mare that has a record of 2:35 or better, and whose sire or dam is a standard animal.

Best Trotting Records.

1 mile—2:08¾, Maud S., against time, in harness, accompanied the distance by a running horse, Glenville, O., July 30, 1885.. ..2:13½, best time in a race between horses, Maud S., Chicago, Ills., July 24, 1880.....2:13½, Maxey Cobb, against time, accompanied by running horse—fastest stallion time, Providence, R. I., Sept. 30, 1884..... 2:13¾, Phallas, fastest heat by a stallion against other horses, Chicago, July 14, 1884 .....2:15½, Jay-Eye-See, half-mile track, Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 14, 1887.....2:15¾, Great Eastern, under saddle, third heat, Morrisania, N. Y., Sept. 22, 1877.....2:10¾, Jay-Eye-See, against time, best five-year-old record, Providence, R. I., Sept. 15, 1883.....2:16, Manzanita, third heat, best four-year-old record, Lexington, Ky., Sept. 3, 1876 .... 2:14, Axtell against time, accompanied by a runner, best three-year-old record, Chicago, August, 1889.....2:18, Sunol, 2 years, against time, San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 27, 1888 .....2:31½, Norlaine, yearling, against time, San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 12, 1887.

2 miles—4:43 against time, Fanny Witherspoon, Chicago, Ill., Sept. 25, 1885.

3 miles—7:21¼, Huntress, harness, Brooklyn, L. I., Sept. 21. 1872.

4 miles—10:34½, Longfellow, wagon, California, Dec 31, 1869.

5 miles—13:00, Lady Mac, harness, San Francisco, Cal., April 2, 1874.

10 miles—27:23¼, Controller, harness, San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 23, 1878.

20 miles—58:25, Captain McGowan, harness, half-mile track, Boston, Oct. 31, 1865.

Pacing Records at One Mile.

Johnston, harness, against time, Chicago, Ills., Oct 3, 1884, 2:06½.

Brown Hal, best stallion record, Cleveland, Ohio, July 31, 1889, 2:12½.

Westmont, July 10, 1884, Chicago, Ills., with running mate, 2:01¾.

Ed Rosewater, two years old, Council Bluffs, Iowa, Nov. 3, 1888, 2:20½.

Yolo Maid, 3 years old, San Francisco, Oct. 13, 1888, 2:14.

Gold Leaf, four years old, 2:11 on August 17, 1889, at Napa.

Arrow, five years old, 2:13¼, made at Cleveland, Ohio, August 1, 1888.

Fastest Time on Record.

MILES.	RUNNING.
¼	Jim Miller, 2, Deer Lodge (Mont.), Aug. 16, 1888	0:21½
¼	†Sleepy Dick, a, Kiowa (Kan.), Nov. 24, 1888
⅜	Daniel B., 5, 118 lbs., Helena (Mont.), July 4, 1888	0:34¾
½	Geraldine, 4, ——, Westchester Course, Aug. 30, 18-9	0:46
⅝	Britannie, 5, ——, Westchester Course, Aug. 31, 1889	0:59
¾	El Rio Rey, 2, 126 lbs. Westchester Course, Aug. 31, 1889.	1:11
⅞	Britannic, 5, 110 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 5, 1889	1:26 2-5
	Ten Broeck, 5, 110 lbs., Louisville, May 24, 1877 (against time)	1:39¾
1	Maori, 4, 105 lbs., Chicago, July 12, 1889, (in a race)	1:39 4-5
1 1-16	Wheeler T., 3, 98 lbs., St. Louis, June 1, 1888	1:47¼
1⅛	Terra Cotta, 4, 124 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, June 23, 1888	1:53
1 3-16	Joe Cotton, 5, 103½ lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 7, 1887	2:00¼
1¼	Kingston, 5, 122 lbs., Gravesend, Sept. 24, 1889	2:06½
1 m	500 yds. Ben d'Or, 4, 115 lbs., Saratoga, July 25, 1882	2:10½
1⅜	†Triboulet, 4, 117 lbs., San Francisco, April 26, 1888. Richmond, 6, 122 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, June 27, 1885.	2:21½
1½	Firenzi, 4, 113 lbs., Monmouth Park, Aug. 2, 1888	2:34
	Luke Blackburn, 3, 102 lbs., Monmouth Park, Aug. 17, '80 Jim Guest, 4, 98 lbs., Chicago, (Washington Park, July 24 '86
1⅝	Hindoocraft, 3, 75 lbs., Westchester, Aug. 27, 1889	2:48
1¾	Glidelia, 5, 116 lbs., Saratoga, Aug. 5, 1882	3:01
1⅞	Enigma, 4, 90 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 15, 1885	3:20
2	Ten Broeck, 5, 110 lbs., Louisville, May 29, 1877	3:27½
2¼	Monitor, 4, 110 lbs., Baltimore, Oct. 20, 1880	3:41½
2¼	Springbok, 5, 114 lbs., Saratoga, July 29, 1875. Preakness, a, 111 lbs.,	3:56¼
2⅜	Aristides, 4, 104 lbs., Lexington, May 13, 1876	4:27¼
2⅝	Ten Broeck, 4, 104 lbs., Lexington, Sept. 16, 1876	4:58½
2¾	Hubbard, 4, 107 lbs., Saratoga, Aug. 9, 1873	4:8¾
3	Drake Carter, 4, 115 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 6, 1884	5:24
4	Ten Broeck, 4, 104 lbs., Louisville, Sept. 27, 1876	7:15¾

MILES.	HEAT RACES.
¼	Sleepy Dick, a, Kiowa (Kan.), Nov. 24, 1888	0:21½—0:22¼
½	Bogus, a, 113 lbs., Helena (Mont.), Aug. 22, 1888	0:48 —0:48
⅝	Kittie Pease, 4, Dallas (Tex.), Nov. 2, 1887. Sadie McNairy, 3, 98 lbs., Chicago, July 2, 1883	1:00 —1:00 1:00¼—1:03
¾	Lizzie S., 5, 118 lbs., Louisville, Sept. 28, 1883	1:13¼—1:13¾
1	Bounce, 4, 90 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 7, 1881	1:42 —1:41½
1	3 in 5. L'Argentine, 6, 115 lbs., St. Louis, June 14, 1879	1:43 —1:44 —1:47¾
1 1-16	Slipalong, 5, 115 lbs., Chicago (Wash. Park), Sept. 2, 1885.	1:07½—1:18
1¼	Gabriel, 4, 112 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 23, 1880	1:56 —1:56
1¼	Glenmore, 5, 114 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 25, 1880	2:10 —2:14
1½	Keno, 6, Toledo, Sept. 16, 1880 (1st and 3d heats)	2:43½—2:45
2	Miss Woodford, 4, 107½ lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 20, 1884	3:33 —3:31¾
3	Norfolk, 4, 100 lbs., Sacramento, Sept. 23, 1865	5:27½—5:29½
4	Ferida, 4, 105 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 18, 1880	7:23½—7:41

†Made in a heat race.

•Doubtful, and made in a heat race.

Stamboul.

Of course one has to go away from home for news, that is, original news, and it is from the Breeders' Gazette that we learn that "It is not decided whether or not Stamboul, 2:14¾, will start against the stallion record this season. It has been the plan all along to have him go a mile against the watch some time this fall, it being thought that with Hickok to give him the necessary preparation, the son of Sultan would be able to materially lower his record. Now that Bonnie McGregor has trotted in 2:13½ and Palo Alto done the trick in 2:13¾, it places Stamboul still further from the front than he was before these two made their essays. His owner is a rich man, to be sure, and can afford to let Stamboul rest on his laurels, but he is not content to do this, and private advices are to the effect that the horse was to have gone against his record at the recent meeting at Stockton, Cal. While at the track there he was worked out a couple of miles, the best one being 2:17½. The next day it was given out that Stamboul was suffering from a slight cold and would not be started that week against his record. Hickok is a shrewd manager, and with those who know him best it is deemed certain that whenever he does start Stamboul against his own record or that of any other stallion, the time set up as a mark will be beaten. Hickok seldom makes a mistake, and especially is this true in the matter of estimating what a horse can do. He showed this when St. Julien trotted in 2:12½ the first time he asked him to show in public, and it is not on the cards that he will make any mistake with Stamboul.

Alexander's Abdallah.

Iconoclast, in Wallace's Monthly.

Hambletonian sired four sons that are now entitled to the first rank as speed-producing horses. These are Alexander's Abdallah, George Wilkes, Happy Medium and Electioneer.

Volunteer stands well up among the sons of that horse of the second grade, while Aberdeen, Strathmore, Dictator and Dauntless give promise of eventually being able to take rank with the first four named.

George Wilkes and Happy Medium thus far seem to be the most uniform producers of speed in their immediate offspring, and both of them appear to breed on well. Electioneer produces the earliest speed of any of the sons of Hambletonian; but it must be borne in mind that his opportunities for the production of early speed are superior to those ever enjoyed by any other horse. The get of all three of these horses out of mares of good blood make race horses of a very high quality. But for all the purposes of a trotting sire; for the production of speed in his immediate get; for getting campaigners of courage and staying capacity, and for breeding on from generation to generation, improving uniformly from decade to decade, no horse that ever lived has equaled Abdallah 15. As a progenitor he is not only without a superior, but when his opportunities and early death are considered he is absolutely without a peer.

Some months ago General Tracy published several articles, in which he took the position that the greatest trotting progenitor was the one that produced (or was capable of producing) the greatest sire; and from this he urged that Woodford Mambrino and George Wilkes were the greatest progenitors that had yet appeared. This view seems to me to be an extremely narrow one and would limit the work of a trotting progenitor to the business of producing great sons. Why might General Tracy not as well say that the greatest progenitor is the one that produces the greatest daughter? This position, it seems to me, would be fully as logical. Or why not assert that the stallion is the greatest progenitor who sires the greatest campaigner, or the fastest son or daughter? As the real object in breeding is to produce as much speed as possible in as short a time as possible, I submit that the true measure of a stallion's greatness is the production of the maximum amount of speed in the minimum quantity of time, opportunities being equal. Take General Tracy's rule and his example of Woodford Mambrino. That horse happened to be bred to Primrose, a mare sired by Abdallah 15, out of Black Rose, one of the greatest of brood mares, and produced Princeps—a grand horse. Princeps, standing at Indian Hill among a superbly-bred lot of mares, has made a very successful sire. Therefore (according to General Tracy's reasoning), just in the proportion that Princeps surpasses other horses of his age is Woodford Mambrino a greater sire than the sires of the horses with which he is compared. To show the extreme fallacy of this argument it is only necessary to advance the extremely probable hypothesis that these other sires were never bred to Primrose, and the resulting foal never stood at Indian Hill or had access to its very choice harem.

The production of one or two great sires or great performers is not by any means conclusive proof of greatness in a progenitor, because, for all we know (if this is all the horse does), the greatness may come from the mares with which he is mated.

If this were not true, then Abdallah I. and the almost unheard-of sire of Blue Bull would be entitled to very much higher rank than is now accorded to them.

It is the steady and uniform production of speed out of all sorts of mares, of speed that breeds on generation after generation, that distinguishes horses of the first class—those who alone are worthy to be ranked as the really great progenitors.

When a horse foaled in 1852, after very slight stud service in New York is taken to Kentucky in 1859, put in the stud in a locality where, according to General Withers, who then lived there, there were no trotting mares, getting scarcely any patronage, in 1863 taken to Woodburn, where the country was all ablaze with the fires of Civil War, getting a few colts and fillies there, and then dying in 1865 from hard riding and neglect, producing altogether less than two hundred foals—when such a horse, under such unpropitious circumstances, becomes the sire of the incomparable Goldsmith Maid, that won more heats inside of 2:30 than any other horse ever trotted in that time; of the marvellously prepotent Almont, whose line, like Tennyson's brook, seems to "go on forever," and to gather force and volume every year; of the great Belmont, that sired such a horse as Nutwood, and of the excellent Thorndale; and out of these less than two hundred foals produces twelve sires of about ninety 2:30 performers, with an almost innumerable host of 2:30 descendants in the remote generations—such a horse as this, in my humble judgment, deserves the highest rank that a trotting stallion can hold.

Whatever may be the judgment of General Tracy (and it is entitled to great respect), I am sure that the production of one great sire, were he several times the magnitude of Princeps, would not, in the estimation of most horsemen, be regarded as the equivalent of such wonderful producing and reproducing power as was displayed by the unrivalled Abdallah.

Nature, whether working in man or animals, never does her best except at rare intervals. When she makes a great horse, as well as a great man, she breaks the mold. It took many generations of men to produce a Homer. After many generations more the broken mold was re-formed, and a Shakespeare appeared. It is doubtful whether another Abdallah will reappear for a very long period of time. We pile trotting-cross upon trotting-cross, in the hope of producing his equal; and in this we do wisely, for as far as human wisdom goes this is the surest method of approximating perfection.

But what did Nature do when she wanted to make an Abdallah? She took the blood of a great sire, united it with that of a dam of unknown breeding, and behold the mighty product! That that dam was a mare brimful of trotting-blood we cannot, however, doubt. Those who knew her testify that she had speed, and was, like Shanghai Mary, a great roadmare. It is unfortunate indeed that her breeding is not known—not that we could reasonably expect to produce another Abdallah by following the same lines of breeding, but we might get the nearest approximation possible from a systematic course of breeding.

What was lost to the breeders of trotting-horses when Abdallah met his cruel and untimely death no man can estimate.

The value of the produce of the two greatest sons, Almont and Belmont, is almost incalculable. But add to the grand total resulting from the aggregated values of the produce of the remainder of his sons and daughters in all the generations, and the result would be enormous indeed.

The other three of the greatest sons of Hambletonian—George Wilkes, Electioneer and Happy Medium—have accomplished grand things. They were all very great horses; but it must be remembered that two of them lived to a considerable age, and the third, which is yet living, is eight years older than was Abdallah at the time of his death.

While each of them has sired very meritorious horses, some of them performers of phenomenal speed, none of them can boast of such a campaigner as Goldsmith Maid; and while each has produced great sires, none of them has to his credit such a sire as Almont or such a grandson as Nutwood; and while all of them will doubtless breed on well, it is doubtful if either of them, considering the number of his foals, will ever be able to show such an array in the 2:30 list in the far-away generations.

I believe, firmly, that all these horses will make great sires of dams because they all produce trotting action, but I doubt if the time will ever come when, out of one hundred of their female foals selected at random, twenty-one dams of twenty-five performers can be found; and I say this not at all by way of disparagement to them, but merely to emphasize the greatness of Abdallah by comparing him with the greatest of the other sons of his sire.

Without taking the space necessary for a full tabulation of the 2:30 produce of Abdallah 15, in the different generations, it will be sufficient to epitomize it in a brief statement. In the first generation he produced 6 performers; in the second generation, 120; in the third generation, 261. Total, three generations, 387.

In this calculation there are doubtless many descendants of daughters and granddaughters that have escaped my attention as well as many others in the various generations that have entered the 2:30 list during the present year, and of which I have no record; but it cannot be disputed that the above figures constitute an unrivaled showing for a horse that was foaled in 1852, and produced, all told, less than two hundred foals. I think it entirely safe to say that no four of the other sons of Hambletonian—probably no four other horses, excluding Hambletonian (who was foaled three years earlier, was in the stud until he was twenty-seven years old, and produced 1,375 foals out of the best trotting mares the country then afforded), have ever equalled this wonderful record.

In the 2:20 list Abdallah shows to fully as great advantage as in the 2.30 list, although with him as with all other sires, that list is a great reducer of numbers. He had in the first generation:

Goldsmith Maid	2:14

In the second generation:

Picard, by Abdallah Pilot	2:18¼
Aldine, by Almont	2:19½
Fanny Witherspoon, by Almont	2:16¼
Piedmont, by Almont,	2:17½
*Puritan, by Almont	2:16
*Westmont, by Almont	2:13¾
Nutwood, by Belmont	2:18½
Wedgewood, by Belmont	2:19
Daisydale, by Thorndale	2:19¾
Edwin Thorne, by Thorndale	2:16½
Nancy Hackett, by Wood's Hambletonian	2:20
Kitty Bates, by Jim Monroe	2:19
Monroe Chief, by Jim Monroe	2:18¼
Robert McGregor, by Major Edsall	2:17½

Produce of Daughters.

Favonia	2:15
Jerome Eddy	2:16½

In the third generation:

Jewett, by Allie West, son of Almont, pacing record 2:14	2:20
Charley Friel	2:16½
Frank Champ	2:16½
Elmonarch, by Almonarch, son of Almont	2:17¼
Geneva S, by Abdallah Mambrino, son of Almont	2:19½
Betty Jones, by Abdallah Mambrino, son of Almont	2:19¾
Annie W, by Bostwick's Almont, son of Almont	2:20
Frank Buford, by Bostwick's Almont, son of Almont	2:20
Belle Hamlin, by Hamlin's Almont, son of Almont	2:12½
Globe, by Hamlin's Almont, son of Almont	2:20
Flossie G, by Antar, son of Almont	2:18½
*Lorene, by Col. West, son of Almont	2:15½
Fugue, by King Rene, son of Belmont	2:19½
DeBarry, by Nil Desperadmm, son of Belmont	2:19½
Dawn, by Nutwood, son of Belmont	2:19½
Felix, by Nutwood, son of Belmont	2:18¾
Maggie E, by Nutwood, son of Belmont	2:19¾
Woodnut, by Nutwood, son of Belmont	2:16½
*Belmont Boy, by Nutwood, son of Belmont	2:15
Junemont (5), by Tremont, son of Belmont	2:18¾
Favonia, by Wedgewood, son of Belmont,	2.15
*Conway, by Wedgewood, dam by Abdallah 15	2:18¾
Bonnie McGregor, by Robert McGregor, son of Major Edsall	2:13½
Femme Sole, by Princeps, son of Primrose, by Abdallah 15	2:20
Granby, by Princeps, son of Primrose, by Abdallah 15	2:19½
Trinket, by Princeps, son of Primrose, by Abdallah 15	2:14

In the fourth generation we already have Almont Patchen, pacer, by a son of Tilton Almont, son of Almont.

The above lists no doubt omit many records that have been made this year, and very probably some of previous years; but they are enough for my purpose, which is to show not only that speed descends in the Abdallah line, but that it is superior to any other branch of the Hambletonian family in producing extreme speed. The statement has been frequently made, and thus far has seemed to pass unchallenged, that Abdallah 15 is the progenitor of more horses that trot in 2.20 than all the other sons of Hambletonian combined. I shall be glad to see any omission in the table supplied.

Cause of Colic.

"Colic in our horses," says an English veterinarian, "is generally the result of careless or improper feeding. The stomach of the horse is small and the digestion is limited, and if the horse is hungry and overfed, or is allowed to gulp down a big feed, colic is the result; and if musty hay or musty or sour feed is used, or if fresh-cut grass wet with dew or rain is hastily eaten in large quantities, colic is often the result. The careful, thoughtful man who feeds his horses regularly rarely has the colic to contend with. More frequent feeding of small feeds is better than too much feed at once. See the skillful horseman on the ship with his horses tied up without exercise. He cuts down his feed to keep the horses with keen appetite. A very little overfeeding produces colic." Too much cold water when the horse is heated and tired is a fruitful source of colic, as is also too much green food, which, from its succulent nature, is liable to undergo fermentation. The remedy is the same as in man. Quickly give something to relieve the pain, pain-killer or some special colic cure; keep the animal quiet and warm, and if relief is not soon had, get the veterinarian.

South American Racing.

Perhaps a few lines on Argentine racing may be acceptable to your readers, says a South American correspondent in the English Sporting Times. There is established here a jockey club, and things are well managed up to a certain point, considering they have only been at the game something less than four years. To become a member of the club the usual proposer and seconder is required; these must, however, be backed up by the would-be member with the nice sum of $1,000 per annum. There are really only two courses, both within a short drive of Buenos Ayres, and the carts can be seen tooling outwards on Sundays and feast days by the hundreds. The best course is that presided over by the jockey club, and called the National Hippodrome, at Palermo, the circumference of which is 1,750 metres, with good breadth, two excellent grand stands, and one in the course of completion. The two finished stands would accommodate about 5,000 or 6,000 persons. The paddock is all one could desire, both as to weighing and dressing-rooms, and the accommodation is excellent. Indeed, Newmarket cannot boast such a paddock, taking it all in all. The turns of the course are very sharp, and in a 1,200 metre race the runners have to negotiate two short ones before getting into the straight, when they have a run in of two furlongs. The going is as hard as old Fleet street pavement—the wood pavement of which, well soaked, would be soft going when compared with the ground the horses have to gallop over in this part of the world.

The methods of native training are peculiar, and so you must think when I tell you the horses are out and at work by 2 to 3 A. M. Indeed, the gallops and trials nearly all take place by 3:30 to 4 A. M, and generally before the early hour of 3 A. M. Very rarely does one see a blood horse out after 5 A. M., unless it be occasionally in the afternoon, about 5 to 6, for a walk. Oats being scarce, and very dear, the horses are fed on maize, except those owned by the Portlands and Westminsters of Buenos Ayres, and these have oats, of course.

There is no genial bookie here, no "2 to 1 bar a couple, the field a pony," but instead the pool arrangement, where the punter buys so many tickets on his fancy at $1 per ticket, the executive deducting from the total on each race the modest sum of ten per cent. to defray expenses and stakes; and as there are often $50,000 to $80,000 on each race, you can see that the said executive does very well indeed, there being some seven races on every Sunday, and generally the same number on two Thursdays in each month. There are also five or six remate shops, or "sport clubs," where one, during the week previous to the Sunday's or Thursday's racing, can buy his fancy in a sale of the horses in each race, the horses in each race being sold over and over again, and the buyers of the winner have the money invested divided amongst them less ten per cent. These clubs have each to pay to the government the handsome "patente," or tax of $20,000 per annum.

Very often enormous stakes are won by laying out a very few dollars, and I will give you three instances known to me. The first was when Lise Fleuron, by Sir Bevys, out of Lady Langden won a good race in the beginning of July. I had the pleasure of seeing a bank clerk buy fifty tickets on the filly just before the race, and after the sums had been totted up the return to backers came out to him at $1,200. This pales before the return on Conspirator, a bay colt by Muncaster, out of Ashgrove, which just got home from Lise Fleuron and half a dozen more on the next Sunday, for on the colt there were only three hundred and two tickets—his owner taking two hundred—the return to whom being just over $25,000, or 125 to 1. Not bad odds, these, eh? How much more the lucky owner won in the remate shops I have not heard, but one young Argentine bought the colt in a sale, as he said, just for fun, for $8, and he received $1,570, and with pride was his receipt shown in the window of the "Casa Remate."

The native Argentine is a fair devil at betting, and is, taken all round, a good sportsman in his way, and he likes to see his dollars and those of his fellows flying around. One great point I must not forget to record in the favor of the native sportsman. At the races one never sees a drunken man or woman, never hears bad language, never sees horseplay of any sort or kind, and any man can walk about with thousands of dollars in his hat-band, and he will never have them even so much as looked at. Certainly they are the most honest lot of sportsmen, from the highest to the lowest, in the way I have named I have ever come across; though, mind you, the native owners and trainers quite understand running the "bloods" to get weight off, and put the backing public off the scent, so that when the colt comes out and wins, there are few tickets on him, and they are the holders. In this way they can be taught nothing. Some of them could have informed the Durham-Chetwynd arbitrators what "the owner in the cart" meant, and also what the meaning of "out for an airing" and "not on the job" was.

To come to the "obsess," old Bismarck looks very sorry about something or other, and is not the animal I saw in England last year. Taking his running since June: I saw him late in that month chop his field in a 1,000 metre race, and win in a walk, giving away lumps of weight. Two weeks later he met Gloriation over 1,500 metres, and, starting a worse favorite than the son of Speculum and Gloria, was badly beaten; the betting being in the pools, about 5 to 4 on Gloriation. Out he comes again on the following Sunday, wins this time, over 1,000 metres, top weight, of course, and giving away lumps to others in the race, and amongst them were some speedy horses. Then, again, one week later he is pulled out for a 1,000 metre sprint, top weight, of course, with sixty-three kilos., and runs fourth to one Colibri, as ugly a beast as was ever saddled, and, moreover, a "Mestigo," which signifies a seven-eighths bred horse. Bismarck, of course, started a hot favorite. When he was at his worst in England he could have given stones to those that beat him.

St. Mirin has never started, and never will, his legs being the trouble; he is quite a cripple. Gay Hermit has won a few races, but is now not carrying silk. Annamite is not of much use here. Devilishoof, Prince Soltykoff's old horse, is no good. It is painful to see him even try to gallop.

Out of all the imported horses that have raced before coming to this country that I have seen, the only two that can be called race-horses, having regard to what they did on their native heaths, are Gloriation and Indecis, the latter a French-bred colt by Androcles, out of Iones. These two have not yet met, but when they do there is sure to be a rare set-to and a nice gamble to the result. The Frenchman has been in this country much longer than Gloriation, but the latter is now thoroughly acclimatized and looks as well and blooming as he ever did.

As far as I have been able to see and judge, the imported horse that has raced to any extent before he sees these shores is not of much good here, for they nearly all have a sort of low fever on arriving, and it is six months before they are fit to sport silk. The whole methods of training, living, stabling, feeding and climate are vastly different to what they were accustomed to, and in which they were reared. On the other hand, those imported as yearlings and two year olds become acclimatized, and their legs stand the fearfully hard going.

Chivalrous is out here, and has been getting some good winners. So has Phœnix, Lagrange's old horse. The champion three year old now is Revalacion, by Zanoni, out of Volumnia, a colt bred in the country. He is a rare-backed colt, and can both go and stay. Marascal by Zanoni out of Princess Belle Belle, is another nice colt as is Monarque by Tancred out of Brunehaute- Amongst the two year olds, and there is a perfect cloud of them, is Remolacha by Zanoni, out of Trifle, a filly as handsome as paint. Jefferson by Border Minstrel out of Juliette is a nice colt. Of course there are scores more; indeed in one two year old sprint two weeks back were fifty-six entries.

In a race set down for December 15 next I read the following entries: Fleur de Lys by Bend Or, dam Lily Agnes Ormande, Tissaphernes by Xenaphon, dam Twitter. The value of the race is $3,000 to winner, $700 to second and $300 to third; distance 5,700 metres, or just over three and a half miles; three year olds 50 kilos., four year olds 60 kilos., five and upward 63 kilos.

The native jockies would make your staff stare. The native may know how to ride—stick on, that is, but I am sure he can't race ride. They have no idea of pace, and if it be a five furlong—I mean a $1,000 metre sprint— or a 2,500 metre race, it is all the same to them. The moment the flag is down away they go full bat, top-weights racing with feather-weights from flag-fall to finish, or to the time that they have shot their bolts.

The way they bit the horses is awful—not your racing light snaffle, but a thumping great carriage-bit, with a curb-chain one sees on the hard-mouthed coach-horse. So sharp are these bits that the puniest of the boys can pull his mount up in his stride almost. Touch the reins and up goes the poor brute's head and open comes his jaws. Another difference between the native-trained horse and the English—the former looks uncared for, and has not that gloss and sunshine in his coat that is seen when an English trained colt steps out of the paddock. The native is a careless specimen of horsekeeper and trainer. Another great fault I see here Sunday after Sunday is the frequent and unnecessary use of the whip, the native lads being passionately fond of using it, and they do so on the slightest occasion.

There are only two that are at all sparing with the whip, and these two, be it said to their credit, are Palacios and Diaz, the negro humpback. These two rarely take up their whips, but, as a rule, the instant the bend for home is negotiated, up go nine whips out of every ten. As to finishing, they do not know what it means. Only last Sunday Mariscal, by Zanoni, out of Princess Belle Belle, was beaten on the post by the humpbacked jockey, on a crock of a thing, solely through the lad on Mariscal, which, though going free and well, and winning in a canter, was the receiver-general of the most unmerciful flogging I ever saw a colt receive. It stopped him, and the "Bossu," riding like a demon monkey—and he can get heaps more out of a horse than perhaps any other jockey out here—never touched his mount, but simply won the race through the other lad's too free use of the whip. As a consequence, none of the horses in this part of the world seem to have the slightest amount of life in them. Their very walk is as lifeless as as the Gaiety stage door when the Frenchees are in residence and the tarts are out. One never sees a colt or filly clearing a ring with heels—not they, poor devils, for they are galloped and trained; Sunday after Sunday they are raced and flogged, when there is not the ghost of a chance of even extending the leader.

The stakes are worth winning here, as you will see from the following programme, which is set down for August 25:—

The Parvenir Handicap, $15,000; entrance $50, $25 forfeit. 3,800 metres.

The Hippodrome Argentine Handicap, $3,000; for three year olds; entrance $50, $25 forfeit. 2,000 metres.

The Fraternidad Handicap, $3,000; for all ages; entrance $50, $25 forfeit. 1,600 metres.

The Concilacion Open Handicap, $5 000; for all horses which have not won a race during 1889; entrance $50, $25 forfeit. 1,000 metres.

The Apollo Carrera Clasica, or, literally translated, a Classical Race.

The Esperanza Handicap, $3,000; for horses of all ages; entrance $50, $25 forfeit. Distance 2,500 metres.

A Derby Winner Sold for £14,000.

Ormonde Sails for South America.

The Duke of Westminster's celebrated racehorse, Ormonde, sails for Buenos Ayres to-morrow (Thursday), on the Elbe from Southampton, says the Pall Mall Budget. He was brought from Eaton Hall, Chester, to London yesterday, remaining the night at Mr. John Hetherington's farm at Cricklewood, where he had a special box, and was well cared for. Mr. Hetherington says Ormonde is in splendid condition and form, and has never looked better in his life. He was taken through London this (Wednesday) morning, and left Waterloo station in the nine o'clock train, in a box constructed for him, in charge of Hetherington's courier, Harry Burgess, who is a most efficient man, and has taken a great number of horses safely across the Atlantic for various people.

Before leaving Eaton Hall, Don Juan Bocau, the purchaser of Ormonde, received the following certificate from Dr. E. Cooper-Smith, the veterinary surgeon of the Chichester Infirmary, which satisfactorily settles the question of the horse's physical condition:

Hollist Stud Farm, Midhurst, Aug. 13, 1889.

I, Edward Cooper-Smith, hereby certify that I have this day, at the request of Captain Russell England, visited his Grace the Duke of Westminster's stud at Eaton, and by his Grace's permission thoroughly examined Ormonde, with a view of ascertaining whether the temporary illness which the horse had suffered from during the stud season of 1889, left any disease that would interfere with his future as a stallion. I found no organic disease whatever, and the lungs, to which my attention was particularly directed, were perfectly sound. The horse has made rapid recovery from his recent illness, and is now in perfect health and condition.

(Signed) Edw. Cooper-Smith, M. R. C. V. S. L.

Ormonde was sold to Don Juan Bocau for the enormous sum of £14,000, the largest amount, it is said, ever paid for a horse; although it is true the Duke of Westminster paid the same money for Doncaster, Ormonde's grandfather. Doncaster was sold to the Duke by Mr. Peck, who bought him from Mr. Merry for £10,000. The next largest amount paid for a horse was for Blair Athol, which brought £12,500 at Mr. Blenkiron's sale.

Axtell had not been sold when this article appeared.—[Ed.

Ormonde leaves behind him several fine foals, yearlings, which are now at Eaton Hall, and do every credit to his foal-getting powers. Don Juan Bocau has already sent over to Buenos Ayres a batch of fifteen thoroughbred mares to be mated with Ormonde, all of them the pick of the English racing studs. Amongst them are Philosophy, Victorine, Florida, Oberhof, Queen of the South, and Lady Bountiful. He is to be used entirely, when he arrives in South America, for stud purposes.

Axtell 2:12.

The wonderful young stallion whose name is now a household word from the Atlantic to the Pacific was a badly formed youngster, and as a yearling he was not considered much. His hocks were the same as his sire, slightly curby looking, and it was hardly thought that he would ever make a trotter. However he has out grown many of his imperfections and the following is a description of him given by Gurney C. Gue:

The curby hocked yearling of two years ago has improved in make-up and appearance almost as much as he has in speed. To-day he is one of the best formed stallions from his nose to his hocks that I ever saw. Not only is his head handsome when he is animated, but his countenance is likewise the most intelligent imaginable.

The surprising breadth and fulness of forehead, the pricked ears, and, above all, the inquisitive expression of the eyes and the whole face, indicate an animal of far more than average intellect. His neck is just the mould that one likes to see on a stallion—of good length, and masculine in fullness without being the least bit gross. His chest and shoulders, too, are such as I never remember having seen a three year old carry; remarkable in depth and fulness at the brisket, splendidly muscled, loosely laid and very well sloped. His middle piece is perhaps his best point, deep through the heart, grand in its length, and hooped in by well sprung ribs, it indicates most clearly the big feeder and hardy animal that Axtell is. Over the back, loin and hips there is remarkable breadth and power with all the smoothness of outline when is indicated in Whitney's sketch. His quarters and strifles are massive and board, strangely so for a colt of his age, and they plainly show where his propelling power comes from. His hocks—it is too bad to say it, but they mar the symmetry of an otherwise perfect form. They are not unsound. No man can say with truth that Axtell is curbed or otherwise blemished at this point. The back tendon at the curb place is as clean as a whipcord in fact, but the side bones of the hock extend so far back that one is almost ready to swear at first sight that the colt is curbed. Then the joint is more than ordinarily angular, and just below it the cannons have the appearance of being light, an effect caused by the peculiar formation of the hock.

This is a tremendously speedy formation, but it is likewise considered extremely dangerous and liable to curb. As yet, however, and the most dangerous period of colthood is now past, Axtell is without the unsightly enlargements. And perhaps this is so because of the added strength given the angular joint by the side bones extending back as far as they do. Otherwise, his legs are without defect or fault, strong-jointed, good-boned, and remarkably free from evidence of training. His feet are just about models in form, size and texture; long at the toe, without being narrow, and open and low at the heel. They are neither shelly nor spongy, but dark, close-grained and dense.

With the single exception of his unsightly—not unsound—hind legs, Axtell could scarcely be bettered in physical structure.

Axtell is essentially a natural trotter. With him the trot is not an artificial gait, taught by patient and long continued effort, after countless experiments with all sizes and shapes of shoes and weights and boots known to the trainer's art. It is as natural as the leap of the thoroughbred, and no artificial appliances of any kind are necessary in his case. He trotted his mile in 2:14 with only five-ounce shoes on his fore feet and three-ounce ones behind, without even quarter-boots for protection—dangerous business it would seem to most people—and wearing only hind shin and toe boots, which are used more for protection than necessity.

His gait is, of course, very perfect. It must be to enable a horse to trot in 2:12. He trots with his legs as the saying is, his body scarcely moving out of a true line forward. His knee action is bold without being excessive, and it is ahead—no paddling. Behind he has not as much hock action as many would like to see, stealing along, Lady Thorn fashion, without raising his feet very far above the ground. There is certainly no waste motion anywhere, but the secret of his phenomenal speed, it seems to me, is to be found in the lightning-light quickness with which the colt gathers and strikes and recovers his stride, more than in any other peculiarity of his action. It is fairly electric in its rapidity, and some day, when mature age has given Axtell the strength for continued effort, it is going to be the cause of his going a mile much closer to two minutes than has ever yet been done.

AXTELL, b h, 3 years, 2:12.

- Sire: WILLIAM L.
  - Geo. Wilkes, 2:22
    - Hambletonian, 10 — by Abdallah / by imp. Bellfounder
    - Dolly Spanker — by Henry Clay / by Highlander
  - Lady Bunker, dam of Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼
    - Mam Patchen, bro to Lady Thorne, 2:18¾ — by Mambrino Chief / by Gano
    - Lady Dunn, dam of Joe Bunker, 2:19¼ — by American Star / ——
- Dam: Lou.
  - Mambrino Boy, 2:26½
    - Mam Patchen, bro to Lady Thorne, 2:18¾ — by Mambrino Chief / by Gano
    - Roving Nellie — by Strader's Clay / by Berthune
  - Bird Mitchell
    - Mambrino Royal — by Mam Pilot, 2:27½ / by Lieut Bassinger
    - by Comet Royal — by Sherman Morgan / by Buckshot

The late Lord Wolverton gave 300 guineas for Katrine (the dam of Formidable) who is by Blair Athol out of Seclusion (Hermit's dam), with Formidable at her foot, and in foal again to Isonomy when Mr. T. E. Walker sold off his mares in 1887. Later in the year, at the break-up of the Iwerne Minster stud, Katrine was purchased by Mr. Burdett-Coutts for 510 guineas, and the produce of her second mating with Isonomy was the chestnut yearling colt for whom Captain Machell gave 3,000 guineas last July. At Lord Wolverton's sale Formidable was bought by Jewitt for 210 guineas, and re-sold by him when a yearling at the good profit of 1,000 guineas to Lord Dudley.

Grim's Gossip.

The Guttenbug track has been lengthened to one mile.

Jimmy McLaughlin is pleasing the public by his excellent work with the flag at Clifton.

R. P. Ash will arrive from the East to-morrow, and his stable will follow shortly afterwards.

Dave Johnson, the well-known pool seller of New York, has won a hundred thousand dollars this year.

The Baldwin Stable has had to stop on the overland trip, owing to the sickness of Caliente.

W. L. Whitmore arrived last Thursday with Coloma and Guido, who will be worked for the Blood Horse meeting.

E. S. Culver is busily engaged in preparing tabulated predigrees of all the thoroughbred mares on the Rancho Del Paso.

Oakland is now the home of the thoroughbreds, Haz'itt, Davis, Jones and others being located there with their horses.

R. W. Thomas who trained the Santa Anita Stable last year will open a public stable in Lexington, Ky., early next year.

The Dywers Stable is in great form at Elizabeth, Longstreet, Oregon. Sir John and others showing much improved form.

Edgemark, at Lexington Ky., on Saturday last lowered the four-year-old stallion record to 2:16. Col. Russell got a great horse when he purchased Edgemark.

A telegram received here on Thursday states that the Winters Stable would start for the West to-day. It is a question whether El Rio Rey will be left behind or not.

Lee J. Rose and Walter Maben left last Saturday for Los Angeles with all the Rose string, except Mists, who will stay in Hickok's charge until after the P. C. T. H. B. A. meeting is over.

In making up the summary in the special race trotted on Monday of last week the proofreader over looked an error in the time of Richmond. The time should be 2:22¾ instead of 2:24½.

Dick Moore, the jockey who was injured on the last day of the fair at Concord, was taken to Oakland last Saturday. He has recovered his senses, but the lower part of his body is paralyzed.

The fall meeting of the Kentucky Association, which commenced at Lexington last Monday, is the centennial of racing in Kentucky, the first public race having been run there in 1789.

Silas B. Emerson, of Santa Clara County, died at the residence of Robert McQueen, 434 Jesse street, this city, a week ago last Sunday. He was the owner of the fast trotting mare Maggie E, 2:19¾.

Mr. J. Maguire has gone to Fresno with his colt, which will be named Fresno. We commend both owner and horse to the good people of the Southern city, and sincerely hope both may be thoroughly appreciated.

Pittsburg Phil., despite all rumors to the contary was a big winner when he went down to Westchesther, but lost about $23,000 there and since then has made up his losses, being about $20,000 ahead when last heard from.

A. J. Walsh, of Oroville has a fine two-year-old colt by a son of Brigadier dam thoroughbred that is full of promise. "The Gem of the foothills" will be able to boast of many good ones when Marion Biggs Jr., finishes the new track.

There were 38 heads of horses sold at the Woodard sale on Oct. 16th for $20,000. The best lot sold was the yearling brown colt Ashgrove by William L. (sire of Axtell), dam Mother Lumps to H. Cunningham, Knoxville, Ia., for $5,100.

They have started pony racing in Brisbane, Australia, b electric light. That there should be a crowd to see the novelty of an evening in that northern and limited popnlous city can not be wondered at. The question is, "How long will it last?"

Albert Cooper, ex-trainer for J. B. Haggin, E. J. Baldwin and Theo. Winters, is now training for the Hough Bros., now owners of Come to Taw and others. If the horses have any form left Albert will soon know it, and so will the bookmakers.

Are the King Bans addicted to cribbing. At the Dixiana sale three King Bans were offered and two were cribbers. One I know of in this state, a six-year-old mare who is one of the worst I ever saw standing all day at a redwood post in the field.

John Splan is in Europe with Barnum and Bailey's Circus The veteran reinsman will hold the ribbons over several trotters in the ring. John should drive just one race for the Englishmen at Alexandria Park or Manchester, and then they would have an idea of what tro ting is.

W. M. Murray of Sacramento, last week, bought from Palo Alto a yearling bay colt by Flood, dam Cuba by imp Australian grand dam Bettie Ward by Lexington. The price paid was $700. Cuba is the dam of Cubic 2:28½ by Electioneer, and the thoroughbred stallion Argyle by Monday.

During the early part of the week the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN'S Office was the place to find all the well known horsemen of the State. The rainy weather kept them from going to the track, and, as a consequence, they all gathered in the comfortable rooms connected with this office. Call at any time, gentlemen, you are always welcome.

There are now four trotting tracks at Berlin, Germany. The American trotter James G., 2:20, won a race there on September 18th, when the fourth track was opened. Judge Davis, 2:18¾, Makat and Watt, 2:24¾, were also in the race. Lysander Girl was beaten by the Russian mare Prijatnaja on the second day of the meeting.

At the great trotting meeting near Paris, France, the past month, the following American bred horses were entered: Milton, 2:30, Misty Morning, 2:21, Molly Wilkes, 2:22¼, Polly, James G, 2:20, Bosque Bonita, 2:26¼, Captain George, Watt, 2:24¾, Blue Bell, 2:26¼, and Gracie B, 2:22¾. This looks as though American horses were in demand across the water.

I made a mistake last week in saying that Carsey Winchell had returned to Nevada, the gentleman who gave the information was misinformed. The Winchell, who rode, is a younger brother of Casey's and promises to be equally as good as Mr. Winter's jockey.

J. N. Ayres Esq., of Visalia who has been well and favorably known to all horsemen of California for many years died on Thursday morning at the residence of his brother, W. W. Ayres 605 Webster street San Francisco. The gentleman was 48 years of age. Bay Rose 2:20½ was the property of Mr. Ayres.

One never takes up an English paper without seeing that some well known thoroughbred has gone wrong in his wind, Ormonde, Fleur de Lis and a host of others. The last is the crack horse of the year, Donovan. He is said to be a whistler. Is it the climate, or is it in the breed? If in the latter, we should be careful what we import.

The Australian stallions imported by J. B. Haggin are proving that pedigree combined with performance is the best thing to breed to. Although the season is waning, Sir John is daily increasing the admiration for the regally bred Sir Modred, while Darebin's colts show great promise here, while in Australia the big brown's colts are gaining fresh laurels for him every day.

On account of rain, the young association known as the Farmington Trotting Park Association, will have to declare all races off which was to take place on the 24–25–26th of this month, which disappoints many of our horsemen, amongst them being Mr. Rea, owner of the fast trotting yearling filly Daisy L., sired by Lottery, he by George M. Patchen, dam by Lottie R, she by Frank Hunter.

McMahan and Gowdy are the two gentlemen who run the Rushville (Indiana) Gazette, and the following is their latest wail: "We do hope the Californians will play fair with Palo Alto in trying to beat Axtell's record. Likewise with Sunol as a three year old."

A meeting of the directors of the Lodi Trotting Park was held on Monday in Lodi, and arrangements were made by which a lease was secured of sixty acres of land within half a mile of Lodi, on which will be made a track. The work of surveying and laying off the ground will commence next week. The directors propose to incorporate under the laws of the State.—(Stockton Independent.)

In another department Mr. K. O'Grady, who has handled horses for a long time at the Whipple Hambletonian Stock Farm, announces that he has removed to the Laurel Creek Farm, San Mateo County, where he has unusual facilities for wintering horses and giving them the best of care. Mr. Grady is noted as a first class horse breaker and should receive a large amount of patronage in his new place.

Mr. Huergo, the Secretary of the Buenos Ayres Jockey Club, and Mr. Alberto J. Kratenstein, a well known owner of horses at the same place, have arrived in England on a visit. They think that the best horse in their country is Gloriation at all distances about five furlongs, and speak highly also of the capabilities of Bismarck and Annamite. Gloriation is the colt who won the Cambridgeshire as a three-year-old in 1887 with 104 pounds up in a field of twenty.

Harry Starr, the horse trainer, met with a painful accident Tuesday that will incapacitate him from work for several weeks. While riding in a cart behind a colt he was breaking, a companion driving at the same time, the animal suddenly wheeled round, and both were thrown out, Harry alighting in such a manner as to break his left shoulder blade. He expressed himself as being afraid that he was also hurt internally.—Register.

C. W. Williams has another great three-year-old in the pacing filly Annie Dickinson by Lumps She was not considered worth much of anything until Williams got her this spring, but since then has rapidly improved, and her record of 2:19¼ is said to be no measure of her speed. She is in foal to the great Axtell. The produce of this union will be a colt from trotting and pacing three-year-olds, with an average record of 2:15¾.

This year's crop of foals at Waters' Stock Farm is said to be the finest that this farm has ever produced They are fine individuals, one and all, and as to breeding cannot be excelled. Mr. Waters says he will sell the entire lot before the next year's crop grows up, and he means it, and those who are on the look out for some highly bred young stock should address Mr. Frank S. Waters, Genoa Junction, Wis., for a catalogue.

On Tuesday night the meeting of the executive committee of the speed track committee was held at the Palace Hotel. A. B. Spreckles, W. S. Hobart, C. W. Smith, and R. T. Carroll were present. Owing to the incessant rains, it was decided to hold the meeting on Saturday, November 2nd, when Palo Alto, Sunol and Stamboul will postively start against time, while Mr. Valensin says Faustino by Sidney will go against 2:38½, the yearling stallion record of Von Wilkes.

In G. G. Burnett's window at 327 Montgomery there is an elegant oil painting of the chestnut stallion Encinal by Altoona, dam by A. T. Stewart. The artist is G. J. Robinson, an exceedingly clever master with the brush, one who thoroughly understands horse portraiture and his talent is appreciated, as he already has several orders on hand to produce likenesses of prominent horses. Encinal is owned by Mr. Charles Nathan, of Alameda, an enthusiastic horse fancier.

Guy Wilkes has now two three-year-olds with records of 2:18, which are faster than all other three-year-old records, with the sole exception of Axtell's, 2:12, which latter horse was got by William L., a full brother to Guy Wilkes. "We will find anon," remarks Hark Comstock, "that the great Wilkes family are not equal, any more than the Hambletonian family before them were equal. This pronounced lead which the full brothers, Guy Wilkes and William L have secured in three-year-old records is a subject worth reflecting upon."

H. S. Hogoboom of Rohnerville, has purchased from E. McLees of Vallejo, a handsome weanling horse colt by Nutwood, dam by Admiral, second dam by Ashland, he by Glencoe. Price private. Mr. Hogoboom has also bought from Wm. Gardner of Sacramento, a weanling filly by Walstein, dam by Tom Bentor, second dam by McCracken's Black Hawk. The new owner will take his purchases up to Humboldt County, and add them to his already large string. Mr. Hogoboom is one of our enterprising breeders, and is rapidly accumulating a fine lot of well bred horses. He only buys the best.

The word "talent" has become a fixture in racing terms, and it is now very largely used by turf reporters throughout the country. The "talent" people are the professional followers of racing that are supposed to know all about the condition of the horses, and they bet their money on their knowledge of each one's chances of winning. When one or more of these professionals go into the ring and back a horse he is pretty sure to be the favorite, and all of the "pike" betters, "touts" and others follow the lead. If the horse wins it is said the "talent hit them hard," and if he loses it was a "dump."

Alcona 730 is stamping himself as a producer of speed, and even his son, Alcona, Jr., is following suit. O. A. Hickok has a son of Alcona at the Bay District Track that ought to strike terror to the hearts of the green ones next year, for even now he can show better than a 2:25 gait, and is one of the improving kind. Alcona, Jr., is the sire of Silas Skinner, another green one that can trot in better than 2:24, and there are several others yet to hear from. Mr. Martin, of Yolo County, has a son of Alcona, called Clay Duke, that got a record of 2:31½ this season, and he will have no trouble in lowering that next year. The Almont blood will be to the fore in 1890.

The race track upon which Axtell's 2:12, the greatest stallion record of the age was trotted recently, is a full mile and seven feet over, says the Sporting World. All horsemen are satisfied that it is a full mile track. An affidavat is on file with J. H. Steiner, Detroit, secretary of the American Association, and with secretary of the local associations, that the distance is over a full mile Heney Simmons and other well-known horsemen with split second watches and standing under the wire claim that the mile was made in 2:11½. Mr. Williams, the owner and driver of Axtell, himself drove with a watch, and claims 2:11¾. Col. Conley and associates are very conservative and exact and all through the meeting their time has been slower than that of the spectators.

The report that the Marcus Daly Stable would return to Montana to winter, has caused a great deal of comment among the knowing ones, for it was generally supposed that the horses would be kept here this winter. Of course every one has an idea of his own as to the cause of the return, but the generally accepted theory is that Lord Byron and Yolo Maid are not up to expectations, and that both are liable to be beat in any race in which they may start. It is only natural that those connected with the stable should have a certain amount of pride, but surely the theorists, must be wrong in their surmises, for it is hardly probable that Mr. Quin on would take the horses back to Bitter Root Valley simply because a couple of them are "off."

The Boston Courier of last week says: "The racing at Beacon Park last week, was among the best we have seen in this vicinity this season. In the 2:28 class The Seer, a four-year-old stallion from Maine, and R. D. F., a fast Boston five-year-old, had one of the greatest battles ever witnessed on a track. For four heats it was nip and tuck, and at the finish of none of them, save the first, did a length separate these two. The four-year-old made a gallant fight, and is the faster horse of the two and dead game, but the other won by being the steadier. Each got a mark of 2:24½, and The Seer has now the honor of trotting the third fastest mile ever trotted in New England by a four-year-old stallion. He was bred in California by Senator Stanford, and was got by General Benton, dam by Electioneer; second dam a thoroughbred. He was purchased in New York at the first sale of Palo Alto colts for $300, but twenty times that amount would not buy him now. He is owned by ex-Mayor Garcelon, of Lewiston, Me."

The Melbourne cup, the great racing attraction of the Antipodes, will take place a week from next Tuesday. A pronounced favorite is Silverton, a gelding, five years old, handicapped at 7 st 8 lb, the property of Mr. W. Bailey, of Ballarat, a real good sportsman, and one of the old identities of the golden days. Silverton was foaled in Tasmania, and is by The Assyrian, winner of the Melbourne Cup in 1882, when the great handicap was only enriched to the modest extent of 500 sovs by the Victoria Racing Club. The Assyrian is by the imported Countryman, by Stockwell—Village Lass, by Pyrrhus I. His dam is Tinfinder, by Tarragon, a son of New Warrior (Imp), by Pyrrhus I, and out of Deceptive, by Yelverton (Imp)—Blossom, by The Swede (Imp). As a public performer, Silverton has no great credentials. He was three times a winner when a two year old, but unplaced the following season, and last twelve months was never in public.

When the rain ceased up a little after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, says The Oakland Times, who should come driving up the avenue with his fine plug hitched to a sulky of his own manufacture but Casey, the blacksmith. The animal looked like a prize-winner every inch of him, as he stepped with his beautiful gait up to Landegran's watering trough. There was a disconsolate look in Casey's gray eyes as he saw no other trotter in sight, and he was about to drive his graceful beast into Landegran's sheltering shed, when, as luck would have it, up dashes Johnny, the barber, with his trotting colt Bucephalus. It wasn't two minutes before the two horse-owners were chaffing each other on horse points. Then the blacksmith made a bold bluff with a twenty-dollar piece at the barber, and the razor-wielder astonished the by-standers by covering the gold-piece for a race without any delay. From East Berkeley to West Berkeley they raced forthwith. The barber won the first heat by a length; the second heat was declared a tie; the third heat the blacksmith won, and darkness coming on, the horse owners winked at each other, as much as to say "neither of us can afford to lose the twenty," and the great race was declared a "draw."

"Bookmaking," said Horace Argo, the well known western bookmaker, "has become merely gambling, with the exception that there is no percentage in favor of the house or the dealer, as you might say. This has been the worst year yet on the bookmakers. Last Spring, here at Latonia, there were over fifty applications, and thirty-two bookmakers on the track. Now there are only twenty of us doing business. You have no idea of the bookmakers that have 'busted' or gone out of business, because the 'roll' has been exhausted. There is no money now in books, because you have to give such odds to get the play. None of the bookmakers have made anything at Latonia, and it has been the same throughout the country, except possibly at Saratoga, where the profit was a little on our side. The money does not seem to be in circulation The pool-rooms are making more money than the bookmakers. The daily expenses of a bookmaker will average $150, and he has only one track to play on. A pool-room's outlay is not more than this, and it can get the play on the races of five or six tracks. Yes, this has been a disasterous season with the bookmakers, and many of them have dropped out of the game. Some of the rest have been saved by their interest in the pool-rooms."

Porterville Blood Horse Association.

This newly formed association held a four days' meeting last week, and the Daily Enterprise says the town was crowded all the week, and although the attendance was hardly as good as at the inaugural meeting in July, yet the improvement in management and general conduct was evident to every one. The officials were: Judges—W. A. Hall, L. J. Redfield and E. Jamieson. Timekeepers—G. W. Pressy and L. J. Redfield. Starter—E. Jamieson. Acting Secretary—M. J. O'Clancy.

The first race was called up punctually at two o'clock on Wednesday, three local two year olds turning out. Pools sold Nellie Alta $5, Stella B $4 and Mesquit $2.

First Heat—After some little delay the horses started off, Mesquit having the pole. He kept in the lead for the first half mile, after passing under the wire for the first time Nellie Alta forged ahead, the two, trotting neck and neck for the next quarter, where the little filly left him, coming in about a length ahead, Nellie Alta being half a dozen lengths in the rear. Time 3:04.

White claimed a foul on Bowers' crowding him to the outside of the track, but the judges decided upon examination that there was no foul.

Second Heat—Stella B took the lead for a short distance, but was headed by Nellie Alta, who put in some good work here, but her driver in coming to the homestretch, crossed in front of Stella B; the driver of that horse claimed a foul and the race was decided a dead heat. Mesquit dropped out on the last turn of the first half, owing to the fact that his driver claimed a foul on the part of White in crossing his track and hugging the pole. Time 3:04.

Third Heat—Considerable scoring was done in this heat before a good start could be made, but when they got away it could be seen that the race was for blood. Stella B started off in the lead and kept it pretty much all through the race, trotting in fine style, with the other horses taking second place alternately until the turn on the homestretch, when Mesquit, who had the pole, forged ahead, and with Stella B, putting on an extra spurt to get the lead, the sulkies collided, with the result that two spokes of Mesquit's sulky were broken, causing him to give up the race, which, however, his driver claimed on a foul, but the driving being very shaky all around, the judges decided in favor of Stella B winner, Nellie Alta second, and Mesquit third. Time 3:06½.

SUMMARY.

Two year old trotting for district colts. One mile, best two in three. For the Pioneer Land Company's purse of $50.

C. H. Bowers' b f Stella B	1	0	1
M. White's br f Nellie Alta	3	0	3
M. B. Crawford's b s Mesquit	2	3	2

Time, 3:02, 3:06, 3:06½.

The second race, like most running races, was short and sweet, but very exciting while it lasted. Considerable time was lost in starting, Baby being very fractious, so much so that a standing start was agreed upon. Baby was a prime favorite, first choice $10 to the other two $3 each, and did not deceive her friends, as she took the lead in both heats and kept it, gaining the race, first heat in 52 seconds, and the second in 53½ seconds, Queen coming in second. Bill Nye was distanced in the first heat, owing to his coming into contact with a post at the start and nearly throwing his rider.

SUMMARY.

Free-for-all Running Race for District Colts. One-half mile and repeat; for entrance fee $10, and $50 added money.

E. W. Wessy's br f Baby	1	1
A. Hall's br f Queen	2	2
O. Gerould's br g Bill Nye	dis

Time, 0:52, 0:53½.

THURSDAY.

The attendance at the race track was not quite so large as that of the previous day, although the races themselves were better. About two o'clock in the afternoon things were livened up a little by the tail end of a sand storm which played merrily through the whiskers of the grand stand and whistled about the buggy wheels in style quite difficult for us to illustrate; however, that did not seem to make much difference to the assembled crowd and did not prevent them from losing a dollar now and again.

FIRST RACE.

First Heat—After considerable scoring the horses started off, Mabel having the pole. Before reaching the first quarter, Richard K. forged to the front, keeping his position until near the homestretch, when Solano put on a spurt and came under the wire a couple of lengths ahead. Mabel broke soon after starting, and could not be got to work in time to save her distance. Time, 3:11.

The two succeeding heats were won by Solano Chief in 3:06 and 3:05½.

SUMMARY.

Free for all trotting. Mile heats 3 in 5; for entrance fee $15, and $10 added money.

J. V. Caldwell's b s Solano Chief	1	1	1
J. C. Scott's b s Richard K.	2	2	2
F. Jamison's b m Mabel	dis

Time, 3:11, 3:06, 3:05½.

SECOND RACE.

First Heat—The horses started off, with Dan having the pole and leading, but breaking on the last turn, he was beaten by Nellie Johnson. Daisy was distanced. Time, 3:27.

Second Heat—Dan lead from the start, but breaking on the first turn, Nellie Johnson took the lead; she could not hold it, however, as Dan passed her on the homestretch, taking the heat. Time, 3:32.

The next two heats being won by Nellie Johnson in 3:27 respectively, the money was awarded to her.

SUMMARY.

Buggy horse race, for horses that have never started in a race before. Entrance fee $5; $30 added money.

G. W. Johnson's b m Nellie Johnson	1	2	1	1
A. F. Raes' g g Dan	2	1	2	2
J. Hayes' b m Daisy	dis

Time, 3:27, 3:32, 3:27, 3:17.

FRIDAY.

The attendance at the track yesterday was about equal to that of the previous day, but the excitement was much higher, owing to the quality and fame of the horses. It was 3 o'clock before the first race on the programme was run, owing to the fact that on the first start Toots fell crushing his rider. The horses had gone off on a false start, and just as they were on the homestretch and within thirty feet of the wire a cur essayed to run across the track but Toots was upon him in a twinkling, falling heavily forward. Being at his highest speed, he turned a complete somersault, falling full on his rider, Fred Manion. The horse rose unhurt, but the jockey was senseless. Willing hands were soon attending to the poor fellow and restoratives were administered by Drs. Whitlock and Chapman, he was then placed in a carryall and driven to town. Some time naturally elapsed ere the race was started, but when it did it was very exciting.

First Heat—Considerable delay occurred ere this heat was run on account of Claud Roy and Toots being fractious, but at last they came under the wire with Alec on the inside and Toots the outside of the track. Rounding the first bend Toots forged ahead, keeping the lead until about a third of the distance, then Alec went to the front and stayed there to the finish, Toots second, and Claud Roy third. Time, 0:53.

Second Heat—The horses got a good start after considerable scoring, Alec taking the lead and winning by a couple of lengths, Claud Roy second, Toots third. Time, 0:53¾.

SUMMARY.

Running Race. One-half mile and repeat. Entrance fee $10; $50 added money

——— ——— ——— s g Alec	1	1
R. Jonas' b c Claud Roy	3	2
——— ——— ——— s g Toots	2	3

Time, 0:53, 0:53¾.

The second race a novelty, was a pretty race, Baby passing the quarter first in 0:24; Queen passed the half first in 0:56½. Baby passed her again and was in front at the three-quarters in 1:18, while Queen again went to the front in the home run going under the wire in 1:43¼.

SUMMARY.

Free-for-all novelty race, $25 for the first quarter, $35 to the one-half, $50 for the three-quarters, and $65 for the mile. Entrance fee $15.

E. W Tressey enters b m Baby.
A. Hall enters b m Queen.
E. Jamison enters b g Prince.
W. Hall enters b m Mollie.

The last day's races are not yet to hand.

Great Trotting.

LEXINGTON, Oct. 15th.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—A very large crowd witnessed the trotting at the meeting of the Trotting-Horse Breeders' Association to-day. The track was good and the weather clear and cool. The postponed 2:30 purse was won by Pocahontas Prince, and the stake for four-year-olds by Repetition. The event of the day was the $5,000 stake for the "twenty" class. Nelson was favorite, with Alcryon and Jack selling even up for second choice. To the great surprise of all Jack won in straight heats, with each heat closely contested. The two year stake was won by Dr. Sparks. The 2:24 class trotted three heats when darkness forced a postponement.

It is reported that W. H. Crawford, who bought the two-year-old colt Constantine for $20,000 on Saturday, will start him against Axtell's two-year-old of record of 2:23 if he can get a good day and track. If not, he will take him to California to beat Sunol's two-year record of 2:18.

SUMMARY.

2:30 Class. Purse $1,000

R. L. and C. S. Cobb's blk h Pocahontas Prince by Pocahontas Boy	2	1	8	2	10	1	1
Bowerman Bros.' b g Jean Valjean, by Crittenden	1	3	1	9	8	2	8
J. Voss' b g Middleway, by Bay Middleton	8	8	10	5	1	3	2
J. E. Clay's blk g Gilette, by Cyclone	3	6	3	1	4	4	5
Elsmeade Stud's b m Godelia	11	9	11	3	2	7	7
L. L. Dorsey's ch m Lizzie Mac	9	11	6	7	5	5	4
C. Davis' blk h Coast Boy	10	10	4	6	7	8	6
J. Dickerson's ch m Belle Rene	12	12	5	8	11	6	3

Col. Walker, Talvera, King Clifton and Alabaster also trotted. Five heats were trotted on October 14th.

Time, 2:26¾, 2:27½, 2:26¾, 2:25. 2:29½, 2:25¾, 2:25¾.

Special Stake—For four-year-olds.

Summit View Farm's (N. Y.) b c Repetition, Red Wilkes	1	1	1
A. C. Beckwith's ro f Wanita	2	2	2
R. McMillen's b c Gov. Stanford	3	3	3

Time, 2:20½, 2:20, 2:19¼.

Stake, $5,000—2:20 class.

George Middleton's (Chicago), g g Jack, Pilot Medium	1	1	1
W. H. McCarthy's ch m Geneva S	3	5	2
R. P. Pepper's b h Norval	2	4	5
E. L. Noble's g h Alcryon	6	2	4
C. H. Nelson's b h Nelson	4	3	3

Time, 2:18¾, 2:15, 2:16½.

Lexington Stake—For two-year-olds.

A. J. Hook's (Paris, Ky.) b c Dr. Sparks, Cyclone	1	1
Wilkes Lodge Farm's g f Frenzy	2	2
J. D. Smith's ch f Sappho	3	d
G. R. Caldwell's b c Senator Rose	4	d
J. S. Clark's b c Presto	d

Time, 2:26, 2:28.

Purse $1,000—2:24 class.

Johnson & Co.'s ch m Gypsy Queen	6	1	1
Richlawn Stock Farm's g g Diamond	1	7	6
J. S. Steele's g g So Long	2	2	3
F. Seacord's b h Prince Edward	4	4	2
G. & C. P. Cecil's b m Mambrino Maid	3	10	4
J. G. Wyman's ch g Kinsman	9	3	5
M. Burgoyne's g g Twilight	5	5	7
J. Dickerson's b m Reality	8	6	8
R. H. Wilson's b m Thalia	7	9	9
J. Miller's ch g Sterling Wilkes	10	8	10

Time, 2:28¾, 2:22¼. 2:21½.

Men Who Run Horses.

Some men run horses for the sport, some for money, and some for notority; and some for both sport and money says St. George in Sports Afield. Then there are those who want both money and notoriety. I am sorry to say that there are but few now living who race for the sport alone. I believe, however, that Governor Bowie, of Maryland, is one of this kind, and the late R. A. Alexander, of Kentucky, was also one. And I have no hesitation in saying that the late John Harper would have raced all his life, even if he had known at the commencement that he would never win a race. But there are a large number of men on the turf to-day who race for nothing else but the money. In this list I shall place the most prominent ones, and they are: E. J. Baldwin, the Dwyers, and the Chicago Stables. These I don't believe care a fig for either sport or notoriety. They are longing for the merry ring of showering coin—for the applause that the dollar brings—and nothing more. Those who are racing for notoriety are but a few. They are: August Belmont, J. B. Haggin, W. L. Scott, Freddy Gebhart and George Hearst.

By far the largest list of turfmen consists of those who are racing for both money and sport. This latter class commence at the business early in life, and make a study of it; and they do better with a little money than those who are seeking notoriety do with a great deal. For instance: Last year Sam Bryant won the Futurity and had only one entry—and a $400 horse at that—while Haggin, the Dwyers, and Belmont had each from $30,000 to $40,000 worth of horses in the race; while this year the old negro trainer, Bob Campbell, won the Junior Champion with a cheap horse—contending against thousands upon thousands of dollars and large stables of high-priced horses in the hands of those who commenced racing late in life, and who were out for notoriety. And it strikes me that the old darkey showed more senatorial horse sense in buying Protection for $500 than did George Hearst when he bought King Thomas for $40,000.

Daily Scraps.

The Chronicle on Wednesday said:—

It is to be hoped that El Rio Rey will recover. A two year old colt with $46,835 to his credit this season ought to live. As a three year old he will sustain even better than he has done the prestige of California trotting stock, and Winters, his owner, deserves better luck than to lose this promising colt after losing the Czar.

The Examiner on Monday quoted an article which stated that E. J. Baldwin had entered a lot of yearlings for next year's American Derby. Is it possible that "Lucky" is going to run two year olds in the Derby?

The Report of Tuesday, after detailing all about the death of El Rio Rey, says:—

El Rio Rey (the River King) was foaled June 16th, 1887, at the El Arroyo Farm of Theodore Winters, in Sacramento County, this State. His sire was Norfolk, never beaten on the turf; his dam was Marian, by Emperor of Norfolk.

Comment on the above is unnecessary.

The Fairlawn Sale.

A Total of 264 Trotters Sold for $192,285—Some of the Highest Sales.

The auction sale of trotting stock belonging to the estate of the late General Wm. T. Withers, took place at Lexington, Ky., last week and was eminently successful. Animals that brought $1,000 and over were: Balsoreen, 10 years, by Almont, Joe Hall, Paris, Ky., $1000; Mary Josephine, yearling filly, by Happy Medium, W. G. Bryan, Lexington, $1,050; Fairfield, 4 years, by Aberdeen, George Angel, $1,050; Sara Meade, yearling filly, by Happy Medium, dam by Almont, C. Lang, $2,700; Luka, 12 years, by American Clay, George White, Paris, Ky., $1,250; Judith, 6 years, by Aberdeen, dam by George Wilkes, G. W. Patterson, $1,325; Aberdeen, 23 years, by Hambletonian, James E. Clay, Paris, Ky., $3,000; Grace Vernon, 5 years, by Nutwood, J. K. Weed, Shelburne, Vt., $1,900; Crape Myrtle, 5 years, by Almont, A. H. Moore, Philadelphia, $3 150; Happy Promise, yearling colt by Happy Medium, dam by Almont, W. T. Withers, $1,900; Happy Belle, 3 years, by Happy Medium, dam by Almont, A. M. Christie, $1,075; Antrim, 3 years, by Aberdeen, T. Ronan; Waverly, 2 years, by Happy Medium, G. W. Patterson, Ashton, Iowa, $1,325; Ocena, 8 years, by Happy Medium, A. H. Moore, $1,110; Ino, 12 years, by Ericsson, G Long, Buffalo, $1,300; Myosotis, filly 5 years, by Aberdeen, dam by Almont, Speedwell Stock Farm, $1,100; Happy Courier, yearling by Happy Medium, dam by Almont, Ben Johnston, $2,650; Almont Wilkes, b s, 7, by Almont, dam by George Wilkes, J. K. Weed, Shelburne, Vt., $5,200; Beau Ideal, b c, yearling, by Aberdeen, dam by George Wilkes, M. M. Gardner, Nashville, Tenn., $1,300; Letta Medium, b m, 7, by Happy Medium, dam by C. M. Clay Jr., W. T. Withers, $1,650; Charlotte Corday, r f, 3, by Bayard, dam by Happy Medium, R. F. Jones, Minneapolis, $1,750; Bannockburn, ch c, yearling, by Aberdeen, dam by C. M. Clay Jr., W. A. Collier, Memphis, $1,025.

Cecile Medium, b f, 3, by Happy Medium, dam by C. M. Clay Jr., C. C. Cook, Canton, Ohio, $1,600; Beulah Medium, b f, 2, by Happy Medium, dam by Almont, M. M. Gardner, $1,525; Wilhelmine, ch m, 4, by Aberdeen, dam by Almont, C. C. Cook, $1,725; Selima Medium, b m, 7, by Happy Medium, dam by C. M. Clay Jr., Speedwell Farm, $1,400; Noble Medium, b s 5, by Happy Medium, dam Mambrino Maid by Mambrino Patchen, M. M. Gardner, $5,600; Mambrino Maid, ch m, 14, by Mambrino Patchen, dam by Mambrino Chief, A. A. Ketzmiller, Lexington, $1,650; Countess Mambrino, b f, 3, full sister to Noble Medium, by Happy Medium, dam by Mambrino Patchen, M. M. Gardner, $3,300; Maud Thomas, blk m, by Voltaire, dam by Almont, J. I. Case, Racine, $1,550; Ramona, b f, 3, by Nutwood, dam by Prince, A. H. Moore, Philadelphia, $4,000; Menemonee, b f, 4, by Happy Medium, dam by Belmont, George White, Paris, $2,000; Capitalist, b c yearling, by Happy Medium, dam by Almont, G. Perkins, Mishawaukee, Ind., $1,325; Lena Medium, b f, 3, by Happy Medium, dam by Almont, Baldwin & Ellsworth, Washington, Pa., $1,700; Whip-poor-will, b m, 4, by Aberdeen, dam by Alexander's Edwin Forrest, James E. Clay, Paris, Ky., $1,700; Lilac, b m, 8, by Cassius M. Clay Jr., dam by Almont, Jas. Cox, Liverpool, Eng., $1,000; Myrtle, b m, 5, by Nutwood, dam by Woodford Mambrino, George White, $3 000.

The best lots the last day were the bay mare Eudora (1880) by Cuyler, dam Irma G. by Woodford Mambrino, to G. G. White of Paris, Ky., for $2 500; black filly Fedalma (1887) by Pancoast, dam Eudora, to J K. Weed of Shelburne, Vt., for $2,300; bay filly Euridice (1888) by Almont Wilkes, dam Eudora, to S. H. Shallcross of Louisville for $1,400, and the bay stallion Maximus by Almont, dam Frances Breckenridge by Sentinel, to W. T. Withers of Lexington for $4,000.

During the three days 264 head were sold for $192,285, an average of $729.

We Can't Keep Still.

Brother Baker says in the Rural Spirit:—We have kept still a good many times heretofore when we have seen glaring turf errors in the Oregonian, but two issues of that paper last week must call for some censure. In its account of the free-for-all trotting race at Walla Walla, it says that Colonel Bradshaw won one of the heats in a "canter." The idea of a trotting race winning a heat in a "canter!" Shades of departed Hambletonian, look down upon us! The judges of that race should sue the Oregonian for malicious libel.

And then when Axtell trotted in 2:12 last Friday and gave the eloquent man a chance to say something nice, it had to 'put both feet in it again. The head of the article reads: 'King of the Turf—Axtell lowers the mile trotting record."

Now, Axtell is probably the greatest stallion and three year old living, but we will wager that Jay Eye See, Guy and St. Julien won't feed well for a week when they hear that Axtell is proclaimed king of the turf, and that mare named Maud S. and owned by a man named Bonner will fret herself to death if he tells her that somebody said Axtell lowered the mile trotting record.

In the same article the Oregonian remarks that "two minutes and twelve seconds is a great feat for an aged horse at any gait," etc. We don't know exactly, but think there must be somewhere near a half million horses that can go a mile in 2:12 at any gait.

We don't want to be hard on our friends, but such errors as the above cannot go unheeded. The rising generation would be getting off wrong in the horse business.

You have one consolation, Mr. Baker, and that is, the Portland papers are no worse and no better than the San Francisco dailies.

THE KENNEL.

Dog owners are requested to send for publication the earliest possible notices of whelps, sales, names claimed, presentations and deaths in their kennels, in all instances writing plainly names of sire and dam and of grandparents, colors, dates and breed.

In speaking of the rabies scare, and criticising the muzzling regulations now in effect in London and one or two provincial towns in England, Pendragon, in Referee, refers to the number of dogs which run loose in continental cities with ne'er a muzzle to worry their lives, and admonishes the "hydrophobia muzzlers" in this wise: "Anyway, there can't be much pluck left to the English if they all feel the blue funk about a few harmless dogs which has caused the Privy Council and its imitators to rush forth with muzzling orders —while the presumably far less brave Maltese, Milanese or Singalese, Turk, Arab or Egyptian has four or five times as many dogs in proportion, all of them four or five times as wild as English dogs, under a sun four or five times as hot as an English sun, and yet will not allow himself to be frightened out of his wits on the great dog question by a score or two of half-frantic cowards."

The St. Bernard Baron Truro has been purchased from Mr. Shillcock, of Birmingham, England, by Mr. Miller, of St. Louis, also the rough bitch Lady Perry, the latter in whelp to Lord Bute, considered the largest St. Bernard living. There seems to be a striving after size in these dogs at the expense of type just now in this country. This would be a pity if persisted in. Type and quality must be the first consideration, and let the giants come after. We know they take on the show bench and help to sell pups, but this won't do if we lose the main characteristics of the breed. It strikes one, from recent importations, that the English breeders do not seem to attach that importance to the shorter head which the standard calls for, and certainly the diversity of winning types is bewildering, to say the least, and we believe they admit as much.

Mr. E. H. Moore is still pushing ahead with his kennel, having secured another good one. Turf, Field and Farm says he has now imported from Mr. J. F. Smith, of Sheffield, England, the rough St. Bernard bitch Lady Miles. She is by Champion Plinlimmon, out of Leonora by Champion Leonaret. Lady Miles is in whelp to that noted dog, Keeper. Mr. Moore tells us she is a very fine, large bitch, orange, with perfect white markings. Mr. Smith advanced the opinion she could beat that lovely bitch Saffron easy, and if she can beat her at all, Mr. Moore ought to be proud of his purchase. We are glad to see so many good bitches coming over. Surely, breeders now have their eyes open, and have found out that the bitch has something to say in the matter of good pups.

The following is said to have occurred at a recent show in the East:

First Exhibitor—Are you showing in this class?
Second Exhibitor—No.
First Exhibitor—Then you might lead my dog.
Second Exhibitor—Certainly. (Leads dog into the ring.)
Judge (examines the dog, which is mangy)—Take that dog out of here.
Second Exhibitor (laughing)—It's not my dog.
Judge—Whose dog is it?
Second Exhibitor—It belongs to Mr. ——
Judge—Oh, just leave it, then.
After judging, the above dog was found among the money.

Cursory Discussion on Exhibits, Judges and Kennel Management.

So numerous are the men, who for five minutes—there or thereabouts—have shown dogs successfully, and thereupon burst forth as critics, connoisseurs and judges of dogs, in a light so resplendent with their own consequential airs, as to utterly daze the more unpretentious authorities, that an examination of their real position will probably have the desired effect on the present state of my very obstinate liver. Agents for Carter and Beecham, pause ere you enter my sanctum; if not, your blood be on your own heads. However, to these would be "Konnoshers," Brittle in Turf, Field and Farm.

Many there are who have commenced their doggy career with one or two specimens, without any idea of their value, and had the good fortune, or, perhaps, misfortune, to gain prizes with these their first efforts in the mystic realms of competition. To such, success, coming as it does in the way of pleasant surprise is generally a calamity, for they then and there are metamorphosized into that state which creates a competency to differ with the opinions of acknowledged authorities. Have not their dogs won prizes? Therefore, do not their dogs possess all the attributes essential to the breed, and living as they do, with these paragons of the show bench, is it not too ridiculous for them to be unable to distinguish the perfection of their pets? This is where success becomes a misfortune to the prosperous tyro; he looks upon the essential points from one standard; that standard the facsimile of his own imperfect dog. For such a hero has Ponto become in his master's estimation, that he is the one dog of all others that exhibitors and judges are envious of; and when poor Ponto undergoes the most trying ordeal of competing in better company than has heretofore been his lot, and is relegated to some insignificant position, then the judge is an ignoramus or has been squared; and all the more successful exhibitors are a clique and "the green-eyed lobster" is the cause of this deep-laid plot formed at poor Ponto's expense. Yes, so infatuated becomes he with the beauty of his dog, who wins a prize at the first attempt, that he becomes incapable of appreciating, or wishing to appreciate, the true merits of a real good specimen, and as a rule remains in willful ignorance of all the bad characteristics of his own maligned and slandered hero. Years devoted to a breed can have no weight with this species of exhibitor, unless the "devoted years" go into ecstasies over Ponto, but once let such an authority even venture to "think" that Ponto's expression could be improved, or his pasterns a little stronger, and that authority will soon find how ill spent has been his length of study. Exceptions there are to every rule, but few are the instances of men whose whole career as exhibitors has not been marred by a blind admiration for some imperfect specimens which were their first stepping stone to success.

On the other hand, let a man be fortunate enough to give a good price for a specimen that is sent out of the ring the first time of asking. How earnestly he will devour the pros and cons of the object of his lavish expenditure. How eager to learn the distinctive merits of the winner, and ditto demerits of his less beauteous purchase. Such men, after investing in three or four failures, if they have the bottom to go on, and are not easily overcome by this adverse state of things, by degrees build up a kennel worthy of any one and through, what at first appears to be "bad luck," become good and practical judges. Everthing—to be substantial—must have a foundation, and the most reliable and genuine men in all trades, business, professions, or what not, are mostly those who have gone to the bottom, in order to find out how to get to the top; and generally those who have been placed at the top, and for a time able to float there, have floundered most wofully, when a slight undercurrent has carried them from that channel which has been their only known course.

The above statement is as applicable to the man who would own and become a judge of good dogs as to one in any other sphere of life. From these remarks, it will be gathered I advocate buying bad dogs in order to obtain knowledge concerning good one. This is not quite what I intend to convey, for it would be no use in a man buying that which he knows to be bad; but what I do mean is, let a man buy what he thinks is a good one, without anyone else's opinion, and if it does not prove a failure more's the pity, as self conceit and vanity will then obliterate what might otherwise have become an acquisition to canine lore. As an instance of the doctrines which I am but vaguely trying to infuse into readers, is that of two men, who, for five years competed unsuccessfully in a certain variety, but for the last fifteen years have bred more winners and noted dogs than all the other exhibits put together, and this in a breed which has the keenest competition. It is a single example of a fixed determination to overcome all reverses being rewarded, though I should think every man who is looked upon as a "genuine" authority on the other side, has by such reverses at the commencement of his career so built up his reputation.

I have written to this length with the hope of impressing those, whose first acquaintance in showing dogs was gaining a prize, that they must not be carried away with their success and jump at the conclusion they themselves are authorities. Nothing can be so fallacious, and nothing so mars them in the eyes of those who do know, as that eager anxiety to display their (want of) knowledge.

A real good judge is never anxious to denounce a good dog's defects unless compelled, for they all have them, and it is his desire to try and shut his eyes to such. A bad judge is always looking for faults, which he unhesitatingly proclaims, that is, if they are faults which can be easily perceived and are conspicuous. The good one, on the contrary, looks for the good qualities first, and in doing this, comes across the defects. No man can hope to be an authority except by long acquaintance and direct association, not only with dogs themselves, but with those who have the knowledge; and he knows most whose association with both has been the most limited, for the man who is an authority is always anxious to learn.

As this is written in direct opposition to the "infallible,s' further proof of my evident lunacy is unrequired by them; but to those that are not unwilling to accompany me in my ravings, I will give what knowledge I have gleaned as to the most desirable way to house dogs.

To start with, there are dogs and dogs; some are large and antagonistic; some are large and companionable; some are medium sized and bon camarades; some are the same size and opposed to one another; some are small and wouldn't hurt a worm; while others of equal magnitude belong to a vendetta which has sworn to exterminate its living kind, irrespective of relationship.

In building or starting a kennel all these little proclivities must be considered. If one is going in for a breed that knows not internals feuds things are pretty simple, but if one desires a breed whose sole ambition is to wipe itself from off the face of the earth, then things are slightly complicated. I was the fortunate owner of a breed whose docility and aptitude evidenced itself by a playful desire to occasionally chew up its next door neighbor at the slighest opportunity, but in spite of this "homicidal" tendency, I still look upon it as the breed of all others, though it was a little inconvenient for one's wife and self to get up in the middle of the night, in the depth of Winter, and rush in our nocturnal garments to the kennels, because we thought "Johnny" was killing "Tom;" but no matter, "desirable kennels" is my intent, not Johnny's and Tom's thirst for each other's gore. Of course the most important component to a man's kennels is the dog, and, I will presume, the breed selected to be of a social and non-mutilating disposition, and the dimensions of a good, substantial building, free from draughts, perfectly waterproof, devoid of all damp and facing the South, to have been erected. Having got so far, and the owner assured of all absence of damp, draughts, etc., I will take a peep at the internal arrangements. These should be of the very simplest and free from any corners and crevices, which will impede the kennel man when performing his matutinal sweep. If there be such an impediment, won't the man find it out and so let all offensive matter accumulate whereever this opportunity offers?

In fact the flooring should be a perfectly smooth surface, sloping from the two sides to the centre, under which a drain must be laid. As to the flooring there is great diversity of opinion, but for myself, I prefer concrete. Wood, especially in the case of puppies, soon becomes saturated and consequently unhealthy. Bricks also absorb moisture, therefore let the floor be concrete. The benches, I would have in one continuous line, the whole length of the building, two feet from supports as possible, for these are also hindrances to cleaning out; as much light from the roof as possible; avoid windows, no matter how high above the benches. Have a cupboard in which to keep disinfectants, etc., and a rack, at right angles to the benches, with collars and chains, ready for show purposes; a couple of heavy square pans at each end for water; heavy enough not to be knocked over; feeding arrangements according to convenience, but a proper boiler, under a fair sized shed, which can be locked securely, is an almost necessity, and a great saving, no matter how small the kennel; but let it be away from where the dogs can get at it. In this country I should think artificial heat is required in the winter. A paddock, protected from the north and east winds is a sine qua non, the dogs being allowed there all day, with the doors of the building open, so that they can go in and out at will. This ought to be sprinkled with lime, and dug up twice a year; if not, a chronic state of eczema will be the result. The building to be thoroughly swept and disinfected every morning when the dogs are let out. Plenty of clean, dry straw twice a week and an examination of every dog as often. Clean water every morning, and the feeding dishes and cooking utensils cleaned after every time used. My arrangements of a bench each side of the building, with just a concrete floor with a drain in the center, is about as simple as I can think of; but a man who goes in for the less socially-inclined breeds would have to go to far more expensive and elaborate details.

One of a sex of the terriers I kept were allowed to sleep together, and being on the small side of canine varieties, they had the luxury of a box to sleep in. I found it necessary also to have three paddocks 60 feet by 50, securely railed off, eight feet high, with strong fencing five feet high, so that the belligerents could not see one another. This quarrelsome tendency was principally confined to dogs, the bitches as a rule agreeing pretty well (in the open); so the dogs I generally put out to walk, and if no good at six months, either had destroyed or given away. I had my buildings partitioned off with oak boarding an inch thick half way up, the rest the very strongest wire netting, smallest mesh, made in strong wooden frames. The compartment for two dogs was six feet wide by ten long, and each had a small door letting into the other, so that the man could clean everyone of them out, from beginning to end, without interruption. These compartments were on each side of the building, and had a walk about five feet wide in the center. But, without going into further details, as long as a man has a good, sloping, concrete floor, no damp or draught, lets his dogs be in the open air all day, never chains them up, gives them good, substantial meals, with clean water and a nice, snug, clean bed, with a free use of disinfectant, his dogs should remain in the pink of condition. This is hurriedly written, and in no way doing justice to the subject, but if any reader had a pencil, as I have, that is determined to go out on strike and refuses to transmit my wondrous ideas to paper, not only would he vow vengeance on all trade unions, but also on all editors who suggest a subject of any kind whatsoever.

"Blue Bloods" at $15.

Three Llewellin bitch pups, liver and white, out of "Rural Nellie." Leigh Belton—Rural Neva, by "Romeo" (Ripple—Nellie 21.) Warranted to make grand field dogs. Address C. A. Loud, Corvallis, Oregon.

Sales.

California Kennels (Sacramento) have sold the black, white and tan Llewellin setter Lord Chumley, whelped May 7, 1889, by Loadstone—Janet, to Mr. N. A. Rideout, Marysville, Cal.

Change of Name.

California Kennels (Sacramento) have changed the name of the orange belton Llewellin setter bitch Petite, whelped May 16, 1889, by Harold—Sunlit to Petronella. Also the name of the orange belton setter Panique of the same litter to Pierre.

Visits.

H. E. Thompson's (Forest Lake, Minn.) English setter Pearl Laverack, A. K. S. B. 6406, to P. H. Gotzian's imp. Monk of Furness, October 8, 1889.

Paul H. Gotzian's (St. Paul, Minn.) English setter Knights Belle, A. K. S. B. 13492, to owners, imp. Monk of Furness.

M. A. Callahan's (Williston, Mont.) English setter Gyp Dot to imp. Monk of Furness.

Paul H. Gotzian's (St. Paul, Minn.) pointer Lady Price, A. K. S. B. 6299, to Dr. John Hansen's Duke (Sensation—Rose).

Mr. C. A. Loud, of Corvallis, Oregon, known to many California sportsmen, intends to return to this State and locate near Bakersfield as a trainer of setters and pointers. His friends tell us that he is an enthusiast, and that he has broken several dogs for his own use very well. With his advent there will be four professional breakers at Bakersfield, and a merry company they will form when they meet in the town on Saturday evenings.

The Toledo, Ohio, Show has just been held, and seemingly was a great success. It was interesting, especially as regards the non-sporting section, for a new judge making his appearance. This was Mr. H. W. Lacy, the kennel editor of the Turf, Field and Farm. The Stock Keeper says Mr. Lacy is an Englishman, who has been in the States several years. We believe he is a native of Yorkshire. His awards were well received, as were "Honest John Davidson's" in the sporting division.

Judge C. N. Post, of Sacramento, sends these notes:

I am enjoying that health usually vouchsafed to the virtuous poor. There is an error in the article on California Kennel that ought to be corrected. Duke's winnings are given as occuring in the 80's instead of the 60's as they should. I have had two shoots over Sirius and Sunlit, and they make the finest brace I ever saw; to my utter surprise Lit makes a fine cover dog, hunting quite nicely to the gun and not ranging too far.

Old Sweetheart has gotten around well enough so as to take her out for a little hunt. I let her run about three hours. She came in blinking her eyes solemnly, and I saw that something was the matter, which something I soon ascertained was that one of the pods of one of her feet was worn through. She followed along at heel for awhile, but if one of the other dogs would "feather" in the least, out she would go to try get a point on birds that the other dogs had found. She will always hunt in front of my companion in preference to hunting for me of late years, for the reason that with a stranger she can break shot or do any other villainous act without getting punished for it. She is very cunning, and it is amusing to watch her.

While out with me the other day, she made one of her wide casts into some cover and was gone five or ten minutes, meanwhile I was waiting in a vineyard for her. I whistled to no purpose, and as I intended changing the direction I was hunting in, I waited for her. After a while I saw her white face peering over a rise in the ground, and I whistled for her to come. She dashed off to quarter on ahead of me, but I commanded her to come in. She started towards me, and came a short distance and then turned a little to one side of me and commenced drawing as though on scent, of which there was none there, and after drawing past me for about 30 yards and getting behind a bush, she cut out like the Devil for the other side of the field, hunting as merrily as possible; she deliberately began drawing so as to prevent me from punishing her for ranging away so far, and for no other purpose. She is a cunning old jade, to be sure.

Nick White has been hunting. Nick had his choice Gordon bitch along with him. He came very near denying himself the pleasure of going, however, on her account. A few days before he went he told me that he thought of going, but that he was afraid his puppy would not enjoy it. I asked him if she was gun-shy, and he said no, but that she was not used to being tied up, and that to put a chain and collar on her and then tie her up in a baggage car might be too much for her nerves.

THE GUN.

A Ridiculous Decision.

California is not the only State wherein petty judges are so ignorant of law that it seems impossible to get a just decision. The following letter, written to the American Field, is a fair sample of how magistrates dispense justice in matters pertaining to the game laws in Illinois:—

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Thinking that a number of the readers of the American Field have been on the lookout for an article regarding the outcome of suits for violation of the game laws, especially prairie chickens in this State, I give a synopsis of a decision rendered by a Justice of the Peace at Sterling, Ill., the forepart of this month, and also a synopsis of the law covering the point in question, with a view to having each reader form his own opinion of the justice of said decision; and more especially would I like to have some sportsman of Sterling call the attention of those intending to shoot chickens next season on the strength of this decision, to the law. (They will not be hard to find.)

It appears a farmer discovered a number of prairie chickens in a wagon near his place some days before the open season, in which were also three hunters, and calling his son as witness came into Sterling and made complaint against one of the party (a market shooter), and the case was set for trial some time in September. It excited no little interest, as I have been informed a great number of the so-called sportsmen (a number of them members of the gun club) had quite a large score to their credit, dating from August 15th, and naturally felt quite anxious as to the result.

In rendering his decision, the Justice says: It has not been proven conclusively which one of the party killed the chickens, and as the law states it is unlawful to have in possession birds that have been entrapped, netted or ensnared (does not provide for birds killed) he would have to find for the defendant, or words to that effect. Let us see what the law does say:

Section 1. "That it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to hunt, pursue, kill trap, net or ensnare, or otherwise destroy, any pinnated grouse or prairie chicken between the first day of November and the 15th day of September, and any person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction shall be fined not less than $5 or more than $25.

Sec. 2. "It shall be unlawful for any person to buy, sell, or have in possession any of the birds mentioned in Sec. (1) of this act, at any time when the trapping, netting or ensnaring of such birds shall be unlawful, which shall have been entrapped netted or ensnared, contrary to the provisions of this act; and it shall further be unlawful for any person or persons at any time to sell or expose for sale, or to have in his or their possession for the purpose or selling, any prairie chicken, etc, that shall have been caught, snared, trapped or killed within the limits of the State, knowing the same to have been sold; or to transport, carry or convey the same to any place outside of this State for any purpose.

Sec. 7. 'Exceptions—The having or being in possession of any such birds as are mentioned in Sec. (1) upon any of the days upon which the killing entrapping, ensnarling, netting, buying, selling, or having in posession any such birds, shall be unlawful by the provisions of this Act, shall be deemed and taken as prima facie evidence that the same was ensnared, trapped netted, or killed in violation of the Act."

How such a decision was rendered, is beyond my comprehension. In Sec. 2 it will be noticed the word "killed" is omitted, and is the only opening for such a decision, but certainly of reading Sec. 7, one's comprehensive powers must be limited to decide that birds shot or killed and found in possession, is not unlawful.

In conclusion I would say, if the game warden for that district has a little spare time during the month of August next year, I can safely say he could not use it to better advantage then by paying a visit to some of the "game hogs" of Sterling. Why can't we have justice? NAMESKI.

Notes for Sportsmen.

The Times Gazette, of Redwood City, under the new management, devotes some of its space each week to notes about matters sporting, and the following is clipped from that paper:—

The County of San Mateo, owing to its proximity to the metropolis, is frequented by more lovers of nature and true sportsmen than any other county in California. Its creeks which empty into the ocean and its lakes and reservoirs afford delightful sport for the disciples of Izaak Walton, and its grand hills, woods and canyons, as well as the sloughs and marshes on the bay side, are frequented by local and metropolitan Nimrods, who nearly always find good shooting, varying according to the season. Deer are found on the hills and in the canyons, quail are plentiful, dove shooting usually good; duck, rail, curlew, plover and snipe abound in the marshes—and taken all in all, considering how easy of access our sporting grounds are from the centre of population, among sportsmen San Mateo County is the most popular section in the State. Railroad travel is cheap, our country roads are the best in the State, hotel and stable accommodations in our towns and villages are ample, stages connect daily with the railroad, the scenery is grand and the climate is delightful. In fact, there is everything here to invite the citizen of the metropolis who is wearied from work.

Frank Pettis and Henry Kreiss killed a fine deer on the Gilbert ranch, above Woodside, on Sunday last. It weighed when dressed 147 pounds This is the forty-seventh deer that Mr. Pettis has killed in this State.

The monthly cross-country run of the Olympic Club of San Francisco, takes place at Millbrae to-morrow. Lunch will be provided at Jim Corbett's new resort.

Deer are seen frequently in the gulches about Woodside and Searsville. On Tuesday last, George Eikerenkotter secured two.

The duck season has scarcely begun. Yet good bags are being secured often. Night shooting has commenced on the marshes and blinds are already being constructed.

In the article in Sunday's Examiner, the marshes about this place and Menlo Park are said to be a good field for duck shooting, especially after the second rain, as the birds are feeders and easy to shoot The article also speaks of the vicinity of Redwood as one of the finest "all round" shooting grounds in the State.

Numerous hunters have been seen about here of late. The cloudy weather has evidently "drawn" them to the marshes to hunt teal and widgeon.

The small lakes and lagoons in this vicinity where wild game is usually very plentiful after the first heavy rains are a good place for hunters to go for a day's sport. Hooper's, near Searsville, and Flood's, near Menlo, may be mentioned.

Now for the quail! Repair to the hills, ye nimrods, and return laden with the wily game. They are plentiful.

On an early morning ride to Woodside and Searsville cottontails in abundance may be seen. This game makes palatable eating and would well repay the hunter for a mornings tramp.

Two white quail were shot in the foot-hills back of Menlo Park on Sunday last, by James Bass and Leslie Moore, employees at Senator Stanford's Palo Alto farm. There is no record of white quail having been shot in this vicinity before, and the specimens are prized highly by the hunters.

S. B. Felix, a Menlo Park nimrod, while hunting on the Martinez ranch, killed the largest deer of the season, weighing 150 pounds.

To the Top of Mount Whitney.

BY C. E. SHERMAN.

VIII.

When anything a little out of the common has been fairly done, there is more or less of a glow of satisfaction tingling throughout the system. One may be wearied all over with the effort and yet bask in the sweet rewards won from one's own self by reason of the good deed done. And here, possibly 7150 feet nearer heaven than ever we may climb again, there was a glow in the Pilgrim heart, a proud swelling of the chest and a lofty mental joy, because of difficulty overcome and promised reward at hand. The heart of the Sierras, here it is; and like all hearts, not altogether unattractive and forbidding, but dotted with beauty spots. These meadows, as they are called, are simply glades of more or less width and measurably level, which have dropped in wherever the mountains draw apart a little, to border some purling little brook. They abound with a coarse, wide-bladed, but nutritious natural grass which is eagerly sought by stock; and there is also an abundance of tiny leaved wild clover. Thick around the edges of these openings are lofty tamaracks, sturdy and symmetrical, which, as the hillsides are reached, give way to balsam fir and bull pine. Seen from any height these meadows with their fringing trees, wear all the shades of green. They rest the eyes, control the wandering gaze and delight all the senses. From them on either side, can be seen a world of timber, and rising above all, the bare mountain tops; now bleak with the chill of a coming storm, now radiant in sunlight; first to welcome the coming day, bold black statues in the darkest night.

The meadows are all owned and used by their owners, or leased for grazing purposes. There is a kinship and courtesy among cattlemen, whereby a hungry man need not fear a brand, provided he will keep correct account of necessary scalps, and at first opportunity account for the slaughtering Certain of the Pilgrims were on terms with cattle owners, so for the good of the order fresh meat was speedily found in the larder. Roast calf's head a la Pilgrim is not altogether bad, and here is one way of getting it: Dig a hole, not too deep, but deep enough, and kindle a fire near by, which shall produce abundant glowing coals. After a little put a deep bed of coals in the hole. Then place the head, neck down, upon the glowing mass. Cover the face with a wet sack and then nearly fill the hole with coals. After this carefully fill with dirt, patting it down until no smoke can possibly come through, so as to prevent all air getting in. Leave this to fret and sizzle until the next morning, when there will be a dish dainty enough for Mrs. Vulcan, nee Venus. The Pilgrims all affirm—choosing not to swear—that this dish should be dedicated to the great unknown who invented potted beans, as there are like strokes of genius in each application of fire.

In the meantime supper became due and the account was royally paid. Not that the Chaplain over ate, for he was moderate in all things, but from some untoward complications, for the first time in all this long journey, he was heard to growl. And this was the burden of his plaint, "My doggoned shirt don't fit." It was at first supposed that from the reduced outward pressure, due to the lightness of the air, he might perhaps have swollen and the more timid feared that he might keep on and go burst, but he fortunately held together and is still intact to the great joy of his comrades. Some personal repairs became necessary after the long upward climb. For example, the Electrician naturally long of limb, seemed from the unwonted horseback exercise to have become alarmingly legged. He was laid out with his feet against a tree, a riata fasted around his waist and then on the feet end, but at a safe distance, the united party surged upon the rope until he came together in a very happy manner. The Enthusiast also had his misfit. His growl had been a wonderment that in such a delightful country, the water should be so beastly warm. A bubbling mountain stream was found and he of statistics discovered its temperature to be 48 degrees. Says the Enthusiast, "Warm as usual I suppose?" "Yes." "Well, I shall have to drink some anyway. I'm parched." "Eh; O, golly!"—gurgle-te-gurgle-te-gurgle.

From here all along to the destined summit and but slight distances apart, can be found there cooling springs, feeding the little brooks which in turn swell the mighty river. There is one log cabin in this meadow, used in summer time by whomever cares for the cattle on the range. These cattle are in fine condition, a good grade of Short-horns, and what is remarkable for the mountains, appear very gentle. The camp was visited by a well known resident of this county, who all this time was located not far away with his stock. With a laudable burst of hospitality the Sub-Deacon treated the gentleman to some cigars imported from Bakersfield. It is said the guest wished he hadn't and has since sworn off smoking cigars. Thus unwittingly and sometimes by the vilest agents, are bad habits amended and perchance completely overthrown.

Two years ago some of this party were in this meadow, and one of the gang—a noted runner—started across the green sward for a stroll. The cattle at first lifted their heads and looked after him with that calm bovine air which seems to denote only mild surprise. But instead of bowing back to grass, one moved forward a little, then another and another, until the whole herd was in gentle motion. This quick became a pace, a run, a rush. Now, Mr. Sprinter, the Philistines be upon ye, speed as never before! Long before the horsemen could gather to the rescue, the furious, bellowing herd was close upon its victim. And he? Never before was there such need for trained muscles and sound wind; never before race run by him for stake such as this. With clear head and steady nerve he ran for his life, reaching and just in time bounding into the friendly protection of a rugged reef of rock. And there winded but winner, he was kept a close prisoner until rescued by mounted men. He has reformed, and takes no more strolls among lowing herds. He says he has had enough, and perhaps for this frank admission, may be excused upon his own recognisance. But if the ancient Romans only had him for a season, he would royally amuse many a courtly dame.

Woodcock.

There has been a great argument about the difference between European and American woodcock. In a letter to Forest and Stream about a shooting trip in Sweden Marstrand says:

The other day, when shooing partridges in the Province of Delacarlia, Sweden, my good dog Nero came to a dead halt in a clump of bushes by the reedy lake shore. Nero was facing me, and as I walked towards him a large bird flew up between us and went tumbling along through the air in its drunken flight. It was an easy shot in the open, and at the report the bird fell dead, riddled through and through. A woodcock it was, to be sure, but not the merry brown beauty of America. Its wings were longer, and more pointed, its color less brown and more gray, and its flight as silent as that of a hawk. It was a great, big fellow, however, to American eyes, and tipped the scales at 12 oz.

The Forest and Stream reaches me regularly in my northern home, and as I picked up this bird and looked him over, as the sportsman is won't to do, I thought of the controversy now going on in your columns upon the whistle of the woodcock.

I have said the flight of the European cock is silent. It is not always so. An American sportsman visiting Sweden in May will surely be invited out woodcock shooting. This is a very leisurely sort of sport. You leave the city at six in the evening, after the day's work is done, sail out a dozen miles among the islands, and landing, take your stations in favorable openings in the woods. Some time after nine the laggard sun goes down and the woodlands ring with the sweet carols of the birds of spring.

But what is that? Gnarr! Gnarr! like the grunting of a hog. It comes again and again, always twice repeated. Now it is nearer and followed by a hissing whistle, thus: Gnarr! Gnarr! Hvist! Gnarr! Gnarr! Hvist! Yes, it is over head. You look up; a dark bird sails across the opening in the treetops. There is just time for a snap shot, and your first European woodcock drops dead at your feet. This is shooting "pa streck" on the flight. It is the male bird alone that flies thus, and the shooting is only permitted after the female has laid her eggs, is sitting on her nest, and pater familias has become rather a nuisance about the house than otherwise.

But what has all this to do with the whistle of the American bird? Not much, perhaps, and yet it may throw a side light upon the question.

The European woodcock makes this grunting, and also this hissing, whistling sound with his bill. This is an undisputed fact. It makes these sounds only in the breeding season, to be sure, and the hissing whistle is not the merry jingle of our October bird as it springs from the alder swamp. Yet these two facts remain: The European cock does make a hissing whistle with his bill, and second, no bird in the world is so like our own woodcock as its European cousin.

Now this does not prove but that our own "timber doodle" whistles with its wings. In fact, that has always been my belief. But the question is still an open one, and the vocal notes of the woodcock in Swedish woods show that the thrilling whistle of our own bird may be, after all, not a matter of a pinion.

We hear from Oregon that Chinese pheasants are being distributed all over the State, and are considered very suitable to the locality and afford good shooting. They will probably be like sparrows if not kept down, and the farmers will soon be complaining, if they (the pheasants) are anything like their British relatives, who can waste more grain than any feathered biped.

Mr. McMurchy who has several times figured successfully before the traps on this coast, was shooting in his best form last week at Reading, Penn. The first shoot was at seven live birds, five killed all their birds, and on shooting off four killed other two (making nine straight), McMurchy being one of the dividers. In the second at ten Keystones, he was second with nine breaks. In the fourth event, he broke fifteen straight, the only clean score. In the fifth, McMurchy divided first money at seven live birds; in the sixth, he took first at clay birds; in the seventh, he tied for second money, and on shooting off killed thirteen straight. The last shoot of the day was at Keystones, and McMurchy again took the pot.

A writer in a recent issue of Forest and Stream tells of a cock quail that devoted its time to developing the brood without aid from the female. James Blines, Alexandria, Mo., says the habits of the quail in this respect are somewhat changeable, being due to certain laws of nature which are quite beyond our knowledge to explain. Bee keepers are aware that bees swarm more in some seasons, and this year was one for the sending forth of more than the average number of swarms. The same principle is true of quail, and the flocks number probably a hundred per cent. above the average. Sometimes a female quail will lay a nest nearly full of eggs, and then begin a second nest within a hundred feet of the first one. In this case the cock bird will take possession of the first nest and diligently and patiently sit upon the eggs during the long period of incubation, thus allowing the female quail the privilege of laying and bringing forth the second brood. This is usually smaller than the first one, and is about one month later.

If to any man the fact that "Hope springs eternal in the human breast" affords consolation it must be the sportsman. The present season had settled into what bid fair to be the best one for duck shooting in many years, but the last week's rains have covered the country with puddles to which the birds resort in preference to resting and feeding in the regular ponds. The Suisun has furnished good bags for a month, but in no other section within reach from San Francisco has the sport been good enough to justify the outlay necessary to indulgence. The San Joaquin is almost without birds except white and gray geese. The salt marshes about the bay are in little better condition, and nothing less than a severe season of cold weather will gather the ducks.

The quail hunters are doing better, all conditions being most favorable for success. From all directions reports are that birds are plenty and in good condition. It is time for those who expect to run dogs in the next field trials to begin preparing them. Three months is none too much in which to harden the animals and get them well in hand. Each year the competition grows more keen, and poor work tells more strongly against entries. At least a dozen "sure winners" have already been named, some doubtless under mistaken notions. As usual, some "dark horse" will probably clean up the field.

THE WEEKLY

Breeder and Sportsman.

JAMES P. KERR, PROPRIETOR.

The Turf and Sporting Authority of the Pacific Coast.

Office, No. 313 Bush St.

P. O. Box 2300.

TERMS—One Year, $5; Six Months, $3; Three Months, $1.50.
STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Money should be sent by postal order, draft or by registered letter, addressed to JAMES P. KERR, San Francisco, Cal.

Communications must be accompanied by the writer's name and address, not necessarily for publication, but as a private guarantee of good faith.

ALEX. P. WAUGH, - - - - - Editor.

Advertising Rates

Per Square (half inch)

One time	$1 00
Two times	1 75
Three times	2 40
Four times	3 00
Five times	3 50

And each subsequent insertion 50c. per square.

Should an Advertisement run without change three months or more 50c. per square, counting from the first insertion.

Advertisements running six months are entitled to 10 per cent. discount on rate of 50 cents per square each insertion.

Those running twelve months are entitled to 20 per cent. discount on rate of 50 cents per square each insertion.

To Subscribers.

The date printed on the wrapper of your paper indicates the time which your subscription is paid.

Should the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN be received by any subscriber who does not want it, write us direct to stop it. A postal card will suffice.

Special Notice to Correspondents.

Letters intended for publication should reach this office not later than Wednesday of each week, to secure a place in the issue of the following Saturday. Such letters to insure immediate attention should be addressed to the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, and not to any member of the staff.

San Francisco, Saturday, Oct. 26, 1889.

Dates Claimed.

Los Angeles Agricultural Association—Oct. 21st to 26th.
Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association, November 16th, 19th, 21st and 23d.
State Agricultural Society—Running Meeting—April, 1890.

Palo Alto, 2:13 3-4.

There are a great many who want to parade the fact that Palo Alto is only a chance colt and that he will never be a great campaigner, and can only go one heat unlike those who come from well-defined trotting families. Those who carp after that fashion are those who do not believe in the thoroughbred cross in the trotter, and under all circumstances decry the horse which is so "contaminated." They will not believe in the thoroughbred "foolishness," probably because they have never tried it, and are wedded to a bias of their own. Dame Winnie, the dam of Palo Alto, has to plead guilty to being the dam of three in the list, her most renowned son having a record of 2:13¾, and be it remembered he is by Electioneer· Gertrude Russell, by the same sire, has a record of 2:23½, while Big Jim, by Gen. Benton, also made a record of 2:23½, proving conclusively that she could beget trotters by any trotting sire. So much for the thoroughbred proposition, and now we will see what Palo Alto is as a campaigner. By turning to Chester we find in the supplement of 1886 that Palo Alto, then a four-year-old, started his "one-heat" campaign on June 29th, winning in straight heats in 2.32½, 2:33¾, 2:33; again on July 1st he won in straight heats in 2.30½, 2·30¾, 2:29¾. On July 1st he lost his first heat, and the first heat of the race, to Wilton, in 2:24, taking the next three in 2:22, 2:22, 2:20½. July 22d he lost his first and only race, Wilton winning in 2:19¾, 2:19¼, 2:20. July 30th, after losing the first heat to Mabel A. in 2:23¼, he won the next three in 2:23, 2:22½, 2:21. August 28th he won a six-heat race, Tom Rogers getting the first and third, and Deck Wright the second. The time of these six heats was 2:20½, 2·22¼, 2:23½, 2:22¾, 2:25¾, 2;27½.

September 18th another six-heat race fell to him, he winning the third, fourth and sixth in 2:21, 2:21½, 2:20¼. Deck Wright got the first and fifth in 2:20½, 2:25, and Harry Roberts the second in 2:20. September 21st he had a walk-over in 2:24. October 8th he trotted his last race of the year, and this was another six-heat affair, C. F. Clay getting the first in 2:18, Charley Hogan the second in 2:20¼, and Albert France the fifth in 2:24½; Palo Alto won the third, fourth and sixth in 2:21, 2:21¼, 2:25. The subsequent winter he was nearly destroyed by fire, and his next appearance on the turf was on August 13th of this year, when he won in straight heats in 2:21¼, 2:20, 2:18. August 28th he won the first, third and fourth heats of a race in 2:20½, 2:21½, 2:23½. September 2d, 2:22½, 2:20, 2:19½ was the time he scored. September 7th, 2:18¼, 2:19¼, 2:20¼ was the time of his three heats. September 26th he trotted three heats in 2.16½, 2:17¼, 2:13¾, an average of 2.16 per mile.

Now how is that for a one heat horse and a horse that will never campaign. The answer is given in the above.

An Appeal.

During the Santa Rosa meeting one of the races advertised was a three-year-old stake, over which a protest was entered by A. J. Zane and J. W. Martin as against Messrs. Loeber and Heald, to try and prevent them from starting the black filly Directa. We have no positive knowledge of the case, but Rumor says it is about as follows: The stake was advertised for three-year-olds, $80 entrance, $20 payable at time of nomination, $20 May 15th, $20 July 1st, and $20 ten days before the announcement of the meeting. The last payment is the cause of the trouble, it would seem, and no wonder from the ambiguous manner in which the advertisement is worded. At any rate, the filly was allowed to start and she won the race. The protest having been properly lodged, all the parties interested therein have been notified that a meeting of the Pacific Board of Review of the American Trotting Association will be held at the office of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN on Wednesday, November 20th, at 1 o'clock P. M. The Board consists of M. F. Tarpey, J. De Turk and N. B. Edwards. As Mr. De Turk is President of the society that has been made a party to the action, Chairman Tarpey will call in the assistance of two disinterested persons to assist in adjudicating the case.

The Breeder and Sportsman Futurity Stakes·

By every mail applications come in for entry blanks for the new stakes, and there is every indication that this will be one of the greatest events ever held in California. The terms are so liberal that every one who has bred a good mare to a good stallion can afford to enter, not only afford, but really ought to, as the value of the offspring is materially enhanced by the fact that the foal is entered in a stake from which the winner will draw the handsome sum of $2,000 at least, as the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN guarantees that there shall be $3,000 in the stakes. One gentleman writes to send him fifty blanks, as he wishes every man who bred a mare to his stallion to enter. There is no doubt but that this will be the greatest foal stakes ever instituted in the State, and will bear favorable comparison with any ever started East of the Rocky Mountains. The ten dollars entrance money will be refunded if it should prove that the mare is not with foal, so there is absolutely no chance taken of a loss in that respect. Entries can be made at any time prior to January 1, 1890. Blanks will be sent to any person on application to this office.

P. C. T. H. A..

A meeting of the directors of the Breeders' Association was held at this office on Thursday, to determine about the stakes, which still have to be trotted off. There was a large attendance many horse owners being present. By the unanimous consent of all present it was agreed to finish the meeting on Saturday, November 9th., on which date, the 2:30 class will compete, the Stanford Stake will be trotted for and the two-year-olds will also meet for trials of speed. By that time the track should be in good order, and as Sunol will positively start to beat her own record there should be a large attendance to witness the sport. It is a great pity that the elements played such sad havoc with the racing programme, for there was every indication that the Pacific Coast Trotting Horse Breeders Association would have finished up their first meeting in a blaze of glory. However, the meeting will be finished and all the promises of the association carried out to the letter. Next year the meeting will be held earlier in the season, so as to insure good weather.

The Park Speed Track.

The elements have put a damper on the propose matinee, which was announced for to-day, but the committee are nothing daunted, and have already published the fact that the gala day will be Saturday, November 2nd. Palo Alto Stock Farm, has given assurance that the celebrated trotters Palo Alto and Sunol will be started; W. S. Hobart will have Stamboul go for a record, and G. Valensin will start Faustino, a yearling colt to beat the record of Von Wilkes 2:38½. In addition to the above there will be three great races all of which will be warmly contested. As the speed committee have arranged for such a grand programme it now becomes the duty of every person interested in horses in any way, to push the sale of tickets for this occasion, as the speed drive must be finished before the next rains set in. The money already collected has been spent, and more is needed to finish the work, so that the citizens of San Francisco may have a suitable speed track such as there is in every city in the union. The committee have disposed of over twelve hundred tickets already, but many thousands should be sold, so it will be necessary for all to put their shoulder to the wheel and assist the gentlemen who are striving to furnish what we all absolutely need. We trust that this good work will have the support of every person in the city who owns a horse, for it is for their benefit and use.

Will Use No Other.

BOYCE TABLET CO., Terre Haute, Ind:—
GENTLEMEN: I have been somewhat late writing in regard to Tablets. Would say they make the best leg and body wash I ever saw. They leave the hair fine and soft, also produce a healthy skin.
In regard to "swelled" legs and ankles, it cannot be beaten. While I work with horses I will use no other. Respectfully,
GEO D. BOYNTON.
RAVENSWOOD STOCK FARM, Lexington, Ky.

Price per box of one hundred Tablets, $2. Sample mailed to any address on receipt of four cents to pay postage. These Tablets are warranted to keep in any climate. Address, J. A. McKerron, 228-230-232 Ellis Street San Francisco, Cal.

Goldsmith Maid.

Did you ever meet J. B Decker who raised Goldsmith Maid, well if you never did you missed a treat, for uncle Johnny B., as he is usually called is a perfect mint of information in reference to horse matters. I remember once asking the old gentleman to tell me what he could about "the maid."

"That mare," said he, "was one of the wildest and wickedest pieces of horse-flesh that ever I saw. Just for a little exercise she'd often jump a six-quail fence, gallop up and down the big meadow, and make a clean circuit of the whole farm, jumping every fence as she went without a bit of trouble, and finally go back with the rest of the horses. She was terrible wild in harness, and I never drove her, single or double in the four years I owned her, though, one of my workmen ploughed corn with her once for half a day.

The dam of the Maid," continued the old farmer, "was an 'Abdallah' mare, and an awful good one at that. She was a half sister to 'Old Hambletonian,' and could trot her 2:40 to an old-fashioned road wagon without any apparent effort. I bought her of an old hat pedolar named Vernue, of Plainfield. N. J., who always kept good horses, and was forever trading. The sire of 'Goldsmith Maid' was a Hambletonian stallion, owned by Seeley Edsall, of Goshen, Orange country, N. Y. He was afterwards sold to a man named Alexander, in Kentucky, where he was kept solely for stock purposes. The 'Maid' was foaled during the last week of June, 1857, and was always as wild as a hawk. I never considered her fast until one day I went out in the field with a measure full of salt to feed the horses. The Maid would not come near me to get any salt, and I got mad and set the dogs on her. I enjoyed seeing her trot so much that I frequently repeated the experiment. She was an awfully fast running mare, too. On moonlight nights the workmen used to steal out and catch the horses and race across the meadow flats. I never knew of this till long afterwards, but the men said that the Maid invariably distanced the fifteen or twenty fine blood horses I then had on the farm. That was running, understand, and not trotting.

"Jonn H. Decker, a butcher from Newburg, and Tom Bingham, of the same city, came to take dinner with me and wanted to see some of my horses. We started for the field with some salt and the dog, and set the dog on the Maid the very first thing. She was off like the wind, and they were so struck with her gait, they offered me $300 cash for her. I refused, but they said they were bound to have the horse, and told me to name my price. Finally I said I'd take $350, and they handed me the money. I hated to sell the mare, and yet concluded to let her go because she was so ugly. They caught her and tied her behind the wagon and started home. When they arrived at Denton, Wm. Denton, then known as Jersey Bill who kept a hotel there, tried to buy her, but they would not sell her.

A short time afterward they found she was so ugly that they sold her to Jersey Bill for $600. The next spring Bill sold her to Alden Goldsmith for $900 and a wagon. Goldsmith named her Goldsmith Maid, and hired Bill Bodine, the great horseman of Middletown, N. Y, to handle her. Then she was awful wild, and came near killing Bodine several times. It used to take four men to hitch her up, and she'd bite and kick quicker than lightning. This made Goldsmith very sick of his bargain, and for a month or two she could have been bought very cheap. Finally Bodine conquered her, and she soon became very popular. It was not long, as you know, before she was known all over the country. Goldsmith told me he sold her to a man named Jackman, of Philadelphia, and Budd Doble for $15,000 cash. After she had made her best time, Doble and Jackman sold her to Henry Smith, a New York broker, who still owns her, for an even $30,000, which was almost one hundred times the figure I sold her for. She is now, I believe, on the Fashion Stud Farm, near Trenton, which is owned by Smith.

"Yes," said the old man, mournfully, "I did let a fortune slip through my fingers when I sold the Maid, but I think I let a bigger one go when I sent her half-sister, one of the finest and swiftest mares I ever came across, to General Kilpatrick while he was in Chili. She was a handsome black, fully as fast as the Maid, and just the reverse of the latter in disposition and temper. In those days there were no railroads in this section, and when we used to carry our produce and do our trading at Newburg, forty miles away, we used to do some tall driving. I've frequently driven eighteen miles to Newton in an hour and a quarter, took tea, fed the horse, and then drove on to Middleton, forty-nine miles further, the same evening. I always had fifteen to twenty blooded horses, and never let a man pass me on the road. One day my father was taken sick, and at 4 P. M. I left home, drove to Newburg and back, eighty miles, in six hours and a half, actual driving time. They may do it, but somehow I never hear of such drives nowadays, and yet they claim blooded horses now have greater endurance than they used to have. But for all that, I must confess they've got mile heats down fine of late. Well, gentlemen, I'm obliged to you for your patience, and if you'll step inside I'll give you a drop of applejack made forty years ago," and with this remark ended the reminiscenes of Goldsmith Maid.

CORRESPONDENCE.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I have seen in your paper several times the past few months, the statement that "Rysdyk's Abdallah horse (which he called Hambletonian) had a record of 2:40." [There has been no such statement made. The writer must be mistaken.—ED.]

Such statement deceive the young men of to-day, but they will live long enough to know that the paper published what was not so. Rysdyk's Hambletonian could not ordinarily trot a mile in four minutes. Hiram Woodruff had him on the Island in training for four months, and the best trial he could get out of him with a long bow whip, played his full length to keep him agoing, was 3:18.

Men die, and often times the truth dies with them, but there are truths which come to life again; most of the men are now dead who were witnesses to the trial of Rysdyk's Hambletonian at the old Union course, L. I., but enough remain to verify my statement.

Rysdyk's Hambletonian, nor his sire, nor his dam, could trot ordinarily in four minutes and that blood bred to itself could not trot any better.

The mares of better blood and breeding which have been prostituted to the multitude of sons of Rysdyk's horse, have made his name known' but with the growing intelligence of the American Horse Breeders that fraudulent name of Hambletonian is fast dying out, while such as have the blood curse it.

To day the American horse has no commercial value in any country, owing to the multiplied numbers of mongrel bred horses, built upon the deception name and blood of Rysdyk's Hambletonian.

It was a curse, and the chickens are coming home to roost, while the game blood and legitimate name of Clay and Morgan are fast coming to the front, doubly appreciated.

RANLOLPH HUNTINGTON.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Los Angeles News.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—Owing to a deluge of rain for the past two days, the races have been postponed by a meeting of the Board until next Monday. The track is now partly submerged, the lower portion being under fourteen inches of water. This storm is the most severe ever known here at this time of the year, and as the clouds still gather and the sky bears a threatening aspect, the Directors deemed it advisable to defer the opening of the races for this week. They will begin on Monday, Oct. 28th, with the usual programme. The meeting promises to be a grand success, there being a long list of entries and an excellent programme. Saturday night, at Rodman & Co.'s pool rooms pools were sold on the two year old race, one-half mile dash. There were ten starters, Pliny, King David, Idle Belle, Rose's Sorrel Filly, Washington Bart ett, Rose Meade, Humming Bird, Gumbo and Jaunita.

King David to carry 110 pounds, the rest 107 each. Pliny sold favorite, bringing about as much as the rest, who sold as a field. In the one mile dash, with four left in, John Treat, Wild Oats, Mikado and Welcome, there were no pools sold; neither in the trotting three minute class, which had five entries, viz, Othello, Raymond, Orphan Girl, Dutchess and Danger, were there any pools sold.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21st, 1889.

Another Los Angeles Letter.

OCTOBER 23d, 1889.

When your correspondent arrived here Monday morning with a ream of copy paper and a dozen pencils, he was greeted with the news that the Los Angeles races had been postponed one week. The rain, that bane of race meetings, had been falling steadily for 24 hours, and there was an embryo river rippling down the long backstretch of the Agricultural Park track. In a trip about the stables you met everywhere grooms and drivers wrapped in gum coats and slickers, and outside the stable doors pools of dirty water stopped one's entrance to the stalls. Things looked anything but encouraging for the Association and for the horsemen who had gone to the expense of bringing their stables down. A meeting of the Directors was held here Sunday afternoon, and the meeting was very wisely postponed.

Rain at this season of the year is a very unusual thing. Once before in the memory of that oft-quoted personage "the oldest inhabitant;" has it come so early in the season. Col. Hewitt has been secretary of this association off and on for fifteen years and this is the first time a meeting has been interfered with by the elements. Their disappointment can in a measure be imagined. Still they have the grit equal to the occasion and are doing everything in their power to make the horsemen comfortable and to render the wait as pleasant as possible. The horsemen feel very kindly toward the association, and the meeting has even now every promise of success. The association has been running in hard luck this year, anyhow. Their pavilion show was given some time ago. The Los Angeles people do not take kindly to fair exhibits and at the close of the affair the association found itself just $1300 behind, and it gave a good show too.

The coming race meeting will be an interesting one from the fact that there are many district horses—horses that have not been all over the circuit—entered here and district people like to see their neighbor's horses in a race and will always go to see them start. Among the local owners who have horses stabled at the track I have met Al Workman of Los Angeles, L. J. Felton of Santa Ana, John Gries of Compton, N. A. Covarrubias of Los Angeles, and M. A. Forrester of Capistrano, all of whom have runners, some of them likely ones too. And there are the Chino Ranch people, J. D. Dunne, John F. Dodsen of Wilmington, H. W. Lawrence from Santa Barbara, A. F. McPhail from the same place, J. B. Kennedy from Long Beach, George A. Vignolo of Los Angeles, W. P. Johnson from Alhambra, Thos. L. Burke of San Diego and J. Willis of Santa Ana, all of whom fancy and own trotters and pacers that are away above the average of country horses and horses outside the regular racing stables.

Besides these less known patrons of the turf, I have seen E. B. Gifford, Hon. L. J. Rose and his two sons, P. C. Donalech, Billy Appleby, Samuels, of Kelly & Samuels, Ben Hill, Chas. Durfee, J. W. Donathan, E. R. Den, and others who have entries at the meeting.

The runners will have the call for public attention. There was no other bid for them this week, and they have come down here for the purses, and all the events are well filled. A glance through the stables will show you such well known gallopers and winners as Ed McGinnis, Welcome, Pliny, Wild Oats, Naicho B., Bessie Shannon, Tycoon, Mikado, Four Aces and Adelaide, and a host of two-year-olds yet untried in a public performance which are owned in and around Los Angeles, representatives of Wildidle, Rutherford, Grinstead and other racing sires. If the meeting is not a good one, it will not be the fault of the association or of the horsemen.

The Los Angeles track is a good one when in condition, and the day before the rain fell it was fit as a fiddle. It was here that Stamboul made his 2:15 with Arab at his wheel, and it was here that Laura Gardner ran a mile and a quarter with Idalene Cotton at her neck in 2:07¼. Adobe is good to go in when it is dry, but rain renders it unfit for a sheep to travel over with safety to his legs. As I close this letter tonight, the sky is almost clear, with a decided indication for good weather. Should sunshine come within the next two days, next Monday will hear the bell tap. TREV.

Santa Barbara News.

This year has done more for the equine sporting world than years of the past. Every farmer sees clearly that it pays to procure good brood mares and to breed them to first class stallions. Merritt and Murray, of Santa Maria, in this county have invested much money on mares that he will breed to Electro and Saxton. They have a model stock farm and a model mile track; Henry Delaney has been engaged to train and drive for them. They have on the farm some exceptionally fine colts by Electro, ne by Electioneer; first dam Fatima.

The following youngsters by Electro are promising: Br f Gertrude by Electro; first dam Mamie by Shylock, by Moredale by Norfolk; second dam by Orphan Boy. Br f Luisa by Electro, dam by A. T. Stewart. Blk f Sola by Electro; first dam Fannie by Altoona; second dam by Newry; third dam by Kentucky Whip. B s by Electro; first dam India by David Brown; second dam by Oakley's David Hill, etc. B s Solo by Electro; first dam Yeolde by Capt. Webster. Blk s Rysdyke by Electro; first dam by Brown's Alexander by Uncle's Alexander. Br f Miss Murray by Electro; first dam Little Nell by David Brown; second dam Fannie by Jim Brown; third dam Fannie Covaland (said to be by Rysdyk's Hambletonian). Blk f Electa by Electro; first dam May by David Brown (full sister to Little Nell) and many others that will be exhibited as yearlings next year.

The brood mares on the farm are select: Br m May Queen (standard bred) by Enchanter 468, by Administrator 357; first dam by Blazing Star 760, by Henry Clay (pacer) by Pioneer (pacer). B m Altoonita, five years old, by Altoona; first dam by A. T. Steward; second dam by Kentucky Whip. B m Helena by Altoona; first dam Mamie by Shylock; second dam by Orphan Boy. B m Jennet by Altoona; first dam by A. T. Stewart. Br m Lepe by Nigger Baby (record 2:38) by Allo, 2:22½. They have a beautiful bay stallion two years old by Altoona called Monte. His first dam is by Newry and second dam by Kentucky Whip. Merritt & Murray bought from Mr. Porter the dam of Nigger Baby and Flora G., 2:30½. She is in foal to Electro.

J. M. Rochin, of Los Alamos, has engaged to train for him Pete Doyle. Mr. Rochin has a dun mare by Liesly, pacer; first dam by Brilliant, by Morril, and she paces as though she would be fast. Antioch, by A. W. Richmond, first dam Monte Belle by Tenbroeck, is a brown stallion that will be trained and driven next summer for a record. Mr. Rochin has several fine brood mares by Newry, he by Lexington, that he will breed to Antioch.

I had heard so much of a yearling owned by J. W. Cooper, of Santa Barbara, that last week I drove nine miles to see the wonderful colt, and my admiration of him grew stronger after I had seen him. He is really a great looking colt, being a bright bay with white marks on one hind feet and foreleg, and large for his age. When he stands erect he looks all over a race horse, having a handsome neck and head, his shoulder is prominent and his withers run well back. He is much higher behind, and his quarters are very muscular, while his leg between the hock and knee is remarkably strong. Through the heart he is deep, and his chest rounds out well. He has a remarkably strong back, being closely ribbed, and although the distance between his loins and withers is very short, still his reach is long, and he has a graceful way of moving, and when he canters he goes close to the ground. This colt is by Red Diamond, he by Rifleman; his dam is a very handsome dark bay mare that has been noted for speed and endurance, and she is by Lomax out of a Morgan mare. Mr. J. W. Cooper, although not interested in horses, has taken a great liking to his colt, for which he wishes to claim the name of Solano. The colt will surely make his mark, for he should run ⅝, ¾ and ⅞ very rapidly. There are in the county several colts that will meet next Fall in the two-year-old races. Geo. Sherman has one by Accident and out of a Newry mare. Arrellanes has one by Red Diamond, out of the Arrellane's mare, and several others.

Carrie B.'s colt, by Stamboul, is a beautiful one, and is growing very fast. Carrie B. is in foal to Alcazar.

Ella Hill by Wildidler, dam Mary Wade, died at the Santa Barbara track over a week ago of lung fever. Othello, by Hock-Hocking, dam Sunday by Monday, has gone to Los Angeles, where he will run; also the swift two-year-old Gambo out of Dotty Dimple. Nigger Baby has gone also to trot in the 2:35 class. T. M.

SANTA BARBARA, October 22, 1889.

Jockey Garrison.

As long ago as 1884 we remember Garrison as a little boy, when, after winning the Criterion and Goano he swaggered up to Mr. Withers, and, puffing his big cigar, called out: 'Well, now, how do you like that for a colt?" with a degree of familiarity that caused the sage of Brookdale to stare. Then came his engagement and trouble with Captain Brown, his engagement and row with Haggin, his rivalry with McLaughlin, which divided race-goers in hostile factions, his engagement with Mr. Belmont and the Raceland episode. The report of his dismissal, followed by his unexpected reappearance in the colors on Magnate, then his being compelled to stand down in favor of McLaughlin when Raceland started for the First Special, which again set the tongues wagging. Then he took the train for Boston, rode there one day and was back the next, and paraded in front of the stand like Cæsar, "with a senate at his heels." What will be the immediate future of Garrison? We have several reasons for believing he will be found next season wearing the scarlet "Barbarity jacket" of Mr. John A. Morris. Mr. Morris has not made him an offer, but we have strong reasons for believing that he will, as Garrison's remaining with Mr. Belmont is out of question. We do not think Walden is a great admirer of Garrison, and the rumored engagement of Fred Littlefield with Mr. Walden's daughter will strengthen Fred's hold on the stable's patronage. But Littlefield is still young and has not had the experience of Garrison, who, with all his faults, is a rare rider. He is not a quick starter, nor is he a judge of pace, but as a finisher, we consider him without a rival.—Spirit of the Times.

Answers to Correspondents.

Answers for this department MUST be accompanied by the name and address of the sender, not necessarily for publication, but as proof of good faith. Write the questions distinctly, and on one side of the paper only. Positively no questions will be answered by mail or telegraph.

Subscriber.

Please answer through the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN what constitutes a roadster, or, in other words, in showing a horse for roadster premium at a fair what qualifications must be taken into consideration by judges awarding premium.

Answer.—According to the rules of the State Agricultural Society, size, style, carriage and speed are the requisites, but any animal eligible to the Standard class cannot compete, nor can any horse that has ever started in a race.

L.

First—Is there any remedy for a trotting horse which travels very close behind?

Second—Is it advisable to try any experiment in that direction when the horse does not strike, and if so, is it likely to be an improvement in the speed?

Third—Do horses traveling very close ever get very fast?

Answer.—In reference to questions 1 and 2, we should advise you not to experiment with the horse unless he interferes. 3. Yes.

J. A. L.

Please inform me through your paper the proper course to pursue to register a stallion, and what qualities he must possess to entitle him to registrary?

Was Dan Voorhees Standard bred and on the registrary?

Answer.—We have sent you the necessary registration papers. Dan Voorhees was not Standard bred, but he was by a standard horse, and from his own performances was entitled to registration. His number in the American Trotting Register is 887.

Subscriber, Sacramento.

The reason Daisy does not appear in the yearling record list, is because in the race you allude to she was defeated by Time, not having beaten Hinda Rose's time of 2:36½. The list was inserted to claim names.

Can any of our readers send us information regarding a horse called Sather's Patchen, reputed to be by Geo. M. Patchen Jr., dam by Black Hawk.

Subscriber.

I have a fine, fat, young mare that has a discharge from one nostril which is not at all offensive, but which I know to be nasal gleet. I do not, however, know how to treat it, and I want to know if you will, in your paper, publish a remedy.

Answer—Nasal gleet arises from several causes, and before recommending any line of treatment it is necessary to know what the cause is. I would therefore advise you to obtain the services of a qualified veterinary surgeon, who can on ascertaining the cause, adopt the remedy necessary.

THOS. BOWHILL, M R.C.V.S.

G. W. Hancock, Sacramento.

Why do not owners of stallions give a list of the mares—served by their stallions—which the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN has formerly published? Men ought not to be afraid of showing the quality of mares their stallions draw. It is certainly an incentive to breed to the best.

Answer.—We have frequently requested owners of stallions to send in a list of mares served, but Mr. W. Corbitt, of the San Mateo Stock Farm, is the only one who has responded. We again invite all stallion owners to send in a list of mares served this year as a matter of record.

C. E. G.

Will you please tell me where Gibralter is located, and how many he has in the 2:30 list, with their names.

Answer—He is owned by John Sweeny of Carson City, Nevada. The year book only shows one in the 2:30 list, Dora 2:29.

Sales.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—Have this day sold to Geo. R. Eaton and N. B. Slocum the bay gelding Buttonwood, foaled Feb. 5th, 1881, by Nutwood, 2:18¾, out of Belle Morrill, she by Bellfounder, dam Ada Morrill. Bellfounder has three strains of imported Messenger in him, and Ada Morrill was by Young Morrill, out of a Vermont mare.

Respectfully,

LOT D. SLOCUM.

Excelsior Stables, San Francisco, Oct. 17th.

1889.

Never before in the history of the trotting turf has there such a galaxy of great performers appeared in one year as has in the year now drawing to a close, says Dunton's Spirit of the Turf. The records are not by any means complete, but as far as we are able to say the following statistics can be relied upon: No less than ten two year olds have made records of 2:30 or better, the fastest of which is Fleet 2:24, by Sidney 2:19¾, and he by Santa Claus 2:17½. Thirty-one three year olds have performed in 2:30 or better, the fastest of which is the peerless Axtell 2:12, by William L, and he by George Wilkes 2:22. Of the four year olds 68 have performed in 2:30 or better, foremost among which is Repetition 2:16¼, by Red Wilkes, by George Wilkes 2:22. Among the pacers Nellie Woods ranks as the only two year old, having a record of 2:28; she is by Neosho, son of the famous Blue Bull. Among the three year old pacers Don Pizarro leads with a record of 2:14¾; he is by Gambetta Wilkes 2:26, by George Wilkes 2:22. The phenomenal four year old pacer is, of course, the wonderful Gold Leaf 2:11¼, by Sidney 2:19¾, son of Santa Claus 2:17½. The singular thing about these phenomenal colts is, that one and all come of a line of turf performers either in the immediate or at the farthest in the second remove. What is true of these, the fastest, is equally true of the balance of these wonderful colts; and an investigation on the maternal side will reveal much the same facts. Leaving the colts, we take a glance at the stallions, Bonnie McGregor 2:13½, Palo Alto 2:13¾, Axtell 2:12, and Nelson 2:14¼. Never before did such a quartette of stallions appear in one year, nor in all the years together for that matter. In short, the year of our Lord 1889 will be a memorable one in turf annals.

S. Sperry of Petaluma has sold to H. H. Helman the driver of Emma Temple 2:21½, and owner of Strathway 2:26, the bay two year old filly by Anteeo 2:16¼, dam Debutante by Sultan; consideration $1000. The filly aforesaid will be bred to Strathway 2:26 sire of Steinway, 2:25, and Countess (dam of Dawn 2:18¾) by Whipple's Hambletonian.

ATHLETICS.

Athletic Sports and Other Pastimes.

Edited by Arphippus.

SUMMARY.

The athletes have been comp lled to give up out-door practice on account of the rain. The Bay District Track is in a very muddy condition and it is impossible for the runners and walkers to train on it.

The wheelmen are preparing for Thanksgiving Day.

The oarsmen are undecided in their actions, as the prospect ahead for them is not very bright.

RUNNERS, WALKERS, JUMPERS, ETC.

H. A. Matthews, the well-known wheelman, intends competing in the running high jump November 28th. On Monday evening last in the gymnasium of the Olympic Club he cleared, without previous practice, 5 feet 3 inches. This is certainly a remarkable showing for a novice, and Mr. Matthews stands a fair chance of capturing one of the prizes.

Several athletic members of the Y. M. C. A. of this city will attempt to organize an athletic club in connection with the Association early next year. The Y. M. C. A. has at present amongst its members the following athletes: The Armburster Bros., runners and high jumpers; Frank Hart, shot putter and weight lifter; Charles Voltee, high jumper. An amateur recently arrived from Virginia City with a record of 10 1-5 seconds for a hundred yards' run, and a number of others who are good in all kinds of out-door sports.

John Purcell, the amateur champion all round athlete of the Pacific Coast, has sold his interest in a local daily paper, and has established himself in the wood and coal business at 534 Fulton street, near Laguna. Mr. Purcell has given the O. A. C. to understand that in future it cannot depend upon him to help it out in general competition. His business will render it impossible to train, and the only event which he can be depended upon to defend will be putting the shot. He is so good at this game that it will be unnecessary for him to train.

John D. Mann, late of the O. A. C, and now residing in Virginia City, Nevada, is endeavoring to organize an athletic club in connection with the Young Men's Institute in that city.

P. J. Higgins, the Irish amateur long distance runner, has taken his departure from this city, having procured a lucrative position at the Union Consolidated Gold Mines, La Porte, Cal.

We are in receipt of the following communication from "An Athlete":

"I understand that a man named Newton Williams intends competing in the 100 yards "Maiden" race in the coming field games, which will be held on Thanksgiving Day. I am told by good authority that he has already run and won a race for a medal; therefore, I think he ought to be barred out of the novice race. Please inform me through the athletic columns of your journal if Mr. Williams has a record, and if so, what is it."

In answer to the above questions, we will state that Mr. Williams, who is a member of the O. A. C., has no legitimate record for running, but we are informed that he is capable of running one hundred yards under eleven seconds. We are unable to state whether he has ever competed in a race or not, but the Athletic Committee of the O A. C. will decide whether he is entitled to compete in the novice race or not.

The Atlas Athletic Club has disbanded. Its Board of Directors came to the conclusion that the new license was too high for the size of the club.

The Pacific Athletic Club is becoming more popular every day. Its spacious gymnasium and club rooms on Mission, near 20th St, are to be renovated in the near future and several new pieces of apparatus will be placed in the gymnasium for the use of the members. The floor is coated with soft tan bark, which makes it pleasant for the athletes. It is admirably suited for tumbling, jumping, weight throwing and running, the track being about fifteen laps to the mile

The monthly cross country run of the Olympic Athletic Club took place at Milbrae last Sunday. About a dozen members took part. Donnelly, Cooley, Espinoza, Scott, Henry, Greene and Captain Jordan were the first men home. The run was a very enjoyable one despite the wet weather. A fine lunch was served after the run. Walter A. Scott, the exleader, was presented with a handsome diamond scarf pin by his fellow club-mates as a mark of their esteem.

It is rumored that a team of athletes from the East will visit this coast in time to compete in the November games. When they hear that the new grounds of the O. A. C. will not be ready by Thanksgiving Day, possibly they may change their minds and remain at home, until the new track is finished.

CROSS-COUNTRY RUN.

The field team of the P. A. C. will hold a cross country run on October 27th, at 8 o'clock A. M. (Club Headquarters). The run will be towards the Ocean House Road, thence back to gymnasium. All amateurs are invited to attend.

AMATEUR ATHLETES AT MONTREAL.

Dark, threatening and bitterly cold weather marked the afternoon set for the annual Fall games of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, held at Cote St. Antoine, near Montreal, Can., on Saturday, Oct. 5th. In consequence there was a very slim attendance, while many of the athletes who had entered for different events remained away. The competitions, however, were fairly interesting. A feature was the attempt of C. A. J. Queckberner, of the Staten Island Athletic Club, to break the Canadian record for throwing the 16 pound hammer. In practice before the competition came on he made a cast that was perfectly fair and measured 100ft 2 in., being five inches ahead of the record, but of course, it does not count while in his regular trials, 10 in number, made under the supervision of the club officials, he failed to do better than 97 feet 6 inches. Doubtless this was largely due to the stiffening effects of the cold weather. The events resulted as shown below:

Putting the shot—First, A. Smith, Montreal, B. C., allowed 9 feet, actual distance, 44 feet, 4 inches; second, I. Fitzpatrick, Shamrock L C, allowed 2ft, 39ft 10½in.

One hundred yards—First, A Luthead, M A A A; second, C. A. Lockerby, M A A C. Time, 10 1-5s.

Throwing 56-pound weight—First, C. A. J. Queckberner, S I A C, scratch, 24 feet, 1 inch; second, J. Storey, Argyle, S S C, allowed 4ft, 23ft 1¾in.

Half mile run—First, F. H. Johnston, M A A A; second, J. W. Moffatt, M A A A. Time, 2 minutes, 3 2 5 seconds.

Running high jump—First, R. T. McKenzie, McGill, A C, scratch, 5 feet 1 inch; second, W. Fowler, Argyle S S C, scratch, 4 feet 11 inches.

One mile bicycle race—First, D. G. Loreson, M B C, 10s; second, A. B. Kingan, M B C, 12s. Time 3min. 32¾ s.

Two mile race—First, W. Corkey Jr., Shamrock L. C., scratch; second, W. J. Finlay, M A A A, 50 yards. Time, 10 min. 16 4-5s.

220 yards run—A. Luthead, M L C, 12, first; S. G. Waldron M A A A, 10; second. Time, 22⅕s.

Throwing 16 pound hammer—C. A. J. Queckberner, S I A C, first; 97ft. 1in; J. Story, Argyle S S C, second, 95 feet, 9½ inches.

One mile run—F. H. Johnson, M A A A, first; W. Gentleman (Corkey) Jr, S L C, second. Time, 4m. 58s.

Three mile bicycle race—D. S. Lawrence, M. B. C., 30s; first; A. A. Kingan, M. B. C, 40s, second. Time, 11 min., 10 2-5 sec.

Running broad jump—First, C. A. Lockerby, M A A A, 3 ft., 20ft. 2½ in.; second. H. Phillips, St. Lawrence A C, scratch, 18ft. 11½in.

Quarter mile run—First, A. A. Barnhart, M L C 15 yards; second, S. E. Waldron, M A A A, scratch. Time, 52s.

Hurdle race, 130 yards—First, W. R. Thompson, M A A A, scratch; second, G. Moffatt, M A A A, 10 yards.

AT THE OARS.

The race between amateur crews from the Ariels and Dolphins did not come off last Sunday, owing to the inclemency of the weather. Both crews were in good condition, and the postponement of the contest proved a great disappointment to all parties interested in the affair.

None of the regular crews were out on Sunday, the boys preferring to remain in the boat houses and compare records with each other.

Neil Matterson of Australia beat George Bubear, ex-champion of England, in the scullers' race for $1,000 a side, over the Thames championship course, England, on October 14th. Matterson led all the way and won with ease by eight lengths.

We have it on very reliable authority that the professional championship will be decided early next year. A prize of $500 will be offered, and the number of entries will not be limited. There is no doubt but that every club around the bay will be represented by one or more crews. The liberal offers made by the Ariel Rowing Club in regard to the records will still remain good, and this fact should certainly be the means of causing the oarsmen to train the harder.

The chances for the holding of a regatta on Thanksgiving Day are very slim.

The Lurline Club will purchase several new boats before next season.

Spiller and Feeney, two local amateurs, are anxious to row any two amateur members of the Lurline Club a match race in whitehall boats, for a reasonable purse.

IN THE SURF.

The surf bathing season may be fairly said to be over, the wet weather having set in.

Business at the Palace and Crystal Baths still continues good, and the probabilities are that both places will be well patronized during the winter months. As the weather grows cold the temperature of the water will be arranged to suit the air.

George Peterson of this city is willing to wager $250 that he can swim from Shelter Cove Baths at the foot of Mason street to Alcatraz and back without leaving the water.

THE WHEELMEN.

Tomorrow evening the seven-day bicycle race will end. From the start it has been very perceptible that the whole affair has been a gigantic fraud. We are in possession of facts in black and white relative to a collusion between the principals, but it is rather late now to make them known. There is very little chance of the team visiting the Pacific Coast again for money making purposes. Their present stay has been a very disastrous one from a financial point of view, and their efforts to make the people out here regard them as world champions have been fruitless. Such unwholesome hippodromes naturally tend to injure amateur athletics, and it pleases us very much to note that the citizens of San Francisco are beginning to turn their backs on such frauds. The attendance at the Pavilion during the week was very slim, and most of the people that went to see the race were holders of free tickets. The managers tried in every possible way to induce Fred Cook, F. C. Ellwell and other noted local amateurs to enter the tournament, and even offered the two gentlemen named the sum of $500 each if they would compete, and a similar sum if they would finish.

Harry A. Mathews states that he will never enter a contest. He takes great delight in riding his wheel all over the country at a moderate pace, but racing, he says, is too much of a strain on a man's system.

The Peoria (Ill.) Bicycle Club held a very successful race meet on Oct. 4th and 5th, the attendance on both days aggregating about five thousand, while among the contestants were well known amateur 'cyclists from different parts of the country, attracted by the valuable prizes offered. On the opening day tandem records at a mile and two miles were made by Lumsden and Winship of Chicago, while the former won the ten mile championship race handsomely.

SUMMARY.

One Mile Bicycle, novice—A D F Simmons, Chicago, first, H G Baine, Chicago, second. Time 2m 52s.

Two Mile Tandem Bicycle—A E Lumsden and H R Winship, Chicago, first; Bert Myers and H Bates, Peoria, second. Time 5 m 21⅘s, which is now the world's record.

One Mile Bicycle, 3:10 class—G E Kurtz, Chicago, first; G K Barrett second. Time 2m 46⅕s.

Two Mile Safety Bicycle—Bert Meyers, 125yds, Peoria, first; D E Avery, 235yds, Jacksonville, Ill., second. Time 5m 41⅕s.

Three Mile Team Race—Chicago Cycling Club, 118 points, first; Kenwood Cycling Club, Kenwood. Ill., 101 points, second; Peoria Bicycle Club, 51 points, third. Time 8 m 46s.

One Mile, Peoria Bicycle Club—H J Smyth, first; H Bates second. Time 3m 1⅕s.

Five Miles, Illinois Division L A W Championship—F H Tuttle, Chicago, first; Bert Myers, Peoria, second; H R Winship, Chicago, third. Time 15m 18s.

Two Mile Bicycle—First heat: R W Knisely, 220 yds, Chicago, first; F L Dole, 175yds, Chicago, second. Time 5 m 31s. Second heat: A G Harding, 160yds, St. Louis, first; G E Kurtz, 220 yds, Chicago, second. Time 5m 34s. Final heat: Kurtz first; George M Skeer, Chicago, second. Time 5m 28s.

One Mile Tandem Bicycle, record trial—A E Lumsden and H R Winship, Chicago Cycling Club, rode the mile in 2m 33s, breaking all records.

One Mile Bicycle—First heat: V P Ring, 85yds, St. Louis, first; G H Pratt, 110yds, second. Time 3m. Second heat: A G Harding, 85yds, St. Louis, first; George M Skeer, 75yds. Chicago, second. Time 2m 55 2 5s.

One Mile—A G Harding, 85 yds, St. Louis, first; H R Winship. 20yds, Chicago, second; V P Ring, 85yds, St. Louis, third. Time 2m 45 4-5s.

One Half Mile Safety Bicycle, Championship Ill. Division L A W—W C Thorne, Chicago, first; Bert Myers, Peoria, second. Time 6m 17 2-5s.

One Mile Bicycle, open—Bert Myers, Chicago, first; A E Dumsden, Chicogo, second; F H Tuttle, Chicago, third; A C Banker, New York, fourth. Time 2m 48s.

One Mile Safety Bicycle, open—W D Banker, New York, first; W C Thorne, Chicago, second; Bert Myers, Peoria, third. Time 3m 29 4 5s.

One Mile Bicycle, boys under 16—A H Wood, Jacksonville Ill, first. W E Lauren, Peoria, second. Time 3m 31s.

Ten Mile Scratch Bicycle—A E Lumsden, Chicago, first; George A Thorn, Chicago, second; Bert Myers, Peoria, third; F H Tuttle fourth. Time 31m 53s.

One Mile Consolation Bicycle—M Bowber, Chicago, first; G H Pratt, Chicago, second. Time 3m 8s.

One Mile Unicycle—Bert Myers, Peoria, first. Time 3m 51 4-5s.

The joint tournament which will be held at Napa on Thanksgiving Day promises to be a big success. The following well-known amateurs are practicing daily, and will compete in the races: Plummer, Doane, Richardson, Hodgkins, Siebe and several others. List of entries at Bay City Wheelmen Club Rooms, 230 Van Ness Ave. The track at Napa on which the races will take place is a mile round, and is composed of hard clay. It is just suited for the wheel, and a good many records stand in danger of being broken. The Bay City Wheelmen Drill Corps exhibition at Napa preceding the grand ball, will have a great many new features in movements. Several associations at Napa intended holding a joint ball on Thanksgiving night, but they all gave up their rights to attend the cycling ball. The following is a list of the races:

1—One-mile novice.
2—Quarter-mile dash.
3—One-mile safety novice.
4—Three-mile handicap.
5—One-mile safety scratch.
6—Five-mile handicap.
7—Two-mile safety, handicap.
8—One-mile scratch.

The one mile handicap race at the Olympic Athletic Club games, November 28th, will bring out a large field of competitors. Several riders from the San Francisco Bicycle Club, Alameda Scorchers and Oakland Wheelmen will take part in it. The boys think that on account of the meeting being held at the Bay District track, a few more bicycle events should be added to the programme.

Fonda has his eye on the safety races at Napa, and if he is in good trim, some of the other riders will sweat.

JOTTINGS FROM THE EAST.

Sidney Thomas, the English champion runner, will attempt to break the one-hour record at the open handicap meeting of the National Cross-Country Association at the Staten Island A. C. grounds this afternoon.

A match to walk ten miles for $200 and the championship of the State, between John Commons, of Ansonia, and Patrick O'Keefe, of New Haven, Ct, took place at the latter city, in Tingue Rink, on Saturday evening, October 12th. Commons won by two laps in 1h. 27., according to the timers' return.

The annual competitions for the boxing championship of New York State are fixed to take place at Parepa Hall, Third Avenue and Eighty-sixth Street, on the evening of January 25, 1890. The tournament will be held under the auspices of the Pastime Athletic Club.

A. B. George and J. C. Devereaux, both of the Manhattan Athletic Club, are matched to run a half mile, for a prize, on the club grounds, Eighth Avenue and Eighty-sixth Street. This should be a race worth a journey to see.

CLUB JOTTINGS.

The Pacific Athletic Club has been admitted into the Pacific Coast Amateur Athletic Association. We are pleased to know that the P. A. C. is now on a footing with the other associate clubs, and there is not the slightest doubt but that inside of a year this young organization will prove a thorn in the sides of the Olympic and University Athletic Clubs.

The Golden Gate Club should make an effort to revive its amateur branch.

The annual Fall, handicap meeting of the Olympic Athletic Club will be held at the Bay District track on Thanksgiving Day, November 28th. The following is a list of the events:

100-yard maiden race.
120-yard handicap race.
220-yard scratch race.
440 yards, Hammersmith medal.
880-yard handicap race.
One-mile handicap race.
One-mile handicap walk.
120-yard hurdle race, handicap.
100-yard professional match race between two well-known professional sparrers.
Pole vault.
Throwing 12-pound hammer.
One mile, handicap bicycle race.
Obstacle race.
Putting 16-pound shot.
Running high jump.

Entries close November 21st, at 8 P. M., sharp, at the office of the Olympic Club, 120 O'Farrell St. An entrance fee of 50 cents for each event must accompany each entry.

All the events are open with the exception of the 440-yard run, for the Hammersmith medal, which event is open only to members of clubs belonging to the Pacific Coast Amateur Athletic Association.

Blank entry forms may be had at any of the clubs and every competitor must fill out properly one of these forms and hand it in with his entrance fees. The application blank is a new feature, and it would appear from this that Captain George W. Jordan intends to be more cautious in future in handicapping the athletes.

A number of gentlemen met last Tuesday evening in the club house connected with the Shelter Cove Baths, at the foot of Mason street, for the purpose of re-organizing the Lurline Athletic Swimming and Boating Club. Officers for the ensuing year were elected, and the monthly dues were fixed at one dollar. About one hundred gentlemen signed the roll. The club intends to be very strict in regard to applications for membership, and only young men of good social standing will be admitted to the club. Amongst the charter members are several well known amateur swimmers, boxers, oarsmen, out-door athletes and wrestlers. Competent instructors have been engaged and apparently there is a very bright future in store for this new organization.

THE FARM.

The Holstein.

Our breed is a conquering breed. In this fact we have unquestionable proof of its superior merits. It is found in all the richer dairy sections of Europe. By continued crossing upon the native cattle of Belgium and France, it has produced the Flemish or Flamande, Boulonnaise and the Artesienne breeders of those countries. From it have sprung the Oldenburg and Breitenburg breeds of Germany, and the Cholmogorian, the favorite breed of Northern Russia. Compare this work with what has been accomplished by the breeds of the Channel Islands. They claim an origin equally ancient, Their situation, a few miles off the coast of France, gives them equal opportunities. There have been no laws against their introduction into any country. And yet we find them occupying no important position in Europe outside of the British Islands, nor have they orginated or given character to any sub-breed. These are simply facts, and it seems to us that they have resulted from the great universal law of nature that the fittest will survive and prevail. Perhaps some one will inquire why our breed has not also prevailed in England and conquered the Channel Islands. If there were no other reason, surely the law that no foreign cattle shall be imported into the Channel Islands, that has been rigidly enforced for a hundred years or more, and similar laws in England at different times and for shorter periods, have not given it fair opportunities to do so. The fact that it commenced such a conquest in England before such laws were in existence, and from it originated the Shorthorn breed is very good proof of its ability. We refer to these facts not for the purpose of irritating those who handle the Channel Island breeds in this country, but to remind them that it is probably the wiser course for them to join with us in fighting the common enemy, "the scrub," rather then sneering at our cattle and bringing our breeders to cross swords with them.—Hol. Fr. Register.

Jersey Cattle.

North British Agriculturist: "At the luncheon which preceded Lord Hampden's sale of pure-bred stock at Glynde, his lordship said that on account of the depressed prices for grain farmers must now look to stock as the greatest source to profit. He himself took to dairying on a rather large scale about four years ago; he began to set up a Jersey herd, some descendants of which would be sold that day. He was quite aware that many farmers looked upon the Jersey as a very pretty animal, and that she was called "the gentleman's cow." As a dairyman he had had some experience both with respect to Jersey and other stock, and without saying anything against any other stock he wished to say something in favor of Jersey stock. For the production of cream and butter and the best class of milk—high-class milk—there was nothing like the Jersey cow. He had been frequently told that a good Jersey cow ought to produce one pound of butter a day. Well, he kept a herd of about fifty Jersey cows, and he was now milking from forty-four, the others being near calving, etc. His lordship then gave some figures relating to the produce of his herd, showing that on August 15th forty-four Jersey cows milked 84 gallons in twenty-four hours. This yielded 36 quarts of cream, while the cream produced 44 pounds of butter. Thus it would be seen that each cow on the average produced one pound of butter—a very remarkable circumstance. Of course, everybody who understood dairying would know very well that some of those cows must have produced a great deal more than one pound of butter and some considerably less. If anybody would take the trouble to work out these figures, they would see how profitable breeding was for the purpose of producing cream and butter. Where it was more profitable to produce beef, or milk of an inferior quality, on a farm, he would not advocate the Jersey as a desirable animal to rear, but where the object was to get a large return of cream and butter there was no cow like it. It had also been said that the Jersey was delicate. He, however, did not find it so; his herd went out every day in the winter time, unless it was extremely windy and wet. It was wet they did not like. He had found the Jerseys remarkably healthy, and it was a singular thing that during the short time he had been getting his herd together he had not lost a single cow through milk fever. The Jerseys also had a great advantage with respect to early maturity, and he had several heifers before they were two years old giving two or three gallons a day."

Actinomyhosis—"Big Head" or "Big Jaw"—in Cattle.

Ancient medical and veterinary literature contains ample descriptions of this disease, which proves that it has existed among domestic animals since the earliest dawn of civilization among mankind in Europe. Nevertheless, its true nature remained a mystery until modern veterinarians became experts in the management of the microscope. It has been known under a great variety of names at different periods of time. It is claimed that this malady is most prevalent in cattle in the southern parts of France, Germany and Italy, but is rarely seen in the cold climate of northern Europe. It occurs in all classes of cattle in America, Europe, Great Britain, Ireland and the British colonies or provinces. We are not aware that this subject has ever received any attention in Africa or Asia. This disease affects all classes of domestic animals and even mankind, but is most common in cattle, while dogs and horses are almost exempt from it. The medical journals contain records of several cases occuring in mankind in Europe and in this country, but they are mainly confined to hospital practice in the large cities, and there is not yet any available information or statistics to show its prevalence among our rural population. I saw one case involving the upper and lower jaw and right side of the face of a young negro resident of Pennsylvania, but have never seen a case of this disease in any other human being.

Symptoms in Cattle.— The earliest or primary symptoms consists of a small patch of inflamed or ulcerated tissue in some part of the mouth or on the jaw bones, and in a short time those patches of diseased tissues develop into various sized tumors. Those tumors are sometimes developed very rapidly in a few weeks and at other times very slowly, and they assume a great variety of forms. The tumor may affect one or both jaw bones, and often affect the teeth and causes them to ulcerate and drop out of their sockets. The tumors are sometimes soft and jelly-like, and at other times almost as firm and hard as a bony substance. The early symptoms are usually developed without any marked inconvenience to the animal, and nothing may be noticed amiss until the presence of tumors interferes with the powers of mastication. It is generally supposed this disease is confined to the jaws, teeth, gums and cheeks; nevertheless it affects the skin, lips, tongue, palate, nostrils, throat, gullett stomach, bowels, liver, kidneys, bladder, mammary glands, muscles, and even the eyes. It must be borne in mind that the symptoms vary according to the part affected and the stage of the disease. Cattle may live several years after being attacked with this disease, but it generally progresses rapidly and the poor beast soon starves to death, or pines away with some supposed unknown disease and becomes weak and appears to die a natural death.

Nature and Cause of this Disease —It is undoubtedly a contagious and infectious disease which is due to the presence of a minute vegetable microphyte called actinomyces, which comes in contact with some abraded surface or small cut in or on the animal's body, and there locates and excites an irritation and disintegration of the tissues, which finally results in the well-known and characteristic tumors or abscesses. Inoculation has demonstrated that this disease is transmissible from one animal to another, and from man to almost any domestic animal, but I have not yet learned of the disease affecting house cats. The true nature of this disease was first learned from microscopic specimens taken from the jaws of diseased cattle, and the exact botanical nature of the vegetable fungus is not yet fully established.

Treatment.—The best and most successful treatment consists in early removal of the entire diseased tissues by a free use of the knife, and dress the surgical wounds with strong solution of carbolic acid, tincture of muriat of iron, or sulphate of copper. The tongue must be carefully scraped when it is the seat of the disease, then some of the above named remedies applied every day after a thorough scraping. The diseased products ought to be burned or buried, and the hands should be well dressed with carbolized vaseline before handling a diseased animal.

Prevention and Suppression of this Disease. — History mentions that about 5 per cent. of the cattle are affected with this disease in some parts of Europe. The sanitary laws and regulations are being amended so as to include all animals affected with this disease. Hitherto it was the custom to fatten those cattle for the butcher market, or in very bad cases just kill the animal and sell the flesh for almost any price rather than suffer a total loss of the entire carcass. I believe there is only a small fraction of one per cent. of the cattle in America affected with this disease. It would be a good policy to kill all animals affected with this disease and cremate or bury the dead bodies. Swine contract the disease from eating diseased products from other animals, especially cattle. There ought to be strict laws in every State and Territory to compel stockmen to destroy all animals affected with this disease, and then report the matter to some authorized authority who should publish an annual report stating the facts about the live-stock interests of the State or Territory. These means will soon curtail the disease or suppress it entirely in the United States. It is very dangerous to drink water out of springs, pools or streams where diseased cattle are permitted to roam over the range or even on farms.

JAMES. A. VAUGH, V. S.

What Breed of Hogs Shall I Raise.

There is a question I frequently hear asked by young men just starting into farming operation, and sometimes by others who have in contemplation a change from the store to the farm. Then again I am often asked if I do not think the Poland-China a better hog than the Berkshire. Well, now if I did it is quite likely I would be handling the former instead of the latter. I breed hogs not for fun, nor the love of them, nor do I believe any man does; but I do breed them for the money there is in them. If there is any fun in the business I confess I have been unable to discover it; and as to love I suppose I think as much of my beauties as most any breeder.

In the first place I would say this before all: The money can not be made out of swine by any half-way management. Look around you and observe the methods your neighbor employs in the breeding and feeding cattle. Also how another breeds and raises his horses and mules. Do you see any defective operations in their establishments? Therefore you must not neglect your hogs any more than they do their cattle and horses. In other words, "Governor's hogs must have governor's care." But says someone, "that is the way with yer fine hogs, they take so much nice treatment that I make more off my scrubs with no care at all." With gentlemen of these convictions I do not stop to argue. The pure-bred, pedigree hog of to-day is too firmly established to require any further arguement in his favor. If you think you are making more off your "scrub" hogs than you would by handling better bred ones, stick to them. But I will wager you one that some of your boys will see the light and some day will be found driving a fine bunch of handsome porkers, bigger than you ever raised in your life, and they won't be a year old either.

But the question, What breed of hogs shall I raise? There are good qualities in all the leading breeds, the same as there is in the different breeds of cattle; and it matters not much which breed a man selects if he does the fair thing by them. I have seen many fine lots of the several breeds. In fact an even well-fatted bunch of hogs, all of one color and uniform markings, will attract attention as they pass along and no trouble will be met with in selling them at good, quick figures.

I think the contest between the pedigreed breeds of swine has narrowed down to the Berkshire and Poland-China. It is true there are the Jersey-Reds, Chester Whites, Victorias, Yorkshires and Essex, all claiming attention, and some fine specimens of these breeds are from time to time presented by their enterprising owners, but I consider that they stand in the same light to the Berkshires and Poland-Chinas that the lesser political parties do to the Democratic and Republican parties. Of these two last breeds I consider the former the most profitable, and taking him all around the most satisfactory. The Poland is a good hog, and one hard to beat, but I tried him several years ago and discarded him for several reasons in favor of the Berkshire. In the first place he is an indolent hog, slower and less active than the Berkshire, and for that reason not likely to make so satisfactory a living where he is expected to earn it by grazing or following cattle. This great activity of the Berkshire has been a great point in his favor. If you do not feed him enough, he is going to strike out for himself and hunt it. A good clover pasture will make a Berkshire hog almost ready for market without any other food. He is the best grazing hog I know of. Then when he is driven on the scales he weighs something—nearly always being under guessed—compact, solid and closely built. No puffed out flabbiness or baggy hide. As to weight they will grow and weigh with any of them. From 150 to 300 pounds at 9 or 10 months of age is the usual weight for them if kept growing well from birth.

I speak not of greater weights which are frequently made. Then they are more prolific than the Poland-Chinas I am quite sure. Breeders of Berkshires always make a higher pig average, and I think have fewer "scrubs." About the principal objection urged against them by their competitors is their chicken eating propensity, which is like the Englishman who was arrested for stealing a wagon load of turnips, which upon investigation proved to have been a theft of one turnip which he ate in the patch. So I presume some of our antagonistic friends happened to catch one Berkshire hog eating a chicken. There is something I have never had, a chicken eating hog. It is common to see our chickens eating out of the same trough with the hogs; and they both roam in the orchards together. In fact the Berkshire hog of to-day is the standard hog and really is a part of the foundation of a number of other breeds. He is the oldest and likely to stay here the longest.

A prominent Western breeder of Poland-Chinas, has the honesty to insert the following quotation in his recent circular letter. "While this discussion about type is purely theoretical, I am free to say that I am convinced that the Berkshire hog at some period entered into the formation or improvement of the Poland-China, and that by his continual selection of small ear and Berkshire markings we are gradually bringing to the surface the Berkshire elements which lie dormant in the breed." The fact is the Berkshire will improve any hog he may be crossed upon, and in reality the Poland of to-day owes much of its good qualities to the Berkshire blood in its veins. I prefer the pure Berkshire blood alone to an adulterated article under another name. JNO. B. THOMPSON.

PLATTSBURG, Missouri, 1889.

Keep the Chickens Growing.

A great many people become careless about caring for their chickens as soon as they get them fairly well fledged and weaned; and they grow indifferent as to quantity and quality of the food and times of feeding; cease to take care that the coops are clean; in fact, let them "go as you please," and make the best of the chances they have. This is a serious error if we want early laying pullets in the fall and vigorous layers all winter. To attain these very desirable ends the chickens must be kept growing, and, as they have the growing appetite upon them, their food must be both liberal in quantity and of the best quality in order that they may secure a good growth and store up stamina to keep them laying in spite of the biting cold of winter. They should be sheltered from the burning sun of July and August, so access to shade should be given. An orchard is the best possible place to rear chickens, as it has just about the right proportion of sun and shade in alternating patches. The orchard is a good place for the chickens, and the chickens are good to place in the orchard, as they destroy a great many bugs and worms, and drop much fertilizer where it will be washed into the soil and made available for the roots of the trees.

If there is not an orchard handy the coops can be set near to detached trees in the mowing field (after the grass is cut), and if trees are not convenient take a few old boards, four or five feet long, set two stakes securely in the ground six or eight feet apart; nail a strip of furring to the stakes some two and a half or three feet from the ground and make a "lean-to" sloping to the south.

The boards should have a nail in each, securing them to the furring, to prevent a high wind blowing them away, both to keep the shelter in place and protect the chickens from loose boards flying about.

I have found that two sections of my lath fence (they are ten feet long) made a very good "lean-to." The laths are nailed the width of a lath apart, and by setting the top one so as to cover the spaces in the other it makes a light, open work roof. In this case I set the two stakes to tie the fence sections to, and then put in a small stake at each lower corner to secure the bottom in place.

After the chicks are weaned four times a day is often enough to feed, but the food should be of the best quality and liberal in quantity. The first feed should be quite early, not later than five o'clock, which gives them a good chance to forage for worms and bugs. "It's the early bird that gets the worm." The second feed should be about nine; the third about one, and the last about five. This last should be wheat or cracked corn.

My morning feed is a mash made of one-fourth potatoes boiled and mashed fine, double the quantity of boiling hot water that I have potatoes, some salt, and into it stir meal which is a third fine oatmeal, and the remainder equal parts shorts, fine feed (middlings), cornmeal and ground beef-scrap or dessicated fish. For 100 chickens I stir in a teaspoonful of Sheridan's Condition Powder twice a week; two other days in the week a teaspoonful of powdered charcoal, and every day a heaping teaspoonful of bone-meal.

This mash is stirred up as stiff as a strong arm can make it and get the meal all mixed in, and is made up the night before feeding so the hot water will swell and partially cook the meal.

We make a bread for our chickens as follows: two parts fine oatmeal, one part each cornmeal, shorts and fine feed, salt about as if for the table, mix with water and bake thoroughly. We mix up a great bread pan full of the mixture and bake ten or a dozen loaves at once. Crumbled in small pieces and soaked for half an hour in skim milk (then the milk drained off) before feeding, and the chicks go for it as if it were a great treat, and they thrive on it. This soaked bread is usually one of the midday feeds, and coarsest oatmeal moistened with sweet milk is the other; either is good for nine o'clock or one, and convenience decides which shall be which.

FRESH MEAT

should be given to growing chicks about twice a week This may be the lean trimmings from the butcher's, boiled and chopped fine. We have found that it was a good plan to stir in coarse oat meal with the chopped meat, mixing them thoroughly, and making of it one of the mid-day feeds. The pot-liquor in which the meat has been boiled (or any meat boiled) should be used in making up the morning mash, preferable on a day when the meat is not fed.

Care must be taken that the meat fed to chicks is sweet. A lady correspondent in Maine tells us she lost over a hundred chicks last year through feeding them tainted meat. She did not say whether the meat was cooked or raw. Sometimes meat which is close upon the border of over-ripeness may be made sweet by cooking it, and a pinch of powered charcoal in the water helps to sweeten it.

Keep clean, fresh water always accessible, and see that the basins are rinsed thoroughly before refilling. If the chicks scratch over the basin a small clean stone, the size of one's fist, set in the middle of will hold it down,

A BRIEF SKETCH OF SUFFOLK PARK.

A Veteran Reinsman's Recollections of the Famous Track.

"So Suffolk Park is to be cut up into building lots," said Micheal Goodin' now proprietor of the Bingham House, but whose early life was spent among the trotter's as a trainer and driver. "Well, I am sorry," he continued, "for I have seen many a good race there. I remembered when Jim Kelly built the track. It was in 1859, and Kelly went there to live. He was one of the most famous gambiers ever known in Philadelphia, but he made a mistake in the calculations about Suffolk Park. The club house was then within the inclosure. It was his intention to build a magnificent club-house where the present grand stand is located, and fit it up in gorgeors style. No drink was to be had for less than 25 cents. But he found that Philadelphia was not educated up to such extravagance. It took nearly all the money he had to purchase the grounds and build the track, and he never got enough ahead to carry out his pet idea. There are seventy-three acres in the property, and Kelly paid about $200 per acre for it.

THE OPENING RACE WAS A FARCE.

"Kelly opened the track on September 8, 1859, with a race for a $1500 purse between Flora Temple, then the regining queen of the trotting turf, and the bay mare Princess, which was brought on from California especially to meet Flora. People thought the California mare a world beater, and a crowd of 10,000 paid $1 each to see the race. It proved a farce, however, and practically killed all public interested in the Suffolk track. Flora Temple won the first heat in 2:43, and she could have distanced her competitor. In order to satisfy the people distance was waived in the third heat, which Flora Temple won in 2:23. This was then looked upon as very fast time, especially over a new track.

A DISGRACEFUL SCENE.

"On July 10, 1860, Flora Temple and Geo. M. Patchen met at Suffolk in a two-mile and repeat race to harness, and the most disgraceful scene ever witnessed on a race track followed. Mr. Waltemeyer, the owner of Patchen, would not allow his horse to start until his share of the purse was in his hands. William McDonald, the owner of Flora Temple, objected to this, and the whole afternoon was spent in wrangling over the matter. Kelly finally placed the money in the hands of a committee, which paid Waltemeyer his $1000, and the race was started shortly before 6 o'clock. Kelly's gang then invited Waltemeyer into the club house and cooly took the money away from him. The mare was a big favorite in the betting, but Patchen could have beaten her easily on that day. He won the first heat in 4:51½ with clubs, rods, blankets and umbrellas thrown in the face of the backers of Flora Temple. The excitement was terrific, and there seemed a likelihood of a riot. The friends of Patchen advised "Dry" Tallman, the driver of the horse, not to head the mare again, since his life was in danger. Open threats were made to shoot him if he dared to again take the lead. Kelly himself was seen to give a revolver to one of his toughs, and heard to give instructions to shoot if Patchen showed in front. Tallman took the advise of his friends, and drove behind Flora until he reached the gate near the railroad on the back stretch, which was then used for teams. This was opened for him by his friends, and he drove out and did not stop until he reached Point Breeze Park.

PHILLIPS TURNED AN HONEST PENNY.

"John Hunter succeeded Kelly as proprietor in 1863, and he tried to establish running races at Suffolk, but the rough element disguested everybody, and the attempt was a failure. The pickpockets held sway, and they stood people up whenever there was a possibility of profit. One man who was robbed of his watch recovered it through the interven tion of friends. When he went to get it he was told to select it from among half a bushel of other stolen watches. Kelly sold the track to D. K. Houtz, the lumber dealer at Eleventh street and Washington avenue, who in turn sold it to John H. Phillips in 1886 for $37,000, and Phillips has realized handsomely on the investment, having received, it is said, $76,-500 for the property.

PLUCK, NOT LUCK, CAUSED SUCCESS.

"I took charge of the track in 1884, and opened with a series of races between the buckskin gelding General McClellan and the bay mare May Queen, owned by John E. Turner. There were to have been four races, mile heat to harness, three in five; mile heat to wagon, three in five, and two-mile heats to harness and wagon, three in five, May Queen won the first three races, and I forfeited for the fourth. I kept Suffolk five years, and made money there. I often gave a $200 purse, and took in $2000 at the gate, besides about $1000 over the bar. People called it luck; I say it was pluck. I did not sit around waiting for custom. I made custom by talking up match races, etc. I seldom got more than three or four hours sleep during the warm weather.

SOME NOTED RACES.

"Budd Doble first sat behind Dexter at Suffolk. That was in July, 1866, when he beat George M. Patchen Jr., in 2:29, 2:25, 2:32½. Truesdale & Fawcett then owned the great gelding, and Doble drove him in all of his races after that. Goldsmith Maid beat American Girl the first time at Suffolk in 1869. It was one of the greatest races ever trotted, and the drivers used reins, whips and feet to urge their mares along. Goldsmith Maid won in straight heats amid great excitement. John Stewart, the long distance trotter, did ten miles inside of thirty minutes at Suffolk while I had the track.

M GOOSLER THE FLEA-BITTEN GRAY.

"The races between the pacers McGoosler, owned by Sam Keyes, of Pittsburg, Pa., and Guernsey, owned by Joseph Shoemaker, of this city, afforded a lot of sport. McGoosler was a flea-bitten gray, picked up in Kentucky during war times. Felix Lafferty purchased the horse at public sale in Indianapolis for $300, and Sam Keyes became half owner. Keyes subsequently paid Lafferty $300 for his half, and a year or two later sold McGoosler to Pat Ring, of St. Louis, for $5000. McGoosler's speed was never fully developed, but he showed quarters in 0:33. Dexter was the only horse that ever beat him. At Suffolk McGoosler beat Guernsey, Abe Johnson's Baltimore colt, and others in all sorts of races. In one he pulled a wagon against Guernsey to saddle, and then I had to put up $1200 to $1000 to get the match. McGoosler won in straight heats. When the chariot racing was first introduced, I had one at Suffolk on the fourth of July, and took in $2000. John Russell took Suffolk when I left it, and died there. W. H. Doble and W. W. Blair had it for two seasons in partnership, and John Ross and Steel & Galway also had it before John H. Phillips took charge."—Philadelphia Record.

THE ORCHARD.

What Varieties of Fruits to Plant.

Next to the selection of your land, for an orchard, the choice of varieties is of the greatest importance, as the yield and profits depend entirely upon the proper selection from the thousand and one different varieties of fruits. From the time that the orchardist first engages in the business, until he becomes old and experienced, this question of the proper, most desirable and best adapted fruits to the land that he is cultivating, forms one continual thought in his mind, only interrupted occasionally by the busy seasons of his work during the year, and even then being brought to his notice by a suggestion now and then from the canner or fruit shipper on the desirability of this variety for canning, or the qualities possessed by another for long distance shipping or for drying, thus subjecting them all to the severest criticism. Many times the suggestions thus made are entirely too sweeping in their way, and made for reasons best known to the fruit shippers, acting in their own interest in the matter, and consequently apt to mislead a great many if not careful, but as a general thing it is well to consider thoroughly, and heed, any hints that may come from these sources. There is hardly a horticultural society anywhere but what brings up this question at sometime during the year, generally before or in the planting season, and when not brought up as a subject, it is talked of whenever opportunity offers during the general discussions. How often we hear the question asked, Does this variety do well in your locality? or, What kind of soil does it require? and hundreds of other questions of the same tenor, all of which help to give us a clearer idea of the production and adaptability of different varieties to our climate.

When the orchard industry was first actively started in this State, and the foundation laid for what is now one of its chief resources, the varieties planted were those that were considered the best in the Eastern and New England States. Our early planters had nothing to guide them in their selections excepting the "Missions" where the olive and a few Mission vines flourished; they wanted something better, so naturally selected those that had done the best in their old homes. The result of this was that it gave them an insight into what kinds would do the best here. It was found that a great many varieties that produced so heavily in their acclimated places would bear scarcely anything here, while others would do remarkably well. What was the result of this? They kept right on planting those that they had tried and knew would succeed, and grafting over the varieties that were a failure. Then they still kept on importing new varieties not only from the East, but from all parts of Europe and other places where fruits of the temperate zone are produced and tropical fruits for the different parts of the State that will grow them successfully, so that you can go to scarcely any part of the State to day without getting a pretty good idea of what varieties succeed in any particular neighborhood by judging from the orchards where they have been thoroughly tried. But this is not all; a variety that finds favor to-day may not be worth growing a few years hence. New varieties are continually coming up and others being brought more favorably to our notice, besides public opinion very often demands that we make a change, the same as in everything else. If they take a fancy to some particular variety one season, they are apt to ask for it the next, and some other kind has got to take a back seat in consequence.

As competition becomes close in the fruit business shippers will not take the chances on shipping an inferior variety, when an abundance of merchantable fruit is to be obtained. This would have done, perhaps, a few years back, when there was but a small quantity shipped East, and when double and triple the price was obtained for it that there is now, when the shippers require nothing but the very best varieties. In making your selection you must understand the nature of the soil on the land that you intend planting, both top and sub-soil, the climate and demands of the market. Then go to the oldest orchard that has been planted near by and get what information you can on the varieties that you have in mind to plant, see how situated, and how your soil compares with that of this orchard, and then draw your own conclusions, using your judgment, together with what experience you have had in the matter, to decide which are the most desirable varieties. This is generally the surest way of finding out what is most suitable for our land, as no safer way can be had of knowing what will grow well on a piece of ground than by judging from what is planted alongside of it. However, there are a great many other things to be considered. What we want is not to grow the most common sorts, but to raise what is the largest, best flavored, most showy and most productive. Take our most common varieties, and they are the heaviest bearers, but the higher the quality of the fruit the less it bears and the harder it is to grow. It is just the same with a fine horse; the purer the stock the more care and attention will a colt require to bring it to maturity than if it were a common scrub. The comparison may be a little difficult for a great many to understand, but there is nothing to show but that plant life is the same as animal life in a great many particulars. Another thing to be taken into account is the readiness which some varieties have to contract disease more than others, and also the way that some are attacked by insects to a greater or less extent. Those varieties that are the most subject in this respect should be culled out, and others of a stronger resistance put in their place. It is best and safest to grow some variety that you are perfectly acquainted with, rather than one you know nothing about. A great many mistakes are made by unconsciously experimenting on too large a scale by setting out varieties that you know nothing about and have no reliable information of, when a few trees would answer the purpose, and then if they did well plant on a larger scale.

Without enumerating a long list of varieties to select from, as is often done, we will leave the reader to refer to the authorities in connection with these ideas, believing that he can do fully as well as by listing a lot of varieties which can be seen in Downing fully as well. The State contains all kinds of climate, and there is probably not a variety of deciduous fruits mentioned but what will succeed admirably somewhere in the State.

It is rumored at Newmarket that Edwin Martin, the jockey, is returning from Buenos Ayres, not being satisfied with his prospects, where it is said the rules and regulations respecting jockeys and trainers are very strict. No one, says the Hawk, engaged in the occupation of training or riding is allowed to bet, or even to be seen in the ring. This has prevented several from going to South America who had made arrangements to do so. Possibly this may be the reason that none of the talent go from here, for trainers and jockies don't care to rely too much on friends, and like to see for themselves how the money is placed.

AUCTION SALE

OF

Thoroughbred

Short-Horn Cattle!

—AT—

Agricultural Park, Sacramento

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1889,

AT 1 P. M.

40 Head of

Cows, Heifers and Bulls.

That have been bred for the past 23 years with a view to producing both milk and beef. Among them will be some cows in full milk and others in calf to first-class Shorthorn bulls belonging to ROBT. T ASHBURNER, Baden Station, San Mateo Co., who is about to give up Baden Farm.

Shortly after the above sale will be sold the entire stock of Farming Implements, Dairy Cows, Brood Mares and other Horses, including the Bay Stallion Suffolk Prince, who stands 17 hands 3 inches, weighs 1,,50 pounds, and is kind in all sorts of work.

Catalogues can be had of

R. ASHBURNER.

Or of KILLIP & CO., Auctioneers,

22 Montgomery St., S F.

GRAND

Trotting Matinee

AT THE

Bay District Track

Saturday, Nov. 2d, 1889,

The entire proceeds to be devoted to the Completion of the

GOLDEN GATE PARK

SPEED DRIVE,

TO BE GIVEN UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE Pacific Coast Trotting-Horse Breeders Ass'n.

ADMISSION - - One Dollar.

Tickets for sale at the office of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, 313 Bush Street, and at all prominent resorts in the city.

Postponed Meeting

—OF THE—

PACIFIC COAST

Trotting Horse Breeders

Association,

AT THE

Bay District Track,

Saturday, Nov. 9, 1889,

Races.  Races.

Two-Year-Old Trotting Class

Entries: REGAL WILKES,
BOW BELLS,
MISTA.

2:30 CLASS, TROTTING

PURSE $2,000.

Lord Byron named by Marcus Daly.
Figaro named by Souther Farm.
Nona Y. named by Napa Stock Farm.
Balkan named by Irvin Ayres.
Alfred G. named by Geo. E. Guerne.

AMONG THE EVENTS OF THE DAY.

SUNOL will start in the Stanford Stakes to beat her record, 2 13¾.

SCAMBOL, the great stallion, will start to lower his record (2:14¾), and other famous trotters will start against time.

Admission to the Grounds and Grand-stand $1.

J. H. WHITE, President.
WILFRED PAGE, Secretary.

UNCLE SAM'S HORSES.

How He Gets Them and How He Disposes of Them When Useless.

When, upon the occasion of any public parade, the cavalry stationed at the garrison at Fort Myer forms part of the procession, the magnificent appearance of the horses excites the universal admiration of the spectators, says an exchange. Their size, for they are above the ordinary build, suggests in itself the idea of strength, while the uniformly shaped head and large, prominent eyes tell of the intelligence of the animal. The horse is as much of the cavalryman's outfit as is his saber or his carbine, and he must needs possess the strength to endure the long, forced marches and the understanding to be of the most possible benefit to his rider in fighting by requiring the least attention.

It is said that France expends annually $300,000 in the improvement of her horses, with a view of obtaining hardy bred animals, whose endurance makes them especially valuable for such irregular service as is required of the Cossacks of Russia, the Uhlans of Germany, and our mounted infantry.

The United States does not spend nearly so much, but it secures a class of horses high above the average, and by proper and humane treatment loses but a small percentage of them. Moreover, the animal when it becomes the property of Uncle Sam, fares better than its fellows, and ordinarily its life is continued in the service for some years beyond that of the horses of other armies.

Congress annually appropriates about $200,000 to be expended in the purchase of horses. This amount is divided pro rata among the divisions of the army, those on the Atlantic coast not requiring as large a sum as the calvary on the frontier, where the life of the animal is not altogether one of lazy contentment. In Arizona, especially, the equine mortality is greater than in any other section, and more horses become disabled and unfit for further service. The burning sands and alkali deserts are conducive to blindness and diseases of the hoof, and the animal has either to be shot or sold. The lack of proper pasturage and feed also cuts an important figure in the life of the cavalry horse in the remote garrisons of the west, for while his eastern brother is feeding luxuriantly on a full allowance of oats and corn twice a day and sleeping in a comfortable stable, the western horse is making a scanty meal on husks, and sleeping in a ramshackle building, that seems to have been especially constructed for a free circulation of air.

There are nearly 10,000 horses in use by the United States army. Of this number about 10 per cent. are sold annually because of their unfitness for further cavalry or artillery duty and about five per cent. are lost by death. So, in order to maintain the standard, it is necessary to purchase about 1,500 animals every year. When the stock of a garrison needs replenishing the quartermaster general's department is notified. An advertisement inviting bids is inserted in the prominent papers and a contract entered into with the lowest bidder to deliver the horses at the desired point, if, after a suitable inspection by the Secretary of War, they meet the requirement of the standard fixed by the army regulations. The regulations require that the horse shall be a gelding of uniform and hardy color; from fifteen to seventeen hands high; from four to eight years old and weighing between 900 and 1 200 pounds for a cavalry horse and between 1,050 and 1,300 for artillery horses. There are other requirements necessary, such as the general build of animals and their health. Whenever it becomes necessary to purchase the half-breed horses of California or Southern Texas the standard of the height is reduced to fourteen and one-half hands Long-legged, loose-jointed, long bodied, and narrow-chested horses as well as those which are restive or vicious, are rejected.

Most of the horses used in the army are purchased in St. Louis and Louisville, although the general rule of late has been to obtain the animals in the neighborhood in which they are desired for use, the idea being to obtain thoroughly acclimated animals. The average cost of a horse is a trifle over $134.

As soon as the purchase is completed the horse is branded with the letters "U. S." on the left fore shoulder, and a complete descriptive list is made of him, which always accompanies him whenever he is transferred. The horses are distributed by the regimental commander, and the riders or drivers are not allowed to exchange them or permit any one else to use them.

With every troop of cavalry a record of the animal is kept, containing the description of every one received and transferred, showing the kind, name, age, size, color, marks, brands, or other peculiarities; how and when acquired and disposed of, the name of its rider and driver, and the use to which it is applied.

The forage ration for a horse is fourteen pounds of hay and twelve pounds of oats, corn or barley, and in special cases of hard service or exposure the grain ration is usually increased three pounds. In localities where good grazing is practicable for a considerable portion of the day, or during seasons when little labor is required of the animals, the ration is usually reduced.

The animals usually last about six years, and at the end of that time are sold at auction, or before if they are disabled so as to be unfit for service. When sold the officer puts another brand on the horse, making it impossible for the horse to be sold to the goverment at some other point. Condemned animals do not bring much. They are worthless for carriage purposes and are too much worn out to be fit for the more arduous work of street-car hauling They are usually sold to contractors who employ them in hauling small loads. But the army horse does not last long after he drops out of the service. Usually he does not amount to much when the government has no further use for his services, and his career thereafter is short and uneventful.

BILLIARDS.

A grand treat at this acknowledged scientific game of all games, will be given the lovers of billiards in the coming match game between Messrs. McCleery and Saylor at the Cafe Royal, on Nov. 15, 1889, commencing at 8 P. M.

The game 1000 points up, even, for $2,000 straight or full 3 ball game. These experts with the cue have contested many times; any and all contests have been great betting games. In fact anyone could wager almost any amount on his favorite.

Mr. Saylor hails from San Jose at present, being employed by the St. Clair Club as manager, while Professor McCleery, the well known instructor at billiards here, has the management of the Baldwin billiard room.

ROD.

The muddy state of the water on Sunday and during the early part of the week prevented the fish in the bay from biting.

Now that the wet weather has set in the rock cod fishing season will soon be in order. In the winter time, especially if there is plenty of rain, herring spawn is generally very plentiful around the bay, and the rock cod accept this food in preference to the bait usually offered them by the anglers.

It is said that salmon are very plentiful in the bay, and that by selecting proper grounds and using the right kind of tackle a fisherman would find no difficulty in catching several of this species of fish.

The rain has freshened up the creeks in the interior, and good trout fishing should be had for the next week.

Large quantities of carp are caught every day, and the markets are full of these fish.

Black bass abound in Monterey bay, and the fishermen are reaping a rich harvest.

Should the weather prove mild to-morrow there is a possibility that good rock cod fishing may be enjoyed at different points around the bay.

BASE BALL.

The rain of the past week has caused severe disappointment to the lovers of the National game not only in this city, but also in Stockton and Sacramento, as it has caused a postponement of nearly all the scheduled games. They will all be played off, however, on open dates before the season closes, so that the full schedule will have been completed by November 24th.

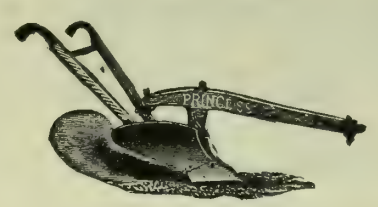
Robinson's baby act is affording his brother managers lots of mirth. They say he has no case at all, and that Clarke will be allowed to finish the season with San Francisco.

It is possible that manager Harris will next year be like Othello; his occupation gone. The directors of the Stockton Club have sunk about $8,000 so far this season, and there is no possibility of their pulling it out of the hole. With this loss staring them in the face, they are seriously contemplating the advisability of surrendering their charter. Harris, in that case, would either be forced to resume control of his own team, the 'Frisco's, or get some other city to buy the franchise, or else sit on the bleachers and twirl his thumbs. It is not likely that the latter would be his lot, for both Fresno and San Jose are anxious to join the league, while there are many who think this city should have two clubs. There are objections to both of the places named; Fresno is too far away as long as the league only has four clubs, while the $50 license for Sunday ball games in San Jose would prevent a club from making any money in that saintly village A number of Stockton business men are anxious to have that city retain its representation in the league, and an effort is now being made to raise money enough to continue the club at least another year. The matter will be definately settled within the next three weeks. If the Slough city should decide to retain its charter, it would be a most excellent thing for the league directors to raise the membership to six clubs, and admit Santa Rosa, which is a great ball town, and give this city another club; or if that obnoxious license can be repealed, let San Jose into the league. With six clubs, the interest in the race would greatly increase, and the patronage would consequently be much larger. Let us have six clubs by all means.

Sacramento will be in the race next season with as strong a club as can be got together. If a competent manager is also secured the venture will prove a little mint for the stockholders, for while the club has lost money this year, with proper management the capital city is the best ball town in the state outside of San Francisco.

Jim Hart and his combination of Boston players will be here in about a month, and will play the opening game at the Haight street grounds in the forenoon of Thanksgiving Day. Who their opponents will be has not yet been settled upon, but the home club will probably have the honor of being the first to face the visitors. In that event the Oaklands will be their opponents in the afternoon. Hart is well and favorably known to the patrons of the game in this state, and everybody would like to see him make money out of the trip. He has got a great combination, and if it plays the ball it is capable of, Jim will have no cause to complain of his treatment. If on the other hand the men he has under him think they can drink all night and go out on the diamond with an edge on that would cut paper, and draw a crowd to see a repetition of the Chicago-All America exhibitions, then the visitors will have chance to count the ties between here and Beantown, and there are a good many of them too. San Francisco has had enough of Eastern base ball stars coming out here and giving such putrid exhibitions as would cause them to be mobbed if they were at home, and will not be robbed in this manner any longer. They are always willing to patronize good ball games, but in the future rotten work on the diamond means starvation for the players

It is reported that Robinson has decided to keep all of his present team next year, with the exception of Coughlan and Hardie, the two men who have placed Oakland where it stands now. Well, the Colonel's idocy will be some other manager's great gain, for Hardie is now the star batter, not only of the league, but of the entire country, while Coughlan is one of the best pitchers that has ever stepped into a California box. By the way, if this kind of work goes on much longer, how long will the Oakland Directors keep Robinson?



President A. G. Spalding of the Chicago Club is up in arms and will fight the brotherhood to the bitter end. He will swear out injunctions against his reserved players to prevent their signing with another club, and thus force them to play with Chicago or quit the business.

Pete Meegan has regained his old time form and is now pitching as good ball as he ever did.

O. Neill's hoodlumism continues to bring down upon him the well-merited condemnation of every baseball writer and patron in the State. Robinson pays all the fines that are imposed upon him, so that he cares nothing for the umpire's authority. It is high time that little Johnny Mone put some stiffening in his backbone and called the fellow down for his actions have become simply disgusting.

Can it be possible that the members of the local team feel sore over Romeo Barry's release and are trying to down Clarke? It certainly looks so, for after giving the Omaha man about as rocky support as a pitcher ever received in his last game here, the team went to Stockton last Saturday and backed up Meegan superbly. Such work don't go and if any ball player gives evidence of trying to down another he will receive ample notice to that effect in these columns.

The next two weeks will settle pretty conclusively whether the home club has any show for the pennant or not.

The Princess

IS THE

Lightest Draft, Does the Best Work, and is

BEST

Chilled Plow ever offered on the Pacific Coast. This

CHILLED PLOW

Has been adopted by us after dynamometer field tests, which demonstrated its worth, and we then

MADE

Arrangements for the Pacific Coast Agency.

Circular and Price Lists sent on application.

Baker & Hamilton

SOLE AGENTS,

SAN FRANCISCO

AND

Sacramento, Cal.

DEALERS IN

Agricult'l Implements,

ROAD CARTS,

Buggies, Wagons,

BLACKSMITH SUPPLIES,

And Wholesale Hardware

By-Laws

—AND—

Rules and Regulations

—OF THE—

NATIONAL

Trotting Association

ALSO THE

AMERICAN

Trotting Association,

AND THE

PACIFIC COAST BLOOD-HORSE ASSOCIATION.

With Betting Rules.

For Sale at the Office of the

Breeder and Sportsman,

313 Bush St., S. F., Cal.

Price, 25c. each.

By Mail, Postage Paid, 30c. each.

PERRIER-JOUËT

& Co.

EPERNAY

CHAMPAGNE

W. B CHAPMAN,

Sole Agent for Pacific Coast.

For sale by all first-class Wine Merchants and Grocers.

THE BUCKINGHAM.

OLD STRAIGHT WHISKIES.

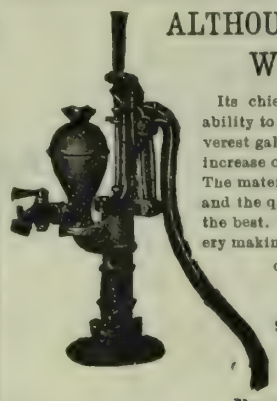
141 Montgomery Street.

303 Bush Street, S. F.

M. J. BALFE, Proprietor.

J. O'KANE,

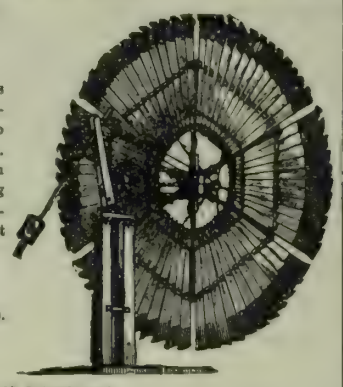
767 MARKET STREET.



Horse Boots, Clothing and Furnishings,

For Track, Driving Training and Stable.

Every requisite for Horsemen.



Harness, Medicines, Etc.

ALTHOUSE VANELESS WINDMILL.

Its chief points of merit are: Its ability to take care of itself in the severest gale—being so arranged that no increase of wind increases its speed. The material used in its construction and the quality of workmanship being the best. The simplicity of its machinery making it almost impossible to get out of order.

Send for Special Prices.

We are Manufacturers of all kinds of

Cistern, Well and Force Pumps.

Adapted for every kind of requirement for both hand and power use. Railroad Pumps, Steamboat Pum s Mine Pumps, Windmill Pumps, Rotary Pumps, Fire Engines, Hydraulic Rams, Hose, Garden Tools, Pump Materials and Tanks. We carry a full line of Pipe, Pipe Fittings, etc.

Send for Special Catalogue, mailed free upon application.

WOODIN & LITTLE,

509 and 511 Market Street, - - - San Francisco, Cal.

HORSES PURCHASED ON COMMISSION.

THOROUGHBREDS A SPECIALTY.

Will select and buy, or buy selected Animals for all desiring, for reasonable compensation.

KEEPS PROMISING YOUNGSTERS IN VIEW.

L. M. LASLEY, Stanford, Ky.

References:—J. W. Guest, Danville, Ky.
B. G Bruce, Lexington Ky.
S. H. Baughman, Stanford, Ky.
G. A. Lackey, Stanford, Ky.
Geo. McAlister, Stanford, Ky.
First National Bank, Stanford, Ky.

AL. LEACH & CO.

AUCTION

POOL SELLERS

Will be pleased to give terms to Racing Associations throughout the Pacific Coast. We have perfect facilities, and can give any references or security desired. Address

8 Eddy Street,

San Francisco.

Old Hermitage Whiskies

"STEINER'S,"

No. 311 BUSH STREET,

San Francisco.

Under Breeder and Sportsman Office.

KILLIP & CO.,

LIVE STOCK AND GENERAL AUCTIONEERS,

22 Montgomery Street, San Francisco

SPECIAL ATTENTION PAID TO SALES OF

High-Bred Horses and Cattle.

At auction and private sale.

Will Sell in All Cities and Counties of the State.

REFERENCES.

HON. C. GREEN, Sacramento. HON. J. D. CARR Salinas.
J. P. SARGENT, ESQ., Sargents. HON. JOHN BOGGS Colusa.
HON. L. J. ROSE, Los Angeles. HON. A. WALBATH Nevada.
J. B. HAGGIN, ESQ., San Francisco.

Represented at Sacramento by Edwin F. Smith Secretary State Agricultural Society.
At San Jose by Messrs. Montgomery & Rea, Real Estate Agents.
Being the oldest established firm in the live-stock business on this Coast, and having conducted the important auction sales in this line for the past fifteen years, amounting to one half a million of dollars, we feel justified in claiming unequaled facilities for disposing of live stock of every description, either at auction or private sale. Our list of correspondents embraces every breeder and dealer of prominence upon the Pacific Coast, thus enabling us to give full publicity to animals placed with us for sale. Private purchases and sales of live stock of all descriptions will be made on commission, and stock shipped with the utmost care. Purchases and sales made of land of every description. We are authorized to refer to the gentlemen whose names are appended.

KILLIP & CO., 22 Montgomery Street.

PASTURAGE

AND

FIRST-CLASS CARE

TAKEN OF

Gentlemen's Road Horses and Trotters.

Colts Broken and Trained to Harness or Saddle.

Twenty new Box Stalls. First-class Pasturage, and the best of care given to all horses. Terms, $4 per month. Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Address,

K. O'GRADY,

Laural Creek Farm,

SAN MATEO, CAL.

FOR  SALE

DANIEL WEBSTER,

One of the Finest Bred Stallions in the State of California.

Stands 15¾ hands high. His weight is 1,150 pounds, and his color a majestic black. He is an exceedingly stylish animal. He was foaled in June, 1881, and is by Carr's Mambrino (his mother being Beautiful Belle), he by Mambrino Patchen, he by Mambrino Chief, by Mambrino Paymaster, by imported Messenger. Daniel Webster's dam was Beautiful Bell, by Taxation, by Lexington—dam Black Swan by Messenger Carrol—his dam Messenger Maid by Cooper's Bay Messenger—Swan's first dam being Katy Aubrey, by American Eclipse—second dam Buzzard, and fourth dam Mary Grey, by imported Messenger. Can be seen at the Club Stables, 409 Taylor Street. Price within the reach of any one wanting a stallion.

Thoroughbred Pug Puppies

For Sale.

411 Ellis Street. Call between 2 and 4 P. M.

PRICE $100 EACH.

For any Kind of a

SORE THROAT

USE

McCLELLAN'S

DIPHTHERIA REMEDY

An Unfailing Cure..

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE

Breeder and Sportsman.

Matildy Sees the Races.

BY G. A. SYKES.

I was gettin' in some kindlin' 'long about dark, when Matildy sez to me, "You Silas."

"Well," sez I.

"Let's go to the hoss-races termorrer," sez she. "I hev been bearin' a powerful deal about these yere hoss races, an' I'm jest achin' fur ter see 'em."

"That settles it," I said to myself. "Anything she takes a notion ter, whether she's achin' or whether she ain't, she's agoin ter hev." Well, Matildy she sot her mind on sein' them critters run themselves ter death termorrer, an' I give in fur the sake of peace. Them weeds in the pertater patch wuz chokin' the life out of the seedlin's, an' I wuz agoiu' to wrassle with 'em in the mornin'; but twenty years experience with Matildy has larnt me that times is a good deal best if she gets her way, so I didn't say nuthin'.

'Long in the forenoon the next day I hitched up old Billy, and me an' Matildy druv off, leaving the hired gal ter tend the farm. When we come ter the track I left my old hoss at a licker store clus by, Matildy watchin me ter see that I didn't git nuthin ter drink, though I wuz jest a chokin' fur somethin'. When we sashayed onto the track we had ter pay more to get thar than 'ud kep a man of my temprit natur in licker fur three months.

"The hosses cum out fur the first race, and they wuz a pooty lot, though I wuz that dry I couldn't enjoy seein' nuthin'; still, judgin' by the looks of them hosses, oats must be mighty scarce about there. Jeewhillikins, ef I kept old Bill looking' as thin as them race hosses, the neighbors would complain to Berry Wall, the boss of the croolty ter animals society.

Matildy got excited an' hollered like the house wuz afire when they wuz finishin' the race, an' she wuz wuss yit when another lot of ribs an' legs cum out ter run, an' hollered wuss'n ever. Taint no use fur a woman ter whoop like a Injun war-dance, but I darsn't say nothin' ter Matildy, fur me an' her's been acquainted too long, an' I b'leeve in what Solomon says: "Indiscretion's the better part of valor." Give 'em their own way, an' keep yer own trap shet, that's the only way ter git along with wimmin folks.

Bein' as I'm the head of the house, I ain't agoin' ter tell no tales; but Matildy do hev one fault, she allus thinks she knows more'n any other folks, an' though I'm kinder used ter all her ways, I wuz more'n surprised when she sez ter me: "Say, you; go ter that feller in the pulpit an' bet on that hoss over there, the one that is bein' rode by the feller with the black, red an' yeller clothes on him."

Ginerly my idees agree pooty well with Matildy's, fur argyin' with her ain't no use, but I sez to myself: "I'm blamed if I'm goin' ter let my wife chuck money away on no feller with black, red an' yeller clothes on him," so I sez, kinder cautious an' coaxin' like, watchin' her face ter see the effect it projused: "Matildy, I don't b'leeve that hoss can win; s'posin' we lose the money? Us farm folks ain't able ter pull dollars offen every bush."

"You, Silas," she sez, an' I seen it wasn't no use, an' bein' as I didn't want all them folks ter think I wuz a brute fur refusin' ter please my wife, I went ter the feller in the pulpit. He wuz a bellerin' like a elefant, but when he seen me he shet his face an' leoked down at me.

"What do you call that hoss thet has the black, red an' yeller rider on him?" sez I.

"That hoss thet has the black, red an' yeller rider on him," sez he, "has the black, red an' yeller name of Blue Rock."

"Well," sez I, "I want ter put fifty cents on him fur this race."

He looked at me an' begun grinnin' an' sez: "Better buy some peanuts with your fifty cents, old four-leaf clover; $5 is the smallest I'm takin'."

Five dollars, sakes alive. It nearly took my breath away, an' I went back an' told Matildy what he said.

"I know that hoss is goin' to win," sez she, "so you just put $5 on him.'

I went off feelin' desprit. When folks has worked fur money, like I hev fur mine, its pooty hard to see it fooled away, jest becos' a feller is obliging ter his wife. May be marriage ain't no failure, but when a feller's hitched up his own idees an' opinions, if given against his wife's, comes pooty close ter bein' failures. I wuz that dry now I wuz near strangled, when I seen a bar a little ways farder down, an' the sight of it made my throat feel like dead leaves in October.

The feller that I gev the $5 to handed me a little colored bit of paper with some figurin' on it, which I thought I wus payin' pooty dear fur. I looked round fur Matildy, but she was watchin' the feller on Green Rock, or whatever the hoss wuz called, so I made a bee-line fur the bar an' got a little somethin'. I wuz scairt Matildy would be wonderin' what kep' me, so I didn't wait to hev no sugar put in, same as I ginerally does, but jest took it an' looked up at the roof through the bottom of the glass. It went to the right spot, an' I went back to Matildy with some of the discouragement worked out of me. I did a bit of se emin' to keep her between the wind an' me but she soon found that I had a breath. Good lands, how smart an' nosey some wimmen are. She didn't say much, fur which blessin' I was grateful an surprised, an' I wuz sorry now as I didn't hev the sugar in.

If Matildy wuz wild over them other two races, she wuz riproarin' crazy about this one, but I sot an' looked on as quiet as a leetle lamb. Black, red an' yeller come in fust, an' she gev me a punch in my go-to-meetin' vest an' told me fur ter go an git the money an' be blamed quick about it. I went ter the feller that I gev the $5 to, but hed ter wait in a line with a lot more fellers that wuz all smilin' with joy over winnin', but likely they didn't hev no Matildy waitin' fur the money. I gev the feller my ticket an' he gev me $30.

Sez I: "Young feller, you've gev $5 too much, fur the hoss wus five ter one, 'cordin' ter what you said before the race."

"Take yer money an' git out of that line," said he; an' a feller behind says: "Fire the jay!"

Matildy took the money an' waited till the hosses come out fur the next race; then picked out a hoss that wus 'periently tryin' ter kick a hole in the sun. She gev me twenty dollars ter put on the hoss, an' I went up to the feller an' sez: "I went ter twenty dollars on that hoss that's akicking' over there."

"There's a dozen hosses kickin' over there, old Buttermilk; which one do you mean?" sez he.

"That one with the jockey in black," sez I.

"O, that's Iuverwick. I'll give ten ter one. Who put yer on ter him?"

"Here be twenty dollars," sez I "Give me a ticket."

I watched the race, hopin' that the black jacket would git left, fur Matildy wuz crowin' so already there would be no livin' with her if that blamed hoss won. Sure enough, the onery horse pulled ahead, jest out of spite, an' come sailin' down that straight bit of track like a hired man on pay night, so I bad ter go and git the money.

The old gal wuz thinkin' by this time that she could size up the hoss that waz goin' ter win in mighty good style, an' picked out a red jacket an' cap, with a blue sash, as the colors that wuz goin' ter come in fust in the next race. Bella B wuz the name of the mare that wuz carryin' 'em, an' when Matildy heerd that twenty to one wuz bein' offered she gev' me a hundred dollars to take to the fresh feller in the pulpit givin' me a leetle advice about venturin' near the bar again. While the hosses wuz goin' ter the place where a man shook a flag at 'em the old gal wuz figurin' what she would do with the money, promisin' me two pounds of terbacker outen it, and maybe more if she felt that er way disposed.

Belle B. wuz most out of sight when the first hoss finished, an' Matildy wuz that mad she couldn't speak, an' that's sayin' a good deal, fur I ain't seen her that way but twict since I've seen her. She flounced offen the track an' wouldn't wait fur the last race. She took the lines herself an' druv' old Bill, an' the way she laid the whip on that poor critter's back made me feel sorry fur him, but I didn't say nuthin'—it would have been a pooty risky thing.

She never said nuthin' all the way home, an' I ain't been in the house 'ceptin' meal times since. She 'lows thet it wuz all my doings thet she lost the hundred dollars on the red an' blue, an' I don't expect ter see nuthin' of thet terbacker.—Horseman.

Breeders' Directory.

Advertisements under this heading 50c. per line per month.

HORSES AND CATTLE.

PETER SAXE & SON. Lick House, San Francisco, Cal.—Importers and Breeders for past 18 years of every variety of Cattle, Horses, Sheep and Hogs.

HOLSTEIN THOROUGHBREDS of all the noted strains. Registered Berkshire Swine. Catalogues. F. H. BURKE, 401 Montgomery St., S. F.

CLEVELAND BAYS and Norman Horses, Jersey Cattle, and pure bred Poland China Hogs.—DR. W. J. PRATHER, Fresno, Cal.

G. VALENSIN. Valensin Stock Farm, Pleasanton, Alameda County, Cal.—The get of Sidney, 2:19¾; Valensin, 3 year old, 2:23; Shamrock, 2 year old, 2:25, out of first-class mares, for sale at reasonable prices.

SAN MIGUEL STOCK FARM, Walnut Creek, Contra Costa County, Cal.—Standard-Bred Trotters, Colts and Fillies for Sale. IRVIN AYERS, No. 34 Fremont Street, S. F.

MAPLE GROVE FARM — GEO. BEMENT & SON.—Registered Ayrshire Cattle and Essex Swine. Oakland, Cal.

HENRY C. JUDSON. Wild Idle Farm.—Breeder of Thoroughbred Horses. The home of "Wild Idle." P. O. Santa Clara; Box 223.

W. S. JACOBS. Sacramento, Cal. — Breeder of Thoroughbred Shorthorns and Berkshire Hogs.

J. H. WHITE, Lakeville, Sonoma County—Breeder of Registered Holstein Cattle.

EL ROBLAS RANCHO—Los Alamos, Cal., Francis T. Underhill, proprietor, importer and breeder of thoroughbred Hereford Cattle. Information by mail. C. F. Swan, manager.

SHORT-HORNS—Imported and Recorded Short-Horns of the best strains. Catalogues. Address P. PETERSON, Sites, Colusa Co. Cal.

PAGE BROTHERS.—Penn's Grove, Sonoma Co. Cal. Breeders of Short-Horn Cattle; Draft, Roadster and Standard Bred Horses.

VALPARAISO PARK. — Thoroughbred Durham Cattle. Address F. D. Atherton, Menlo Park.

JAMES MADDOCK, Petaluma, Cal.—Trotters trained at reasonable prices. Stock handled carefully. Correspondence solicited.

SETH COOK, breeder of Cleveland Bay Horses, Devon, Durham, Polled Aberdeen-Angus and Galloway Cattle. Young stock of above breeds on hand for sale. Warranted to be pure bred, recorded and average breeders. Address, Geo. A. Wiley, Cook Farm, Danville, Contra Costa Co., Cal.

B. F. RUSH, Suisun, Cal., Shorthorns, Thoroughbred and Grades. Young Bulls and Calves for Sale.

Situation Wanted.

THE UNDERSIGNED WANTS A STEADY position on a first class Stock Breeding Farm. Has had many years experience in handling stallions of all kinds. Also in breeding mares and caring for their foals. Strictly sober and reliable. Can give satisfactory references. Address

CHAS. H. GEMMILL.
Santa Rosa, Cal.

Highland Farm,

LEXINGTON, KY,

Home of Red Wilkes.

Standard-bred Trotting Stock

For Sale,

Sired by Red Wilkes, Wilton, 2·19¼; Allandorf and Sentinel Wilkes, out of highly bred Standard Mares of the most fashionable blood of the day.

W. C. FRANCE, Proprietor.

Brushes.

BUCHANAN BROS.,
Brush Manufacturers,

609 Sacramento Street, two doors above Montgomery.

Horse Brushes of every description on hand and made to order. Bristle Body Brushes our Specialty

JESSE E. MARKS & CO.,
Wholesale and Retail Dealers of Choice Brands
Havana & Key West Cigars
922 MARKET ST., S. F.

R. LIDDLE & SON
538 Washington St., S. F.,
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
Guns, Rifles and Pistols.
A Full Line of FISHING TACKLE and SPORTSMAN'S GOODS.
Orders by mail receive prompt attention.

John D. Gall. Jas. P. Dunne
"The Resort,"
No. 1 Stockton Street, cor. Ellis,
San Francisco.

BOYCE TABLETS.

Leg and Body Wash.

THE BOYCE TABLETS are packed in a nicely decorated metal box with hinged lid—one hundred tablets in each box; directions for use plainly engraved upon the box; therefore, the convenience of the package—no liability to leakage and breakage—economy and ready solubility, together with the absolute certainty of their action, will at once commend the use of BOYCE'S TABLETS to the intelligent horsemen of the country. TABLETS sufficient to make one hundred pints of leg and body wash are conveniently carried in an inside coat pocket or in the hip-pocket of the trousers.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., August 23, 1889.

BOYCE TABLET CO., Terre Haute, Ind.

GENTLEMEN: I look upon horses the same as human beings. They say that a horse has no soul. I don't believe that is possible. It does not seem to me that so true, brave and noble an animal as a horse, after having spent a life of toil and drudgery, will die, and that is the end. I feel like thanking everyone who does a kind act for the horse family, and for that reason, if for no other, I take the opportunity of thanking you for having invented a medicine that brings as much comfort to them as I am sure your CELEBRATED TABLETS do. Mr. Wm. McClosson, the foreman of my stable, tells me that he has never tried anything in his long experience that gives such relief to a sore horse as the wash prepared from your medicine.

Hoping for the sake of the horse family that every horse owner in the land will try it, I remain,

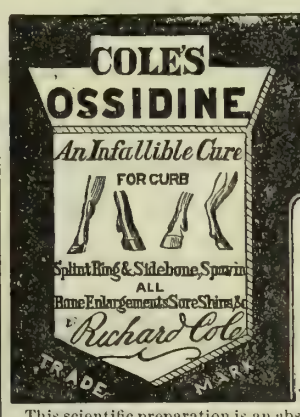
Yours truly, JOHN SPLAN.

Price per Box of One Hundred Tablets, $2, sent postpaid to any part of the United States; six boxes for $10. A sample of BOYCE'S TABLETS will be mailed to any address on receipt of four cents to pay postage. These TABLETS are warranted to keep in any climate. Address

BOYCE TABLET COMPANY,
600 Wabash Avenue, - - - Terre Haute, Indiana.
J. A. McKERRON, Pacific Coast Agent,
228-230-232 Ellis Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Ho! For the Races!

GENTLEMEN PAY all BETS on HEATS and RACES in



MOËT & CHANDON
CHAMPAGNE.

-:- "WHITE SEAL," -:-

THE PERFECTION OF A DRY WINE.

For Sale by all the Leading Grocers and Wine Merchants.

SHERWOOD & SHERWOOD,
PACIFIC COAST AGENTS,
212--214 Market Street, San Francisco, Cal.

OSSIDINE

Results obtained at the well-known KALAMAZOO FARM.

KALAMAZOO, MICH., Sept. 15, 1888.

GENTLEMEN:—We have used OSSIDINE for the past two years, and consider it invaluable for Sprung Tendons, Curbs, Ringbone, and Spavins; there is nothing equals it: and for us it effected a permanent cure where firing failed, although performed by one of the most successful veterinarians on the continent. We have recommended it to others with like success, and believe it has more merit than any blister ever used. Very respectfully yours,

S. A. BROWNE & CO., Prop's.

This scientific preparation is an absolute cure for all bony or callous lumps on horses, and is a more powerful absorbent than "firing," without creating the slightest blemish.

Acknowledged by leading horsemen of the world to be the ONLY preparation that will remove a Bone Spavin after it has become ossified.

We have authority also to refer to
Mr. JEROME I. CASE, Mr. FRED. GEBHARD, Mr. JOHN PORTER (Trainer to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales),
And hundreds of others from whom we have very flattering testimonials.

One Style Only. $3.00 per Bottle.

A. P. BUSH & CO.,
149 Pearl St.,
BOSTON, MASS.,
Sole Agents for United States and Canada.
Beware of Imitations.

SOLD BY C. N. Crittenton, A. R. Van Nest & Co., and C. M Moseman & Bro., NEW YORK CITY. Morrisson, Plummer & Co., Peter Van Schaack & Sons CHICAGO, ILL. John D. Park & Son, CINCINNATI, O.; Floyd & Foster, DETROIT, MICH.; F. S. Slosson, CLEVELAND, O.; Meyer Bros. Drug Co., ST. LOUIS, MO.; R. A. Robinson, LOUISVILLE, KY.; H. H. Moore & Sons, STOCKTON, CAL.

NOTICE.

C. BRUCE LOWE,
Pedigree Stock Agent,
19 Bligh Street,
SYDNEY, New South Wales.
Reference—J. B. HAGGIN, ESQ.

"DICKEY'S,"

SIXTH AVENUE AND D ST.
Near entrance to Bay District Track.
Choicest Brands of
WINES AND CIGARS.
A Delightful Resort.
Telephone 1485. J. R. DICKEY, Propr.

Shoes For Comfort, Elegance and Durability.

Having my own Factory, and giving my personal supervision to all work I am in a position to warrant perfect satisfaction. Inspection invited.

Gentlemen's Park Riding Boots made to Order.

FACTORY—S. W. cor. Battery and Jackson Sts.
SALESROOM—Pioneer Building, corner Stevenson and Fourth Streets.

A full line of Boots and Shoes constantly on hand, and rules for Self-Measurement by Mail.

JNO. T. SULLIVAN.

SAMUEL VALLEAU. JAS. R. BRODIE
J. R. BRODIE & CO.,
Steam Printers,
—And Dealers in—
Poolseller's and Bookmaker's Supplies.
401—403 Sansome Street, corner Sacramento, San Francisco.

EGAN & ADDINGTON,
Bank Exchange,
2d and K Streets, Sacramento.
Superior Wines, Liquors and Cigars.

Pacific Coast.
Blood Horse Asso'n.

Fall Racing Meeting, 1889.

Bay District Track.

San Francisco,
NOVEMBER 16, 19, 21, 23.

Entries Close FRIDAY, Nov. 1.

FIRST DAY—NOVEMBER 16th.

No. 1—Purse, $400; for three-year-olds and upwards; $15 entrance from starters to go to second horse. Winners in 1889 at this distance when carrying weight for age or more of one race to carry five pounds, of two or more 10 pounds extra. Maidens beaten at this distance if three years old allowed seven pounds; if four years old or over allowed twelve pounds. One mile.

No. 2—The Ladies Stakes for two-year-old fillies. Closed.

No. 3 The November Stakes for all ages; $25 entrance, $10 forfeit with $500 added; $75 to second, $25 to third. Winners over this distance this year of two races (handicaps excepted) to carry five pounds of three such races to carry ten pounds extra. One mile and a half.

No. 4—Selling Purse $350, of which $50 to second, for three years old and upwards. Fixed valuation, $1,600; three pounds allowed for each $100 less down to $700 then one pound for $100 down to $300; selling price to be named through the entry box at 5 P. M., the day before the race. Three-quarter mile heats,

SECOND DAY—NOVEMBER, 19th.

No. 5—Purse, $400; $50 to second, $25 to third for three-year-olds and upwards. Winners this year of any race over this distance (handicaps and selling races excepted) to carry three pounds, of two such races five pounds of three or more ten pounds extra. Beaten maidens allowed three pounds. Three-quarters of a mile.

No. 6—The Vestal Stakes; for three-year-old fillies. Closed. One and one-quarter miles.

No. 7—The Record Stakes; for all ages; $25 entrance, $10 forfeit, with $500 added, of which $50 to second, $25 to third. Weight for age. Five furlongs.

No. 8—Purse $350. Handicap; for two-year-olds; $10 from starter, $5 declaration. First horse to take the purse, second horse 70 per cent., third horse 30 per cent. of starting money and declarations. Weights announced on the first day of the meeting. Declarations due at 5 P. M. the day before the race. Seven furlongs.

THIRD DAY, NOVEMBER 21.

No. 9—Selling purse $350, $50 to second; for all ages Fixed valuation, $1,200. Two pounds allowed for each $100 less down to $800, then one pound for each $100 down to $300. Selling price to be named through the entry box at 5 P. M. the day before the race. One and one-sixteenth miles.

No. 10—Purse $350, $50 second; for three-year-olds and upwards. Weight for age. Half mile heats.

No. 11—The Autumn Stakes; for two-year-olds. Closed.

No. 12—The Fame Stakes; for three-year-olds. Closed. One and three-quarter miles.

FOURTH DAY, NOVEMBER 23rd.

No. 13 Purse $400; $50 to second, $25 to third; for three-year-olds and upwards. Horses that have started at this meeting and not won; if beaten once allowed five pounds; twice, ten pounds; three times, fifteen pounds. One and one-sixteenth of a mile.

No. 14—Purse $550; $50 to the second; for two-year-olds that have started and not won at this meeting. Horses beaten once allowed five pounds, twice, eight pounds; three times, fifteen pounds. Winner of No. 8, if carrying in that race rule weights or more not barred. Three-quarters of a mile.

No. 15—The Holiday Handicap for all ages; $25 entrance; $10 declaration; $500 added, of which $100 to second, $50 to third. Weights announced on the third day of the meeting at 10 o'clock A. M. Declaration due at 5 P. M. the day before the race. One and three-eighths of a mile.

No. 16—Purse $350; $50 to second. Owners' Handicap for all ages. weights to be named through the entry box at 5 P. M. the day before the race. One mile.

CONDITIONS.

These races will be run under the Revised Rules of the Association, adopted February 4, 1887. Owners and trainers will be supplied with copies on application to the Secretary.

Colonial bred horses foaled on Colonial time, i. e., between August 1st and December 31st, allowed as follows: Two and three-year olds, eight pounds; four-year-olds, five pounds; five-year-olds, three pounds.

In all stakes starters must be named to the Secretary or through the entry box at the track on or before 5 o'clock P. M. of the day before the race. In all stakes the right to forfeit ceases at 10 o'clock A. M. of the day on which the race is run. (Rule 43.)

Entrance free for starters in purses. Non-starters can declare out at 6 o'clock P. M. of the day before the race by paying 5 per cent. of the amount of the purse. All horses not so declared out will be required to start. (Rule 22.)

All declarations void unless accompanied by the money.

The Association reserves the right to postpone races on account of unfavorable weather or other sufficient cause.

Entries close with the Secretary on Friday, November, 1, 1889.

M. F. TARPEY,
First vice-President.

E. S. CULVER, Secretary.
313 Bush Street, S. F.

"TOBEY'S,"

214 Post Street,
Between Grant Avenue and Stockton Street,
Adjoining New Hamman Baths.
D. J. TOBIN, Proprietor.

ROME HARRIS. JOHN MERIGAN.
"Laurel Palace,"
N. W. corner Kearny and Bush Streets,
SAN FRANCISCO.

$3,000. GUARANTEED. $3,000.

THE

BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN'S

-: Futurity Stakes :-

For Mares Covered in 1889.

Trotting Foals of 1890.

Subscriptions payable as follows: $10 on January 1st, 1890, when nominations close; $10 August 1st, 1890; $10 January 1st, 1891; $10 January 1st, 1892; $10 January 1st, 1893, and $50 for starters, payable July 1st, 1893.

Race to be mile heats three in five in harness; to be trotted on a course in California offering the largest amount of added money. Race to be governed by the Rules of the Association, of which the selected track is a member. Nominators not making all payments forfeit former ones, and the entire amount of forfeits and payments, together with added money, will be divided as follows: 65 per cent. to first horse, 20 per cent. to second horse, 15 per cent. to third horse.

The BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN guarantees $3,000, to be divided as above stated.

If the payments, etc., amount to more than $3,000, the additional amount, after deducting cost of advertising, will also be divided in the same proportion to the winning horses.

Nominators whose mares prove not to be in foal, will be refunded the amounts paid upon furnishing a written statement to that effect before August 1, 1890.

In nominating, give name of mare and stallion to whom she is bred, and within sixty days after foaling forward description of foal.

NOMINATIONS close on JANUARY 1st, 1890, but may be made any time BEFORE THAT DATE, WITHOUT RISK OF LOSS, AS PAYMENTS ARE REFUNDED FOR MARES NOT PROVING IN FOAL.

ADDRESS,

BREEDER and SPORTSMAN,

313 BUSH STREET, SAN FRANCISCO.

$3,000. GUARANTEED $3,000.

Southern Pacific Co.

(PACIFIC SYSTEM.)

Trains leave and are due to arrive at San Francisco.

LEAVE (FOR)	FROM OCTOBER 6, 1889.	ARRIVE (FROM)
7.30 A M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose ...	*12.45 P M
7.30 A M	Sacramento and Redding, via Davis	7.15 P M
8.00 A M	Mar inez, Vallejo, Calistoga and Santa Rosa	6.15 P M
8.30 A M	Los Angeles Express, Fresno, Santa Barbara and Los Angeles	11.15 A M
8.30 A M	Niles, San Jose, Stockton, Galt, Ione, Sacramento, Marysville and Red Bluff	5.45 P M
10.30 A M	Haywards and Niles	2.15 P M
*12.00 M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose...	* 3.45 P M
*1.00 P M	Sacramento River Steamers	* 6.00 A M
3.00 P M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose....	9.45 A M
3.30 P M	2d Class Sacramento, Ogden and East, connects at Davis for Knight's Landing	10.45 A M
4.00 P M	Stockton and §Milton; Vallejo, Calistoga and Santa Rosa	9.45 A M
4.30 P M	Sacramento and Knight's Landin via Davis	10.15 A M
* 4.30 P M	Niles and Livermore.	* 8.45 A M
* 4.30 P M	Niles and San Jose	‡ 4.45 P M
5.30 P M	Haywards and Niles	7.45 A M
6.30 P M	Central Atlantic Express, Og- and East	7.45 P M
7.00 P M	Shasta Route Express, Sacramento, Marysville, Redding, Portland, Puget Sound and East	7.45 A M
6.00 P M	Sunset Route, Atlantic Express Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Deming, El Paso, New Orleans and East	8.45 P M

SANTA CRUZ DIVISION.

‡ 7.45 A M	Newark, San Jose and Santa Cruz	‡ 8.05 P M
8.15 A M	Newark Centerville, San Jose, Felton, Boulder Creek and Santa Cruz	6.20 P M
2.45 P M	Centerville, San Jose, Felton, Boulder Creek and Santa Cruz	*11.20 A M
4.45 P M	Centerville, San Jose, Almaden, and Los Gatos	9.50 A M

Coast Division (Third and Townsend Sts.)

7.25 A M	San Jose, Almaden and Way Stations	2.30 P M
8.30 A M	San Jose Gilroy, Tres Pinos; Pajaro, Santa Cruz; Monterey; Pacific Grove, Salinas, San Miguel, Paso Robles, Santa Margarita (San Luis Obispo) and principal Way Stations	6.12 P M
10.30 A M	San Jose and Way Stations	5.02 P M
12.01 P M	Cemetery, Menlo Park and Way Stations	3.38 P M
* 3.30 P M	San Jose, Tres Pinos, Santa Cruz, Salinas, Monterey Pacific Grove and principal Way Stations	*10.00 A M
* 4.20 P M	Menlo Park and Way Stations.	* 7.58 A M
5.20 P M	San Jose and Way Stations	9.03 A M
6.30 P M	Menlo Park and Way Stations	6.35 A M
‡11.45 P M	Menlo Park and principal Way Stations	‡ 7.23 P M

A M for Morning. P M for Afternoon.
*Sundays excepted †Saturdays only. ‡Sundays only.
‡Mondays excepted. §Saturdays excepted.

6 DOS

DO you bet?
DO you go to the races?
DO you know HOW to bet?
DO you know BEST system?
DO you want Good ADVICE?
DO as you ought to do:

SEND FOR PROSPECTUS TO

GOODWIN BROS.,

241 BROADWAY, NEW YORK,

Who will mail you

FREE OF CHARGE,

one of their circulars showing the GREAT SUCCESS they have met with from the time they established the system of "Point" providing in this country in 1881; it also contains

MANY OTHER INTERESTING ITEMS

with which the general public is not familiar.

HEALD'S

Business College, 24 Post St.

—San Francisco.—

The most popular school on the Coast
P. HEALD, President. C. S. HALEY, Sec'y.
Send for Circulars

The Poodle Dog

"Rotisserie,"

FIRST-CLASS IN EVERY RESPECT.

Elegant Family Dining Rooms.

S. E. cor. GRANT AVE. and BUSH STREET.

ANDRE POTENTINI, Proprietor.

Fine Hats,

Latest Styles and Colors.

Meussdorffer & Hubner

8 Kearny Street, San Francisco.

Next to New Chronicle Building

THOROUGHBRED

Clydesdale Mares

FOR SALE.

Fifth Annual Importation by MR. JOHN SCOTT.

Ex "Alameda."

Can be seen at Bay District Track.

For particulars, apply to

KILLIP & CO., Auctioneers,

22 Montgomery Street, S. F.

KENNEL ADVERTISEMENTS.

Great Dane Puppies for Sale

Sire Cæsar, 10523, A. K. S. B., winner of 1st. and special, San Francisco, 1888; 1st and special, San Francisco, 1889.

Dam Dora, 10531 A. K. S. B., winner of 2nd San Francisco, 1889; H. C. San Francisco, 1888. Puppies whelped Sept. 8, 1889, steel and silver gray and nicely marked. Price $35.

Also puppies by Cæsar out of a prize English Mastiff bitch. Price $25. Address.

NAHL.
2436 Central Ave, Alameda Cal.

POINTER PUPPIES.

TWO WHITE AND LEMON BITCH PUPPIES, nearly five months old, perfectly healthy, of good size, very handsome and superbly bred, being by Climax (Bang Bang—Belona) out of Drab D. (Vandevort's Don—Vandevort's Drab). for sale. Address

WILLIAM DEMOTT, San Rafael.

Fox-hound for Sale.

FINE ENGLISH FOX-HOUND BITCH, well broken. Winner of 2d prize at San Francisco Bench Show of 1889. Price $50.

Apply to

CLABROUGH, GOLCHER & CO.,
630 Montgomery Street, S. F.

Stud Irish Setter.

CHAMPION MIKE T., 6435, A. K. S. B. (Nemo—Nida) winner of first whenever shown, sixteen firsts and specials, never beaten. In the stud to approved bitches, fee $25. Irish setter puppies by Champion Mike T. 6435 A. K. S. B.—Champion Lady Elcho T. 6451 A. K. S. B., for sale. Two pointers, a year old, by Rush T. 10.69 A. K. S. B.—Champion Patti Croxteth T. 10128 A. K. S. B. for sale. Address,

A. B. TRUMAN,
1425 Steiner St., S. F., Cal.

California Horse Shoe Co's

I have used in my business the Steel and Iron Shoes made by the above Company, and take great pleasure in saying they are the best I have ever used in twenty-two years' practice. I have never seen anything like the STEEL SHOE made by this Company. I can fully recommend them to every practical Horseshoer in the country. Yours respectfully,

No. 8 Everett Street. JOHN GRACE.

GOLDEN EAGLE HOTEL

Corner SEVENTH and K STREETS, SACRAMENTO.

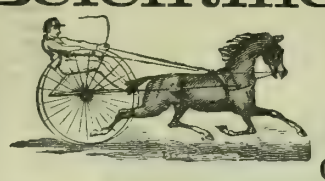
FIRST CLASS IN EVERY RESPECT.

The LARGEST and FINEST HOTEL in the City.

W. O. BOWERS, Proprietor.

Free 'Buss to and from the Hotel.

Telephone, Telegraph Office and Messenger Service at Hotel



PHIL J. CRIMMINS. JOHN C. MORRISON.

"Silver Palace,"

36 Geary Street,

San Francisco, Cal.

Scientific Horse Shoeing

BOYD & MORGAN

Are now permanently located at

No. 413 TAYLOR STREET,

Next door above CLUB STABLES.

Particular attention given to Track and Road Horse. Our Motto: "The Shoe to fit the foot vs. The foot to fit the shoe."

We have references from the leading Trainers, Drivers and Breeders of the Coast. Give us a trial.

THE B. & Y. HOOF OIL

GOOD FOR MAN OR BEAST.

Will positively destroy the effects of the "Cattle Fly"

A SURE CURE for Sores, Scratches, Cuts, Wounds, Bruises, Corns, Thrush, Foot Rot, Quarter Crack, Sand Crack, Dry, Brittle Hard and Fevered Hoof, or any local trouble about the Horse.

Warranted to make the hoof grow without cause of complaint on the part of the horse-shoer for gumming his rasp.

B. & Y. New Process Neats Foot Oil,

Best Leather Oil made.

CHEAP AND LASTING.

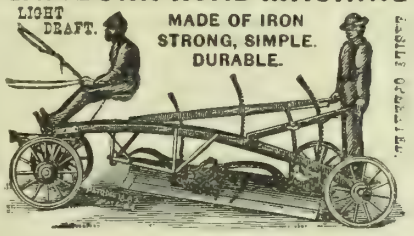
Recommended by leading Harness Men, Drivers and Trainers. Is well adapted to wet weather, as it does not open pores like old process goods.

Ask your dealer for it, or send to

HUNT & DOREMUS,
99 FLOOD BUILDING, San Francisco.

THE BOHANON SULKY!

BEST MADE.



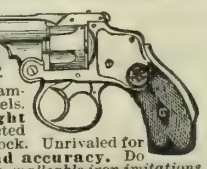
Perfect Riding Buggies. Breaking Carts.

Fine Repairing, Reasonable Prices

Bohanon Carriage Co., 161-163 Ogden Ave., CHICAGO.

Send for Catalogue

LAMBORN ROAD MACHINE



TRUMAN, HOOKER & CO.

SAN FRANCISCO. CALIFORNIA

IF YOU WISH A GOOD REVOLVER PURCHASE ONE OF SMITH & WESSON'S

Finest small arms ever manufactured and the first choice of all experts. In calibres 32, 38 and 44-100. Single or double action, Safety Hammerless and Target models. Best quality wrought steel, carefully inspected for workmanship and stock. Unrivaled for finish, durability and accuracy. Do not be deceived by cheap malleable iron imitations often sold for the genuine article. They are unreliable and dangerous. The SMITH & WESSON REVOLVERS are stamped upon the barrels with firm's name, address and dates of patents, and are guaranteed perfect. Insist upon having them, and if your dealer cannot supply you, an order sent to address below will receive prompt attention. Descriptive catalogue and prices upon application.

SMITH & WESSON,
Springfield, Mass.

HORSE OWNERS!

TRY GOMBAULT'S

CAUSTIC BALSAM.

A Safe, Speedy and Positive Cure for Curb, Splint, Sweeny, Capped Hock, Strained Tendons, Founder, Wind Puffs, all Skin Diseases or Parasites, Thrush, Diphtheria, Pinkeye, all Lameness from Spavin, Ringbone or other Bony Tumors. Removes all Bunches or Blemishes from Horses and Cattle.

Supersedes all Cautery or Firing.

Impossible to Produce any Scar or Blemish.

Every bottle sold is warranted to give satisfaction. Price $1.50 per bottle. Sold by druggists, or sent by express, charges paid, with full directions for its use. Send for descriptive circulars. Address

LAWRENCE, WILLIAMS & CO., Cleveland, O.

DR JOHN C. HINGSTON

M.R.C.V.S., London, England.

Veterinary Surgeon & Dentist,

The most noted Operator in the Profession.

CASTRATES IN TWO MINUTES with the animal standing. Acknowledged to have no equal with the Firing Iron.

PERFORMS ALL OPERATIONS WITH THE ANIMAL STANDING.

Specialist in Lameness.

The highest testimonials from the most noted Owners, Trainers and Breeders in America and England.

Will visit any place on reasonable terms.

Address, THE "BALDWIN" HOTEL,
San Francisco.

DR. THOS. BOWHILL, M.R.C.V.S

VETERINARY SURGEON.

Graduate New Veterinary College, Edinburgh. Awarded the Highland and Agricultural Societies Medals for Horse Pathology, Anatomy, Physiology and Histology. The Williams' Prize, '84-'85, for highest works in professional examinations, and six first-class certificates of merit. Honorary Member Illinois State Veterinary Medical Association.

CENTENNIAL STABLES,

1523-25 California Street. Telephone No. 66.

Veterinary Infirmary and Residence, 2209 Jackson Street. Telephone 4128.

Dr. Wm. H. Jones, M.R.C.V.S.

Veterinary Surgeon,

(CLUB STABLES)

409—411 Taylor Street, San Francisco.

Consultations by letter, and cases of URGENT NECESSITY in the interior will receive prompt attention.

H. E. CARPENTER,

Veterinary Surgeon,

Graduate of Ontario Veterinary College, Toronto, Canada.

RESIDENCE AND VETERINARY INFIRMARY

331 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco.

Telephone 3069.

OPEN DAY AND NIGHT.

No risk in throwing Horses. Veterinary Operating Table on the premises.

DR. C. MASOERO,

Veterinary Surgeon,

Successor to DR A. DeTAVEL,

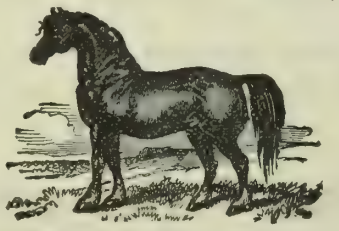
GRADUATE OF ROYAL VETERINARY COLLEGE, TURIN.

OFFICE AND INFIRMARY,

No. 811 HOWARD STREET,

Between Fourth and Fifth. SAN FRANCISCO.

Telephone, No. 457.



R. WATKINS,

Veterinary Dentist,

Of twelve years practice, is now permanently located in San Francisco, and may be found at C. S. Crittendens' Golden Gate Livery and Riding Academy, 24 to 28 Golden Gate Avenue.

Will treat ailments of the horse's mouth, and cure all such. Sidebein Pullers and Tongue Lollers etc. Satisfaction guaranteed. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. Examination Free.

Don't Fail to Read the Following:

DR. FISHERMAN'S Carbolized Alkaline LOTION

Cures after all other Remedies have Failed.

And is recommended for Sprains, Sores, new and old Bruises, Galls, Swellings, Scratches, Thrush, Grease Heels, Curb, Rheumatism. It has no equal for restoring Weak Knees and Ankles to their original condition. Cow's Swelled Udder, Barbed Wire Wounds, Mange, Itch, Skin Diseases, etc. To those who want their Horses to carry flossy manes and tails we recommend this Lotion as a wash to do the work finely; also, a valuable addition to the water in cleansing Sponges, Cloths, etc. It is valuable as an internal remedy for Coughs, Colic, Congestion or Fever. You really get Half a Gallon of Remedy for $1.00, or Two Gallons for $3.00, after being adulterated as directed.

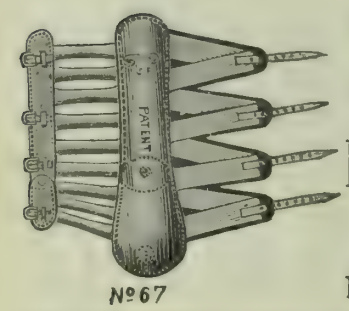
LYNDE & HOUGH, Proprietors.

113 California St., S. F.

Or ask your Druggist for it.

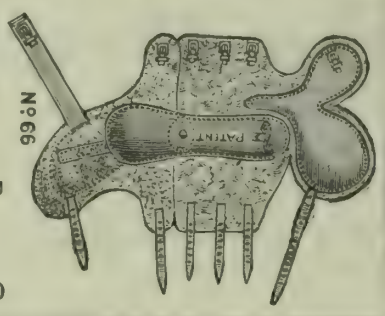
BROU'S INJECTION

A PERMANENT CURE



in from 3 to 6 days, of the most obstinate cases; guaranteed not to produce Stricture; no sickening doses; and no inconvenience or loss of time. Recommended by physicians and sold by all druggists. J. Ferré, Successor to Brou), Pharmacien, Paris.

Everything for



Trotter or Runner,

At J. A. McKERRON'S,

№67

228, 230 and 232 Ellis St., San Francisco

1889 SOUTHER FARM 1889

P. O. Box 149. San Leandro, Cal.

JESTER D. 5696.

- Almont, 33..... Sire of 31 trotters and 2 pacers in 2:30 list.
  - Alexander's Abdallah, 15,.... Sire of 6 in 2:30 list.
    - Hambletonian, 10. Sire of 41 in 2:30 list.
    - Katy Darling
  - Sally Anderson.....
    - Mambrino Chief, 11. Sire of 6 in 2:30 list.
    - Kate, by Pilot Jr., 12. Sire of 9 in 2:30 list.
- Hortense.....
  - Messenger Duroc, 106 ..... Sire of 15 in 2:30 list; also sire of Elaine, dam of Norlaine, yearling rec. 2:31¼.
    - Hambletonian 10. Sire of 41 in 2:30 list.
    - Satinet, by Roe's Abdallah Chief,
  - Nelly McDonald Thoro-bred.. (See Bruce's American Stud Book.)
    - Colossus, son of imp. Sovereign.
    - Maid of Monmouth, By Traveler.

See BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of August 25, 1888, for photograph and description.

FIGARO.

- Hambletonian, 725 (Whipple's)
  - Guy Miller.....
    - Hambletonian, 10. (Rysdyk's)
    - Bolivar Mare.
  - Martha Washington.....
    - Burr's Washington.
    - Dam by Abdallah, 1.
- Emblem.....
  - Tattler, 300 ....
    - Pilot, Jr., 12.
    - Telltale..... Telamon. Flea.
  - Young Portia...
    - Mambrino Chief, 11.
    - Portia by Roebuck.

See BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of September 1, 1888, for photograph and description.

The above stallions will make the season of 1889 at the Souther Farm, one and one-half miles northeast of San Leandro. Each horse is limited to thirty mares besides those of the Souther Farm. Terms, for either horse, Twenty-five Dollars for the season, with privilege of return in season of 1890, if mare fails to prove with foal. Good accommodation and the best of care for all mares sent to the Farm, but no responsibility for accidents.

Colts Broken and Trained. Horses Boarded in any manner desired at all times.

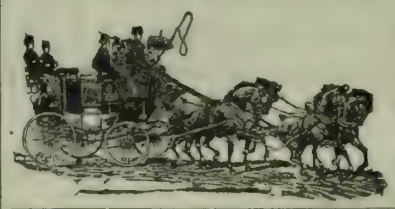
GILBERT TOMPKINS, Proprietor.

Home Work Superior to all Imported.

First Premium Awarded at Last State Fair.

This Cut shows my Own Make of

Light Trotting Cart



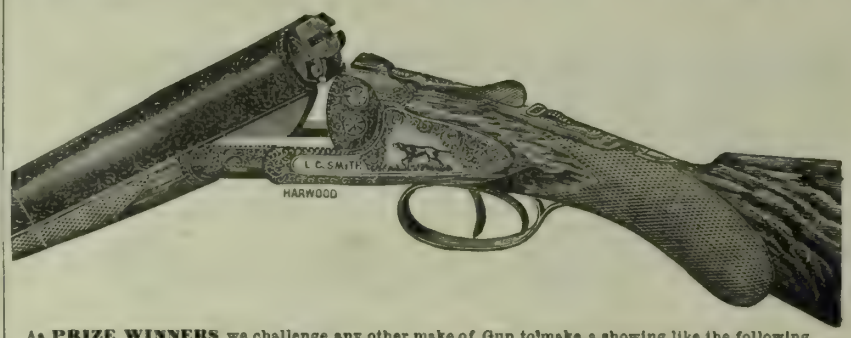
Fitted with Stirrups like any Sulky, and with Removable Foot Board.

Weight 76 lbs. Adapted for Training or Trotting.

My Sulkies are indorsed by our Leading Horsemen.
Choice Line of Sulkies and Carts Always in Stock.
ORDERS FILLED AT A MOMENTS NOTICE.

W. E. SHAW,
Manufacturer of
CARRIAGES and LIGHT VEHICLES.
1621 Market Street, San Francisco, Cal.
FIRST CLASS REPAIRING A SPECIALTY.
Send for Circulars containing Cuts and Testimonials.

J. C. JOHNSON & CO.,
IMPORTERS, MANUFACTURERS, AND DEALERS IN



HARNESS & SADDLERY

We carry a large assortment of goods in our line, from the cheapest to the best made.

400 to 404 Market Street
Corner BATTERY STREET, San Francisco.

The "L. C. Smith" Guns.

As PRIZE WINNERS we challenge any other make of Gun to make a showing like the following.

All Previous Records Broken.

Never before were 100 live pigeons killed straightly in a similar match, under same conditions, until the L. C. SMITH GUN was made and did it. In the hands of Mr. Al Bandle, of the firm of Bandle Arms Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, this wonderful score was made. Capt. A. H. Bogardus scoring with a 12-gauge L. C. Smith in the match against Bandle, the very high score of 95. A remarkable score with a 12-guage.

——OFFICIAL SCORE——

Made in the match at 100 live pigeons, Hurlingham rules, barring gauge of gun, between Capt. A. H. Bogardus of Elkhart, Ill., and Al Bandle, of Cincinnati, Ohio, on Independent Gun Club grounds, Cincinnati, Ohio, Christmas Day, December 25, 1888:

AL BANDLE, 10-gauge L. C. Smith gun.....	CAPT. A. H. BOGARDUS, 12-gauge L. C. Smith gun...
11211112111 21211112112 11221	11221212222 01221211211 01112
11111122112 21111122212 11121	10121221111 11101121111 11222
11212221112 11121111112 11121	12212121222 22.1012111 12111
12111211111 12221112111 11212—100	11111122221 11111112122 22111— 96

2 Denotes killed with second barrel.

S. A TUCKER, Meriden, Conn., Referee. A. C. DICK, Cincinnati, O., Trap Puller.
ED. TAYLOR, Cincinnati, O., Official Scorer. H. BOGARDUS, Elkhart, Ill., Trap Announcer.

The PARKER Hammerless Shot Gun.

At the Annual Tournament of 1889, held at Cannes, France, the grand prize, consisting of 2000 Francs and a Valuable Cup, was won by The Parker Hammerless.

The first Parker Hammerless Gun made won the championship of America at Decatur Illinois.

SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED CIRCULAR.

PARKER BROS., Makers,

New York Salesroom, 97 Chambers St., Meriden Conn.

Poplar Grove Breeding FARM.

Standard-bred Trotters, Colts and Fillies.

The get of CLOVIS, 4909; PASHA, 7039; APEX, 2935,

For Sale.

Address S. N. STRAUBE, Poplar Grove Breeding Farm,
Fresno, Cal.

Inspection by intending purchasers invited, and information by mail.

For Sale by Pleasanton Stock Farm Co.

ONE STALLION COLT, 1 year old, by DIRECTOR, 2:17, dam Sweetness, record 2:21¼. This Colt is a half brother to Sidney, the great Sire of Pacers.
ONE STALLION COLT, 1 year old, by DIRECTOR, 2:17, dam Echora, record 2:23¾. This Colt is a full brother to Direct, record 2:23 at Three Years Old.
ONE FILLY, 1 year old, by CLOVIS, dam Nettie, trial record to Wagon 2:26.
ONE STALLION, 2 years old, by NUTMONT, he by Nutbourne, brother to Nutwood, dam by Electioneer. This Colt can trot very fast.
ONE STALLION, 2 years old, by SIDNEY, dam Ferneleaf. This Colt is a full brother to Gold Leaf
ONE FOUR-YEAR-OLD FILLY, GOLD LEAF, pacing record 2:15.
ONE THREE-YEAR OLD FILLY, by DIRECTOR, dam by a son of Whipple's Hambletonian. This is a grand mare in looks and breeding, and is very fast.
ONE Filly, 2 years old, by MONROE CHIEF, full sister to Miss Gilmer, sold at auction when three years old for $1,700.
ONE PACING HORSE, 4 years old, by STEINWAY, dam by Nutwood This horse is very stylish, and can show a 2:10 gait.
One Brown Mare, heavy in foal to DIRECTOR, by Gibraltar, dam May Day, by Cassius M. Clay. This Mare is very fast; showed a quarter in 34 seconds, and is a half sister to Margaret S., that got a record of 2:31 at twenty-four months old.
One Brown Mare, by DEL SUR, he by The Moor, heavy in foal to Director. This Mare is very fast.

For particulars call on or address M. SALISBURY, 320 Sansome Street, Room 96, San Francisco, or

ANDY McDOWELL, Pleasanton, Cal.

TWENTY PAGES.

BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN

Vol XV. No 18.
No. 313 BUSH STREET.

SAN FRANCISCO, SATURDAY, NOV. 2, 1889.

SUBSCRIPTION
FIVE DOLLARS A YEAR.

Pacing Blood.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—The new interest that is felt in pacing blood, and the high value placed upon it by progressive breeds as an outcross for established trotting lines, and the almost certainty that in the next revision of the standard, the pacer will be accorded standard rank, is my excuse for asking space in your valuable and widely read journal to present a few facts and statistics for the consideration of those who have given but little thought to the subject.

When the following communication was published in the Rural World of May 16th, it was correct, but when the records and performances of 1889 are compiled, it may change some facts without materially changing the force of the comparison. For instance, I believe that Lady Baldwin by The Moor, has since become eligible to the table of Great Brood Mares. I have been told, also, that Mr. Rose has shown a yearling trial, faster than Martha's record.

To offset these credits, Prompter, out of a Flaxtail mare, has put another of his get in the 2:30 list, and Sterling, also out of a Flaxtail mare, has put in another.

WHAT THE FLAXTAILS HAVE DONE IN CALIFORNIA.

Kindly permit me space in your widely read paper to answer the numerous inquiries from friends in Illinois and Iowa as to "What the Flaxtails have done in California." I can best answer the question by a comparison. The Moor—the Clay sire that founded the great Sultan family has a reputation world wide, especially as a brood-mare sire. As you may remember, I was a friend of the Clays when all the world was against them, and I am still a friend of the Clays now that all the world is for them. In the comparison that I shall make, don't understand me as disparaging a great horse that deserves only praise. The reputation of this great sire, so fortunately situated in his life (his owner being a millionaire and every inch a horseman), can't suffer by a comparison with an obscure and friendless plebeian, with no money behind him to develop his produce.

The Moor has sired five daughters that have produced 2:30 performers.

Flaxtail has sired five daughters that have produced 2:30 performers.

The best two-year-old performance by the produce of a Moor mare is 2:26; an excellent performance. The best two-year-old performance by the produce of a Flaxtail mare is 2:25; a better performance by one second.

The best three-year-old performance by the produce of a Moor mare is 2:18; an exceedingly good performance. The best three-year-old performance by the produce of a Flaxtail mare is 2:15; a better performance by three seconds.

The Moor has one daughter in the table of great brood-mares. Flaxtail has three daughters in the table of great brood-mares.

No daughter of The Moor has produced a sire of 2:30 trotters. Three daughters of Flaxtail have produced sires of 2:30 trotters.

From a "Flaxtail" mare and by a horse out of another Flaxtail mare, came a colt that beat the producer of the best Moor mare, (Beautiful Bells) one second, although the produce of this mare was by the great Electioneer.

Another colt out of a Moor mare that was beaten three seconds by the produce of a "Flaxtail" mare, was the great Guy Wilkes.

The fastest yearling filly L. J. Rose, the owner of the Moor ever bred, came from the mating of a grandson of this horse with a daughter of Flaxtail.

Six record-breakers have carried the blood of this old pacer, "Flaxtail," and they have reduced the records by such enormous strides as 12½ seconds, 4½ seconds, again 4½ seconds, 3 seconds, and so on. A grandson of Flaxtail beat an Electioneer and others in "four-year-old class" and got a record of 2:26, and went into the stud at a service fee of $50.

A great grandson of Flaxtail, in the "three-year-old class," beat an Electioneer in his field, and got a three-year-old record of 2:26½, and went into the stud at a service fee of $50.

A great granddaughter of Flaxtail at two years old pulled a Chicago road cart two miles in 5:07, and was leased for $1000 to raise one colt from.

Is not this enough to rescue the old pacer from obscurity, and to show that pacing-bred trotters "breed on?"

M. W. HICKS.

I wish to add some further credits to this pacing line. The fastest of the get of Marion, son of Mambrino Chief, is out of a Flaxtail mare. The fastest of the get of Iowa Chief is out of a Flaxtail mare. The fastest of the get of Wayland Forest is out of a Flaxtail mare. The fastest of the get of Sydney is out of a Flaxtail mare. The fastest of the get of Buccaneer is out of a Flaxtail mare. The fastest yearling filly by Stamboul is out of a Flaxtail mare. The fastest yearling by Alcazar in a race is out of a Flaxtail mare. The only 2:30 performer by Wagoner's Bashaw is out of a Flaxtail mare. Of the five 2:30 performers by Egmont one is out of a Flaxtail mare, Sterling, with two 2:30 performers to his credit, the only producing son of Egmont, although not the oldest, is out of a Flaxtail mare. Buccaneer, public trial 2:24½ and a well authenticated private trial of 2:20½ to wagon is out of a Flaxtail mare. Apex, 4 year old record 2:26, is out of a Flaxtail mare. Fawn, record 2:30½, is out of a Flaxtail mare. Pearl, record 2:32½, is out of a Flaxtail mare. Pride, who beat the yearling record 12½ seconds when made, is out of a Flaxtail mare. Shamrock, that beat the two-year-old stallion record, 4½ seconds when made, is out of a Flaxtail mare. Gold Leaf, with the fastest 4-year-old record, is out of a Flaxtail mare. The sire of the winner of the yearling stake at Fresno, and again at Visalia, is out of a Flaxtail mare. Mischief, dam of Brilliant, trial 2:27, is out of a Flaxtail mare. Chico, trial 2:28½, is out of a Flaxtail mare. Singleton, sire of Maud Singleton, record 2:32, is out of a Flaxtail mare. Prompter, record 2:33½, and sire of three 2:30 performers, is out of a Flaxtail mare. Flight, dam of Fleet, record 2:24, is out of a Flaxtail mare. Flirt, dam of Memo, three-year-old public trial 2:20½, is out of a Flaxtail mare. Grace, dam of Creole, four-year-old record 2:20, is out of a Flaxtail mare.

NOW FOR OTHER PACING LINES.

Col. Lewis, 2:18¾, the only 2:30 performer ever sired by the thoroughbred horse Rifleman, was out of a pacing mare Doty, 2:21, the only 2:30 trotter ever sired by Challenge is out of a pacing mare; Scotland, 2:22½, the best, if not the only, 2:30 performer ever sired by the thoroughbred Bonnie Scotland had Pilot pacing blood. Lady Thorn, 2:18¼, the fastest of the get of Mambrino Chief, had pacing blood. Lucille Golddust, 2:16¼, the fastest of the get of Golddust, had pacing blood. Harry Wilkes, 2:13½, the fastest of the get of his great sire, was out of a mare by a pacing horse. Nelson, the winner of the ten thousand dollar stallion purse at Boston, has a strong infusion of this wonderful speed producing element. To cut these almost limitless examples short and make my letter as brief as possible, I will omit names and records, which any one can look up at their leisure. While verifying my other statements, I will only promise that when the fastest records for all ages, sexes and classes are held by animals with a pacing cross, and this, too, when from ten to twenty times as many trotters are bred from straight trotting lines as there are with this cross, it must be evident to any intelligent mind that this element is invaluable, indeed, indispensible, in breeding the trotter of extreme speed.

The fastest yearling, two-year-old, three-year-old, four-year-old, and the fastest mare, gelding and stallion—all, without an exception, have pacing blood. The phenomenal three-year-olds of the year, seven in number, with records better than 2:20, all have pacing blood.

The above shows that to get a first-class race horse a pacing cross is indispensible. The following shows that pacing blood is equally indispensible in breeding a successful stock horse:

George Wilkes, the most prepotent son of Hambletonian, has pacing blood. Should any one suggest that prospectively Electioneer is his equal or superior, I answer that he has the same pacing inheritance. Almont, the most prepotent son of Alexander's Abdallah, has pacing blood, Mambrino Patchen, the most prepotent son of Mambrino Chief, has pacing blood. Nutwood, the most prepotent son of Belmont, has pacing blood. Blue Bull, a pacing horse, sired speed with a uniformity and certainty never equalled.

It may be said that in some of the above examples the proportion of pacing blood is small and remote. True, but we cannot reckon the power of blood lines mathematicaly, and it is only the greater proof of its potency. The thirty second, or even the sixty fourth part of the blood of Justin Morgan gave the distinctive Morgan type. So with the pacer. His blood dominates all other blood, and carries with it the nerve force and freedom of action that makes the fast trotter, and its remote effects shows that it "breeds on" with augmenting force in each generation.

With these most convincing facts accessible to all, it is surprising that there should still remain a few old fossils, who, from ironclad prejudice, or from a pecuniary interest in straight trotting lines, cannot see, or will not admit the quickening power, and great value of a pacing cross in increasing the speed, and in increasing the percentage of fast produce in breeding trotters.

They are like Simpson Deacon: They "can'na' be convinced and they "winna' be convinced."

M. W. HICKS.

J. A. Morris' Recent Importations.

Mr. John A. Morris, who has lately organized and built the Westchester track, is going extensively into racing again. He is evidently a believer in imported blood, for he has in England three mares, Jennie B. by Longfellow, Active by Tom Ochiltree, and Lizzie B. by Ten Broeck. The former is stinted to Galopin (sire of Donovan), and the two latter to Springfield. In addition to these Mr. Morris has imported the following thoroughbreds from England:

Abukru, chestnut mare, 1885, by Ben Battle, dam Oatmeal by Wild Oats, her dam Miss Alma by Blair Athol, out of Esther by Touchstone. Bred to Torpedo, a full brother to Shotover.

Ilione, brown mare, 1886 by Skylark, dam Ilia by Sterling, her dam Fair Vestal by Vespasian, out of Fair Rosamond by King John. Bred to Galliard. Ilione won two races in 1888, including the Zetland Plate.

Pilferer, chestnut mare, 1885 by Macaroon (son of Macaroni), dam Pillage by Cambuscan, her dam Plunder by Buccaneer. Bred to Peter.

Polonaise, bay filly, 1886, by Sterling, dam Kathleen by Speculum, her dam Peahen by Cotherstone, out of Prairie Hen by Stockwell. Bred to Lowland Chief.

Veronia, 1884 by Trappist (son of Hermit), dam Doe by Turnus, her dam The Fawn by Venison. Bred to Fernandez (brother to Isonomy.)

Haste, ch f (1887), by Energy—Garonne.

The following are yearlings:

Chestnut colt by Peter, dam Cutty Sark by Blair Athol, her dam Old Orange Girl by Kingston.

Brown colt by Valour, dam Periwig by Macaroni, her dam Silverhair (Silvio's dam) by Kingston.

Bay filly by Marden, dam Indiana by Uncas, her dam Sideview by Diophantus.

Chestnut filly by Hawkestone, dam Conspiracy by High Treason, her dam Fluke by Turnus.

Brown filly by Galliard, dam Parvenu (sister to Plebian) by Joskin, her dam Queen Elizabeth by Autocrat.

Bay filly by Zealot, dam Wealth by Sterling, her dam Cherry Duchess (dam of Energy) by the Duke.

Brown filly by Sterling, dam Sedate by Sefton, her dam Sham Fight by Knight of Kars.

Bay filly by Xenophon, dam Persia by Robert the Devil, her dam Atossa by Hermit.

Bay filly Peterville by Peter, dam Rosio by Rosicrucian, her dam Reaction by King Tom.

Our Australian Letter.

SYDNEY, Oct., 2, 1889.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—Since my last letter we have had a remarkably lively time in New South Wales with the Hawkesbury and Randwick Spring Meetings. The first race of any moment at the Hawkesbury meeting, the Hawkesbury Guineas, for three-year-olds, resolved itself into a match between Mr. Gannon's Merriment and Mr. J. White's Rudolph, the representatives of the two crack New South Wales Stables. The winner turned up in Merriment, who reversed the form shown by the pair as two-year-olds in the Claret Stakes at the Hawkesbury Autumn Meeting, when Rudolph proved the victor. On the same day, Mr. W. A. Long won the September Handicap with his colt Daniel, a fine animal, but an uncertain and fractious brute, who does his best to demoralize the field by invariably playing up, and now and then varying the monotony with a bolt. However Daniel is without doubt a speedy animal, and should he settle down with age will make a name for himself.

For the Hawkesbury Grand Handicap, in which by the way neither Mr. White or Mr. Gannon had a representative. Lamond, a four-year-old belonging to a remarkably knowing stable, was made a big pot, but it did not come off as the alleged wonder failed to run into a place, and the winner turned up in the speedy mare Ellerdale, a four-year-old, by Goldsbrough from Ethel. Ellerdale's first victory was at Newcastle, N. S. W., when she, as a three-year-old, won the November Handicap, a mile and a furlong, with 6 stone, 10 lbs., but it was her win in Tattersall's Cup at Randwick, 2 miles, 6 stone, that led the public to give her big support for the Hawkesbury Handicap.

The Australian Jockey Club (Sydney), had a rare success with their spring meeting which opened on September 21st. But five sported colors for the Australian Jockey Club Derby. Merriment held pride of place at 5 to 4, Mr. White's Rudolph at 7 to 4, and Singapore, another of Mr. White's, was quoted at 5 to 1. Merriment, however, ran disappointingly, and Mr. James White secured first and second places respectively, with Singapore and Rudolph. Tom Hales, Mr. White's crack jockey, who was up on Rudolph, the eldest of White's stable, came in for no small share of grumbling from the crowd as to the way he handled his mount but it is ever thus, and had Hales managed to pull the race out of the fire in the last strides, we should have heard that Hales rode with his usual skill and judgment. The Spring Stakes was run on the same day and will remain memorable as the last race in which the son of your Darebin, the mighty Australian peer, sported silk. The champion Abercorn won, followed in as per usual by one of Mr. Gannon's string, Melos and the Australian Peer finished last, he having broken a blood vessel in the head.

There were fifteen starters for the Metropolitan Stakes, but only one horse in it so to speak, as Abercorn, with 9st. 7lbs., fairly romped home ahead of Mr. Gannon's Arsenal with 9st. 2 lbs. up, another of Mr. Gannon's, Wycombe, filling third place. On the concluding day, Mr. White secured another win, with Singapore in the Member's Handicap, and the unlucky Mr. Gannon ran second, with Wycombe, to Ellerdale in the Haverley Handicap. Mr. Gannon has borne up bravely against his luck in running, with animals of the first water, seconds to Mr. White's firsts, but it looks as if he is heartbroken at last, as on Friday the whole of his stud were put up to auction, the broken-down Australian Peer going for the extraordinarily small sum of six hundred guineas to Mr. John Eales, a wealthy breeder and racer residing at the Hunter River. It is now stated that Mr. Eales has been offered, on behalf of a big American breeder, the sum of 3,000 guineas for the horse, landed in San Francisco. It is without doubt a puzzle to Sydneyites why Mr. Gannon allowed the great horse to go at such a figure. Mr. Eales is already the possessor of an untried filly, full sister to the Australian Peer, which he intends to call the Australian Peeress.

Mr. James White continued his almost phenomenal success at the A. J. C. meeting by winning the Craven Plate with Abercorn, the second foal stakes with Rudolph, and the Wycombe Stakes with Dreadnought. Amongst the wins likely to interest Americans was that of Ringdove, a four-year-old brown mare by Darebin from Stockdove; she is a full sister to Australian Peer, and with seven stones up, beat that consistent performer Bernardo, 9 st. 7 lbs., and a good field, for the Suburban Handicap.

You Yankees, who appear ever on the look-out for a good sire, and who do not allow dollars to stand in the way, ought to keep your eagle eye upon one Maxim, who is looked upon as the champion of New Zealand. Maxim is a five-year-old brown horse by Musket, from Realisation, and is considered by good judges as a better horse than Carbine, his muscular developement being almost abnormal, without any appearance of lumber. As a two-year-old in New Zealand, he won the Middle Park Stakes and the Nursery Handicap, when he journeyed to Victoria, where he was duly put down at equal weights by the Australian champion Abercorn. Returning to his native heather, he won the Champagne Stakes, and was beaten by Sextant in the Challenge Stakes. As a three-year-old he holds an unbroken record of five wins. He is engaged in the greatest of all Australian races, the Melbourne Cup, at 9 stones 5 pounds, but it is a moot point whether his owner, Mr. G. G. Stead, will take him over.

The doings of the great Abercorn in the recent spring meeting of the Australia Jockey Club have proved him the best horse that has passed through Mr. James White's stable, and that is saying a good deal. Trident, one of Mr. White's best, in his day won fifteen races for a total of £8,741, but Abercorn tops this with the handsome sum of £11,445. At 2 years he won five races, value £3,436; at 3 years six races, or rather five races and one dead heat, value £4,179; at 4 years four races, value £1,290, and at 5 years four races, value £2,540 Abercorn is still in training and may add considerably to his record of £11,445, but it is hardly likely that he will put in an appearance for the Melbourne Cup, as he has incurred a penalty of fourteen pounds by his win of the Metropolitan, which will bring him up to the almost prohibitive impost of 10 st. 10lbs. Abercorn cannot be said either to have been the luckiest horse on the turf as he has had to meet equine giants, in Carbine and Lochiel.

In the contest for the high jump at the recent National show at Melbourne Victoria, a horse named Spondulix set the world a record by clearing the prodigious height of 6 feet 3⅞ inches. In the fourth round only two horses remained in the show, Spondulix and Highlander, who both cleared just over 6 feet, but this was Highlander's best effort, and Spondulix was left alone to clear in a magnificent jump 6 feet 3½ inches. "THE JUNGLE."

[Leo and Filemaker in America have both jumped 6 feet 9⅞ inches.—ED.]

The Starter Fined.

England's Official Punished For Carelessness.

The English mails to hand tell of a peculiar case at Newmarket on the 10th inst., whereby the race for the Newmarket Oaks had to run over again, and the official starter, Lord Marcus Beresford, was fined for carelessness. It seems that the race for the stake mentioned, run on Cesarewitch day, was run and duly won by Pamela beating Minthe, Wrinkle, Cherry Bounce and Hamptonia.

Subsequently, however, Mr. R. C. Vyner objected to the validity of the race, and as it was proved that the fillies had been started by Lord Beresford at the wrong post, whereby half a mile was cut off, the stewards decided that a second trial should be moved for. Then arose the question of bets, and the Committee of Tattersall's decided that they should stand if there was a race, and be void in the case of a walkover.

The next day Pamela walked over at the second trial for the stake, and bets were accordingly declared off. A still further denouncement to this in some respects unprecedented case was the announcement that Lord Marcus Beresford, the official starter, was fined ten shillings by the stewards of the jockey club for starting the horses at the wrong post for the Newmarket Oaks. The whole affair caused plenty of excitement and feeling at Newmarket for the remainder of the afternoon, and the end was a drawn battle from a speculative point of view.

In this country we do not recall a similar case, at least that part of it where the horses were started at the wrong post, and the starter fined for so doing. That the fine imposed on the starter, however, was an eminently just one, few will be disposed to deny. If a starter makes such a gross error as this, he is most certainly deserving of a fine.

A Blow at the Standard Trotter.

Two weeks ago we published an article clipped from Wallace's Monthly, in which the writer advocated the registration of pacers. The clipping was extensively copied and has brought many letters from correspondents, probably the best of which is one sent to the Kentucky Stock Farm and is as follows:

DEAR SIR:—In some editorial comments on a letter of Mr. Thomas C. Parsons, in the October number of Wallace's Monthly, is foreshadowed what I would regard as an attack on the integrity of the standard. Though the writer does not directly say so, through his article runs the idea that pacing horses coming up to certain requirements of pacing performance should for that reason be admitted to the trotting standard. I believe all breeders approve of the formation of the Pacing Horse Breeders' Association; and the establishing of a pacing horse standard is clearly a matter of necessity, but when it is proposed to make a standard trotting horse out of a 2:25 or even a 2:15 pacer, a very different question is raised. After all that has been said about the pace and the trot being "one and the same gait interchangeable and intertransmissible," the fact remains that not one of the great trotting horse breeders of the country will now buy a pacing stallion or brood mare on their blood or speed. Had St. Bel's dam or sire been a pacer, his book of $500, instead of filling in five days, would not have filled in five years. The arguments that have been advanced by the Monthly against "running foolishness" in the trotter, will be effectively used against pacing folly in the trotter also. Every objection to the blood of the runner in the trotter will apply with equal force to the pacer. The relative antiquity of the runner and pacer has no bearing on the question. We have used them both in the formation of the trotting breed, and progress now lies in the direction of keeping the stream pure and intensifying the trotting instinct by successive generations of breeding.

He speaks of the "abstract right of the pacer to standard rank." I do not understand that any person disputes the claim that the pacer should be improved as a breed, but how to do it is the question. The course of dealing that has so advanced the trotter will do the same for the pacer. Make a standard for the pacer, based on pacing speed, and the natural result will be that fast pacing mares will be bred to fast pacing stallions. In this way will all the desirable qualities of the pacing horse be brought out. On a smooth road or the even surface of a race track the pace is a faster gait than the trot, and almost with no aid from the breeders' art the pacer has more than held his own against the trotter. Who can doubt that if bred strictly within fast pacing lines, uncontaminated with trotting foolishness, the despised side-wheeler will in a few horse generations rival the speed of the runner?

The unqualified assertion that the pace and the trot are "one and the same thing, interchangeable and intertransmissible," is not true in fact. Gait is defined by Webster to mean "manner of walking or stepping," and it is absurd to say that the pacer and the trotter have the same manner of stepping. The two different gaits are in a measure interchangeable—that is, trotters can be made to pace and pacers can be made to trot, and often the same animal naturally goes at both gaits, but the same is also true of running horses and trotters. Their gaits are also interchangeable, for both can go at either gait, and do it naturally. That the trotting and pacing gaits are interchangeable is true to the extent that trotters will sometimes beget pacers and vice versa; but this is doubtless due to the fact that both breeds are yet quite impure, and a very short line will carry them back to a common ancestor. It is illogical to point with pride to the pacing lines in an otherwise trotting pedigree, and then wonder why that kind of a trotter gets pacers. The same remark will apply to the pacer whose get belie his ancestry. If the advocates of the interbreeding of pacers and trotters would point out a few instances in which, after four or five generations of horse breeding, a pacer or trotter has failed in more than an exceptional instance to impart his gait to his get, it would be more to the point than a hundred fine-spun theories about the interchangeability and intermissibility of the two gaits.

Hambletonian had no pacing cross in his pedigree, and of his 2:30 list not one is a pacer; and out of his forty-four daughters who are producers, not one is the dam of a 2:30 pacer.

Messenger, the fountain head of the trotting breed, ranks in all stud-books as a thoroughbred, and Mr. Wallace says "no thoroughbred ever paced." Electioneer, who holds the fastest yearling record through his grand-daughter and the two and four-year-old records through his daughters, and in his power to impart purity of gait and extreme trotting speed holds the first place as a stallion, has five generations of trotters behind him without a pacing cross. Of the forty-eight of his get in the 2:30 list, forty-seven are pure-gaited trotters, and one, out of a mare whose sire is unknown, is a pacer. The breeders' axiom that like produces like applies to gait as well as disposition. "Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles?" FALLSTOWN.

Thoroughbreds and Full Bloods.

Much has been written and talked on the subject of thoroughbreds and pure bloods. The two terms get confounded with many people. Says Mr. Stephen Powers, a gentleman who is authority on these subjects: "In popular language full-blood and thoroughbred are used as synonyms; when used in reference to horses there is a well defined difference between them which it would argue ignorance to neglect. Some writers seek to establish a difference also when they are used in reference to sheep, and in this way: A full blood is one in whose veins there is no admixture or strain of any other blood but the Spanish, while a thoroughbred is all that and something more. A sheep may be a full-blood or a pure blood, and yet be so deficient in form or fleece as to be unfit for a breeder. But a thoroughbred is the outcome of a long line of ancestors which, beginning with pure-blood, have been so consummately moulded by man to special purpose that this last and finished product is, so to speak, incapable of bearing or begetting a progeny different from itself. * * Pedigree is like a long train of cars; it runs with strong momentum, and it runs straight. An animal whose pedigree originated yesterday is like a single car; it rocks to and fro and is liable to swing off the track. I mean by pedigree here the combined forces or values of pure blood, constitutional vigor and a prepotency trained to a certainty. Breeders like to claim for their favorite stock something akin to papal infallibility. They say, in effect, given a thousand years' pedigree in your breeding flock and you cannot get an inferior animal as a product. But this assertion can not stand. Twin rams, twin bulls, own brothers in a family disprove it every day by their radical difference."

Running Horses and Races at Reno and Carson.

The people of Nevada are truly a racing people and decidedly in favor of the runners, as any one who attended the fairs just held at Reno and Carson can testify.

The State Fair at Reno owed its success greatly to the efforts of Mr. Theo. Winters, the President, a man than whom there is no horseman in America better known. Mr. Winters, at his own expense, had just had erected—one on each side of the track—two stands, a judges' and timers', each stand a model of convenience and graceful architecture. They are built on stone foundations, and under the judges' stand is the secretary's office, while under the timers' is the weighing room. In many ways could be seen the guiding hand of the president; instead of being in the stand to see and be seen, he was around with the people, entertaining and making each one feel at home; watching the starting, and keeping an eye over all. Right here let me say a word for the starting both at Reno and Carson, and I would that the starter at the P. C. B. H. A. meeting might profit by it and do likewise. Let the starter take his position about twenty yards before the starting post and send his assistant back 75 or 100 yards with the horse and bring them up abreast, then we may be able to have some good starts. It worked like a charm in Nevada, and if managed here should do the same.

The running races at Reno were good. On the first day Rondo ran a quarter in 22 seconds (how would ⅝ between Geraldine, Rondo and some others at the Blood Horse be?) Later on during the week, Mr. Winters ran off his two-year-olds. The sister to Miss Courtney, Alta, and others, ran seven-eighths of a mile in an Owner's Handicap in 1:28, though many outside watches made it 1:29½, 1:29¾. Florence A., a chestnut filly by Joe Hooker, dam Atalanta, won the five-eights mile for two-year-olds in 1:03, a great run for the high altitude; equal to about 1:02 or 1:02½ at the Bay District.

Hotspur beat Nerva one mile in 1:45½, and Johnny Gray beat Applause three-quarters of a mile in 1:17½. Installation, carrying 116½ pounds, won the only three-year-old race of the meeting, running the five furlongs in 1:04. There were several other running races during the meeting, but the above was the best.

By far the finest track seen by the writer in Nevada was the new track at Carson, which in time will be fast, although the elevation is about 5,000 feet. The fair of 1889 was one of the best and most enjoyable race meetings it has yet been our lot to attend, and never have we seen a more obliging and accommodating Secretary than Mr. Torreyson. While President Lee entertained his visitors and kept an eye over all, the Secretary was an host in himself. Would that there were more men in that most important office like him, for if a great deal depends upon the President of an association, more depends upon the Secretary.

The racing at Carson was good. Mr. Winter's Florence A. won the two-year-old race ⅝ in 1:06, the track about 1½ seconds slow. Painkiller won the ⅝ free for all in 1:02 fully as good as 1:01 over any of the California tracks. Look out for him in the Record Stakes November 19th. Florence A won the ¾ free for all from Painkiller and Nerva, the three finishing only heads apart in the best race of the meeting, the ¾ being run in 1:16½.

Nerva won the mile dash from Dave Douglas and Johnny Gray in 1:45. Applause won a good race at a half a mile, no time taken, but the distance was run in about 0:49½ by outside watches.

Rondo won the quarter race in 0:22 4-5 seconds.

The Consolation purse dash of a mile was run in the dark, Dave Douglas winning in 1:46.

Thus ended the meeting, and all the Californians took their departure for home, glad to return to sunny California and its bracing sea breezes, but wishing their many new found friends Godspeed and firmly intending to return another day. "INDEX."

We shall be acquitted of "seedition" in calling attention to the advertisement of Westcott & Breck, 406 and 408 Sansome street, San Francisco. The firm offers hardy Northern grown seeds from Minneapolis, Minn. Grass, Farm and Garden Seeds, Plants, Trees and Bulbs are carried in stock, and will be fully described to intending purchasers on receipt of a request to that effect.

Porterville B. H. A.

The last day of the Association was held in exceptionally fine weather, and the Directors were as happy as happy could be for the meeting had proved a success, and it is confidently asserted that next or at the latest next but one season the P. B. H. A. will rival the crack Southern California Associations. The first race was a 600 yards race with three starters. Dynamite started favorite, and much interest was manifested in this race by the local talent owing to his having won four straight races over the same course last July. Dynamite on the rails took the lead at the start, and kept it to the finish, Mollie coming in half a length behind and Black Jack a couple of lengths behind her. Time, 0:34½.

SUMMARY.

600 yards running, match race for a purse of $50.

Tom Simmons' s g Dynamite	1
A. Hall's b m Mollie	2
—— blk g Black Jack	3

Time, 0:34½.

The second and last race was the most exciting one of the week, as it was generally understood that the horses were going to run for "blood," but a good many of the sports had "got on to a pointer," to the effect that Solano Chief was to take the race, and so pools were eagerly bought on the horse all round, but alas for the inconsistency of the turf, the mare won easily, and sure thing men got hurt.

First Heat—After very little scoring the horses were started in the order named, with Nellie Johnson to the pole and in the lead, which she kept until in the homestretch, when Solano Chief forged ahead and came under the wire by a neck, The Bull third. Time, 3:01½.

Second Heat—This was not quite as fine a heat as the former, Nellie Johnson taking the lead from the start and keeping it throughout. Solano Chief and The Bull alternated for second place several times, both breaking considerably throughout the heat. Nellie came in about four lengths ahead, The Bull second, and Solano Chief third Time, 3:01½.

Third Heat—Won by Solano Chief, Nellie Johnson second, The Bull third. Time, 3:04¾.

Fourth and Fifth Heats—Won by Nellie Johnson, the first in 3:04¼ and the last in 3:04, after some splendid trotting, in which the gallant little mare never once broke. Thus ended the second meeting of the Porterville Blood Horse Association.

SUMMARY.

Trotting Race—One mile. Best 3 in 5; entrance fee $5; $30 added money.

N. Anderson's b m Nellie Johnson	2	1	2	1	1
S. H. DeWitt's b s Solano Chief	1	3	1	2	3
M. White's s g The Bull	3	2	3	3	2

Time, 3:01½, 3:01½, 3:04¾, 3:04¼, 3:04.

The Cowboy's Story.

By G. A. Sykes.

"I'll tell you, stranger, 'bout a time when us fellers that thought we was smart got most 'fernally left. If you tell it to any one else don't give right names nor places, fur some of the boys ain't got over feeling sore 'bout it yet, and it might lead to trouble. Us fellers 'round here is pooty civil and quiet, yet as we all carry seven-shooters a fuss ain't desirable, fur several reasons.

"There's a lot of cow-punchers lives on a ranch not far from San Pedro, and being as we're riding all day long we got the notion that we could stick on a hoss, not taking second place to nobody at that same. The boss of the ranch, Jack Minton, is an all-fired good rider himself, and the fact of us bein' on his ranch proves that we can stay in the saddle arter we have climed up, for he tries all new comers on the ugliest cuss of a buck-jumper you ever seen. If the new feller can stick on, all right; there's a job for him at the best wages given in this State; if the bucker chucks him off, he can travel.

"One day we heard that a feller was coming from the East, one of the crack jockeys from the big tracks; a feller that rode horses as was worth fifty thousand dollars each. He was some distant relation to the boss—his mother-in-law's sister's third cousin, or something like that—and was coming on to see our place and rest a spell, fur he was done out with hard work. Now, us fellers ain't got no thoroughbbred hosses on the ranch, but we have got some as kin travel a little, and we all had the idea that we could ride a hoss as well, if not better, than this feller that was coming on to visit us.

"Naturally we was all awful curious to see this crack jockey, and, to tell the truth, we was all a little jealous of his reputation, fur our ridin' was the one thing we was proud of. It's the only fun we can have anyway, since sheriffs and jails have got so thick that a feller can't use his shootin'-iron.

"At last the Eastern feller came, and all the boys 'cept them that was out herdin' was waitin' 'round the door. I couldn't believe I was seein' right when the feller came up; he was something so different from anything I've ever seen or expected. He was a little bit of a skinny, half-starved lookin' chap; didn't look as if he could sit a yearlin'—a good puff of wind would blow him away. I must own, though, that he was a decent sort of a little feeler, pleasant and obligin', and not at all stuck-up, nor fresh. He tried to make friends with the boys, but they wouldn't scarce be civil to him. It was strange how his bein' a hoss rider affected all of us. If he had been anything else we would likely have treated him altogether different.

"The little Eastern feller (we will call him Folsom) loafed round the ranch, goin' 'round by himself, seemin' to be pooty lonesome, though he had quit tryin' to make friends of us fellers, and no doubt thinkin' we was a all-fired mean set of cusses—and he was 'bout right.

"One day after a big round-up we didn't have much more to do, and 'bout sun-down one of the boys said: 'Let's see how the dude jockey can ride.' Folsom hadn't so much as mounted a hoss since he had been on the place, so the notion caught on pooty well, and one of the boys went to the house to fetch him, while another roped the worst buck-jumper he could catch and saddled him. By the time the hoss was ready Folsom come up, and one of the boys asked him if he wouldn't like to try a Texas broncho, sayin' 'that of course he would find him 'fernal slow after the hosses he was used to ridin', but hoped that he would find him fast enough to make ridin' pleasant.'

"Folsom knew that something was up, for he couldn't help knowin' that we wouldn't all be waitin' that way for nothin', and would have refused to ride, only didn't like to, may be thinkin' we would fancy he was scared. The hoss stood pooty quiet till the little feller mounted, and then the fun commenced. Fust the hoss got his head down and then he was boss of the situation and run things to suit himself. He humped his back and went up and down till he nearly jarred the backbone out of Folsom. We all stood and laughed, though the feller on the hoss wasn't enjoying it, and when the hoss lifted the little feller and laid him out on the grass we was almost wild. Our ridin' was all right now, we was in no danger of competition from the East, and soon as Folsom came to his senses arter his fall we forgave him and treated him decent; we had seen to our satisfaction that we was the best riders, and could afford to be generous.

"We was goin' to have a big Fourth of July in San Pedro, and the managers of the thing was gitting up all sorts of entertainments and fireworks and other kind of fooleries. There was to be a hoss race, too, and the prize was the pootiest saddle I ever sot eyes on. It hung in the newspaper office window, and every one as seen it wanted it. Jack Minton has got the name round them parts—and earned it too—of having the best hosses and the best riders in the country, consequently we looked upon that saddle as belonging to our ranch. We had five hosses on our place that could run away from anything else we had, and there was four of us wanted to ride in the race, so we tossed up to see which hosses we should ride. Each had their pick and took the four best ones, and there was one left and no one cared to ride him; so at breakfast one mornin' Jack said to the Eastern jockey. 'Folsom, won't you take the fifth hoss and ride him; there's only our boys to ride against, so you ought to come in ahead?"

"No thanks,' Folsom answered, 'I guess I won't ride; I didn't have great success with my first broncho. I'll let the Texas boys fight it out between themselves.'

"It will add an awful lot to the interest of the thing if you ride,' Jcak said, 'the horses are all nearly equal in speed, so your chance is as good as anyone's.'

"The boss' wife now said: 'Mr. Folsom, we shall all be dreadfully disappointed if you won't ride; we don't often have visitors in these parts; when we do, we expect them to do their share in helping along any entertainment we may be having.'

"Well, I will ride,' answered the little fellow, 'but please understand, I don't ride for my own pleasure, nor with the hope of winning, but merely to oblige my hostess.'

"He turned to Jack and said: I'll ride on two conditions: one is that my horse shall not be a buck-jumper. I dare say I could stay on a bucker; but it don't pay to try; and the other condition is that I may have the entire charge of my horse from now until after the race.'

"Jack consented to this, and we guaranteed that his hoss wouldn't buck; so the thing was settled. The little feller was to ride Paolo, while I was up on Bowie Knife, and the other three boys was to have Texas, Greaser and Lone Star. Paolo, the Eastern jockey's hoss, was a little slower than the other four, but the four had it nip and tuck every time we run'em. We had raced them over and over again, and sometimes one would win and sometimes another, still they could all jest beat Paolo every time enough to make it sure, and the race would be between us four.

"Knowin,' then, that we was all right, we though we would have the thing done in grand style, so went down to the committee in charge of the ceremonies and told them that the Eastern feller was goin' to race against us, and tellin' them to get a lot of bills and things printed and distribute them around plenty. The committee was only too glad to get such an attraction, and soon they had big, red posters stuck up on every wall in the country, besides sendin' handbills everywhere, headed, 'East and West. A contest between a great Eastern jockey and Texas cowboys. A chance of a life-time. Come and see the struggle for the prize for best horsemanship.

"When Folsom found what a fuss was bein' made about this race, he said he was very sorry he had ever promised to enter. One thing I liked about the feller was that as he seemed to be in for it he made up his mind to do the best he could, and went right to work on the hoss he was to ride. He took Paolo and rode him every mornin', exercisin' him lots, and did'nt feed him hardly anything, and then he used to rub that hoss till his hide looked near as pooty as my gal's Sunday dress.

"We gave our horses plenty to eat, believin' in having' them strong and hearty, and didn't work them any for three days before the Fourth, thinkin' that a good rest was the best thing they could have, and that they would run all the better and stronger fur it. I had done whatever I thought was the best for my hoss, and was figurin' on bein' clus to the front when we finished the race, when an accident happened to me which settled my chances.

"The next mornin' I was fixin' Bowie Knife up, when the onery cuss wheeled round and kicked me right on the ankle. It was a bad kick, and my leg kept swellin' all the time, and it wasn't long before I couldn't stand on it, and had to get it fixed and bandaged. I was wild enough with the disappointment and pain to shoot the first man that looked at me cross-eyed. The chief thing that made me so mad was this: I had made up my mind to win that saddle or bust, for my gal was to be there. She's good lookin', smart, and likes me, and her old father is darned well fixed, and it would have been several points gained for me if she thought I was the best rider on Jack's ranch.

"We all made a good deal of fun of the way in which Folsom was treatin' the critter he was to ride. He didn't give Paolo nuthin' to eat the night before the race, and neither grub nor drink on the followin' mornin', and one of the boys asked him if a horse could run better when he was half-starved.

"Folsom took a little bit of a saddle fur his hoss, and he fixed up a bridle to suit himself, and when he was goin' to mount I noticed as how he must have weighed twenty pounds less than the other boys, fur he didn't have scarcely any clothes on, and had took all the weight out of his saddle and bridle that he could. The race was to be 'bout two miles.

"The little Eastern jockey had any quantity of dust, and a lot of the boys, includin' myself, had just received our pay fur the past six months, and hadn't had no chance to spend it; consequently, we was pooty flush, too, and got talkin money just before the race. One of the boys that had a little rye in him offered to bet Folsom two to one for all the money he had that Paolo would come in last. The little fellow's face flushed and he covered the money in Jack's hands, and then offered to take all the bets he could get at that odds. I and every other fellow thought it was just findin' money, so we banded out our piles, and there was some pretty lively bettin'.

"Of course the hosses and riders attracted lots of attention when they came out on the track, and the little jockey was stared at and talked about by everyone. The cow-punchers didn't have sense enough to 'tend to their business, but had to go 'round talkin' to their friends, and showin' off by runnin' up and down in front of the folks. The start was delayed an awful while by those darned chumps actin' so foolish, and the committeeman that was to start 'em got sick of waitin' and was swearin' like a Dutch pilot. Paolo stood at the starter's point, with Folsom settin' on him, keepin' quiet and not makin' a fool of himself, like the other fellers was.

"At last they was started off. Lone Star streaked to the front right away, goin' like a politician after an office, and all the others except Paolo keepin' up with him.

"The little fellow on Paolo lay back nearly three rods behind the rest, and kept droppin' further and further back, and seein' this, says I to my gal, 'Susie, that fool don't know enough to set on a fence, let alone a hoss.'

"'No,' says Susie, 'it's no use the Eastern folks tryin' to ride against our Texas boys.'

"The hosses had to go twice round a circle that was staked off, and when they come past us the fust time Lone Star was still leadin', with the others hangin' on to him, and all wallopin' their critters like Injuns. They jumped by, kickin' chunks of dirt at us, and turned round the bend before Paolo reached the place where Susie and I was settin'. Folsom hadn't so much as used his whip yet.

"'He won't be half round again before the other's have finished,' Susie said.

"'No, and 'tain't likely, neither,' says I; 'the feller ain't given that hoss nuthin' to eat fur ten days. What kin you expect of a hoss that's forgot what a square meal feels like?"

"I got to foolin' with the—I aint the fust man that's forgot to 'tend to business through foolin' with a gal, neither—and next time I looked up the boys was comin' round the last half still whippin' like mad, and I could see that their hosses had got 'bout all the runnin' they wanted, fur they had been greasin' round the track pooty lively. Our boys run and run until they was comin' round the bend and into the straight run fur where the judges was standin' and they was still clus together, that is, the four of 'em, but the boys had all they could do to keep goin', fur the hosses was 'bout run out. Next I looked fur Paolo, and seen him comin' up from the rear like the Galveston express. It 'peared to me that Paolo wasn't goin' no faster yet, but that the others was droppin' back to him. It was a lucky thing that the others was so fur ahead of Paolo, else, goin' as he was, he would have caught 'em sure as shootin', but I thought they was too close to the finish fur to be caught now. When all the horses come into the straight I was standin' up by this time, and if I hadn't been able to see every hoss as plain as the fingers on my hand I'd have thought that I was dreamin'. Paolo swung round the corner clus to the leaders—too darned clus to suit me—and then the infernal little cuss that was ridin' him changed his style altogether, and went to workin' on his own account. He had been half standin' in his stirrups all the time, so far, but now he sat down, gripped that broncho of his with his knees, tightened up his reins and worked his whip like fury. My fingers was workin', and I even let go the gal, I was so excited, and my heart thumped against my ribe like a steer's hoofs.

"Comin' like a tornado, that blamed Paolo closed up with the other hosses, takin' strides of fifteen feet to their ten, and takin' 'em twice as quick, runnin' as if he was jest out from the stable instead of havin' run two miles. The hosses was now clus to me, and I could see every hair on 'em, and I got a lesson in ridin' from Folsom, and my opinion of him changed pooty sudden. Our boys were all ridin' with their reins loose, and their hosses were reelin' from side to side as if they were drunk. Folsom kep' his rein tight, almost seemin' to hold his hoss steady by it, and ridin' him straight forward, 'stead of from side to side, and though the feller had been catchin' up as fast as any decent feller ud wish fur, he hadn't let all of hiss hoss out yet, and just before they got to me he shot out like a streak of lightnin' and I could feel my hair liftin' my sombrero off my head as the feller rushed past all the rest and let daylight between him and them.

"This was all so quick and so surprisin' there wasn't a sound made. I don't believe the folks thought they was seein' right, but there it was, all plain as daylight.

"'Oh, Sam!' Susie says, 'he's won.'

"'So the cuss has,' I says, watchin' the hosses still.

"The boys seein' Paolo pass 'em, whooped and yelled and lammed their hosses till their hides were raw; but in spite of all they could do the Eastern feller kep' drawin' right away from 'em, and galloped passed the judges with his hoss still pooty fresh and himself lookin' round over his shoulder at the fellers behind him. I tell you we felt pooty cheap after that, and the ones that had done the most blowin' felt the meanest.

"The Eastern feller didn't crow none, nor seem to be excited any, but jest acted as if nothing had happened. But when Jack was goin' to pay him the bets arter we got home to the ranch, as we was all gathered there, Folsom flushed up, and said: 'Gentlemen, I can't say that I have met with very cordial treatment, but I won't say anything about that. Now, about this money. I ask Mr. Jack Minton, as a favor to me, to distribute it to those who placed it in his hands; I have no wish and no intention to take it, and I know that the gentlemen here can't afford to throw their money away.

"Jack and none of us would agree to this for a long while, but Folsom wouldn't take it, and so Jack returned it to us. I tell you we felt a mean lot, and didn't like to show ourselves. The Eastern feller acted like a gentleman, and when he left Texas we gave him the greatest send-off ever seen in these parts."—Horseman.

"Old Bill."

William Hayward, the jockey, will, we hear, ride for Senator Hearst next season. We do not know that it is definitely settled, but we have heard that Matt Allen, who trains the stable horses, has negotiated with Hayward for his services since his jockey, Hamilton, signed with Mr. Belmont, says the N. Y. Spirit. The retirement of Mr. Cassatt leaves Hayward without an engagement. He could ride as a sort of free lance and secure all the practice he would need, but Hayward is a most conservative man. He prefers a steady engagement. It is wholly opposed to his temperament to fight for his position. He loves the security of position, is rather old-fashioned, and has no valet; he carries his own traps about and is always around when his stable's horse is running, and whether he is riding or not deems it his duty to be present and assist in making the horse's toilet.

Of course such actions are called "old-fashioned" now-a-days, but we could well wish we had more such old-fashioned jockeys and less low-browed blackguards in the profession with their "valets," their fine clothes and their swaggering dissipations. We have known William Hayward for twenty years and have watched his career since the day in 1867 when he won the Westchester Cup, at Jerome Park, on Loadstone, and we have never met a man who appeared nearer an ideal of a jockey. As a horseman he has forgotten more than the rest of the profession knows. As a man, whether as husband, father or friend, he would form the model for a monarch. He is never exalted by success or depressed by defeat. He pursues the even tenor of his way with that modesty which is the twin brother of genius. His fame is secure as the greatest jockey of his time, and in the "green and orange" jacket of Senator Hearst has a worthy champion.

The Standard.

[AS REVISED AND ADOPTED BY THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF TROTTING-HORSE BREEDERS, DECEMBER 14, 1887.]

IN order to define what constitutes a trotting-bred horseand to establish a BREED of trotters on a more intelligent basis, the following rules are adopted to control admission to the records of pedigrees. When an animal meets the requirements of admission and is duly registered, it shall be accepted as a standard trotting-bred animal:—

FIRST.—Any stallion that has himself a record of two minutes and thirty seconds (2:30) or better, provided any of his get has a record of 2:35 or better, or provided his sire or his dam is already a standard animal.

SECOND.—Any mare or gelding that has a record of 2:30 or better.

THIRD.—Any horse that is the sire of two animals with a record of 2:30 or better.

FOURTH.—Any horse that is the sire of one animal with a record of 2:30 or better, provided he has either of the additional qualifications: (1) A record himself of 2:35 or better. (2) Is the sire of two other animals with a record of 2:35 or better. (3) Has a sire or dam that is already a standard animal.

FIFTH.—Any mare that has produced an animal with a record of 2:30 or better.

SIXTH.—The progeny of a standsrd horse when out of a standard mare.

SEVENTH.—The female progeny of a standard horse when out of a mare by a standard horse.

EIGHTH.—The female progeny of a standard horse when out of a mare whose dam is a standard mare.

NINTH.—Any mare that has a record of 2:35 or better, and whose sire or dam is a standard animal.

Best Trotting Records.

1 mile—2:08¾, Maud S., against time, in harness, accompanied the distance by a running horse, Glenville, O., July 30, 1885 ..2:13½, best time in a race between horses, Maud S., Chicago, Ills., July 24, 1830.....2:12, Axtell, against time, accompanied by running horse—fastest stallion time, Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 11, 1889..... 2:13¾, Phallas, fastest heat by a stallion against other horses, Chicago, July 14, 1884.....2:12¾, Palo Alto, third heat in race at Stockton, Cal., Sept. 26, 1889.....2:15½, Jay-Eye-See, half-mile track, Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 14, 1887 ...2:15¾, Great Eastern, under saddle, third heat. Morrisania, N. Y., Sept. 22, 1877.. ...2:10¾, Jay-Eye-See, against time, best five-year-old record, Providence, R. I., Sept. 15, 1883.....2:16. Manzanita, third heat, best four-year-old record, Lexington, Ky., Sept. 3, 1876 .... 2:16, Edgemark, four-year old stallion record, Lexington, Ky., Oct. 18, 1889 .....2:12, Axtell, against time, accompanied by a runner, best three-year-old record, Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 11, 1889.....2:18 Sunol, 2 years, against time, San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 27, 1888 .....2:31½, Noraine, yearling, against time, San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 12, 1887.

2 miles—4:43 against time, Fanny Witherspoon, Chicago, Ill., Sept. 25, 1885.

3 miles—7:21½, Huntress, harness, Brooklyn, L. I., Sept. 21, 1872.

4 miles—10.34½, Longfellow, wagon, California, Dec 31, 1869.

5 miles—13:00, Lady Mac, harness, San Francisco, Cal., April 2, 1874.

10 miles—27:23¼, Controller, harness, San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 23, 1878.

20 miles—58:25, Captain McGowan, harness, half-mile track, Boston, Oct. 31, 1865.

Pacing Records at One Mile.

Johnston, harness, against time, Chicago, Ills., Oct 8, 1884, 2:06¼.

Brown Hal, best stallion record, Cleveland, Ohio, July 31, 1889, 2.12½.

Westmont, July 10, 1884, Chicago, Ills., with running mate, 2:01¾.

Ed Rosewater, two years old, Council Bluffs, Iowa, Nov. 3, 1888, 2:20½:

Yolo Maid, 3 years old, San Francisco, Oct. 13, 1888, 2:14.

Gold Leaf, four years old, 2:11¼ on August 17, 1889, at Napa.

Arrow, five years old, 2:13¾, made at Cleveland, Ohio, August 1, 1888.

Fastest Time on Record.

MILES.	RUNNING.
¼	Jim Miller, 2, Deer Lodge (Mont.), Aug. 16, 1888	0:21½
¼	†Sleepy Dick, a, Kiowa (Kan.), Nov. 24, 1888
⅜	Cyclone, a, 120 lbs., Helena (Mont.), Aug. 28, 1889	0:34½
½	Geraldine, 4, 122 lbs., Westchester Course, Aug 30, 1889	0:46
⅝	Britannie, 5, 122 lbs., Westchester Course, Aug. 31, 1889	0:59
⅝	Fordham, a, 115 lbs., Westchester Course, Oct. 4, 1889	0:59
⅝	El Rio Rey 2, 126 lbs., Westchester Course, Aug. 31, 1889	1:11
⅝	Tipstaff, 3, 107, Westchester Course, Oct. 4, 1889	1:11
⅝	Britannie, 5, 110 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 5, 1889	1:26 2-5
	Ten Broeck, 5, 110 lbs., Louisville, May 24, 1877 (against time)	1:39¾
1	Maori 4, 105 lbs, Chicago, July 12, 1889, (in a race)	1:39 4-5
1 1-16	Wheeler T., 3, 98 lbs., St. Louis, June 1, 1888	1:47¼
1 1-16	Evlton 4, 106, Chicago, Ill., June 24, 1889	1:47¾
1¼	Terra Cotta, 4, 124 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, June 23, 1888	1:3
1 3-16	Joe Cotton, 5, 109½ lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 7, 1887	2: 0¾
1¼	Kingston, 5, 122 lbs., Gravesend, Sept. 21, 1889	2:06½
1 m	500 yds. Ben d'Or, 4, 115 lbs., Saratoga, July 25, 1882	2:10¾
1⅜	†Triboulet, 4, 117 lbs., San Francisco, April 26, 1888	2:21½
	†Richmond, 6, 122 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, June 27, 1888
	Firenzi, 4, 113 lbs., Monmouth Park, Aug. 2, 1888
1½	Luke Blackburn, 3, 102 lbs., Monmouth Park, Aug. 17, '80	2:34
	Jim Guest, 4, 98 lbs., Chicago, (Washington Park, July 24 '86)
1⅝	Hindoocraft, 3, 75 lbs., Westchester, Aug. 27, 1889	2:48
1¾	Glidel a, 5, 116 lbs., Saratoga, Aug. 5, 1882	3:01
1⅞	Enigma, 4, 90 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 15, 1885	3:20
2	Ten Broeck, 5, 110 lbs., Louisville, May 29, 1877	3:27¼
2⅛	Monitor, 4, 110 lbs., Baltimore, Oct. 20, 1880	3:44½
2¼	Springbok, 5, 114 lbs., Saratoga, July 29, 1875	3:56¾
	Preakness, a, 114 lbs.,
2⅛	Aristides, 4, 104 lbs., Lexington, May 13, 1876	4:27½
2⅜	Ten Broeck, 4, 104 lbs., Lexington, Sept. 16, 1876	4:58½
2⅜	Hubbard, 4, 107 lbs., Saratoga, Aug. 9, 1873	4: 8¾
3	Drake Carter 4, 115 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 6, 1884	5:24
4	Ten Broeck, 4, 104 lbs., Louisville, Sept. 27, 1876	7:15¾

MILES.	HEAT RACES.
¼	Sleepy Dick, a, Kiowa (Kan.), Nov. 24, 1888	0:21¾—0:22¾
¼	Bogue, a, 113 lbs., Helena (Mont.), Aug. 24, 1888	0:48 —0:48
¼	Kittie Pease, 4, Dallas (Tex.), Nov. 2, 1887	1:00 —1:00
¼	Sadie McNairy, 3, 98 lbs., Chicago, July 2, 1883	1:02¾—1:03
¾	Lizzie S., 5, 118 lbs., Louisville, Sept 28, 1883	1:13¼—1:13¾
1	Bounce, 4, 90 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 7, 1881	1:42 —1:41¾
1	3 in 5. L'Argentine, 6, 115 lbs., St. Louis, June 14, 1879	1:43—1:41 —1:47¾
1 1-16	Slipalong, 5, 115 lbs., Chicago (Wash. Park), Sept. 2, 1885	1:01¾—1:48
1¼	Gabriel, 4, 112 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 23, 1880	1:56 —1:56
1¼	Glenmore, 5, 114 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 25, 1880	2:10 —2:14
1½	Keno, 6, Toledo, Sept. 16, 1887 (1st and 3d heats)	2:43½—2:45
2	Miss Woodford, 4, 107½ lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 20, 1884	3:33 —3:31¾
3	Norfolk, 4, 100 lbs., Sacramento, Sept. 24, 1885	5:27¾—5:29¾
4	Ferida, 4, 105 lbs., Sheepshead bay, Sept. 15, 1880	7:23¾—7:41

†Made in a heat race.
*Doubtful, and made in a heat race.

The Horseman says that S. L. Caton, well known as the developer of the great Bell Boy and other good ones, arrived in Chicago last Friday and proceeded to California on Saturday with a carload of thirteen choice trotting-bred animals, mostly youngsters, from the farm of William Simpson, at Cuba, N. Y., which will be wintered at Los Angeles, and return East about the first of April. Among them was a sister to Brown, 2:18¾, and Williams, 2:20½, and a three-year-old by Electioneer, dam by George Wilkes, that is very promising. As a whole they were as fine a lot as one would wish to look at. The sires represented were Harold, Belmont, Young Jim, Combat, Monaco, Mambrino King, Hermes, and Electioneer, while the dams are mostly known to fame, among which are Mattie Hunter and Cora Belmont, sister to Nutwood. Mr. Caton will give his horses a rest of a week or ten days at Albuquerque, N. M. Mr. Simpson is a wealthy New York banker, whose stock farm is located at Cuba, of which Mr. Caton has had charge during the present year. Few establishments in the country can boast of a finer lot of producing dams than this one. Just before leaving the farm a large weanling filly arrived from Kentucky which Mr. Caton considers very near perfection. She is by Bell Boy, three-year-old record 2:19½, dam Noontide, 2:20½, by Harold (sire of Maud S., 2:08¾); second dam Midnight, dam of Jay-Eye-See, 2:10.

LOS ANGELES.

MONDAY.

Four day's steady rain put the Los Angeles track in such a condition at the beginning of last week that racing was out of the question and for a time it seemed as if the racing programme of the Tenth Agricultural District would have to be abandoned altogether, but on Thursday of last week the bright sun showed itself again and the hearts of disheartened horsemen went away up again. Just a little sunshine is all this track needs and when the bell tapped Monday, Oct. 28th, to call out the starters for the first race, the course was lumpy and in many places very heavy, but still horses could go on it and go they did, in the presence too, of one of the best crowds seen in recent years at the track upon an opening day. Many of the old familiar faces, seen all around the circuit were there, but in the main the crowd was made up of local people, people new to the constant race-goer.

The events of the day were three in number, one trotting and two running, the first to come off being a three minute class trot. The starters were L. J. Felton's br g Othello, C. A. Durfee's b h Raymon, J. D. Dunn's ch m Orphan Girl, John T. Dodson's br m Duchess, and J. B Kennedy's b g Danger. Very little betting was done and the race was rather tame, Danger taking it in straight heats. It the first heat they got off well together. Raymon was in front, with Danger in second place as they went around the first turn, the others trailing, Othello at a break. The positions were held until they got well into the straight, when Raymon, being crowded by Danger, went off his feet in a tangled break. Danger kept his feet and trotted in an easy winner, Raymon second, Orphan Girl third, Duchess fourth. Othello's bad actions cost him his distance. Time, 2:30¾.

The second heat fell to Danger. He had the pole at the start and never lost it, staying in the lead for the entire distance. On the backstretch he made several short runs. Raymon was in second place until the straight was reached, when Duchess passed him and finished second. Raymon got third place and Orphan Girl fourth) Time, 2:30.

Danger was again to the fore in the start for the third heat, and stayed there, going the first half fast, and finishing the last slowly, winning the heat and race easy, Raymon second, Orphan Girl third. Duchess made a bad break as she swung into the first turn and never recovered from it, finishing outside the flag. Time 2:33½.

SUMMARY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 28th, 1889. Trotting; three minute class.

J. B. Kennedy's b g Danger, Olymphia—by Ethan Allen, Jr., Kennedy	1	1	1
C. A. Durfee's b h Raymon, Simmons..Lady Raymon...Durfee	2	3	2
J. D. Dunn's ch m Orphan Girl, Del Sur—untraced ... Dunn	3	4	3
J. F. Dodson's br m Duchess, A. W. Richmond—by Overland.. Dodson	4	2 dis
L. J. Felton's br g Othello, Sultan Atlantis... Felton	dr

Time—2:30¾, 2:30, 2:33½.

Running; Two Year Olds; ½ Mile.

The runners were next called out, and nine starters faced the flag in the above event. They were Ben Hill's b g Steve Stroud, Chino Ranch's b f Idle Bell, John Gries' ch g Washington Bartlett, L. J. Rose's b f Rose Mead, N. A. Covarrubias' b g Gambo, Kelly & Samuels' b g Pliny, L. J. Felton's b c King David, and M. A. Forster's ch f Juanita. Pliny was the only thing in it. In the auction pools he sold for $20 to $12 for the field, and $7 for Steve Stroud. A good many people fancied Stroud, and there was a strong tip out on him, but he sulked badly at the post, delaying the start for half an hour, and when the flag at length went down he broke away and then went over the fence. Pliny shoved in front at once and was never headed. Gambo and Rose Mead were at the head of the pack. Cook, on Pliny, laid the colt back and gave him an easy run down the straight, finishing two lengths away from Gambo, second, and three from Rose Mead, third. Time :49½.

SUMMARY.

Same Day—Running. Half mile. Two-year-olds.

Kelly & Samuels' b g Pliny by Flood, dam Precious, 107 Cook	1
N. A. Covarrubias' b g Gambo by Wildidle, dam Dottie Idle, 107 Raney	2
Harry Rose's b f Rose Mead by Wildidle, dam Duchess, 107 Newell	3

Time, 0:49½.

Steve Stroud, 107, Idle Bell, 107, Washington Bartlett, 107, Sorrel Filly, 107, King David, 107, and Juanita, 107, ran unplaced.

Running, All Ages—One Mile.

The above was the closing event of the day, and four starters came to the post, Al Moraine's g g John Treat, 6, 115, W. L. Appleby's b c Wild Oats, 3, 109, Ben Hill's ch g Mikado 4, 116, and Kelly & Samuels' br m Welcome, 4, 115. Pools opened with Mikado a warm favorite at $40 to $35 for the field, and $7 for Welcome.

The favorite, who was regarded by the talent as almost a sure thing, suffered a surprising defeat. With very little trouble they were sent away. Joe Narvaez had the mount on Treat, and when the flag dropped he rustled the gray up and shot him through the gang and entered the first turn a length to the good. Narvaez kept him going, and on the backstretch was four lengths in front, and setting a lively pace to kill the others in the heavy going. He succeeded. Mikado made a play for him on the second turn, and got up to within a length of him at the head of the straight, but he was tired already, when Hitchcock began his work. The chestnut had all the run taken out of him. Treat was in trouble, too, but the race was already won, and he went under a length winner, with Mikado second and Welcome a poor third. Time, 1:43¾.

SUMMARY.

Same Day—Running Mile dash. All ages.

Al Moraine's g g John Treat, 6, by Shilon, dam by Norfolk, 115 lbs. Narvaez	1
Ben Hill's ch g Mikado, 4, by Shilo, dam Margery, 116 ...Hitchcock	2
Kelly & Samuels' br m Welcome, 4, by Warwick, dam Aeola, 115 Cook	3

Time, 1:43¾.

Wild Oats, 109, ran unplaced.

An exchange recommends the following mixture for blacking harness: Melt together, with gentle heat, three ounces of turpentine and two ounces of white wax: then add one ounce of ivory black and one dram of indigo, each in fine powder, the two well mixed together. Take the mixture from the fire and stir until cold. Wash the harness in warm water, and when it is nearly dry give it a coat of neat's foot oil; let it dry in and then with a brush put on a thin coating of the dressing; let it dry, then polish with an ordinary shoe brush. Not only will the harness be given a fine polish, but if the treatment is repeated occasionally the leather will be preserved for a long time.

The Big Betting Men.

Something About the Plungers who Have Come and Then Gone.

When Plunger Walton was winning so much money in this country and in England it was freely asserted that certain well known jockeys were riding for his money all the time, but there came a period when, according to the scandal mongers of that time, a counter combination was formed against him, and he lost so much money that he left England owing Charles Archer and others large sums of money. It will be many a day before that memorable scene at Monmouth Park, when James E. Kelly publicly denounced Walton to the judges as a manipulator of races, utterly fades away.

So, too, when H. O Bernard was on the high tide of success some six or seven years ago. Though this well known speculator told me in 1884, that he had lost upwards of a million dollars on the turf in fifteen years, he, too, enjoyed the unenviable distinction of having at some time had a party of jockeys at his service, ready to do his bidding, and there came a time at Brighton Beach when the public led by Geo. Sterling, were so incensed at the result of a race said to be influenced by Bernard, that he had to be escorted from the track by a squad of police.

And yet, if the truth was known, none of these plungers really earned the name they enjoyed. Just as the report now goes that the colored plunger, Charlie Jordan, was ordered away from Washington Park last summer because of his suspicious winnings, so it was with Bernard and Walton in their prime. They were recipients of certain information as to the real capacity of horses engaged in races, and, being capitalists, were able to back them heavily, and the inevitable result was that the ring of bookmakers squealed and charges of fraud were made.

But just as sure as night follows day bankruptcy will overtake plungers. "Plungers" in this sense means foolish bettors who play wildly without any knowledge whatever of horses' form. Compared with these men's operations the daily transactions of men like Mr. M. Dwyer are not to be mentioned in the same breath. Every big bet ever made by that astute turfman had solid foundation.

I recollect the day at Sheepshead Bay opening meeting when Hanover and Kingston started from the Dwyer stable, while they were opposed by Badge (who had on the day before run a mile in 1:40), Eolian and Hypocrite. The most unaccountable thing connected with that race was the good price that could always be got against either Hanover or Kingston or both.

It was the chance of a lifetime to land a moderate fortune, and Mr. Michael Dwyer took occasion to do it. He first sent commissioners all around the ring to back Hanover straight and place, and Kingston for a place, he intending to have his two horses finish that way. When his commissioners returned and reported that there was still a good price to be got against Kingston for a place on the supposition that Badge could and would "split" Hanover and Kingston, the great plunger reached deep down into his capacious pockets for all the thousand-dollar bills that he had left and sent his men into the ring again to back Kingston for yet more money for a place.

Though the two horses ran first and second, as expected, if it hadn't been for a trifling circumstance, Mr. Dwyer might have quit a loser on that track instead of the big winner that he was. All who saw the race were convinced that Kingston could have won if permitted. Hamilton was on him, and but for the brief interview that both Mike Dwyer and Billy Lakeland had with him just before the race he would have "upset the apple-cart" to a certainty.

"Did you tell Hamilton to be second to let Hanover win?" asked Lakeland of Mr. Dwyer.

"I don't know. I suppose that he took it for granted that Hanover was to win," was the answer.

"Well, you'd better see him and tell him,' answered Lakeland. And it took both Lakeland and Mr. Dwyer some little time to convince Hamilton that he was all right, that it was within the law to win with either of the two horses. Finally Lakeland positive'y assured him that he would be responsible if there was any trouble about it and then the race was run and Mr. Dwyer scooped in bets three different ways.

Here was a case where Mr. Dwyer knew exactly what he was doing; know that his horses were both well; knew that Badge's mile in 1:40 the day before was one good reason why he was not likely to run it again as fast; and putting his money down with perfect safety, picked it up again with magnificent interest. Compare with such operations as this, the doings of Charlie Jordan, William Walker, Andrew, Thompson, etc. are but child's play.

The race which is said to have netted Walker, Jordan, etc., over $30,000 (that won by Punster, Jr.) was really a very small bet of $200 against about $3,000, and, on Jordan's part was a pure accident; for intending to put the $100 on some other horse, he met a friend in the ring who had taken a long chance on Punster Jr. at about 40 to one and Jordan's $100 went on the same colt to an average price of 28½ to 1.

"Anybody who follows Charley Jordan's bets will go broke." was the emphatic declaration of one of the closest friends, and any man familiar with the comet like careers of so many of our race-track plungers who, however, do not survive more than the season.

Much capital has been made about Mr. Robert Campbell's immense winnings, alleged to have been carried in a carpet bag to a bank. Any race-goer knows that Compbell is Mr. E. J. Baldwin's trainer; that he owned Protection, winner of the Junior Champion Stake worth over $25,000 and that he had a perfectly legitimate reason for carrying so much money in a carpet-bag, in as much as he was looking for a place to invest it.

William Walker, another colored member of the alleged trust, is one of the shrewdest judges of horseflesh in this country. This is the jockey who rode the famous Ten Broeck in all his races, against time and against other horses. Walker is said to be one of the best judges of "form" in the country, and he has a right to his winnings on that ground alone.

As for the charge that the colored jockeys Henderson, Hamilton and Murphy are in the alleged colored trust, it is the veriest nonsense. Would such keen judges of racing as the Dywer Brothers, August Belmont and others keep constantly putting these jockeys on their horses if they had any ground for supposing that there was a "combination?" Hamilton has just been engaged for next season by Mr. Belmont at a salary of $10,000 a year. Would this have come to pass if there was any substantial charge against Hamilton's honesty?

The American Trotting Association.

The following persons and horses are suspended for non-payment of entrance and other causes, viz:—

Sept. 28th, 1889. By order of the North Dakota Board of Agriculture, Grand Forks, Dakota:—

W. H. Garbutt, Hudson, Wis., and b m Lula H.
P. M. Chandler, Aberdeen, South Dakota, and blk m Amy C.
Cady Colby, Grand Forks, Dak., and blk g Ned S.
H. M. French, Minneapolis, Minn., and ch g Bologna.
I. W. Norris, Aberdeen, South Dakota, and br m Daisy.
Wm. Colter, Ashland, Wis., and gr g King.

Oct. 5th, 1889. By order of the West Michigan Agricultural and Industrial Society, Grand Rapids, Mich:—

E. J. Hyde, Ypsilanti, Mich., and blk h Rockett.
John Johnson, Big Rapids, Mich., and —— Little Hero.

Oct. 4th, 1889. By order of the Southwestern Michigan Fair Association, Three Rivers, Mich:—

Hiram, H. McMurtrie, Moorepark, Mich., and br h Wilkesmont.

Oct. 7th, 1889. By order of the Wellsville Fair Association, Wellsville, Mo.:—

Joel Corey, St. Louis, Mo., and —— Lady Belle.
Thomas Wand, St. Louis, Mo., and —— Lady Belle.

Oct. 4th, 1889. By order of the Union County Agricultural Society, Marysville, Ohio:—

S. Heffner, Greenville, Ohio, and —— Dick Executor.
George Death, Greenville Ohio, and ch g Charley D (pacer).

Oct. 4th, 1889. By order of the Overland Park Club, Denver, Col.:—

C. E. Pooler, Deer Trail, Col., and ch h Norton.
Levi M. Smith, —— —— for two years.

Oct 4th, 1889. By order of the Northwestern Agricultural Society, East Saganaw, Mich.:—

L. Sanderson, Lansing, Mich, and —— Aaron.

Oct. 3d, 1889. Expelled. By order of the St. Louis Jockey Club, St. Louis, Mo.:—

C. C. Bates, —— —— and b g Thalberg.

J. H. Steiner,
Secretary.

Kaiser Wilhelm's Stables.

To all lovers of horses—and he who does not love the beautiful, intelligent creatures, whose eye never rests with pleasure upon their glossy coats, curves of strength and grace, and limbs instinct with life and action, must be either a misanthrope (on the principle, or rather against the principle, of "love me, love my dog"), or a donkey-driver—to all other classes of mankind except these two, one of the most interesting sights in a capital city is that of the Royal stables, writes a correspondent in the Prince Edwards Island Agriculturist. The Konigliche Marstall of Emperor Wilhelm II. in Berlin is no exception. The building is situated in a street opening into a large square at the south side of the palace, with which it communicates by telephone. Going under the deep archway of the main entrance, you open a door to the left, and are at once in an atmosphere emphatically "horsey," though not a horse is to be seen. Here are other people waiting to be shown through the stables, and you mechanically join the long row sitting bolt upright upon stiff little cushioned chairs, and gazing with absorbing interest upon the colored prints of celebrated horses on the opposite wall. Grooms, footmen and coachmen lounge about the room, smoking of course, or swaggering in and out with the whole glory of the Hohenzollern House resting upon their individual shoulders. The air is thick with the odor which is to the nostrils of the groom or jockey as that of a pine forest to the poet. Who shall say which has the finer sense? To one comes a breath, and he hears the plaintive sighing of the woods; he sees cool green recesses and walks over softly carpeted mounds; layer upon layer of brown pine needles grow warm in stray sunbeams, filling the air with their sweetness; or clouds gather, the winds rises to fury, the low moanings to cries of anguish, branch tossing upon branch, green masses upon green flung back again, twisting, writhing, crashing, falling, the whole forest shaking and rocking to its very depths. And his soul also goes out on the winds and returns larger and fuller of energy.

What of the other? Scenteth he not strength and the rushing of wind in the breath from those quivering nostrils? The sharp music of whips, the low rolling of wheels, and the cries of horsemen fill his ears. Clouds are under the feet of the horses; their panting is like distant surge and the foam of their flying scatters like snow; they breathe out fire, their coming is like the rush of the mighty wind. Hear the trampling of hoofs and the earth quaking for fear! If you indulge in any reflections of this nature, you are likely to be interrupted just here by the entrance of a short, dumpy looking personage in a cocked hat and long coat flapping about a pair of gaitered calves in a vain attempt to cover them with the dignity befitting muscles waxed gross in the service of royalty. A most unlikely vessel of precious poetical ointment "The Diener, meine Damen und Herrn," he informs the company, and all rise and follow him through a small court to the door of the stables. How light and warm and clean everything is! And here in a long row of fifty stalls are the favorite horses of the present emperor, every one of them coal black, shining and glossy as a raven's wing, of a nearly uniform size, standing perhaps fourteen and a half hands high, clear but muscular limbs, small heads and intelligent eyes, as fine a show of carriage horses as one could wish to see. Each one is robed in a small yellow blanket embroidered with red, and tied up in his place by a halter of clean, white webbing. In each corner of the blankets is an embroidered crown with the name Wilhelm underneath, and each stall post is topped with a gilded crown.

As in horse life happiness depends upon condition, these surely cannot desire another Elysium than this, even could they wander forever in green pastures groomless and halterless. But, oh, for the poor animals that stand in tumble-down barns shivering in the cold blasts that sweep through and through every gaping crack, nosing wistfully in the handful of musty hay flung down the night before at the end of a broken pitchfork, and thankful even for morning, with its cruel frosty iron bit thrust remorselessly into the sore unwilling mouth. Toss your heads, royal creatures, and think, if you think at all: "Oh, they're used to it." Happy you and they never to wonder "why?"

Note the printed placards over the head of each stall. They tell the names of the animals, those of their sires and dams, and in some cases their ages. Those four beautiful ones standing there together—Hammerstein," "Faber," "Vido" and "Dioscur"—are favored by the Kaiser before all the rest. So says the guide, in a tone of proprietorship of the whole establishment, the Kaiser included, while a groom rubbing down one of the horses redoubles his efforts in a mute protest and claim to partial ownership himself. His white cap, scarlet jacket, black plush breeches and leathern gaiters, strengthen his claim wonderfully, from a picturesque point of view, but render it, in this sober-beclad generation of gentlemen, less likely to become established. But pass on now to other rows of stalls, most of them occupied (there are four hundred animals all told) by horses of all sizes and of every shade except white and gray, but a sort of fawn color with black points prevailing.

Yonder is a row of very fine bays, but the center of attraction at this stage of inspection is no less an important piece of horse flesh than "Alexander," the favorite horse of the "Dear Old Kaiser," as Wilhelm I is familiarly called. He is a large chestnut, standing fully sixteen hands high, and seemingly quite aware of his own importance. He is now quite old, and as the Germans say, lamm-fromm, or gentle as a lamb. How he enjoys the homage paid to him as each member of the company steps up to bestow the customary rub and pat! The delicate nostrils quiver, the lips turn up, the fine head moves up and down caressingly against the hands that caress in turn for the sake of the beloved dead master. A little further on is the favorite riding horse of the present emperor, of the same color and style as the other, but somewhat smaller, and decidedly of a temper not to be trifled with.

In the center of the quadrangle about which the stalls are ranged is a large roofed-in space used as a riding school. The guide throws open a door and every one presses up against a high plank wall on which a dim yellow atmosphere thick with flying dust is visible. The tallest, by dint of much tiptoeing can just manage to get the upper halves of their eyes above the top of the wall, and are rewarded by the sight of more clouds of dust and a few dark forms moving about in circles therein. Very interesting and exceedingly satisfactory especially to the people whom no amount of stretching, both by limb and by neck, can raise to the seeing point.

Retracing your steps and passing over another court the next objects of interest shown are the carriages and equipages used by the royal family, both on common and upon state occasions. The former was one of the very plainest, small closed carriages with dark red painted wheels and springs. The state equipages are more elaborate, profusely decorated with gold and silver ornaments, lined with delicate colors in satin, brocade, silk and velvet. One quaint looking affair, with wheels like those of an immense hay wagon, is entirely overlaid with gold and the coats-of arms on the panels crusted thick with imitation jewels. Frederick the Great once rode in it, but not so easy, "one dare swear," as upon his renowned shimmel, which by the way, may still be seen, at least his hide with a few remaining hairs streched over a wooden frame, in one of the rooms of the Hohenzollen museum. You have heard the old saying.

"If wishes were horse beggars might ride." What if the beggars were set aside of the real unridden horses in the world? In truth a brave show that, and no conjured-up steeds taking to themselves wings, the whiles rags and tatters creep painfully over the stones below. A brave show, and one to lend speed to the feet of the horses themselves. How the tags ends would flutter, how the unkempt hair stream out on the wind, how the thin fingers would clutch at the name and saddle girth, and the poor tired feet cling for dear life to the hot sides of the flying steeds! A brave show, but one which the world will never see. Poor beggars! they may not ride, and the high horses go unridden.

The harness rooms still remain unseen. They are in the second story—two long rooms filled with sets of harness, whips, saddles, rosettes, plumes, ect., all in glass cases, ready for use at a moment's notice, and kept in the most exquisite order. Two saddles of beautiful workmanship, with cloths of embroidered silk and adorned with jewels, are especially noticeable. They were a present from the Sultan of Turkey to the Kaiser and Kaserin but have never been used. The finest harness of all is a set for eight horses, silver mounted, profusely ornamented models of the Prussian crown, the double eagle, and other designs of the same metal. Close beside is a set of trappings belonging to the seventeenth century, of light colored leather, trimmed with puffings of green and rose-colored silk. The guide hurries on, expectant of his fees, and the scraps of customary information fall scantier. But you have heard and seen enough to know that, with the exception of the feathers and silver cord of the footmen and coachmen, the ordinary driving appointment of the emporor of Germany are no more than may, with good taste, be displayed by the plainest gentleman in all the land. Be not deluded by any pretentions which either the befeathered and beribboned gentleman aforesaid, or the still more high-stepping grooms may make to the royal crown and possessions, particularly at the door upon departure, where would be noble hands graciously condescend to effect exchanges between your pocket and their own with a celerity and ease quite impossible except to those "to the manner born."

"All the king's horses and all the king's men!" If they fail, what can the king himself do for poor Humpty.Dumpty?

BRAINS AND HEART.

Judge Goodwin's Opinion of Marcus Daly.

Judge Goodwin, the veteran, and able editor of the Salt Lake Tribune, has been making a visit to Montana. From his letter dated at Anaconda and published in the Tribune of Sunday last, the following is taken:

Looking out from the upper works one sees all their mighty outlines, he sees in the distance a prosperous growing town that has been called into existence by these works, and realizes what a transfiguration comes when a mine capable of supplying 1,000,000 tons of ore annually is developed by shrewd brains. Of course the head of the concern is a little king, and as he is absent and does not know that I am writing this letter, I can devote a few lines to him without creating the suspicion that his presence prompted them. The dullest man can see the works and the mine, and can see that it took a masterful brain to develop the one and construct the other. But there is more to Marcus Daly than all that. His presence is felt all around. You look up at the electric light overhead and understand that it is but a little offshoot from the dynamos that supply the great works. You drink a glass of water and you know that almost without noise a certain man supplied the perfect water system to the town. Out a little way is a beautiful race track, and there are evidences of expenditure of some more thousands by this same man, while all around are people engaged in manifold enterprises and apparently prosperous, and when the matter is inquired into it will be seen that behind the actor there is a substantial shadow supporting the man. One example shows how things are. There was a fire entailing great loss to a man in Butte, last Sunday, On Monday morning as the man stood surveying the ruins, a little man tapped him on the shoulder and said: "Brace up. There is a credit of $50,000 placed to your account over in the bank; brace up and go to work." Big brains are not uncommon, big hearts are not so very rare, but big brains are not always over big hearts.

Racing at Spokane.

Spokane Falls, Oct. 17th:—The attendance was better than on any previous day and the weather first class. The special trot was between Fantasie and Alta, postponed, from the previous day, each having won two heats. Fantasie won. Time, 2:28.

Running, 600 yards, Cyclone 1, White Cloud 2, Funny 3. Time, 0:31 1-5.

Running, three-quarters of a mile, Sleepy Dick 1, Repetta 2, Little Dick 3, Roly Boly, the favorite, 4. Time, not reported.

Trotting, 2:28 class, Blondie won in straight heats, Maud Knox 2, Bishop Hero 3. Time, 2:29¼, 2:29¾, 2:27.

October 18th.—Attendance good and weather perfect.

Running, one mile and repeat, Lady Duffy won in straight heats, Black Bingo 2, Little Dick 3. Time, 1:47½, 1:50.

Gentlemen's trotting race, for roadsters, Sancho, Major and Belle each won a heat, when the race was postponed. Time, 2:59¾, 2:57½, 2:59.

Special race, trotters and pacers, Clatawa (pacer), won first heat, Bishop Hero 2, Maud Knox 3, Stemwinder 4. Time, 2:31. This race was also postponed.

October 19th.—There was a very good attendance to-day.

Gentlemen's roadster race, postponed from yesterday, Sancho won two heats and the race, Major 2, Belle 3. Best time, 2:57¼.

Special race, trotters and pacers, postponed from yesterday, Maud Knox won in straight heats, Bishop Hero 2, Stemwinder 3, Clatawa distanced in last heat; best time, 2:29¼.

The most interesting event of the week was the free for all trotting race, which commenced to-day. Only two heats were trotted, the race being postponed till Monday. Edwin C. sold a hot favorite in the pools and mutuals. The first heat was a dead heat between Little Joe and Alta, Edwin C. 3, Fantastie 4; time, 2:26. Second heat: This was the finest race ever seen on this track. Coming into the homestretch all four horses were lapped. Little Joe finished first amid great excitement, Edwin C. 2, Alta 3, Fantastie 4; time, not reported.

October 21.—The first event of to-day was the unfinished free for all trot, Little Joe having one heat. Little Joe won the first heat, Edwin C. the second and third, and Little Joe the fourth heat and race; time, 2:27, 2:23¾, 2;25½, 2:26½.

Mixed race, trotting and pacing, Maud Knox won the first heat in a jog over the pacers Clatawa and Croquette in 2:36, Clatawa breaking all the way round. The race was then postponed.

October 22.—The finish of the mixed race, postponed from yesterday, closed the Jockey Club race meeting this afternoon. Maud Knox, who had one heat to her credit, won the first two, giving her the race, Clatawa second; time, 2.29½, 2;29¼.—Rural Spirit.

Former English Racing Establishments.

Fifty years ago Lord George Bentinck—"The Napoleon of the Turf" as he has been styled—was at the height of his power, and at his instigation sweeping reforms were made. He punished delinquents for trivial offences with most unrelenting severity. He also framed rules, or was the cause of their being made, for the guidance of officials, and when broken he fined the offenders without compunction. He was the first who gave high prices for yearlings and brood mares. Before his time brood mares were usually bought for about £200 or £250, whereas, through his influence, the price was quickly raised to £700 or £800 apiece. He had the largest breeding establishments in England, at Doncaster and Danebury, containing about seventy brood mares, many of which were the most costly and best bred mares in existence, besides several stallions. Camerine he purchased for 1,500 guineas, and a yearling afterward called Glenlivet, for 1,000 guineas at Sir Mark Wood's sale, Hare Park, Newmarket. He purchased of Lord Jersey, Bay Middleton for a stallion, for which he gave £4 000, a price never given before for any three year old that had broken down and was not fit for racing.

Before his time good looking and well-bred yearlings could have been bought for £250 or £300 each. A case in point was D'Egville, one of the finest horses and best bred yearlings in England, that was bought as a two-year-old for Lord George for £500, since which time the price has been steadily rising in every decade. Moreover, Lord George transformed Goodwood from a plating meeting to one of the most aristocratic and fashionable of the year, and he ran more horses during the four days than perhaps were ever run by any one person before or since. At his own expense he leveled and widened the course and improved the training ground, and all this after he left Danbury, at which place he had expended a small fortune not long before, and where, as he said, he was "literally walking on gold." His betting, and in fact everything that he did in connection with the turf, was done in the same costly and extensive way. These few facts will be sufficient to show that Lord George Bentinck inaugurated a new era on the turf. That he did good in so extensively patronizing the sport and in spending so much on its surroundings no one will doubt.

When Lord George gave up racing and betook himself to politics, Mr. Mostyn purchased his stud, in which undertaking Lord Clifden afterward joined him, and these two raced with success. These were the days of heavy betting, Harry Hill and others making a ten-thousand-pound yearling book on the Derby, so that one could in those days have won a very large stake on this race alone. About the year 1852 stud companies began to be formed for breeding race horses on a large scale, and individuals were actively employed in doing the same thing. Rawcliffe at York and Middle Park at Eltham were among the most prominent. But before these institutions were formed there were in existence many other establishments for the purpose, the Queen's at Hampton Court, Mr. Jacque's, Eastby Abbey, Theobold Park, Willesden, and many others. But at that time few were a success, or thought to be so. The Middle Park Stud to the owner was a veritable gold mine, and certainly it was a great success, financially speaking, if in no other way; but the Rawcliffe was a disastrous undertaking for the shareholders, and it ultimately came to grief just as Cobham and other stud companies did afterward. There were too many paid officials engaged in it; from this cause and the want of proper supervision the speculation was a loss to the company, and after some years the establishment was broken up.—John Day, in the Fortnightly Review.

Last Saturday, G. Valensin, of the Valensin Stock Farm, re. purchased from Mr. Morgan Hill, of Madrone Station, Santa Clara County, a chestnut filly 3 years old, by Sidney, dam Grey Dale. This is a full sister to Longworth 2:19. Mr. Valensin has of late bought quite a number of the get of Sidney, which he had sold in the past, the Sidney's showing up even better than the owner anticipated.

Grim's Gossip.

Hickok is carefully putting the finishing touches on Kitty Almont 2:22¾, but as she is still lame it is improbable she will lower her record.

O. A. Hickok only bars Johnston in the pacing class. He says Adonis can be backed against any other pacer in the world for money.

W. Easton, the well-known auctioneer, will sell twenty-four or twenty-five head of California trotters, the property of Dan McCarty, on November 6th.

Monaghan who rode very successfully here last fall and created a very favorable impression, returned last week, and has since been engaged by Palo Alto to ride for them.

The Montana Stock Journal says there is a horse disease in that section that is killing the horses. The disease appears to be a spinal affection. Horses attacked live but a few days.

Frank 2.20 the chestnut pacer which B. C. Holly took through Montana and the California Circuit has gone home to his owner, John Carter the genial proprietor of the Cosmopolitan hotel Sunol.

Pleasanton Stock Farm, Pleasanton, has entered Echora (dam of Direct) and a mare by Princeps; also a two-year-old filly by Guy Wilkes, to be sold in the Kidd, Edmonson & Morse sale at Chicago.

Col. Conley in writing to a California friend this week, said that he had been expecting for weeks to hear that Sunol had beaten 2:12, and that Axtell could certainly trot in 2:10 or 2:10½ with Doble's handling.

The attendance at the great breeders meeting held at Lexington, Ky., was noticeable from the slim attendance of local people. Evidently the folks of the Blue Grass region are becoming satiated with trotting meetings.

The Kentucky Stock Farm has been in great luck in securing a successor to the late W. J. Lyle, in the person of "Iconoclast." The gentleman is Judge Irving Halsey, a lawyer of ability and a journalist of great repute.

The following item is going the rounds of the Eastern press: "A California bookmaker on his way home stated that the jockey combinations had been too much for him, and that he was nearly broke." I wonder who it was.

Mr. H. P. Mostyn of Sydney, N. S. W., who wrote for many years under the nom de plume of "Pegasus," died there lately. He was one of the best informed men in the colonies on sporting matters, and he had a host of friends.

Phallas, whose record in a race is the same as that of Palo Alto 2:13¾, is now at Racine, and there is talk of sending him to California for the winter. Mr. Case is of the opinion that if trained he can equal, if not beat the 2:12 of Axtell

An excellent opportunity to purchase a first class stock ranch is offered this week. In the advertising columns a notice appears from T. R. More, of Santa Barbara, who wants to dispose of 2200 acres of land, situated in Ventura County.

Leonard W. Jerome was last week reelected president of Coney Island Jockey club, which position he has held ever since the club was formed. H. De Courcy Forbes was elected in place of Mr. Jerome as president of the New York Jockey Club.

"Nina D., trotter, bay stallion, record 2:27, Chico, Cal." The above, taken from an Eastern sporting journal, is correct, with the exception that the mare is chestnut in color, is not a stallion, her record is not 2:27, and she never was in Chico.

Horses are beginning to assemble at the Bay District Track for the Blood Horse Meeting. Cy Mulky has Moses B and Tom Daly; W. L. Whitemore, Coloma and Guido; Tom Bally, Little Phil, and T. Lynch Jou Jou, while C. T. Boots has Nerva, Nabeau, Installation and Vinco.

Mr. Pierre Lorillard has bought back from Mr. W. H. Fearing the brown stallion Emperor, by Enquirer—Vesper Light, and the brood mares Disdain, Quandary and Vestella. Rancocas bids fair to soon become as famous for its thoroughbreds as it was five years ago.

I had a very pleasant call this week from S. A. Gunst Esq. the efficient secretary of the Portland Association. He reports hard work in getting up the first meeting, but it was a success in every respect. Next year there will be two meetings one in June and one in September.

Andy McDowell is manipulating the youngsters at the Pleasanton Stock Farm, and he has made two or three discoveries. Several of the yearlings and two-year-olds are threatened with speed, and Andy thinks he has several worthy successors to Direct and Margaret S.

Mentor, the winner of the Melbourne Cup last year, has completely broken down and although he was entered in this year's cup and Champion Stakes he gave way in his preparation. Much regret is felt for Mr. Donald Wallace who, however, will have a worthy representative in Carbine.

A. McDowell will have, in addition to the Director four year old mentioned last week, a pacing stallion by Algona, dam by Sultan, also the property of Senator Hearst. Andy will know before spring whether they are worth working any longer or not. The pacer is said to be as fast as the wind.

There are at the Oakland race track some twenty horses awaiting the Blood Horse fall meeting. Hazlitt has Laura Gardiner, Black Pilot, Jubilee, Ida Glenn, Asa, Emma Nevada, Tom Hazlitt and Jack Pot; J. P. Ross is represented by Sir Ladd, Kitty Van and Oro; T. G. Jones has Applause, and A. G. Todd, Jessie C.

At the recent Tattersall sale in England, six well-known stallions, viz., Foxhall, Cameliard, Town Moor, Retreat, Marden and Peter, were offered for sale, but the reserve was not reached in any instance. Peter, who is by Hermit, out of Lady Masham by Don John, had a reserve of £6,000 placed on him.

When any remedy stands the test that has been applied to Ossidine there must be real merit. The names that appear as endorsers of the remedy are such as give great weight to the statement appearing over each signature. If Ossidine can accomplish all that is claimed, and we believe it will when tested, it is certainly a remedy that no owner or trainer can afford to neglect.

How many entries are you going to make in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN $3,000 guaranteed Futurity stake? Send for entry blanks.

I am pleased to inform all the old friends of John O'Rourke that that master in the art of working iron has gone back to his business place on Ellis Street, where he will be pleased to meet his old-time customers.

Willie Stewart, the clever young Californian jockey, has returned from his trip through the Montana and Oregon Circuits. He rode Cyclone at Helena, Montana, when that horse lowered the three eighths record to 34½ second. He is looking very well after his trip.

J. Trestrail, of Victoria, Australia arrived on the Mariposa last week, with six very handsome Clydesdale stallions and mares. They have been taken to the stables of J. G. Doane 1117 Golden Gate Avenue where they may be seen. Mr. Trestrail has placed them in the hands of Killip & Co. for sale and from them full particulars may be obtained.

We go to press so early that there is no chance to give a report of the Healdsburg races this week. However, a BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN representation is out on the grounds and next week we will give a report in detail. The following telegram has been received: "All races go, track in splendid condition, weather fine." R. H. WARFIELD.

The Santa Anita Stable arrived in Los Angeles last week and with the exception of the chestnut colt Caliente, 3 years old, by Rutherford, dam Marie Stuart by Grinstead, her dam Sister to Clara D by imp. Glenelg who died at Fort Worth, Texas, the stable arrived in good order. Caliente performed successfully last fall here and has since done well in the East.

Word has been received at this office that the Winters' Stable and also the Ashe horses will remain all winter at Morris Park, Westchester, N. Y. This has been brought about by the sickness of El Rio Rey and Abdiel, both of whom have been very ill, but are now out of danger. So much had the Winters' crack occupied the public mind that Dr. Sheppard the eminent veterinary surgeon issued daily bulletins as to his condition.

The Dixon Driving Park Association announce that there will be a day's racing at that point on Thanksgiving Day Nov. 28th. There is to be a running race for the citizens Stake of $200, five eigths of a mile and repeat, at $20 entrance which will be added to the stake. The second event is for the 2:25 pacing class and for the sidewheelers $250, is offered. Entries will close at 9 o'clock P. M., Nov. 18th at Dixon. The advertisement gives full particulars.

One of the most unique cemeteries in the United States is that of Sheepshead Bay, Long Island, the burial ground for noted horses. It was established two years ago, and by the end of the first year three noted racers had found a resting place in its quiet precincts. The racer burial ground is beautifully decorated with flowers and shrubbery, and suitable headstones mark the last resting places of the kings and queens of the turf.

An Omnibus Company in London has found that 3000 horses fed on 16 lbs. of ground oats, 7½ lbs of cut hay, and 10½ lbs. of cut straw, did as much work and kept in as good condition as another 3000 fed on 19 lbs. of whole oats and 13 lbs. of uncut hay. Thus a saving of six lbs. of feed per day for the work horses was made by grinding the grain and cutting the hay—a saving in the feeding of 6000 horses amounting to $300 per day.

According to paddock gossip the Dwyers will have the services of Garrison, Murphy, George Covington, Allen, Bergen and a few other jockeys next year. Equally true are the reports that they were greatly disappointed in failing to secure the services of Hamilton and Barnes. No one has yet suggested that Cullen, Andy McCarthy and Littlefield have signed contracts with the Dwyers though such rumors may be daily expected.

The Western Association of Bookmakers has purchased 100 acres of land to the south of Washington Park, Chicago. It is the intention to construct on the property a new track with first-class appointments. Contracts for the work have already been let. A prominent bookmaker is quoted as saying: "We shall begin racing next season as soon as Washington Park closes its gates, and shall continue as long as the attendance is a paying one."

Frank Morris, of Worthington, Wood County, West Va., is the owner of a horse whose shoes literally dropped from the heaven. Some years ago a meteoric stone fell on the banks of Jenny's Creek, in Wayne County, and was divided up among the people in the neighborhood. The aerolite contained a large percentage of iron, and some of the fragments were procured by Morris, who had a blacksmith work them up into a set of shoes for his horse. The iron is very hard, and the shoes have outlasted two or three sets of ordinary shoes.

A new number of Goodwin's Official Turf Guide, containing the record of all races run up to the close of the meetings at Morris and Jerome Parks, is issued, and makes a volume of about 700 pages of solid type. Its table of winning jockeys shows Barnes to lead with 153 victories in 581 races. Taylor is second with 106 victories from 440 mounts, and Hamilton a close third with 105 winning mounts out of a total of 394. The rest of the lot are beaten off, Anderson being the leader of the field with 83 winning mounts in 380 races.

White Hat Dan McCarty's racing stable was sold at auction last Saturday at Linden Park race-course for good prices. Five head were sold for $10,850. The highest price was brought by Sorrento, who went to G. Walbaum for $6,750. The same buyer also purchased the Blazes-Geneva H. colt for $2,000. The latter, a yearling, has shown very fast work this fall. The Joe Daniel-Test filly, a yearling, brought $1,050, Pasadena $800, Wagram $200. My sympathies are entirely with the party who purchased Wagram.

Colonel William Edwards is credited with the following remarks by the Cleveland Plaindealer: "I wish I could establish a rule that would forever do away with the trotting of best three in five heat races for four-year-olds or under. Five heats are too many for horses under five years of age. Trot a three-year-old or four-year-old a hard five-heat race, and I don't believe the animal ever fully recovers from the effects of it. Three heats are plenty for young horses, and it's cruel to drive a two, three or four-year old more than that."

Tommy Morton, who has had held premier jockey position for the Palo Alto Stock Farm quite a long time, has seceeded from the protecting care of Henry Walsh, and will be, at the coming meeting of the Blood Horse Association, a free lance, open to ride for anyone. He is a good capable rider, and should have lots of mounts.

A report is current that W. C. Corbett has been offered $20,000 for the services of Guy Wilkes, 2:15½, for the year 1890, and that the offer was made by J. E. Green, Louisville, Ky. It may be true, but it seems scarcely probable.—(Sportsman.)

I saw the dispatch tendering the above sum for the services of the horse, and was present when a well known Eastern horseman said that he would give $25,000. Mr. Corbett very wisely thinks that as he sold two fillies by Guy Wilkes this year for $30,000 and he has another two year old that he can sell at any moment for $20,000 that he would simply be throwing money away to accept such offers.

The Hungarian Government has 1,648 sires and mares at the Mezoheges Stud, 539 at Babolne, 421 at Tagarya, and 509 at Kisber, where the best stock is bred. Among the sires now at Kisber are Doncaster, Craig Millar, Sweetbread, Ruperra, Gunnersbury and Vernenil. In the Royal Prussian studs are 2 294 stallions, of which 1,695 have been purchased at home and abroad, and 599 were bred in the royal studs. Amongst the thoroughbred stallions used last season were 72 of English breeding, two Anglo-Arabian, and one pure Arabian. Amongst the heavy stallions were 118 home-bred horses, 72 Belgians, 21 Clydesdales, 15 Percherons, nine Ardennes, and four from Denmark. The average number of mares was 52 for each stallion, and in East Prussia there were 43 foals per stallion, and 84 per cent. of the mares gave birth to foals.

A resume of the great circuit of 1889 shows some astonishing results. Guy's 2:10¾ was its fastest mile, and the principal money winners were as follows: Alcryon, 2:16¼, $10,275; Sprague Golddust, 2:19½, $6,650; Star Lilly, 2:..0, $6,600; Belle Hamlin, 2:12¾, $6,587; Hal Pointer, 2:15¾, $5,575; Harry Wilkes, 2:13½, $5,000; Gean Smith, 2:15½, $4,950; Aubine, 2:19½, $3,925; Prince Regent, 2:21½, $3,675; Nelson, 2:14¼, $3,500; Ed Annan, 2:16½, $3,250; Geneva S., 2:19¼, $3,225; Susie S., 2.15½, $2,900; Miss Alice, 2:20½, $2,500; Roy Wilkes, 2:12¾, $2,300; Jack, 2:15¾, $2,125; Lady Bullion, 2:18½, $1,430; Geneva, 2:19½, $1,550; Reference, 2:19½, $1,475; J. R. Shedd, 2:19½, $1,400; Mocking Bird, 2:17½, $1,200; Kit Curry, 2:18¼, $1,100; Emma, 2:16¼, $1,000; Fearnaught, 2:19½, $1,000.

'Did you ever see horses that wore bustles, just like a woman?" asked Dr. Henry Wilson, who is just back from Kentucky. "John Hughes showed a pair of horses in a buggy that he had been offered $3,500 for, and asked $5,000. They took the blue ribbon, and knew every gait that a horse ever made. These horses wore bustles all the time except on the road. When put in their stalls a wire bustle, just such as a lady wears, only smaller, was put under the tail and held there by a strap. This made the horse throw the tail from the body and give it style in action. Many horses in Kentucky wear bustles. It is a regular trade about Lexington to buy a likely hand ome horse from the country for $300 or $400 and educate him to all the gaits, and give him style, speed him up a little, and sell him for a thousand or so."—Atlanta Constitution.

Now, who is Tippie? Her performances this season do not look like those of a green mare. It is said she is by Echo, and was bred by J. B. Haggin at his Rancho del Paso in California, but this needs substantiation. She does not act green, but like an old stager, and it would be in order for the National Trotting Association, if it really cares to stop ringers, to have a full account of this mare. Perhaps she is "straight goods," and if so an investigation will do her no harm, while if she is not it will do the turf good.—[Wallace's Monthly.

Tippie is a mare that was taken East by John Mackey, Superintendent of Rancho del Paso, for young Mr. Dwyer, who wanted a good road horse. Dwyer did not purchase her so she was sold to F. A. Lovecraft, Clerk of the course at Sheepshead Bay. Tippie is by Echo 462; 1st dam the Hathaway mare, by Whipple's Hambletonian 725; 2nd dam Denmark mare, by Williamson's Belmont.

Robert Bonner, the well known horseman, is reported to have asked "Pilot Jr." who has written many papers on "colts that trained on" to write something about colts that have not trained on, and he instances the case of Sable Wilkes who as a three year old obtained a record of 2:18, but says Mr. Bonner "in his four year old form he was not able to beat it, while this year he has apparently done nothing." There are some things in this world that Mr. Bonner does not know, and the doings of Sable Wilkes seems to be one of them. As a four year old there was nothing to force him to his best, and yet it is a well known fact that he has been sent faster than his record shows. This year, Mr. Corbitt offered to trot Sable Wilkes against Favonia 2:15 and Stamboul 2:14¾ but the owner of the latter objected to an open race and consequently Sable was thrown out of training and relegated to the stud, having no chance to race this year. By the way Pilot Jr., did you ever hear of anything training on after Bonner got hold of it? Suppose you commence at his stock farm.

In reference to the above we have received the following:—

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I see in a late issue of the New York Sportsman an interview with Mr. Robert Bonner, in which that gentleman cites Sable Wilkes, 2:18, as an instance of colts that have not trained on. The following are the facts: Sable Wilkes was placed in my hands in the fall of 1886, and was then two years old. I worked him not to exceed two months, and drove him a mile in 2.28. He was then taken to the farm, and returned to me in May, 1887. During that season (87) he won all his stake engagements, obtaining a record of 2:18. In the spring of 1888 he was placed in the stud. After a long season, with a short preparation, showed a mile in his work in 2:17, last half 1:06½. A few days later he started against Brown's four year old record, 2:18¾, and although the day and track were not favorable for fast time, trotted a mile in 2:18.

This Spring he was nominated in free for all at Breeders' Meeting but the race did not fill; his owner then decided to keep him in the stud and not to have him worked. Should Sable Wilkes remain as sound in 1890 as he is at present (providing his owner can spare him from the stud), I will convince the most skeptical that he is one of the colts that trained on. By kindly giving this note space in your valuable paper, you will greatly oblige, Yours truly,

JOHN A. GOLDSMITH.

SAN MATEO, CAL. Oct. 31st, 1889.

Ringmaster in England.

One of the sensations of the English racing season has been furnished by the appearance of the Australian-bred race horse Ringmaster and the unexpected high form he has shown. It is the first venture of taking a race horse from Australia to England, and although it has not been attended by quite as successful results as attended the efforts of the American-bred horses Parole, Iroquois, Foxhall, Wallenstein, Don Fulano, etc., it has been of a character to encourage the Australians to further efforts, especially as Ringmaster did not rank as a topsawyer at home, says the N. Y. Spirit. Yet he has won the Billesdon Handicap, 114 pounds; Pontefract Spring Handicap, 100 pounds; Great Northern Handicap, 103 pounds, etc., and was second to King Monmonth in the Great Eber Handicap.

A letter from his trainer, Mr. J E. Savill, in England, to the Adelaide Observer, gives some very interesting information relative to Ringmaster's trip to England and his racing there. The little horse had a hard passage over. There were no oats nor carrots on board. Bran, chaff, some bad hay brought him through, assisted by apples and oranges from the passengers, and he became very fond of oranges. When he landed he was a wreck. During the rough weather his box was smashed in, and had it not been for the chief officer, who slowed and had the ship's carpenter repair the damage, he would have fared badly. To make matters worse, "his slings gave way, and the poor little chap was knocked about his box like a shuttlecock." For three weeks he stood with the sweat pouring off his hocks, until at last he tumbled down and rested well until the end of his voyage. The flooring of his box gave way and he hurt his off fetlock, enlarging it. When he landed he was put to walking and trotting, the climate suited him, he never had cough or cold, and began to put on flesh. But "he did not know what to make of the snow, and it was some time before he could be induced to leave his box and go into it, and when he did he pranced about like a circus horse, lifting each foot as if it was on hot bricks; afterwards he liked it." But the cold air of winter made him so fresh that he did not know what to do with himself. "One day in his capers he lunged and came down, and of course managed to find the only bit of glass for miles, cutting his knee to the bone." By the time they got the inflammation reduced he kicked himself head over heels again, landing on his fore-head, and sending the boy yards away, opening the old wound of his knee, and it was a long time before he could go to work.

Even then there was great difficulty in training him, as they had nothing to work him with. It was decided to start him for the Trial Stakes at Lincoln. Before doing so his trainer went to one of the late stewards of the Jockey Club and to Messrs. Weatherby, and asked them to explain the rule qualifying foreign-bred horses, and wanted to know what was meant by the term "habitually trained." The answer was that if the horse was trained in England six months that would mean habitually trained. In the paddock before the race he was sneered at as "an Arab," and his mane and tail, which were left long in Australia, furnished ridicule. Some wit remarked that "there were enough gallaways in England without sending to Australia for them." The newspapers also ridiculed him when he lost. Eleven days later, when he won the Billesden Plate at Leicester, with 114 lbs, the newspapers did not know what to say.

Ringmaster's trainer is a very clever correspondent. There is a deal of quaint humor in his letters. He says: "A short time after this race I met an Australian who possessed some knowledge of racing, and he told me that it was a street-corner tip that I had never intended to win at Leicester, but that the boy couldn't hold the horse back. The next proceeding, as you know, was to enter the 'habitually trained protest,' which was afterward carried on to the stewards of the Jockey Club, but the protestors never had a leg to stand on."

The Australian trainer came in for as much ridicule for trying his horse with a stop watch as ever the Americans, Littlefield, Brown and Pincus, had. Yet he was not to be laughed down. He remarks:—"I timed the little horse over the course the night before the race, and after the first three races had been run on the following day, I saw that I had a bit of a look in—his trial, single-handed, was 1:28, and he won the race in 1:25, all out—shocking time, but the going was bad. He started at 100 to 8 and 10, not 20 to 1, as the newspapers said; but when I backed him heavily at starting price at Pontefract, they returned him at 2 to 1, when 5 to 2 was in offer all over the ring. Four days after Leicester he ran in the Visitors' Plate at Newmarket, five furlongs, 8.1 up, won by Needles, 5:13. Ringmaster ran fourth through the boy riding him out when the others were pulling up. Two days after, at the same meeting, he ran in the Flying Handicap, over exactly the same course, only in better company.

The weights were adjusted after the Visitors, Plate, and to my utter astonishment he was raised 10 lbs. The race was won by the Duchess of Montrose's Whistle Jacket, five years, 7 st. 3 lbs. He cost 3 600 guineas. I consider this handicap tantamount to saying that in the opinion of the handicappers the horse did not run on his merits in the Visitors' Plate; and the first time I met Joe Thompson my conjectures were verified, as he said to me, 'What were you doing in the Visitors' Plate, when he came with such a rush at the finish?' The 'rush,' which he had only heard about, not seen, was that the others were all pulling up, as they do here when they see the race was won, whilst my boy rode out to the bitter end, the reason for which I did not find out until the other day, when it transpired that he had put £6 on his mount on his own account without consulting me.'

The Australian trainer now "gets home" with the following clever thrust: "The morals of the English turf are so lax (vide Chetwynd and Durham) that they cannot understand a horse being honestly ridden out when he has no chance of winning. The Australian next ran in the Easter Handicap at Four Oaks Park, one mile, 8st 5lb up, shoes off, won by The Vicar, 7st 5lb, in a canter; time, 1:47 on a bad course. The little fellow was left at the post and ran nowhere. He then ran in the Pontefract Handicap, one mile and a half, 7st 2lb up, and got home after a desperate finish with Partition, about as bad a horse as there is in training. The papers again said he won easily. The blood was dripping from his sides as he turned to weigh in, and we had to foment them with hot water for several days after the race. Unfortunately, the lad had on a new pair of spurs which I had forgotten to have blunted. The little fellow pulled up short of work and too big, and, as in twelve days he had to run at York, I put the screw on and wound him in Australian fashion. The result was that, although he was driven along for a mile and and a half, superior condition told its tale at the finish, and he cantered in. Fred Webb said after the race that he was the best stayer he had ever seen. He should take a trip to Australia and enlarge his ideas."

From his letter the Australian does not seem impressed with the boasted "English fair play," as they certainly tried to beat Ringmaster by technicalities, as follows: "The next performance was the entering of the most disgraceful protest on record—disgraceful in this way, that the protestors knew nothing. They merely entered the protest "that Turner was not a bona fide apprentice" on the off chance of some flaw turning up in his indentures. Such a protest has never been entered since the apprenticeship allowance commenced. And yet, as this was entertained by the stewards, anyone running second to a horse ridden by an apprentice is at liberty to enter a similar protest. I pointed out to the stewards that Mr. Fenwick, who entered the protest, should specify why my lad was not a bona fide apprentice, and that at any rate the onus of proving him not a bona fide apprentice should rest with him, not with me. It was decided that I must prove that he was a bona fide apprentice. I have since been told by trainers that this is not the usual custom—the custom being that if a protest is entered before a race, the person protested against must prove his case, but if the protest is entered after the race, then the person protesting must prove his case. Luckily, I had a tip at Newmarket that if the horse had won there a protest would have been entered on the same grounds. So I brought the matter before the stewards of the Jockey Club after they had decided the 'habitually trained' business, and they settled that I had a perfect right to have an apprentice and to claim the allowance, and notified their decision to Mr. Weatherby, who was present. This I told to Mr. Noal Fenwick, but he refused to withdraw his protest."

The protest being disposed of, the Australian next got at odds with the handicappers. Mr. Savill continues as follows: "The Australian pony was anchored with 8 stones 11 pounds. Originally he was third top weight, having to give weight to thirty-three horses, all because he beat Tissaphernes, receiving 21 pounds from that not very brilliant horse. I took 1,200 to 200 about Ringmaster from Joe Thompson, who took it from Fry—not that I thought he could carry his absurd burden to the front; but here, if you don't back a horse, they swear he's not trying. The little fellow ran a good last, and Flower o' the May ran fourth, level with Tissaphernes, proving that, as I conjectured, she could get one and three quarter miles, as the Ascot Stakes was two miles. If Ringmaster had been treated as she was, he might have had a show. The handicap for the Royal Hunt Cup was worse. Fancy the little horse on his English performances being made to give weight to forty-seven horses and 5 pounds to Veracity, five years, the winner of the Cambridgeshire and Lincoln Handicap. Only five horses were handicapped above the Australian. A more inexplicable handicap was never placed before the public, especially as Major Egerton, the handicapper, had my horse's Australian performances, which are decidedly bad. Major Egerton has since handicapped him in the Beaufort Handicap, one mile and a quarter, at Stockbridge, top weight but one in a field of twenty-eight, the top weight being Cotillon, 9 stones 9 pounds; Ringmaster 9 stones one pound, the same as Exmoor, who has won eleven races and nearly £7,000 in stakes, including the Kempton Park Stakes last season, in which he carried 9 stones 3 pounds. The handicapping makes analyzation easy, as Exmoor was in the Great Northern Handicap at York, framed by Major Egerton, at 8 stones 12 pounds; Ringmaster seven stones, a difference of 26 pounds. Exmoor did not run, but the two horses met in the Ascot Stakes, in which Exmoor started first favorite with 8 stones 9 pounds up, Ringmaster 8 stones 11 pounds, under which impost he ran a bad last."

In short, the Australian has not a very rose-tinted impression of English fair play and turf morals. He adds: "Major Egerton has also thought fit to put him top weight in the Bradgate Park Plate, at Leicester, asking him to give 9 lbs. to Whitelegs, a most powerful four-year-old, who ran away with the Royal Hunt Cup at Ascot, making an exhibition of his field, although two days after he failed to make a show when starting first favorite over six furlongs of the same course with only 7 st. 5 lbs. on his back, a performance which was passed over without remark. If little Ringmaster had performed in the same way I think they would have found something to say in the matter, but here sauce for the goose is not always sauce for the gander. The papers were dead against Ringmaster again after Ascot, some of them insinuating that he wasn't spinning, others that he wasn't genuinely backed. By the by, Ringmaster ran in plates at York, although all the papers said he didn't. One of the nice sportsmanlike remarks they made after York was 'that they only seemed to try and stop the Australian horse with protests, and that he always ran at the same weight;' rather a startling assertion in the face of facts—but that's nothing when a foreigner has to be beaten. The idea seems to be, if you can't do it one way do it another."

A Singular Case.

During the recent fair at the fair grounds near this city there were many strange combinations for the purpose of fleecing the uninitiated, says the State Democrat of Salem, Oregon. There were many in attendance whose sole aim and practice it is to make money without taking any chances, or, in other words, rob the gullible public by betting on a "sure thing."

Present at the fair were the owners of the racers Jubilee and Coloma, Chris Peterson and Mr. Whitmore. The two above named horses, with others, were entered in the mile and a quarter single dash. Just prior to the starting one Chas. Beard, a "sure thing" man, approached Mr. Peterson, the owner of Jubilee, and stated that the owner of Coloma was afraid of Peterson's horse. Mr. Peterson said: "I'll see you again," and stepped one side to see his rider. He then came back to Beard, as he says, and handed him $100, saying: "Play this on Coloma for me."

The race was run, Jubilee winning, whereupon the Beard combination of "sure thing" men came hastily to Peterson and wanted him to go to the judge's stand and declare that Jubilee had no right to enter the race, which would give the race to Coloma, and allow the "sure thing" combination—Babb, Beard, and others—to win. This Peterson refused to do, when the combine said that if he did not do so they would make him pay a share of their losings on the race. Although Peterson was himself a cool hundred loser on the race—for which $100 he never even so much as received the pool tickets, although he repeatedly asked for them—the combination attached the horse Jubilee, claiming that Peterson had borrowed money of them to play on the race. Peterson gave bonds and took his horse to California.

Upon the convening of the court here last week Peterson put in an appearance and one witness was sent him from Portland. When the case was called the jobbers were not ready and had the case postponed for a day or two. During the interim Peterson's witness was spirited away, and when the case came on for trial it left only Peterson to testify in his own behalf, against the swearing of Beard and two or three tools, and Peterson was mulcted in the sum of $340, with no accounting made of the $100 he had given them to play for him.

It is a well known fact that a horde of these "sure thing" horse race men are in attendance at every fair here, and not only do they prey upon the public, but they also seek to gobble up the owners of horses and the animals as well. They follow the race circuit and are a menace to the well being of any track, and it would be well for the State Board to debar them from future operations here.

The attaching of Peterson's horse, it is said by many, was only a bold attempt to swindle him out of the horse by Babb, Beard, and the rest of the unwholesome band of jobbers. Unless some steps are taken to protect decent people from their raids it will be but a short time before men with good horses will refuse to put in an appearance at our State Fairs, no matter how liberal the board may be in the matter of purses.

On Their Way to California.

McFerran & Clancy, S. H. Shancross and J. E. Green, of Louisville, Ky., have shipped a car load of fourteen brood mares to the San Mateo Stock Farm to be bred to Guy Wilkes 2:15½. We only have a description of four of them, but will give the breeding of the others when they arrive. McFerran and Clancy have sent three as follows:

Amaryllis, brown filly, tan nose and flanks, by Director 2:17 (sire of Direct, three-year-old record 2:18¼, and Margaret S., three year old record 2:19½, etc.); first dam Maud S. T. by Gov. Sprague, 2:20½, (sire of Kate Sprague, 2:18, Sprague Goledust, etc.,) second dam Belle Patchen, record 2:30½ (dam of Baron Wilkes, 2:18), by Mambrino Patchen; third dam Sally Chorister (dam of Proteine, 2:18, Belle Brasfield 2:20 (dam of Otto Holstein, 2:29¾), Admiration, trial 2:56; Homer (sire of Lelia H), by Mambrino Chorister. The produce of this mare will represent three top lines of developed sires, viz, Guy Wilkes, 2:15½; Director, 2:17, and Gov. Sprague, 2:21½, all brilliant campaigners, two of which swept the Grand Circuit in their day; this on Belle Patchen, a very fast daughter of Mambrino Patchen, and all on the foundation of Sally Chorister, than whom there is no more successful mare within the covers of the Stud Books. She was killed at 14 years of age, and every one of her foals that lived to maturity was either speedy or produced speed, some of them by very indifferent sires. The great brood mares in this pedigree will be Lady Bunker, The Rhodes Mare twice, Lady Dunn, Clara, Dolly, Belle Brandon, Belle Patchen and Sally Chorister.

May S, bay mare, by Baron Wilkes, 2:18; first dam Stinnette (dam of Bourbon Russell, 2:30), by Steinway (three-year-old record 2:25¾); second dam Ned (dam of Clemmie G, 2:15½; Alice Stoner, 2:24½; Post Boy, 2:23; Mystery, 2:25¾; Forrest Wilkes, 2:28¾), by Berkeley's Edwin Forrest; third dam Lady Turner (dam of Alta, 2:32), by Mambrino Chief; fourth dam by Grey Eagle. The three top crosses of this produce will be of developed sires, viz., Guy Wilkes, 2:15½; Baron Wilkes, 2:18; and Steinway, three-year-old record 2:25¾. The foundation being Old Ned, who has five representatives from 2:15½ to 2:27¾, and where every foal could show speed. The great brood mares represented in this pedigree will be Lady Bunker, the Rhodes mare twice, Lady Dunn, Belle Patchen, Sally Chorister, Abbess and Old Ned.

Alicia Nutwood, bay mare by Nutwood 2:18¾; first dam Alicia, breeders record 2:29; a half in 1:11 (the only full sister to Alcantara and Alcyone), by George Wilkes 2:22; second dam Alma Mater (dam of Alcantara 2:23, sire of ten in 2:30 list); Alcyone 2:27 (sire of eight in 2.30, including Alcyon 2:16½ and Iona 2:17½); Almater 2:29¼; Alline, trial 2:26½; Arbiter, record 2:30; Almeta 2:31¼), by Mambrino Patchen; third dam Estella by Imp. Australian; fourth dam Fanny G. (grandam of Dame Winnie, dam of Palo Alto 2:13¾, etc), by Imp. Margrave; fifth dam Lancess (thoroughbred), by Lance. The produce will represent a double cross of Wilkes and Mambrino Patchen, and the three top lines of developed sires, viz.: Guy Wilkes 2:15½, Nutwood, 2:18¾, and George Wilkes 2:22, on the foundation of Alma Mater, the very queen of Mambrino Patchen mares. The great brood mares represented will be Lady Bunker, Lady Dunn, Belle, Miss Russell. The Rhodes mare (dam of Lady Thorn) twice, and Alma Mater.

Mr. S. H. Shallcross, also of Louisville, who is just commencing to breed a little, has sent the black mare Ha-Ha, by Nutwood; first dam Eudora (recently sold at the Withers sale for $2 500), by Cuyler; second dam Irma G., by Woodford Mambrino; third dam Malmasion (dam of Nannette, Malice, etc.), by Alexander's Abdallah; fourth dam Old Black Rose (dam of Darkness 2:27, etc.), by Tom Teemer. This produce will represent two developed top crosses in Guy Wilkes, 2:15½, and Nutwood, 2:18¾, and is a great pedigree.

Thousands Think the Same Way.

BOYCE TABLET CO., Terre Haute, Ind.:—
GENTLEMEN: We have used Boyce Tablets for leg wash the past season, and consider them superior to anything we have ever used for that purpose. GOULD & MILLER.
FULLERTON, Neb.

Price per box of one hundred Tablets, $2. Sample mailed to any address on receipt of four cents to pay postage. These Tablets are warranted to keep in any climate. Address, J, A. McKerron, 228-230-232 Ellis Street San Francisco, Cal.

The California BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, the leading Western sporting paper, changed management about three months ago, and under its new proprietor, James P. Kerr, has doubled its pages, and is, literally, a "thing of beauty." The handsome new cover is truly a work of art, portraying, in colors, famous race horses, two of which are given each week.—The Amusement Bulletin, N. Y.

[Our flattering confrere "does us proud," even though we feel compelled to disclaim presenting two horse portraits each week. The B. and S. gallery of pictures is large, and is steadily increasing, however, and we hope the time is not far distant when we may be enabled to send out two or more portraits with each issue.—ED.]

The special State Fair edition of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN should be a blue ribbon number to every horse lover. It is embellished with full page illustrations that are marvelously lifelike presentments of such great equines as Mambrino Wilkes, Junio, Don Patricio, Fairmount, Stamboul, Lillian Wilkes, Gebhardt's St. Savior and imported Greenback, and Senator Stanford's Electioneer, the noble father of the Palo Alto stock. This noble horse is a Rysdyk Hambletonian out of Green Mountain Maid. The record of his progeny is too well known to require comment. Up to January 1st no less than thirty-eight had reached the 2:30 class. What has been done by the Palo Alto stock during the recent fall and summer races is still fresh in the minds of all, especially the record made at Stockton.—Antioch Ledger.

THE GUN.

Editors on a Hunt.

On Thursday morning last E. B. Willis, editor of the Record-Union, and Nick White, city editor of the paper named went through town on the train, on their way to La'robe to indulge in a quail hunt says the Folsom Telegraph. They had guns, dogs and snake antidote. They must have been misinformed of the number of poisonous reptiles in those parts, if we should judge by the amount of antidote they had in the baggage car, and they evidently imagined that a visit to the vicinity of Latrobe would develope an enormous appetite, or else they expected to meet a delegation of friends, as they had enough cold lunch to supply a small boarding house.

[Thats twice that our friend Nick White has been hunting. Enviable man to be able to go when he pleases. The other time was about '67.—Ed.]

Bob White's Et Al.

Editor Breeder and Sportsman:—I was very glad to note in the issue of your paper, of Oct. 19th., that the California State Sportsman's Association had decided to plant several kind of true game birds in your State. The "bob white" speaks for himself; the wild turkey is a beautiful bird and I never saw one so old but what the flesh was tender and juicy. I have killed them in Georgia, Florida, Kansas and Indian Territory, and in some instances I have seen them lie well to the dog. In your report of the meeting you say they have also chosen the grouse, but you do not say what kind. If the blue grouse so common in Oregon, they will have a fine game bird, strong and swift on the wing, lie well to the dog and when young make fine table food, but with age they are a little tough. The ruffed grouse or what is called in Oregon, the native pheasant, and partridge in the East is also a true game bird. Although they are the same bird I find they do not lie well to the dog in this part of the country. They are quite plentiful here and could easily be trapped, and with some little trouble I think the California Association could secure what blue and ruffed grouse they want in this State. The prairie chicken, like the bob white, will give the boys lots of fun and when flushed, if not killed at once he will soon put himself out of reach of a close shooting gun.

The San Jose tournament must have been gala days and the shooting all along the line was good. The Colton team in winning second proves that Southern California has some good shots. The scores of Mr. Chick show him to rank among the best and I doubt if there is a man in the State that can bag as many birds in a day's shoot in the field, as he. My old friend Bruner, must have pushed hard on his "butt plate" in capturing the diamond medal, but Bruner was born a shooter you know.

I am expecting to leave Oregon for the Golden State about November 15th, and I shall try and spend the season near Bakersfield, working a few pups and perhaps take a hand in the coming field trials.

C. A. Loud.

Corvallis, Or., Oct. 21, '89.

On the Right Path.

For years Mr. N. E. White, city editor of the Sacramento Record-Union, has been numbered among the most active supporters of the game and fish interests and from time to time he has lifted up his voice in behalf of the enforcement of the game laws, but never more incisively than on Tuesday last, when he published the subjoined remarks upon a recent arrest in Sacramento. He says:

The frequent references in the Record-Union of late concerning the steady killing of female deer for their skins, and the constant transportation of the latter to market in violation of the law, has begun to bear fruit in this part of the State. Last week the Fish and Game Commission's chief detective, Captain Dalton, called at this office and stated that he was about investigating the matter of the alleged possession by a local firm of a large consignment of deer skins which did not show the sex of the animals from which they were taken. Reference to the matter was withheld until the officer could get his evidence, which was procured yesterday in the shape of a couple of hides that bear no evidences of the sex of their former wearers.

Warrants were then issued from Justice Devine's office on complaints drawn in the District Attorney's office and sworn to by Matt Coffey, of the police force, for service on John Blair, manager for W. R. Knights & Co., proprietors of a hide warehouse on Front and L Streets. The complaints were drawn under different provisions of Section 626 of the Penal Code, and charge the defendant with having in his possession the skins of does, and also with having skins from which "evidence of sex had been removed."

There is little doubt but that year in and year out, and at any and all seasons, illegal traffic in deer-hides has been carried on in this city, as well as in many other places. Within five days after the deer season has opened, thousands of skins reached Sacramento and San Francisco from Michigan Bluff and other points along the Sierra Nevada, while similar palpable violations have been going on in the Coast Range districts. This could not have been done unless by killing the deer in the close season, and also killing them without regard to sex.

As a rule, the law officers in the several counties have been slow to prosecute, and the Courts to punish the violators of the law, but why such should be the case it is difficult to understand. The hide hunters are few in number, and deserve not the slightest consideration at the hands of the people whom they are robbing day and night of their valuable property. They are a class whose friendship can benefit no man, and their hirelings of course do not deserve notice, as they belong to the lowest order of creatures. One way to keep these vandals from plying their illegal and robbing practices is to make it so hot for men who buy the product of their unlawful calling that there will be no market therefor. Every man who is able to read the papers knows he has no right to have in his possession, or deal in, the skins taken from female deer shot down in violation of the law, and if he continues in such business he must expect to be punished.

Of course, it is too early to pass judgment in the case above referred to, but it is to be hoped that, if the evidence warrants it, the officers will prosecute it with vigor, and they say they will do so.

To the Top of Mount Whitney.

BY C. E. SHERMAN.

IX.

August 2d at 5 A. M., the thermometer marked 54 degrees. At 9 the cavalcade was in motion, traveling down the meadow about a mile and then making a short cut due north over a sharp, steep ridge, reached Youngs Meadows at half past twelve. These are large, open, level as a floor, and contain about five hundred acres. Here were met a party of six ladies and five gentlemen from Kernville, whereby with their wonted sense of the fitness of things, the Pilgrims christened the place Camp Calico. Hitherto the trip had been unbeguiled by anything of tender nature, save backward thoughts of home and far away dear ones; but the new and unexpected element with rosy faces and winning smiles, gave an added savor to the delights of the land. From an hitherto unsuspected quarter a mirror was produced, and the offside of certain big trees could tell a fine scandal anent hasty toilets, were it not that Nature never reveals her own or others' secrets. When they parted, however, it is said that photos and invitations were liberally interchanged, and for some time no one spoke. 'Tis ever thus! life lines run in all directions and always straight, unless some point of contact happens. But when some male line impinges upon the line feminine, there is always sure to be a kink and thereafter, for some little time, both lines go wobblety wobble. The male and female sorts of electricity tend toward the fusing point and the temperature can be remarkably raised during a very brief sitting.

Camp ready, adieus over and convalescence assured, five of the party went fishing. One failed to reach first base; the other four caught 200 during three hours sport, the Artist leading with a string of 54. These averaged a little larger than the general run of New England brook trout, rose eagerly to the fly and were as gamey as heart could desire. It could be wished that these fish were no larger than whitebait, for by actual count, revised with great judgment and then reduced by judicious compromise, the Chaplain ate 40 for his supper. Great men are liable to err and the Chaplain is a rather large man of himself. His lache was another's opportunity, for shortly after this great effort, he complained of not feeling very well. With the air of a man cut out for great emergencies, the Sub-Deacon produced his magic phial. Ah! it has wonderful contents. I s tiny pellets cure everything, from teething to old age. Underneath the same stopper rest alike a cure for earache and a relief for overfeed; healing for a sprain and enmity to biliousness; balsam for a sore toe and nervine for—for—well, too much water. At this wonderful phial the knights gazed with admiration and awe and its possessor seemed almost supernal. With one mighty bound he seized the sufferer, wrenched open his cavernous jaws, poured down a mess sufficient for a forty-trouter or an army mule, turned majestically on a heel and sauntered leisurely away, uttering the Delphic saying, "he will be all right in the morning." He was, but he found it a long time till morning. Upon this the Knights met in conclave determined to honor the magician, and dubbed him Doctor upon the spot. Some might not call this an honor, but the phial still survives to prove prowess and tackle malady.

This little stream heads in the meadow, and only a few years ago contained not even a solitary trout. H. A. Jastro and Young, from whom the meadows derive a name, brought the fish over from Trout Creek. Turning the waters of that stream, they seined the pools, and then making a march of over ten miles on foot, carried little trout in tin cans and set them afloat in Youngs meadows, where now they are abundant. What possessed them to take so much trouble in those early days and so far from the haunts of men, it is difficult to explain; unless that, laboring under a fit of temporary insanity—which for once accomplished no evil—they thought to do some good in this world, unknown of man.

This place has an altitude of 7,650 feet, and, of course, as the sun went down called for a rousing camp fire, around which, in all the attitudes of unrestraint, the party comfortably lounged. In the wonderful figures of fire each saw his vision, and all were well content to trace the golden fantasies of the glowing coals, until the Counselor, whose feet had been getting cold, upheaved the silence by warbling with an uncertain quaver:—

"Calico, oh, Calico,
When you lead we foller,
Where you are we want to go;
If we can't, we holler."

Amid snorts, protests, and indignant denials the Counselor was run out of camp, and the remainder of the party fled to their blankets for refuge.

At 6 the next morning, 44 degrees was registered, and at noon 70 degrees. This was a day of rest and sundries. The Counselor was barely forgiven, but at length, on account of his estimable wife, the gang agreed to take him back and never tell, which, of course, they never will. About 3 in the afternoon the five again fished for a little while, catching a couple of hundred more trout, most of which were given to those whose business in the meadow and mountains allowed no time for sport. It was noticed that this meadow, like all, has been overfed. Yearly the crop of grasses is decreasing. Now it is nothing like to what it was two years ago, and if continually overstocked, ere very long, meadows will become deserts to all intents and purposes.

It is trite to speak and rail about sheep, yet they are doing incalculable damage. By the treading of their countless feet, every shrub and tender tree is destroyed. They graze clear into the ground, and in eating pull very much of the forage up by the roots. Their paths trending longitudinally with the hills, form water-courses for Winter storms, which aggregate into torrents and cut deep gullies in every hillside. And then the herders, both wilfully and carelessly set fires in every direction. Wilfully, to burn off brush and jungle, that next season's feed may be increased in area; carelessly they build fires at the root of any tree—which in due time destroys some monarch of the forest—and other fires in all sorts of places, to ward off wild animals. It is possible with continued seasons of sheepdriving, to destroy the forests of the mighty Sierras. And by thus striking down that hand of Nature which now protects the snows and nurtures moist places, the smiling face of California valley lands will be changed to the dreary frown of a desert country. This should be prevented, but how this is to be done is beyond Pilgrim ken. Certain it is, that every Roadmaster should be made to levy a district tax on each head of sheep that passes through his dominion, for sheep spoil roads. And ever so good a trail, if passed over by a large band of sheep is pretty nearly blotted out; and if not totally destroyed, is as worthless a ruin as my lady's old glove, after her marriage to some other nice young man,

Rights of Sportsmen and Landowners.

At a meeting of the Michigan Sportsmen's Association R. P. Toms, Esq., a well-known attorney of Detroit, submitted the following opinion regarding the "Mutual Rights of Sportsmen and Landowners," which is of considerable interest as between sportsmen and non-hunting landowners:

Trespass in the limited and confined sense in which we consider its relation to sportsmen and inclosed premises is well defined. The mere entry by a sportsman upon such land, without permission of the owner (except in pursuit of noxious animals) is a technical trespass no matter how inconsiderable the damage may be. The owner of land has the right to retain for himself the sole use and occupation of his property, and any entry thereon, contrary to that right, and especially if it be against express prohibition, is a trespass for which the trespasser is liable to respond in damages. The common law recognizes two kinds of damages, actual and exemplary. The trespassing sportsman is always liable for the actual damages, resulting from his unlawful entry upon inclosed and uninclosed land, and if the trespass is accompanied by circumstances of aggravation (as for instance with the use of insulting language toward the owner, or if it be in disregard of a plain warning), then the law steps in and compels the wrongdoer, in addition to the actual damages, to pay for the same, which is imposed as a punishment for the willfulness of the act. The amount imposed as a penalty is left to the common sense of a jury (if they have any) who are to take into consideration all the surrounding circumstances, and to give their verdict in reference thereto.

But while the law considers that a willful act of trespass should be especially punished, on the other hand it does not absolve the sportsman who inadvertently, in the zeal of pursuit, enters upon another's land. The fact of the trespass remains the same, and the landowner, therefore, is entitled to recover his damages, but is confined to the actual loss he has suffered.

At the common law it was not a misdemeanor to hunt upon the lands of another. Our statute, however, has changed the common law rules, and makes it unlawful to hunt upon the inclosed lands of another without the permission of the owner, and any breach of this law is punishable by a fine, and unless the fine be paid the offender is liable to imprisonment. Therefore, the sportsman who trespasses upon inclosed lands is not only civilly responsible to the owner for damages done, but is criminally liable to fine and imprisonment.

The landowner has had no absolute property in the "game" which is upon his land, and therefore if a sportsman, even while trespassing succeeds in killing a wild animal he becomes its absolute owner, as being the first to reduce it to possession, and the landowner cannot recover, as part of his damages, the value of the game. The only property the latter has in the game to be found on his land is the exclusive right of hunting it, and this right, of course, ceases the moment the game passes beyond the limits of his land.

If a hunter starts and wounds game upon his own land, and it passes mortally wounded to his neighbor's territory, the former has no property in it, nor does he acquire any until he has reduced it to possession. And if, before he succeeds in doing so, a pot-hunter captures the game the latter has an absolute right to it. I hope, however, that no sportsman will ever be guilty of insisting upon this rule of law, although it is in strict accordance with the well-settled American rule that whoever first reduces wild animals to possession and subjection becomes the absolute owner, no matter on whose land they are captured or killed.

It is the rule of nature that everyone has an equal right to pursue and kill wild animals, and that law still holds good in our country, subject only to the restrictions that may be imposed by statute law for the due preservation of game. The statute laws enacted for this purpose respect the rights of the owners of the soil, and give no authority to enter land without the owner's permission. They have been adopted, not to please any one class of persons, but simply to prevent the extirpation of game. And the severer the restrictions imposed by them, and the more strictly they are enforced, the better it is for the sportsman and the landowner.

It is somewhat interesting to trace the old English law in regard to hunting, and to note the difference between that and the law at present in vogue in this country. In ancient times the king reserved the forests for his own sport, and no one was at liberty to hunt in them without the sovereign's authority, on pain of a heavy pecuniary forfeiture, although at the same time freeholders were free to pursue game upon their own lands. No one but landowners could then become sportsmen, and they only upon their own grounds.

A new doctrine, however, arose after the Norman conquest, and the right to hunt such wild animals as were termed "game" was then considered to belong only to the king, or to such as were authorized under him. This was in harmony with the feudal principle that the king was the ultimate proprietor of all the lands in the kingdom, and hence that the exclusive right of pursuit of all game vested in him as such owner. This royal right was exercised with extreme rigor, and effectually took away from landowners their ancient right of pursuing game on their own lands. The most horrid tyrannies and oppressions grew up through the so-called forest laws, under which the killing of game within the King's forests became a capital offense. In this respect the English laws did not differ much from the laws of France and Germany, which at one time were quite as severe and brutal.

The very hardship of these laws was the cause of their reformation, for the people became so oppressed by them that they united in forcing from the king partial relaxations of their rigors, so that gradually their objectionable features disappeared. Yet even as late as the present century no person in England had the right to kill game except he who had a derivative right from the king. Finally, however a law was passed by which any person was allowed to purchase a license to kill game upon his own lands, or upon another's, with the owner's permission; and thereafter no sportsman needed qualifications of birth or estate, which had previously been essential.

In our country we find no trace of the old English doctrine, and there has never been a time here when all persons, pot-hunters included, had not an equal right to pursue game, subject to the restrictions already noticed.

The rights of the sportsman and landowner to game are equal, as neither is the owner. The landowner, if a gentleman, will allow the sportsman to hunt at his own sweet will, and will not order him off the premises in a rude and vulgar manner. And on the other hand, if the sportsman be a gentlemen (as every true sportsman is), he will respect the rights of the landowner while hunting over his property, and if ordered off, will enter into no unseemly quarrel, but leave at once, swearing, if necessary, with bated breath. I know how it is myself.

If the landowner "posts" his land, forbidding shooting on the same, the order should be respected by sportsmen; and, illib.

eral and mean as it may be thought on the part of the former, it is better that no trespass be committed, especially as every trespass is willful when the tresspasser has been warned to not go upon the land. The instances are rare indeed when a landowner will not permit shooting upon his grounds, but if he does refuse permission, let the sportsman cheerfully leave, consoling himself with the reflection that game is not to be found on so mean a man's land.

There is a growing desire on the part of sportsmen to lease or purchase large tracts of land or marsh for the exclusive hunting of themselves and friends. The owners of these tracts, if they wish to prohibit trespassing, ought, in justice to others, to post notices forbidding hunting thereon. The public, and true sportsmen in particular, will observe and abide by such notices. And in case of marshes owned or leased for shooting purposes and incapable of being inclosed, if properly posted, they should be treated by sportsmen as inclosed, and no trespass committed thereon.

Corvallis Notes.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—Z. Job, our sportsman banker, in company with Lou Dyer, "Jumbo" and Robinson, made a five days' trip to Little Elk last week. They had the use of Charley Reed's hounds, and succeeded in capturing four fine deer, and report crippling several more. The boys say the hounds were no good, and would not even trail a wounded deer. It was very difficult to get a fair shot at a deer, as the vine maple and ferns were from six to eight feet high. Jumbo says the last deer had thirty shots fired at it before it was cut down. Mr. Job has come to the conclusion that to hunt deer with success it requires good dogs, and he says if money can get them, Corvallis will soon show up a pack of thoroughbred deer hounds. He has already commenced negotiations with several breeders in the East, and proposes to have none but pedigree stock.

A few small bags of ducks have been captured in the past ten days. The geese have all left on account of it being so dry. There are a few snipe, but the feeding grounds are still quite dry. Grouse are birds of the past, and it is a rare thing to see one in a day's hunt, and the farmers, one and all, say it is the Mongolian pheasant that has driven them off. Reports from every quarter say the Mongolian pheasant can be seen in large flocks feeding on the new-sown wheat fields, and many of them are killed by the farmers' boys and local hunters.

I have had many letters of inquiry asking if the Mongolian pheasant could be bought for breeding purposes, to which I will say there are a few, perhaps ten or twenty pairs, that have been raised by the domestic hen by parties living here, and which are offered for sale at from $10 to $20 a pair; they make very handsome pets.

My litter of Llewellin setter pups by Romeo out of Rural Nellie are doing well, and are a fine lot. My other dogs are looking well, but spoiling like their owner for a good quail hunt, which I hope to have by the middle of the coming month. I have looked in vain in the columns of your paper to find a few words from some of the many sportsmen in California on the game bird that should be planted in your State, but with all your pleading, they fail to respond. Gentlemen sportsmen come to the front; you are the ones that should have a voice in this matter, and you ought to help the Fish Commissioners spend this $2 000 they have so kindly donated for this purpose. Let us have the pleasure of hearing the most beautiful music on earth to a true sportsman ringing out among the hills in California, "Bob White! Bob White!" C. A. LOUD.

CORVALLIS, Or., October, 27, 1889.

The "big bag" of the season on ducks was made by Mr. John K. Orr at the Ibis Club on the Suisun last week. That gentleman retrieved one hundred and ten ducks, using one hundred and forty cartridges. The gun was a 10-bore L. C. Smith, and the loads four and one-half drams, and one and one-quarter ounces of fives. Messrs. Borel and Hockhoffler were of the party, and also killed fine strings. The birds were mainly sprigs and widgeon, and were in good condition.

Mr. H. T. Payne, President of the State Sportsman's Association, writes from Los Angeles that seven inches of rain have fallen in that county, insuring good duck shooting, and also good cover for the quails next season. Mr. Payne had the misfortune to have a hundred tons of hay spoiled by the rain, but he overlooks the loss in his gratification at the insured prosperity of others.

S. N. Reed, C. C. White and Frank Valentine, of Bakersfield, made a very successful shoot on quails last week. They report the birds to be numbered by thousands about Miller & Lux's headquarters, as well as numerous elsewhere.

Messrs. Ed Bosqui and Will Kittle killed five dozen quails on the Lucas Ranch near San Rafael on October 27th. They shot over Mr. Kittle's Luke by Carl R.—Bessie, and the birds were retrieved by a cocker, the latter scheme proving most satisfactory. The cocker is lively, and small enough to get about in thick cover handily.

The live bird shooting at the San Jose tournament was very fine. For instance Mr. Henry A. Bassford only lost two birds in the two day's shooting, the total number shot at being forty-six. He led off with forty straight, and almost everyone was killed by the first barrel. Only one bird in the lot was challenged, and that one was retrieved. He used a 10-bore Parker gun and Selby Standard cartridges, with 4½ drams of Schultze powder, 8's in the right barrel and 7's in the left.

Mr. F. E. Coykendall came up from San Jose on Tuesday last, looking bright as a new dollar. He has cleared away all the little matters remaining after the tournament, and finds that the excellent management of the affair left the local club but little out of pocket. Mr. Coykendall intends purchasing a steam launch, with which he will visit all of the duck shooting grounds along the bay and rivers accessible by such means. There are few shots who can equal him in the field, and certainly none superior,

That quaintest of grain brokers and most delightful of companions afield, Mr. Frank E. Lane of Stockton, was in San Francisco on Thursday. He is practicing several new objurgations to be used during the winter when ducks do not fly to his liking.

The Whatcom (Wash.) Bulletin says: "One year ago Will D. Jenkins secured from Orcas Island two dozen California quails and set them at liberty on his ranch near Ten Mile. Prior to that time there was not a quail in the Whatcom county mainland. At the present time there are no less than a dozen large covies of quail in the Ten Mile settlement.

Mr. Austin B. Sperry of Stockton, one of the most distinguished of California bred young business men visited San Francisco on Tuesday last. Mr. Sperry has the happy faculty of carrying immense projects easily and can always spare an hour for a chat about shooting and fishing in both of which arts he is adept.

J. M. Bassford, Jr., under date October 16th, writes that he killed a large buck the week before. He adds: "His neck was the biggest part of him, and when it got warm in the frying-pan, you could smell venison all over the ranch. What a shame it is to let people kill deer at this time of year. I am going to Capay Valley with tent, blankets, frying-pan, an onion, eight dogs and four good fellows, to run a series of private field trials and have a good time for two weeks."

A most valuable contribution to the discussion about preserves, etc., is that which appears in another column under the title "Rights of Sportsmen and Landowners." There can be no doubt as to the soundness of the legal positions advanced, and there is little room for objection to the conclusion reached which is that the rights and privileges of preserve owners should be respected.

Sam Lewis, who is engineer on the Sonoma Valley Railroad, says that one day last week, while he was engaged in hauling cars from the Sonoma landing his attention was attracted by a great agitation of water in Petaluma creek, and upon closer observation discovered that it was an immense hump-backed whale, says the Petaluma Imprint. This leviathan of the deep made more noise and splashing than the steamer Gold. Lewis and his fireman made special note of the size of the monster, and from their best judgment it could not have been less than forty feet in length. At times he would submerge and maneuvre, then come to the surface and blow water to the height of thirty feet. It is supposed by some that his whaleship got confused in the storm, lost his bearings, and got on the wrong trail.

ROD.

The Fish Commission.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Fish Commissioners, to be held on Nov. 5th at 2 o'clock in the office of Labor Commissioner Tobin, 220 Sutter street, will be one of the most important sessions yet held, for several reasons. Both Hon. Joseph Routier and Hon. J. Downey Harvey have set about pushing the work of the Commission so vigorously that instead of sitting for a half hour perfunctorily, the gentlemen find a session of four hours hardly long enough in which to receive the reports from the deputies allotted to duty in various parts of the State. All the work of all preceding Boards during all the years that the State has sustained a Commission has not accomplished so much as the present Board has done in the year last passed. There has been no spasmodic effort, but a steady push in the direction of enforcing the game and fish laws.

The Commissioners find hearty support at the hands of sportsmen, and express the utmost gratefulness for information and assistance received from members of the State Sportsman's Association and of gun clubs in various sections. Since the October meeting very much effective work has been done.

President Routier in person seized two large lots of deer skins from which evidence of sex had been removed, contrary to the statute. After seizure the matter was placed in the hands of Deputy Commissioner F. P. Callundan, to whose determined efforts so much of the success of the Commission is due.

Deputy Callundan reports upon the deerskin matter and his other work of the month as follows:

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1, 1889.

THE HONORABLE BOARD OF FISH COMMISSIONERS—GENTLEMEN:—Since the last monthly meeting of the Board I have been continuously employed in carrying out the directions given me at that meeting, and am pleased to be able to report a large measure of success in each matter which the Board has placed in my hands.

On the morning of October 3d, in company with President Routier, two large bales of deer skins were found at Washington-street wharf. Inspection of the hides showed that evidence of sex had been removed from many of the skins, and others were beyond doubt the hides of does and fawns. The bales were marked L. Lobree, Ukiah, Consignor, and were en route to the Sawyer Tanning Company of Napa. The officers of the San Francisco and North Railway were at once consulted and further transportation of the bales of hides stopped for the time. After consultation with the District Attorney of San Francisco, it was deemed best to permit the delivery of the skins to the Sawyer Company and apprehend the consignees. The skins were accordingly sent to Napa, and the same train carried myself and an expert tanner, Mr. Thos. Tunstead. The skins were found in possession of the Tanning Company and were seized. The President of the Company, Mr. S. E. Holden, and the District Attorney of Napa, Mr. H. M. Barstow, requested me to suspend active prosecution until I had consulted the Board of Commissioners. I did so, and the correspondence incident to the matter is in the hands of the Board.

Mr. Holden addressed the following letter to the Board in my care:

NAPA, CAL., Oct, 17, 1889.

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF FISH COMMISSIONERS OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA—GENTLEMEN:—From Mr. F. P. Callundan, Deputy Fish Commissioner, we learn that it is the desire of your Commission to take measures to enforce the law prohibiting the illegal killing of deer, i. e., does and fawns at any time and bucks out of season. As we are large dealers in and consumers of the skins in the manufacture of glove leather, we are in a position to reach the country trade in the skins. In handling these skins we desire to do it within the limits of the law. We also decidedly prefer to receive only summer killed buck skins, so our interests do not in the least conflict with the policy of the State.

Some skins that were consigned to us have been seized by your deputy. We suppose the design of the Commission is to stop the traffic in illegally killed skins, and in that way stop the illegal killing. This, beyond a doubt, would tend in that direction, but would not, in our judgment, reach far enough, as the value of a spotted fawn, say eight to ten cents, is so small that it would neither encourage nor hinder their slaughter to any extent. It would be different with a full grown doe, of course. The skins seized by the Commission, to be used as evidence we presume, were consigned to us by general merchandise dealers and for them, as is our custom, we were to make returns on arrival. We suppose it is the desire of the State to take such measures as will best promote the proper execution of the law, and not simply to take snap judgment on a few skins that may be found in a dealer's hands, and so we take the liberty to suggest a method by which all the hunters and dealers in the State may be advised of the design of the officers of the law and be enlisted in the work of enforcing it, rather than antagonized by unexpected confiscation of their property, which they suppose they hold innocently.

Our suggestion is this, that the Commission publish a circular embodying the law as it now exists and a statement that hereafter it is the intention of the Commission to see that the law is fully and impartially enforced in every particular; that carriers must not transport, dealers handle, or manufacturers use any illegally killed skins, i. e., does and fawns at any time and bucks out of season.

Let these circulars be placed in the hands of the leading skin dealers in the State, say, W. B. Sumner & Co., 415 Front street, San Francisco, Bissinger & Co., N. E. corner Sixth and Townsend streets, San Francisco, J. C. Rued & Co., 119 Clay street, San Francisco, Platshek & Harris, 314 Battery street, San Francisco, E. Wasserman & Co., 310 Sansome street, San Francisco, Christian Hellwig, 131 Twenty-sixth street, San Francisco, and W. R. Knights & Co., Sacramento, and ask them to distribute to those sending them skins.

Messrs. W. B. Sumner & Co. and the Sawyer Tanning Company send out price lists to a large portion of the general merchandise stores, and could enclose the Commissioner's circular with their own, making such additional comment as is necessary and proper.

We would willingly do so, and doubt not Messrs. Sumner & Co. would do the same. Let all the newspapers in the State also receive copies for publication. We could all then refuse to receive any illegally killed skins and stand on a level with the trade. Anything beyond this would have to be by a detection of the original violation of the law. It is frequently very difficult to determine when a skin is of such a character as to lay the possessor liable to punishment under the statute, and so we are the more anxious that some action should be taken to protect us in making a market for those properly killed.

We believe that your management of this matter will be such that all will be treated alike, and that the sympathy and assistance of the trade will be secured for the enforcement of the law.

We have suggested the above with the supposition that this movement is not the spasmodic impulse of any individual or sportsmen's club, but that it is the embodiment of a determination on the part of the State Fish Commission to enforce the law.

We sincerely hope the Commission may see their way clear to adopt some such method as we have suggested, and it will afford us pleasure to assist in any way we can in accomplishing the end desired. Very respectfully yours,

S. E. HOLDEN,
President the Sawyer Tanning Co.

On the evening of October 3rd., I visited Ross Valley in Marin County, having complaint that quail were being trapped there. About Tamalpais I found some traps which were destroyed and interviewed the owners of the land all of whom gave pledges that no further trapping would be permitted.

On Oct. 8th, received information that does were exposed for sale in the Oakland markets but failed to find any.

On October 9th, as directed by the Board, I went to Ukiah, where the Sheriff and District Attorney received me cordially and expressed the fullest sympathy with the Commission. Securing some assistants the Russian River was scoured for twenty miles for Indian fish traps, of which more than fifty were destroyed. The Indian trap is a deadly contrivance, few fish succeeding in passing them to the spawning grounds. While going up the river, a band of Indians was found just completing four new traps. The law was explained to them and their wrong doings clearly shown. The traps were destroyed and a visit made to the Reservation where the chief of the band was seen and warned not to permit any further use of fish traps, a warning which he promised faithfully to keep in mind. At a point twenty-two miles above Ukiah, the Rives Lumber Company was found and the law relative to saw dust shown to the proprietor, Mr. Van Dusen. That gentlemen at once agreed to impound and burn his sawdust. It was ascertained that Mr. L. Lobree who consigned the doe and fawn skins to the Sawyer Tannery Company, was a merchant in Round Valley whose principal trade was with the Indians, and measures were taken to warn Mr. Lobree not to handle skins of does or fawns, or those from which evidence of sex had been removed.

The visit to Ukiah, while it involved considerable outlay in time, was, I think, well worth while. The Russian River is a grand stream, and should be full of salmon and salmon trout. On October 23d a raid was made upon the Chinese fishermen catching small fish at South San Francisco. Two junks and four Chinese were taken and jailed, but were soon set at liberty on bail of $300 each. The cases are yet pending, but will be vigorously pushed, and as all necessary evidence was secured, there is little doubt of conviction.

On Tuesday, October 29th, by direction of the Board, I engaged a steam craft and three assistants and patrolled San Pablo Bay for Chinese junks. Two junks were secured, with small meshed nets, sturgeon lines, and a large quantity of very small fish. Ten Chinese were taken and jailed at Martinez, where the officers of the law are particularly energetic in prosecuting such offenders. The captures were made without danger or resistance of any kind. Four junk loads of fishermen paddled ashore and disappeared in the brushy hills along the bay, beyond reach at the time.

Information from other points is in hand which will lead to the arrest of a number of persons who are catching salmon

Continued on page 376.

THE WEEKLY

Breeder and Sportsman.

JAMES P. KERR, PROPRIETOR.

The Turf and Sporting Authority of the Pacific Coast.

Office, No. 313 Bush St.

P. O. Box 2300.

TERMS—One Year, $5; Six Months, $3; Three Months, $1.50.
STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Money should be sent by postal order, draft or by registered letter, addressed to JAMES P. KERR, San Francisco, Cal.

Communications must be accompanied by the writer's name and address, not necessarily for publication, but as a private guarantee of good faith.

ALEX. P. WAUGH, - - - - - Editor.

Advertising Rates

Per Square (half inch)

One time	$1 00
Two times	1 75
Three times	2 40
Four times	3 00
Five times	3 50

And each subsequent insertion 50c. per square.

Should an Advertisement run without change three months or more 50c. per square, counting from the first insertion.

Advertisements running six months are entitled to 10 per cent. discount on rate of 50 cents per square each insertion.

Those running twelve months are entitled to 20 per cent. discount on rate of 50 cents per square each insertion.

To Subscribers.

The date printed on the wrapper of your paper indicates the time which your subscription is paid.

Should the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN be received by any subscriber who does not want it, write us direct to stop it. A postal card will suffice.

Special Notice to Correspondents.

Letters intended for publication should reach this office not later than Wednesday of each week, to secure a place in the issue of the following Saturday. Such letters to insure immediate attention should be addressed to the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, and not to any member of the staff.

San Francisco, Saturday, Nov. 2, 1889.

Dates Claimed.

Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association, November 16th, 19th, 21st and 23d.
State Agricultural Society—Running Meeting—April, 1890.

A Monument to "Frank Forester."

It is with extreme gratification that we learn a move is on foot to build a monument to the never-to-be-forgotten William Henry Herbert (Frank Forester). He was a man among men; there was nothing that appealed to the sport-loving public but what he was found to be a master hand at. Be it shooting, fishing, horse racing, or athletics, Frank was invariably called in to give by his weight of experience a tone to the proceedings, and he was equally at home in all out of door sports. His works are standard and to be found in every library of the present day. In the days gone by his name was a household word, a synonym for all that was manly and upright; would that we had more Frank Foresters in the present day! As a writer on sporting events, he was the most brilliant and versatile of his day, there being none that could cope with him in that particular line. A contributor to a contemporary writes:

"All lovers of nature and devotees of rod and gun, the admirers of the fast horse and the well-trained dog, now cherish the memory of 'Our Frank' as the most charming writer of sporting literature, who depicted with masterly skill the attractive scenes and pleasures of out-door life. His prolific pen, active life and literary influence, as the years pass away, continue to strengthen a hold in the minds of readers, and the sportsman's regard for him forever increases. As our guide and teacher, he is ever with us in our pastimes by wood and shore, in flowery dell and valley, in secluded retrests, in upland pastures, in shady grove and mountainous forest, over prairie spaces, by brookside and ocean border. He presents to us all that is most worthy of observation in wood, air and water, and whenever we recur to his writings, his noble, responsive spirit leads us forth into the healthful wastes and wilds of nature, where we may admire the creations and forms of beauty and grace that his pen has so vividly portrayed. He guides our field sports, suggests our pastimes, and ever charms us with picturesque descriptions of those scenes, whether wild or gentle, lovely or sublime, whither our love of nature and field sports conduct us. So, remembering all that we owe him, our gratitude for the pleasure and instruction he has given us, let us with liberal hand contribute somewhat to erect a monument to his memory."

If there be any of our readers who feel willing to contribute toward perpetuating the memory of Frank Forester, let them send donations to this office and we will gladly forward them to the gentlemen who have the matter in charge.

The Climax Disc Harrow.

Thorough loosening and pulverizing of the soil is the secret of protection from drouth and the best insurance of full, saleable yields, whether of fruits or grain. No device with which we are acquainted so perfectly accomplishes these ends as the Climax Pulverizing Disc Harrow, with seeder attached, which is offered through the advertising columns by Messrs. Baker & Hamilton, the agents. The implement is sound, of light draught, and effective.

Niagara.

For several months we have been corresponding with different persons, endeavoring to find the pedigree of Niagara, and at one time thought we were about to be successful, but he will have to go down as one of the great untraced, from the way things look at present. We found that Niagara was brought to this State by Thomas E. Hughes, and passed through several hands until Mr. Gambel secured possession of him. This gentleman sent to Hamilton, Ohio, and got a pedigree for the horse, but there were many who would not accept it. Mr. Hughes and Mr. Gambel both claimed that Niagara and Washtenaw Chief were one and the same horse. "Aurelius," a well known writer, has tried to prove this point and failed in the attempt. "Chester" shows us that Washtenaw Chief trotted in New York State in 1865, and Niagara was then in California, so that decides the question as to whether they were the same horse or not. Niagara was bought by Mr. Hughes from W M. Nichol, formerly of Hamilton, Ohio, in February, 1861, and was then brought to this State. Discovering the name of the seller, we at once sent to him and have received the following letter in reply:

DANTOWN, O., Oct. 18, '89.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—Your letter dated Sept. 4th, has just reached me, having remained at Hamilton for some time before it was forwarded to my present address. In regard to the horse that you inquire about, I am afraid that I cannot give you very much satisfaction. The history of the horse as far as known is as follows: He was brought to this county when about a year old, by a man named Rork, that belonged to the Butler County Stock Company. Rork has become dissatisfied with the doings of the Stock Co., and said he would get a horse of his own that would beat any they had, so he went to Kentucky and bought this yearling colt at either Cynthiana or Lexington, I am not certain which. The new comer proved to be a ridgling, and the other members of the company guyed Rork so, that he became disgusted and sold the colt for a great deal less than he paid for him. The colt then passed through the hands of irresponsible parties and was sold twice at Constable sale for seventy-five dollars. He then fell into better hands, and having heard of him I hunted up the person who owned him and bought the colt for $400. I kept him for a year and then sold him to the gentleman who took him to California. All that I could ever learn positive about his pedigree was that his sire was Whip and his dam by Woodford. But Rork had moved away to Illinois, and although I wrote to him several times, I fully believe it was because he thought he had fooled his bargain away, and he would not give anyone the information desired. Have heard that Rork is dead but do not know whether it is true or not. When I sold the horse to Hughes I promised to get him a pedigree, never thinking but what Rork would send it to me, but when Hughes failed to get it, a brother of Hughes partner sent them the pedigree of Washtenaw Chief, a Canadian horse that was in this county, but he was in no ways related to the horse that I sold. I am truly sorry that I cannot send you the information that you want but have done the best I can. If you know the present address of Thomas E. Hughes, please send it to me as I have lost all trace of him and oblige, Yours Respectfully,

W. M. NICHOL.

That is how the pedigree of Niagara stands at present, but we have forwarded a number of letters East, to try and unravel the great untraced and it may just be possible that in time the mystery will be solved.

El Rio Rey.

Immediately on hearing of the illness of Mr. Winters' colt, we sent word to get a full and correct account of the sickness, but up to going to press we had not received any word, however the following exceedingly good article is from the columns of the Sportsman, and gives all the particulars in detail:

The nature of the trouble that the colt suffered from was influenza, with typhoid complications, or what is technically termed typhoid. Influenza—this a form of disease due principally to theometrical changes, such as sudden changes of from hot to cold, or rainy seasons. Climatic influences also play a very important part. It is most frequent in the spring or fall of the year, at the changes of the season, or during a rainy spell, and is without doubt contagious. But in this case we can find no trouble in existence among the horses stabled at this track, there being no foundation for the report that an epidemic of the trouble was in progress. There are, as there always is at this season of the year, a few isolated cases of this form of trouble, some at Jerome Park we have heard, but the horses stabling at Morris track are remarkably free from sickness.

The following detailed history of the colt's sickness we submit, as gleaned from Dr. Shepperd and Mr. McCormick:

On Wednesday night, October 16th, the colt was noticed to be slightly indisposed—somewhat listless in his movements, a little off his feed, extremities slightly cold, and increased warmth of body, membranes of the nose increased in redness, watery appearance of the eyes. A hot bran mash was given him, which he partook of sparingly. Body was comfortably clothed, extremities carefully bandaged, and every care taken of him for the night, thinking that he had taken a little cold, and the trainer not wishing to assume too much risk, the attending veterinarian, Dr. William Shepperd, was telegraphed for early Thursday morning. Dr. Shepperd saw the colt and found that he had a very sick patient to deal with, he having grown gradually worse during the night. The colt stood in his box stall presenting a most dejected appearance, his head drooping, eyes watery, membranes of the nose and eyes intensely ingected (reddened), breathing labored, pulse 60, slight cough, temperature 105½ (very high), legs and ears very cold, and completely off his feed, the appearance of the animal denoting a serious illness and calling for prompt attention. Diagnosing the case to be that of influenza, with an exceedingly high temperature, prompt measures were resorted to, looking to the reduction of the fever, and knowing by experience that the disease was one of an exceedingly debilitating nature, a supporting plan of treatment was adopted. The throat trouble was relieved by liniment applied, body was heavily clothed, legs rubbed and bandaged, and, after a time, the circulation of blood was restored to the extremities. Remedial agents, looking to the reduction of the fever, were administered, and the general support of the system, which in a little time nature responded to, and the animal was left in a fairly comfortable condition.

The next day, Friday, Oct. 17th, on visiting the animal a marked improvement was noticed. The colt presented a more cheerful appearance, pulse stronger in character, and lessened in frequency. Breathing more easily, temperatur 102 4-5, colt inclined to eat a little, standing more firmly upon his legs. Full and free directions were left as to care, and treatment was prescribed for the day.

On Saturday morning early Mr. McCormick, finding the colt's symptoms becoming alarming, telegraphed for the doctor, and upon his arrival he found that his patient had grown decidedly worse, and that he had a grave complication in the shape of typhoid lesion to combate. On examination he found that the pulse was now ninety beats per minute, and hardly perceptible. Respiration increased, and labored membranes of the eye and nostrils intensely ingected. Anxious expression of the countenance, animal constantly looking around to the flanks, occasionally pawing, showing symptoms of abdominal pain, and temperature of 106 4-5, an exceedingly high temperature; skin dry and burning to the touth. Recognizing the importance of prompt action, means were adopted by the doctor to relieve the inordinate tension upon the system by the reduction of the fever. Every possible method was resorted to by medicinal agents, and as well by external means to increase the action af the glands of the skin, thereby relieving the fevered condition of the body, and after a given time, nature, thus assisted, responded, and the animal was relieved, I may say saved. The greater portion of the day Dr. Sheppberd remained in attendance, and when he left in the evening the patient was much relieved.

On Sunday the appearance of the animal was somewhat brighter; pulse stronger, respiration still labored, both at flanks and nostrils; temperatur 104 2 5, (still very high at this stage of the disease); abdominal pains frequent but lasting but a short time; disinclination to partake of any nourishment, extremely feeble in his movements, shaking on his legs, and a general weakness of the muscular system noticed. General defusible stimulents, and means were resorted to to sustain the strength of the animal.

This being the fifth day of the disease, and the animal still in a critical condition, and knowing the extreme value the animal was held at by the owner, Dr. Sheppard suggested to Mr. McCormick the advisability of a consultation with some other veterinarian. This was readily approved of, and power given Dr. Sheppard to call in whom he chose

Dr. R. A. Finley, our veterinary editor, was selected, and on Monday morning, in company with Dr. Sheppard, visited the colt. The previous history, as above related, having been given, on careful examination we found the animal standing in a box, presenting a most dejected appearance; membrance of the eye, and nose intensely ingected, ears and legs slightly cold, though still comfortable clothed and legs carefully bandaged; pulse 54 respiration 30 and labored, temperature 103 4-5. Examination of the chest walls revealed on the right side of the body an increased respiratory murmur over that portion of the lungs; the left, a slight absence of sound in the most dependant (lower) portion of the left lung, indicating threatened lung complications. The colt was now beginning to respond to treatment that has been adopted from the start, which was to support the system, and show a disposition to nibble a little food.

Occasional uneasiness on the part of the animal indicating abdominal pain was reported and was noticed during examination. Pressure upon abdominal walls could not detect any tenderness. A bronchial breathing and mucuous rattle, that had been noticed the previous day, could not now be detected.

The result of the consultation was a full concurrence in the diagnosis as previously made, namely, typhoid influenza with what seems now a further complication, a threatened pneumonia, but which we hoped to be able to check. No material change was advised in the way of treatment. The animal was left for the day in the care of his very capable trainer and nurse; and on Wednesday, the 23d, we again visited the animal, in company with Dr. Sheppard, and found (contrary to the reports of the newspapers of the day previous, which had reported the colt dead), a most marked improvement in the general appearance and symptoms of the animal. We found him with head up, eyes bright, extremities comfortable, pulse and heart action fairly strong and full, breathing comparatively easy and movement indicating more power, partaking fairly well of nourishing drinks that had been presented to him—in fact, convalescent from his previous trouble, and we then predicted that if no further complications would set in, the animal was in a fair way to recover, which will take about six weeks before the animal would be fit to remove. This, we fear, would be too late in the season, and too risky, we think, to attempt to carry out the previous intention of the stable to ship horses home, and would necessitate wintering here.

LOS ANGELES RACES.

CONTINUED.

TUESDAY.

There was an increase in the attendance upon the second day of the Los Angeles races. The weather was fair and the track some better than upon Monday. Three events made up the day's card, the first being the 2:30 Class Pace.

The starters were George Vignola's s m Sunrise, W. P. Johnson's r g Phil Frieler and J. Willett's blk s Silkwood. The purse was $500. Pools sold Silkwood $20, field $8.

First Heat—After two scores they got the bell to a good start. Silkwood had the pole and went away strong, taking the lead in the turn and putting four lengths of daylight between him and Phil Frieler in second place. Sunrise was not in the heat at all, and just managed to save her distance, The positions of the leaders were never changed, Silkwood coming home easy and finishing first in four lengths. Time, 2:28.

Second Heat—The second heat was a little more exciting. Silkwood went away in the lead, but Phil Frieler caught him at the quarter, and they paced head and head half way up the backstretch, and then Phil Frieler got his head in front. Silkwood stayed with him until they reached the half, where he lost his feet, and when he got down again Frieler was six lengths away from him. He was that distance to the good when the straight was reached, and it looked like Frieler sure, when Silkwood came home with a great burst of speed, crowded Frieler to a break at the distance post and beat him to the wire by a length in 2:26¾. Sunrise just got inside again.

Third Heat—The third heat and the race fell to Silkwood. He again got off in the lead. On the backstretch Phil Frieler got up to his wheel, and then to his head, but as they went around the second turn Silkwood drew away and entered the straight an open length to the good. From there home he had all his own way. Phil Frieler quit under punishment and Silkwood finished easy three lengths away from him, Sunrise a poor third. Time, 2:28½.

SUMMARY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 29, 1889.—Pacing, 2:30 class; purse $500.

J. Willett's blk s Silkwood, by Blackwood Mambrino, dam by Mambrino Boy.....Willetts	1	1	1
W. P. Johnson's r g Phil Frieler, by Copper Bottom, dam Unknown.....Mayben	2	2	2
George Vignola's s m Sunrise, by Montana Regent, dam Lucy.....Cullen	3	3	3

Time, 2:28, 2:26¾, 2:28½.

Running—Half Mile and Repeat, All Ages.

The next event on the card was the above with four starters, Chino Ranch's b g Idle Man, 3, 104, H. M. McLain's b h Typesetter, 4, 113, Kelly & Samuel's b m Susie S, a, 110, and M. A. Forrester's b g Johnny F, 4, 110. In the pool box Susie S. sold for $20 to $7 for Typesetter and $2 for the field.

First Heat—The flag went down to a good start, Typesetter leading with Susie S. at his flank. The mare caught him in the first hundred yards and they ran head and head in the straight, Johnny F. three lengths back. Typesetter quit in the straight and Susie S. was coming home easy when Johnny F. came up to her with a rush and under the whip finished at Susie's neck. Typesetter and Idle Man were both distanced. Time, 0:48¾.

Second Heat—Susie S. was a neck in the lead at the send off and made the lead a length on the turn. Johnny stayed with her until half way down the straight when he quit and Susie S. won in a canter in 0:48½.

SUMMARY.

Same Day—Half mile and repeat, all ages.

Kelly & Samuels' b m Susie S., a, by Ironwood, dam Jennie Mc 110.....Cook	1	1
M. A. Forrester's b g Johnny F, 4, by Griffin, dam by Rifleman, 110.....Clifford	2	2
H. [illegible] b h Typesetter, 4, by Hock Hocking, dam by Ben Wade, 113.....Narvaez			dr
Chino Rancho's b g Idle Man, 3, by Idler, dam by son of Creighton, 105.....Dale			dr

Time, 0:48¾, 0:48½.

Running, all Ages, 1⅛ Miles.

The above event wound up the day's sport. There were in it Kelly & Samuels' b h Ed McGinnis, 4, 118, J. D. Dunn's b c Four Aces, 3, 109, Al Moraine's g g John Treat, a, 115, and Ben Hill's ch g Tycoon, 4, 115. Ed McGinnis had the call in the pool box, selling for $25 to $23 for John Treat, $11 for Tycoon and $4 for Four Aces. It was the horse race of the day. Ed McGinnis was in front, with Tycoon and Treat at his flanks as he flashed past the stand for the first time. He lead them to the middle of the backstretch, and then Tycoon collared him and they ran together to the middle of the second turn Treat was two open lengths back when Narvaez called upon him. He responded gallantly and when they swung into the straight he was half a length in front of Tycoon, and Ed McGinnis was getting the lash at Tycoon's flank. Four Aces had brought up the rear all the way and was now at McGinnis heels. Tycoon hung on to Treat, both under the whip, until they were at the distance post, where Hitchcock took his horse back and Treat finished first two lengths from Tycoon. Ed McGinnis got a poor third. Time 1:56½.

SUMMARY.

Same day. Running, 1⅛ miles; all ages.

Al Moraine's g g John Treat, a, Shilo—unknown..... Narvaez, 115	1
Ben Hill's ch g Tycoon, 4, Revelliee—Margery.....Hitchcock, 115	2
Kelly & Samuel's b h Ed McGinnis, 4, Grinstead—Jennie S .....Cook, 118	3

Time—1:56½.

Four Aces ran unplaced.

WEDNESDAY.

There was a heavy wind coming up from the sea at Santa Monica when the bell tapped for the first race upon the third day of the Los Angeles meeting. The track improved steadily under the strong sunshine, and upon this day there was, barring the wind, good going. The attendance was large, even for a Los Angeles meeting, and the cosmopolitan character of the crowd made one think of the gathering at a political barbacue on a July day down in Dixie. It was not a betting crowd, though, and from Rodman & Co.'s pool-stand the auctioneers howled themselves hoarse, and found little reward. The Paris mutuals caught the small crowd, as the bets were placed at $2 instead of $5, and the youth of the city and country plunged to their hearts' content.

Wednesday's opening event was a special for trotters and pacers, in which there were four starters, C. A. Durfee's b h Raymon, L. J. Rose's b f Mista, J. B. Kennedy's b g Victor and W. W. Whitney's ch m Nellie Clay. In the pool-box Mista had first call at $30, Raymon going at $7 and the field at $3. Only the first two were in it.

First Heat—After several scores they were sent off, with Raymon in front and at a break. He took a good lead going around the first turn, Mista in second place and Victor third, and Nellie Clay away back. Mista closed up to Raymon on the backstretch, and trotted from there home at his wheel, forging him to a break every hundred yards, and finishing at his wheel. The judges rightfully gave the heat to Mista, and put Raymon back to second place. Victor got third, and Nellie Clay fourth. Time, 2:31½.

Second Heat—Mista went up as a property in the pool-box, selling at $25 against $10 for the field. After a short delay, during which a shoe was being put upon Raymon, they were given the word for the second heat. Mista showed in front on the turn, with Raymon at her wheel and Victor in third place. The filly was going fairly and squarely, but the horse was making a skip every time the filly drew away from him, and he gained at every step. On the second turn the filly had an open length lead, but by running and trotting alternately, Raymon crowded up to her head in the straight and beat her under the wire again by half a length. Again the heat was given to Mista, Raymon second, Victor third. Time, 2:32.

Third Heat—The third heat and the race were taken by Mista. She went around the turn in the lead, but Raymon caught and passed her at the quarter and lead her half way up the backstretch when he made a losing break, and the filly passed him. At the half Mista broke for the first time during the race, but she caught quickly, and was never headed again. In the straight Raymon gave her a sharp brush, and came down to a sharp finish with her, but the filly beat him out by a head. Victor was again third and Nellie Clay fourth. Time, 2:32; three good heats for the filly, considering the track and the gale blowing.

SUMMARY.

Los Angeles, Cal., October 30th.—Special trotting and pacing.

L. J. Rose's b f Mista, Alcazar—by Cal. Dexter.....Maben	1	1	1
C. A. Durfee's b h Raymon, Simmons—Lady Ramon....Durfee	2	2	2
J. B Kennedy's b g Victor, Don Victor.....Kennedy	3	3	3
W. W. Whitney's ch m Nellie Clay (pacer), breeding untraced .....Whitney	4	4	4

Time, 2:31½, 2:32, 2:32.

Running, Three-Year-Olds; ¾ Mile.

The above event followed the special. P. C. Donalick's s g Naicho B., 115, M. A. Forrester's ch f Lourita, 115, W. L. Appleby's b h Wild Oats, 118, and Harry Rose's b g Dan Murphy, 118, were the starters. In the pool box Dan Murphy sold favorite at $30, Wild Oats going at $20, and the field at $15. Quite an amount went into the box. The judges received intelligence that the race would not be run on its merits, and that there was a job on hand. Judge La Rue called the jocks to the stand and warned them that any jobbery would result in the ruling of the guilty parties off the track. They went to the post, and at the second attempt were sent off with Murphy four lengths in the lead. Naicho B was in second place, Wild Oats was a length behind him and Lourita three lengths to the bad. They never caught Murphy, and he won by three lengths. Naicho B ran in second place to the straight, where Wild Oats passed him, and he finished third, Lourita fourth. Time 1:17. Leo Newell was up on Naicho B., and the judges took him down, declared it no race, ordered it run over again with a new jock up on Naicho B. There was a great howl from the talent, who were in pretty deep.

West, Baldwin's little colored jockey, was given the mount on Naicho B. Lourita was not fit to go again, and she was withdrawn. The three remaining horses faced the starter, and were sent off head and head. They ran nose to nose to the middle of the second turn, and then Wild Oats dropped back a length.

They came into the straight this way. Narvaez on Dan Murphy began to rustle him and got him in front a length and to the distance post he looked like a winner, but Naicho B. had some reserve speed in hand and when West called upon him at the last moment he responded with a rush that carried him under the wire a length winner, Dan Murphy second a length ahead of Wild Oats. Time, 1:19.

Whatever doubt there was in the judges' minds as to the jobbery in the first dash was set at rest by the result and they promptly set Newell down for an indefinite time and took Mr. Donalich's case under consideration.

The judges for the day were H. M. La Rue, J. C. Newton and A. L. Workman.

The result of the race seemed to give general satisfaction, though, of course, there was a protest from Newell and his friends. Mr. La Rue said to your correspondent that he never saw a plainer job and he thought he and his associates in the stand had done the right thing.

SUMMARY.

Same Day—Dash, ¾ mile, for three-year-olds.

P. C. Donalich's ch g Naicho B, by Wanderer, dam Flower Girl. 115 .....West	1
Harry Rose's b g Dan Murphy, by Spectator, dam ——, 118 .....Narvaez	2
W. L. Appleby's b h Wild Oats, by Wild Idle, dam Mary Givens. 118 .....Hitchcock

Time, 1:19.

Running—Mile and Repeat—All Ages.

In the above event there were but two starters, Kelly & Samuels' br m Welcome, 4, 115, Ben Hill's ch g Mikado, 4, 115; Mikado selling at $25 to $6 for the mare. It was sure money for Hill's chestnut. They jumped off, with Welcome in front. Mikado stayed at her neck under a pull until they got into the second turn, when he went to the front, and galloped home in 1:47½, finishing a length in front of the mare. The second heat, run in semi-darkness, resulted in the same manner, it being simply a walkover for Mikado. He finished in a canter in 2:49, three lengths from the mare.

SUMMARY.

Same Day—Mile and repeat; all ages.

Ben Hill's ch g Mikado, 4, Shiloh—Margery, 115.....Hitchcock	1	1
Kelly & Samuels' br m Welcome, 4, Warwick—Aeola, 115....Cook	2	2

Time, 1:47, 1:49.

Los Angeles Gossip.

The attendance at the races, considering the many other attractions which Los Angeles offers to visitors, has been good all the week.

Atto Rex's shoes have been taken off, and he will do no more this season.

Don Tomas, the black Del Sur gelding, who has not been right this season, is getting on his feet again, and is a better race horse to-day than at any time during the year. He is the property of Hon. Henry T. Hazard, the popular Mayor of Los Angeles, who purchased him for a roadster. He thinks he has the best one in the State, and said to me the other day that he had brushed him at a :12 gait.

Two games of polo by the Santa Monica Club have been among the week's attractions, and the players gave some pretty exhibitions of horsemanship, to say nothing of the skill shown in the game.

The gray gelding John Treat has been something of a surprise to the talent. He ran two good races in the early part of the week, piloted in both by Joe Narvaez, and he defeated Mikado and then Ed McGinnis and Tycoon. He goes a distance very well.

Some of the local stables will, I understand, come up to the Blood-Horse meeting.

West, the little colored jockey, is home from the East and had a mount Tuesdry in Four Aces.

Four Aces was a good colt as a two-year-old, but he has done little in his three-year-old form.

Answers to Correspondents.

Answers for this department MUST be accompanied by the name and address of the sender, not necessarily for publication, but as proof of good faith. Write the questions distinctly, and on one side of the paper only. Positively no questions will be answered by mail or telegraph.

S. N. Straube.

Under date of July 13th, the gentleman mentioned above asked us for the pedigree of Lady Burns. A note was addressed to Mr. Williams, and the following is his answer:

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—Received a note from you last evening, dated July 15th, in regard to the pedigree of a mare called Lady Burns. Thinking possibly there had been a mistake in reference to the time you dated it, I will answer to the best of my ability. Lady Burns is by Black Boy, he by McCracken's Black Hawk. Lady Burns' dam was a mare that John Olive worked in his stage; no pedigree known. Hoping this will give you satisfaction and prove a benefit to you, I am,

Yours truly, PERCY WILLIAMS.

UNDINE, October 23, 1889.

H. B. S.

1. What is Nutwood's age? 2. What is his present price for stud service? 3. What was he sold for?

Answer.—(1) 19. (2) $500. (3) $22,000.

Subscriber.

A race is declared filed with four entries. Purse $500, with usual ten per cent entry. Only two horses start in the race. How much money are the two horses entitled to?

Answer—As the question is worded, the two horses are clearly entitled to the purse, but there are strong probabilities that there is another side to the question.

W. E. L., Portland.

Would you give me the pedigree of Bashaw, and how many of his get is on the 30 list.

Answer—You do not say what Bashaw you mean. Greens Bashaw has 16 in the list. Conchs Bashaw, Bashaw Drury and Bashaw Pilot have one each.

Report for Elmwood Stock Farm for 1889.

February 3d, b c by Nathan Coombs, dam Mollie H. by Wildidle; mare bred to Bob Wooding.

April 14th, ch c by Inauguration, dam Bonny Jean by imp. Hercules; mare bred to Nathan Coombs.

April 20th, b f Claude by Inauguration, dam The Cripple by Nathan Coombs; second dam Lizzie Marshall by Lodi; mare bred to Bob Wooding.

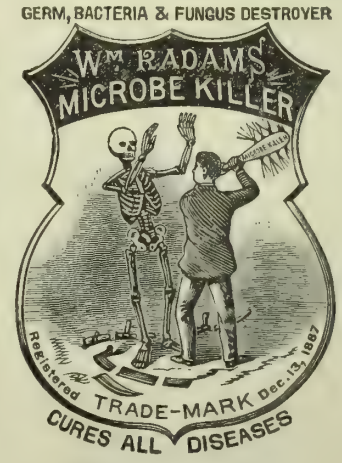
BARREN MARES.

Glady, by imp. Hercules, barren to Inauguration and bred back.

Brown Maria, by imp. Hercules, barren to Inauguration and bred back.

Beauty, by imp. Hercules, barren to imp. Mariner and bred to Argyle.

Gypsy, by imp. Hercules, slipped bay colt by Duke of Norfolk, and bred to Three Cheers.



MARES BRED FOR FIRST TIME.

Leda, by Nathan Coombs, bred to Argyle.

Ariola, by Bob Wooding, bred to Three Cheers.

THE GREATEST MEDICINE IN THE WORLD.

GERM, BACTERIA & FUNGUS DESTROYER

Positively Cures Diseases

By destroying and removing their cause, viz.:

MICROBES.

A New Theory. A New Medicine.

Thousands Already Cured.

Send for book giving full information.

Radam's Microbe Killer CO.,

1332 Market Street, San Francisco.

The proprietors of Radam's Microbe Killer refer by permission to the well-known horseman and live-stock auctioneer, Mr. I. N. Killip, 22 Montgomery Street, as to the efficacy of this medicine. By investigating, you will find this a

Universal Family Medicine

Adapted to Every Disease and Emergency.

Continued from Page 373.

by setting nets completely across branches of the San Joaquin and Sacramento Rivers.

Everywhere that I have been sent up to this time, I have received the kindest treatment from officials, sportsmen and all others with whom I have had business, and many flattering words about the Board of Fish Commissioners have been spoken. Respectfully, etc.,

F. P. CALLUNDAN.
Deputy Fish Commissioner.

Chief of Patrol Dalton last week seized a lot of deer skins in Sacramento from which evidence of sex had been removed.

Contrary to expectation, last Sunday turned out to be a clear, dry day, and anglers who were fortunate enough to risk the chance of getting drenched, returned home perfectly dry and with fairly good catches of rock cod.

An unusual number of large green cod were caught during the last week or so.

Reports from the interior say that trout are very plentiful in the creeks, several large catches having been made since the rains set in. At Scott's Creek, Pescadaro and La Honda large quantities of fine trout have been captured since the creeks have become swollen.

At the Lime Point and Tiburon fishing grounds, providing the weather remains dry, good fishing should be had until about the last week of November.

The Goat Island fishing grounds will probably be well patronized next season, as a good many large catches were made there during the past couple of months.

Quite a number of salmon trout were caught by anglers who were fishing off the different wharves on Sunday. In fishing for salmon trout in the bay an ordinary trout hook should be used. A small ground worm should completely cover the hook, and on the point a small piece of smelt should be placed.

The fishermen in the neighborhood of Point Tiburon were startled on Sunday last by the appearance of two monster whales, who disported themselves at different places close to the shore all day long.

ATHLETICS.

Athletic Sports and Other Pastimes.

Edited by Arphippus.

SUMMARY.

The runners and walkers have once more resumed out-door practice, the weather having cleared up.

The wheelmen are still hardening their legs for the Napa race-meet.

The amateur boxers are punching the bag preparatory to entering the coming championship tournament.

The oarsmen are trying to arrange a few races for November 28th.

RUNNERS WALKERS, JUMPERS, ETC.

We have been asked to suggest that a running hop step and jump be added to future athletic programmes. One of the best men in the world at this game, John Purcell, is at present in this city, and the O A. C. should afford him an opportunity to give an exhibition in public.

The U A C football team are getting into good trim. They are ready to meet all comers.

There will be a meeting of the California Amateur Athletic Club to-morrow evening.

To-morrow evening an athletic exhibition and grand ball will be held at the San Francisco Turnerhall, 323 Turk St., for the benefit of Prof. L. Gerichten.

The running high jump and the novice race will probably attract the largest number of entries Nov. 28th.

Any member of the U. A. C. who breaks a college record at the coming games will receive a special medal Only members of the University Athletic Club will be allowed to compete.

M. Espanosa, the long distance amateur runner of the Olympic Club, will enter the coming boxing tournament in the bantam class. His many friends are sanguine of his ability to capture first prize.

It is high time that the Pacific Coast Amateur record for two miles running was improved. There are at least three athletes residing in San Francisco to-day who can easily lower the existing record. The Olympic Club should offer some inducement to its long-distance runners to make the effort, for, in our estimation, three members of the club are capable of performing the feat.

R. McArthur and Frank L. Cooley, the well-known amateur runners, undertook a cross country walk on Sunday last. Their journey began at the O. C. rooms, continuing to the Ocean Beach and home by way of Fort Point, the distance covered being about twenty miles. At the conclusion of the walk both athletes enjoyed a swim in the cold Bay at North Beach. McArthur will enter the boxing tournament, and, judging from the diligent way in which he is training, he should come out as he did before, a winner.

AT THE OARS.

H O. Farrell, Secretary of the Pacific Rowing Association, has just returned from a two weeks' trip into the interior.

The amateurs are trying to make arrangements for the holding of a couple of match races on Thanksgiving Day.

The water was in excellent condition for practice work on Sunday last and several crews were out.

The Lurline Club will take an active part in rowing matters next season, and will place several good crews in the field.

A professional regatta will be held at Richardson's Bay, Sausalito, on Thanksgiving Day. The programme will be as follows: 1. Single scull race. 2. Four-oared shell race. 3. Whiteball boat race. The sum of $250 has been subscribed by the residents of Sausalito through Mr. A. S. Thompson. The races will begin at noon. The local crack crew consisting of Messrs. Long, Peterson Bros. and F. Conway, all of the Dolphin Club, will enter the Four-oared Shell race, and in all probabilities this crew will have an easy victory. The $250 will be divided among the different winners.

THE WHEELMEN.

Several members of the University Bicycle Club will enter the Napa tournament.

To-morrow the members of the Oakland Bicycle Club will take a run to Alvarado and return. The starting point will be from Chabot Park, corner of Tenth and Jefferson streets, Oakland, the hour 8:30 A. M. The pace will be very moderate, and a large attendance is earnestly desired. All wheelmen are cordially invited to take part in the run.

A seventy-two-hour bicycle match ended at Toronto, Canada, on Monday. The final score stood: Rhodes, 919 miles; Desmond, 902 miles; Dingley, 893 miles. Rhodes beat the record, which was 904 miles.

W. J. Morgan and his wife "Jessie Oaks" have decided to remain in San Francisco. The chances are that when they accumulate enough funds to take them elsewhere they will "git." Mr. Morgan and his pretty wife will have to try their hands at some other business besides bicycling before they can make a stake.

Charges which will probably lead to their expulsion from the Bay City Wheelmen and from the L. A. W. have been brought against the two members who took part in the amateur (?) race at the Mechanics' Pavilion on Saturday evening last. The B. C. W. and the San Francisco Bicycle Club thoroughly endorse the action of T. H. Doane, Chairman Racing Board of California, in his action, and also commend him in his prompt action in reporting Spiers and Hood to the League.

S. F. Morse of the S. F. B. C. promises to be a formidable antagonist next year.

IN THE SURF.

The attendance at the surf baths during the week was very small.

The cold weather evidently does not scare the members of the Terrace Swimming Club as the boys were out in full force on Sunday last. Captain Jack Vollmer will try and induce his men to keep up practice during the winter months.

The Palace and Crystal baths were crowded day and evening during the past week.

JOTTINGS FROM THE EAST.

Great interest is felt in athletic circles in the result of the heavy weight match between M. W. Ford, the amateur champion in general athletics, and his closest opponent at the recent competition, A. A. Jordan. The match includes the hammer, shot and fifty-six pound weight, and will be decided at the games of the Outing Club on November 5th.

A. DuCrois was the winner of the annual twenty-five mile race for the championship of Ireland, which took place at Ball's Bridge, Dublin, October 5th. He finished seventy-five yards ahead of J. P. Butler in 1h 27m 22s.

At the games held at Elkton, Md., October 10–11, in connection with the annual fair of the Cecil County Agricultural Society, the following new records were made by hammer throwers: 16-lb hammer, including 4ft handle, from 7ft circle, without follow—133ft 8in, J. S. Mitchell. Same, with one hand—121ft 11½in., W. L Coudon. 8-lb hammer head, 4ft handle, one hand, without run or follow—151ft 2½in, W. L. Coudon. 8 lb hammer head, 4ft handle, one hand, from 7ft circle, with follow—180ft 7in, W. L. Coudon.

Bert Meyers, of Peoria, Ill, is stated to have ridden a high geared safety bicycle one mile, on a smooth piece of road at that place, one mile in 2m 13s October 14th.

Lieut-Col. H. Dowd has been elected President of the Twelfth Regiment Athletic Association of New York State for the ensuing year.

The accidents to Joseph Donohue, champion skater, T. P. Conneff, champion distance runner, and A. F. Copeland, champion sprinter, all of the Manhattan Athletic Club, New York City, seems to indicate that the "cherry diamond" champions are having hard luck of late.

It is hardly possible that any of the Eastern amateur crack athletes will visit the Pacific Slope in the near future. There is no fresh glory to be gained in defeating the California champions, and it is safe to assert that not one of the Eastern champions will risk the loss of his time for the sake of what honor he can gain by crossing the continent.

The New York athletes will have no time to rest on their oars during the coming winter, as several important meetings are announced to take place before Spring sets in.

Frank P. Murray, the retired ex-champion amateur walker, may don his shoes again next year, and then Lange, Nickoll, Sherman and Burkhardt will need to keep in good condition.

The Allerton Athletic Club were favored with splendid fall weather for their games, held at the grounds of the Manhattan Club on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 19th, and they were witnessed by a goodly crowd of athletes and their patrons, including more than a sprinkling of the fair sex. Jack Goulding had gotten the cinder path in capital condition for the special feature of the meeting, a four mile run, an invitation event, for which the principal amateur long distance runners of the East were entered, and which, as expected, proved a very interesting affair, although hardly as exciting as had been anticipated. It was won by the English importation, A. B. George, who could have won easier than he did, and could have also broken Carter's record for the distance had he chosen to hurry himself more than he did.

SUMMARY.

One hundred and twenty-five yards run—First heat: W. H. Strouse, S I A C, 1yd, first; W. J. Dixon, M A C, 5yds, second, by one yard. Time 12 2-5s. Second heat: T. Atkinson, B A A, 8yds, first; E E Barnes, N J A C, 1½yds, second by 2ft. Time 13 4-5s. Third heat: L Levien, A A C, 6½ yds, first; G. Schwegler, S I A C, 1yd, second by 3yds. Time 13 4-5s. Fourth heat, J. R. McMullen, B A A, 4½yds, first; H. Shipman, C C A A, 1yd, second by 2yds. Time 13 2-5s. Fifth heat, R. C. Fisher Jr., N Y A C, 1½yds, first; M. P. Halpin, N J A C. 7yds, second by four feet. Time 13 4-5s. Second round—First heat: Schwegler first, Dixon second by two yards. Time 13½s. Second heat: Levien first, McMullen second by one yard. Time 13 2-5s. Final heat, Schwegler first, Levien second by 2ft; Dixon third by 2yds. Time 13 1-5s.

One mile run—W. T. Young, M A C, 50yds, first; J. F. Wieners, Jr., M A C, 100yds, second by 8yds; A. S. Malloy, A A C, 110yds, third by 10yds. Time 4m, 30 4-5s.

Four hundred and forty yards novice run—First heat: M. Carson, Berkeley A C, first; A. Werner, P A C, second; C. A. Labaire, Y M C A, third; F. Rowan, P A C, fourth. Time 59 4-5s. Second heat: C. M. Combonell, Allerton A C, first; E. A. Camover, Allerton A C, secomd. Time 62 1-5s. Third heat: G. Rehan, A A C, first; W. P. Poret, N J A C, second. Time 60s. Final heat: Combonell, first; Carson second by 1yd; Rehan third by 5yds. Time 56 2-5s.

Three hundred yards run—First heat: H C Zust, N J A C, 20yds, first; M P Halpin, N J A C, 24yds, second, by a yard; E E Barnes, N J A C, 8yds, third, by 2ft. Time, 32 4 5s. Second heat—W Bogardus, M A C, 26 yds, first; W. H. Struse, I A C, 8yds, second, by a yard; L R Sharp, N Y A C, 12yds, third, by 2yds. Time, 32 4-5s. Third heat—W J Dixon, M A C, 15yds, first; W C Johnson, Varuna B, C, 16yds, second, by a foot; L. Levien, A A C, 15 yds, third, by a yard. Time, 33 1-5s. Final heat—Struse first, Bogardus second, by a yd, Halpin third by a foot

One mile and a half walk—T Shearman, N J A C, 5s, first; C L Nicholl, M A C scratch, second; T Tillistrand, W S A C, 40s, third. Time, 10m 45 2-5s.

One hundred yards novice run—First heat: A Warner, P A C, first; C A Waldren, N A C, second by two yards. Time 11 4-5s. Second heat: J. Connolly, B A A first; T Atkinson, B A A, second, by five feet. Time, 11 4 5s: Third heat: H Herman, A A C, first; R G Shipman, Yonkers Y M C A, second, by two yards. Time, 11⅘s Fourth heat: C M Comboneli, Allerton A C, first; A B Wise, B A A, second, by four feet. Time, 11⅘s. Fifth heat: J. A. Cray, Star A C., first: G Levien, W. Hass A. C., second, by five yards. Time, 11 1-5 seconds.

Second round—First heat: Connelly first, Atkinson second, by two feet. Time, 11 3-5s. Second heat: Combonell first, Shipman second, by five feet. Time, 11 3-5s. Final heat: Combonnell first, Connolly second, by a foot; Shipman third by five feet. Time, 11 2-5s.

Eight hundred and eighty yards run—C M Raymon, Castleton A C, 45yds, first; W F Thompson, S I A C 15yds, second, by twelve yards; J C Devereux, M A C, 15 yds, third, by four yards. Time, 1m 59s.

Two mile bicycle race—F G Brown, N J A C, 50yds, first; F. N. Burgess, Rutherford W, 85yds, second, by two yards; C M Murphy, K C W,, 85yds, third, by three yards. Time, 6m 20s.

Running high jump—H. L. Hallock, S I A C, scratch, first, 5ft. 8¾in; Z A Cooper, Brooklyn, 4in, second, 5ft 4in; P Dehnert, S I A C, 5in, 5ft 2in.

Four mile run—A B George, M A C, first; W D Day, N J A C, third, by fifty yards; Sidney Thomas, M A C, fourth, by five yards. Time, 20m 28 3-5s.

CLUB JOTTINGS.

Only three professional athletic clubs now exist since the enforcement of the $3,000 license law. These clubs are, The California, The Golden Gate and The Occidental. The inferior clubs which were unable to pay the high license have all gone out of existence, and the second and third-class pugs will be compelled to seek legitimate work as a means of livelihood hereafter. It is indeed pleasing to have to record the downfall of sloggerism and to think that science will once more hold sway.

The regular monthly exhibition of the Pacific Athletic Club took place on Thursday evening last. A detailed account will be given in our next issue.

The coming amateur boxing tournament of the Olympic Athletic Club is creating great excitement in athletic circles. All the leading boxers are getting themselves into condition, and there is not the slightest doubt but that the different bouts will be hotly contested. It has been erroneously stated that the Lurline Athletic Club would be represented at the tournament by two of its members. Only members of clubs belonging to the P. C A. A. A. will be allowed to attach the name of their club to their names, and as the Lurline Club is not a member of the P. C. A. A. A, its members can enter the tournament only as "unattached amateurs."

The Olympic athletic games may not come off at the Bay District track after all. The Athletic Committee is in a dilemma It is possible that horse races may be held at the Bay District Track on Thanksgiving Day, and the only other available track would be the University of California track, at Berkeley. It is to be hoped that the Bay District Track can be secured as the O. A. C. would be obliged to donate the prizes out of its treasury were the races to be held at Berkeley, where it would be impossible to charge a gate fee. The new grounds of the club will not be completed for several weeks yet and it will be impossible to hold the inaugural games before Washington's birthday.

Professor W. Smythe opened a School of Physical Culture at 2426 California street, between Fillmore and Steiner streets, San Francisco, on Thursday last. A thorough student himself, as well as a most successful teacher, there can be no doubt about the success of Professor Smythe in the new and much needed school. He has spent the last twenty years teaching in gymnasia and military schools and colleges the science of physical cultivation, and, as is well known, has taught here, in Mills Seminary and the Olympic Club, and elsewhere. It would appear that this field would be ample for him in which to utilize his talent and knowledge, but such is not the case. In the gymnasia the material, as has been before remarked, is not that which most needs development or cultivation, and that which does is not within his complete control. Men who have special developments are much inclined to exercise them and leave their weaker parts go. They go there for enjoyment and recreation, and will, as a class, not be subject to the dry details which must be the foundation for the best results. In colleges and seminaries the time and facilities will not admit of the employment of the systematic training necessary. He, therefore, has been forced to the conclusion that the only way to reach those who most need this kind of education is to establish a school for instruction in this line alone. In doing this he conceived it necessary to associate himself with a physician, whose part it would be to make examinations of applicants to ascertain their freedom from organic disease, and to be a judge of the condition of their internal organs, so that no one be trained who ought not to be, and that their exercise be regulated to suit their degree of endurance. This physician, he deemed necessary, should have an equal degree of interest in the cause, and be somewhat familiar with calisthenic exercises himself, and also be an expert in dietetics, systems of bathing, etc, which form so essential an adjunct to the properly regulated school of this character. This individual he thinks to have found in the person of Dr. Cornwall.

There will be an an accurate record kept of the degree of improvement of each pupil as regards development of parts, of posture and capability of endurance, and also the standard of health, and a report sent, if desired, to parents of those interested.

The terms will be $25 per quarter, there being two lessons per week.

There will be a class for boys and adults males, one for girls, and one for adult females.

The hours for training for boys and girls may be arranged after school hours in the afternoon. It has not been determined the best hour for ladies, but gentlemen will best be suited in the evening. There will be a lady present to advise and assist female pupils.

The location of the hall is 2426 California St. It is large and finely ventilated.

Private instructions will be given to those desiring it.

Particular information may be had by calling on Prof. Smythe, at the hall, Tuesday and Friday mornings, at 11 o'clock, or Dr. F. Cornwall, 112 Grant avenue, from 10 to 4 daily.

Strains That Breed On.

At this season of the year the stallion owners can very nearly sum up what success their representatives have had on the trotting turf, and what they will have during the balance of the year. There never can be again any successful competition for first honors as regards the blood of Hambletonian in sires. The only question now before the public is what blood appears most often and breeds on the most successful in the dams of trotters. Since the remarkable performances of Axtell, 2:12, Lillian Wilkes, 2:17¾, Sable Wilkes, 2:18, and Margaret S. as three-year-olds, it must be conceded that the Star blood in the dams of their sires has had no controlling influence over their stamina, gait and speed, as it has scarcely ever been crossed with Hambletonian blood unsuccessfully.

It once was a common remark with some who didn't have any of it in their stock, that it crossed well only with Hambletonian, but since a Star mare produced Guy, from Kentucky Prince, a horse without a drop of it, they are silent.

It is quite amusing to us, who are old Orange County horsemen, from which county sprang all the Hambletonians, Stars and Clays, who knew the history of nearly every one of either breeds that ever left the county, the breeding of their dams, their gait and peculiarities, etc., it is amusing to read the lengthy articles that some of the most famous writers on horse history, breeds, etc., get off. They undertake to compare the Pilot Jrs. and Mambrino Chiefs, etc., with the Clays, Hambletonians, and so on, when in every line one can see that they possess an educated and trained mind that enables them to wield a fluent pen, but their arguments are all superficial. They are conclusions from what certain performers have accomplished.

They concluded that if a stallion out of a Clay mare has more in the 2:30 list than one out of a Star mare, the former is the greater horse, and the Clay blood is more prepotent than the Star. Aurelius is one great exception to the school of writers of the present day to which I refer. His arguments are logical, deduced from facts and an intimate acquaintance with circumstances and opportunities that others never possessed. There have appeared many articles of this character in a certain Kentucky weekly, that, as a pastime to the novice in the breeding business, might prove interesting reading, but, were he to act on their conclusions, would prove delusive, as they are largely written from an interested standpoint.

The large class of the bloods opposed to the Star and Clay were bred in the purple. The Mambrino Patchens, the Mambrino Chiefs and the Pilot Jr. mares were mostly from dams that were well bred; but what of the Stars? Scarcely one of them from a mare of any known breeding, but, on the other hand, they were very common kind of farm mares. The dam of Widow Machree, the dam of the great Aberdeen, was a very ordinary mare, whose pedigree was never fully established, and where was ever a geeater sire, or one whose colts promise more? So with Clara, the dam of Dexter, Dictator, etc. No; beginners, be wary of the articles that appear so regularly from the pens that are worn out in the service. The only way you can arrive at anything like a fair understanding of the breeding question is to study well the gait, location, opportunities, disposition, peculiarities, formation, breeding and stamina of the various bloods, and then study results.

There is nothing more misleading to a student than the standard and the 2:30 list. We have in our mind a Hambletonian Star stallion that has a numerous progeny in the 2:30 list, that has a tremendous number that have trotted very close to it, and not a single one of the former from a standard mare. In fact, he never covered but few standard mares, the majority of their breeding unknown, but his dam was from such a good mare that, crossed with Seely's American Star, and she with the great Hambletonian, nearly every one of his progeny are turning out trotters.—Hunter, in Turf, Field and Farm.

Turf Reform.

Our older breeders and turfmen have been proud of the reputation and prowess of the American thoroughbred, and the success of Parole, Preakness, Foxhall and Iroquois in Europe a few years ago sent a thrill of pleasure to the hearts of breeders. Many of them feel that the countenance and encouragement now given to short dash races, less than a mile, will produce a decline in the thoroughbred horse, and this decline has been, and ever will be, in exact ratio to the general spread and increase of this class of racing.

The glorious old days of the turf have departed, when our horses were noted both for speed and bottom. The turf of to-day furnishes but few horses of the charactor of those some twenty or thirty years ago who can compass a distance of ground. Even if they can be found the programmes of our meetings give them no chance to display their prowess. The present system if continued a few years more, must of necessity produce a degeneracy, especially for bottom and endurance. It has heretofore been our boast that by racing alone we were able to test the breeding, speed, endurance and stoutness of our horses. Do the present programmes for racing furnish any test of stoutness and endurance? No, not a particle. It is merely old-fashioned quarter and thousand yard racing, slightly elongated. Take up a racing programme, North, South, East or West, and outside of a few stakes, one cannot find a weight-for-age race, and scarcely one over a mile. Three-fourths or seven-eighths of the purses run are handicaps, selling, or penalties and allowances, short scurrys less than a mile.

It was the boast of our older breeders that the thoroughbred horse improved any breed he was crossed upon, giving them more endurance and stoutness. This cannot be claimed much longer under our present system of racing, which offers a premium upon the sprinter to the exclusion of endurance and bottom. The earlier breeders' constant aim was to breed upward and select stallions and mares noted for bottom and endurance, combined with speed, but the present system is just the opposite, and we are breeding the race downward instead of upward. The trotting breeders are pursuing just the opposite course, for they are breeding upward instead of downward.

They require yearlings to trot a mile; two-year-olds mile heats, and three-year-olds and upward mile heats three best in five, and when they breed they reject the speedy horse who cannot repeat and live out a race, and breed to those with great speed and indomitable game; just the opposite course the thoroughbred breeders are pursuing.

If like begets like, and you wish too breed horses who have both speed and endurance you must breed from those who have shown themselves superior for that particular purpose. In planting any kind of grain we reject inferior qualities, and select the best if we expect a good return. If this rule is applicable in grain raising, it need hardly be observed how powerfully this principle applies to breeding the best kind of stock.

In looking over the history of the American thoroughbred, it would be hard to find a horse who could not go four-mile heats himself who ever sired a four-mile horse; why? Because bottom and endurance is a quality so difficult to be transmitted that it requires the very strongest development of it in the parent to render a horse capable of conveying it to his progeny. All, or nearly all of our breed of horses have sufficient speed, but the difficulty lies in their incapacity to keep up this rate of speed for any length of time. The present system of racing offers a premium on the sprinter, to the almost total ignoring of the stout bottomed and enduring race horse. This is radically wrong and is working incalcurable injury to our breed of race horses. If we wish to breed the highest type of race horses, the clubs must cut off these innumerable short races of four, five and six furlongs and lengthen the distances, and our breeders must breed to horses who have not only speed but endurance, horses that have proved their worth by their deeds.—Live Stock Record.

THE KENNEL.

Dog owners are requested to send for publication the earliest possible notices of whelps, sales, names claimed, presentations and deaths in their kennels, in all instances writing plainly names of sire and dam and of grandparents, colors, dates and breed.

"Blue Bloods" at $15.

Three Llewellin bitch pups, L. and White, out of "Rural Nellie." Leigh Belton—Rural Neva, by "Romeo" (Ripple—Nellie 2d) Warranted to make grand field dogs. Address C. A. Loud, Corvallis, Oregon.

Names Claimed.

C. A. Loud, Corvallis, Ore., claims the following names for litter of Llewellin setter pups whelped October 2d, out of Rural Nellie by his Romeo:

Sir Roderic, for brown, white and tan dog.
Sir Launcelot, for black, white and tan dog.
Bonnie Llewellin, for lemon and white bitch.
Lady Romania, for lemon and white bitch.
Countess Lynette, for lemon and white bitch.
Lady Godiva, for lemon and white bitch.
Lady Elaine, for black, white and tan bitch.

The Denver Dog Show.

Mr. Claude King, one of the leading promoters of the Continental Kennel Club of Denver, Colo., writes that the show to be given by the club, beginning on November 20th, promises to be very successful. The St. Bernard Irish water spaniel, mastiff, great Dane, greyhound and collie classes will be fine, also Irish and English setters. The latest addition to the list of special prizes is a purse of $250 for the best kennel owned outside of Colorado; five dogs of the same breed, neither more nor less to constitute a kennel. The dogs will be judged by points, the kennel scoring highest in the aggregate to win. Denver is not so far away but that Californian owners of cracks could send entries, and we hope some of the leading kennels will be represented.

Mr. A. B. Truman (Elcho Kennel) has sold to Mr. C. D. Thomson, Laird, Colo, an Irish red setter bitch by Mike T—Lady Elcho T., whelped July 30, 1889.

Mr. C. F. Taylor, at Nevada City, desires to negotiate with some one for live hares. Mr. W. J. Browning, at Merced, traps them and supplies local coursing clubs. There may be some one at Bakersfield who could procure hares in any number.

The English setter Bessie, dam of Mr. Kittle's Luke, Mr. Linville's Florine, Mr. J. B. Lucas' Bruiser, and others of the handsomest dogs in the State, whelped two puppies on Monday last to Carl R (Leicester—Dart). Both have died—a loss that is irreparable. Carl R is in Oakland, sleek, lively and better in every way than he has been for years, we are told by his owner Captain Moore.

BASE BALL.

Effect of the Brotherhood Scheme on the California League.

The advance guard of the California men who are playing in the National League, arrived here last week in the person of Fred Carroll of Pittsburg. Fred laughs at the report that he intends to desert the ball field and go into business with his father. He says he did not even spring the story as a bluff for more salary, but only as a joke. Carroll cannot be induced to say a word regarding the scheme of the Brotherhood to organize an opposition to the League and Association and although he is a member of the order he pretends not to know anything about the plans of Ward and the other leaders more than he has seen in the daily papers. It is evident from his manner that he knows a great deal more about the scheme than he cares to make known, but he is probably acting under instruction in keeping silent until after the meeting of the Brotherhood which takes place this month. Van Haltren will be here next week, and as he is known to be on the best of terms with Spalding and Anson, and will undoubtedly wear a Chicago uniform next season whether the crazy scheme of Ward & Co. is consummated or not, he may be able to give some important facts regarding the proposition. All that is known at present is that the ball players intend to form a league of their own, maintaining separate clubs and grounds at New York, Boston, Brooklyn and Philadelphia in the East, and Buffalo, Pittsburg, Cleveland and Chicago in the West.

The Brotherhood members of the Washington and Indianapolis Clubs will be transferred to Brooklyn and Buffalo. The eight clubs will be run on the co-operation plan with two representatives of each club acting as a Board of Directors. The scheme has "failure" stamped on the face of it, yet many of the players are anxious to try it. President John B Day of the New York Club, has been offered the presidency of the new concern, but he wisely refused to consider the offer, prefering to remain with the league, which he has helped to build up. If the plan is ever acted upon, every player who goes into it will most heartily regret it before the next July and will be glad to return to the old clubs at greatly reduced salaries; but for awhile it is apt to cause considerable annoyance to the owners of the League clubs, and will also greatly effect the minor leagues. For instance, the work of every man in the California League is carefully watched all over the East, and every manager there knows just what each man is cavable of doing just as well as we do here. Suppose Ward, Keefe, Ewing, Connor, Richardson and two or three others of the New York Club should decide to cast their lot with the new concern, as they undoubtedly would, Day and Mutrie would of necessity have to fill the vacancies by drawing from the smaller leagues. They would quickly rob us of "poet and general" O'Neill to stop up the hole caused by the desertion of Johnny Ward, while the California patrons of the game would have to be content with some amateur to play short field for the Oaklands. So it would be all through; our best players would be taken East, while we would have to be content with amateurs. This would be a fatal blow to the game on this coast. It is to be sincerely hoped for the good of players and patrons that better counsel will prevail and a compromise of some kind be effected.

Phil Knell has not done anything of a startling nature since his return to California. He never could control the ball when facing good batters and it is doubtful if he ever can.

In the Western League when the players were all light weight batters, he could send his swift and drop ball over the plate without much danger of being hit hard, but when he comes to face such men as Hardie, Dooley, Shea, Ebright and Cahill he weakens and loses heart with the result that he fails to get the ball anywhere near the plate. Knell may be all right in the Western League, but he will lose three games out of five in California.

Comiskey and the St. Louis Browns will winter in California if arrangements can be made with Jim Hart permitting them to play on the Haight Street grounds. Hart holds a contract with President Mone whereby no Eastern club but the Bostons can play on those grounds without his consent. It is to be hoped he will allow the ex-Association Champions to play for after the Stocktons and Oaklands start on their foreign tours, base ball will be at a standstill in this city unless a series of games is arrangen between the Bostons, St. Louis and San Franciscos which would prove decidedly interesting as each club holds second place in its respective organization.

It has not yet been fully determined whether Stockton will be in the league next season or not, but the probabilities are that the Slough city will surrender its charter at the close of the present season. The latest report is that manager Harris will transfer the entire club to Fresno.

The League directors are still struggling with the proposition to increase the League to six teams. It is to be hoped they will decide to add the two extra clubs.

THE ORCHARD.

The Outlook for Next Season's Planting.

In all probability the planting season of 1889-90 will come fully up to our expectations as one of unusual activity. The rain of the past week, something very uncommon for this time of the year, in quantities sufficient to give the ground a good soaking, has already demonstrated to us that we will be more than ever enabled to get the ground in proper condition for planting at an early date, and that it will be in the best condition, providing that we have an average amount of rain in the meantime. While our predictions are not always fulfilled, these showers are a good forerunner for the planters of orchards and vineyards next season. Even if we are destined to have a dry season, it enables us to plant early, which is of the utmost importance, although the planting season lasts until April as a general thing, but those having only small tracts to set out would do well to plant early, and the larger planters as early as their interests will allow. It is not always practicable to have as many hands as one would like to have in setting out a large orchard, but if possible double up your crew and finish planting in just as short a time after putting your land in condition as possible. How large an acreage will be planted this year is not to a certainty known, whether it will come up to last season's or not. But it is already reported that the nurseries are pretty well nigh exhausted of some of the principal varieties of their stock. This is probably as good an indication of what the season will be, for when the stocks of our principal varieties are exhausted, we can then count upon an immense cut being made into what is left. Still, there are reasons why some varieties are short this year. Take French prunes, for instance, that the cut worms played such havoc with last spring, and it is easy to account for them all being taken up; but outside of all this we find that the general feeling of land owners is to increase their orchards and vineyards.

The prices obtained this year have left the producer a fair margin, so that he is beginning to feel more secure in his calling, and that old cry of over-production is fast dying out as every year shows the profits to be derived from fruit culture to be permanent, and thus convinces those that doubt whether there is money in fruit that there is. It is still heard once in a while now, but hardly frequently enough to alarm others interested, generally coming from those who never will quit grain farming. It is well for all intending planting to engage their trees and vines at once if they have not already done so. This gives you a better choice from the nurseries, and you can then rest content from that part of the contract so that you will not be bothered by having to purchase them, when it might be necessary to tend to the preparation and staking off of your land. We already have reports from our correspondents that this will be one of the largest planting seasons that we have yet had, particularly is this so of Fresno and Tulare, where they are intending to largely increase the acreage of raisin grapes. It is a well established fact and is generally conceded on all hands now, that fruit pays a bigger interest on land than anything else that we can plant, so that everybody owning a tract of land, be it ever so small or ever so large, should commence laying their plans and making arrangements to set out as large a piece as their means will allow.

THE FARM.

System in Farming.

Why It Pays to Make a Specialty of One Branch of Agriculture,

In an address upon this subject Mr. Hiram Smith of Wisconsin spoke substantially as follows:

There is much complaint about competition in various branches of farming, yet few who are in the business can get out of it safely; they are in to stay. The chief point to consider is how to make the business pay. The farmer who aims to produce a little in the many branches of farming and the one who pursues only the old methods is farming at cross purposes, and does not succeed.

Take an instance: Here is a farmer with 400 acres of land. He sells steer beef at $3.25 per hundred. This meat was produced thus: Pastured upon grass land in summer, fed meadow hay in winter, and finished off with corn.

This man farmed at cross purposes. His neighbor, who farmed at a purpose, made money by feeding steers, for he filled his silo, fed them this in winter and in summer had them upon pasture while feeding a grain ratio; then sold in July or August at the best prices. Besides making money, he worked much less hard than his neighbor.

Another case: A farmer, who read that money was made by breeding trotting-horses, went to raising them. Then he read that there was money in Jersey cows; so he tried them. Not knowing how to make butter, he sold his milk at the cheese factory, and of course it went into the general pool. A dry summer came; the cows went dry, and, to cap the climax, a cow hooked his head trotter, and—he sold out in the fall, bankrupt. He had no purpose in his farming.

The one who studies all advancements, keeps step with all the best methods, devotes his best efforts in one direction, to the production of one class of product, and plans wisely, is farming to a purpose, and succeeds. The sooner the farmers of the country concentrate their efforts on special lines, the earlier will desired success crown their efforts.

Make a specialty of one branch of farming. Crowd that for all it is worth. Bend every energy to be the best in that line, and you can hardly fail to succeed.—Dairy World.

Got Eggs Every Day Last Winter.

In the first place hens should never be crowded in their winter quarters; second, corn should never be fed to laying hens, as it contains no elements that assist in egg production, and is only fit for the fattening process. Now, for my method, not theoretically given, but as a practical experience. I got eggs every day last winter, and expect to this winter. My houses are not artificially heated, nor are they so warm as to keep water from freezing in them; but they are tight enough to turn all draughts and the windows are supplied with tight shutters. The apartments are eight feet square, and are intended to hold no more than eight hens. The floor is of dry dirt, covered about a foot with clean, dry straw. This should be forked over every two or three days and changed for fresh as often as necessary. In the morning I give a warm feed consisting of bran middlings, very small portion of oatmeal, and the refuse scraps from the table, stirred up in hot milk. I feed only what they will eat up clean; then about ten o'clock, two or three good handfuls of wheat, oats or barley are thrown into the straw; this keeps them busy scratching for the rest of the day. A hen must be given plenty of exercise; she is sure to become too fat to lay if she has nothing to do but to stand around and eat. "Oh, well," some people would say, "all this is too much trouble; it won't pay." All right, then, if it don't pay to sell eggs at thirty-five and forty cents per dozen, there is no money in poultry at all. But there is money in it, as hundreds of successful poultrymen will amply prove.—[Kansas Farmer.

Poultry and Gardening.

While the hens have always been considered the enemies of gardening, yet they can really be made to perform valuable service if they are kept with a view to having them provide both vegetables and eggs. The hen should be utilized for all she is worth, and a large loss occurs every year by not taking advantage of the hens as a useful adjunct to gardening and also for pulverizing and rendering fine the manure of the barnyard. If the hen can be made to return to the farmer a large portion of the food consumed for fertilizing purposes, it is so much addition to the profit; but under the conditions in which she is kept on many farms, her usefulness is lost, although the system practiced is under a mistaken supposition that it is economical. The true method of keeping hens is to render them serviceable in producing eggs, meat and vegetables. No doubt many readers will smile over the thought of the hens producing vegetables, but experiments made have demonstrated that the yield of vegetables can be increased 100 per. cent by simply arranging the proper yards for that purpose.

To explain, it may be stated that only one-third of the poultry droppings is secured from under the roosts, while two-thirds of this valuable fertilizer is lost, to a certain extent, by being dropped in a manner to prevent proper appropriation for purposes desired. The garden, therefore, should be in the poultry yards, and the yards should be changeable. That is, each flock should have two yards, in one of which something should be growing while the other is occupied by the hens. The growing material can be utilized for the hens when it is only a few inches high, and as it is not necessary for such green food to mature, the changing of the flocks from one yard to another will be frequent. And here is an important point—weeds will be destroyed—which means the saving of a vast amount of labor during the growing season. During the winter keep the fowls confined during the whole time in the yards intended for early vegetables, and then change them. By the time the early vegetables are harvested the yard occupied will be ready for later crops. The object is to concentrate the droppings on a limited area.

If preferred, the poultry house and yard should adjoin the regular garden plot. The plot should be cleaned, plowed, and the hens turned in as soon as the crops are off. It will be well fertilized during the period from November to May, if the flock is large, and the rapidity of growth, and increase of yield will be surprising. There is no necessity for allowing the droppings of fowls to be wasted, and the fowls themselves will evenly distribute the fertilizer. Another thing that is overlooked is the throwing of the horse manure under a shed, to be made fine by the hens from which they secure food, and render it in the best possible condition for crops that are desired early.—Mirror and Farmer.

Management of Swine.

[Letter by H. D. Nichol, Nashville, Tenn., to Giles County Farmers' Association.]

It is very true I have studied the hog very closely, not merely for the profit I derive from them, but for the love I have for raising them. I like swine raising better than any other stock. I commenced handling hogs when merely a boy twelve or fifteen years old. I first started with the common hog, a sow that was given me by my father's overseer in the year 1858 or 1859. I think I kept that sow about three years, realizing but small profits from her or her progeny. About the year 1865 or 1866 my brother and myself formed a partnership in the hog business, which partnership lasted but a short time. My brother drew out, at which time the Essex hog was very much in favor in my neighborhood, and we, never having heard of such a hog, were very anxious to see them, and after seeing them were more than anxious to have and try them, they were so pretty and so easy to keep fat. My experience with them was of very short duration. With all care we very seldom could get a sow to have more than one or two litters of pigs, and then very few in number, two or four pigs. Six, I believe, is the largest litter I ever heard of an Essex pig farrowing at one time. Besides, they make poor mothers, and very poor sucklers. After farrowing one or two litters they become non-breeders, will come in heat regularly and be served, but never get with pig; at least, that was our experience with them and the chief reason we abandoned them, and another reason was they were not large enough. I will say one thing in favor of the Essex hog they are the easiest to fatten and will keep fat on less feed than any other breed of swine that I have ever tried. In 1868 my father sent to Kentucky to purchase a few Chester Whites from Mr. Scott. When they arrived I thought now we had what we had been looking for so long a time—something large and fine. We kept them two or three years, but soon found that the Chester White was not the hog for us in that day and time. The color, in the first place, was objectionable; second, too subject to mange; third and lastly, too long in maturing. Becoming somewhat disheartened with hogs, as I could not give them proper attention and go to school too, I abandoned them for several years. On my return home from school I found on the farm a lot of thoroughbred scrubs, and I thought after all they would do; there was not much in the breed of hogs, anyway. But on getting acquainted with an Ohio farmer who had lately moved to Tennessee and brought with him what he called the Poland-China hog, and after visiting him several times and hearing him talk, I thought I would try some more so-called fine hogs. So I procured several sows and a male at high prices from my old Ohio friend. I was perfectly delighted with them for a while.

They grew to be very large, but after experimenting with them awhile I found several objections to them; first, they were a coarse hog, second, they were too lazy to get around and hustle for themselves. Whenever you fed them in the morning there's where you would find them at all hours of the day and night too, I presume; third and lastly, I do not consider the bacon and ham meat from the Poland-China near as firm meat as from either of the above mentioned breeds. For lard alone, I do not believe the Poland-China can be surpassed by any breed, not even by my hobby, the Berkshire. And again, I could not get them to mature as early as I thought they ought to.

A friend and neighbor of ours at that time had procured some Berkshires, and was boasting of the wonderful things he could make them do at a certain age with a certain amount of food. I was, of course, interested, and watched him, both as to the care he took of them and the feed, and soon found out that the black dish or short face, white points Berkshire pig was the pig for me. I believe I have been handling swine altogether about twenty-four years, and my experience teaches me that the Berkshire is by all means the best hog for all purposes that I have ever handled. They grow large enough and are easily kept, being an active, industrious hog in providing for itself. I have often been asked the question, what breed of hogs I considered the most profitable to raise in Tennessee? My answer invariably was the one that you can get the most money out of. My experience is the Berkshire, with the same amount of food attention. I believe they are less liable to the different hog diseases. I have been handling hogs, as I have said before, twenty-four years, and I don't remember of ever losing but three head of grown hogs by any disease during this time. Do not understand me as claiming my hogs as disease proof, for I do not.

I attribute my good fortune to my well watched farm and my untiring efforts to keep them clean of all nits, lice, etc. My expenditures for medicine for hogs during the twenty-four years will not exceed $5, except coal oil, copperas, sulphur and pine tar, which I use freely. I believe that one-half the hog diseases and death are caused from close confinement, pond water and pure neglect. I give all my hogs, except boars, the run of seventy acres of wood pasture that has large quantities of mast timber, such as white and red oak, beech, hickory and walnut; the latter, hogs will not or cannot eat until they have been frozen. This pasture, as well as the boar lots, has a lasting stream of spring water running through them.

My brood sows are kept up for a short time during farrowing times until the pigs are weaned when they are bred and turned back in pasture lots. Pigs are kept up and fed in small lots until six or ten months old, then if not sold they are either put in the smoke house or turned out with herd.

As I have given you my idea of the different breeds of swine that I have handled in the State of Tennessee, I do not wish to get into any controversy in making this statement. They may do better for others in the State or elsewhere. This is merely my experience with the hogs. I may not have had the best strains of them, but I thought I did. I paid enough for them.

I will now endeavor to give you my idea of feeding and caring for pigs from farrowing to the block.

1st.—I give the sow a good, quiet place to farrow (so as to get the best returns); if in winter or cold weather in early spring, a small house is prepared for them in each sow lot of about one-fourth of an acre, a clean bed of wheat straw or leaves—the latter is the best—which is changed once or twice in seven days. The sows are fed on oats, barley and a small quantity of corn ground altogether and cooked with beets, parsnips and turnips for at least a week before farrowing. When the pigs first come nothing is given the sow for at least twenty-four hours except cold water. The third day begin with mixed feed again in small quantities, gradually increasing feed until it gets to full rations again, then add all the milk that can be had—either sweet or sour. When pigs are strong enough they are allowed full sway to go where they please (except in the garden). The sow is kept confined in the pen and fed all the milk producing food she will eat. Pigs ought to have a small pen in which a trough should be kept full of something for them to get at will where the mother could not get into. When pigs are nine to twelve weeks old, the sow can be removed and the pigs retained in the pen for at least one week longer; then they can be turned out every morning into a clover field, fed in the pen three times a day on oats, barley and corn, equal parts ground together, and pumpkins and a little milk would help amazingly. A few days or two weeks before killing they should be confined in pens and fed on corn alone to make the meat firm.

This is the treatment I gave about nineteen head of my Berkshires last year. They were the refuse ones out of about eighty or ninety head, and they average net at seven to twelve months old, 215 pounds of meat. I have ten head this year left for my killing out of about the same number, farrowers now about eight or nine months old, but I doubt very much if I get the same average this year, as both my oats and barley gave out early in the season, and I have to rely wholly upon new corn; but if you wish it at killing time, which is in November, I will forward you the results.

My treatment to brood sows is different. I do not believe in keeping them too fat, let them have full run of pasture. Barely feed them enough to keep them gentle and come at call, except when they are suckling pigs, then I feed full as stated above.

Now if my experience, and my feeble way of expressing myself, is of any value to my many superiors in the hog business, they are entirely welcome. You can have it for what it is worth. I have written already more than I intended to worry you with, so I will close, wishing you success, and hoping it may be so that I can be with you on the 14th of September next.

A Ship-Load of Prize-Winning Percherons.

The steamship Lydian Monarch, which reached New York not long since, carried one of the best lots of prize-winning Percherons that ever left France. As soon as the great Paris International Horse Show was over Mr. W. L. Elwood made special arrangements to have his stock shipped according to his own idea; so it was that the horses traveled across the Atlantic in six and eight feet padded stalls. Nothing was too good for the handsome black two-year-old Baccarat, that defeated 100 of his own age at the Percheron show of La Ferte-Bernard, being placed at the top of the list without hesitation, and when he turned up in Paris to fight the battle over again, he walked to the front seat amid the cheers of the excitable Frenchmen. Another leading importing firm at once despatched an order to buy him and bid $3,000 for him, but the secret came out that Baccarat had been bought for Mr. Ellwood before he had ever been prepared for the ring by Mr. Tom Sloan, whose judgment seldom fails him when he sees a good one. Another one going to DeKalb was Orsini, a three-year-old, the famous iron-gray colt which followed Baccarat's footsteps, taking first prize in the Percheron ring at La Ferte Bernard and doubling the laurels in Paris by taking off first prize, beating not only all his old opponents, but making twenty other unshown ones take a back seat.

Another of Mr. Ellwood's three year-olds is a grand horse named Turco, which was second at La Ferte-Bernard and lost a point in Paris, taking third there. How many good judges did I hear say that Turco ought to have headed the list, even to the displacement of Orsini. If I am not mistaken, Turco is going to replace poor King of Perche, and a grand representative he will be. Among the mares I noticed Rosa Bonheur. This remarkable mare seemed to ride over everything in all our shows. I saw her heading the list at Montagne in 1887 as a two-year-old; then at Nogent she wiped out everything in the three-year-old ring of 1888, and won every local prize in 1889, and went to the International at Paris to take second place in a field of fifty.

And now for a look at the coachers. The grand dark bay 16.2 hands went off with the first premium in the three-year-old class, and second prize was taken by a dark brown horse 16.3 hands and a great mover. In the four-year-old ring the well-named horse Handsome, 16 3 hands, carried everything before him, possessing style and action such as we are all looking for; a head and neck belonging to the Thoroughbred, fair bone, but grand quality. He is as near the perfect animal as you expect to find. All these fine fellows and twenty more are going to the Elwood establishment.

Mr. James C. Smith, of Oakland, Cal., had a picked lot on board. A couple of two-year-old Percherons were greatly admired; the best yearling in France is owned by him, and a two-year-old mare which took fifth prize at La Ferte-Bernard, sired by Brilliant 3d, is also going to Oakland. I had also on board a few head which I had intended wintering on the Pacific, but two of them were bought in New York by Charles V. Holder of Bloomington, Ill.

George Warner, in Breeders' Gazette.

Killing Contest.

The sheep killing contest between Henry O'Brien, the champion of America, and Henry Gaile, better known as "English Harry," and who claims the championship of England, took place recently at Shooting Park, Newark, N. J., and was a novelty to the majority of the 500 spectators present. The pen upon which the men were to contest for the championship was located in the center of the park, and was roped off to prevent the spectators from crowding in on the contestants. O'Brien was the first to make his appearance, but was soon followed by Gaile. Both men carried all necessary implements in a square leather case. Before the men started in on their task many bets were made in favor of O'Brien, while a fellow-countryman of Gaile had pluck enough to shout out, "Hi'll bet $50 to $40 that Gaile wins," and his offer was soon snatched up by a stalwart Irishman.

In the toss for place and pick of sheep Gaile won, and this helped him a great deal. Each man had ten sheep and each were allowed helpers, O'Brien's man being F. Frick, while Billy Corrigan assisted Gaile. Mr. Maybaum told the helpers to kill the sheep and the contestants would not be allowed to begin until they had died.

It was just 4:18 o'clock when Phil Kirchner gave the men the word to start. Both men worked hard at legging the sheep. O'Brien proved to be the more rapid of the two at this point, and he had his four sheep strung up and ready for pelting nearly five minutes ahead of Gaile, and he also placed five dressed sheep on the hook before Gaile had one to his credit. But this did not discourage the plucky Englishman, and he stuck to his work like wax. O'Brien, seeing that the Englishman was gaining on him, began to relax his quick movements, and by the time he had his seventh sheep pelted, he was much weaker, and could hardly stand. The Englishman, seeing this, quickened his movements, and was nearly two sheep ahead of O'Brien when the latter gave up, completely exhausted.

Gaile never stopped to look at O'Brien's actions, but kept right on dressing his sheep, and finished the ten in thirty-two minutes. The crowd then broke through the ropes, and Gaile was carried around the park by his friends, who expressed much glee over his victory, while O'Brien was surrounded by a large number of his admirers who had backed him heavily, each trying to ascertain the cause of his action in quitting labor before he had been fairly beaten. Many were of the opinion that if O'Brien had stuck to his work and finished the chances of winning on a foul were very good, as he dressed his sheep in a far better form than the Englishman. The match was for $250 a side.—Chicago Sheep Breeder.

Bad Beef.

A London dispatch of the 8th inst. says: Startling revelations concerning the foreign extract of meat business have just been made at a provincial police court, where a boy was charged at the instance of the Royal Society for the prevention of Cruelty to Animals, with cruelty to a horse while driving it during the night in an almost dying state. An inspector of the society stated upon oath that investigation had developed the fact, that the animal was being taken to a man who exported hundreds of tons of horse flesh annually to Antwerp, where it was made into extract of beef. It was also stated that animals barely able to crawl were gathered in by this individual from all parts of the country. These revelations have made a profound sensation among the medical profession as well as in the grocery business, and steps are being taken without delay to prove their truth or falsity.

San Francisco Beef Supply.

Ordinarily Nevada supplies San Francisco with its juiciest steaks and fattest beef at this season of the year. For years the annual shipments of fat cattle from the desert station of Winnemucca ranged from 20,000 to 28,000 head, and one year the total shipments, including dressed beefs, exceeded 35,000 head. Now, in consequence of the unprecedented drouth which has prevailed in central and northern Nevada for three years, the shipments of beef are comparatively few, and the stock that is being taken out of the country is poorer than cattle usually are in the spring. Many of the large stock ranges in the country are being depleted. Miller & Lux have driven thousands of head across the mountains to California, as have also Riley & Hardin and N. H. A. Mason. Geo. D. Bliss has shipped a large number of his cattle to his ranches in California, and M. Brandenstein & Co., make their shipment of 600 head to their California ranches to-day. P. Sweeney has driven a part of his herds to Churchill County, where hay is plenty, and T. B. Rickey will not have many cattle on his ranch in this county this winter. Should we have a wet winter, and we doubtless will, unless climatic changes which will result in the depopulation of the country are taking place, it will be some years before the ranges of Nevada are overstocked with cattle again.—(Silver State.

Milking Shorthorns.

In the battle of the breeds, as in all other fights, the spoils go to the victor. In this fight the spoils are actual, tangible, and worth striving for. The cattle, horses, sheep and pigs of the whole world are only waiting for improvement, and the breed that is most capable is the one that will be sought after. And the conscientious and successful breeder of that strain or race cannot fail to have the world at his feet. Good blood is wanted, and good blood must be obtained. Where it exists it can and will maintain its price.

But where does it exist? That is the great question, and one on which the world is waiting to receive the answer. What the reply should be ought to depend on ascertained fact, and not on fancy or the free play of lively imagination. It is perfectly true that there is no such thing as a general-purpose breed that excels in all the sections of merit. It does not exist, it never has existed, and it never will exist, It is the theoretical idea of a few American enthusiasts and their less intellectual imitators on this side of the Atlantic. But what is practically perfection in branches of usefulness may be found in almost any breed, and certainly the Shorthorn, when not too much pampered, is the nearest approach to the general-purpose breed that the world has yet seen. Unfortunately, we live in times when a few printed words are taken as the equal to actual facts, and, if cleverly written, as superior. Certainly in this country we have no breed that is all-round better than the Shorthorn, and it is doubtful if there are any milking cattle that beat some of the unpedigreed animals of the breed. Where they have degenerated, even the pedigreed ones, it is the fault of the breeder rather han of the breed.

We are led to make these remarks because of a rather unjust attack upon the breed as a whole, which appears in the Breeders' Gazette in its reports on the fairs. The question is sarcastically asked, "Where are the milking Shorthorns?" and we are practically told that at the Iowa Fair, "in all the many barns filled by the extensive Shorthorn exhibit, there was but little testimony to show the casual observer whether the breed was capable of producing any kind of butter other than oleo." Again we are told that "there was, indeed, but little to vary the dull monotony of fat in calf heifers and tallowy cows." And, in fact, it is added that Shorthorns are not milkers because "they are not built that way."

We really must protest against such a loose attack on our historic breed, simply because some American buyers have selected pampered animals rather than those bred for use and profit. That it was an unjust remark to infer that Shorthorns "are not built that way" our contemporary him elf shows, for he is quite enthusiastic over one cow—a recent import from this country, we are pleased to see. This animal, Mr. N. P. Clarke's Gypsy Maid—"was almost enough in herself to stand solitary and alone for the glory of the breed. With her 2,000 pounds of fine flesh, carried in smallest possible superficies, on neatest of limbs; a finely developed udder, well-set teats, and a lusty calf frolicking by her side, this cow—like Princess Alice at the Adams sale—might well challenge the attention of the most critical." This fact of itself shows that the attack on the whole breed is unjustifiable. The selection and management by American buyers and breeders —and the same holds good of English, Scotch and Irish—is, in but too many instances, at fault

There is no breed that may not lose every good point by careless breeding. To call attention to this is good and useful, and breeders should listen to such well-meant criticism. There is no breed that can be described as having but one merit. It is equally true to say that the great inherent qualities of the famous Teeswater race of bovine stock is its aptitude to become great milkers. If, as our contemporary admits, "deep milkers exist in nearly every representative herd" in America, it ought not to be difficult to extend their numbers.

We cannot help thinking, however, that the attack is but a phase in the battle of the breeds, and that some other variety of cattle expects to divide the spoils.—Mark Lane Express.

Hereford Cattle.

We have seen in the last few years some of as good Herefords as any in the States exhibited at our fairs in California, and they have gradually been sold here and there until they now threaten to usurp the supremacy which the shorthorn or Durham has so long held as a superior early beef producer. The "History of Hereford Cattle," which recently appeared, gives many interesting facts about the breed, and a few quotations should not be out of place.

They are celebrated for their uniformity, abundance of flesh, well mixed or marbled meat, exceptional constitution, and as being particularly good, hardy grass cattle.

Hereford cattle are remarkable for the distinctiveness and uniformity of their outward characteristics and general attributes. The red curly hair and broad kindly-looking white face mark the trail of the Hereford wherever the breed has roamed. In former times the mottle-faced and grey stains were cultivated, but all of these have disappeared, and now the white-faces reign supreme. This distinguishing feature would seem to be indelibly stamped in the breed. The ever present, outward and visible sign of the breed, it forms a striking instance of the remarkable power and reliability of undiluted, long-sustained hereditary influence. The almost unique permanency of the white face is the strongest possible evidence as to the purity of the Hereford breed. Hereditary power is the surest sign of purity of descent, and it may be doubted if any characteristic in any of our domesticated variety of farm live stock is more firmly fixed than the white face of the Hereford.

Who that visits our live stock shows does not admire the beautiful, rich, red curly coats of the Herefords? They are also noted for their quiet, docile tempers and kindly expression of the face, features of some practical importance, for they are indicative of good fattening properties. The prevailing color is red, from moderately light to dark in shade; some preferring the deep, rich, red, while others favor the paler shades.

In conformation, the breed displays nearly as much uniformity as in color. The most striking features of this are their broad, level back, deep, wide chest and brisket, hanging dewlap, light thighs and great wealth of flesh. The broad back, wide rib and wealth of flesh have been cultivated for the purpose of meat production, but the old characteristic of light thighs, though less apparent than it has been, is still a noticeable defect in many animals. The more successful of modern breeders have with good results, given careful attention to the removal of this deficiency.

An important characteristic in Hereford Cattle is that they carry flesh most heavily on the parts of the frame from which the best meat is cut The broad backs are usually loaded with meat of the finest quality, and the average Hereford carcass is found to have its fat and lean mixed in the most admirable manner. Butchers and consumers alike, hold Hereford beef in high esteem. Indeed the grass fed Hereford beef enjoys quite an enviable reputation and brings top figures in the best markets of the country. The perfect mixing of Hereford beef has been notorious for generations. The proportion of lean to fat is exceptionally large, and the whole is juicy, tender and choicely favored.

Hereford cattle are unsurpassed as grazers. Robust in constitution, quiet in temperament, kindly feeders, and large growers, they thrive and fatten admirably on pasture land. No variety of cattle will give a better return for the run of a yard and moderate feeding during winter.

It is well known that Herefords are exceptionally robust and hardy. They suffer less than most other varieties from exposure to cold and wet, and it would appear that their share of the common ailments of the cattle kind is comparatively light. Abortion is a rare occurrence, and Hereford cows, even when submitted to extreme high pressure in feeding breed with remarkable regularity.

At one time the dairy properties of the Herefords were of a high order. In Cornwall the breeders of Herefords have kept milk production carefully in view, and there the breed enjoys a good name in the dairy as well as in the feeding-house. But in the old home of the Herefords attention has been almost exclusively devoted to beef production, with the result that while the quality of Hereford milk is as rich as ever, the yield is rather less than formerly.

The Hereford breed has attained a good name and firm footing in many parts of this country beyond its own native districts, while in foreign lands it has won favor which is rapidly extending This is not to be wondered at, for the inherent properties of the breed render it well worthy the attention of all cattle owners whose main purpose is the production of high-class beef.

Cattle Notes.

Dutch cattle can now enter the interior of England. The embargo has lasted ten years, How soon can American cattle be allowed to go into England alive?

George Doherty, the owner of Victor (Hayseed) believes in having well-bred cattle as well as horses. While in Carson he lately purchased a three-year-old Holstein heifer, Esparalte, which has figured successfully in the show-ring several times. She is in calf to an exceptionally fine, pure-bred Holstein bull.

Kerry cows are running those of the Channel Islands hard as dairy cattle and are fast becoming fashionable. The Queen paid them a good deal of attention at the royal show at Windsor, and since then a choice herd of this breed has been selected for her Majesty and forwarded to the royal dairy farm at Winsdor. The Prince of Wales and the dukes of Westminster, Leinster and Abercorn have also commenced the breeding of Kerries.

A good cow is described by Prof. Robertson as follows: "She is flat-ribbed just back of the shoulders, and has well-sprung ribs further back. She has broad, flat ribs, and so far apart that one can lay two fingers between them. Her skin should be loose and flappy over the flank, and her umbilical developments should be firm and strong, with the veins of the belly very prominent. She should be broad between the eyes, should have a short and slightly disked face and bright and promient eyes. Besides, the poll or forehead should be long between the horns and the eye; the neck should be clean and thin, the backbone strong, the pelvic arch high, the hams thin to give ample room for a large udder, and the tail should be long, slim or flat. She should have a long udder, extending well back and in front—one that will be soft and flappy when milked out—and should have a three-fold, wedge-shaped form, the general tendency of weight being toward the udder, indicating power to produce milk."

Mr. Richard Hinton, the expert, estimates that it would cost $50,000,000 to reclaim our arid lands, but that once reclaimed they will support 100,000,000 people. England has expended $100,000 000 in irrigating the arid lands of East India, and the investment has brought profitable returns. The estimate is that it costs an average of $16 per acre to introduce artificial irrigation, which is less than the cost of clearing land.

Investments in American cattle ranches have not proved profitable to British investors. In 1888 three companies out of ten, only paid dividends, and these were less than three per cent. One company has a debit of $200,000 in the suspense account for "shortage" of herds, another estimates the decrease of herds at $470,000, and other companies have debit balances of $495,000, $435,000, $185,000 and $550,000.

A recent dispatch says that pleuro-pneumonia has been discovered among cattle shipped to England from the northwest. The object of this announcement is apparent. The cattle interests of Europe are becoming alarmed at the steady inflow of American cattle and are seeking through the medium of an unfounded alarm to secure the restriction of these importations. Bismark's experience in coppering the American hog is not lost upon Europe when the aggressiveness of a western industry threatens local interest.

Unpainted Bee Hives.

Unpainted hives during a very wet, rainy time would probably get more damp and soggey than painted ones; but when the sun comes out I think they will dry out, outside and inside, quicker. In the early spring, when the bees need all the benefit they can get from the sun, a black unpainted hive would certainly secure more warmth; but when the great heat of the summer sun becomes an objection, it would be just the other way. A careful, enlightened, intelligent bee keeper will, as a rule, have not only his bee hives, but his implements and every thing else, including house and barn, kept well painted, while the slipshod don't care old foggy would be pretty sure to have everything unpainted; therefore paint indicates the character of the man. I should hesitate some about wanting my hives to present such an appearance as unpainted ones usually do.—Bee Keeper.

Read and Ponder.

Cut away the old canes from raspberry and blackberry bushes as soon as fruit gathering is over, leaving only those desired for fruiting next season.

Young hogs will do no damage in the orchard, and will pick up all the wormy apples and keep the clover from killing out and the weeds from taking possession of the orchard.

Too much corn is very generally assigned as a cause of hog cholera, and now a farmer advances the opinion that too much corn has been the cause of cholera among his poultry.

During the wet, warm weather, tomato plants have been making extraordinary growth, while setting very little fruit. Good gardeners often run a sharp spade down beside the plants to prune their roots and induce the formation of fruit.

Among the newer strawberries that seem to have made a record the past season over a wide extent of country of sufficient promise to justify a general trial may be mentioned Pearl, Jessie, Buhoch, Warfield and Haverland.

Ripening Cream.

Mr. F. D. Curtis, of Saratoga county, one of the New York's recognized authorities in various matters pertaining to the farm, never churns his cream less than twenty-four hours old, and he aims to have it forty-eight hours, and tries to keep it in such a condition that it will be forty-eight hours old. It is then only slightly acid. This helps the process of separating the butter globules. When the cream is properly ripened, it speaks for itself. It looks bright colored and has a bright, satiny appearance, cracks open on the top, and you can almost see the butter in the cream. As soon as it reaches this point, it wants to be churned right then and there.

Now the great trouble with the average dairyman is he do-n't observe these things closely enough. He does not skim the milk properly, and the cream is kept too long. Mr. Curtis would not put old cream with sweet cream. Warm your cream up to about 75 degs., but sourness does not ripen the cream. By a little neglect in ripening the cream you cannot get all your butter. He has no doubt that he has lost 5,000 pounds of butter during the last ten years by not ripening his cream properly. He would get his cream partially ripened, put his sweet cream in and let the whole ripen. By repeated experiments he found by these means he had been losing about 10 per cent. of his butter. By ripening his cream together he has no trouble in getting at least 10 per cent. more butter than he ever did by the old method, and he attributes this loss entirely to the ripening.

The Value of Leached Ashes.

Until the last few years all the wood ashes made on the farm were leached to produce lye for soft soap, and my mother always insisted upon having a half bushel of lime mixed with ashes in the leach to produce lye strong enough to bear up an egg, and in selecting ashes for the leach, if any had become damp, they were discarded as unfit and were mixed with last year's leached ashes and applied on the farm, usually where corn was to be planted, and always with good results. The lime put in the leach will show itself in the soil many years afterwards. I have plowed up lime with a few ashes distinguishable that my father put on twenty years before, and never had a poor crop where they were put. It was on stony ground that could not be so thoroughly filled as freer soil, consequently lasted longer. Some ten years ago I planted corn on a field that had a poor spot in which nothing of any amount would grow. No one could tell why.

Before planting I took the ashes from the last year's leach and spread them over this poor place, then spread stable manure over it the same as the rest of the field. The corn grew larger on that poor spot where the ashes were than on any part of the field. The next year the oats were a failure on that spot; they grew up a little, half headed, fell down and died. The crop of rye following and all other crops since, even the grass, have been better on that spot than any other in the field, but there were too much ashes for oats the first year.—Country Gentleman.

AUCTION SALE

OF

Thoroughbred

Short-Horn Cattle!

—AT—

Agricultural Park, Sacramento

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1889, AT 1 P. M.

40 Head of

Cows, Heifers and Bulls.

That have been bred for the past 23 years with a view to producing both milk and beef. Among them will be some cows in full milk and others in calf to first class Shorthorn bulls belonging to ROBERT A. H. BURNER, Baden Station, San Mateo Co., who is about to give up Baden Farm.

Shortly after the above sale will be sold the entire stock of Farming Implements, Dairy Cows, Brood Mares and other Horses, including the Bay Stallion Suffolk Prince, who stands 17 hands 3 inches, weighs 1,350 pounds, and is kind in all sorts of work.

Catalogues can be had of

R. ASHBURNER,

Or of KILLIP & CO., Auctioneers,

22 Montgomery St., S. F.

Have Arrived.

Thoroughbred

Clydesdale Stallions

and Mares.

Consisting of the following: Bismarck, 6 years old, 2300 pounds; Brown Ben, 6 years old, 2000 pounds; Boss, 3 years, 2000 pounds; Young Malcolm, 5 years, 1900 pounds; Madam (Clydesdale), 5 years, 1800 pounds, and Rose (Clydesdale), 6 years, 1800 pounds.

IMPORTED BY

J. Trostrail,

Per Steamship Mariposa, from Australia.

May be seen at Stables of

J. G. DOANE,

No. 1117 Golden Gate Avenue.

Catalogues and particulars of

KILLIP & CO., Auctioneers,

22 Montgomery Street, S. F.

Grand Opportunity

TO PURCHASERS.

A FINE STOCK FARM

2200 ACRES

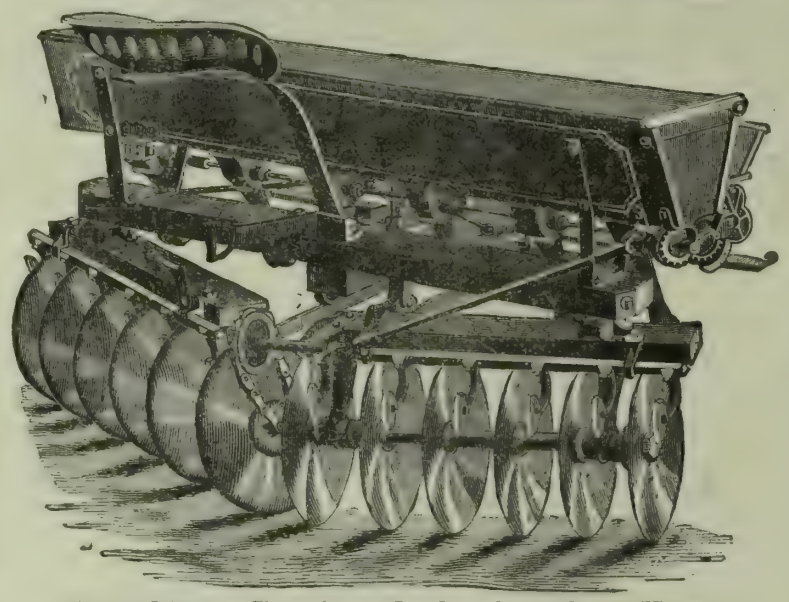
OF THE

Best and Richest Valley Land

In Ventura County

For Sale at a Bargain.

This land joins the great oil wells at Sespa, and is directly on the line of the Southern Pacific Railroad. It is well watered and well timbered, and will be sold as a whole or in parts to suit purchasers. The land adjoining this tract has been sold in small parcels to farmers who have fine orchards of oranges and olives, and vineyards. It would make two handsome ranches on which to breed fine horses or cattle, or it presents a fine opportunity to the speculator who would divide it up into small fruit farms and a town site. For further particulars, address



THOS. R. MORE,

Box 9, Santa Barbara, Cal.

Climax

Pulverizing Disc Harrow

With Seeder Attached.

Four Sizes, Cutting 6, 8, 10 and 12 Feet.

BAKER & HAMILTON, Sole Agents

Agricultural Implements, Buggies, Wagons, Road Carts, Blacksmith Supplies and Wholesale Hardware.

San Francisco and Sacramento.

PASTURAGE

AND

FIRST-CLASS CARE

TAKEN OF

Gentlemen's Road Horses and Trotters.

Colts Broken and Trained to Harness or Saddle.

Twenty new Box Stalls. First-class Pasturage and the best of care given to all horses. Terms: $4 per month. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Address,

K. O'GRADY,

Laural Creek Farm,

SAN MATEO, CAL.

"DICKEY'S,"

SIXTH AVENUE AND D ST.

Near entrance to Bay District Track.

Choicest Brands of

WINES AND CIGARS.

A Delightful Resort.

Telephone 1485. J. R. DICKEY, Propr.

PHIL J. CRIMMINS. JOHN C. MORRISON.

"Silver Palace,"

36 Geary Street,

San Francisco, Cal.

THE BUCKINGHAM.

OLD STRAIGHT WHISKIES.

141 Montgomery Street.

303 Bush Street, S. F.

M. J. BALFE, Proprietor.

FOR  SALE

DANIEL WEBSTER,

One of the Finest Bred Stallions in the State of California.

Stands 15¾ hands high. His weight is 1,150 pounds, and his color a majestic black. He is an exceedingly stylish animal. He was foaled in June, 1881, and is by Carr's Mambrino (his mother being Beautiful Belle), he by Mambrino Patchen, he by Mambrino Chief, by Mambrino Paymaster, by imported Messenger. Daniel Webster's dam was Beautiful Bell, by Taxation, by Lexington—dam Black Swan by Messenger Carrol—his dam Messenger Maid by Cooper's Bay Messenger—Swan's first dam being Katy Aubrey, by American Eclipse—second dam Buzzard, and fourth dam Mary Grey, by imported Messenger. Can be seen at the Club Stables, 409 Taylor Street. Price within the reach of any one wanting a stallion.

DUANE WESTCOTT. SAMUEL BRECK.

HARDY

Send for Catalogue FREE.

NORTHERN GROWN

SEEDS

ALSO

Grass, Farm and Garden Seeds, Plants, Trees and Bulbs in Stock.

Correspondence Solicited.

WESTCOTT & BRECK,

406 and 408 Sansome Street, S. F., Cal.

HORSES PURCHASED ON COMMISSION.

THOROUGHBREDS A SPECIALTY.

Will select and buy, or buy selected Animals for all desiring, for reasonable compensation

KEEPS PROMISING YOUNGSTERS IN VIEW.

L. M. LASLEY, Stanford, Ky.

References:—J. W. Guest, Danville, Ky.
B. G. Bruce, Lexington Ky.
S. H. Baughman, Stanford, Ky.
G. A. Lackey, Stanford, Ky.
Geo. McAlister, Stanford, Ky.
First National Bank, Stanford, Ky.

DIXON DRIVING PARK

Association Races,

THURSDAY, Nov. 28, 1889,

AT THE

DixonDrivingPark

No. 1.—Running. Citizen's Stake of $200. Five-eighths of a mile and repeat; free for all; $10 entrance added to stake; second horse to receive $75.

No. 2.—Pacing. 2:25 class. Purse $250.

CONDITIONS.

Pacing purse will be best 3 in 5. National Association rules to govern pacing races. Rules of the Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association to govern running races. Entrance fee $10 per cent. of purse to accompany nomination; in the pacing race the purse is to be divided into three moneys: 60, 30 and 10 per cent. Five or more paid up entries required to fill, and three or more to start, but the Board reserves the right to hold the entries and start the race with a less number, and deduct a proportionate amount of the purse or stake.

A horse winning a race is entitled to first money, only except when distancing the field, then to first and third moneys.

Non starters must be declared out the day previous to the race before 7 o'clock P. M., or be required to start.

Entries to close with Secretary or President at Dixon, November 18, 1889, at 9 o'clock P. M.

G. WRIGHT.

J. P. ROCHFORD, President.
Secretary.

Postponed Meeting

—OF THE—

PACIFIC COAST

Trotting Horse Breeders

Association,

AT THE

Bay District Track,

Saturday, Nov. 9, 1889,

Races.  Races.

Two-Year-Old Trotting Class

Entries: REGAL WILKES,
BOW BELLS,
MISTA.

2:30 CLASS, TROTTING

PURSE $2,000.

Lord Byron named by Marcus Daly.
Figaro named by Souther Farm.
Nona Y. named by Napa Stock Farm.
Balkan named by Irvin Ayres.
Alfred G. named by Geo. E. Guerne.

AMONG THE EVENTS OF THE DAY.

SUNOL will start in the Stanford Stakes to beat her record, 2 13¾.

STAMBOUL, the great stallion, will start to lower his record (2:14¾), and other famous troters will start against time.

Admission to the Grounds and Grandstand $1.

J. H. WHITE, President.

WILFRED PAGE, Secretary.

Fine Hats,

Latest Styles and Colors.

Meussdorffer & Hubner

8 Kearny Street, San Francisco,

Next to New Chronicle Building

NOTICE.

C. BRUCE LOWE,

Pedigree Stock Agent,

19 Bligh Street,

SYDNEY, New South Wales.

Reference—J. B. HAGGIN, ESQ.

Advertise in the Breeder & Sportsman.

Breeders' Directory.

Advertisements under this heading 50c. per line per month.

HORSES AND CATTLE.

MAMBRINO WILKES COLTS and FILLIES, full brothers and sisters to Gus. Wilkes 2:22, and Balkan 2:29¼, for Sale. Address SMITH HILL, Walnut Creek, Contra Costa County, Cal.

B. F. RUSH, Suisun, Cal., Shorthorns, Thoroughbred and Grades. Young Bulls and Calves for Sale.

PETER SAXE & SON. Lick House, San Francisco, Cal.—Importers and Breeders for past 18 years of every variety of Cattle, Horses, Sheep and Hogs.

HOLSTEIN THOROUGHBREDS of all the noted strains. Registered Berkshire Swine. Catalogues. F. H. BURKE, 401 Montgomery St., S. F.

CLEVELAND BAYS and Norman Horses, Jersey Cattle, and pure bred Poland China Hogs.—DR. W. J. PRATHER, Fresno, Cal.

G. VALENSIN. Valensin Stock Farm, Pleasanton, Alameda County, Cal.—The get of Sidney, 2:19¾; Valensin, 3 year old, 2:23; Shamrock, 2 year old, 2:25, out of first-class mares, for sale at r asonable prices.

MAPLE GROVE FARM—GEO. BEMENT & SON.—Registered Ayrshire Cattle and Essex Swine. Oakland, Cal.

HENRY C. JUDSON. Wild Idle Farm.—Breeder of Thoroughbred Horses. The home of "Wild Idle." P. O. Santa Clara; Box 223.

W. S. JACOBS. Sacramento, Cal. — Breeder of Thoroughbred Shorthorns and Berkshire Hogs.

J. H. WHITE, Lakeville, Sonoma County—Breeder of Registered Holstein Cattle.

EL ROBLAR RANCHO—Los Alamos, Cal., Francis T. Underhill, proprietor, importer and breeder of thoroughbred Hereford Cattle. Information by mail. C. F. Swan, manager.

SHORT-HORNS—Imported and Recorded Short-Horns of the best strains. Catalogues. Address P. PETERSON, Sites, Colusa Co. Cal.

PAGE BROTHERS.—Penn's Grove, Sonoma Co. Cal- Breeders of Short-Horn Cattle; Draft, Roadster and Standard Bred Horses.

VALPARAISO PARK. — Thoroughbred Durham Cattle. Address F. D. Atherton, Menlo Park.

JAMES MADDOCK, Petaluma, Cal.—Trotters trained at reasonable prices. Stock handled carefully. Correspondence solicited.

SETH COOK, breeder of Cleveland Bay Horses, Devon, Durham, Polled Aberdeen-Angus and Galloway Cattle. Young stock of above breeds on hand for sale. Warranted to be pure bred, recorded and average breeders. Address, Geo. A. Wiley, Cook Farm, Danville, Contra Costa Co., Cal.

Highland Farm,

LEXINGTON, KY.,

Home of Red Wilkes.

Standard-bred Trotting Stock

For Sale,

Sired by Red Wilkes, Wilton, 2:19¼; Allandorf and Sentinel Wilkes, out of highly bred Standard Mares of the most fashionable blood of the day.

W. C. FRANCE, Proprietor.

Brushes.

BUCHANAN BROS.,

Brush Manufacturers,

609 Sacramento Street, two doors above Montgomery.

Horse Brushes of every description on hand and made to order. Bristle Body Brushes our Specialty

JESSE E. MARKS & CO.,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers of Choice Brands

Havana & Key West Cigars

922 MARKET ST., S. F.

R. LIDDLE & SON

538 Washington St., S. F.,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

Guns, Rifles and Pistols.

A Full Line of FISHING TACKLE and SPORTSMAN'S GOODS.

Orders by mail receive prompt attention.

John D. Gall. Jas. P. Dunne

"The Resort,"

No. 1 Stockton Street, cor. Ellis,

San Francisco.

Old Hermitage Whiskies

"STEINER'S,"

No. 311 BUSH STREET,

San Francisco.

Under Breeder and Sportsman Office.

BOYCE TABLETS.

Leg and Body Wash.

THE BOYCE TABLETS are packed in a nicely decorated metal box with hinged lid—one hundred tablets in each box; directions for use plainly engraved upon the box; therefore, the convenience of the package—no liability to leakage and breakage—economy and ready solubility, together with the absolute certainty of their action, will at once commend the use of BOYCE'S TABLETS to the intelligent horsemen of the country. TABLETS sufficient to make one hundred pints of leg and body wash are conveniently carried in an inside coat pocket or in the hip-pocket of the trousers.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., August 23, 1889.

BOYCE TABLET CO., Terre Haute, Ind.

GENTLEMEN: I look upon horses the same as human beings. They say that a horse has no soul. I don't believe that is possible. It does not seem to me that so true, brave and noble an animal as a horse, after having spent a life of toil and drudgery, will die, and that is the end. I feel like thanking everyone who does a kind act for the horse family, and for that reason, if for no other, I take the opportunity of thanking you for having invented a medicine that brings as much comfort to them as I am sure your CELEBRATED TABLETS do. Mr. Wm. McClosson, the foreman of my stable, tells me that he has never tried anything in his long experience that gives such relief to a sore horse as the wash prepared from your medicine.

Hoping for the sake of the horse family that every horse owner in the land will try it, I remain,

Yours truly, JOHN SPLAN.

Price per Box of One Hundred Tablets, $2, sent postpaid to any part of the United States; six boxes for $10. A sample of BOYCE'S TABLETS will be mailed to any address on receipt of four cents to pay postage. These TABLETS are warranted to keep in any climate. Address

BOYCE TABLET COMPANY,

600 Wabash Avenue, - - - Terre Haute, Indiana.

J. A. McKERRON, Pacific Coast Agent,

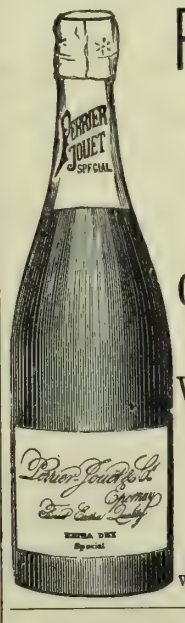
228-230-232 Ellis Street, San Francisco, Cal.

The Wine that is held in HIGHEST ESTEEM by the LEADING CLUBS and in SOCIETY IS

MOËT & CHANDON

-:- "WHITE SEAL," -:-

THE PERFECTION OF A DRY



Champagne

For Sale by all the Leading Grocers and Wine Merchants.

SHERWOOD & SHERWOOD,

PACIFIC COAST AGENTS,

212--214 Market Street, San Francisco, Cal.

PERRIER-JOUËT & Co.

EPERNAY

CHAMPAGNE

W. B CHAPMAN,

Sole Agent for Pacific Coast.

For sale by all first-class Wine Merchants and Grocers.

KILLIP & CO.,

LIVE STOCK AND GENERAL AUCTIONEERS,

22 Montgomery Street, San Francisco

SPECIAL ATTENTION PAID TO SALES OF

High-Bred Horses and Cattle.

At auction and private sale.

Will Sell in All Cities and Counties of the State.

REFERENCES.

HON. C. GREEN, Sacramento. HON. J. D. CARR, Salinas.
I. P. SARGENT, ESQ., Sargents. HON. JOHN BOGGS, Colusa.
HON. L. J. ROSE, Los Angeles. HON. A. WALRATH, Nevada.
J. B. HAGGIN, ESQ., San Francisco.

Represented at Sacramento by Edwin F. Smith Secretary State Agricultural Society.
At San Jose by Messrs. Montgomery & Rea, Real Estate Agents.

Being the oldest established firm in the live-stock business on this Coast, and having conducted the important auction sales in this line for the past fifteen years, amounting to one half a million of dollars, we feel justified in claiming unequaled facilities for disposing of live stock of every description, either at auction or private sale. Our list of correspondents embraces every breeder and dealer of prominence upon the Pacific Coast, thus enabling us to give full publicity to animals placed with us for sale. Private purchases and sales of live stock of all descriptions will be made on commission, and stock shipped with the utmost care. Purchases and sales made of land of every description. We are authorized to refer to the gentlemen whose names are appended.

KILLIP & CO., 22 Montgomery Street.

By-Laws

—AND—

Rules and Regulations

—OF THE—

NATIONAL Trotting Association

ALSO THE

AMERICAN Trotting Association,

AND THE

PACIFIC COAST BLOOD-HORSE ASSOCIATION.

With Betting Rules.

For Sale at the Office of the

Breeder and Sportsman,

313 Bush St., S. F., Cal.

Price, 25c. each.

By Mail, Postage Paid, 30c. each.

Shoes For Comfort, Elegance and Durability.

Having my own Factory, and giving my personal supervision to all work, I am in a position to warrant perfect satisfaction. Inspection invited.

Gentlemen's Park Riding Boots made to Order.

FACTORY—S. W. cor. Battery and Jackson Sts.
SALESROOM—Pioneer Building, corner Stevenson and Fourth Streets.

A full line of Boots and Shoes constantly on hand, and rules for Self-Measurement by Mail.

JNO. T. SULLIVAN.

SAMUEL VALLEAU. JAS. R. BRODIE

J. R. BRODIE & CO.,

Steam Printers,

—And Dealers in—

Poolseller's and Bookmaker's Supplies.

401—403 Sansome Street, corner Sacramento, San Francisco.

Singleton & Addington,

Bank Exchange,

2d and K Streets, Sacramento.

Superior Wines, Liquors and Cigars.

Pacific Coast.

Blood Horse Asso'n.

Fall Racing Meeting, 1889.

Bay District Track.

San Francisco,

NOVEMBER 16, 19, 21, 23.

Entries Close FRIDAY, Nov. 1.

FIRST DAY—NOVEMBER 16th.

No. 1—Purse, $400; for three-year-olds and upwards; $15 entrance from starters to go to second horse. Winners in 1889 at this distance when carrying weight for age or more of one race to carry five pounds, of two or more 10 pounds extra. Maidens beaten at this distance if three years old allowed seven pounds; if four years old or over allowed twelve pounds. One mile.

No. 2—The Ladies Stakes for two-year-old fillies. Closed.

No. 3 The November Stakes for all ages; $25 entrance, $10 forfeit with $500 added; $75 to second, $25 to third. Winners over this distance this year of two races (handicaps excepted) to carry five pounds of three such races to carry ten pounds extra. One mile and a half.

No. 4—Selling Purse $350, of which $50 to second, for three years old and upwards. Fixed valuation, $1,000; three pounds allowed for each $100 less down to $700 then one pound for $100 down to $300; selling price to be named through the entry box at 5 P. M., the day before the race. Three-quarter mile heats.

SECOND DAY—NOVEMBER, 19th.

No. 5—Purse, $400; $50 to second, $25 to third for three-year-olds and upwards. Winners this year of any race over this distance (handicaps and selling races excepted) to carry three pounds, of two such races five pounds of three or more ten pounds extra. Beaten maidens allowed three pounds. Three-quarters of a mile.

No. 6—The Vestal Stakes; for three-year-old fillies. Closed. One and one-quarter miles.

No. 7—The Record Stakes; for all ages; $25 entrance, $10 forfeit, with $500 added, of which $50 to second, $25 to third. Weight for age. Five furlongs.

No. 8—Purse $350. Handicap; for two-year-olds; $10 from starter, $5 declaration. First horse to take the purse, second horse 70 per cent., third horse 30 per cent of starting money and declarations. Weights announced on the first day of the meeting. Declarations due at 5 P. M. the day before the race. Seven furlongs.

THIRD DAY, NOVEMBER 21.

No. 9—Selling purse $350, $50 to second; for all ages. Fixed valuation, $1,200. Two pounds allowed for each $100 less down to $300, then one pound for each $100 down to $3 0. Selling price to be named through the entry box at 5 P. M. the day before the race. One and one-sixteenth miles.

No. 10—Purse $350, $50 second; for three-year-olds and upwards. Weight for age. Half mile heats.

No. 11—The Autumn Stakes; for two-year-olds. Closed.

No. 12—The Fame Stakes; for three-year-olds. Closed. One and three-quarter miles.

FOURTH DAY, NOVEMBER 23rd.

No. 13 Purse $400; $50 to second, $25 to third; for three-year-olds and upwards. Horses that have started at this meeting and not won; if beaten once allowed five pounds; twice, ten pounds; three times, fifteen pounds. One and one-sixteenth of a mile.

No. 14—Purse $350; $50 to the second; for two-year-olds that have started and not won at this meeting. Horses beaten once allowed five pounds, twice, eight pounds; three times, fifteen pounds. Winner of No. 8, if carrying in that race rule weights or more not barred. Three-quarters of a mile.

No 15—The Holiday Handicap for all ages; $25 entrance; $10 declaration; $500 added, of which $100 to second, $50 to third. Weights announced on the third day of the meeting at 10 o'clock A. M. Declaration due at 5 P. M. the day before the race. One and three-eighths of a mile.

No. 16—Purse $150; $50 to second. Owners' Handicap for all ages. Weights to be named through the entry box at 5 P. M. the day before the race. One mile.

CONDITIONS.

These races will be run under the Revised Rules of the Association, adopted February 4, 1887. Owners and trainers will be supplied with copies on application to the Secretary.

Colonial bred horses foaled on Colonial time, i. e., between August 1st and December 31st, allowed as follows: Two and three-year olds, eight pounds; four-year-olds, five pounds; five-year-olds, three pounds.

In all stakes starters must be named to the Secretary or through the entry box at the track on or before 6 o'clock P. M. of the day before the race. In all stakes the right to forfeit ceases at 10 o'clock A. M. of the day on which the race is run. (Rule 43.)

Entrance free for starters in purses. Non-starters can declare out at 6 o'clock P. M. of the day before the race by paying 5 per cent. of the amount of the purse. All horses not so declared out will be required to start. (Rule 22.)

All declarations void unless accompanied by the money.

The Association reserves the right to postpone races on account of unfavorable weather or other sufficient cause.

Entries close with the Secretary on Friday, November, 1, 1889.

M. F. TARPEY.
First vice-President.

E. S. CULVER, Secretary.
313 Bush Street, S. F.

"TOBEY'S,"

214 Post Street,

Between Grant Avenue and Stockton Street,

Adjoining New Hamman Baths.

D. J. TOBIN, Proprietor.

ROME HARRIS. JOHN MERIGAN.

"Laurel Palace,"

N. W. corner Kearny and Bush Streets,

SAN FRANCISCO.

$3,000. GUARANTEED. $3,000.

THE

BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN'S

-: Futurity Stakes :-

For Mares Covered in 1889.

Trotting Foals of 1890.

Subscriptions payable as follows: $10 on January 1st, 1890, when nominations close; $10 August 1st, 1890; $10 January 1st, 1891; $10 January 1st, 1892; $10 January 1st, 1893, and $50 for starters, payable July 1st, 1893.

Race to be mile heats three in five in harness; to be trotted on a course in California offering the largest amount of added money. Race to be governed by the Rules of the Association, of which the selected track is a member. Nominators not making all payments forfeit former ones, and the entire amount of forfeits and payments, together with added money, will be divided as follows: 65 per cent. to first horse, 20 per cent. to second horse, 15 per cent. to third horse.

The BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN guarantees $3,000, to be divided as above stated.

If the payments, etc., amount to more than $3,000, the additional amount, after deducting cost of advertising, will also be divided in the same proportion to the winning horses.

Nominators whose mares prove not to be in foal, will be refunded the amounts paid upon furnishing a written statement to that effect before August 1, 1890.

In nominating, give name of mare and stallion to whom she is bred, and within sixty days after foaling forward description of foal.

NOMINATIONS close on JANUARY 1st, 1890, but may be made any time BEFORE THAT DATE, WITHOUT RISK OF LOSS, AS PAYMENTS ARE REFUNDED FOR MARES NOT PROVING IN FOAL.

ADDRESS,

BREEDER and SPORTSMAN,

313 BUSH STREET, SAN FRANCISCO.

$3,000. GUARANTEED $3,000.

Southern Pacific Co.

(PACIFIC SYSTEM.)

Trains leave and are due to arrive at San Francisco.

LEAVE (FOR)	FROM OCTOBER 6, 1889.	ARRIVE (FROM)
7.30 A M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose ...	*12.45 P M
7.30 A M	Sacramento and Redding, via Davis	7.15 P M
8.00 A M	Martinez, Vallejo, Calistoga and Santa Rosa	6.15 P M
8.30 A M	Los Angeles Express, Fresno, Santa Barbara and Los Angeles	11.15 A M
8.30 A M	Niles, San Jose, Stockton, Galt, Ione, Sacramento, Marysville and Red Bluff	5.45 P M
10.30 A M	Haywards and Niles	2.15 P M
*12.00 M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose...	* 3.45 P M
*1.00 P M	Sacramento River Steamers	* 6.00 A M
3.00 P M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose....	9.45 A M
3.30 P M	2d Class Sacramento, Ogden and East, connects at Davis for Knight's Landing	10.45 A M
4.00 P M	Stockton and §Milton; Vallejo, Calistoga and Santa Rosa	9.45 A M
4.30 P M	Sacramento and Knight's Landing via Davis	10.15 A M
* 4.30 P M	Niles and Livermore	* 8.45 A M
* 4.30 P M	Niles and San Jose	‡ 4.45 P M
5.30 P M	Haywards and Niles	7.45 A M
6.30 P M	Central Atlantic Express, Ogden and East	7.45 P M
7.00 P M	Shasta Route Express, Sacramento, Marysville, Redding, Portland, Puget Sound and East	7.45 A M
8.00 P M	Sunset Route, Atlantic Express. Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Deming, El Paso, New Orleans and East	8.45 P M

SANTA CRUZ DIVISION.

‡ 7.45 A M	Newark, San Jose and Santa Cruz	‡ 8.05 P M
8.15 A M	Newark, Centerville, San Jose, Felton, Boulder Creek and Santa Cruz	6.20 P M
2.45 P M	Centerville, San Jose, Felton, Boulder Creek and Santa Cruz	*11.20 A M
4.45 P M	Centerville, San Jose, Almaden, and Los Gatos	9.50 A M

Coast Division (Third and Townsend Sts.)

7.25 A M	San Jose, Almaden and Way Stations	2.30 P M
8.30 A M	San Jose, Gilroy, Tres Pinos; Pajaro, Santa Cruz; Monterey; Pacific Grove, Salinas, San Miguel, Paso Robles, Santa Margarita (San Luis Obispo) and principal Way Stations	6.12 P M
10.30 A M	San Jose and Way Stations	5.02 P M
12.01 P M	Cemetery, Menlo Park and Way Stations	3.38 P M
* 3.30 P M	San Jose, Tres Pinos, Santa Cruz, Salinas, Monterey Pacific Grove and principal Way Stations	*10.00 A M
* 4.20 P M	Menlo Park and Way Stations.	* 7.58 A M
5.20 P M	San Jose and Way Stations	9.03 A M
6.30 P M	Menlo Park and Way Stations	6.35 A M
‡11.45 P M	Menlo Park and principal Way Stations	‡ 7.23 P M

A M for Morning. P M for Afternoon.
*Sundays excepted. †Saturdays only. ‡Sundays only. ‡Mondays excepted. §Saturdays excepted.

6 DOS

DO you bet?
DO you go to the races?
DO yon know HOW to bet?
DO you know BEST system?
DO you want Good ADVICE?
DO as you ought to do:

SEND FOR PROSPECTUS TO

GOODWIN BROS.,

241 BROADWAY, NEW YORK,

Who will mail you

FREE OF CHARGE,

one of their circulars showing the GREAT SUCCESS they have met with from the time they established the system of "Point" providing in this country in 1881; it also contains

MANY OTHER INTERESTING ITEMS

with which the general public is not familiar.

HEALD'S

Business College, 24 Post St.

San Francisco.

The most popular school on the Coast
P. HEALD, President. C. S. HALEY, Sec'y.
Send for Circulars

The Poodle Dog

"Rotisserie,"

FIRST-CLASS IN EVERY RESPECT.

Elegant Family Dining Rooms.

S. E. cor. GRANT AVE. and BUSH STREET.

ANDRE POTENTINI, Proprietor.

BROU'S INJECTION

A PERMANENT CURE

in from 3 to 6 days, of the most obstinate cases; guaranteed not to produce Stricture; no sickening doses; and no inconvenience or loss of time. Recommended by physicians and sold by all druggists. J. Ferré, (successor to Brou), Pharmacien, Paris.

KENNEL ADVERTISEMENTS.

Great Dane Puppies for Sale

Sire Cæsar, 10523, A. K. S. B., winner of 1st, and special, San Francisco, 1888; 1st and special, San Francisco, 1889.

Dam Dora, 10531 A. K. S. B., winner of 2nd San Francisco, 1889; H. C. San Francisco, 1888. Puppies whelped Sept. 8, 1889, steel and silver gray and nicely marked. Price $35.

Also puppies by Cæsar out of a prize English Mastiff bitch. Price $25. Address.

NAHL.
2436 Central Ave, Alameda Cal.

POINTER PUPPIES.

TWO WHITE AND LEMON BITCH PUPPIES, nearly five months old, perfectly healthy, of good size, very handsome and superbly bred, being by Climax (Bang Bang—Bellona) out of Drab D. (Vandevort's Don—Vandevort's Drab), for sale. Address

WILLIAM DEMOTT, San Rafael.

Fox-hound for Sale.

FINE ENGLISH FOX-HOUND BITCH, well broken. Winner of 2d prize at San Francisco Bench Show of 1889. Price $50.

Apply to

CLABROUGH, GOLCHER & CO.,
630 Montgomery Street, S. F.

Stud Irish Setter.

CHAMPION MIKE T., 6435, A. K. S. B. (Nemo—Nida) winner of first whenever shown, sixteen firsts and specials, never beaten. In the stud to approved bitches, fee $25. Irish setter puppies by Champion Mike T. 6435 A. K. S. B.—Champion Lady Elcho T. 6451 A. K. S. B., for sale. Two pointers, a year old, by Rush T. 10069 A. K. S. B.—Champion Patti Croxteth T. 10128 A. K. S. B. for sale. Address,

A. B. TRUMAN,
1425 Steiner St., S. F., Cal.

California Horse Shoe Co's

I have used in my business the Steel and Iron Shoes made by the above Company, and take great pleasure in saying they are the best I have ever used in twenty-two years' practice. I have never seen anything like the STEEL SHOE made by this Company. I can fully recommend them to every practical Horseshoer in the country. Yours respectfully,

No. 8 Everett Street. JOHN GRACE.

GOLDEN EAGLE HOTEL

Corner SEVENTH and K STREETS, SACRAMENTO.

FIRST CLASS IN EVERY RESPECT.

The LARGEST and FINEST HOTEL in the City.

W. O. BOWERS, Proprietor.

Free 'Buss to and from the Hotel.

Telephone, Telegraph Office and Messenger Service at Hotel

AL. LEACH & CO.

AUCTION

POOL SELLERS

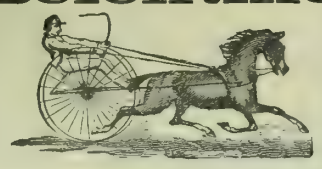
Will be pleased to give terms to Racing Associations throughout the Pacific Coast. We have perfect facilities, and can give any references or security desired. Address

8 Eddy Street,
San Francisco.

For any Kind of a

SORE THROAT

USE



McCLELLAN'S

DIPHTHERIA REMEDY

An Unfailing Cure..

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS

Scientific Horse Shoeing

BOYD & MORGAN

Are now permanently located at

No. 413 TAYLOR STREET,

Next door above CLUB STABLES.

Partibular attention given to Track and Road Horse. Our Motto: "The Shoe to fit the foot vs. The foot to fit the shoe."

We have references from the leading Trainers, Drivers and Breeders of the Coast. Give us a trial.

THE B. & Y. HOOF OIL

GOOD FOR MAN OR BEAST.

Will positively destroy the effects of the "Cattle Fly"

A SURE CURE for Sores, Scratches, Cuts, Wounds, Bruises, Corns, Thrush, Foot Rot, Quarter Crack, Sand Crack, Dry, Brittle Hard and Fevered Hoof, or any local trouble about the Horse.

Warranted to make the hoof grow without cause of complaint on the part of the horse-shoer for gumming his rasp.

B. & Y. New Process Neats Foot Oil,

Best Leather Oil made.

CHEAP AND LASTING.

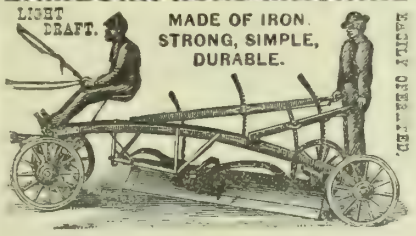
Recommended by leading Harness Men, Drivers and Trainers. Is well adapted to wet weather, as it does not open pores like old process goods.

Ask your dealer for it, or send to

HUNT & DOREMUS,
99 FLOOD BUILDING, - San Francisco.

THE BOHANON SULKY!

BEST MADE.



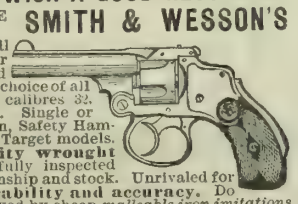
Perfect Riding Buggies. Breaking Carts.

Fine Repairing, Reasonable Prices

Bohanon Carriage Co., 161-163 Ogden Ave., CHICAGO.

Send for Catalogue.

LAMBORN ROAD MACHINE



TRUMAN, HOOKER & CO.

SAN FRANCISCO. - - CALIFORNIA

IF YOU WISH A GOOD REVOLVER PURCHASE ONE OF SMITH & WESSON'S

Finest small arms ever manufactured and the first choice of all experts. In calibres 32, 38 and 44-100. Single or double action, Safety Hammerless and Target models. Best quality wrought steel, carefully inspected for workmanship and stock. Unrivaled for finish, durability and accuracy. Do not be deceived by cheap malleable iron imitations often sold for the genuine article. They are unreliable and dangerous. The SMITH & WESSON REVOLVERS are stamped upon the barrels with firm's name, address and dates of patents, and are guaranteed perfect. Insist upon having them, and if your dealer cannot supply you, an order sent to address below will receive prompt attention. Descriptive catalogue and prices upon application.

SMITH & WESSON,
Springfield, Mass.

HORSE OWNERS!

TRY GOMBAULT'S

CAUSTIC BALSAM.

A Safe, Speedy and Positive Cure for Curb, Splint, Sweeny, Capped Hock, Strained Tendons, Founder, Wind Puffs, all Skin Diseases or Parasites, Thrush, Diphtheria, Pinkeye, all Lameness from Spavin, Ringbone or other Bony Tumors. Removes all Bunches or Blemishes from Horses and Cattle.

Supersedes all Cautery or Firing

Impossible to Produce any Scar or Blemish.

Every bottle sold is warranted to give satisfaction. Price $1.50 per bottle. Sold by druggists, or sent by express, charges paid, with full directions for its use. Send for descriptive circulars. Address

LAWRENCE, WILLIAMS & CO., Cleveland, O.

VETERIRARY.

DR. THOS. BOWHILL, M.R.C.V.S

VETERINARY SURGEON.

Graduate New Veterinary College, Edinburgh. Awarded the Highland and Agricultural Societies Medals for Horse Pathology, Anatomy, Physiology and Histology. The Williams' Prize, '84-'85, for highest works in professional examinations, and six first-class certificates of merit. Honorary Member Illinois State Veterinary Medical Association.

CENTENNIAL STABLES,

1523-25 California Street. Telephone No. 66.

Veterinary Infirmary and Residence, 2209 Jackson Street. Telephone 4128.

DR JOHN C. HINGSTON

M.R.C.V.S., London, England.

Veterinary Surgeon & Dentist,

The most noted Operator in the Profession.

CASTRATES IN TWO MINUTES with the animal standing. Acknowledged to have no equal with the Firing Iron.

PERFORMS ALL OPERATIONS WITH THE ANIMAL STANDING.

Specialist in Lameness.

The highest testimonials from the most noted Owners, Trainers and Breeders in America and England.

Will visit any place on reasonable terms.

Office,

ST. GEORGE STABLES,

Bush Street, above Kearny.

Residence,

THE "BALDWIN" HOTEL,

San Francisco.

Dr. Wm. H. Jones, M.R.C.V.S.

Veterinary Surgeon,

(CLUB STABLES)

409—411 Taylor Street, San Francisco.

Consultations by letter, and cases of URGENT NECESSITY in the interior will receive prompt attention.

H. E. CARPENTER,

Veterinary Surgeon,

Graduate of Ontario Veterinary College, Toronto, Canada.

RESIDENCE AND VETERINARY INFIRMARY

331 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco.

Telephone 3069.

OPEN DAY AND NIGHT.

No risk in throwing Horses. Veterinary Operating Table on the premises.

DR. C. MASOERO,

Veterinary Surgeon,

Successor to DR. A. DeTAVEL,

GRADUATE OF ROYAL VETERINARY COLLEGE, TURIN.

OFFICE AND INFIRMARY,

No. 811 HOWARD STREET,

Between Fourth and Fifth. SAN FRANCISCO.

Telephone, No. 457.

R. WATKINS,

Veterinary Dentist,

Of twelve years practice, is now permanently located in San Francisco, and may be found at C. S. Crittendens' Golden Gate Livery and Riding Academy, 24 to 28 Golden Gate Avenue.

Will treat ailments of the horse's mouth, and cure all such. Siderein Pullers and Tongue Lollers, etc. Satisfaction guaranteed. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. Examination Free.

DR. FISHERMAN'S

Carbolized

Alkaline

LOTION

Cures after all other Remedies have Failed.

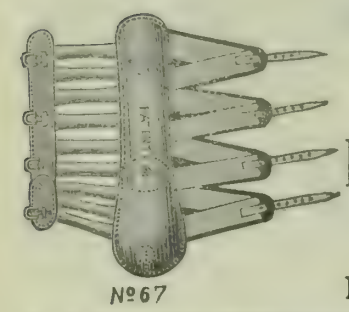
Sprains, Sores, Bruises, Galls, Swellings, Scratches, Thrush, Grease Heels, Curb, Rheumatism. Restoring Weak Knees and Ankles to their original condition. As a wash it insures flossy manes and tails. Valuable as an internal remedy for Coughs, Colic, Congestion or Fever. You really get Half a Gallon of Remedy for $1.00, or Two Gallons for $3.00, after being adulterated as directed.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 20th, 1887.

Messrs. Lynde & Hough—Gentlemen:—I have used Dr. Fisherman's Carbolized Alkaline Lotion, and I take pleasure in recommending it to the public. I consider it the best remedy that I have ever used in my long experience of the care of horses.

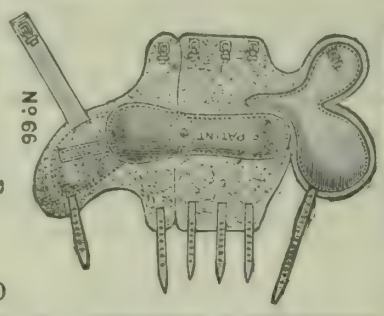
Very truly yours, Z. BIRDSALL,
Supt. Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Stables.

LYNDE & HOUGH, Proprietors.



116 California St., S. F.

Or ask your Druggist for it.



Everything for Trotter or Runner.

At J. A. McKERRON'S,

228, 230 and 232 Ellis St., San Francisco

No. 67

1889 SOUTHER FARM 1889

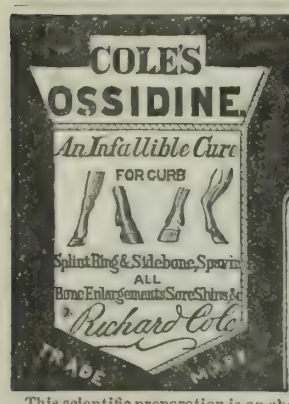
P. O. Box 149. San Leandro, Cal.

JESTER D. 5698.

- Almont, 33. Sire of 31 trotters and 2 pacers in 2:30 list.
  - Alexander's Abdallah, 15. Sire of 6 in 2:30 list.
    - Hambletonian, 10. Sire of 41 in 2:30 list.
    - Katy Darling
  - Sally Anderson.
    - Mambrino Chief, 11. Sire of 6 in 2:30 list.
    - Kate, by Pilot Jr., 12. Sire of 9 in 2:30 list.
- Hortense.
  - Messenger Duroc, 106. Sire of 15 in 2:30 list; also sire of Elaine, dam of Norlaine, yearling rec. 2:31¼.
    - Hambletonian 10. Sire of 41 in 2:30 list.
    - Satinet, by Roe's Abdallah Chief,
  - Nelly McDonald Thoro-bred. (See Bruce's American Stud Book.)
    - Colossus, son of imp. Sovereign.
    - Maid of Monmouth, By Traveler.

See BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of August 25, 1888, for photograph and description.

FIGARO.



- Hambletonian, 725 (Whipple's)
  - Guy Miller.
    - Hambletonian, 10. (Rysdyk's)
    - Bolivar Mare.
  - Martha Washington.
    - Burr's Washington.
    - Dam by Abdallah, 1.
- Emblem.
  - Tattler, 300.
    - Pilot, Jr., 12.
    - Telltale. (Telamon, Flea.)
  - Young Portia.
    - Mambrino Chief, 11.
    - Portia by Roebuck.

See BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of September 1, 1888, for photograph and description.

The above stallions will make the season of 1889 at the Souther Farm, one and one-half miles northeast of San Leandro. Each horse is limited to thirty mares besides those of the Souther Farm. Terms, for either horse, Twenty-five Dollars for the season, with privilege of return in season of 1890, if mare fails to prove with foal. Good accommodation and the best of care for all mares sent to the Farm, but no responsibility for accidents.

Colts Broken and Trained. Horses Boarded in any manner desired at all times.

GILBERT TOMPKINS, Proprietor.

OSSIDINE

Results obtained at the well-known KALAMAZOO FARM.

KALAMAZOO, MICH., Sept. 15, 1888.

GENTLEMEN:—We have used OSSIDINE for the past two years, and consider it invaluable for Sprung Tendons, Curbs, Ringbone, and Spavins; there is nothing equals it and for us it effected a permanent cure where firing failed, although performed by one of the most successful veterinarians on the continent. We have recommended it to others with like success, and believe it has more merit than any blister ever used. Very respectfully yours,

S. A. BROWNE & CO., Prop's.

We have authority also to refer to

Mr. JEROME I. CASE, Mr. FRED. GEBHARD, Mr. JOHN PORTER (Trainer to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales),

And hundreds of others from whom we have very flattering testimonials.

This scientific preparation is an absolute cure for all bony or callous lumps on horses, and is a more powerful absorbent than "firing," without creating the slightest blemish.

Acknowledged by leading horsemen of the world to be the ONLY preparation that will remove a Bone Spavin after it has become ossified.

One Style Only. $3.00 per Bottle.

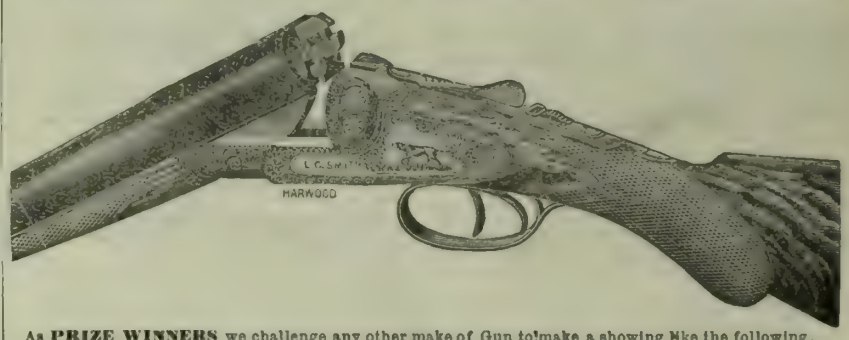
A. P. BUSH & CO., 149 Pearl St., BOSTON, MASS., Sole Agents for United States and Canada. Beware of Imitations.

SOLD BY C. N. Crittenton, A. R. Van Nest & Co., and C. M. Moseman & Bro., NEW YORK CITY. Morrisson, Plummer & Co., Peter Van Schaack & Sons. CHICAGO, ILL. John D. Park & Son, CINCINNATI, O.; Floyd & Foster, DETROIT, MICH.; F. S. Slosson, CLEVELAND, O.; Meyer Bros. Drug Co., ST. LOUIS, MO.; R. A. Robinson, LOUISVILLE, KY.; H. H. Moore & Sons, STOCKTON, CAL.

J. O'KANE, 767 MARKET STREET. Horse Boots, Clothing and Furnishings, For Track, Driving Training and Stable. Every requisite for Horsemen. Harness, Medicines, Etc.

J. C. JOHNSON & CO.,

IMPORTERS, MANUFACTURERS, AND DEALERS IN



HARNESS & SADDLERY

We carry a large assortment of goods in our line, from the cheapest to the best made.

400 to 404 Market Street

Corner BATTERY STREET, San Francisco.

The "L. C. Smith" Guns.

As PRIZE WINNERS we challenge any other make of Gun to make a showing like the following.

All Previous Records Broken.

Never before were 100 live pigeons killed straightly in a similar match, under same conditions, until the L. C. SMITH GUN was made and did it. In the hands of Mr. Al Bandle, of the firm of Bandle Arms Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, this wonderful score was made. Capt. A. H. Bogardus scoring with a 12-gauge L. C. Smith in the match against Bandle, the very high score of 95. A remarkable score with a 12-guage.

——OFFICIAL SCORE——

Made in the mate h at 100 live pigeons, Hurlingham rules, barring gauge of gun, between Capt. A. H. Bogardus of Elkhart, Ill., and Al Bandle, of Cincinnatti, Ohio, on Independent Gun Club grounds, Cincinnati, Ohio, Christmas Day, December 25, 1888:

AL BANDLE, 10-gauge L. C. Smith gun.....	CAPT. A. H. BOGARDUS, 12-gauge L. C. Smith gun...
1121112111 2121112112 11221	1122121222 0122121121 01112
1111122112 2111112212 11121	1012122111 1110112111 11222
1112221112 1112111112 11121	1221212122 2211012111 12111
1211121111 1222111211 11212—100	1111112221 1111112122 22111— 95

2 Denotes killed with second barrel.

S. A TUCKER, Meriden, Conn., Referee. A. C. DICK, Cincinnati, O., Trap Puller.
ED. TAYLOR, Cincinnati, O., Official Scorer. H. BOGARDUS, Elkhart, Ill, Trap Announcer.

The PARKER Hammerless Shot Gun.

At the Annual Tournament of 1889, held at Cannes, France, the grand prize, consisting of 2000 Francs and a Valuable Cup. was won by The Parker Hammerless.

The first Parker Hammerless Gun made won the championship of America at Decatur Illinois.

SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED CIRCULAR.

PARKER BROS., Makers,

New York Salesroom, 97 Chambers St.. Meriden Conn.

Poplar Grove Breeding FARM.

Standard-bred Trotters, Colts and Fillies.

The get of CLOVIS, 4909; PASHA, 2039; APEX, 2935,

For Sale.

Address S. N. STRAUBE, Poplar Grove Breeding Farm,

Fresno, Cal.

Inspection by intending purchasers invited, and information by mail.

For Sale by Pleasanton Stock Farm Co.

ONE STALLION COLT, 1 year old, by DIRECTOR, 2:17, dam Sweetness, record 2:21¼. This Colt is a half brother to Sidney, the great Sire of Pacers.

ONE STALLION COLT, 1 year old, by DIRECTOR, 2:17, dam Echora, record 2:23¾. This Colt is a full brother to Direct, record 2:23 at Three Years Old.

ONE FILLY, 1 year old, by CLOVIS, dam Nettie, trial record to Wagon 2:26.

ONE STALLION, 2 years old, by NUTMONT, he by Nutbourne, brother to Nutwood, dam by Electioneer. This Colt can trot very fast.

ONE STALLION 2 years old, by SIDNEY, dam Fernleaf. This Colt is a full brother to Gold Leaf

ONE FOUR-YEAR-OLD FILLY, GOLD LEAF, pacing record 2:15.

ONE THREE-YEAR OLD FILLY, by DIRECTOR, dam by a son of Whipple's Hambletonian. This is a grand mare in looks and breeding, and is very fast.

ONE Filly, 2 years old, by MONROE CHIEF, full sister to Miss Gilmer, sold at auction when three years old for $1,700.

ONE PACING HORSE, 4 years old, by STEINWAY, dam by Nutwood This horse is very stylish, and can show a 2:10 gait.

One Brown Mare, heavy in foal to DIRECTOR, by Gibraltar, dam May Day, by Cassius M. Clay. This Mare is very fast; showed a quarter in 34 seconds, and is a half sister to Margaret S., that got a record of 2:31 at twenty-four months old.

One Brown Mare, by DEL SUR, he by The Moor, heavy in foal to Director. This Mare is very fast.

For particulars call on or address M. SALISBURY, 320 Sansome Street, Room 96, San Francisco, or

ANDY McDOWELL, Pleasanton, Cal.

TWENTY PAGES.

BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN

Vol XV. No 19.
No. 313 BUSH STREET.

SAN FRANCISCO, SATURDAY, NOV. 9, 1889.

SUBSCRIPTION
FIVE DOLLARS A YEAR.

Healdsburg Races.

The Healdsburg Driving Club, like several other organizations, had to postpone their meeting, owing to the incessant rains, and last Thursday, under favorable conditions, they held their second day's racing, the first having been held before the rains. On Thursday morning, therefore, I paid my first visit to Healdsburg, leaving at 7:40 and crossing to Tiburon and thence on the S. F. and North Pacific Road. The journey was very pleasant the weather being splendid and the scenery as picturesque as any in the State, while the train service was admirably conducted.

Shortly before arriving at Healdsburg orchards, vineyards, acres of hops and green alfalfa were seen on all hands, and on getting out at the old town I was cordially received by every one. The town has quite an appearance of respectable age and antiquity that many a new place would give thousands for; its old plazza with the little tower and bell, quaint, comfortable hostelrys and good substantial buildings, all tending to give an air of solidity and stability to the city. The races, which were both running and trotting, took place a couple of hundred yards from the town on a half mile track, which was built on ground leased by the club, and the weather being all that could be desired a goodly number of local people patronized the races, the ladies particularly gracing the grounds every day with their presence, while from the county road outside the track quite as large a crowd viewed the proceedings without going inside the gates.

The judges on Thursday were Messrs. J. Bailhache, J. B. Hinckle and D. R. Misner. Timers—A. J. Zane and H. W. Peck.

District Roadsters.

First Heat.—Jim R was readily made favorite at $5 to $2 for the field. When the trio came out for the first heat a start was effected the first time. Jim R broke before the first turn was reached. Bab and Juanita, keeping together, were five lengths in front of him up the back stretch. Bab, however, drew away round the upper turn, and trotting steadily, was two lengths to the good at the wire for the first time, and retained her advantage the second time round, while Jim R broke several times, Bab winning by two lengths from Juanita, with Jim R three further back. Time 3:23.

Second Heat—Jim R still sold favorite at $5 to the field's $2, but on receiving the word, again broke before the turn was reached, and Bab, trotting steadily, was three lengths in front of Juanita all the way round, with Jim two lengths behind. Bab increased her lead round the turn, but up the back stretch Jim R came fast, and trotting steadily, was level with the leader on the upper turn, and despite two breaks in the stretch was only beaten by two lengths, Bab first a head in front of Juanita. Time 3:19½.

SUMMARY.

Race for roadhorses: mile heats, two in three.

Mr. F. Burr's b m Bab, Milton R—by Belle Alta.....Burr	1	1
Mr. E. Bale's b m Juanita, Gen. Dana—unknown.....Bale	2	2
Mr. G. Sewell's b g Jim R, Milton R—unknown.....Sawell	3	3

Time—3:23, 3:19½.

Special Trot—For Named Horses.

The second race was a special, with three named horses, the youngest of whom could not be less than sixteen years old. Stranger, who has been on the track before, won easily in straight heats. In the first Kitty Richmond and Sam Tilden broke repeatedly, Stranger winning as he pleased in 3:13, with Kitty, who would not trot, 100 yards behind. The second heat was a repetition of the first, except in time, which was 3:09. In the third, Vail drove Tilden and Lawrence Kitty. The latter did no better than in her previous attempts, but the improvement in Tilden was manifest, for he hung close to Stranger all the way, and forced him out in 3:04, five seconds faster than the previous heat.

SUMMARY.

Special Race—For named horses. Mile heats 3 in 5. Distance waived.

Mr. Buckle's b g Stranger.....Dorman	1	1	1
Mr. Poe's br s Sam Tilden by G. M. Patchen Jr., dam by Henry Belmont.....Poe	2	2	2
Mr. H. W. Peck's g m Kitty Richmond by A. W. Richmond.....H. W. Peck	3	3	3

Time, 3:13, 3:09, 3:04.

Match Race.

The third race, a half-mile and repeat, was a match for $50 between Stoneman and Lucky Dan, Stoneman being at once made favorite at $10 to $6, and in the race justified the confidence placed in him, for in both heats he ran easily, and though it was a close finish, a head in the first heat and a neck in the second, he could easily have made it more.

SUMMARY.

Match race, $5 a side. Half mile and repeat.

C. Bambrick's g g Stoneman, Kirby Smith—Hunkey Dorey..Leer	1	1
A. Phillip's b g Lucky Dan, 5, Compromise—Frankie Devine.....Thomas	2	2

Time, 0:55½, 0:53½.

The last race of the day was a quarter mile dash, with five entries, four of whom came to the post. A good deal of time was used in scoring, and when the flag fell Lulu B. and Buck were well in front, and with Buck ridden from start to finish. Lula B. won easily by two lengths from him, Croppy a length back, third.

SUMMARY.

Running Race—For all ages. Quarter of a mile.

F. Vail's b m Lula B., 5, Indicator—by Langford.....Hasty	1
Carr's g g Buck, a, unknown.....Smith	2
G. Thombleson's b g Croppy, 5, Norfolk—by Printer.....Thomas	3

Time, 0:24¾.

Stoneman ran unplaced.

FRIDAY.

The judges were Messrs. R. Murphy, J. B. Hinckle and G. Hague. Timers—Messrs. Zane and Sperry.

The weather was simply perfection, and consequently the crowd was much larger inside and outside the pale. The first race, trotting, 2:40 class, had three entries. Misner's David S was made favorite at $5 to the field $3. The word was given after scoring up twice. Miller broke badly before the turn, dropping back fifty yards. Stranger, on the inside, led David a length all the way, and though the latter collared him in the stretch, he left his feet and ran for forty yards, finishing a head behind Stranger, with Miller fifty yards further back. Time, 3:00.

In the second heat after scoring once the word was given with all three level. David and Miller both broke before the turn, Stranger cutting out the work to the head of the stretch the second time around, when David came right up to him, and the old horse left his feet, losing by a length, Miller sixty yards behind. Time, 2:56½.

In the third heat Miller broke as usual before the turn and was five lengths behind at the first quarter, but closing gradually, was only three lengths behind when one lap had been turned, and waking up, went right past the other two on the backstretch, and though Stranger made a game effort he broke in the stretch and was beaten two lengths, Miller first, Stranger second. Time, 2:55½.

The fourth heat saw a change in the betting, Miller being now favorite at $5 to $4 for the other two. Miller, as usual, broke before the turn and was ten lengths behind Stranger at the first quarter. David went up to Stranger and both trotting well led four lengths the first time past the stand. Stranger drew away up the backstretch, but Miller came like a whirlwind round the turn and collared the leaders at the distance and was soon a length in front, and though he broke twenty yards from the wire, won by a length, Stranger half a length in front of David. Time, 3:06½.

Miller now sold for $5 to $3 for the field. Miller this time trotted steadily with Stranger hanging on to his wheel all the way round, and David three lengths behind. Miller left his feet the second time going round the first turn, and though he trotted fast up the backstretch and regained most of his ground, he had to go very wide on the upper turn, and with David and Stranger trotting head and head and Miller coming fast a hot finish was made, David beating Stranger a head and Miller, who came very strong, was a close third. Time, 3:04

When the bell was tapped for the start in the third heat Stranger went off best, leading a length to the quarter, but Miller, who had not left his feet, went past and stayed in front to the finish, winning easily by three lengths, David second. Time 3:06½.

SUMMARY.

Trotting, 2:40 class; mile heats, three in five.

Bale & Lawrence's b s Charley Miller, 3, Capri—unknow.....Lawrence	3	3	1	1	3	1
D. Misner's ch g David S., Baird's Ethan Allen—Daisy Burns.....Misner	2	1	3	3	1	2
Buckle's b g Stranger.....Dorman	1	2	2	2	2	3

Time—3:00, 2:56½, 2:55½, 3:06½, 3:04, 3:06½.

The second race, a half mile dash with three starters, was sandwiched between heats of the preceding race. Dick Turpin sold a big favorite at $10 to $3 for the field. Turpin had a length the best of the start and retained his advantage throughout, winning by a length and a half. Time :52½.

SUMMARY.

Running, half mile dash.

Mr. Charlton's b g Dick Turpin, 6, Pepperwood-by Wheatley.Taylor	1
C. Bambrick's g g Stoneman, Kirby Smith—Hunkey Dorey....Leer	2
G. Thombleson's ch g Joe Hooker Jr., 5, Joe Hooker—by Printer.....Thomas	3

Time—:52½.

The last race of the day was a six furlong dash with three starters. Lucky Dan was made favorite, readily bringing $6 to Sam's $3 and Hooker's $2. The flag fell to a good start, and all three ran together past the stand. Dan gradually drew out, and going easy round the turn won handily by a length and a half from Sam. Time 1:22¾.

SUMMARY.

Running race, three-quarters of a mile.

A. Phillip's b g Lucky Dan, Compromise—Frankie Devine.....Leer	1
W. Carr's b g Sagebrush Sam, Norfolk—unknown.....Hasty	2
G. Thombleson's ch g Joe Hooker, Jr., Joe Hooker—by Printer.....Thomas	3

Time—1:22¾.

SATURDAY.

The judges were Messrs. John Bailhache, Homer Saxe and Mart Rollins. Timers, George Bailhache and Harvey W. Peck.

Trotting—Free For All.

A big day's work being before them, the secretary advertised the meeting to start at one prompt, and precisely on time the bell was rung for the trotting free for all, with two entries, Clara Z. and Harry S. Clara Z. sold a red hot favorite at $5 to $3 for Harry, and with the latter breaking three or four times in the first heat, the mare won easily in 2:55½. Betting was now all over, and Clara going out first, led two lengths all the way, taking the heat in 2:48½. In the third heat Clara led two lengths all the way round, but on making the second circuit Harry came up to her, and after a tight finish, beat her a head. Time, 2:49½.

A few pools were sold on the fourth heat at $5 Clara to $2 Harry. They were started at the second attempt, and Harry, despite a break on the turn, led a length to the head of the stretch, when Clara crowded him and he broke badly, Clara going round the second time five lengths in front, and winning easily in 2:43¾.

SUMMARY.

Trotting—Free for all.

A. J. Zane's g m Clara Z., Capri—by A. W. Richmond.. Sperry	1	1	2	1
D. J. Misner's ch g Harry S., Crown Point—Humming Bird.....Misner	2	2	1	2

Time, 2:55½, 2:48½, 2:49½, 2:43¾.

District Stallion Race.

The second race, free for all district stallions, had two starters. Whalebone was made favorite at $5 to $2, but Sunset, a good looking four-year-old Anteeo, trotted clean away from him, winning as he pleased in straight heats. Time, 2:47½, 2:46½, 2:52½.

SUMMARY.

Trotting Race—Free for all district stallions.

G. E. Grosse's b s Sunset, Anteeo—by Speculation..Lawrence	1	1	1
J. B. Hinkle's b s Whalebone, Inca—Henry Belmont.....Vail	2	2	2

Time, 2:47½, 2:46½, 2:52½.

The third race was for district roadsters. The first heat was very interesting. Bab got a bad start, not being under way when the word was given, but Jim counterbalanced it on the backstretch by breaking badly, and all three passed the stand the first time on about even terms. Bab led up the backstretch, but all three breaking on the turn, a hot finish ensued, Jim R. winning by a head. Time, 3:19.

In the second heat Jim R. trotted very steadily, and won easily by six lengths, being in front all the way. Time, 3:10¼.

The third heat was like the preceding one except that Juanita pulled up after going once round and Jim R. won easily. Time, 3:09.

SUMMARY.

Trotting race, District roadsters, mile heats three in five.

Wisecarver & Seawell's br g Jim R., Milton R—unknown Seawell	1	1	1
F. Burr's b m Bab, Milton R.—by Bell Alta.....Burr	2	2	2
E. Bale s m Juanit ,Gen. Dana—unknown.....Bale	3	dis

Time, 3:19, 3:10½, 3:09.

"The nearest to four minutes" had four starters, out of whom Stranger's driver came the nearest, the times made were:

Mr. Poole's g g Gray Eagle, 4:07½.
Mr. Litton's b g Old Nick, 4:35.
Mr. Chisholm's g m Maud, 4:09.
Mr. Buckle's b g Stranger, 4:03.

The next race was a quarter and repeat with four starters. Pools sold, Croppy $5, Lula $6, Turpin $2 and Johnnie D. $1.

After a long delay Lula B. got off in front and turned out into the straight a length and a half in front. Johnnie hard ridden closed up fast and was beaten the shortest of heads finishing much faster than Lula. Time, 0:24¾.

Pools now sold, Lula B $4, Turpin $3½, Johnnie D. $2 and Croppy $4. Lula B. and Johnnie D. got best away; the gelding hard ridden took the rails on the turn and won easily by a length from Turpin. An objection was lodged that Johnnie when he took inside position fouled Lula, but the judges gave the heat to Johnnie. Time, 0:25.

When the horses were called out for the deciding heat Lulu B had been taken off the track, so Johnnie D walked over the course, Hasty, the rider, and Vail, the trainer of Lulu B, were with the mare ruled off for a year for their conduct in taking her away.

SUMMARY.

Running Race, quarter mile and repeat

J. Doherty's br g Johnnie D., a, Dr. Lindsay—by Lumnax	Jarvis	2	1 1
T. Vail's br m Lulu B 5, Indicator—by Langford.....	Hasty	1	4 dis
J. Charlton's b g Dick Turpsin, a, Pepperwood—by Wheatly	Taylor	4	2 ro
G. Thombleson's b g Croppy, 5, Norfolk—by Printer..	Thomas	3	3 ro

Time, 0:24¼, 0.25.

The six furlongs and repeat was the last race of the day. The first heat was run between the first and second of the quarter race. There were three starters. Sagebrush cut out the work for the first half mile, when Stoneman, who had been pulling hard, was given his head and cantered home two lengths in front of Sagebrush, who was a head in advance of Lucky Dan. Time, 1:22.

Hasty having left the track, there was no one on hand to ride Lucky Dan, so he was withdrawn and Stoneman won in a canter by six lengths. Time, 1:25¾.

The racing on the whole was very enjoyable and the management are certainly to be congratulated on their enterprise in starting an association and backing it up with private money. The town people particularly the ladies, patronized the meeting well, but the people from the surrounding country preferred sitting in their vehicles on the county road to paying half a dollar admission.

Santa Rosa, Petaluma and neighborhood, were represented by such well known men as Judge S. K. Dougherty, Dr. Findlaw, Messrs. McGraw, Underhill, Hinckle, Misner and others, while on Saturday, W. Underbill, of Santa Rosa, brought a coach and four, filled with passengers to see the concluding day's fun.

The president and secretary both worked hard for success. Col. Warfield, the president, is by the way, racing bred, being one of the old Maryland Warfield's and a nephew of Dr. Warfield, so well known to all Americans as the breeder of Lexington. About four miles from town, the Colonel has a small ranch with about forty acres of green alfalfa, some hill land and a large orchard. During the last few years, Mr. Warfield has been gradually collecting a few brood mares and last Sunday morning I drove out with him and was escorted round the ranch and shown the mares and colts by the owner and Mrs. Warfield. Mrs. Warfield who is a true horsewoman seems to take great interest in the colts who are treated as pets by the household.

There were four trotting brood mares; the first being Danville Maid, a good looking brown mare bought from the Cook Farm. She is by Don Juan, dam by Niagara. She is in foal to Capri; the other three mares were chestnuts, the first of them a big, strong mare, with good sound legs and feet, is in foal to Philosopher, (owned by J. W. Knox). She is by Bell Alta, dam by General McClellan. The other two are by Gray McClellan, one being in foal to Capri and the other to Echo Royal. The four yearlings were a brown filly by Capri out of the Maid which should trot, judging from the way she moved round the lot, and three Capri colts all of them big, strong, shapely youngsters with plenty of bone and free from all blemishes. The last of the colts visited was a chestnut colt out of the Bell Alta mare and he certainly looked as much, if not more, like trotting than any previously seen. A big bulldog and a few game chickens tended to give a sporting aspect to the place, particularly the latter, among them being two fine birds, one a big imported jap called Tom McKay, and the other, Australia, having an antipathy for one another that should be settled some afternoon.

There are several other well known people who raise trotting horses in the neighborhood, among them being Wood Wattles, who has purchased 140 acres of bottom land about one and a half miles below town. Half of it is alfalfa and nearly all the rest in grain or corn with the exception of a small orchard. Mr. Wattles has for several years lived up in Dry Creek where he had his ranch, but on purchasing nearer town he sold the old place and will move in a few days. He has on his ranch several choice broodmares and a stallion. The latter called Echo Royal, is a big, strong horse, six years old by Echo, dam The Booth mare. He was bought from F. H. Burke, of Menlo, and has trotted successfully in several local races. Next year he will probably be sent for a record.

Among the mares were two, well known in the State. Sweetbriar 2:26¼, grey mare by Eugene Casserly, dam Peanuts 2:24½ by George M. Patchen Jr. 31. The game old mare is as fresh as a two-year-old, her feet and legs being as clean and strong as ever She trotted from 1875 to the end of 1877, beating Nutwood, 2:18¾, Beautiful Bells, 2:29½, Lou Whipple, 2:26¾, and other well known performers during her career; her dam Peanuts or California Damsel as she was called, was also a well known trotter getting a record of 2:24½. Sweetbriar was bought about two years ago from F. H. Burke, who thought she was not in foal but late in the season she dropped a dark grey colt by Eros. The colt has been christened Sotoyome. He is now a yearling, dark grey, with strong, sinewy legs, a good back and splendid quarters, while his action is almost perfect, and next year he will probably be worked on the track.

Young Miami with a bay colt by Anteeo were bought last Spring from F. Malone, The mare (who is by Pauls Abdallah out of old Miami a thoroughbred daughter of Belmont) has been bred to Director and is in foal, while the colt has grown and thickened out, being now worth all the money paid for the pair while the old mare should throw to Director a trotter sure.

Kate is a good looking chestnut mare by Fitz James (brother to Dan Voorhees 887, record 2:23¼) out of Countess (dam of Dawn 2:18¾) by Hambeltonian 725. She has a weanling bay filly by Echo Royal. A six-year-old black mare was bought from the Cook Farm. She also has an Echo Royal weanling. Among others was the black filly by Young Kisbar, dam by Altamont; she is three years old and will be worked next year. When purchased at F. Malone's sale she had an enlarged fetlock from barbed wire, but it has almost all gone and the mare seems perfectly sound. On the Dry Creek Ranch are several very handsome pedigree Jerseys and a Holstein bull from Underhill's celebrated herd. In a few years we should hear from the Wattle's Stock Farm. (I believe it will be called 'Fairbank' after the late owner) for neither expense nor labor is being spared by the educated proprietor in making the new ranch a fitting home for trotting stock and the judgment displayed in selecting the mares justifies the outlay.

Mr. A J. Zane, the owner of Capri, a gray stallion by Jim Lick, out of Lady Budd, by Williamson's Belmont, has several good youngsters. Clara Z. is a four year old mare by Capri, dam by A. W. Richmond, granddam by Catchem. A three year old gelding and a two year old stallion, brothers to Clara, a yearling and a suckling colt, both by Capri out of a mare by A. W. Richmond, dam by Leviathan. Mr. Zane, who is an intelligent breeder, has some particularly good youngsters—grays—and with the Richmond blood in them, backed up by a running cross, they should prove invaluable. A. W. Richmond stood in Healdsburg for a season and a half, and though he only got poor mares as a rule, all his colts could trot in three to three and a half minutes. One of the best looking Richmond mares is Kitty Richmond, by A. W. Richmond, the property of Harvey W. Peck, the courteous secretary.

On Sunday afternoon the return journey was made to the city, and by the time Tiburon was reached the train was full of hunters and travellers, who crowded the James M. Donahue almost to excess, but with the admirable order maintained by the officials and the good temper of the people, the trip across the Bay was pleasantly passed, and we were once more in the city. N. B.

WIZARDS OF THE SULKY.

How Noted Reinsmen Secure The Best Work.

An Expert Lays Down the Rules for the Guidance of Beginners—"A Good Driver Makes a Good Horse"—The Old Commodore's Unbeaten Record

I had an interesting chat with Mr. E. C. Walker, "Veritas" the well known writer on turf matters, some time ago. Mr. Mr. Walker is not only an educated man and a talented writer on equine topics, but he is also one of the best drivers in this country, and so when he began to talk on his favorite topic I was willing enough to sit back and listen.

Mr. Walker was formerly in the marine insurance business in Boston, but failing health induced him to settle in Southern Michigan, where he bought a few horses and started a stud and training stable on a moderate scale. He had always had a taste for horseflesh, and his new employment proved so congenial to him that he said good-bye forever to insurance matters, and has since then devoted himself to training and driving horses and writing about them.

"I had always been fond of road driving," said Mr. Walker, "and had been considered a very good driver on the boulevards, but I had never thought of driving on the track. I was first drawn into it by seeing that horses, whose training I had supervised and which I knew to be capable of great speed, often came in last in the race, because they were not properly handled. Then I said to myself: 'Well, I have never driven for money, but I am sure I can drive better than that.' So one day I climbed into the sulky and started in a race. I will admit that I felt considerable trepidation at first, but I determined instantly to concentrate my thoughts on the business in hand. So I dismissed all uneasiness and thought of nothing but the best way to get all the speed possible out of the horse. I succeeded so well that from that time I have driven my own horses or those of my friends whenever occasion offered. You probably heard of my friend J. F. Dingee's fast mare, Miss Alice? Well, I got her last spring, a five-year-old, who had never been in the trainer's hands or on the track. I took hold of her, made a study of her gait, her disposition and other peculiarities and then taught her to race. This summer she has started in nine stake and purse races and has won four of them, besides taking a large share of the purse money in most of the others. She made a record of 2:20½ in the fourth heat of the fourth race she ever trotted.

"There is an old saying that 'Good horses make good drivers,' but I think it ought to be 'good drivers make good horses.' Some men are born drivers; others achieve distinction by persistent efforts, and others literally have distinction thrust upon them by reason of their success with some particular horse. For example, W. W. Blair was never prominent as a driver until he took hold of Maud S. He accustomed himself to her ways, and she to his, and it was he who gave her the unparalleled record of 2:08¾.

"The most notable instance of inherited talent with the reins that I know of is that of the Vanderbilt family. The old Commodore was a fearless, and indeed almost a reckless driver, and gained a reputation on Harlem Lane and the uptown avenues which people talk about to this day. He was a master mind, and impressed his individuality on his horses as well as the men with whom he was brought in contact. His son, William H., inherited that, as he did other paternal qualities, in a conservative way, and was, up to the day of his death, a remarkably good driver. He was particularly fond of driving two horses, which is an art far more difficult than that of driving one. It was he who beat the record of 2:15¾ made by Maxey Cobb and Neta Medium, to a skeleton wagon driven by the expert John Murphy. Mr. Vanderbilt drove Maud S. and Aldine to a top wagon, with his own weight added, in 2:15½ at Fleetwood Park. It is, in my judgment, a great achievement that will stand unbeaten for many a year. Now, there are plenty of rich men in New York who own fast teams, but there are very few of them who possess the Vanderbilt talent for driving them, and in order to get the best work out of them they have always had to hire drivers such as Mace and Hickok. One of the chief reasons for Mr. Vanderbilt's success was that he always studied the disposition of his horses and let their powers have full play. He allowed them to exercise their natural rivalry to get ahead of one another. In short, William H. Vanderbilt was a born horseman, and not merely a man who happened to be rich enough to own fast animals. He would unbend more readily with a man who could talk horse well than he would with any one else.

"I remember his saying to me once: 'There's very little use in trying to drive a pair of mismated horses. They are like other ill-assorted couples. The sooner they separate the better. That's the reason I bought Small Hopes, Leander, Lysander, Early Rose, Aldine and others, and tried them all in pairs until I found two who agreed well together. There was Maud S. She did not want to be bothered by her mate in starting off, and I soon found that Aldine was always ready to go off with her, and it was that that made them such a good team.'

"All of the present generation of Vanderbilts are fond of horses, but Fred Vanderbilt is the light-harness man of the family. It was he who inherited Early Rose and Aldine and all the rest of his father's flyers. Maud S., as you know, was sold to Mr. Robert Bonner for a very much smaller price than had been previously offered for the mare. Mr. Vanderbilt did that because he wished the animal to fall into good hands, and did not want her hippodromed round the country. That shows that Mr. Vanderbilt regarded Mr. Bonner as a lover of the trotting horse, and his judgment was not misplaced. Bobert's brother, David, is a great authority on breeding and all matters relating to horse flesh. Robert has made a life study of horses from the foot up, and Maud S. lowered her record twice during his ownership of her. He has not come before the public as a reinsman, but he has driven his horses at his private track in Tarrytown in wonderfully fast time on many occasions. So also have his sons Alley and Fred. The latter drove Lucy Cuyler at Fleetwood to a road wagon half a mile in 1:05. Another illustration of the gift for driving that some men possess, even if they are rich, was given by John Shepard, the well known Boston merchant, who drove his team, Mill Boy and Blondine, in 2:22, the fastest mile ever traveled by a team in New England. Like Commodore Vanderbilt he is well known as a fearless and even reckless driver. In fact, men of determination are the only ones who drive well. A timid man should not attempt to drive a pair of horses fast, nor be caught in hot company with a single one.

"Mr. C. J. Hamlin, of Buffalo, is another man of nerve and determination who excels in the gentlemanly sport of driving teams. He makes a specialty of breeding trotting horses of the highest class at his Village Farm and then trotting them in public to prove their merits. He enjoys the distinction of being the only man who has driven a pair of horses of his own breeding and training in 2:18, a feat which he accomplished with Belle Hamlin and Justinia.

"Professional driving is a very different thing from driving on the road for pleasure. The Woodruffs were an old-time family of horsemen, and Hiram Woodruff was the chief exponent of the old school of training and driving. His book, The Trotting Horse of America, is an epitome of old-time horse lore, and his road-house near Coney Island was, in its day, the resort not only of famous horsemen, but of notabilities of every degree as well. His brothers, William and Isaac, also figured prominently as trainers and drivers. Contemporary with them was William H. Doble, of Philadelphia, a horseman of remarkable ability, whose sons, Budd, Charles and young William, were all noted reinsmen, especially Budd.

"The Maces, Dan and Ben, inherited their wonderful skill from their father, Daniel Mace, a Boston dealer in and handler of road and race horses. The son, familiarly known as Dan Mace, has aptly been termed the 'Wizard of the Sulky.' Brought up as a boy in the old school of training, he graduated from it and became the greatest exponent of the present method of handling the trotting horse in the sulky, to wagon and under saddle. He discarded sweating under blankets, long and repeated severe trials, and adopted the more scientific course of building up the horse's strength, putting him in condit on gradually by moderate work, and saving his powers for some great race. Driving was with him a fine art. He could inspire the horse with confidence from the start, thread his way through a large field, and bring him under the wire a winner with a tremendous rush at the finish. Another driver of the modern or scientific school is John Splan, who has been a close student of Mace's tactics, and has, in my judgment, more of the natural gifts of a great driver from start to finish than any man living.

"My own system in driving is to enter into complete sympathy with the horse and never call upon him to trot when he is out of condition, or try to make him do more than he is able to. In training a horse it is best to have him exercise moderately every fine day, but once or twice a week is often enough to drive him at speed. Choose a day that is free from dampness or piercing winds. Let the horse be sent a preliminary spin before sending him along, say a half mile, at his best rate. In speeding against other horses, on road or track, commonly called 'a brush,' see that your horse is going level and true, that he has an easy and fair hold of the bit and is on his stride, before asking him to measure paces with your neighbor's horse. A sudden start and over-anxiety on the part of driver and horse has a demoralizing effect on both, particularly if your friend is in a jubilant mood and looks back at you tantalizingly. When you range alongside your competitor, do not be in too big a hurry to pass him. Remember that the other man's horse may have nearly as much speed as your own, and the cool head and steady hand is necessary at this juncture. Also, when you pass him do not be in haste to draw away or, as the saying is, 'make a show of him.' Imprudent drivers on track and road often beat themselves by exhausting the power of the horse, so that he is not able to finish when tackled by the game horse, driven with judgment and his speed properly rated. Do not overmatch your horse by persistently trying to beat a horse that can play with him, and do not speed him too far. Driving a horse to a standstill, or even until he begins to lose heart and interest in the effort, will surely take away his speed. This kind of training and driving makes 2:30 horses 'improve backwards' and become 2:40 horses in a little while.

"Every trotter has his ultimate limit. Nature has destined some to reach the 2:20 mark, with others she has drawn the line at 2:30, and with a select few 2:10 to 2:15 are the bounds. Many a horse never reaches his goal of speed because of improper and severe handling. For example, an impetuous driver known as a 'hustler,' takes in hand a willing young horse. Both are full of go and overdo themselves. A reaction comes, and nature calls for rest and recuperation, but more work and faster is demanded. The horse is overmatched in a race, but the driver does not spare him—not he. 'Why, bless you, Mr. Owner,' he says, 'this horse is short of work, and I'll beat the party with him at the next town.' If he does it is a heart-breaking race, and improvement stops for the season—perhaps forever. The 'wait and win' driver will put his horse in condition gradually, and bring him along by easy stages until he is ripe and seasoned to live the pace against his peers. This is the time to strike and win, but even then do not force the horse to over-exert himself by more than one whipping finish. Few mares and geldings should be subjected to the cutting lash. Now and then the naturally dull or flagging energies of a stallion must be roused to action by the whip, but its continual application is unwise. A sharp cut now and then with the dread of more, will bring forth the best efforts of the dull horse. The voice and rein are greater inspirers of increased efforts than the whip. As a last resort, when all seems to fail, a smart cut and a lifting at the same time, with a letting go of the horse's head, not too sudden, will enable you to win by a neck, a head or an eyelash.

"There's an old fellow named Kyger who came out of the woods some time ago with a really wonderful mare named Kit Avery, who has a record of 2:18¼, and could lower it if she were put in decent hands. 'Old Man Kyger,' as he is called, is known on every track in the country. He uses his whip from start to finish, and I've seen him whipping after the horse had passed under the wire. He's almost spoiled the mare already, and she'll be completely ruined before long. Then he'll go back to the woods from which he came."

J. L. Ford.

It is a very rare thing for horses afflicted with a disease that superinduces fever to lie down. They will stand up until nature becomes completely exhausted, and their limbs refuse to sustain them. They have an instinct which teaches them if they lie down it may be difficulty for them to get upon their feet again. A sick horse because of his evident knowledge of his own condition and his inability to communicate the symptoms and bad nature of it, commends himself to human sympathy more than any other animal.

Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association Entries.

A week ago yesterday the entries closed for the forthcoming meeting of the Blood Horse Association, and it is with great pleasure that we announce to our readers that in the past history of this well known society there has never been such a large number of horses entered for any one meeting. It may be as well to state that all the horses now entered are ready and fit for racing, so that it is extremely probable that there will be an unusually large number of starters in each race. Those who are interested should preserve this paper, as it gives also the entries in each of the races to be run on each day. The first day of the meeting will be next Saturday, and we fully expect the fall meeting of 1889 to eclipse all the former efforts of the Society.

Yesterday Secretary Culver of the Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association received the final entries for the fall meeting of the association, commencing Saturday, November 16, at the Bay District Track.

As will be seen from the entry list there are none from the large stables that have been in the East for the racing season, but the large number of entries made in the different events show that the fall meeting bids fair to be one of the most successful ones ever given by the association.

The list as taken from the Secretary's books is as follows:

FIRST DAY—NOVEMBER 16.

No. 1—Purse $400; for three-year-olds and upwards; $15 entrance from starters to go to second horse. Winners in 1889 at this distance when carrying weight for age or more, of one race to carry five pounds; of two or more, ten pounds extra. Maidens beaten at this distance, if three years old, allowed seven pounds; if four years old or over allowed twelve pounds. One mile.

R. B. Cockrill's b m Daisy D., a, by Wheatley, dam Black Maria.
Elwood Stable's ch m Nerva, a, by Bob Wooding, dam Lizzie Marshal.
Kelly & Samuels' b h Ed McGinnis, 4, by Grinstead, dam Jennie G.
J. P. Kerr's ch g Forester, 4, by Joe Hooker, dam Mattie C.
W. M. Murry's ch h Peregrine, 4, by Joe Hooker or Jumbo, dam Irene Harding.
Palo Alto's b c Peel, 4, by Monday, dam Precious.
Palo Alto's b f Faustine, 3, by Flood, dam Flirt.
C. Peterson's b g Jubilee, 3, by Kyrle Daly, dam Joy.
W. L. Pritchard's ch c Louis P., 3, by Joe Hooker, dam Lizzie P.
H. E. Rose's b c Dan M. Murphy, 3, by Spectator, dam Leona.
L. U. Shippee's b f Songstress, 3, by Luke Blackburn, dam Malibran.
L. U. Shippee's b f Picnic, 3, by Mr. Pickwick, dam Countess.
H. I. Thornton's br m Abi, 5, by Red Boy, dam Abi.
H. I. Thornton's ch h Apache, 4, by Mortemer, dam The Banshee.

No. 2—The Ladies' Stakes; for two-year-old fillies (foals of 1887); $50 each, $25 forfeit, or $10 if declared out on January 1, 1889; or $20 if declared out on August 1, 1889. All declarations void unless accompanied with the money. $400 added; second to receive $100, third to save stake. Winners of three stake races to carry five pounds extra. Three quarters of a mile.

C. Hatresson's ch f Fabiola by Warwick, dam Muggins.
Oak Grove Stable's ch f Gypsy by Leinster, dam Aunt Jane.
Oak Grove Stable's ch f Philena by Joe Hooker dam Lena I.
E. S. Paddock's b f Adelaide by Grinstead, dam Victoria.
W. M. Murray's b f Evaline by Flood, dam Lady Evangeline.
Palo Alto's ch f Muta by Wildidle, dam Mutiny.
L. U. Shippee's ch f Elsie S. by Glenelg, dam Myriad.
L. U. Shippee's b f Mabel F. by Longfellow, dam Carrie Phillips.
L. U. Shippee's ch f Falsalara by Falsetto, dam Salara.
A. G. Todd's b f Jessie C. by Bishop, dam Jennie C.
H. I. Thornton's ch f Reata by Milner, dam Marion.

No. 3—The November Stakes; for all ages. $25 entrance, $10 forfeit, with $600 added; $75 to second, $25 to third. Winners over this distance this year of two races (handicaps excepted) to carry five pounds, of three such races to carry ten pounds extra. One mile and a half.

T. Bally's ch c Little Phil, 3, by Leinster, dam Lillie H.
Dennison Bros.'s b c Hotspur, 3, by Joe Daniels, dam sister to Jim Douglas.
B. P. Hill's ch g Mikado, 5, by Shiloh, dam Margery.
B. P. Hill's ch g Tycoon, 4, by Reveille, dam Margery.
Kelly & Samuel's b h Ed McGinnis by Grinstead, dam Jennie G.
J. P. Kerr's ch g Forester, 4, by Joe Hooker, dam Mattie C.
C. Mulkey's ch h Moses B., 4, by Leinster, dam Aunt Jane.
Palo Alto's b c Peel, 4, by Monday, dam Precious.
A. Phillips' b g Lucky Dan, 5, by Compromise, dam Frankie Devine.
L. U. Shippee's b f Songstress, 3, by Luke Blackburn, dam Malibran.
L. U. Shippee's b f Picnic, 3, by Mr. Pickwick, dam Countess.
H. I. Thornton's ch m Narcola, 5, by Norfolk, dam Ada C.
H. I. Thornton's ch h Ajondies, 4, by Mortemer, dam the Bunchess.
W. L. Whitmore's ch h, Coloma, 4, by Joe Hooker, dam Callie Smart.

No. 4—Selling purse, $350, of which $50 to second; for three-year-olds and upward. Fixed valuation, $1,000; three pounds allowed for each $100 less down to $700; then one pound for $100 down to $300; selling price to be named through the entry-box at 5 P. M. the day before the race. Three-quarter mile heats.

W. L. Davis' b h Jack Brady, 5, by Wildidle, dam Sour Grapes.
Elmwood Stable's b g Nabeau, 4, by Nathan Coombs, dam Beauty.
W. George's b g Applause, 5, by Three Cheers, dam Alice N.
George Howson's g g Johnny Gray, a, by Shiloh, dam Margery.
S. H. King's b h Red Iron, 4, by Elias Lawrence, dam imp. Inca.
G. Lyman's b m Minnie B., 5, by Leinster, dam unknown.
J. McBride's ch c Long Shot, 3, by Duke of Norfolk, dam by Langford.
H. D. Miller's ch m Ida Glenn, a, by Glen Elm, dam unknown.
C. Mulkey's ch g Tom Daly, a, by Patsy Duffy, dam Sunshine.
John Reavey's ch m Bessie Shannon, 3, by Shannon, dam Bettie Bishop.
J. P. Ross' b g Oro, 5, by Norfolk, dam Golden Gate.
Henry Schwartz's b g Billy D., a, by Norfolk, dam unknown.
M. Storn's ch g Kildare, 4, by Kyrle Daly, dam Mistake.

SECOND DAY—NOVEMBER 19TH.

No. 5—Purse $400, $50 to second, $25 to third, for three-year-olds and upward. Winners this year of any race over this distance (handicaps and selling races excepted) to carry three pounds; of two such races five pounds, of three or more ten pounds extra. Beaten maidens allowed three pounds. Three-quarters of a mile.

T. Bailey's b g, a, Jou Jou by Monday, dam Plaything.
R. B. Cockrell's b m, a, Daisy D by Wheatley, dam Black Maria.
J. W. Dowell's ch f, 3, Dewdrop by Joe Hooker, dam Unknown.
Elmwood Stable's b g, 4, Nabeau by Nathan Coombs, dam Beauty.
B. P. Hill's ch g, 4, Tycoon, by Reveille, dam Margery.
W. M. Murry's ch h, 4, Peregrine by Joe Hooker or Jumbo, dam Irene Harding.
C. Peterson's b g, 3, Jubilee by Kyrle Daly, dam Joy.
H. E. Rose's b c. 3, Dan M. Murphy by Speculator, dam Leona.
J. P. Ross b g, 5, Oro by Norfolk, dam Golden Gate.
L. U. Shippee's b f, 3, Songstress by Luke Blackburn, dam Malibran.
L. U. Shippee's b f, 3, Picnic by Mr. Pickwick, dam Countess.
M. Storn's b m, 4, Fannie F. by Wildidle, dam Sallie Hart.
H. I. Thorntgn's b m, 5, Abi by Red Boy, dam Abi.
W. L. whitmore's br h, 4, Coloma by Joe Hooker, dam Callie Smart.

No. 6—The Vestal Stakes, for three-year-old fillies (foals of 1886). One mile and a quarter; $25 each p p., with $500 added; second to receive $100, third to save stake.
John Arnett's br f Lady Emma.
J. B. Chase's ch f Glen Ellen.
J. T. Chantrey's ch f Little Rose.
G. W. Pool & Co.'s br f Cassandra.
W. M. Murry's b f Isabella.
D. J. McCarthy's ch f Gertrude McCarthy.
D. J. McCarthy's ch f Jennie McCarthy.
Palo Alto's b f Faustine.
Palo Alto's b f Shannon Rose.
John Reavey's b f Bessie Shannon.
P. Robson's b f Lady Helen.
J. McM. Shafter's b f Louise M.
L. U. Shippee's ch f Agnes B.
L. U. Shippee's ch f Kathlene.
L. U. Shippee's b f Free Love.
L. U. Shippee's b f Scat.
L. U. Shippee's ch f Ernestine.
J. C. Simpson's b f Jo Viva.
H. I. Thornton's ch f Regina.
H. I. Thornton's ch f Sonoma.
H. I. Thornton's br f Zinfandel.
Geo. Van Gordon's ch f Evalita.

No. 7—The Record Stakes, for all ages; $25 entrance, $10 forfeit, with $500 added, of which $50 to second, $25 to third; weight for age. Five furlongs.
S. A. Ashe's b c. 2, Willoughby by Jocko, dam Fannie D.
C. Bambrick's g g, a, Stoneman by Kirby Smith, dam Hunkidory.
R. B. Cockrell's b m, a, Daisy D by Wheatley, dam Black Maria.
John Dowd's b g, a, Sunday by Sundance, dam Norma.
Elmwood Stable's b g, 4 Vinco by Bob Wooding, dam Molly H.
W. Geo ge's b g, 5, Applause by Three Cheers, dam Alice N.
P. Herzog's b c, 2, for Herzog Mohawk by Norfolk, dam Irene Harding.
George Howson's g g, a, Johnny Grey by Shiloh, dam Margery.
Kelly & Samuels' b m, 5, Susie S. by Iron Clad, dam Jennie Mc.
G. Lyman's b h, 4, Painkiller by Joe Hooker, dam Betsy McGuire.
W. M. Murray's ch h, 4, Peregrine by Joe Hooker or Jumbo, dam Irene Harding.
J. P. Ross' b m, 3, Kittie Van by Vanderbilt, dam April Fool.
P. Siebenthaler's ch c, 2, King Hooker by Joe Hooker, dam Violet.
Starkey & Smith's ch g, a, Sleepy Dick, pedigree unknown.
G. B. Thompson's ch g, 5, by Joe Hooker Jr., dam unknown.
A. G. Tod's b f, 2, Jessie C by Bishop, dam Jennie C.

No. 8—Purse, $350. Handicap; for two-year-olds; $10 from starter $5 declaration. First horse to take the purse; second horse 70 per cent. and third horse 30 per cent of starting money and declarations. Weights announced on the first day of the meeting. Declarations due at 5 o'clock in the afternoon the day before the race. Seven furlongs.
S. A. Ashe's b c Willoughby by Jocko, dam Fannie D.
J. B. Chase's ch f Marigold by Milner, dam Katie Pease.
Dennison Bros., br f Ede by Powhattan, dam Haidee.
Kelly & Samuels' b g Pliny by Flood, dam Precious.
John Leach's br c Captain Al by Kingston, dam Black Maria.
Palo Alto's b g Rico by Shannon, dam Fannie Lewis.
Palo Alto's ch f Muta by Wildidle, dam Mutiny.
W. L. Pritchard's b c Morton by Leinster dam Lilly H.
L. U. Shippee's chf Whisban by King Ban, dam Whisperine.
P. Siebenthaler's ch c Sheridan, by Young Bazar, dam Lost Girl.
P. Siebenthaler's ch c King Hooker, by Joe Hooker, dam Violet.
A. G. Todd's b f Jessie C, by Bishop, dam Jennie C.
W. L. Whitmore's ch c Guide, by Double Cross, dam Aurora.

THIRD DAY—NOVEMBER 21ST.

No. 9—Selling Purse, $350, $50 to second; for all ages. Final valuation $1,200. Two pounds allowed for each $100 less down to $800, then one pound for each $100 down to $300. Selling price to be named through the entry box at 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the day before the race. Mile and a sixteenth.

T. Bally's b g Jou Jou, a, by Monday, dam Plaything.
W. D. Davis' b h Jack Brady, 5, by Wildidle, dam Sour Grapes.
Elmwood Stable's ch m Nerva, a, by Bob Wooding, dam Lizzie Marshal.
W. George's b g Applause, 5, by Three Cheers, dam Alice N.
Golden Gate Stable's b g Black Pilot, a, by Echo, dam Madge Duke.
J. B. Kerr's ch g Forester, 4, by Joe Hooker, dam Mattie C.
J. McBride's ch c Long Shot, 3, by Duke of Norfolk, dam by Langford.
H. D. Miller's ch m Ida Glenn, a, by Glen Elm, dam unknown.
C. Mulkey's ch g Tom Daly, a, by Patsy Duffy, dam Sunshine.
W. M. Murray's ch h Peregrine, 4, by Joe Hooker or Jumbo, dam Irene Harding.
W. S. Pritchard's ch c Morton, 2, by Leinster, dam Lillie H.
John Reavey's b m Bessie Shannon, 3, by Shannon, dam Bettie Bishop.
J. P. Ross' b g Oro, 5, by Norfolk, dam Golden Gate.
Henry Schwartz's b g Billy D. by Norfolk, dam unknown.
M. Storn's ch g Kildare, 4, by Kyrle Daly, dam Mistake.

No. 10—Purse $350; 50 to second; for three-year-olds and upward. Weight for age. Half mile heats.

D. F. Abel's ch g Rondo, a, by Vanderbilt, dam Dutchy.
C. Bambrick's g g Stoneman, a, by Kirby Smith, dam Hunky Dorey.
R. B. Cockrill's b m Daisy D., a, by Wheatley, dam Black Maria.
J. W. Dowell's ch f Dewdrop, 4, by Joe Hooker, dam unknown.
John Dowd's b g Sunday, a, by Sundance, dam Norma.
H. H. Edmunds' b m Juanita, a, by Ironclad, dam Mary Mc.
W. George's b g Applause, 5, by Three Cheers, dam Alice N.
George Howson's g g Johnny Grey, a, by Shiloh, dam Margery.
Kelly & Samuels' b m Susie S., 5, by Ironclad, dam Jennie Mc.
H. D. Miller's ch m Ida Glenn, a, by Glen Elm, dam unknown.
J. P. Ross' b m Kittie Van, 3, by Vanderbilt, dam April Fool.
Starkey & Smith's ch g Sleepy Dick, a, pedigree unknown.
G. B. Thomlinson's ch g Joe Hooker Jr., 5, by Joe Hooker, dam unknown.
C. Lyman's b h Pain Killer, 4, by Joe Hooker, dam Betsy McGuire.

No. 11—The Autumn Stakes; for two-year-olds (foals of 1887); $50 each, $25 forfeit, or $10 if declared out before January, 1889, or $20 if declared out August 1, 1889. All declarations void unless accompanied by the money, with $750 added; second to receive $150, third to save stake. Winners of three stakes to carry five pounds extra. One mile.

C. Halverson's ch f Fabiola by Warwick, dam Maggie S.
B. C. Holly's b c King David by Kyrle Daly, dam Trophy.
John Leach's br c Captain Al by Kingston, dam Black Maria.
Maltese Villa Stable's b c Abdiel by Jocko, dam Cousin Peggy.
W. M. Murry's b c Mohawk by Norfolk, dam Irene Harding.
James McNasser's b c Sacramento by Joe Hooker, dam Addie C.
James McNasser's b c Riverside by Norfolk, dam Flora.
Oak Grove Stable's ch c Morton by Leinster, dam Lilly H.
Oak Grove Stable's ch c Tippecanoe by Young Bazar, dam Lizzie P.
Oak Grove Stable's ch f Gypsy by Leinster, dam Aunt Jane.
Oak Grove Stable's ch f Philena by Joe Hooker, dam Lena I.
Oak Grove Stable's ch c Sheridan by Young Bazar, dam Lost Girl.
Oak Grove Stable's ch c Oregon by Joe Hooker, dam Hattie Ball.
E. S. Paddock's b f Adelaide by Grinstead, dam Victoria.
Palo Alto's ch c Flambean by Wildidle, dam imp. Flirt.
Palo Alto's b c Racine by Bishop, dam Fairy Rose.
Kelly & Samuel's b c Pliny by Flood, dam Precious.
W. M. Murry's b f Evaline by Flood, dam Lady Evangeline.
Palo Alto's b f Muta by Wildidle, dam Mutiny.
A. G. Todd's b f Jessie C. by Bishop, dam Jennie C.
H. I. Thornton's ch f Reata by Milner, dam Marion.
L. U. Shippee's ch f Whisban by King Ban, dam Whisperine.
L. U. Shippee's ch f Elsie S. by Glenelg, dam Myriad.
L. U. Shippee's ch f Falsalara by Falsetto, dam Salara.
L. U. Shippee's b f Mabel F. by Longfellow, dam Carrie Phillips.
L. U. Shippee's b c Fellow Charm by Longfellow, dam Trinket.
L. U. Shippee's ch c Major Ban by King Ban, dam Hearsay.
G. W. Graham's ch f Bettie B. by Joe Hooker, dam Kate Carson.
W. L. Whitmore's ch c Guido by Double Cross, dam Aurora.
C. V. Tupper's blk g Hi. h Jack by Three Cheers, dam Lugena.
A. Wakeman's ch c Kiro by Joe Hooker, dam by Foster.

No. 12—The Fame Stakes, for three-year-olds (foals of 1886), $100 each, half forfeit, or $10 if declared out August 1, 1888, or $20 if declared out January 1, 1889, or $30 if declared out August 1, 1889. All declarations void unless accompanied with the money; $750 added, second to receive $200, the third to save stakes. One mile and three-quarters.

W. L. Appleby's b c Wild Oats.
J. B. Chase's ch f Glen Ellen.
J. T. Courtney's ch f Little Rose.
D. J. McCarty's ch g Tiburon.
D. J. McCarty's ch f Gertrude McCarty.
D. J. McCarty's ch f Jennie McCarty.
D. J. McCarty's ch c San Francisco.
D. J. McCarty's ch c Harry M.c.
H. E. Rose's b c Dan M. Murphy.
D. J. McCarty's ch c Sorrento.
W. M. Murry's Robin Hood.
W. M. Murry's b c N. Y. M.
G. Hearst's b c Almont.
Maltese Stable's b c Blood Tide.
Palo Alto's b c Geoffrey.
Palo Alto's b f Faustine.
G. Hearst's ch c Philander.
F. P. Pray's b c Duke Spencer.
W. L. Pritchard's ch c Louis P.
T. Bally's ch c Little Phil.
L. U. Shippee's b f Picnic.
L. U. Shippee's b f Acquito.
J. C. Simpson's b f Joe Viva.
D. Thomas' b c Cordova.
Dennison Bros.' b c Hotspur.
Theodore Winter's ro c Telish.
Theodore Winter's b c Barham.

FOURTH DAY—NOVEMBER 23D.

No. 13—Purse $400, $50 to second, $25 to third; for three-year olds and upward. Horses that have started at this meeting and not won, it beaten once allowed five pounds; twice, ten pounds; three times, fifteen pounds. One and a sixteenth miles.

W. George's b g Applause, a, by Three Cheers, dam Alice N.
Golden Gate Stable's ch f Asa, 3, by Long Field, dam Assyria.
B. P. Hill's ch g Mikado, 5, by Shiloh, dam Margery.
B. P. Hill's ch g Tycoon, 4, by Reveille, dam Margery.
C. Mulkey's ch g Tom Daly, a, by Patsy Duffy, dam Sunshine.
Palo Alto's b c Peel, 4, by Monday, dam Precious.
John Reavey's b m Bessie Shannon, 3, by Shannon, dam Betty Bishop.
J. P. Ross' b g Oro, 5, by Norfolk, dam Golden Gate.
L. U. Shippee's b f Songstress, 3, by Luke Blackburn, dam Malibran.
L. U. Shippee's b f Picnic, 3, by Mr. Pickwick, dam Countess.
M. Storn's ch g Kildare, 4, by Kyrle Daly, dam Mistake.
M. Storn's b m Fanny F, 4, by Wild Idle dam Sally Hart.
H. I. Thornton's br m Abi, 5, by Red Boy, dam Abi.
H. I. Thornton's ch h Apache, 4, by Mortimer, dam The Banshee.
W. L. Whitmore's ch h Coloma, 4, by Joe Hooker, dam Callie Smart.

No. 14—Purse $350, $50 to the second; for two-year-olds that have started and not won at this meeting. Horses beaten once allowed five pounds; twice, eight pounds; three times, fifteen pounds. Winner of No. 8, if carrying in that race rule weights or more, not barred. Three-quarters of a mile.

J. B. Chase's ch f Marigold, by Milner, dam Katie Pease.
Dennison Bros.' br f Eue, by Powhattan, dam Haidee.
P. Herzog's b c Mohawk, by Norfolk, dam Irene Harding.
John Leach's br c Captain Al, by Kingston, dam Black Maria.
Palo Alto's b g Rico, by Shannon, dam Fanny Lewis.
Palo Alto's ch f Muta, by Wild Idle, dam Mutiny.
L. U. Shippee's ch f Whisban, by King Ban, dam Whisperine.
A. G. Todd's b f Jessie C, by Bishop, dam Jennie C.
W. L. Whitmore's ch c Guido, by Double Cross, dam Aurora.

No. 15—The Holiday handicap, for all ages; $25 entrance, $10 declaration; $500 added, of which $100 to second and $80 no the third. Weights announced on the third day of the meeting at 10 o'clock, A. M.; declarations due at 5 P. M. the day before the race. One and three-eighths miles.

W. L. Davies' b h Jack Brady, 5, by Wild Idle, dam Sour Grapes.
Elmwood Stable's ch m Nabeau, a, by Bob Wooding, dam Laura Marshal.
Golden Gate Stable's blk g Black Pilot, a, by Echo, dam Madge Duke.
Golden Gate Stable's ch m Laura Gardner, 5, by Jim Brown, dam Avail.
B. P. Hill's ch g Mikado, 5, by Shiloh, dam Margery.
B. P. Hill's b c Wild Oats, 3, by Wildidle, dam Mary Givens.
Kelly & Samuels' b h Ed McGinnis, 4, by Grinstead, dam Jennie G.
J. P. Kerr's ch g Forester, 4, by Joe Hooker, dam Mattie C.
Cy Mulkey's ch g Moses B., 4, by Leinster, dam Aunt Jane.
Palo Alto's b c Peel, 4, by Monday, dam Precious.
C. Peterson's b g Jubilee, 3, by Kyrle Daly, dam Joy.
W. L. Pritchard's ch c Louis P., 3, by Joe Hooker, dam Lizzie P.
H. E. Rose's b c Dan M. Murphy, 3, by Speculator, dam Leona.
L. U. Shippee's b f Songstress, 3, by Luke Blackburn, dam Malibran.
L. U. Shippee's b f Picnic, 3, by Mr. Pickwick, dam Countess.
H. I. Thornton's b m Narcola, 5, by Norfolk, dam Ada C.
H. I. Thornton's ch h Apache, 4, by Mortemer, dam The Banshee.
W. L. Whitmore's ch h Coloma, 4, by Joe Hooker, dam Callie Smart.

No. 16—Purse $350; $50 to second. Owners' handicap; for all ages. Weights to be named through the entry box at 5 o'clock in the afternoon on the day before the race. One mile.

R. B. Cockrill's b m Daisy D., a, by Wheatley, dam Black Maria.
W. George's b g, 5, Applause by Three Cheers, dam Alice N.
B. P. Hill's ch g 5, Mikado by Shiloh, dam Margery.
B. P. Hill's ch g, 4, Tycoon by Reveille, dam Margery.
H. D. Miller's ch m, 2, Ida Glenn by Glen Elm, dam unknown.
W. M. Murry's ch h, 4, Peregrine by Joe Hooker or Jumbo, dam Irene Harding.
C. Peterson's b g, 3, Jubilee by Kyrle Daly, dam Joy.
J. P. Ross' b m, 3, Kittie Van by Vanderbilt, dam April Fool.
P. Siebenthaler's ch c, 2, Sheridan by Young Bazar, dam Lost Girl.
M. Storn's ch g, 4, Kildare by Kyrle Daly, dam Mistake.
M. Storn's b m, 4, Fannie F by Wildidle, dam Sallie Hart.
H. I. Thornton's br m, 5, Abi by Red Boy, dam Abi.
W. L. Whitmore's ch h, 4, Coloma by Joe Hooker, dam Callie Smart.

The Standard.

[AS REVISED AND ADOPTED BY THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF TROTTING-HORSE BREEDERS, DECEMBER 14, 1887.]

IN order to define what constitutes a trotting-bred horseand to establish a BREED of trotters on a more intelligent basis, the following rules are adopted to control admission to the records of pedigrees. When an animal meets the requirements of admission and is duly registered, it shall be accepted as a standard trotting-bred animal:—

FIRST.—Any stallion that has himself a record of two minutes and thirty seconds (2:30) or better, provided any of his get has a record of 2:35 or better, or provided his sire or his dam is already a standard animal.

SECOND.—Any mare or gelding that has a record of 2:30 or better.

THIRD.—Any horse that is the sire of two animals with a record of 2:30 or better.

FOURTH.—Any horse that is the sire of one animal with a record of 2:30 or better, provided he has either of the additional qualifications: (1) A record himself of 2:35 or better. (2) Is the sire of two other animals with a record of 2:35 or better. (2) Has a sire or dam that is already a standard animal.

FIFTH.—Any mare that has produced an animal with a record of 2:30 or better.

SIXTH.—The progeny of a standard horse when out of a standard mare.

SEVENTH.—The female progeny of a standard horse when out of a mare by a standard horse.

EIGHTH.—The female progeny of a standard horse when out of a mare whose dam is a standard mare.

NINTH.—Any mare that has a record of 2:35 or better, and whose sire or dam is a standard animal.

Best Trotting Records.

1 mile—2:08¾, Maud S., against time, in harness, accompanied the distance by a running horse, Glenville, O., July 30, 1885.....2:13½, best time in a race between horses, Maud S., Chicago, Ills., July 24, 1880.....2:12, Axtell, against time, accompanied by running horse—fastest stallion time, Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 11, 1889.....2:13¾, Phallas, fastest heat by a stallion against other horses, Chicago, July 14, 1884.....2:12¾, Palo Alto, third heat in race at Stockton, Cal., Sept. 26, 1889.....2:15½, Jay-Eye-See, half-mile track, Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 14, 1887.....2:15¼, Great Eastern, under saddle, third heat, Morrisania, N. Y., Sept. 22, 1877.....2:10¾, Jay-Eye-See, against time, best five-year-old record, Providence, R. I., Sept. 15, 1883.....2:16. Manzanita, third heat, best four-year-old record, Lexington, Ky., Sept. 3, 1876 .... 2:16, Edgemark, four-year old stallion record, Lexington, Ky., Oct. 18, 1889.....2:12, Axtell, against time, accompanied by a runner, best three-year-old record, Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 11, 1889.....2:18 Sunol, 2 years, against time, San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 27, 1888.....2:31½, Noraine, yearling, against time, San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 12, 1887.

2 miles—4:43 against time, Fanny Witherspoon, Chicago, Ill., Sept. 25, 1885.

3 miles—7:21½, Huntress, harness, Brooklyn, L. I., Sept. 21, 1872.

4 miles—10 34½, Longfellow, wagon, California, Dec 31, 1869.

5 miles—13:00, Lady Mac, harness, San Francisco, Cal., April 2, 1874.

10 miles—27:23½, Controller, harness, San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 23, 1878.

20 miles—58:25, Captain McGowan, harness, half-mile track, Boston, Oct. 31, 1865.

Pacing Records at One Mile.

Johnston, harness, against time, Chicago, Ills., Oct 8, 1884, 2:06½.

Brown Hal, best stallion record, Cleveland, Ohio, July 31, 1889, 2.12¾.

Westmont, July 10, 1884, Chicago, Ills., with running mate, 2:01¾.

Ed Rosewater, two years old, Council Bluffs, Iowa, Nov. 3, 1888, 2:20½.

Yolo Maid, 3 years old, San Francisco, Oct. 13, 1888, 2:14.

Gold Leaf, four years old, 2:11¼ on August 17, 1889, at Napa.

Arrow, five years old, 2:13¾, made at Cleveland, Ohio, August 1, 1888.

Fastest Time on Record.

RUNNING.

MILES.
¼	Jim Miller, 2, Deer Lodge (Mont.), Aug. 16, 1888	0:21½
¼	Sleepy Dick, a, Kiowa (Kan.), Nov. 24, 1888
⅜	Cyclone, a, 120 lbs., Helena (Mont.), Aug. 28, 1889	0:34½
½	Geraldine, 4, 122 lbs., Westchester Course, Aug. 30, 1889	0:46
⅝	Britannie, 5, 122 lbs., Westchester Course, Aug. 31, 1889	0:59
¾	Fordham, a, 115 lbs., Westchester Course, Oct. 4, 1889	0:59
¾	El Rio Rey 2, 126 lbs. Westchester Course, Aug. 31, 1889	1:11
¾	Tipstaff, 3, 107, Westchester Course, Oct. 4, 1889	1:11
⅞	Britannic, 5, 110 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 5, 1889	1:26 2-5
	Ten Broeck, 5, 110 lbs., Louisville, May 24, 1877 (against time)	1:39¾
1	Maori 4, 105 lbs., Chicago, July 12, 1889, (in a race)	1:39 4-5
1 1-16	Wheeler T., 3, 98 lbs., St. Louis, June 1, 1888	1:47¼
1 1-16	Eylton 4, 106, Chicago, Ill., June 28, 1889	1:47¾
1¼	Terra Cotta, 4, 124 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, June 23, 1888	1:53
1 3-16	Joe Cotton, 5, 109½ lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 7, 1887	2:00¾
1¼	Kingston, 5, 122 lbs., Gravesend, Sept. 24, 1889	2:06¾
1 m	500 yds. Ben d'Or, 4, 115 lbs., Saratoga, July 25, 1882	2:10¾
1⅜	Triboulet, 4, 117 lbs, San Francisco, April 26, 1888.. / Richmond, 6, 122 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, June 27, 1888	2:21¾
1½	Firenzi, 4, 113 lbs., Monmouth Park, Aug. 2, 1888 / Luke Blackburn, 3, 102 lbs., Monmouth Park, Aug. 17, '80 / Jim Guest, 4, 98 lbs., Chicago, (Washington Park, July 24 '86	2:34
1⅝	Hindoocrait, 3, 75 lbs, Westchester, Aug. 27, 1889	2:48
1⅝	Glidelia, 5, 116 lbs, Saratoga, Aug. 5, 1882	3:01
1⅝	Enigma, 4, 90 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 15, 1885	3:20
2	Ten Broeck, 5, 110 lbs., Louisville, May 29, 1877	3:27½
2⅛	Monitor, 4, 110 lbs., Baltimore, Oct. 20, 1880	3:41½
2¼	Springbok, 5, 114 lbs., / Preakness, a, 114 lbs., Saratoga, July 29, 1875	3:56¾
2⅛	Aristides, 4, 104 lbs., Lexington, May 13, 1876	4:27½
2⅝	Ten Broeck, 4, 104 lbs., Lexington, Sept. 16, 1876	4:58½
2¾	Hubbard, 4, 107 lbs., Saratoga, Aug. 9, 1873	4: 8¾
3	Drake Carter 4 115 lbs, Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 6, 1884	5:24
4	Ten Broeck, 4, 104 lbs., Louisville, Sept. 27, 1876	7:16¾

HEAT RACES.

MILES.
¼	Sleepy Dick, a, Kiowa (Kan.), Nov. 24, 1888	0:21½—0:22¾
½	Bogus, a, 113 lbs., Helena (Mont.), Aug. 22, 1888	0:48 —0:48
⅝	Kittie Pease, 4, Dallas (Tex.), Nov. 2, 1887	1:00 —1:00
¾	Sudie McNairy, 3, 98 lbs., Chicago, July 2, 1883	1:02¾—1:03
¾	Lizzie S., 5 118 lbs, Louisville, Sept 28, 1883	1:13¼—1:13¾
1	Bounce, 4, 90 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 7, 1881	1:42 —1:41¾
1	3 in 5. L'Argentine, 6, 115 lbs., St. Louis, June 14, 1879	1:43—1:44 —1:47¾
1 1-16	Slipalong, 5, 115 lbs., Chicago (Wash. Park), Sept. 2, 1885	1:07½—1:48
1⅜	Gabriel, 4, 112 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 23, 1880	1:56 —1:56
1¼	Glenmore, 5, 114 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 25, 1880	2:10 —2:14
1½	Keno, 6, Toledo, Sept. 16, 1880 (1st and 3d heats)	2:43¼—2:45
2	Miss Woodford, 4, 107½ lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 20. 1884	3:33 —3:31¾
3	Norfolk, 4, 100 lbs., Sacramento, Sept. 23, 1865	5:27½—5:29¾
4	Ferida, 4, 105 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 19, 1880	7:23½—7:41

†Made in a heat race.
*Doubtful, and made in a heat race.

Charley Reed of the Gridley Herald, was given the medal a few days ago, commemorative of the fact that he had carried off the championship of the Butte County Prevaricating Club. The following is the story he told:

A singular sight was seen on our streets Tuesday, it being a horse that travels backward. The animal was hitched to a light spring wagon, with his head toward the seat, and was driven by a Chinese vegetable pedler who has a small garden on Feather River in the vicinity of Live Oak. By request of various parties the heathen made the horse trot, and it got over the ground at about a ten minute galt. Although the outfit looked somewhat ridiculous it answered the purpose, and the driver apparently had no more trouble managing the critter than do drivers of horses traveling in the usual manner.

Washington Park Entries.

The indefatigable Secretary of the Washington Park Club, Chicago, has forwarded the entry list of the stakes which closed on October 15th and it will be seen that California owners are largely represented.

1890 THE HYDE PARK STAKES.

A Sweepstakes for two-year-olds (foals of 1888); $150 each, $50 forfeit, or only $10 if declared out on or before February 1st, or $25 by April 1, 1890. All declarations void unless accompanied with the money, with $5,000 added, the second to receive $1, 00, and the third $500 out of the stakes. A winner of any stake race of the value of $1,500 to carry three pounds; of two or more stake races of any value, five pounds extra. Maidens allowed five pounds. 135 Nominations. Three-quarters of a mile.

E. Brown's b c King Edward, by King Alfonso, dam Ethel.
E. Brown's b c Ben's Pet, by Himyar, dam Themis
E. Brown's ch c Forerunner, by Fonso, dam Mary Lanphier.
E. Brown's b c King Solomon, by King Alfonso, dam Patty of Cork.
E. Brown's b c Oberlin, by Onondaga, dam Glenora.
S. Bryant's ch c John P. White, by Long Taw, dam Mollie Seabrook.
S. Bryant's b c Alfy Lakeland, by Pizarro, dam Vamoose.
Bashford Manor Farm's ch c Norodem, by Farandole, dam Lady Stockwell.
Bashford's Manor Farm's b c Gascon, by Falsetto, dam Mollie Wood.
Bashford Manor Farm's b f Cantatrice, by Falsetto, dam Sungleam.
Bedford & Steele's blk f Mignon C., by Billet, dam Vienna.
Blue Valley Stable's b c Senator Morrill, by Gen. Harding, dam Susie Linwood,
Clay & Woodford's b c Allan-Bane, by Billet, dam Lady of the Lake.
T. D. Carter's b c Glen Rush, by Glengarry, dam Pearlash.
T. D. Carter's b c Altair, by Blazes, dam Lizzie B.
W, L. Cassidy & Co.'s br c Sir Abner, by Uhlan, dam Barbary.
C. A. Croxton & Co.'s ch c Yale 91, by Onondaga, dam Zaidee.
T. J. Clay's b c Balgowan, by Strathmore, dam Trinkitat.
H. B Durham's b c Long Fortune, by Longfellow, dam Misfortune.
Eastin & Larabie's b c High Tariff, by Longfellow, dam Christine.
Eastin & Larabie's b c Poet Scout, by Longfellow, dam Gipsey.
Eastin & Larabie's b f Shipmate, by Spendthrift, dam Messmate.
N. Finzer's b c Jolly Tar, by George Kinney, dam Sierra Nevada.
N. Finzer's ch f Mrs. Gen. Gilflora, by George Kinney, dam Maggie M.
N. Finzer's blk f Goreflew, by Jim Gore, dam Fleurilla.
N. Finzer's b f ———, by Sensation, dam Heather.
N. Finzer's b f La Ruffinanna, by Little Ruffin, dam Magpie
J. E. Gibbon's b c Ammunition, by Farandole, dam Bird Shot
J. G. Greener's b c The Wandering, by Kosciusko, dam by Great Tom.
J. G. Greener's ch f Eugenie, by Enquirer, dam Miss Harding.
F. B. Harper's ch c St. August, by St. Blaise, dam Secret.
Geo. Hearst's ch c Primero, by Powhattan, dam Speed.
Geo. Hearst's ch c Snow Ball, by Joe Hooker, dam Laura Winston.
Geo. Hearst's ch c Anarchist, by Joe Hooker, dam Chestnut Belle.
Geo. Hearst's b c Yo Semite, by Hyder Ali, dam Nellie Collier.
Geo. Hearst's b c J. B., by Warwick, dam Maria F.
H. P. Headley's ch c Lamar, by Onondaga, dam Lizzie Flynn.
Hodges & Austin's b f Maid of the Mist, by Ten Broeck, dam Zuletta.
D. R. Harness's b g Equinox, by Grenada, dam Sunshine.
W. A. Hopkins & Co.'s ch c Sank Moody, by King Alfonso, dam Pearl Thorne,
Ireland Bros.' b c Woodvale, by Deceiver, dam Lady Crafton.
Ireland Bros.' ch f Marietta, by Deceiver, dam Silver Bell.
E. L. Israel's ch f Harpy, by Onondaga, dam Flora.
Jacobin Stable's b c Kingman, by Glengarry, dam Patricia.
W. P. Keegan's b c Jack Shelly, by Aristides, dam Odessa.
W. P. Keegan's b c Grand Duke Michael, by Uhlan, dam Rebecca.
Kentucky Stabl 's b c Ganges, by Hindoo, dam Emily Fuller.
Kentucky Stable's b c Oklahoma, by Leonatus, dam Martina.
Kentucky Stable's b f Mary McGowan, by Longfellow, dam Encore.
Kentucky Stable's b f St. Bridget, by Leonatus, dam Bettie Magruder.
W. H. Laudeman's ch c Palestine, by Powhattan, dam Cachuca.
W. R. Letcher's br c Harry Ray, by Longfellow, dam Indemnity.
W. R. Letcher's b c Caperton, by Longfellow, dam Rosemary.
W. R. Letcher's ch c Greenleaf, by Forester, dam Pixy.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Eldora, by Springbok, dam Astora.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Vallera, by Springbok, dam Valasco,
T. J. Megibben's ch c McKinley, by Springbok, dam Zulite.
T. J. Megibben's blk or gr c Hyppolite, by Springbok, dam Jennie V.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Glendale, by Audrain, dam Zephyrus.
T. J. Megibben's b c Claude Melnotte, by Audrain, dam Mademoiselle.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Tom Reed, by Audrain, dam War Lass.
T. J. Megibben's b c Pesarra, by Pizarro, dam Sister Monica.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Onondagas, by Onondaga, dam Minnock,
T. J. Megibben's ch c Palmer, by Pizarro, dam Electrical.
T. J. Megibben's b c Arallon, by Audrain, dam Venita.
T. J. Megibben's b or br c Silver Lake, by Silver Mine, dam Æolia
J. Murphy's br c Tarquin, by Duke of Montrose, dam Minnie Williams.
J. E. Madden's ch f Annie Megrue, by Onondaga, dam Skylight.
G. B. Morris' b g Strathmeath, by Strathmore, dam Flower of Meath.
G. B. Morris' b g Cerebus, by Luke Blackburn, dam Glen Hope,
W. Mulkey's b c Royal Flush, by Lucifer, dam Niobe.
J. J. McCafferty's b f Genesee, by Glenelg, dam Laxity.
J. J. McCafferty's b f Ithica, by Saxon, dam Wildfire.
A. McGuigan's ch c Chimes, by Onondaga, dam Fonwith.
A. McGuigan's b c Linlithgow, by Duke of Montrose, dam Trinket.
A. G. Newsum & Co's b g Bowen, by Hindoo, dam Solferino.
A. G. Newsum & Co's ch g Woodford, by Hindoo, dam Theckla.
A. G. Newsum & Co's b f Edith L., by George Kinney, dam Midsummer.
John Neil's ch c Toronto, by Fonso, dam Ætna.
George E. Perrin's br c Van Dorn, by Vanguard, dam Falie.
George E. Perrin's ch c Remedy, by Storey, dam Colusa.
George E. Perrin's gr f Delfin, by Storey, dam Calamity.
John T. Prewitt's b f Katie C., by Pizarro, dam Maud L.
R. S. Payne's ch f Apex, by Buchanan, dam Ascension.
Ruddy Bros.' ch c Thos. Mackin, by Blazes, dam Eliza Carr.
Ruddy Bros.' b c Ajax, by Aretino, dam Kennebeck.
Ruddy Bros.' b c Wells Sreet, by Voltigeur, dam Jennie Ten Broeck.
M. D. Richardson's b f Lancet, by Longfellow, dam Wigwam.
J. R Ross' b f Hazel Hurst, by Billet, dam Juanita.
Santa Anita Stable's ch c San Rafael, by Gano, dam Glenita
Santa Anita Stable's b c San Joaquin, by Longfellow, dam Santa Anita Belle.
Santa Anita Stable's b f Cleopatra, by Grinstead, dam Maggie Emerson.
Santa Anita Stable's b f Esparanza, by Grinstead, dam Hermosa.
Santa Anita Stable's b c San Gabriel, by Rutherford, dam Santa Anita.
Santa Anita Stable's ch c El Carmen, by Gano, dam Grey Annie.
Santa Anita Stable's b c Encinado, by Gano or Rutherford; dam Aritta.
Scoggan Bros.'s b c National, by Leonatus, dam Brandoline.
Scoggan Bros 's b c Eli Kindig, by George Kinney, dam Leona, by Prolific.
Scoggin Bro's b f Lady Washington, by Miser, dam Minnarette.
L. U. Shippees's b f False Queen, by Falsetto, dam Queen Victoria.
L. U. Shippee's b c Lodowic, by Longfellow, dam Carrie Philips.
L. U Snippee's b f H , by Falsetto, dam Glenluine.
J. S. Stoll's ch f Lady Invercauld, by Powhattan, dam Invercauld.
Smith & Co's ch c Georgetown, by Outcast, dam Leona by War Dance.
R. A. Swigert's b f Marmose, by Glenelg, dam Marmot.
R. A. Swigert's ch c Michael, by Glen Athol, dam Verbena.
W. L. Saunder's b c Ossa: by Powhattan, dam Call Duck,
W. L. Saunder's b c Pelion, by Bramble, dam Leah Z.
S. Smith & Co 's b c Dickerson, by Duke of Montrose, dam Billetta.
S. Smith & Co's b c Sanford, by Falsetto, dam Kitty.
S. Smith & Co.'s br c Tom Rogers, by Falsetto, dam Ems.
H. I. Thornton's br f Bessie Barnes by Darebin, dam Carrie C.
H I. Thornton's br c Austrian, by Darebin, dam Bavaria.
H I. Thornton's br c Peralto, by John Happy, dam Bertha W.
H. I. Thornton's ch c Arcade, by Milner, dam Nannie Hubbard.
Talbot Bros.' b c Brutus, by Billet, dam Hi.
Talbot Bros.' ch c Mountjoy, by Pontiac, dam Accidenta.
Talbot Bros.' b c Villain, by Barnes, dam Villa
Talbot Bros.' b f Mary C, by Billet, dam Vega.
Talbot Bros.' b f Miss Hawkins, by Billet, dam Lady Motley.
J. W. Turner's b c Gay Deceiver, by Deceiver, dam Waifer.
J. W. Turner's ch c London Smoke, by London, dam Etha.
Theo. Winter's b c Rey del Rey, by Norfolk, dam Marion.
Theo. Winter's ch c Judge Post, by Joe Hooker, dam Countess Zeicka.
Theo. Winter's blk c Black Bart, by Three Cheers, dam Bonita.
Theo. Winter's ch c Uno Grande, by Joe Hooker, dam Jessie R.
Theo. Winter's ch c San Juan, by Norfolk, dam Ballinette.
W. J. Widener's ch c Tug of War, by Wawekus, dam Menetta.
W. J. Widener's b c Jo Carter, by Voltigeur, dam Josie Carter.
W. J. Widener's br c Dustin, by Voltigeur, dam Zorneetza.
Woodford & Buckner's b c Brambleb sh, by Greenbush, dam Brambaletta.
C. E. Winchel's b c Senor, by Bersan, dam Sister to Joe Daniels.
W. G. Wood's b c King Silver, by Silver Mine, dam Miss Mickey.
C. Weathford's ch f Miss Courtney, by Blarney, dam Comet.
P. M. West's ch c Laughter, by Lisbon, dam Cheerful.

1890. THE KENWOOD STAKES.

A Sweepstakes for colts two years old (foals of 1888) $50 each, h f, or only $10 if declared out on or before February 1st, or $15 by April 1, 1890. All declarations void unless accompanied with the money; with $1,000 added, the second to receive $200, and the third $100 out of the stakes. A winner of any stake race of the value of $1,000 to carry 3 lbs; of $2,000 5 lbs; of three or more stake races of any value, 7 lbs extra. Maidens allowed 5 lbs. 80 Nominations. Five furlongs.

E. Brown's b c King Edward, by King Alfonso, dam Ethel.
E. Brown's b c Ben's Pet, by Himyar, dam Themis.
E. Brown's ch c Forerunner, by Fonso, dam Mary Lanphier.
E. Brown's b c King Solomon, by King Alfonso, dam Patty of Cork.
E. Brown's b c Oberlin, by Onondaga, dam Glenora.
Blue Valley Stable's b c Senator Morrill, by Gen. Harding, dam Susie Linwood.
Clay & Woodford's b c Allan Bane, by Billet, dam Lady of the Lake.
T. D. Carter's b c Altair, by Blazes, dam Lizzie B.
T & C.'s b c Glen Rush, by Glengarry, dam Pearlash.
W. L. Cassidy & Co.'s br c Sir Abner, by Uhlan, dam Barbary.
W. L. Cassidy & Co 's br c Liberty Bell, by Blazes, dam Belle.
C A. Croxton & Co.'s ch c Yale 91, by Onondaga, dam Zaidee.
Eastin & Larabie's b c High Tariff, by Longfellow, dam Christine.
Eastin & Larabie's b c Poet Scout, by Longfellow, dam Gipsey.
N. Finzer's b c Jolly Tar, by George Kinney, dam Sierra Nevada.
J. E. Gibbon's b c Ammunition, by Farandole, dam Bird Shot.
F. B. Harper's ch c St. August, by St. Blaise, dam Secret.
Geo. Hearst's ch c Primero, by Powhattan, dam Speed.
Geo. Hearst's ch c Snow Ball, by Joe Hooker, dam Laura Winston.
Geo. Hearst's ch c Anarchist, by Joe Hooker, dam Chestnut Belle.
Geo. Hearst's b c El Verano, by Hock Hocking, dam Vixen.
H. P. Headley, s ch c Lamar, by Onondaga, dam Lizzie Flynn.
Ireland Bros.' b c Woodvale, by Deceiver, dam Lady Crafton.
W. P. Keegan's b c Jack Shelly, by Aristides, dam Odessa.
W. P Keegan's b c Grand Duke Michael, by Uhlan, dam Rebecca.
Kentucky Stable's b c Ganges, by Hindoo, dam Emily Fuller.
Kentucky Stable's b c Oklahoma, by Leonatus, dam Martina.
Kentucky Stable's b f Mary McGowan, by Longfellow, dam Encore.
Kentucky Stable's b f St. Bridget, by Leonatus, dam Bettie Magruder.
W. H. Laudeman's ch c Palestine, by Powhattan, dam Cachuca.
W. R. Letcher's br c Harry Ray, by Longfellow, dam Indemnity.
W. R. Letcher's b c Caperton, by Longfellow, dam Rosemary.
W. R. Letcher's ch c Greenleaf, by Forester, dam Pixy.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Eldora, by Springbok, dam Astora.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Vallera, by Springbok, dam Valasco,
T. J. Megibben's ch c McKinley, by Springbok, dam Zulite.
T. J. Megibben's blk or gr c Hyppolite, by Springbok, dam Jennie V.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Glendale, by Audrain, dam Zephyrus.
T. J. Megibben's b c Claude Melnotte, by Audrain, dam Mademoiselle.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Tom Reed, by Audrain, dam War Lass.
T. J. Megibben's b c Pesarra, by Pizarro, dam Sister Monica.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Onondagas, by Onondaga, dam Minnock,
T. J. Megibben's ch c Palmer, by Pizarro, dam Electrical.
T. J. Megibben's b c Arallon, by Audrain, dam Venita.
Megibben & Ward's b c Consternation, by Springbok, dam Annie Love.
W. Mulkey's br c Okeeta, by Joquita, dam Lady Veto.
A. G. Newsum & Co.'s b g Bowen, by Hindoo, dam Solferino.
A G Newsum & Co.'s ch g Woodford, by Hindoo, dam Theckla.
Ruddy Bros.' ch c Thos Mackin, by Blazes, dam Eliza Carr.
Ruddy Bros.' b c Ajax, by Aretino, dam Kennebeck
Ruddy Bros.' b c Wells Sreet, by Voltigeur, dam Jennie Ten Broeck.
Santa Anita Stable's ch c San Rafael, by Gano, dam Glenita.
Santa Anita Stable's b c San Gabriel, by Rutherford, dam Santa Anita.
Santa Anita Stable's ch c Silverado, by Rutherford, dam Josie C.
Santa Anita Stable's ch c El Carmen, by Gano, dam Grey Annie.
Santa Anita Stable's b c Encinado, by Gano or Rutherford, dam Aritta
Scoggan Bros.' b c National, by Leonatus, dam Brandoline.
Scoggan Bros.' b c Eli Kindig, by George Kinney, dam Leona by Prolific.
Scoggan Bros ' b g R. F. D., by Little Ruffin, dam Florence D.
L. U. Shippee's b c Lodowic, by Longfellow, dam Carrie Phillips.
Smith & Co.'s ch c Georgetown, by Outcast. Jam Leona, by War Dance.
S. Smith & Co.'s b c Dickerson, by Duke of Montrose, dam Billetta.
S. Smith & Co.'s b c Sanford, by Falsetto, dam Kitty.
S. Smith & Co 's br c Tom Rogers, by Falsetto, dam Ems.
Talbot Bros.' b c Brutus, by Billet, dam Hi.
Talbot Bros.' ch c Mountjoy, by Pontiac, dam Accidenta.
Talbot Bros.' b c Villain, by Barnes, dam Villa.
J. W. Turner's b c Gay Deceiver, by Deceiver, dam Waifer.
J. W. Turner's ch c London Smoke, by London, dam Etha.
Theo. Winter's b c Rey del Rey, by Norfolk, dam Marion.
Theo. Winter's ch c Judge Post, by Joe Hooker, dam Countess Zeicka.
Theo. Winter's blk c Black Bart, by Three Cheers, dam Bonita.
Theo. Winter's ch c Uno Grande, by Joe Hooker, dam Jessie R.
Theo. Winter's ch c San Juan, by Norfolk. dam Ballinette.
W. J. Widener's ch c Tug of War, by Wawekus, dam Menetta.
W. J. Widener's b c Later on, by Voltigeur, dam America.
W. J. Widener's b c Joe Carter, by Voltigeur, dam Josie Carter.
Woodford & Buckner's b c Brambleb sh, by Greenbush, dam Brambaletta.
C E. Winchel's b c Senor, by Bersan, dam Sister to Joe Daniels.
W. G. Wood's b c King Silver, by Silver Mine, dam Miss Mickey.
P. M. West's ch c Laughter, by Lisbon, dam Cheerful.
E. J. Wand's b c Underwater, by Utica, dam Watercress.

1890. THE LAKESIDE STAKES.

A sweepstakes for fillies two years old (foals of 1888); $50 each, h f, or only $10 if declared out on or before February 1st, or $15 by April 1st, 1890. All declarations void unless accompanied with the money; with $1,000 added, the second to receive $200, and the third $100 out of the stakes. A winner of any stake race of the value of $1,000 to carry 3 lbs.; of $2,000, 5 lbs.; of three or more such races of any value, 7 lbs. extra. Maidens allowed 5 lbs. 83 nominations. Five furlongs.

Avondale Stable's b [f Monte Rosa, by Mr. Pickwick, dam Mountain Range.
Avondale Stable's b f Katuna, by Bramble, dam Kathleen.
Avondale Stable's b f Ida Pickwick, by Mr. Pickwick, dam Ida E.
Avondale's Stable's b f Drift, by Enquirer, dam Dora.
Avondole Stable's b f Willow, by Enquirer, dam Wampee.
E. Brown's ch f Falerna, by Falsetto, dam Lerna.
Bashford Manor Farm's b f Cantatrice, by Falsetto, dam Sungleam.
Bashford Manor Farm's b f Jeaneretta, by Leonatus, dam Jennie Rowett
Bedford & Steele's blk f Mignon C., by Billet, dam Vienna.
T D. Carter's ch f Annie Clark, by Bocaccio, dam Messalina.
W L. Cassidy & Co.'s b f Queen C., by Uhlan, dam Queen T.
J. B. Clay's br f Mon Droit, by Falsetto, dam Playinghelds.
G. H. Clay's b f Ace of Hearts, by Zorilla, dam Gardenia.
F. M. Dailey's b f Lizzie Mack, by Blue Eyes. dam Dilemma.
C. W. Doherty's ch f Sweet Alice H., by Ten Broeck, dam St. Mary.
Eastin & Larabie's b f Shipmate, by Spendthrift, dam Messmate.
Frazer & Broadwell's ch f Planchette, by Fonso, dam Planetarium.
Frazer & Jameson's ch f Mattie Parks, by Wanderer, dam Gray Gown.
N. Finzer's blk f Goreflew, by Jim Gore, dam Fleurilla.
N. Finzer's ch f Mrs. Gen Gilflora, by George Kinney, dam Maggie M.
N. Finzer's b f ———, by Sensation, dam Heather.
N. Finzer's b f La Ruffinanna, by Little Ruffin. dam Magpie.
George Hearst's b f El Vera, by Jim Brown, dam Carrie C.
H. P. Headley's ch f Fonsetta, by Fonso. dam Aileen.
H. P. Headley's br f Longalette, by Longfellow, dam Miss Saxon.
H. P. Headley's b f Longleaf, by Longfellow, dam Lalla Rookh.
Highland Park Stable's b f Ella Blackburn, by Luke Blackburn, dam Amerique.
Hodges & Austin's b f Maid of the Mist, by Ten Broeck, dam Zuleita.
Hurstbourne Farm's br f Louisiana, by Longfellow, dam Augusta.
Hurstbourne Farm's ch f Gretchen, by Sensation. dam Stiletto.
Ireland Bros.' ch f Marietta, by Deceiver, dam Silver Bell.
E. L. Israel's ch f Harpy, by Onondaga, dam Flora.
Kentucky Stable's b f Mary McGowan, by Longfellow, dam Encore.
Kentucky Stable's b f St. Bridget, by Leonatus, dam Bettie Magruder.
W. H. Laudeman's ch f Prettiwit, by Spendthrift, dam Attractive.
M. J. Leonard & Co.'s Laura E , by Grenada, dam Alert.
W. R. Letcher's b f Mattie Mc , by Jim Johnson, dam Lizzie Stone.
J. E. Madden s ch f Anna Megrue, by Onondaga, dam Skylight.
George Muldro & Co.'s b f Antonette, by Blazes, dam Kate Fisher.
T. J. Megibben's ch f Actress, by Springbok, dam Edith.
T. J. Megibben's ch f Birdella M., by Springbok, dam Easter Planet.
T. J. Megibben's blk f Ina B., by Pizarro, dam Zingarella.
T. J. Megibben's b f Tuberose, by Springbok, dam Fanny Hall.
T. J. Megibben s b f Palianthus, by Springbok, dam Fright.
T. J. Megibben's b f Exelea by Barnes, dam Olipsa.
T. J Megibben's ch f Marinett. by Audrain, dam Mollie Cad.
T. J. Megibben's ch f Flower de Lis, by Springbok, dam Mayflower.
T. J. Megibben's ch f Cassila, by Audrain, dam Pussy.
T. J. Megibben's ch f Vesta, by Audrain, dam Venora.
T. J. Megibben's b or br f Silver Bell, by Silver Mine, dam Manilla.
T. J. Megibben's ch f Ethel, by Springbok, dam Lavena.
J. J. McCafferty's b f Genesee, by Glenelg, dam Laxity.
J. J. McCafferty's b f Ithica, by Saxon, dam Wildfire.
J. J. McCafferty's b f Ribbon, by Rossifer, dam Longcloth.
A. G. Newsum & Co.'s b f Edith L., by George Kinney, dam Midsummer.
B. F. Pettit's b f Miss Bowling, by Glenelg, dam Katie Bowling.
B. F. Pettit's gr f Kitty H , by Deceiver, dam Gravnell.
J. T. Prewitt's b f Katie C., by Pizarro, dam Maud L.
R. S. Payne's ch f Apex. by Buchanan, dam Ascension.
M. D. Richardson's b f Lance , by Longfellow, dam Wigwam.
Santa Anita's stable's b f Cleopatra, by Grinstead, dam Maggie Emerson.
Santa Anita Stable's b f Ogarita, by Longfellow, dam Mission Belle.
Santa Anita Stable's b f Esperanza, by Grinstead, dam Hermosa.
Scoggan Bros.' b f Lady Washington, by Miser, dam Minarette.
L. U. Shippee's b f May H., by Falsetto, dam Glenluine.
L. U. Shippee's b f False Queen, by Falsetto, dam Queen Victoria.
J. S. Stoll's ch f Lady Invercauld, by Powhattan, dam Invercauld.
Kinzea Stone's b f Sister Linda, by Zorilla, dam Celinda.
R. A. Swigert's b f Marmose, by Glenelg, dam Marmot.
S. Smith & Co.'s b f Floret, by Lisbon. dam Miss Able.
S. Smith & Co.'s ch f Lida H, by Lisbon, dam Luella.
S. Smith & Co.'s ch f Ina D, by King Alfonso, dam Waiting.
Talbot Bros.' b f Mary C, by Billet, dam Vega.
Talbot Bros.' b f Miss Hawkins, by Billet, dam Lady Motley.
Theo. Winter's ch f Blizzard, by Blazes, dam Trade Wind.
Theo. Winter's ch f Belle Songer, by Joe Hooker. dam Lou Spencer.
Theo. Winter's ch f Hettie Humphreys, by Joe Hooker, dam Mattie Glenn.
Theo. Winter's ch f Otilla, by Joe Hooker, dam Alice N.
Theo. Winter's ch f Joanna, by Joe Hooker, dam Addie O'Neil.
W. J. Widener's b f Nellie Wolf, by Voltiguer, dam Albretta.
W. J. Widener's ch f Lizzie Gwynne, by Kantaka, dam Nellie Gwynne.
C. Weatherford's ch f Miss Courtney, by Blarney, dam Comet.
R. N Watt's b f ———, by Wawekus, dam Red Bonnet.

1890. THE DREXEL STAKES.

A sweepstakes for three-year-olds (foals of 1887); $100 each, h f, or only $10 if declared out on or before February 1st, or $20 April 1st, 1890. All declarations void unless accompanied with the money; with $1,000 added, the second to receive $200, and the third $100 out of the stakes A winner of any three-year-old stake race of the value of $1,0 0 to carry 3lbs; of $1,500, 5 lbs; of three or more three-year-old stake races of any value, 7 lbs extra. Maidens allowed 7 lbs. 43 nominations. One mile.

Bedford & Steele's b f Mary Malloy, by Pat Malloy, dam Favorite.
Bedford & Steele's b f Cameo, by Billet, dam Cammie F.
Burns & Power's ch g Barthol, by Faustus, dam Bothnia.
Blue Valley Stable's f East Love, by Hyder Ali, dam Doe.
Otis Bower's ch c Bobby Beach, by Faustus, dam Bonnie Bruce.
R. E. Campbell's br c Protection, by Prince Charlie, dam Manola.
W. L. Cassidy & Co's br c Sir Bevys, by Blazes. dam Henrietta I.
W. L. Cassidy & Co.'s gr c Blue Blazes, by Blazes, dam Emma H.
W. L. Cassidy & Co.'s b f Kitty Cheatham, by Blazes, dam Kate Fisher.
C. A. Croxton & Co.'s br f Maduma, by Hindoo, dam Countess Gisela.
F. M. Dailey's ch g Romeo, by Powhattan, dam Ultima.
Darley & Hurn's b c Frank Shaw, by Astral, dam Rudy
J. W. Guest's ch c Bob Jacobs, by George Kinney, dam Sallie Jennings.
George Hearst's ch c Baggage, by Warwick, dam Maria F
George Hearst's b c Sacramento, by Joe Hooker, dam Ada C.
Highland Park Stable's b g Pinto, by Faustus, dam Romping Nelly.
W. P. Keegan's ch f Queen Ban, by King Ban, dam Expectation.
M. J. Leonard & Co.'s ch g J. B. Freed, by Grenada, dam Mary Mack.
J. K. Megibben & Co 's br c Eberlee, by Springbok, dam Edith
J. K. Megibben & Co.'s br c W. G. Morris, by Springbok, dam Valasco.
J. K. Megibben & Co.'s ch g Avondale, by Audrain, dam Venita.
W. P. Maxwell's b c Pilgrim, by Powhattan, dam Emu.
Santa Anita Stable's ch c Honduras, by Grinstead, dam Jennie B.
Santa Anita Stable's b c Clio, by Grinstead, dam Glenita.
Santa Anita Stable's b c Santiago, by Grinstead, dam Clara D.
Santa Anita Stable's ch c Amigo, by Prince Charlie. dam Mission Belle.
Scoggan Bro.'s ch c Good Bye, by Hyder Ali. dam Jennie Rowett.
Scoggan Bros.'s ch c Ban Chief, by King Ban, dam Wigwam.
Scoggan Bro.'s ch f English Lady by Miser. dam Bonnie Lass
Scoggan Bro.'s b g G. W., by Little Ruffin, dam Florence D.
Scoggan Bro.'s b c Ja Ja, by Leonatus, dam Apple Blossom.
L. U. Shippee's ch c Major Ban, by King Ban, dam Hearsay.
L. U. Shippee's b c Fellowcharm, by Longfellow, dam Trinket.
L. U. Shippee's b c Take Notice, by Prince Charlie, dam Nota Bene.
Andrew G Tod's c Floren, by Wildidle, dam Frolic.
Andrew G. Tod's b f Jessie C, by Bishop, dam Jennie C.
J. W. Turner's ch f Alarm Bell, by Spendthrift, dam The Niece.
Theo. Winter's ch c El Rio Rey. by Norfolk, dam Marion.
Theo. Winter's b c Chan Haskell. by Norfolk, dam Addie O'Neil.
Theo. Winter's b f Noretto, by Norfolk, dam Ballinette.
Theo Winter's ch f Florence A., by Joe Hooker, dam Atalanta.
C. Weatherford's ch c Blarney Stone, Jr., by Blarney, dam Comet.
J. P Woolman's b f Emma Nevada, by John A., dam May D.

1891. THE AMERICAN DERBY.

A Sweepstakes for three-year-olds (foals of 1888); at $250 each; $100 f.; or $20 if declared out on or before February 1st, or $40 April 1, 1891. All declarations void unless accompanied with the money; with $10,000 added, the second to receive $2,000, and the third $1,000 out of the stakes. A winner of any three-year-old stake race of the value of $2,000 to carry 3 lbs.; of $3,000 5 lbs.; of three or more three-year-old stake races of any value, 7 lbs extra. To be run on the first day of the meeting. 149 Nominations. One mile and a half.

C. W. Aby's ch c Rodman, by Rutherford, dam Leveret.
J. Q Adams' b c Jack Star, by Day Star, dam Laraminta.
August Belmont's b c Fritz, by St. Blaise, dam Juliet.
August Belmont's ch c Potomac, by St. Blaise, dam Susquehanna.
E. Brown's b c King Edward, by King Alfonso, dam Ethel.
E. Brown's b c Ben's Pet, by Himyar, dam Themis.
E. Brown's b c King Solomon, by King Alfonso, dam Patty of Cork.
E. Brown's ch c Forerunner, by Fonso, dam Mary Lanphier.
E. Brown's b c Oberlin, by Onondaga, dam Glenora.
E. Brown's ch f Falerna, by Falsetto, dam Lerna.
E. A Buck's b c Porthos, by Darebin, dam Flora.
Bashford Manor Farm's ch c Norodem, by Falsetto, dam Imp. Lady Stockwell.
Bashford's Manor Farm's b c Gascon, by Falsetto, dam Mollie Wood.
Bashford Manor Farm's b f Cantatrice, by Falsetto, dam Sungleam.
S. Bryant's ch c John P. White, by Long Taw, dam Mollie Seabrook.
S. Bryant's b c Alfy Lakeland, by Imp. Pizarro, dam Vamoose.
Bedford & Steel's blk f Mignon C, by Billet, dam Vienna.
Clay & Woodford's b c Allan Bane, by Billet, dam Lady of the Lake.
Thos. D. Carter's b c Altair, by Blazes, dam Lizzie B.
W. L. Cassidy & Co 's br c Sir Abner, by Uhlan, dam Barbary.
C. A. Croxton & Co.'s ch c Yale 91, by Onondaga, dam Zaidee.
James B. Clay's br c Elknoe, by Longfellow, dam Locust Bloom.
James B. Clay's blk c Pomfret, by Longfellow dam Fuchsia.
T. J. Clay's b c Balgowan, by Strathmore, dam Trinkitat.
Des Cognets, Simpson & Co.'s ch f Last Ban, by King Ban, dam Radh
John Duffy's b g Grateful, by Uhlan, dam Expectation.
H. B Durham's b c Long Fortune, by Longfellow, dam Misfortune.
Eastin & Larabie's b c High Tariff, by Longfellow, dam Christine.
Eastin & Larabie's b c Post Scout, by Longfellow, dam Gipsey
N Finzer's b c Jolly Tar, by George Kinney, dam Sierra Nevada.
N. Finzer's blk f Goreflew, by Jim Gore dam Fleurilla.
John Good's b c Rexetter, by Falsetto dam by King Alfonso.
J. E. Gibbon's b c Ammunition, by Farandole, dam Big Shot.
J. G. Greener's ch c Norvill Harris, by George Kinney, dam East Lake.
J G. Greener's ch c Geo. Porter, by George Kinney, dam Dell
J. G. Greener's b c Wandering Jew, by Kosciusko, dam by Great Tom.
J. G. Greener's ch f Eugenie, by Enquirer, dam Miss Harding.
John Hunter's ch c Oriwampum, by Onondaga, dam Nellie Booker.
John Hunter's ch c Hoodlum, by Joe Daniels, dam Miss Clay.
John Hunter's b c Dictum, by Iroquois, dam Bonnie Meade.
F. B. Harper's ch c St. August, by St. Blaise, dam Secret.
F. B. Harper's b c Milt Young, by Jils Johnson, dam Via.
George Hearst's ch c Primero, by Powhattan, dam Speed by War Dance.
George Hearst's ch c Snow Ball, by Joe Hooker, dam Laura Winston.
George Hearst's ch c Charley Brown, by Jim Brown, dam Viola.
George Hearst's b c J. B., by Warwick, dam Maria F.
George Hearst's b c Yo Semite, by Hyder Ali, dam Nellie Collier.
George Hearst's b c El Verano, by Hock Hocking, dam Vixen.
Hodges & Austin's b f Maid of the Mist, by Ten Broeck. dam Zuleita.
D R. Harness' b g Equinox, by Grenada, dam Sunshine.
W. A. Hopkins & Co.'s ch c Sank Moody, by King Alfonso, dam Pearl Thorne.
Hurstbourne Farm's b or br c Dave Parkhill, by Leonatus, dam Catherine.
Ireland Bros.' b c Woodvale, by Imp Deceiver, dam Lady Crafton.
Ingleside Place's ch c The Kaiser, by Imported Pizarro, dam Blomida.
Jacobin Stable's b c Kingman, by Glengarry, dam Patricia.
W. P. Keegan s b c Jack Shelly, by Aristides. dam Odessa.
W. P. Keegan's b c Grand Duke Michael. by Uhlan, dam Rebecca.
Kentucky Stable's b c Ganges, by Hindoo, dam Emily Fuller.
Kentucky Stable's br c Palmetto, by Blue Eyes, dam Farfaletta.
Kentucky Stable's b f Mary McGowan, by Longfellow, dam Encore.
Kentucky Stable's b c Oklahoma, by Leonatus, dam Martina.
S. Y. Keene's ch c Georgetown, by Outcast, dam Leona, by War Dance.
W. H Laudeman's ch c Palestine, by Powhattan, dam Cachuca.
William Lakeland's br c Willie L , by Falsetto, dam Miranda.
W. R. Letcher's br c Harry Ray, by Longfellow, dam Indemnity.
W. R Letcher's b c Caperton, by Longfellow, dam Rosemary.
Labold Bros.' b or br c Monterey, by Duke of Montrose, dam Patti.
Lasley & Wallace's b c Hart Wallace, by Longfellow, dam Stephanie.
T. J. M gibben's c Eldora, by Springbok, dam Astora.
T. J. Megibben's ch c McKinly, by Springbok, dam Zulite.
T. J. Megibben's br or gr c Hyppolite, by Springbok, dam Jennie V.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Vallera, by Springbok, dam Valasco.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Tom Reed, by Audrain, dam War Lass.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Arallon, by Audrain. dam Venita.
T. J. Megibben's b c Pesarra, by Pizarro. dam Sister Monica.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Glendale, by Audrain, dam Zephyrus.
T. J. B.'s b c Claude Melnotte, by Audrain, dam Mademoiselle.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Palmer, by Pizarro, dam Electrical.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Onondagas, by Onondaga, dam Minnock.
T. J. Megibben's b or br c Silver Lake, by Silver Mine, dam Æolia.

D. H. Moshier's sch c Fred Knox, by Richelieu, dam Belle Knox.
James Murphy's br c Tarquin, by Duke of Montrose, dam Minnie Williams.
G. B. Morris' b g Strathmeath, by Strathmore, dam Flower of the Meath.
G. B. Morris' b g Cerebus by Luke Blackburn, dam Glen Hop.
Wm. Mulkey's b c Royal Flush by Lucifer, dam Niobe.
J. W. McClelland's b c Fero by Longfellow, dam Freddie.
John R. McKee's ch c Maribeau by Jils Johnson, dam Little Fannie.
A. McGuigan's sch c Chimes by Onondaga, dam Fonwitch.
A. McGuigan's b c Linlithgow by Duke of Montrose, dam Trinket.
A. G. Newsum & Co.'s ch g Woodford by Hindoo, dam Theckla.
John Neil's ch c Toronto by Fonso, dam Ætna.
Geo. E. Perrin's br c Van Dorn, by Vanguard, dam Palie.
Geo. E. Perrin's ch c Remedy by Storey, dam Colusa.
Geo. E Perrin's gr f Delfin by Storey, dam Calamity.
Ruddy Bro.'s ch c Thos. Mackin by Blazes, dam Eliza Carr.
Ruddy Bro.'s b c Ajax by Aretino, dam Kennebeck.
Ruddy Bros.'s b c Well Street by Voltigeur, dam Jennie Ten Broeck.
Santa Anita Stable's b c San Gabriel by Rutherford, dam Santa Anita.
Santa Anita Stable's ch c San Rafael by Gano, dam Glenita.
Santa Anita Stable's b c San Joaquin by Longfellow, dam Santa Anita Belle.
Santa Anita Stable's ch c El Carmen by Gano, dam Grey Annie.
Santa Anita Stable's b f Cleopatra by Grinstead, dam Maggie Emerson.
Santa Anita Stable's b f Esperanza by Grinstead, dam Hermosa.
Santa Anita Stable's b c Encinado by Gano or Rutherford, dam Aritta.
Scoggan Bros.'s b c National by Leonatus, dam Brandoline.
Scoggan Bro.'s b c Eli Kendig by George Kinney, dam Leona.
Scoggan Bro.'s b g R. F. D. by Little Ruffin, dam Florence D.
L. U. Shippee's b c Lodowic by Longfellow, dam Carrie Philips.
L. U. Shippee's b f May H. by Falsetto, dam Glenluine.
L. U. Shippee's b f False Queen by Falsetto, dam Queen Victoria.
R. A. Swigert's b f Marmose by Glenelg, dam Marmot.
R. A. Swigert's ch c Michael by Glen Athol, dam Verbena.
S. Smith & Co.'s b c Sanford by Falsetto, dam Kitty.
S. Smith & Co.'s b c Dickerson by Duke of Montrose, dam Billetta.
S. Smith & Co.'s br c Tom Rogers by Falsetto, dam Ems.
W. L. Saunder's ch c Ossa by Powhattan, dam Call Duck.
W. L. Saunder's b c Pelion by Bramble dam Leah Z.
Talbot Bro.'s b c Brutus by Billet, dam Hi.
Talbot Bro.'s b c Villian by Barnes, dam Villa.
Talbot Bro.'s ch c Mountjoy by Pontiac, dam Accidenta.
J. W. Turner's b c Gay Deceiver by imp. Deceiver, dam Waifer.
J. W. Turner's ch c London Smoke by imp. London, dam Etha.
Harry I. Thornton's br f Bessie Barnes by Darebin, dam Carrie C.
Harry I. Thornton's br c Austrian by Darebin, dam Bavaria.
Harry I. Thornton's ch c Memnon by Three Cheers, dam Aurora.
Harry I. Thornton's br c Peralto by John Happy, dam Bertha W.
Harry I. Thornton's ch c Arcade by Milner, dam Nanny Hubbard.
Theo. Winter's b c Rey del Rey by Norfolk, dam Marion.
Theo. Winter's ch c Judge Post by Joe Hooker, dam Countess Zicka.
Theo. Winter's blk c Black Bart by Three Cheers, dam Bonita.
Theo. Winter's ch c Uno Grande by Joe Hooker dam Jessie R.
Theo. Winter's ch c San Juan by Norfolk, dam Ballinette.
W. J. Widener's ch c Tug of War by Wawekus, dam Menetta.
W. J. Widener's br c Joe Carter by Voltigeur, dam Josie Carter.
W. J. Widener's blk or br c Dustin by Voltigeur, dam Zorneetza.
Woodford & Buckner's b c Bramblebush by Greenbush, dam Brambaletta.
C. E. Winchel's b c Senor by Bersan, dam Sister to Joe Daniels.
W. G. Wood's b c King Silver by Silver Mine, dam Miss Mickey.

1891 THE ENGLEWOOD STAKES.

A Sweepstakes for fillies three years old (foals of 1888); $100 each, half forfeit, or only $10 if declared out on or before February 1st, or $20 April 1 1891. All declarations void unless accompanied with the money; with $1,000 added, the second to receive $200, and the third $100 out of the stakes. A winner of any three-year-old stake race of the value of $1,000 to carry 3 lbs.; of $1,500, 5 lbs.; of three or more such stakes of any value, 7 lbs. extra. Maidens allowed seven pounds. 71 nominations. One mile.
Avondale Stable's b f Monte Rosa, by Mr. Pickwick, dam Mountain Range.
Avondale Stable's b f Katuna, by Bramble, dam Kathleen.
Avonuale Stable's b f Ida Pickwick, by Mr. Pickwick, dam Ida K.
Avondale Stable's b f Drift, by Enquirer, dam Dora.
Avondale Stable's b f Willow, by Enquirer, dam Wampee.
E. Brown's ch f Falerna, by Falsetto, dam Lerna.
Bedford & Steele's blk f Mignon C., by Billet, dam Vienna.
W. L. Cassidy & Co's b f Queen C., by Uhlan, dam Queen T.
Geo. H. Clay's b f Ace of Hearts, by Zorilla, dam Gardenia.
C. W. Doherty's ch f Sweet Alice II, by Ten Broeck dam St. Mary.
Eastin & Larabie's b f Shipmate by Spendthrift, dam Messmate.
N. Finzer's blk f Goreflew, by Jim Gore, dam Fleurilla.
N. Finzer s ch f Mrs. Gen. Gilflora, by George Kinney, dam Maggie M.
N. Finzer's b f ————, by Sensation, dam Heather.
George Hearst's b f El Vera, by Jim Brown, dam Carrie C.
H. P. Headley's br f Longalette, by Longfellow, dam Miss Saxon.
H. P. Headley's b f Longleaf, by Longfellow dam Lalla Rookh.
D. R. Harness' ch f Gadabout, by Spendthrift, dam Chance.
Hurstbourne Farm's br f Louisiana, by Longfellow, dam Angusta.
Hurstbourne Farm's ch f Gretchen, by Sensation, dam Stiletto.
Ireland Bros.' ch f Marietta, by Deceiver, dam Silver Bell.
Kentucky Stable's b f Mary McGowan, by Longfellow, dam Encore.
Kentucky Stable's b f St. Bridget, by Leonatus, dam Bettie Magruder.
W. R. Letcher's b f Mattie Mc, by Jils Johnson, dam Lizzie Stone.
J. E. Madden's ch f Anna Megrue, by Onondaga, dam Skylight.
T. J. Megibben's ch f Actress, by Springbok, dam Edith
T. J. Megibben's ch f Birdella M., by Springbok, dam Easter Planet.
T. J. Megibben's blk f Ina B., by Pizarro, dam Zingarelli.
T. J. Megibben's b f Tuberose, by Springbok, dam Fanny Hall.
T. J. Megibben's b f Palianthus, by Springbok, dam Fright.
T. J. Megibben's b f Ezelea by Barnes, dam Clipsa.
T. J. Megibben's ch f Marinett, by Audrain, dam Mollie Cad.
T. J. Megibben's ch f Flower de Lis, by Springbok, dam Mayflower.
T. J. Megibben's ch f Cassila, by Audrain, dam Pussy.
T. J. Megibben's ch f Vesta, by Audrain, dam Venora.
T. J. Megibben's b or br f Silver Bell, by Silver Mine, dam Manilla.
T. J. Megibben's ch f Ethel, by Springbok, dam Lavena.
Megibben & Ward's b f Lady Blaze, by Springbok, dam Lady Hamilton.
J. Murphy's b f Mamie Stone, by Longfellow, dam Lida Gaines.
Geo. Muldrow & Co's b f Antonette, by Blazes, dam Kate Fisher.
A. G. Newsum & Co's b f Edith L., by George Kinney, dam Midsummer.
B. F. Pettit's b f Miss Bowling, by Glenelg, dam Kate Bowling.
B. F. Pettit's gr f Kitty H., by Deceiver, dam Graynell.
J. T. Prewitt's b f Katie C., by Pizarro, dam Maud L.
R. S. Payne's ch f Apex, by Buchanan, dam Ascension.
M. D. Richardson's b f Lancet, by Longfellow, dam Wigwam.
M. D. Richardson's gr f Cryolite, by Longfellow, dam Aconite.
Santa Anita Stable's b f Esperanza, by Grinstead, dam Hermosa.
Santa Anita Stable's b f Cleopatra, by Grinstead, dam Maggie Emerson.
Santa Anita Stable's b f Santa Ana, by Grinstead, dam Clara D.
Scoggan Bros.'s b f Ogarita, by Longfellow, dam Mission Belle.
Scoggan Bros.' b f Lady Washington, by Miser, dam Minnarette.
L. U. Shippee's b f May H., by Falsetto, dam Glenluine.
L. U. Shippee's b f False Queen, by Falsetto dam Queen Victoria.
J. S. Stoll's ch f Lady Invercauld, by Powhattan, dam Invercauld.
Kinzea Stone's b f Sister Linda, by Zorilla, dam Celinda.
Kinzea Stone's ch f Paoli, by Blue Eyes, dam Sallie A.
R. A. Swigert's b f Marmose, by Glenelg, dam Marmot.
S. Smith & Co.'s b f Floret, by Lisbon, dam Miss Able.
S. Smith & Co.'s ch f Ina D., by King Alfonso, dam Waiting.
S. Smith & Co.'s ch f Lida H., by Lisbon, dam Luella.
Talbot Bros.' b f Mary C., by Billet, dam Vega.
Talbot Bros.' b f Miss Hawkins, by Billet, dam Lady Motley.
Theo. Winter's ch f Blizzard, by Blazes, dam Trade Wind.
Theo. Winter's ch f Belle Songer, by Joe Hooker, dam Lou Spencer.
Theo. Winter's ch f Hettie Humphreys, by Joe Hooker, dam Mattie Glenn.
Theo. Winter's ch f Otilia, by Joe Hooker, dam Alice N.
Theo. Winter's ch f Joanna, by Joe Hooker, dam Addie O'Neil.
W. J. Widener's ch f Lizzie Gwynne, by Kantaka, dam Nellie Gwynne.
W. J. Widener's b f Nellie Wolf, by Voltigeur, dam Albretta.
C. Weatherford's ch f Miss Courtney, by Blarney, dam Comet.

1891. THE SHERIDAN STAKES.

A Sweepstakes for three-year-olds (foals of 1888); $100 each, h. f. or only $10 if declared out on or before February 1st, or $30 April 1, 1891. All declarations void unless accompanied with the money; with $1,500 added, the second to receive $300, and the third $100 out of the stakes. A winner of any three-year-old stake race of the value of $1,000 to carry 3 lbs.; of $1,500, 5 lbs.; of three or more such stakes of any value, 7 lbs. extra. Maidens allowed 7 lbs. 91 Nominations. One mile and a quarter.
E. A. Buck's b c Porthos, by Darebin, dam Flora.
E. Brown's b c King Edward, by King Alfonso, dam Ethel.
E. Brown's b c Ben's Pet, by Himyar, dam Themis.
E. Brown's b c King Solomon, by King Alfonso, dam Patty of Cork.
E. Brown's ch c Forerunner, by Fonso, dam Mary Lanphier.
E. Brown's b c Oberlin, by Onondaga, dam Glenora.
S. Bryant's ch c John P. White, by Long Taw, dam Mollie Seabrook.
S. Bryant's b c Alfy Lakeland, by Pizarro, dam Vamoose.
Clay & Woodford's b c Allan Bane, by Billet, dam Lady of the Lake.
T. D. Carter's b c Glen Rush, dam Glengarry, dam Pearlash,
T. D. Carter's b c Altair, by Blazes, dam Lizzie B.
W. L. Cassidy & Co.'s br c Sir Abner, by Uhlan, dam Barbary.
W. L. Cassidy & Co.'s br c Liberty Bell, by Blazes, dam Belle.
C. A. Croxton & Co.'s ch c Yale 91, by Onondaga, dam Zaidee.
J. B. Clay's br c Elknoe, by Longfellow, dam Locust Bloom.
J. B. Clay's blk c Pomfret by Longfellow, dam Fuchsia.
Eastin & Larabie's b c High Tariff, by Longfellow, dam Christine.
Eastin & Larabie's b c Poet Scout, by Longfellow, dam Gipsey.
Eastin & Larabie's b f Shipmate, by Spend hrift, dam Messmate.
N. Finzer's b c Jolly Tar, by George Kinney, dam Sierra Nevada.
N. Finzer's blk f Goreflew, by Jim Gore, dam Fleurilla.
J. E. Gibbon's b c Ammunition, by Farandole, dam Bird Shot.
F. B. Harper's ch c St. August, by St. Blaise, dam Secret.
F. B. Harper's b c Milt Young, by Jils Johnson, dam Via.
D. R. Harness' b c Equinox, by Grenada, dam Sunshine.
W. A. Hopkins & Co.'s ch c Sank Moody, by King Alfonso, dam Pearl Thorne.
Ireland Bros.' b c Woodvale, by Deceiver, dam Lady Crafton.
Ireland Bros.' ch f Marietta, by Deceiver, dam Silver Bell.
Jacobin Stable's b c Kingman, by Glengarry, dam Patricia.
W. P. Keegan's b c Jack Shelly, by Aristides, dam Odessa.
W. P. Keegan's b c Grand Duke Michael, by Uhlan, dam Rebecca.
Kentucky Stable's b c Ganges, by Hindoo, dam Emily Fuller.
Kentucky Stable's b f Mary McGowan, by Longfellow, dam Encore.
W. H. Lauderman's ch c Palestine, by Powhattan, dam Cachuca.
Wm. Lakeland's br c Willie L., by Falsetto, dam Miranda.
Lesley & Wallace's b c Hart Wallace, by Longfellow, dam Stephanie.
T. J. Megibbens' ch c Eldora, by Springbok, dam Astora.
T. J. Megibben's ch c McKinley, by Springbok, dam Zulite.
T. J. Megibben's b or br c Hyppolite, by Springbok, dam Jennie V.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Vallera, by Springbok, dam Valasco.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Tom Reed, by Audrain, dam War Lass.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Arallon by Audrain, dam Venita.
T. J. Megibben's b c Pesarra, by Pizarro, dam Sister Monica.
T. J. Megibben's gr c Glendale, by Audrain, dam Zephyrus.
T. J. Megibben's b c Claude Melnotte, by Audrain, dam Mademoiselle.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Palmer, by Pizarro, dam Electrical.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Onondagas, by Onondaga, dam Minnock.
T. J. Megibben's b or br c Silver Lake, by Silver Mine, dam Æolia.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Ufa, by Audrain, dam Aureliette.
T. J. Megibben's ch c Richelieu, by Richmond, dam Bonairette.
T. J. Megibben's b or br c Silver Sun, by Silver Mine, dam Polly H 2d.
G. B. Morris, b c Strathmeath, by Strathmore, dam Flower of Meath.
G. B. Morris' b g Cerebus, by Luke Blackburn, dam Glen Hop.
J. W. McClelland's b c Fero, by Longfellow, dam Freddie.
A. G. Newsum & Co.'s b c Bowen, by Hindoo, dam Solferino.
R. S. Payne's ch f Apex, by Buchanan, dam Ascension.
Ruddy Bros.' ch c Th s. Mackin, by Blazes, dam Eliza Carr.
Ruddy Bros.' b c Ajax, by Aretino, dam Kennebeck.
Ruddy Bros.' b c Wells Street, by Voltigeur, dam Jennie Ten Broeck.
Santa Anita Stable's b c San Gabriel, by Rutherford dam Santa Anita.
Santa Anita Stable's b c San Joaquin, by Longfellow, dam Santa Anita Belle.
Santa Anita Stable's ch c El Carmen, by Gano, dam Grey Annie.
Santa Anita Stable's ch c San Rafael, by Gano, dam Glenita.
Santa Anita Stable's b c Encinado, by Gano or Rutherford, dam Aritta.
Scoggan Bros.' b c National by Leonatus, dam Brandoline.
Scoggan Bros.' b c Eli Kindig, by George Kinney, dam Leona.
Scoggan Bros.' b f Lady Washington, by Miser, dam Minnarette.
L. U. Shippee's b f May H., by Falsetto, dam Glenluine.
L. U. Shippee's b f False Queen, by Falsetto, dam Queen Victoria.
L. U. Shippee's b c Lodowic, by Longfellow, dam Carrie Phillips.
S. Smith & Co.'s b c Sanford, by Falsetto, dam Kitty.
S. Smith & Co.'s b c Dickerson, by Duke of Montrose, dam Billetta.
S. Smith & Co.'s br c Tom Rogers, by Falsetto, dam Ems.
Talbot Bros.' b c Brutus, by Billet, dam Hi.
Talbot Bros.' b c Villain, by Barnes, dam Villa.
Talbot Bros.' ch c Mountjoy, by Pontiac, dam Accidenta.
J. W. Turner's b c Gay Deceiver, by Deceiver, dam Waifer.
J. W. Turner's ch c London Smoke, by London, dam Etha.
Theo. Winter's b c Rey del Rey, by Norfolk, dam Marion.
Theo. Winter's ch c Judge Post, by Joe Hooker, dam Countess Zeicka.
Theo. Winter's blk c Black Bart, by Three Cheers, dam Bonita.
Theo. Winter's ch c Uno Grande, by Joe Hookez, dam Jessie R.
Theo. Winter's ch c San Juan, by Norfolk, dam Ballinette.
Woodford & Buckner's b c Bramblebush, by Greenbush, dam Brambaletta.
W. J. Widener's ch c Tug of War, by Wawekus, dam Menetta.
W. J. Widener's br c Joe Carter, by Voltigeur, dam Josie Carter.
W. J. Widener's blk or br c Dustin, by Voltigeur, dam Zorneetza.
W. J. Widener's b c Later On, by Voltigeur, dam America.
C. E. Winchel's b c Senor, by Bersan, dam Sister to Joe Daniels.
W. G. Wood's b c King Silver, by Silver Mine, dam Miss Mickey.
C. Weatherford's ch f Miss Courtney, by Blarney, dam Comet.

The Ancestry of the Horse.

In this article we will treat of the origin of the modern horse, the geological history of which is perhaps better known than any of our other animals. Both Huxley and Marsh have traced out its origin and descent in great detail, says R. W. Shufeldt, M. D., in the American Field. It has been ascertained that nearly forty species of horses have been found in a fossil state, extending all the way from the earliest eocene to the quaternary. These represent the ancestry of existing horses and their allies; the various species of asses and zebras. So that, with this abundant material before us, the steps in the line of evolution of this animal can be quite easily traced, and at the same time serve as an excellent example of what has taken place with many other animals, which will be touched upon in subsequent papers of the present series.

Years ago the relation of the equine mammals to others of the class puzzled the older zoologists a great deal. In fact they made nothing of it, and were obliged to place them in a separate order, to which they gave the name of solidungula or monodactyla.

In later times, the extraordinary fact was brought to light, through the aid of comparative anatomy and the study of fossil forms, that horses were in their structure nearly related to the tapirs and rhinoceroses.

This important advance step was largely due to the researches of Culver, who thereupon divided all the ungulates into two orders, the pachyderms and the ruminants.

The first of these contained a miscellaneous collection of animals, while the latter held all those mammals which had their horns and hoofs in pairs, with complex stomachs, no upper front teeth, and which ruminated. However well this fitted zoological classification, Professor Owen soon discovered, still later, that it failed to apply to the extinct forms brought to light through his paleontological researches. From these, this eminent anatomist was obliged to create two new groups, to contain all the ungulates both existing and extinct. The first of these two groups he made to contain the perissodactyls, or the odd-toed animals, of which the elephant, the rhinoceros and the horse are examples, having five, three and one toes, respectively. The second group was for the artiodactyls, or even toed animals, like all the ruminants, which, as we know, have two toes, or like the hog and hippopotamus, where there are four.

The proboscidians, which Professor Owen considered as a separate order, are now generally taken to be a branch of the perissodactyls. They are represented by the elephant and the extinct mastodons and others.

In these days, however, paleontology teaches us that both the perissodactyls and the artiodactyls have sprung from a common stock; indeed, according to Cope we have two generalized types, which he has named the amblypoda and the bunotheria. By differentiation we have coming from the last of these the carnivores, insectivores and the quadrumana and others; while from the first named are derived all the ungulates.

But to return to the ancestry of the horse, as we find it recorded by their fossil remains upon the pages of geological history. The earliest known form is the wonderful little eohippus, discovered by Marsh. This animal, which was no bigger than a fox, was taken from the lowest strata of the eocene basin of Green River. Eohippus possessed three perfectly developed toes upon each hindfoot, while each forefoot had four, with a rudimentary fifth one. Next in order, or in the succeeding middle eocene, we find the descendants of eohippus in the orohippus, an animal of nearly the same size and structure, but with the rudimentary toe (the thumb) of the forefoot missing. Passing into the lower miocene we find the descendants of orohippus in the mesohippus, where now again, in turn, we find that the fourth toe of the forefoot has been reduced to a rudimentary and unserviceable splint bone. Still higher in the miocene we find an animal nearly as large as a sheep, the miohippus, wherein we begin to notice an increase of size in the middle hoof, while the fourth toe has nearly disappeared, though the others, no doubt, could still be brought into play, Miohippus was quite nearly affined to the continental anchithere, an animal in which the general characteristics of the present horse could be easily discerned. Next in order we find in the upper miocene and lower pliocene of this country the still more completely differentiated protohippus, an animal that now has attained to the size of a jackass. In it the fourth splint bone of either forefoot has entirely disappeared, while its main reliance now is the middle toe, the outside ones only coming to the ground where it was marshy. Protohippus also had a continental ally in hipparion, a most graceful and equine like animal, both in point of size and structure. Passing into the pilocene proper we discover the descendants of these foregoing forms in an animal, which now is but slightly removed from our present horses; this is pliohippus. The mid-hoof is now the only one remaining, though the shrunken side splint bones clearly point to its ancestry. Finally, we have in the quarternary and recent time our present equus the modern horse. Now it must be remembered that all their other structures were gradually modified pari passu with these changes in their feet. They are most beautifully exemplified in the entire skull, particularly in the teeth; in the gradual increase of size of the mid-hoof, and even still more strikingly in the bones of the forearm. Space will not, of course, permit me to even touch upon so many particulars.

Lecomte says: "There can be no doubt that if we could trace the line of descent still further back, we would find a perfect five-toed ancestor. From the normal number of five, the toes have been successively dropped, according to a regular law; first, the thumb, No. 1; then the little finger, No. 5; then the index, No. 2, and last the ring-finger, No. 4; and the middle finger, No. 3, only remains. Nos. 2 and 4 are, however, usually dropped together. From the earliest and most generalized types, therefore, to the present specialized types, the principal changes have been, first, from plantigrade to digitigrade; second, from short-footed digitigrade to long-footed digitigrade, i. e., increasing elevation of the heel; third, from five toes to one in the horse, or two toes in ruminant; and fourth, from simple omniverous molars to the complex, herbivorous millstones of the horse and ox."

Now, not only has the horse originated in this country, but no less an animal than the camel, also, and Cope has traced its descent in very much the same way as Marsh has done for us in the case of the horse just cited.

Early horses undoubtedly inhabited marshy districts, where they plodded about in deliberate gait over the soft and yielding surface. Their allies, the existing topirs and rhinoceroses, still retain such habits, and these animals have altered but little in their foot structure, or even their general organization from their relations of eocene times.

One of the most eminent of anatomists living, Professor Flower, of the British Museum, truly remarks that "If we were not so habituated to the sight of the horse as hardly ever to consider its structure, we should greatly marvel at being told of a mammel so strangely constructed that it had but a single toe on each extremity, on the end of the nail of which it walked or galloped. Such a formation is without a parallel in the vertebrate series, and is one of the most remarkable instances of specialization or deviation from the usual type, in accordance with special conditions of life. It can be demonstrated both by the structure of the foot itself, and also by an examination of the intermediate forms, that this toe corresponds to the middle or third of the complete or pentadactyle foot, the "ring-finger" of man, and there is very strong evidence to show that by a gradual concentration of all the power of the limb upon this toe, and the concurrent dwindling away and final disappearance of all the others, the present condition of the horse's foot has been produced."

These were the kind of changes that were undoubtedly taking place in animals during the immense lapses of geological times.

Knap's Opinion of a Good Thing.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 8, 1889.

W. H. BOYCE & Co., Terre Haute, Ind.:—

GENTLEMEN: I find your Tablets by far the best leg and body wash I have ever used. They are so economical as a liniment, and are easily carried about. I recommend them to my fellow trainers most heartily. Please send me six boxes to East Saginaw, Mich., care of Everett House. Respectfully,

W. H. MCCARTHY, of Los Angeles, Cal.

Price per box of one hundred Tablets, $2. Sample mailed to any address on receipt of four cents to pay postage. These Tablets are warranted to keep in any climate. Address, J. A. McKerron, 228-230-232 Ellis Street San Francisco, Cal.

Turf Reforms.

STANFORD, KY., Oct. 28, 1889.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—The last two issues of the Live Stock Record (Lexington, Ky.) have each contained a well written article on Turf Reform, deploring the system of racing at present in vogue, and as well pointing the evils and the remedy. The more the matter is agitated the better, and the sooner may some good come of it. It could hardly be amiss for every paper devoted to the interests of the turf to copy the articles in full and give voice to its own sentiment on the subject. However, the writer omitted to say anything as to the power the present system places in the starter's hands. An opportunity, if availed by the starter, to destroy the chance of any horse in a race and to enhance the chance of another. Now, I saw an assistant starter this season—impecunious and disreputable—go to the ground assigned to the carriages of unfortunate women and get money from these women on the strength of his official position to back certain horses, promising the women that the horse backed in each race should have "a send off." Nor was this all nor even the worst feature. He actually, on more than one occasion, sent back what he thought dangerous to the chances of the horse he was backing. He came to the writer at a meeting last spring and inquired if his horse was good and liable to win, and when answered affirmatively, replied, "She shall have a good send off and I'll buy some pools on her." The answer to this was, "I want no advantage, but would like to have an equal chance at the start; getting that I can win. But your proposition is badly out of place," Now he was followed and watched and he went directly to his friends la femme, took their money and put it on another horse in the race, and at the starting post called back the writer's horse repeatedly and finally got it badly left at the post; then it ran out a good third. The motive is obvious; if the horse was thought good it was dangerous, and the object of the inquiry was simply, if possible, to destroy its chances and be more certain to win on his selection and take out his percentage for his "tip" to the only class of women he is fit to associate with.

This fall he undertook the same little game on precisely the same line, but in forty-eight hours his official head dropped. Men who race fairly, legitimately and properly, cannot allow their chances to be destroyed by such practices. A summer's unremitting care and great expense, if it has developed a merit, should be rewarded. And the self-denial and privations endured necessary to that end and the aim accomplished should not depend on such men, and horses depreciate in value—cannot be sold for their real worth when often beaten, whether beaten foully or not. Not unfrequently is it the case that a whole season's success is greatly dependent upon the winning of two or three purses at the beginning; and it is calculated to try a man's soul bitterly to see himself juggled out of races he absolutely knows he could win. These things occur all too frequently, and in many ways. Then hail the day when Turf Reform goes into practice.

BANGTAIL.

Grim's Gossip.

Lee Shaner is going to winter at Petaluma with the horses at present under his charge.

The Helena Fair Association are constructing a new race track which will be ready for next year.

The Victoria Jockey Club has arranged for a British Columbia Derby, to be run in the fall of 1892.

The Directors of the Inyo Agricultural Fair have voted to prohibit the use of liquors on their grounds.

A squabble among the jockey clubs for available summer dates next year seems now absolutely certain.

Walkill Boy, 2:22¾, a very valuable trotter, the property of Roscoe Bros. of Syracuse, New York, was burned to death last week.

Dan McCarty purchased a yearling filly at the Chesterbrook sale in New York last week for $250. She is by Bend or out of imp. Lady Glasgow.

Jack Thompson, of the Hermitage Stud Farm, is on his way here, and will take back with him Bow Bells, the Electioneer Beautiful Bells' two-year-old.

Nine of the get of Happy Medium have gone into the 2:30 list this year. This makes fifty he now has altogether, of which forty seven are trotters and three pacers.

It is now rumored that Dan McCarty has lost $90,000 on the track this year. He surely never dropped that amount from his pocket, and I will wager a trifle he did not lose it any other way.

The scientific horseshoers, Boyd & Morgan, have removed from their old establishment on Taylor street, to a fine commodious place at 106 Golden Gate Avenue, adjoining Mr. Crittenden's stable.

James Corcoran, the well-known driver who has been training at the Petaluma track, will winter his horses at the Bay District track. Look out for a new pacer next year. Jim has one that will make a low mark.

On the last day of the Jordan Valley Idaho Races, the latter part of last month Chris Olsens 'Grey Dad' won the half mile dash, the quarter mile and repeat, and the half mile and repeat. Dad evidently can repeat.

R. Porter Ashe returned from the East last Tuesday. The Maltese Villa stable will winter in the East. Geraldine never was better in her life, and Abdiel, her half-brother, is recovering rapidly from his attack of pneumonia.

Although nothing positive has been decided upon, the New York Jockey Club people talk of beginning their next racing meeting on Friday, May 30, racing three days a week, probably on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, up to Friday, July 4.

I hear that Robert Brown, of San Antonio, has lately lost several horses which he thinks have been stolen. Among them was a black mare by Sultan, that cost him $1,200, and she had been bred to Director, which added another $150 to her value.

Ed Bither, the well known trainer and driver for J. I. Case of Racine, Wis, arrived here Thursday, having in charge the celebrated stallion Phallas, 2:13¾. The horse will be wintered in California, and may be started to beat his record prior to being sent back.

The price of stallion service for Guy Wilkes, 2:15½, will be $500, for 1890, and only a few choice and approved mares will be taken at that figure. Sable Wilkes will stand at a fee of $250, and several young Wilkes' will also be in service at fees of $100 and upwards.

Some of the horseman who are stabling at the Petaluma track are agitating the question, whether it would be profitable to build a rain shed so that the horses might be exercised on dry ground during the winter months. The idea is a good one and would be of great service.

Last Saturday the Sonoma and Marin Agricultural Association held a meeting to elect Directors for the ensuing year. The following were the successful candidates: J. H. White, Robert Brown, Robert Crane, Harry Meecham, A. L. Whitney, A. Higgins and T. C. Putnam.

Jack Hammond is said to have won £60,000 on Laureate, who won the Cambridgeshire handicap. It is not long since he was only a stable hand, but luck took a turn and he got hold of a few cheap horses, and Florence and St. Gatien soon put him on top, and he has never looked back since.

A horse died at Brockton, Mass., in a very peculiar manner recently. He was standing on the fair grounds, hitched to a carriage, near the grand-stand, and in some manner the bit broke in his mouth. The animal could not get it out of his throat, into which it had slipped, and he choked to death.

The rumors that John Morris intended to make some very great changes in the grade of Morris Park were denied by Mr. Morris at the St. James Hotel last week. He declared it was not his intention to make the slightest change in the grade. He did intend to make some improvements that would aid the judges, and to build a club house, as originally intended.

W. H. Allen Esq,, of Pittsfield, Mass, and St. Louis, Mo., has been paying a visit to the breeding farms of the state and also to take a look at the seven mares and fillies which he brought from Wm. Corbitt last spring at a cost of $60,000. He is particularly well pleased with his purchases although they were taken unsight unseen, and he will ship them East in a few days.

Last Saturday evening about eight o'clock a fire broke out in Dick Moore's stable on Chestnut Street, Oakland. The stable was burnt down but Secretary Culver with a few assistants contrived to get Three Cheers out in safety the old horse, is by imp Hurrah (a son of Newminister and Jovial by Bay Middleton) out of Young Fashion by imp Trustee out of old Fashion.

Marion Biggs, Jr., has sold Messrs. Hatch & Rock his 300 acre ranch near South Thermalito. Major Biggs has fenced in the land and divided it into several handy paddocks, and surveyed his racecourse, at the same time erecting several elegant buildings. Messrs. Hatch & Rock purpose planting as soon as convenient in fruit trees, etc, so Mr. Biggs will remove his trotting stock.

Mr. Hinchman of the Bay District track, has set an example to the other circuit managers. He provides refreshments for the reporters, and maketh their hearts glad.

Of the entries at the Paris Exposition horse show, 1,265 are French, 134 Belgian, 34 English, 34 Russian, 12 American, 11 Dutch and 3 Egyptian.

Mr. T. Anglin, proprietor of Glenarvon Stock Farm, of this city, has sold to Mr. C. F. Larrabee of Portland, Ore., a suckling filly, by Wilkes Boy, dam by Young Jim; second dam by Mambrino Patchen. Price $2,000.

Mr. C. W. Smith is entitled to the thanks of the reporters for coming up into the stand after each heat and giving the time by quarters. It saves a lot of running down the steps, and prevents annoyance to the timers.

Chitabob, by Robert the Devil, out of Jenny Howlett by Uncas, out of Jenny Diver, was the only three-year-old that could ever go the pace with Donovan at the end of the season, and he has been sold by Mr. Perkins to the Beenham Stud Farm for £11,000.

F. P. Lowell of Sacramento, Cal., has sold to E. D. Chittenden and John A. Barre of Bridgeport, Conn., his stallion Fallis (2:23) by Electioneer; first dam Felicia by Messenger Duroc; second dam Lady Fallis by Seely's American Star, etc., for $12,000. Fallis is the sire of Don Marvin, five-year-old record 2:28. Fallis has just finished a very successful season at the Woodburn Farm, Ky.

T. T. Unckless, of Petaluma, has a good young stallion, a P. Patchen 3980, which should meet with the approbation of breeders who reside in Sonoma County. He is by Alexander 490 (son of Geo. M. Patchen Jr. 31), dam Gazelle by Gen McClellan 144. We find here strong speed producing lines, and it will be strange if Mr. Unckless does not fill the book very early next season.

Mr. Thomas Rochford, former owner of Emma Temple, 2:21, has sent his string of horses down to Fresno, where they will pass the winter months. John Hahn will have charge of them. Next season I expect to hear a good report from Free Trade, one of the lot; he is by Princeps, dam Dawn by Belmont, sire of Nutwood, 2:18¾, Viking, 2:19¼, Wedgewood, 2:19, and a score of others in the 30 list.

Mr. P. Lorillard has lately purchased through Tom Cannon, the celebrated English trainer and jockey, the well-known race horse Sailor Prince. The new importation is a bay horse foaled 1880 by Albert Victor, (son of Marsyas and a mare by Stockwell,) dam Hermita by Hermit, out of Affection by Lifeboat, she out of Rose d'Amour by Wild Dayrell. This will be a grand accession to the Rancocas Stud.

C. T. Lee, of Dowagiac, Mich., has purchased from W. H. Wilson, of Cynthiana, Ky., a brown weanling horse colt by Sable Wilkes, dam Linda Wilkes by Guy Wilkes; 2nd dam Atalanta (full sister to Beautiful Bells) by The Moor 870; 3rd dam Minnehaha by Bald Chief; 4th dam Nettie Clay by Cassius M. Clay Jr. 22; 5th dam by Abdallah, 1; 6th dam by Engineer 2nd. The price paid was $5,000.

In Switzerland there were used in 1888-89 eighty stallions, which covered altogether 3,583 mares; of these 3,146 brought foals, i. e., per stallion, forty-five mares, out of which thirty-nine foaled. In 1887-88 eighty-eight stallions covered 4,469 mares, of which 3,755 foaled. So that there is this year a decrease of 20 per cent. of mares covered. Most of the Switzerland horses are Anglo-Norman.

Mr. James Franklin, Kennesaw Stud, Gallatin, Tenn., lost on October 22d the noted sire imp. Glengarry, brown horse, imported by Mr. L. W. Jerome, is by Thormanby, dam Carbine by Rifleman, her dam Troica by Lanercost. He was for a number of years at the head of the Kennesaw Stud, and he sired such good horses as Kennesaw, Matagorda, Greenland, Stuyvesant, Kirkman, Fletch Taylor, Miller, Graciosa, Ovid, Blue Line, Fronie Louise, Kennebec, Glenfisher, Governor Marilee and others.

Mr. Corbitt, of the San Mateo Stock Farm, has received word from John A. Skannal, of Houghton, La., that he will ship two mares to receive the embrace of Guy Wilkes. The first is by Baron Wilkes, 2:18; dam Odd Stockings by Happy Medium; second dam County House mare (dam of Nettie, 2:18, and sister to Susie, dam of DeBarry, 2:19½), by Seeley's American Star. The second one is also by Baron Wilkes, dam Mary A. Whitney, 2:28, by Volunteer; second dam Peggy Slender (dam of Mary A. Whitney 2:28, and William H. Allen 2:23¼).

The Valensin Stock Farm has sold to J. W. Pearson, of Oakland, bay weanling colt Bay Leaf, by Sidney, dam Fernleaf, 2:28 (dam of Gold Leaf, 2:11½), Shamrock, two years old, 2:25, Ivy, three years old, 2:31½, etc., etc.,) for $5,000; also bay filly Billet Doux, by Sidney, dam Maud V., by Buccaneer, 2nd dam by George M. Patchen, Jr., 3d dam by Ohio Bellfounder, price $1,500. Both of these youngsters are entered in the N. Y. Spirit of the Times Futurity Stake.

A prominent horseman, who has just returned from Kentucky to New York, announces that the president of the National Trotting Association says his association will investigate the rumors regarding the crookedness of the Balch $10,000 national stallion race, trotted at Beacon Park last month, and won by Nelson. The rumors that Alcryon did not try in this race have been gathering force, and his driver George Robins, has since been fined $500 dollars for pulling Roy Wilkes.

J. B. Chase has sold through Messrs. Killip & Co., to Mr. Ariel Lathrop, the chestnut mare Katy Pease by Planet, dam Minnie Mansfield by imp. Glencoe out of Argentile, by Bertrand, out of Allegrante by imp. Young Truffle, etc. Katy was bred by D. McDaniel and sold to Judge Mee and afterwards to Mr Chase. She has had several foals, the best of them being Judge McKinstry, Lurline and Mischief. The old mare herself was one of Californias old favorites, being this year almost invincible at any distance. This year she was bred to F. Gebhardt's Greenback. She will probably be stinted to Palo Alto next season.

The Executive Committee of the Coney Island Jockey Club, at a meeting held yesterday afternoon, decided to begin its race meeting for 1890 on Tuesday, June 17, on which day the Suburban Handicap will be run. The meeting will be continued to Wednesday, July 2, on which day the Realization Stakes, for three-year-olds, will be run. Saturday, August 30, has been fixed upon as the opening day for the Autumn meeting, and on that day the Futurity, for two-year olds, worth about $10,000, will be run. The Autumn meeting will continue up to and including Saturday, September 13th.

Gentlemen who go into the judges' stand should be well up in everything that pertains to the sport, and at the same time should have firmness enough not to listen to all the talk which the man with one five dollar pool ticket is only too willing to carry.

The champion Canadian three-year-old is the chestnut filly Albani, which got a record of 2:29½ in a fourth heat recently, and lowered the Canadian record for the age by nine seconds. She was got by Hermit, a son of Harold, out of an American Clay mare, and her dam has not a single standard cross in her pedigree. Hermit, the sire of this filly, is but six years old, and made a pacing record of 2:29¾ this season.

Many improvements will probably be made at Washington Park track before the summer meeting of 1890. The betting quarters are to be enlarged to nearly double their present size, which will prove a highly appreciated change. Secretary Brewster has submitted to the Executive Committee plans for a chute on which to run the three-quarter mile dashes, as well as plans for an improved saddling paddock. The committee will take action on these matters at its next meeting.

The record which Williard M., the famous pacer, by Mambrino Smuggler, made on the grand circuit this year is something wonderful. He lowered his record to 2:14 at Terre Haute, having gone six heats better than :18. Last week at Lexington he went against some of the best horses in the United States, winning second money and making the best average time, twelve heats within eight days, that was ever made by a horse in harness, either trotting or pacing. Williard M. is a Decatur county bred horse, and it looks as if he is going to be a world beater. He has made a national reputation for his sire and Decatur county bred stock.—Greensburg New Era.

Some weeks ago I hinted that there was a strong probability that Knap McCarthy would leave the ranks of the trotting horse men and cast his lot with the thoroughbreds. The prediction has come to pass, for Mr. D. D. Withers, of Brookdale Farm, has secured Knap's services as trainer, and on next Monday the old-time driver will assume command of the runners. McCarthy was taught his business by that prince of reinsmen, Dan Mace, and that he was a worthy pupil of a great teacher his long and brilliant career on the track has amply proved. During the eleven years that McCarthy has been a trainer and driver he has trained and driven a large number of trotters to records below 2:20, and his success with the pacers has been simply wonderful. His first grand coup was with Little Brown Jug, and he drove the invincible pacing wonder in all his great engagements, including his champion three heats of 2:11¾, 2:11¾, 2:12¼. He also drove Flora Belle in 2.13¾, Gem in 2:15½, Sorrel Dan in 2:15½, Sir Archie in 2.16¼, Doctor M. in 2:15.

Among the trotters which he has steered to victory and given records may be mentioned Fanny Witherspoon, 2:17½; Minnie R., 2:19½; Bonesetter, 2:19¾; Silverton, 2:20¼; Zoe B, 2:17½; Belle F, 2:15½; Von Arnim, 2:19½, and Geneva S., 2:19¼.

The current number of the Horseman has the following: Monroe Salisbury's car will leave Chicago to-day (Thursday) for the Pacific Slope with a lot of valuable horses on board. Margaret S, the great three-year-old filly by Director, returns home to Pleasanton crowned with her rich Cleveland victory, and she has for company three richly-bred brood mares belonging to Governor Stanford, proprietor of celebrated Palo Alto. In the same car is the world-renowned trotting stallion Phallas, 2:13¾, and two others from Hickory Grove Farm, Mr. Case having decided to try the effect of the Pacific Coast atmosphere on his famous horse. The great Chicago-owned pacing stallion Roy Wilkes, 2:12¾, also has quarters assigned him in the car for a trip over the Rockies, where it is believed the speed-evolving atmosphere will enable him to materially reduce his present record. Mr. Wheeler, of Chicago, sends along two choice fillies to be bred. Mr. Salisbury will return home without his brood mare Echora (dam of Direct), as he has entered her, as well as a fast mare by Princeps and three choicely-bred youngsters in the combination horse sale now in progress in Chicago. The car-load arrived in Oakland all safe on Wednesday last.

The gentleman whose name is given below is a well-known horseman of Chicago, and has frequently written for the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN under the nom de plume of "On the Road."

When the Chinese lodge of Masons was established upon South Clark St., some time ago, says the Chicago Herald, the Chinamen sought recognition from the high Masons of Chicago and made several of them members of the local Chinese lodge. The first name proposed for honorary membership was that of Joe Day, the tailor, and it came about in this way: When the idea of taking in a Chicago Mason was first proposed the Chinese members of the lodge were asked to propose a friend they could trust. One of them, who attends the Y. M. C. A. Chinese Sunday-school, happened to think of the popular hymn, "Some Day," and this reminded him of Joe Day. Accordingly Joe was proposed, and he was taken in. He had to be given a name, however, and, as the Moy family is in the majority, he was designated as Hoy Moy Day. In this new departure Mr. Day has the endorsement of such well known Celestials as Vic Gow, Tom Cur, Aroh Win, Sam Free, Humph Mon, John Ham, Home Pot, Har Mil, Sam Park and Jack Pot. Mr. Day does not expect to catch the Chinese trade on this election, as his present facilities will not allow him to fit Chinamen. At the same time he is fully conscious of the honor of belonging to the local Chinese lodge in masonry.

There was quite a fair crowd of turfmen at Agricultural Park yesterday to witness the trot for the Sacramento yearling stake of 1889, open to all foals of 1888 owned in the counties of Sacramento, San Joaquin, Amador, El Dorado, Placer, Nevada, Sutter, Yuba, Butte, Lassen, Shasta, Colusa and Yolo, says the Sacramento Record Union. The conditions were—$75 entrance, of which $10 must accompany nomination; $15 to be paid May 1, 1889; $25 August 1, 1889, and $25 on the Saturday before the race; to be trotted in Sacramento the first Monday in November, 1889, good day and track. Half mile heats, best two in three. First colt to receive 50 per cent, second colt 30 per cent., and the third colt 20 per cent. of stake.

Quite a large number of entries were made, several of which fell out when the second payments fell due, and only two came to the scratch on the final payment. These were Hugh Casey's filly, Fanny C., by Fallis (be by Electioneer), her dam being out of a Reno and St. Clair mare and W. Gardner's colt.

The former won in straight heats, taking first and third moneys. The time was not taken, but the filly showed herself to be a very promising youngster.

LOS ANGELES.

THURSDAY.

The track was good, the weather splendid, and the attendance fair upon the fourth day of the meeting. The card was the same as upon the previous days, one trotting and two running races. The first event was the

2:35 Class—Trot.

The starters were Leon Rose's b g Richmond Jr., M. E. Ryan's s m Addie E. and J. B. Kennedy's b g Danger. In the pool-box Richmond was a hot favorite, going at $60, Addie E. selling for $27 and Danger for $6. The money on Richmond was almost a sure thing.

First Heat—They were sent away to a good start. Richmond broke as they entered the first turn, and when he settled, Danger was four lengths from him, with Addie E. at his wheel. There was no relative change in the positions until they got into the straight, when Richmond made one of his bursts of speed and got up on even terms with Danger, forcing him several times to a break and finishing head and head with him Richmond was given the heat, Danger second. Time, 2:28½.

Second Heat—Richmond was going in the pools at $25 to $6 for Addie E. and $2 for Danger. A head and head go sent them into the turn together, but Richmond lost his feet. Danger and Addie E. got to the quarter together, with Richmond three open lengths away from them In this order they trotted to the head of the straight; then Maben shook Richmond up, and he began to cut out the daylight, passing Addie E. and collaring Danger at the distance post and taking the heat by a length. Addie E. getting in second and Danger third. Time, 2:26¼.

Third Heat—Richmond went down several notches in popular favor in the third heat He did not get off well, and broke in the turn. Addie E. did the same thing, and Danger made several skips, but when they reached the quarter, Danger was first, Addie E. second and Richmond third, four lengths apart. In this order they reached the upper turn, where Richmond again went off his feet, and lost too much ground ever to recover. Danger trotted in three lengths winner, Addie E second and Richmond third. Time, 2:26¼.

Fourth Heat—If Mayben threw the third heat in order to make the betting better, he failed. Richmond sold steadily at $20 against $6 for the whole field and the field went begging. The heat was a repetition of the first and second, Danger leading. with Addie E in second place and Richmond last. Richmond began his work on the backstretch, passing Addie E and crawling up to Danger, cutting him down at the middle of the second turn. From there home he had it all his own way, finishing first by three lengths, Danger second. Time, 2:26¼.

SUMMARY.

Los Angeles, Cal , Oct. 31, 1889.—Trotting, 2.35 class.

L. J. Rose Jr.'s b g Richmond Jr., by A. W. Richmond, dam s. t. b. Col. Belmont	Maben	1	1	3	1
J. B. Kennedy,s b g Danger, by Odd Fellow, dam by Ethan Ellen	Kennedy	2	3	1	2
M. E. Ryan's ch m Addie E., by Algonia 1st	Baylis	3	2	2	3

Time, 2 28¾, 2:26¼, 2:26¼, 2.26½.

Running, five-eighths of a mile, two-year-olds.

In the above event there were five starters, Kelly & Samuels' b g Pliny 110, Ben Hill's b g Steve Stroud 107. L J, Felton's b h King David 110, Harry Rose's b f Rose Mead 107, and N A. Covarrubias' b g Gambo 107. Pliny was of course favorite, selling at $30 to $10 for the field, but he had a race that he will remember. Both he and Steve Stroud acted badly at the post and delayed the start for a long time. One breakaway was made and Steve Stroud jumped the fence. When he was in his place again the starter sent them off scattered, giving Gambo the best of it by three lengths. He went off with a rush and Pliny, Rose Meade and King David were head and head after him, Steve Stroud two lengths in the rear. Pliny began his running at the middle of the turn and started for Gambo. Down the straight they were both under the whip and stretched out. Slowly, Pliny closed the gap and under the hardest kind of a drive, collared Gambo and snatched the race by a neck in 1:02¼. Rose Meade ran third.

SUMMARY.

Same Day—Five-eighths of a mile dash, two-year-olds.

Kelly & Samuels' b g Pliny, by Flood, dam Precious, 107	Cook	1
W. A. Covarrubias' b g Gambo, by Wildidle, dam Dottie Dimple, 107	West	2
Harry Rose's b f Rose Mead, by Wildidle, dam Dutchess, 107	Narvarz	3

Time, 1:02¼.

Steve Stroud 107 and King David 110, unplaced.

Running, One and a Half Miles, All Ages.

The above event closed the day. Kelly & Samuels' b h Ed McGinnis, 4, 118. J. D. Dunn's ch h Four Aces, 3, 107 and Ben Hill's ch g Mikado, 4, 117, faced the post. In the box Mikado was a hot favorite, selling in one pool at $200 to $67 for Four Aces and $36 for McGinnis. It was an easy race for Mikado, and Four Aces was not in it at all, quitting on the backstretch at the end of the mile. McGinnis ran well up to Mikado until they reached the head of the straight in the home run and then Mikado had it all to himself, winning as he pleased in 2:39, McGinnis second.

SUMMARY.

Same Day—One and a half miles, all ages.

Ben Hill's ch g Mikado, 4, by Shiloh, dam Margery, 117	Hitchcock	1
Kelly & Samuels' b h Ed McGinnis, 4, by Grinstead, dam Jennie G, 118	Cook	2
J. D. Dunn's ch h Four Aces, 3, by Hock Hocking, dam Maid of the Mist, 107	Narvaez	3

Time 2:39.

FRIDAY.

More day's races, more people, is the rule with the Los Angeles public, and as the days go by the attendance and the enthusiasm increase. The track is steadily growing better, and to-day is fit for any time. Friday's events were not up to the average of the other days, but whatever was lacking in them was made up by the additional attractions of a ladies' equestrian tournament and a polo match. The first racing event was the

2:50 Class Trot.

Five starters faced the flag in the above event, C. A. Durfee's b h Raymond, John F. Dodson's b m Dutchess, J. B. Denman's b g Victor, J. D. Dunn's s m Orphan Girl, and L. J. Felton's br s Othello. Before the first heat Dutchess was favorite, selling in the pools at $20, Raymond going at $5 and the field at $3.

First Heat—Dutchess broke in the first turn and the entire crowd passed her, Raymond in front of them. They never headed him, and he took the heat easy in 2:27¼, Othello second, Victor third, Orphan Girl fourth and Dutchess fifth.

Second Heat—The talent began to hedge out at a lively rate and Raymond was made favorite at $30 against the whole field at $13. It was good money then. He got away in front and opened a gap of four lengths. Dutchess began to close the gap on the backstretch, and entering the second turn was on even terms with him, but she broke and again the crowd passed her. Richmond had it all to himself from there home and won as he pleased. Dutchess settled down and came home at about a twenty gait, finishing second three lengths from Raymond, Victor third, Orphan Girl fourth and Othello fifth. Time 2:30.

Third Heat—The third heat and the race were taken by Richmond. Dutchess, who was really his only competitor in the race, broke when entering the turn. Richmond went on in front, attended by Othello. Dutchess began to play for the leaders on the backstretch, and at the head of the straight was within three lengths of them, with a fair chance of winning, but she broke again and Raymond got home first, making a dozen runs in the mile. Dutchess finished second, Othello third, Victor fourth, and Orphan Girl fifth. Time 2:31.

SUMMARY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1889. Trotting, 2:50 class. Purse $400,

C. A. Durfee's b h Raymond, Simmons—Lady Raymond	Durfee	1	1	1
J. F. Dodson's b m Dutchess, A. W. Richmond—by Overland	Maben	5	2	2
W. K. Robinson's br h Othello, Sultan—Atlanta	Felton	2	5	3
J. B. Denman's Victor, Don Victor—unknown	Kennedy	3	3	4
J. D. Dunn's ch m Orphan Girl, Del Sur—unknown	Dunn	4	4	5

Time—2:27¼, 2 30, 2:31.

Running, ⅞ Mile; Three-year olds.

The above was the first running event of the day, and had in it but two starters—Harry Rose's b h Dan Murphy, 118, and P. C Donalech's ch g Naicho B, 115. In the pool boxes Murphy was a hot favorite at $25 to $7. The judges suspected something and took down Cook, who was to ride Naicho B, and put up West. Naicho B was stiff, too stiff for a race, and he was never in it; Murphy jumped away in the lead and ran the distance a length in front of Naicho B without getting the whip. Naicho B quit at the head of the straight and Murphy cantered in in 1:30¼.

SUMMARY.

⅞ mile; Three-year-olds.

Harry Rose's b h Dan Murphy, by Spectator, 118	Narvaez	1
P. C. Donalech's ch g Naicho B, by Wanderer, dam Flower Girl, 115	West	2

Time, 1:30¾.

Running, 1¼ miles; all ages.

The closing event of the day was the above, Ben Hill's ch g Tycoon, 5, 115, and Al Moraine's b g John Treat, 6, 115, being the only starters. The talent backed John Treat heavily, and were landed in the soup. He was bought at odds of three to one against Hill's gelding and he was not in it. He managed to stay the mile fairly well, but the extra quarter was too much for him and he quit badly. Tycoon won easily without a slash from the whip in 2:09½.

SUMMARY.

Same Day.—One and one-quarter miles, all ages.

Ben Hill's ch g Tycoon, 5, by Reveille, dam Margery, 115	Hitchcock	1
Al Moraine's g g John Treat, a, by Shiloh, dam unknown, 115	Narvaez	2

Time, 2:09½.

SATURDAY.

On Saturday, November 2d, a very successful race meeting came to a close. The events of the week were not up to the standard. The circuit has seen better, especially among the trotters, but there was honest, square racing, and people like to see that, even though the horses are not the fastest in the world. The runners have received the lion's share of attention, and they have furnished some good sport, with not a few surprises, some of the local horses going faster than a well informed public thought they could. Saturday's sport began with a mixed trotting and pacing special, Silkwood, a pacer, going to a cart.

Special Mixed Race.

The starters were J. B. Kennedy's b g Danger, N. A. Covarrubias' blk g Nieger Baby, W. P. Johnson's r g Phil Frieler (pacer), and J. Willett's blk h Silkwood (pacer to cart). Silkwood sold in the pools for $20, Danger going at $18 and the field at $3.

First Heat—Phil Frieler got away from the score at a clipping gait, and going around the turn put himself four lengths in front. Danger and Silkwood came wheel to wheel in second place, and Nigger Baby four lengths to the bad. The positions were hardly changed. In the straight both Silkwood and Danger made desperate efforts to catch Frieler, but he was too fleet, and beat them out by three lengths, Silkwood getting second place by a neck, Danger third, Nigger Baby fourth. Time, 2:26¼.

Second Heat—Danger suddenly jumped into favor. The crowd thought it all up with Silkwood, and that Frieler couldn't go another fast mile, and so Danger was picked as the final winner, the talent buying him at $20 to $18 for Silkwood and $3 for the field. Frieler was again to the fore, but this time he was attended by Silkwood, Danger trotting two lengths behind them and Nigger Baby trailing. Frieler managed to stay in front until he got into the straight, but he was tired and the pace was too fast. He went off his feet in a bad break, and Silkwood passed him, followed by Danger. Silkwood came home easy and finished strong in 2:25½, Danger two lengths back, Frieler third.

Third Heat—Very little betting was done, a few pools going at $30 for Silkwood, $10 for Danger and $4 for the field. The race was already over. Silkwood took the lead on the turn, attended by Danger. Phil Frieler broke as he entered the turn and was never heard from again. Danger hung on to Silkwood's wheel all the way, making a run every few yards. Silkwood paced home without a break, finishing first by half a length, Danger second, Phil Frieler a poor third and Nigger Baby fourth. Time, 2:26

Fourth Heat—The fourth heat was an exact repetition of the third, except that the finish between Danger and Silkwood was closer. Silkwood was in the lead all the way to the middle of the straight, and then Danger collared him, but at the finish Silkwood drew away under the whip and won by a neck, Nigger Baby third, Phil Frieler fourth. Time, 2:31½.

SUMMARY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 2d.—Special; mixed trotting and pacing.

J. Willetts' blk s Silkwood (pacer to cart) by Blackwood Mambrino, dam by Mambrino Boy	Willets	2	1	1	1
W. P. Johnson's r g Phil Frieler (pacer) by Copper Bottom	Maben	1	3	3	4
J. B. Kennedy's b g Danger by Odd Fellow, dam by Ethan Allen	Felton	3	2	2	2
N. A. Covarrubias, blk g Nigger Baby by Allo	Walters	4	4	4	3

Time, 2.26¼, 2:25½, 2:26, 2.31¼.

Running—Three-quarter Mile—Two Year Olds.

The above event was a special race, made up for L. J. Felton's b h King David, 105, Harry Rose's b f Rose Mead, 100, and L. J. Rose's Rose's Filly, 90. Rose Mead had the best of it in the betting, selling for $20 to $8 for the field The flag went down with King David a length in front. He held that lead up the backstretch and into the turn, but there Rose Mead closed up and lapped on his flank. In the straight there was some hot work. King David getting some hot work. Narvaez did his best on Rose Mead, but King David beat her out by a neck in 1:16½.

SUMMARY.

Same Day.—Running, three-quarters of a mile; two-year-olds.

L. G. Felton's b h King David, by Kyrle Daly, dam Trophy, 105	Murphy	1
Harry Rose's b f Rose Mead, by Wild Idle, dam Duchess, 100	Narvaez	2
L. J. Rose's ch f Rose's Filly, by Hock Hocking, dam by Grinstead 90	Farrar	3

Time, 1:16½.

Running, two mile dash, all ages.

Hearts of old Californians beat faster when the favorite race of by-gone days was rung out. Two mile dashes are not seen every day. The starters in this one were J. Warring's b g Telephone, a, 117, W L. Appleby's b h Wild Oats, 3, 105, and P. C. Donalech's ch g Naicho B, 3, 102. Wild Oats was favorite in the pools, selling at $20 to $12 for the field. The race for the first mile lay between Wild Oats and Telephone, those two see-sawing for the first place, while Naicho B made a wait three lengths behind them. Telephone quit at the end of the mile and Naicho B began to move up, entering the straight for the run home a length behind Oats. Both of them got the whip and it seemed for a moment as if Oats was done, but half way down the straight he pulled himself together and made a strong finish three lengths ahead of Naicho B, Telephone away back. Time, 3:38.

SUMMARY.

Same Day.—Two mile dash; all ages.

W. L. Appleby's Wild Oats, 3, by Wild Idle, dam Mary Givens. 105	Hitchcock	1
P. C. Donalech's ch g Naicho B, 3, by Wanderer, dam Flower Girl, 102	Narvaez	2
J. Warring's br g Telephone, a, by Wild Idle, dam by Belmont, 117	Moffitt	3

Time, 3:38.

The show department of the fair did not attract the attention it would warrant from its excellence. It ranked with the other district fairs. The following is the list of the premium awards in the Thoroughbred and Standard trotter classes, which gives one some idea of the quality of the animals exhibited.

DIVISION A.—HORSES, THOROUGHBRED.

Director J. C. Norton in charge.

Class 1. — Best stallion, 1 year old, Wild Dare, John Gries, Compton; no competition; first premium, $12.

Best mare, 4 years old or over, Nelly Gries, Compton; first premium, $20.

Best mare, 1 year old, Jeannie Hatch, John Gries, Compton; second premium, $4.

Best suckling filly, Ida Belle, John Gries, Compton; first premium, $6.

Best dam, and not less than two of her colts, Magnet, with three colts (Ben, Hocking and Clifton Bell), N. McLain, Los Angeles, first premium, $20.

DIVISION B.—HORSES, STANDARD BRED.

Class 2.—Best mare, 4 years old, Semi-Tropic, Dr. K. D. Wise, Los Angeles; first premium, $20.

Best mare, 4 years old, Flora Dell, C. A. Durfee, Los Angeles; second premium, $10.

Best mare, 3 years old, Precept, R. J. Bliss, Santa Ana, first premium, $20.

Best mare, 1 year old, Miss Kaiser, C. A. Durfee, Los Angeles: first premium, $6.

Best mare, 1 year old, Felix, second premium, $3.

Best suckling, Sunolo, E. Depuy, Los Angeles; first premium. $5.

Best suckling, Dart, E. Depuy, Los Angeles; second premium, $3.

Best mare and two colts, Tempest, Dr. K. D. Wise, Los Angeles; first premium, $20.

Best mare and two colts, Lenore, C. A. Durfee, Los Angeles; diploma.

Best stallion, 4 years old, Gossiper, C. A. Durfee, Los Angeles; first premium, $30

Best stallion, 4 years old, Prestige, R. J. Blee, Santa Ana; second premium, $15.

Best stallion, 3 years old, Glendine, Dr. K. D. Wise, Los Angeles; first premium, $20.

Best stallion, 3 years old, Thayermont, H. Thayer, Los Angeles; second premium, $10.

Best stallion, 2 years old, M. Kinney, C. A. Durfee, Los Angeles; first premium, $15

Best stallion, 2 years old, Presto, R. J. Blee, Santa Ana; second premium, $8.

Best stallion, 1 year old, Emin, Rey, Dr. K. D. Wise, Los Angeles; first premium, $12.

Best stallion, 1 year old, Rustan; second premium $6.

Best stallion suckling, Judd; no competition, $10.

SAN MATEO STOCK FARM

Home of Guy Wilkes.

Record, 2:15 1-4.

GUY WILKES' book is full for 1890, now open for 1891 at $500 the season.

SABLE WILKES, three-year-old record 2:18, will be allowed to serve 25 mares in addition to those already engaged at $250 the season of 1890. SABLE WILKES, 15¾ hands, black horse, by Guy Wilkes, first dam Sable by The Moor; second dam Gretchen by Mambrino Pilot; third dam Kitty Kirkman by Canada Chief; fourth dam by Fanning's Tobe; fifth dam by imp. Leviathan.

LEO WILKES, brown horse, four years, 16 hands, full brother to Sable Wilkes, will be allowed to serve 30 mares at $100 the season

Mares not proving with foal may be returned the following season free of service fee. Parties engaging the services of any of the above horses must send a deposit of 10 per cent. of service money with engagement. Pasturage $6 per month, and when the condition of the animal requires it, hay or grain, or both are fed, the charge will be $12.50 per month. Good care will be taken of all mares sent to the Farm, but no liability will be assumed for accidents or escapes.

All bills are due at time of service, but must be paid by August 1st of each year. No stock will be allowed to leave the place until all bills are paid.

WILLIAM CORBITT.

San Mateo Stock Farm.

ROD.

The Fish Commission.

Labor Commissioner Tobin's office at 220 Sutter street, was filled on Tuesday afternoon last by Deputy Fish Commissioners, and persons interested in the work of the Fish Commission. Both President Routier and Mr. Harvey were present and a great volume of business was dispatched with a celerity, clearness and accuracy which was most gratifying. After approval of the minutes Secretary Harvey read the reports of Deputies Callundan, Woodbury, and Anaya, for the month of October. The report of Mr. Callundan was published in this paper last week. Mr. Woodbury who has in charge the Lake Tahoe hatchery reported, that from 1,000,000 to 1,200,000 trout had been planted in Lake Tahoe and in the headwaters of the American River and at Gilmores Springs. New houses have been built for the quarters of the men employed at the hatchery, and everything at Tahoe is now in first-class condition for them to resume their future work. A flume has been built from the springs so as to carry cold water into the hatchery at Lake Tahoe.

The report further stated that a large quantity of black bass had been shipped from the Spring Valley Water Works at San Mateo to Oroville, and three loads of black bass were shipped to Clear Lake, Lake County. Deputy Woodbury also reported that nearly a million of salmon eggs have been received at Sissons at the new State hatchery from the United States hatchery on the McCloud River. These eggs have all hatched out and are in the best condition at the present time.

The annual consignment of salmon eggs from the Government is expected by the last of December, out of the fall or second run of salmon. The eggs will be received from the McCloud River hatchery, and according to the judgment of the deputy, it will take until March to distribute them up and down the Sacramento River.

Deputy Woodbury will go in a few days to the Klamath River to look up a suitable location where he can start a small temporary hatchery. He expects to derive from this from one to two million eggs. As soon as the eggs are obtained and are in condition to be shipped, they will be packed in moss and sent to the hatchery at Sissons to be hatched out, and from there they will be distributed throughout the Sacramento River and its branches. and also in the streams around San Francisco Bay.

Deputy Frank Anaya of Modesto reported that he had patrolled all the streams in his district, and had destroyed all of the fish traps he had discovered. A thorough investigation by the deputy showed that there was at the present time no more fish-trapping going on in Stanislaus County.

A plan for fish ladders which was received and adopted at the last meeting by the Commissioners, and which was not spread on the minutes, was ordered placed thereon in order to set aside any doubt that might arise as to the legality of the plan.

Mr. M. A. Wheaton appeared before the Board and asked for instructions as to how he should build his fish ways on the Tuolumne River. He had been arrested on one occasion for not conforming to the law, and rather than be again brought into trouble he would arrange his fish ways according to the Commission's orders. He was given the necessary instructions, and stated that he would immediately begin work in building a way that will conform to the State laws.

The Secretary of the California State Sportsman's Association reported the action of the association at its recent meeting relative to the request of the Commission for information about what game birds were best suited for introduction to this State. The birds recommended were the Colin or Virginia Bob White, the prairie chicken or pinnated grouse, the Australian quail and the wild turkey.

The Secretary was requested to correspond with gentlemen living in parts of the country in which Bob Whites abound and where they might be purchased.

Bills aggregating $1,415 were audited, and the Board then went into executive session.

From the Yreka Journal.

An influential and excellent exchange is the Yreka Journal, published in the very heart of the country from which come most of the deer hides, both those of bucks and those of does and fawns. The Journal in its last issue has these notes, which cannot but serve a good purpose in awakening the citizens of Mendocino to an appreciation of the outrageous wrongs perpetrated by the hide hunters. The Journal says;

The President of the State Board of Game and Fish Commissioners, who was here last week, accompanied by Deputy Commissioner Bogart, visited the Klamath River dam at Klamath City, and found the Lumber Company of that place anxious and willing to do everything possible for the free run of the migratory fish, and arrangements have been made for successfully accomplishing that purpose. There are to be two shutes, about 30 feet in length, one on each side of the river, at the end of which will be an apron about 18 feet wide, to make a good riffle over which the fish can make a straight run up to and through the shutes from the dam, causing no more difficulty for the fish to pass than through the rapids in the streams at many points below and above the dam. The Commissioner also promises to supply 60,000 rainbow or Dolly Varden trout for stocking Shasta River, and send a man with them, provided the supervisors have the ditches on that stream so screened as to prevent their extermination, a new style of screen being proposed that will be beneficial to ditch men and need no attention in keeping clear of drift. In two years the river will be full of this delicious food, fish weighing a couple of pounds each, and it is claimed they always remain in the stream in which they are placed and hatched. He also advises that no catfish or rock bass be introduced as they will destroy the trout, although there are a few catfish in the sloughs now, their introduction some years ago not having been a success, as their natural home is in mud and muddy water. The State Commissioner also examined the hides seized last week, some 1,500 in number, finding plenty of does' hides, and even the skins of spotted fawns. They were purchased and paid for by a San Francisco firm, who will be amenable to the game law.

And adds editorially:

Either the fish and game laws ought to be repealed, or else those who violate them should be punished. If law-abiding citizens respect the laws, those who refuse to do so should not have free license to do as they please in regard to killing game and catching fish at times prohibited by law. No blame can be attached to the officers in performing their duties, as the law compels them to act, or else violate their obligations.

A correspondent of the paper writes:

The recent action of Deputy Fish Commissioner Bogart in seizing a lot of deer skins, on their way to the San Francisco market, should meet with the hearty approval and support of all good citizens. For years our statute books have been burdened with a lot of laws for the protection of game, especially deer, which have been entirely useless, as it has been impossible to enforce them. As a consequence, deer, the most noble game animal in the State, have been almost entirely obliterated from our mountains. Hide hunters have been reaping a rich harvest, defying the law and the community generally. Two years ago last winter the Legislature amended our game laws, and for the first time we have something on our statutes in this line which is of some value. It is only recently, however, that any attempt seems to have been made to enforce this provision, and we sincerely hope that no effort will be spared to enforce the only law that our legislature has ever pessed, for the protection of game, that has been of any value.

A Winter's Sport in Florida.

By O. A. Mygatt.

Tom and I were sitting by a cheerful fire, silently smoking. No remark had been made for some time, says A. O. Mygatt in Outing for November. Suddenly I was startled by the following sentiment, uttered with great feeling: "New York begins to bore me like thunder!" "Well," said I, "if New York bores you there are two courses open for you—either go shoot yourself or go to Florida and shoot something else." Tom was a bit brightened at the suggestion. "Right you are, old boy!" Florida is the place, but no shooting trip; let it be fishing, pure and simple. Besides, you know, it doesn't pay very well to take a gun to Florida nowadays. What do you say to skipping from this civilized metropolis on Saturday?" "Saturday suits me," I answered. Saturday at midnight we boarded the Jacksonville express, rods in hand, and with a goodly supply of tackle in our trunks. Tuesday saw us at Rockledge, on the Indian River, bargaining for a sailboat and two rowboats. The same afternoon, having laid in a large stock of provisions, flour, eggs and canned goods, we started down the lagoon. For a skipper we had the genial, well-posted McGruger, while dusky, good-natured Peter acted as cook and aide-de-camp.

It was a beautiful Florida winter's day, warm, but pleasant. As Tom and I lay on the cabin roof smoking our pipes and the boat glided along, we mutally congratulated ourselves on the change from New York, with its snow and slush, its unhallowed but civilized delights, to our present enjoyment of floating along, caring not whither we went. Next day we arrived at the Indian River Inlet. Here I had often found good fishing on former trips, so we decided to put in several days at channel bass. During the first of these, owing to a cold north wind, the fishing was poor, but the fourth day the wind went south and the weather became warm. Tom, disgusted with our poor luck, refused to move from the sailboat, so, taking a boat, I left him to row up one of the channels that run from the inlet to the Indian River. I stopped at a large deep pond caused by a sudden curve in the creek. Putting on a spoon bait I cast it astern, then letting the rod down so that my feet controlled the handle of the reel I proceeded to lay around, letting out line when I thought necessary. I have always had a mania for fishing entirely alone whenever I could, and have found that with practice, calling to my aid traits of forgotten ancestors, and using my feet as well as my hands, I could do very good trolling by myself. I had rowed barely half a minute and not thirty feet of line had run out, when there was a sudden jerk and the reel buzzed. Dropping the oars I seized the rod, and then followed fifteen minutes of such pleasure as only a fisherman can feel.

At the end of this time I had brought the bass alongside the boat and gaffed him. On weighing him on my scales he pulled beyond the twelve-pound notch. Casting him in the bow I began again to fish. Within two minutes I had another one, and once more I was in the seventh heaven of a fisherman's delight, playing my catch. The day turned out to be a red-letter one. For four hours, until full tide, my good luck continued. At five o'clock I started to row back to the sailboat to get my well-earned, but, unfortunately, canned dinner. Nineteen channel bass lay in the boat, glittering proofs of a great day's sport. The lightest weighed six pounds, the heaviest sixteen; the total weight being something over three hundred pounds. As I went back I passed two sailboats whose occupants had been fishing at the inlet. Their surprise, not to say disgusted, faces when they saw my catch gave me most excessive joy. Tom, whom I found reading where I left him, was dumfounded. Only for a moment, however, and then he gave me the full benefit of his opinion of my luck in a style or oratory so eloquent that Demosthenes might have envied him had it not been frequently emphasized with profanity. Several more fair days' fishing followed, and then as the sandflies became too attentive, we started for Jupiter Inlet, some forty miles below. When off the mouth of St. Lucie River, however, Tom proposed that we should sail as far up the river as we could to see what was there, as he put it. Having heard that the river was most beautiful, and that fresh-water bass were plentiful, I offered no objection, so our course was altered and set for St. Lucie River.

After the first few miles the river, which was broad, with pine woods on each side, narrowed down to a couple of feet in width. The banks grew lower and were covered with palm trees, live oaks intermingled with other trees forming a back-ground. The water grew deep and of a transparent dark-brown tint, becoming almost black in places. Lily pads covered the whole surface at times; then the water was hidden by a mass of bright yellow flowers. Kingfishes darted about, with their harsh, exasperating cry. Now a white crane slowly crossed the glassy surface, its reflection as clear as the bird itself. Then a large silver-gray heron, suddenly startled, would rise slowly and majestically and disappear around the curve of the stream. Small bright-blue and cardinal-red birds darted in and out among the trees, while now and then pairs of wood ducks, rising suddenly from many a little pass, would for a moment show their brilliant metallic colors, as, like pieces of jewelry, they flashed in the sunlight. The whole scene was real enchanting. No thought of shooting or fishing entered the mind. Either seemed out of place in such a paradise. For three days we roamed up and down the river, paddling up side creeks, reading, dreaming, smoking, and thoroughly enjoying the beautiful scenery. But soon the spirit of the fisherman awoke in us once more, and, tearing ourselves away from our fascinating surroundings, we sailed for Jupiter Inlet. The trip was uneventful.

While passing through Jupiter Narrows we caught a dozen or so of sea trout, trolling with a phantom minnow. The sea trout cooked in brandy and washed down with true old English Bass makes a delicious meal. On arriving at Jupiter we inquired as to the fishing there that year. The lighthouse keeper informed us that but few parties had been there so far, and that the fishing was poor. This we found to be true enough, as only a few stray bluefish and channel bass rewarded our efforts.

An old cracker from the upper part of Jupiter Creek luckily turned up a few days after our arrival, and, as we had found out from experience that something was always to be learned from the oldest inhabitant, we entered into conversation with him on the subject of fishing. To our delight he assured us that he had seen hundreds of tarpon up the creek, that they followed his boat like sheep, and that they would snap at a piece of rope trolling in the water. We made up our minds that he embroidered well, even if the whole fabric was not a gigantic lie, but determined to investigate the matter nevertheless. We questioned him as to how many miles up the creek he had seen the most tarpon. Next day found our sailboat tied to a pine tree about a mile below the spot described. It was about four o'clock in the afternoon when we reached our anchorage or treeage, but Tom and I determined to take a row up the creek and see whether the cracker had been greening us or not. So, taking one rod along for any stray chances that might turn up, we started. I rowed around several curves, Tom reclining in the stern, when I saw his face suddenly illuminated with the most angelic expression, while his lips parted in a rapturous smile.

"Great Cæsar's ghost! just look at that!" he cried, pointing behind him. Dropping my oars, I looked around. A stretch of about a hundred yards lay before me, the water smooth as glass, the slanting rays of the setting sun touching only one side of the creek. In this stretch of water some fifty to sixty fish were rolling about like porpoises, but the silver glitter and the large scales visible on the nearer ones made me cry out at once, "Tarpon, by Jove!" They were the first we had ever seen, so our excitement may be well imagined. Suddenly one rose within twenty yards of the boat, and, making a beautiful curve, showed almost his whole side and disappeared. I took the rod, and putting on a large bone squib, cast it far out, drawing the squib rapidly back over the surface of the water, winding swiftly on my reel.

Two or three times I cast, and suddenly there was a swirl and a splash. A large tarpon had dashed at the squib and missed it. Time after time this was repeated, sometimes two or three following it right up to the boat, but evidently without trying to seize the bait. It was most exasperating. Here we were surrounded by these large and beautiful fish, who seemed entirely bent on tantalizing us. After half an hour they ceased to do even that, and we saw the whole band go splashing and cavorting up the stream, where they disappeared around a curve.

It was now nearly dark, so, disgusted with our treatment, we returned to the sailboat. During dinner and all that evening, tarpon was the only subject of conversation, and many were the plans proposed to decoy one of these lordly fish to his doom next day. Early in the morning Tom and I started off up the stream once more. We had a good supply of squibs and spoon baits of all sorts, but no bait, as the men had been unable to get any mullet, owing to the depth of the water in the creek. For four hours we wandered up and down that stream, but never a tarpon showed itself. Half a dozen alligators were scared, and we saw them jump from the banks into the water; but we were not after alligators, and had no gun anyway. At last, disheartened, we started back for lunch. Suddenly on turning the curve we met our friends of the day before at the same old game. Putting on a spoon bait and a lead for bait, I cast it over the spots they were breaking in. After one or two playful rises by tarpon that didn't mean business, the spoon was seized by a big fellow, who, coming up with a rush, showed himself half out of the water. Whiz went the reel, snap went the line, and my first tarpon had been hooked and lost. Three more spoons went the same road.

This being our first experience with tarpon, we were not aware of the necessity of a thick cotton shell above the spoon for a couple of feet, to counteract the file-like action of their jaws. I was growing desperate at my frequent losses, and almost sick with the constant excitement and disappointment, when a smaller fellow seized the spoon and disappeared with it. The line didn't break this time, and the fish seemed well hooked. This tarpon behaved like a lunatic. Probably it seemed so to me, as he was the first one I had ever trifled with. He would dart with lightning speed for fifty yards, spring several feet out of the water, wriggle and shake his head fiercely in the air; then dash back on the same track he had come and disappear under the boat. Now and then he would vary this performance by taking double somersaults in the air backward and forward, being evidently an adept at either. Of course this sort of thing could not last long, and in fifteen minutes I had him alongside the boat, and Tom gaffed him. When gaffed he made a final rally, struggled for freedom, and almost succeeded in dragging Tom into the water, but instead Tom jerked him into the boat. "What a beautiful fish!" we both exclaimed at once, and sat gazing admiringly at it.

Without a doubt the tarpon is the most beautiful fish in the world, if we take into account shape, color and size. Fresh from the water its sides are a brilliant silver; its back a dark opalescent green, giving purple and red metallic flashes when looked at from various angles. Its belly is white mother of pearl, its tail and back fin gleam with purple and green iridescence. When we consider that to this flashing mass of silver and brilliant coloring a good, gamey shape is added and a fierce head, we easily understand why the tarpon is called "The Silver King," and is the king of game fish.

An exclamation of Tom's drew me from my pleasant contemplation. "Stolen as usual," he sarcastically said, and so it was. The fish was hooked in the cartilage just behind one eye. Soon after all the tarpon disappeared. It was, probably, their dinner hour. We took the hint and returned to ours. On weighing the fish he scaled forty-two pounds, measuring four feet two inches in length. For a week we tried that creek again with spoon squib and fresh bait, but, although we saw many tarpon playing around, not a rise nor a strike rewarded us. At last, weary with futile attempts, we sailed down the creek and back to Jupiter, entering off the light-house. Here we heard that up in the bay, just before getting to Jupiter Creek, plenty of big crevalle had been seen sunning themselves, so we decided the next day to try our luck with them. Starting about 9 o'clock, Tom and I rowed up to the lagoon, some four miles away. This lagoon was really part of the creek, but was three-quarters of a mile wide by two miles long. Paddling about here we arrived at a spot two hundred yards from the southern side, where the frequent brakes, screws and small mullet informed us that some large fish were feeding. Allowing our boat to drift, we placed ourselves in each end of the boat with a rod. Having cut pieces of mullet about six inches long and about an inch wide, we tied these to the hook and line, allowing about half to hang loose below the hook. Casting the bait as far as possible, we would wind in, jerking them to the surface of the water.

At every cast the water would actually boil behind our baits, but somehow the crevalle would not bite just then. Half an hour later, however, when the tide began to run in, Tom hooked the first fish. The crevalle made a splendid fight, and although on a heavy rod it was fifteen minutes before we could gaff it. He weighed fifteen pounds. Two more I landed soon afterward. They made splendid sport. Tom had just played the fourth some ten minut s, and was gradually reeling him in for me to gaff, when, within ten feet of the boat, a shark, about seven feet long I should judge, sprang at the crevalle, and, presto! the deed was done.

Twice again during the afternoon the same thing took place. Each time the shark was successful, and obtained the free lunch he coveted.

At one time there were five sharks struggling around our boat, no doubt attracted by the blood of the crevalle that had been bitten. Only quick work with the gaff saved our fish several times. We had altogether landed twenty-three crevalle, averaging from three to seventeen pounds, when, the sky in the north becoming threatening, we headed back to Jupiter. It was too late, however, to escape the storm, for before we could reach our sailboat it struck us, and in five minutes we were soaked and the boat half filled. For several days we repeated our crevalle excursion, each day catching from a dozen to two dozens of this gamey fish, than which, in my opinion, none pulls harder for its size. Finally, having spent a fortnight very satisfactorily in the neighborhood of Jupiter, we set sail and started north once more. We decided to go to Titusville and from there to Puntagorda, on the Gulf side, by Enterprise, Sandford and Bartow. From Puntagorda we planned to go t Puntarassa, which we had heard was the headquarters for tarpon enthusiasts. This programme we carried out. At Puntagorda we engaged a thirty-foot sloop with two men and two rowboats, in which we sailed to the Tarpon House, Puntarassa.

The reader must not be led by this ornamental name of Tarpon House into figuring for himself one of the typical hotels of the southern United States. It only became a hotel after passing a certain evolution of its own. Originally a provision depot during the last Seminole war, it became for years a terminus of the Havana cable, which it still is. A few years ago, however, the genial operator, Mr. George Schultz, adapted it to fill, in a measure, a want long felt by anglers in these regions, and now it affords a shelter during the night to the few but energetic tarpon fishermen who visit Puntarassa. Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Schultz has accommodation for some twenty guests, he has every spring to send as many more away. Imagine to yourself a large, irregular, painted wooden house, surrounded by a veranda, with a pier fifty yards long jutting out from it. Place the whole of this on a sand spit stretching out into the bay, and you have a very good idea of the place. Not attractive, no doubt you think. Wait until you have returned once from a good day's tarpon fishing to its comfortable shelter, to its good—though invariable—fish supper; wait till after supper, when sitting on the veranda you are smoking and glorying about yourself, always supposing you have caught a tarpon, and then, not till then give me your opinion.

Here Tom and I put up, glad to escape from the narrow confinement of a sailboat, which we had endured for six weeks on the Indian River, and had had quite enough of. Our sailboat we simply used for cruising about to the various fishing grounds. At the hotel were some ten or twelve energetic fishermen, generally New Yorkers, most of them good at all sorts of fishing. During the daytime nobody was visible, all being off to court the lordly tarpon. In the evening all would meet on the veranda or in the smoking room, when the events of that day were thoroughly discussed. The number of swirls seen or imagined; the number of tarpon fins or tails that had been spied; who had had a strike, with generally a wildly excited discussion as to whether that identical strike had been a shark or a tarpon. These were the topics we discussed. If a tarpon had been caught the lucky man was the hero of that evening. He was surrounded and questioned; every detail was eagerly demanded; the number of times his fish jumped, how high, how far; whether he had made more than one somersault in the air; how he took the bait off, slow or fast; did he show his tail out of the water or simply swirl, or had he given any indication of his intentions at all? Then the noble catcher was interviewed as to how he had played his capture and how he had gaffed it. And then a man would presently leave the group and go to the end of the pier, and with a lamp would examine the fish carefully, and put his finger in every suspicious hole, lest by chance that fish might have been shot or speared; and perhaps the fish would seem shorter than the length announced, and at once a tape would be procured and the fish re-measured, perhaps even be weighed. The difference of a quarter of an inch in length or of half a pound in weight would be welcomed with shouts of laughter, and the lucky man guyed on his deceitful proclivities.

Verily, the lover's jealousy may be a green-eyed monster, but compared with the jealousy of the tarpon fisherman toward his brother sportsman it counteth as nothing. Dark hints, suggestive winks, sarcastic smiles and harassing whispers can be seen all over the hotel the day one or more tarpon are caught. If you saw two old sports of an evening whispering in a corner, their faces indicative of subdued delight and exchanging every now and then a soft chuckle, you might be sure that the reputation of so-and-so as a fisherman was suffering badly at their hands, or rather tongues. Aside from the weakness of thinking that every fish was not caught exactly as it should be, or in quite a sportsman-like way, a more genial or perfectly satisfied set of men it would be hard to find anywhere.

Two more courteous and affable gentlemen than Hon. Joseph Routier and Hon. J. Downey Harvey, Fish Commissioners, would be hard to find, but underlying their geniality there is an unmistakable purpose to perform the duties prescribed to members of the Commission by law. They are inexorable when offenses are brought to notice, and unvarying in attempts to apprehend violators of the game and fish laws. Neither position, personal relations, nor any other consideration is permitted to influence them, and the sooner hide hunters, quail trappers, and dealers in forbidden skins and game awake to the fact that the Commission means business, the better it will be for them.

The Commissioners have earned the warm regard and respect both of sportsmen and citizens generally, and should be generously and generally upheld in their thankless endeavors.

Habits of the Ruffed Grouse.

The partridge is a brown bird, and much more wily; by this ye shall recognize him. In the wider portions of our country the impression has gained ground that T. umbellus is a fool. No such thing; he is a valiant bird, and a reasoning one, only in this instance his reasoning is on wrong lines, says an exchange. Because for ages it had been sufficient to flutter to the nearest bough to elude the fox, the wildcat or the skunk, the same tactics were resorted to when approached by that hideous two-legged beast with a club in its hand. Experience, however, has taught the surviving relatives of the deceased grouse a hard lesson, and to-day, in the more settled districts, they are the hardest game bird of the United States to hunt successfully. Even in the back townships of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, the partridge is as wild as a hawk on certain days; in fact, no bird, not even the snipe, is so changeable in his moods as the subject of this sketch. If the bushes are wet he is unsettled; if a moderate breeze is blowing, he is wild and difficult to approach, while a warm, still morning, after a cold, frosty night, renders this bird so tame that the veriest tyro that ever shouldered a converted flintlock can get within murderous range and "pot" his bird sitting.

There is much in knowing where to look for the game. The novice is apt to go tearing at railroad speed over the whole country-side, tongue out and perspiring at every pore, until at last, when thoroughly disheartened, he eventually stumbles on a flock, he is so bedeviled that he misses clean. Contrast his behaviour with that of the old "pattridge gunner" from the head of Bitter creek. This worthy knows full well, if it be early in the season and the weather has been fine and dry for some days or weeks, that every bird will be near the banks of one of the small ril's that feed the river in the valley below. At such seasons and in such places several broods seem to keep together; the writer knows of one flock that numbered eighteen birds when found.

Later on, and during October, the partridge are more scattered, and are very much given to frequenting the vicinity of old lumber roads, or even the country highways. There is one plant they are passionately fond of, and eat with avidity whenever circumstances permit, the clover; and, if a quiet woods' road be visited, passing through alternate hardwood ridges and alder swales, and carpeted with an abundant growth of timothy and clover, partridge shooting on that trail will usually be good, and fresh flocks constantly arriving to take the place of those butchered to make a citizen's holiday.

In November the birds usually take to the beech ridges, and then are undoubtedly at their best from a gastronomical standpoint. Anything more toothsome than a plump nut-brown partridge, who has been gorging himself daily on beech-mast for weeks does not exist. They have been shot, under these conditions, so fat that their breasts split on falling, like an over-ripe peach. The stock of these birds varies much from year to year; a wet June kills many young birds, while a dry warm summer is favorable to them, and insures sport in the fall for the hunter with his breech loader and merry setters.

There was very poor fishing on Sunday and during the week

Smelt were scarce everywhere, and the rock cod did not seem to hook as well as usual.

Several very large salmon trout have recently been caught around the different wharves.

The tides will be good to-morrow, but the chances are the fishing around the bay will be poor.

THE KENNEL.

Dog owners are requested to send for publication the earliest possible notices of whelps, sales, names claimed, presentations and deaths in their kennels, in all instances writing plainly names of sire and dam and of grandparents, colors, dates and breed.

The Irish Setter Club's Trials.

Dr. J. H, Salter, one of the judges of the Irish Setter Club's field trials has furnished the English Kennel Gazette a report of the trials, which we believe is the first report of a field trial ever published with the name of a judge signed to it. The report is very interesting, and shows Dr. Salter to be thoroughly familiar with the subject he is writing of. It is only natural, therefore, that he should be so good a judge. We copy the following portion of the report, which will be interesting to our readers, especially to those who own Irish setters:

The meeting must be considered a highly successful one in every way. It has certainly done one thing, and that is to establish the Irish setter, when properly broken and handled, as equal, if not superior, to the best strains of English setters and pointers. I have always looked upon them as headstrong and very difficult to break, and I still believe them to be so, and they are, at best, but indifferent backers: but for pace, endurance, cleverness, and game-finding sense (when broken), give me an Irish setter, such as Henmore Sure Death and Mac's Little Nell. Devonshire Sall won all her trials brilliantly, and made, perhaps, fewer mistakes than anything at the meeting. She goes a great pace, having a fine stride, carries both ends well, and does not seem in a hurry to cry "a go." Her nose is of the best quality, and she was well and quietly handled by her breaker. Worreen, Little Pixie, Henmore Shotover, Woodbine are all above the average, the latter being perhaps the best natural backer of all the Irishmen. I am not sure that backing is not the weakest point in the armor of both Sure Death and Mac's Little Nell. I did see Sure Death, however, back occasionally without compulsion, but, if it occurred, it escaped my notice in any of Little Nell's trials. This may be partly explained, as I said before, by her great turn of speed and remarkable game-finding power, which seldom allows an opponent to get a point from her. But I noticed in the trial with Pixie, when the latter stood her birds at a very long distance, Little Nell sheered off to the right, either not seeing her or pretending not to see her, and then coming round to the wind some fifty or sixty yards nearer, she pointed the same covey at a different angle—a less clever dog would not have escaped a penalty for refusing to back; but here it could not be proven against her, and so she scored her point. In the Irish braces it would have been a near thing between Woodbine and Sure Death against Mac's Little Nell and Pixie, and taken some time to play out had all been on their best behavior. I don't know anything that would be more interesting than to have half a day right off at these two braces in succession. Woolton Gem and Phyllis are both good dogs. The former (whether run with too much flesh on her or not I do not know) never seemed to be able to go quite the pace of her opponents, seemed to potter, and to be contented with backing; both showed much steadiness and good breaking.

Ightfield Rosa, too, was a treat to see, and is, I think, the smallest English setter I have seen at work for some time. Her pace is first class, and her nose is one which causes her to make up her mind in a twinkling. She was beaten by Devonshire Sall fairly and squarely because she failed in locating birds which had run in a circle down wind—under other circumstances the position might be reversed, or perhaps I might express it better by saying it might be more difficult to confirm. Mr. Bulled thought highly, I believe, of D vonshire Jack, but as he was drawn in favor of his sister Devonshire Lady, I did not see much of his performances. I must not close this somewhat lengthy report without thanking Mr. Giltrap (to whom the success of the meeting and the establishment of the Irish Setter Club are almost entirely due) and his committee, together with Sir W. MacMahon, and Mr. Black, and Mr. Cecil Moore, the owners of the "Mountains" over which we worked, for their great courtesy and hospitality during my stay in the sister island.

In making an analysis from my notes of the meeting, the following may be of interest to some of your readers who are interested in field trials, and to some of the owners of dogs running at Omagh.

The average length of each trial was twenty-four minutes and a half. The shortest time was five minutes (there were four trials of this length), and the longest time was fifty minutes, there being three trials of this length.

There were three times as many points as backs. False pointing was the most common fault, then flushing, then refusing to back, then refusing to drop to wing or shot, then chasing, of which there were eight examples (good and bad) during the meeting.

The greatest number of positive points (pointing and backing) scored in one trial were made by Devonshire Sall.

The greatest number of negative points was made by Garry Owen.

Twelve competitors failed to make a positive score, while twenty-four failed to make a negative score.

The greatest difference in winning total was between Ormond II. and Garry Owen, and the smallest was between Mac's Little Nell and Woodbine.

The following trials were close ones, being separated only by a few points:

Henmore Sure Death's trials with Worreen, Mac's Little Nell, Ightfield Ranger, and Maggie.

Mac's Little Nell and Woodbine.

Woolton Gem with Devonshire Sall and with Devonshire Lady.

Devonshire Ner and Lord Henmore.

These estimates are made up to the time I left the ground, viz , about mid-day on the third and last day.

A coursing meeting was run off at Merced on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of the current week, ending too late to enable us to present more than a fragmentary report. The full summary and such remarks as may be justified will be printed in the next issue. An incident of the first day was a runaway in which Mr. J. C. Pennie and wife were somewhat injured, we are glad to record, not seriously.

A meeting of the Pacific Kennel Club was called for Wednesday evening last but no quorum appeared. Between shows there seems to be an utter lack of interest, even though, as is now the fact, a serious obligation rests upon members to hold up the good name of the Club and contribute to its treasury. The circular sent out a few weeks ago, notifying members of an assessment of $20 has not brought any gratifying returns, up to this time,—and there is reason for doubt, as to whether a proportion of those who have been carried along as members have not been willing to share profits but not expenses.

We can think of no more distasteful duty than to urge laggard members of the Pacific Kennel Club to do merely what is right in relation to the last dog show given by the Club. The assessment and all dues should be paid at once.

Two strains of pointer blood unknown to us have recently come to the State. One is owned at Antioch, the best representative being a dog in possession of Mr. William Remfree. The other is owned by Mr. Austin B. Sperry at Stockton. Both are said to be good lookers, big and able, and we are anxious to procure the fullest possible information about the dogs. Mr. Sperry's pointer will start in the all-aged-stake at Bakersfield in January, and his owner is confident of a good race.

Deer are unusually plentiful this season in the vicinity of Mountain City, Elko county, Nevada. The Times-Review says: They run in droves of ten or a dozen, and it is no trick at all for a moderately good hunter to bag three or four in a day's shooting.

Thr "Sportsmen's Protective Association" held its monthly meeting on Tuesday evening last at the hall of the Knights of the Red Branch, corner of O'Farrell and Mason streets. The feature of the evening was a talk by Mr. J. D. Sullivan an attorney of the city, upon the right of shooters to enter upon overflowed and marsh lands for the purpose of hunting thereupon, without regard to the wishes or warning of owners. Mr. Sullivan could not give his opinion in favor of the position taken by the Association, which is tha the shooting on no lands except those inclosed by a stock-tight fence can be preserved. Mr. Sullivan suggested that the Directors of the Club should communicate with the owners of these marsh lands and request them not to grant exclusive privileges to a few sportsmen, but allow the same privileges to all to pursue game that came on the lands. He thought that their ends could be better attained that way than by waiting for an appeal to the Legislature, which will not meet for more than a year hence. At the close of Mr. Sullivan's address he was given a unanimous vote of thanks.

THE WEEKLY

Breeder and Sportsman.

JAMES P. KERR, PROPRIETOR.

The Turf and Sporting Authority of the Pacific Coast.

Office, No. 313 Bush St.

P. O. Box 2300.

TERMS—One Year, $5; Six Months, $3; Three Months, $1.50.

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Money should be sent by postal order, draft or by registered letter, addressed to JAMES P. KERR, San Francisco, Cal.

Communications must be accompanied by the writer's name and address, not necessarily for publication, but as a private guarantee of good faith.

ALEX. P. WAUGH, - - - - - Editor.

Advertising Rates

Per Square (half inch)

One time	$1 00
Two times	1 75
Three times	2 40
Four times	3 00
Five times	3 50

And each subsequent insertion 50c. per square.

Should an Advertisement run without change three months or more 50c. per square, counting from the first insertion.

Advertisements running six months are entitled to 10 per cent. discount on rate of 50 cents per square each insertion.

Those running twelve months are entitled to 20 per cent. discount on rate of 50 cents per square each insertion.

To Subscribers.

The date printed on the wrapper of your paper indicates the time which your subscription is paid.

Should the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN be received by any subscriber who does not want it, write us direct to stop it. A postal card will suffice.

Special Notice to Correspondents.

Letters intended for publication should reach this office not later than Wednesday of each week, to secure a place in the issue of the following Saturday. Such letters to insure immediate attention should be addressed to the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, and not to any member of the staff.

San Francisco, Saturday, Nov. 9, 1889.

Dates Claimed.

Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association, November 16th, 19th, 21st and 23d.

State Agricultural Society—Running Meeting—April, 1890.

Southern California Racing Club.

By an announcement to be seen in the proper columns the information is given that the Los Angeles sportsmen are going to give a five days' meeting for runners, commencing December 25th. Mr. Rodman, the Secretary, also writes to say that if the support will warrant it an extra week will be given. The great Southern city has always been very successful in their winter meetings and with good weather this one should prove no exception to the rule. The programme has been shaped very much on the same lines as the P. C. Blood Horse Association's for this year, and as the entries to the latter have surpassed all former years, there is no reason why the Southern California Racing Club should not have almost as many. Entry blanks can be had on application to the Secretary or from this office.

Death of Lord Falmouth.

A special cablegram to the N. Y. Herald states that the well known patron of the turf, Lord Falmouth, died on the night of November 6th. He had attained much prominence by his many victories, his Magpie Jacket having been successful in many a hard fought contest, at Newmarket, Doncaster, and on the far famed Epsom Downs. It is said of him that he never made a bet but once and that was with Mrs. Dawson, the wife of his trainer. The amount wagered was six pence, and as his Lordship lost, he gave the winner a sixpenny piece set in diamonds. As an authority on turf matter he had no superior in England, and among his associates, he was always appealed to, to decide bets, and his decisions were invariably correct. His stable was always a large one and he raced his horses for the pure love of the sport.

In 1863 he won the Oaks with Queen Bertha, and in 1875 with Spinaway; in 1878 with Jannette, and in 1879 with Wheel of Fortune. The latter was a very small animal, but her action was so perfect that many bookmakers refused to lay against her. She was never beaten but once, her defeat occuring in the great Yorkshire Stakes, where she broke down.

The Derby fell twice to the colors of Lord Falmouth, first with King Craft in 1870, and again in 1877 with Silvio.

For the St. Leger he was equally fortunate, winning this classic event in 1877, with Silvio, the second horse being Lady Golightly, from the same stable. In 1878 he again won it with Jannette, running second with Childeric, and in 1882 he won with Dutch Oven.

He won the "Two Thousand" three times, first in 1874 with Atlantic, in 1879 with Charibert, and in 1883 with Galliard.

The "thousand guineas" was captured by his lordship four times, in 1862 with Hurricane, in 1873 with Cecilia, in 1875 with Spinaway, and in 1879 with Wheel of Fortune.

National Game Law.

Months ago the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN suggested and urged the enactment by Congress of a National Game Law. In the Century Magazine for November the subject is treated in a brief and applicable manner. To the same purpose the writer draws the difference between Old World laws and those relating to the United States, in stating the conditions which exist and in suggesting the legislation which is necessary to the better protection and preservation of game of every kind in this broad country of the New World. In Europe generally, in the United Kingdom particularly, game is preserved for particular persons. In the United States it is not thus preserved for a class, but is equally open to all. The principle is right, only the abuse of it is wrong. It is not right that comparatively a few, in game regions, should take or enjoy all of it, or the most considerable portion. The need of laws to protect the many from this habitual abuse of the few is invariably apparent. It is to the legislation of this character that the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN directs public attention. The field and the game are alike narrowing and diminishing in every section of the land. It is to protect the remnant and to preserve the species that a National Game Law is required. Every year the necessity becomes more urgent,

The original States of the Union embraced only a small area of the vast domain which is now comprised. Then the Atlantic and the Mississippi confined the American Republic. It now embraces the continent stretching from the Gulf of Mexico to the British Dominion, east of the Rocky Mountains and upon the Western slope from Lower California to the Straits of Fuca, from the northern British boundary to the furthermost mainland and islands of the American continent. From this vast expanse the millions of buffalo have been ruthlessly slaughtered and almost exterminated. Only rare and scattered bands, more vigilantly guarded than cattle, now remain. Elk, deer, antelope, and every other variety of mountain, plain and valley regions, of forest and of grassy lands, have similarly disappeared before the destructive forays of unconscionable hunters and slayers.

A similar class has impoverished the lakes, the rivers and the contributory streams. The choicest of food fish—salmon, shad, trout, white fish, pike and other varieties—have materially diminished. Even the seas have been invaded, and the valuable fur seal, found mostly in American waters, is suffering the diminution consequent upon indiscriminate, inconsiderate, reckless and rapacious hunting and slaughter. In neither fur, flesh, fin nor feather is there adequate protection against this merciless and devastating killing. There ought to be protection, and Congress is the authority to apply it and enforce it. The remedy cannot be too quickly provided.

There are now only a few of the territories remaining—Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, Arizona. New Mexico, the Indian Territory and the several scattered large areas set apart for reservations for the different tribes. Washington, Montana and the two Dakotas have very recently been created into States. It is in these new States and these remaining Territories and Reservations that wild game abounds, and is most in need of protection. The States can duly legislate upon the subject. Congress alone possesses authority to make laws for the protection of game in the Territories. This authority cannot be exercised too soon. Alaska presents a different case in some respects. It is apart from the close contiguity to the Republic which is enjoyed in the other Territories, and is an isolated, vast region. Its fur seal and its fisheries have made Alaska celebrated in the pursuits of commerce, and from comparative obscurity the land has emerged, under American possession, to important rank in commercial aspects. Besides the fur seal are salmon, cod, halibut, and other species of favorite food fish, and all along the great length of coast line, and all through the interior—as yet only indifferently explored—are found treasures of game, fish, flesh and fowl, which should be amply protected by national laws.

The incoming of the four new States—of Washington and Montana of the Pacific section, and of the two Dakotas, west of the Mississippi—in which the necessity of adequate game laws is doubtless generally appreciated, will no doubt facilitate and strengthen the cause of the Territories in Congress in respect to the legislation which is required for the due protection of game of every kind against the rapid depletion which has marked the history of every other Territory since the American occupation. The early generations of the American people were born to the possession of a wealth and an expanse of wild game unequalled in the world, useful and profitable to mankind. It exhibits reckless stewardship in the care of all this, whilst the virtual disappearance of the buffalo is contemplated, and in the reflection—the only thing that is left—that likewise has almost any other species of noble and choice and unparalleled game, suffered ruthless extermination, without thought or means on the part of Congress to protect this invaluable legacy for the fair enjoyment of the generations which shall succeed to the magnificent domain.

A National Game Law is needed. It devolves upon the Congress of the Republic to enact a law that shall prove efficacious. The Pacific States wish this measure of protection for the Territories. Their Representatives in Congress will labor to accomplish the good work.

Guy Wilkes, 2:15 1-4.

Mr. Corbitt, of the San Mateo Stock Farm, has filled Guy Wilkes book for the coming season, and announces this week that the books are now open for 1891. The great stallion, Sable Wilkes, 2:18, will receive a limited number of mares at a service fee of $250, and Leo Wilkes, a magnificent specimen of the Wilkes blood, will be stinted to a few mares at $100 the season. Now that the descendents of Geo. Wilkes are in such great demand this gives the breeders of California a chance to avail themselves of a favorable opportunity to procure this great strain.

The Thoroughbred Division.

Next Saturday, the Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association will commence their annual fall meeting, and from the mammoth list of entries, it promises to furnish a rare lot of sport. A great deal of concern has been felt owing to the fact that none of the large California stables now in the East would make any entries, but they will not be missed as the local owners have more than made up for the deficiency. Good weather is the one requisite required to make the fall meeting of 1889, the most successful ever held by the association.

Buckeye Spring Tooth Harrow and Seeder.

One of California's representative firms is P. P. Mast & Co., 31 Market street. Everything that appertains to agricultural implements may be found at their mammoth warehouse, and as they only handle the very best of goods, implicit reliance may be placed in anything the firm sends out. Among the specialties advertised by them is the Buckeye Spring Tooth Harrow and Seeder, one of the best harrows ever brought to the coast. Mr. C. H. Hoppin, the former owner of Yolo Maid, is a strong endorser of the harrow, and says: "It is the best I ever saw used." M. D. Atwater, of Merced, is equally enthusiastic, and claims it is the best ever made. Circulars and price lists will be sent on application.

Communication.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Oct. 25, 1889.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—In the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of October 19th, an article appears over the signature of Geo. C. Smith of Santa Maria, giving an account of his being ruled off the track at San Luis Obispo in September last, with his mare Topsy, in which he states that he distanced Miss Monroe, a San Luis mare, with Topsy in 2.32.

(The BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN'S special commission sent a report of the race as follows: Topsey acted so badly scoring that she was considered by many as out of the race. Her owner, after Mr. Ferguson had tried for half an hour to start her, was placed in the sulky, and he tried to make Topsy trot, and after scoring for twenty minutes he nodded for the word go, although two lengths behind. After she passed the wire she settled down and trotted very rapidly, catching the leader, Fred Arnold, in the backstretch. She was ahead at the half, and won handily. Time, 2:36½. In the second heat Topsy was driven by Mr. Ferguson and the three horses sent off to a fair start. Topsy trotted fast in the lead, and Fred Arnold two lengths behind. Topsy won. Fred Arnold second and Miss Monroe almost distanced. Time, 2:32. Harry Leig, driver of Miss Monroe, asked to withdraw her, and the judges, after hearing testimony and finding the mare too sick to trot, she was withdrawn. Fred Arnold and Topsy jogged around and trotted the mile in 2:53½.—Ed.)

At Santa Maria Fair (previous to fair at San Luis Obispo) all the papers represented Miss Monroe as fast all summer, in fact very fast; that her owner told him Miss Monroe had trotted in 2:20 and could trot easily in 2:22; that his beating Miss Monroe was the commencement of his trouble in being ruled off at San Luis Obispo, through Hon. L. M. Warden, vice-president of the 16th District Agricultural Association. As to Miss Monroe having been advertised as being very fast all summer in the papers, it is not a fact, Miss Monroe was brought home from the Pleasanton Stock Farm, August 1, 1889, after having had a severe spell of sickness there and was attended by two reputable veterinary surgeons and her life was despaired of. Indeed she was reported in the newspaper, dead. This is what Mr. Smith may have seen in the newspapers. The owner of Miss Monroe never told him that Miss Monroe had trotted in 2:20 or could trot in 2:22 easy. In justice to Vice-President Warden, I will state that he never had any interest in Miss Monroe and that the trot at Santa Maria had nothing whatever to do with the ruling off of Mr. Smith at San Luis Obispo. If Mr. George C. Smith can get a little advertising and cheap notoriety for himself and his mare (2:23 to get) by airing their troubles well and good, but it would be well enough for him to confine himself to the truth when he alludes to other people and their property. Yours respectfully, R. S. BROWN.

Speed Drive Benefit.

Last Saturday afternoon was the appointed time for the contests of speed, which had been arranged by the committee selected to raise funds to complete the speed drive way in Golden Gate Park. The attendance was between 1400 and 1500, but there were hundreds of tickets sold which were not represented. It is many years since such a representative assembly has gathered on a race track in this neighborhood, which was strong proof of the great interest manifested by the better class of citizens, who are all anxious to see the speed driveway finished, and their presence was an assurance to the Park Commissioners that the work should be completed at once. We have not heard from the committee, as to the amount realized but it will undoubtedly sum up at least $2,000. Two exceedingly good races were on the score card, in addition to a gentleman's roadster race, and the exhibitions of Sunol and Palo Alto. The judges for the day were John Martin, W. R. Allen and A. S. Allen, while the timers selected were Messrs. Smith, Murray and Hastings.

When everything was ready, the judges announced that Mr. Marvin would drive Sunol an exhibition heat; there was no runner up to accompany the filly and she started on her journey alone. Her appearance did not strike the eye of the onlooker as being perfect, there being a stiffness which was no doubt occasioned by the let up, necessary on account of the severe rains which began during the Breeders' Meeting when all of the Palo Alto horses were just on edge. The first quarter was negotiated in 35 seconds, and it took 36 seconds more to get to the half. On the backstretch there was about a hundred yards or more of very bad traveling and Marvin could not extend her as fast as he would liked to have done. However, shortly after passing the half, Sunol began to show what there was in her. She reached the three-quarter post in 1:44, and came under the wire in 2:16, making the last half mile in 1:05. Taking the condition of the track into consideration and the state the filly was in from the let up in work, the performance was wonderful and reflects the highest credit on the daughter of Electioneer and Waxana.

The 2:20 Class Trotting.

First Heat—The entries for the 2:20 class were W. F. Smith's Thapsin, W. W. Ayres' Bay Rose, A. Gonzalez's Junio and H. J. Agnew's Emma Temple. The latter did not put in an appearance, so the other three were left to fight out the contest. Junio was made a most pronounced favorite at $25, Thapsin selling for $13 and Bay Rose for $11. These were about the ruling figures although they graduated slightly. When the word was given, Junio broke under the wire and Thapsin took the pole, but the Gonzalez entry caught very quickly and kept up with Bay Rose, the two trotting like a double team until well into the backstretch where Junio fell behind and left Bay Rose and Thapsin to fight out the battle between themselves. At the drawgate Bay Rose broke and Wilber Smith brought Thapsin down to a jog going under the wire two lengths in advance of Bay Rose, with Junio ten lengths in the rear. Time by quarters, 0:36, 1:11, 1:46, 2:21½.

Second Heat—Notwithstanding that Thapsin had won the first heat so handily, the betting fraternity still had faith in the son of Electioneer and the odds continued much as they ruled prior to the first heat, and as money showered into the box there seemed no end to the betters and their pocket books, with the Bay Rose people getting their tickets at a slight reduction. When the word was given Junio made a break instantly but was again caught rapidly and in a few strides was at the nose of Bay Rose, Thapsin now leading by a length. On the middle of the backstretch Junio moved up a little, but fell back as though the work was too much for him. As they all rounded into the upper turn Junio put on another spurt but he could not catch the black. Bay Rose here made a slight break which did not interfere with his chances as he could not have possibly won the heat. Shaner drove Junio down the stretch for all there was in him, but Thapsin passed under the wire winner by three lengths, with Bay Rose at least a dozen lengths behind Junio. Time by quarters, 0:37½, 1:12, 1:49, 2:24½.

Third Heat—There was two distinct rushes made at the pool-box prior to the third heat, the first being occasioned by those who wanted to hedge, the prices being Thapsin $50 to $20 for the other pair coupled. When this had gone on for some time, the Junio folks again drove their favorite to the front, and he sold in several instances at more than Thapsin and Bay Rose combined. They were started with Junio in the lead, which he kept to the turn, where he broke, and before the quarter was reached Thapsin was again leading, Junio and Bay Rose making the usual fight for second place honors. Notwithstanding that Thapsin had secured a six length's lead, Junio made play for him on the backstretch, and ultimately cut down the space so that there was only one length of daylight dividing them, while Bay Rose was now five lengths to the bad. These relative positions were maintained until the trio wheeled into the stretch, when Junio once more tried to reduce the difference existing, but Smith had a lot of reserve still left in Thapsin, and he came away winning by a neck, with Bay Rose well up, he having come down the stretch very fast. Time by quarters, 0:35½, 1:10, 1:46; 2:21½.

SUMMARY.

Bay District Track, Nov. 2d.—Trotting. 2:20 class.

W. F. Smith's blk g Thapsin, Berlin—Lady Hubbard	Smith	1	1	1
A. Gonzalez's br s Junio, Electioneer—by Granger	Shaner	3	2	2
W. W. Ayres' b s Bay Rose, Sultan—Madam Baldwin	Goldsmith	2	3	3

Time, 2:21½, 2:24½, 2:21¼.

After the conclusion of the first heat of the 2:20 race, Mr. Marvin brought out the now world-renowned stallion Palo Alto, whose best at Stockton in 2:13¾ was never equalled by stallions but once in a race, and toward whom the eyes of all California horsemen are turned, hoping that before the end of the year he may lower the stallion record, and thus add additional honors to this State. He looked to be in better condition than his stable companion, who had previously made an exhibition mile, but still he was far from being the horse he was just prior to the rains. A runner was brought out to accompany Senator Stanford's favorite, and when Marvin felt that he had him going just right, he nodded for the word, and away the pair went, the quarter being reached in 34½ seconds. As before, the driver had to ease up his horse on account of the heavy going, and it took 1:07½ to reach the half-mile pole. At the three-quarters the time was 1:40½, but he turned into the stretch with such a burst of speed that almost everyone present felt that he would lower his record. When he reached the drawgate, the runner came up to him too close, and the game stallion broke, but Marvin soon had him settled, and he passed under the wire in 2:15, the breaking causing him to lose fully two seconds. It was a grand attempt, and heartily appreciated by all who witnessed it. At the conclusion the bell was tapped for the

2:23 Class—Trotting.

First Heat—The entries were Palo Alto Stock Farm's Arol, James A. Dustin's J. R., E. P. Heald's Nona Y., J. H. White's Kitty Almont, and Mr. DuBois' Magnate. The betting talent selected Arol for choice, and he sold at $50, while the field brought $35.

After scoring twice they got the word on the third attempt, J. R. having a trifle the worst of the send off. As they rounded into the turn Nona Y. had taken a fair lead, and was heading Arol by three lengths, the balance strung out in processional order. As she went up the backstretch she still further increased her lead, but the eyes of the spectators were not on the leaders, for all were watching Kitty Almont, who had become so lame that Hickok had to pull her up and start back to the stables with her. Around the turn and into the stretch Mr. Heald's mare came very fast, and it was evident that David was trying to shut out the field. She could hardly accomplish the trick, but still managed to come under the wire just as Magnate passed the flag, J. R. being only two lengths in front of the latter, and Arol a length or two in front of J. R. Time by quarters, 0:38, 1:12½, 1:49, 2:25.

Second Heat—Arol still ruled as the favorite in the pool-box, she bringing $100 to $60 for the field. When they were sent off Arol quickly took the lead, closely followed by J. R., Nona Y. being in third position, with Magnate bringing up the rear. The Palo Alto entry forged ahead, and on the backstretch was four lengths to the good, J. R. second, two lengths in front of Nona Y., who had made a bad break at the quarter pole. These positions were maintained until the leader turned into the homestretch, when Nona Y. set sail and soon passed J. R, but could not quite reach Arol, who passed under the wire three-quarters of a length ahead of Nona, J. R. third and Magnate again being last. Time 0:38, 1:14½, 1:51½, 2:27½.

Third and Fourth Heats—Both of the last heats were simply a repetition of the second, with the difference that Marvin allowed Nona Y. and J. R. to take the lead at the start, but passed them handily, and won the concluding heats in 2:24½ and 2:26½.

SUMMARY.

Bay District Track, Nov. 2d.—Trotting. 2:23 class.

Palo Alto's b m Arol, Electioneer—Aurora	Marvin	2	1	1	1
E. P. Heald's b m Nona Y., Admiral—Black Flora	David	1	2	3	3
J. A. Dustin's b g J. R., Elector—by St. Lawrence	Dustin	3	3	2	2
Mr. DeBoise's b h Magnate	DeBoise	4	4	4	4
J. H. White's blk m Kitty Almont, Tilton Almont—by Hamlet	Hickok	dis

Time, 2:25, 2:27½, 2:24¾, 2:26½.

THE ROADSTERS.

Mr. J. A. McKerron, the celebrated horse boot and harness manufacturer, had presented an elegant set of harness, valued at $100, to the committee, and it was the premium offered for the fastest roadster, the conditions being that only owners should drive. The entries were Capt. Henry White's Stoneman, J. Humphrey's sorrel gelding, C. H. Kingsley's Allie Whipple, W. B. Glidden's Len Hayden, C. E. Chapman's Roscoe, and L. E. Clawson's Tramp. The prize was arranged in a conspicuous manner, and while the other races were going on the gentlemen drivers filled in the time by stating what they would do with the premium when "he" won it. Clawson was going to buy a new horse, as he felt that the harness was too good for Tramp. Capt. White wanted to take it off the wall and put it on Stoneman before the race. Glidden said he was going to have it gold mounted and diamonds set in the blinders. Chapman ordered a new butcher cart, painted red, to set the harness off. Kingsley knew that he would win it, because his horse had a record, and Humphrey quietly told his friends that he was afraid to give the name of his entry to the committee, because there would be no pool-selling if the public knew what he was driving, but he was going to make a show of the balance of the entries. In the pools Stoneman brought $50, Len Hayden $30 and the field $25. As the gentlemen appeared each was successively applauded by their friends, as all of them are well known on the road and several of them have made appearances on the track before. When the half dozen got fairly under way, Tramp and the sorrel gelding were leading the field, with the balance strung out. Everything went all right until almost at the three-quarter pole, when the sorrel got annoyed, seemingly at Tramp being in the lead, and he tried to pull Clawson out of the sulky; at least, horses, sulkys and men were for the instant mixed up in the most absurd manner. Humphrey had his legs around Clawson's neck, and the two horses were pawing at one another like two of the gladiators that meet occasionally at the California Club. As the Chicago carts were not of the indestructable order, wheels and spokes were soon scattered over the track. "Cap" White only stopped for a moment to enjoy the discomforture of his antagonists, and then took the lead and was not again headed, the mile being finished in 2:41. Hayden was second, Whipple third, and Roscoe brought up the rear.

Second Heat—Mr. Humphrey's entry was somewhat injured in the smash up, so he did not start in the second heat, but Clawson secured another sulky and put in an appearance for the second attempt. The pool selling was slow at $100 for Stoneman against $25 for the field. Stoneman got away in the lead and on the backstretch was five lengths to the good. He won handily without any effort, Hayden being second, Tramp third, Whipple fourth, and Roscoe last. Time 2:39.

SUMMARY.

Bay District, Nov. 2d.—Roadster Class.

Br g Stoneman by Priam	1	1
Len Hayden	2	2
Tramp	5	3
Allie Whipple	3	4
Roscoe	4	5
Sorrel gelding	dr

Time, 2:41, 2:39.

Answers to Correspondents.

Answers for this department MUST be accompanied by the name and address of the sender, not necessarily for publication, but as proof of good faith. Write the questions distinctly, and on one side of the paper only. Positively no questions will be answered by mail or telegraph.

W. G.

Please give me the pedigree of Clifton Bell, bred by W. L. Pritchard.

Answer.—Clifton Bell, foaled 1875, by Leinster, dam Tibbie Dunbar by Imp. Bonnie Scotland, 2nd dam Brenna, by Imported Knight of St. George, 3rd dam Levity by Imp. Trustee, 4th dam dam of Vandal, by Imp. Tranby, 5th dam, Lucilla by Trumpator, 6th dam Lucy by Orphan, etc.

F. C.

I find a pacing record at one mile by Westmont July 10, 1884, Chicago, with running mate 2:01¾. Two minutes one and three-quarter seconds. This record is disputed by local sports here. Is it correct and safe to bet money on? Please answer by letter and name your charges for trouble.

Answer.—Westmont has made the time you quote above. We positively will not answer questions by mail. We charge nothing for answering queries.

Subscriber.

(1,) If a horse having no record is entered in the three-minute class and trots in 2:40, is that a bar for the 2:50 class same year, provided he was not entered previous to trotting in 2:40? (2.) If a horse trots in 2:29½, does that constitute a bar in 2:30 class? (3.) Is a standard (trotter) eligible to entry for premium in roadster class at fairs, provided he has not started in a race?

Answer—(1.) It is a bar. (2.) No. 2:29 would be a bar, but fractional parts of a second do not affect the entry. (3.) The Directors of the various Associations make their own conditions in reference to entries. The State Board refuses to accept standard bred horses for entry in the roadster class, and presumably many of the minor societies follow suit. Personally, we do not believe that that is just, as many gentlemen have standard bred trotters which are used exclusively for road horses, and we incline to the belief that horses so used should be eligible for entry.

W. M. Billups, Colusa.

We have already answered the question as you now put it. State the case just as it occured, giving us all the facts, and we will then be in a position to answer correctly.

Crocker Bros.

Please inform us through the columns of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of the description, pedigree and time made by Duck as a three year old. Her dam was Sally Hull.

Answer—You have made a mistake in the name of the dam. The following is probably what you desire: Brown filly, Duck, foaled 1870 by Rifleman, dam Jenny Hull, by Belmont; 2nd dam Jenny Branch, by Tom Branch; 3rd dam Isabella, by Weaver's Rob Roy, etc. We do not know what her best time was as a three year old.

Pleasanton.

Please let me know the breeeing of a colt now in Petaluma owned by J. W. Knox. He is under the charge of I. De Turk, Esq.

Answer.—Philosopher, foaled 1886, by Pilot Wilkes, he by George Wilkes out of a Pilot Jr. mare. First dam Bella by George Wilkes; second dam by Bell Morgan 61 (sire of Lady Turpin 2:23).

H. H. B.

Please give me the definition of the term "running mate." Is the mate attached to the sulky of the animal trying to make time, or does it run independent of the horse that is being speeded?

Answer.—A running mate is attached to the sulky of the animal being speeded. When the runner is independent of the sulkey he is then called a "teaser."

Winter Racing!

Winter Racing!

Entrance Free. Entrance Free

AN ALL RUNNING MEETING WILL BE HELD AT

AGRICULTURAL PARK

Los Angeles, Cal.,

December 25, 26, 28, 31,

AND

JANUARY 1, 1890.

Owners and trainers can be supplied with entry blanks, and any other information, on application to the undersigned.

H. T. RODMAN.
Secretary and Treasurer.

Or at the office of BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, 313 Bush Street, S. F., Cal.

THE GUN.

Rifle Notes.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—The Peabody Guards Co. G, 2nd Regiment, M. V. M., celebrated their 21st anniversary, Tuesday, Oct 22nd, with a target shoot and games at the Lake Lookout Range, and a banquet in the evening at the armory.

The president of the Springfield Shooting Club, the Hon. E. H. Lathrop, has presented the club with a handsome silver cup for competition at 20 singles and 10 pairs double.

The Norwood Gun Club of Florence, of which T. T. Cartwright is captain, has just held its annual Fall tournament, and will have a turkey shoot Thanksgiving and a banquet in the evening.

The Rod and Gun Rifle Club has now one of the best ranges in the country for 200, 500, 600 and 800 yards. The long range was built under the supervision of the veteran rifle shot, Captain T. B. Wilson.

The Western Mass. Rifle Association is talking up the matter of holding a tournament, but at present it seems to be all talk.

Messrs. Smith & Wesson are turning out large quantities of their superb revolvers, and have just finished a pair for the Bennett Bros., (who have gone to Europe with Barnum) The cases and fittings are the finest that money could purchase. The Bennett Bros. will use them in their target work on the other side. The company has just received word that they have been awarded the gold medal at the Paris Exposition.

Game is fairly plentiful, and some good bags are reported. Woodcock have just commenced to arrive, although a good number bred in these parts the past year. It is proposed to liberate a number of game birds in the early spring and see if they will breed in this part of the county. All previous efforts have been failures.

The Maynard rifle is meeting with a big sale on its new 25 Cal. barrels. Some very fine work was recently done with one at 200 yards, by D. M. Jewell, of Lawrence.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 28, '89. C.

To the Top of Mt. Whitney.

[By C. E. Sherman.]

X.

These meadows, one like another, all change names with ownership. For that reason the name Youngs has been dropped and they are locally known as Browns meadows. And those who give the names, take no thought for the claims of the possessive case. Possibly they might write Smith's wife or Smith's cash—for both these articles have peculiar aptitude for being possessive, sometimes awfully so—but in charactertizing places, it does not seem that posession is at all intended, but only distinction as to locality. Smiths, in this sense has no individuality, but is a mere blaze distinguishing a land mark. To prove that it is not enititled to the honor of wearing an apostrophe is possible, but the Dialectician of the Pilgrim band sends word that he is just now engaged, and moreover has no ambitions.

In the meantime the Artist with enthusiastic helpers had taken many beautiful views of the valley and mountain, and on August 4th, after the first whole day's rest thus far upon the trip, from care and travel, the Band broke camp at 9 a. m. crossing one pass 8,500 feet high and a second of 9,100 feet, reaching Willow Meadows for noon-day lunch. Here several views were taken, among others, from a bald mountain 9,550 feet high. From this, magnificent views were afforded Olanche Peak, Mineral King Range, Kaweah Mountains, Kern River for a long and charming distance, as also a broad stretch of the San Joaquin Valley were distinctly visible, affording sights of beauty and grandeur.

A mule is not totally depraved oh no! It has fits of depravity some broad and deep, others comparatively bewitching. But when a humble mule has been overly good for almost too long a season, look out! Thus it happened to the Enthusiast. His mule by patient art and comforting endeavor, has won the title of "Baking Powder," as warranted to raise to every emergency and up to this trying period, had returned trail to nothing but itself. His master, as becomes a merciful ruler had lovingly treated his faithful subject. When others talked horse, the Enthusiast would muse for a season and then gently veer the subject around to mules, more specifically "my mule." Nothing was really too good for either brute or master, and a mutual admiration society was in easy working order, when the daisy mule resigned his office and in lofty style proceeded to divest himself of its insignia. Then came in mind and matter contest between a mad man and an unscrupulous mule. The mule led out with magnificent upper strokes countered in grand shape by five base whacks in left field, when suddenly the smoke of the conflict ascended like a mighty whirlwind, obscuring the athletes, but seemingly going down a steep and ragged decline with great rapidity. No neshaws were ceard, but a blue mist became loudly volubie.

Suddenly there came a calm, smoke vanished quickly and the trembling non-combatants crawled with difficulty down what was evidently a very hasty attempt at a short cut, to find swamp land yet unreclaimed in the high Sierras. There was also a disgusted man in the mud and an apparently happy mule in more mud. Neither spoke, none else dared, but tender hands and sturdy arms led the warriors unto dry land. The mule had forgotten, the man was ready to forgive so all amicably climbed to be friendly welcomed by the trail and pursue the interrupted courses with increased ardor. The Enthusiast has not since sung much in praise of any sort of mules; the rather, he seems to eye them with a curious look which may mean respect, possibly seasoned with fear, but which certainly indicates nothing akin to admiration. The Pilgrims whisper that the duel was a draw and then seem awfully thankful that the mule could not touch bottom. It would appear that their sympathies do not particularly incline toward mules. Yet surely the mule is a patient animal. One is known that waited for eighteen years and then kicked its owner's head full of holes. Well! its owner was pretty mean too.

The fir balsams at this elevation are peculiarly symmetrical, grand and beautiful. Again over a lofty pass into a meadow 8,550 feet high, where at 3 p. m. the thermometer marked 74 degs. An ascent of 150 feet, and then downward to the head of Trout Creek, 8,150 feet elevation, which was reached at 5:15 p. m. Here was made Camp Anguish, so named because an enthusiastic fisher, who is also a thorough sportsman, in a trip two years ago caught more trout, just for the fun of fishing, than the party could possibly use. Being upbraided and too late seeing the error of his ways, for penance and hygiene, he buried his overplus of zeal. In token of his repentance and their forgiveness, the Pilgrims loaded down this camp with a woe-weighty name, and in reward slept just as comfortably as ever Napoleon did before a great battle. For supper a few fish little larger than brook trout were caught—not an excess to be sure in that place of expiation—and all were content.

August 8th, at 5:30 a. m., camp awoke to 42 degs. of thermometer, and took up line of march at 7. At Rattlesnake Canon a short cut was tried, and with the usual result of unknown cut-offs, the band was sadly lost. Yet the mind of man ever tries to shorten a supposed loop with a presumed straight line; to bridge an imagined difficulty with an airy supposition; to straighten an expected deviation with an impossible tangent; and always because, as either of record or by tradition at some time, some one has fallen into the impossible to land upon crowns of bay, or perhaps of myrtle. But the blessing which follows the failure came upon the leaders in this case, as always. It has a blue tint about it, and is probably well known to the enthusiast's mule. However, the band finally discovered itself and reached Fish Creek Meadows, rest and lunch at 1 p. m.

The Boss Hunter.

Aubrey Howard, son of Mrs. L. D. Howard of Woodland, a little fellow about eleven years old, claims the medal for hunters. A few days ago while he was out in his grandfather's field and had his shot-gun with him, a couple of large swans came sailing over him. He says their bodies did not look larger than his hat, but he thought he would shoot anyhow. The charge in the gun was so large that the recoil knocked him down, and when he jumped up he could not see for the smoke; suddenly a big swan came sailing down through the smoke and was almost upon him before he could get out of the way; one wing was broken, and when he walked up to it, it struck at him. He struck it over the head with his gun and succeeded in killing it. He then gave the gun to his little brother, and taking the neck of the bird over his shoulder succeeded—after much work—in dragging it to the house. It weighed twenty-six pounds and measured eleven feet from tip to tip. The young hunter is justly proud of his success Some of the members of the "squawk" gun club would have given him a good price for the bird if they had met him all alone with it. They could have bragged for a year.

Open Match at Tacoma.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 25th, 1889

A live bird match, under the auspices of the Tacoma Rifle, Rod and Gun Club, will take place in this City on Nov. 28th, 1889.

Open to all bonafide residents of Montana, Idaho, Oregon, California and Washington. Entrance, one hundred dollars at fifty live birds per man.

Purse to be divided fifty, thirty and twenty per cent. Birds extra. Class shooting under the rules of The California State Sportsman's Association for ground trap shooting, with the exception that five scoop traps will be used.

All entries to be made before Nov. 18th, 1889.

The Tacoma Rifle, Rod and Gun Club guarantees four entries or more.

Parties wishing to enter will address all communications and make all remittances to the Secretary, E. E. Ellis, Tacoma, Wash.

Entries once made cannot be withdrawn.

E. E. ELLIS, Secretary. T. A. BRINGHAM, President.

With reference to the foregoing, Mr. T. A. Bringham writes to us as follows, and we hope some of our crack shots may be able to enter:

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—The Tacoma Rifle Rod and Gun Club is going to have a shoot on Nov. 28th; and as your Association treated us nicely while attending your tournament, we would like as many to receive our programme as possible. Unfortunately I learned only the sur names of what shooters I met and consequently can not send personal circulars to them, but would like to impose on your kindness, which I feel safe in doing, to send a few of our circulars to those you think would like to have them. You will notice that all entries are to be made by Nov. 18th, that is to give us notice so we can supply birds, but all that is necessary is a telegram of notification and a position will be held for a shooter. Thanking you for all favors extended I remain, T. A. BRINGHAM.

Belmont Marsh, which has afforded heavy bags to succeeding generations of sportsmen since the days of Harvey White, Matthias Ault, Joe Villegia, and the thoroughbreds of '50, is now at its best, the flight of shore birds being especially heavy.

Mr. Will C. Brown, sprinter, printer, hunter, and everything else athletic, has gone in for quail shooting as keenly as he goes in for everything which he fancies, and is having good sport every week.

We hear that Mr. Will Hamilton of San Diego, is having the rarest of sport among the quails in Lower California, and we shall be pleased to receive from him some notes about the climate, cover, and habits of the birds in those parts.

Mr. A. H. Woolery, at Traver, Tulare county, asks for the "Hurlingham Rules." It may be said that these rules have never been used in America in their entirety. Under American usage, Hurlingham style of shooting is understood to be shooting from ground traps, at thirty yards rise, use of both barrels permitted, boundary 80 yards. three minutes time in which to retrieve challenged birds.

To wind up the deer season fittingly, the sportsmen of San Mateo County indulged in a general tramp through the hills and canyons of the lower part of that wonderfully well stocked county.

On the Martinez Rancho Mr. Nick Bazzo killed a buck that scaled 170 pounds, dressed, the heaviest recorded for the season.

Messrs. Joe Felix, Wm. Carnduff and L. A. Felix of Menlo, knocked over three bucks on the Greer Ranch, all Chemise deer.

The Redwood City experts, Ed. Eikerenkotter and his brother, have brought twenty odd bucks in during September and October from the Portola section.

Mr. W. R. Hearst, proprietor of the San Francisco Daily Examiner, happened to wish a grizzly bear a few months ago, and strolling from his managerial office into the "City Room" detailed one of the staff, Mr. Allen Kelly, who chanced to be unoccupied at the moment, to go into the mountains and get one. Mr. Kelly did so, and the bear is now at Woodward's Garden in this city. Such a wish, detail and bit of nervy accomplishment are well worth especial note. There was only a bare possibility of success, and trouble was sure to be bruin for the hardy reporter. Few better illustrations of the discipline of a great newspaper and its practically limitless capacity have been known. If Mr. Hearst could only chain his bear to the North Pole, now.

The longed for frost has at last supervened upon the uniformly warm nights of the winter so far, and as a resultant the outlying shallow ponds and puddling holes, full of grass seeds, loved of mallards, widgeon, gadwall and teal, have been frozen solidly, forcing the birds into something like regular flights over the deeper ponds of the tule tracts. In consequence the markets have been well stocked, and amateurs have profited handsomely in good bags of fat birds with which to delight acquaintances.

English snipe are plentiful about Collinsville, and on Boul. din, but do not work well for some reason, rising in large wisps and making long flights. Among the quails the slaughter has been general, the days being just suited for good work by dogs, and the hunters being about keyed up after a close season of disuse of the gun.

A notable feature of the ducking season is the presence of canvas backs in numbers on the Suisun and along the lower part of Sherman Island. Some "cans" may generally be looked for by October 10th, but as a rule only stragglers. This year as many as thirty-one have been killed by one gun in a morning.

We venture to make one or two excerpts from a personal note kindly sent by Mr. N. E. White of Sactamento. If the vital weakness suggested by Mr. White exists, the sooner we know the fact the better, in order that the defect may be remedied at the earliest opportunity. We venture the guess, however, that courts will construe the section of the code in question as a whole, reading one word in the light of all other words, germane to the matter. If that is done, there seems to be no reason why the law should not serve its intended purpose. In reference to the case against W. R. Knight & Co. for having in possession deer skins from which evidence of sex had been removed, Mr. White says:

I have about 5 minutes to spare, and I want to call your attention to that deer skin case. I'm afraid the law won't stick. It says any person having deer skins in his possession from which evidence of sex has been removed, etc is guilty.

This skin part is a recent addition to the law, but the following (and concluding) clause was not amended to conform thereto, as it omits the word skins, and simply applies to carcasses. In short, if a man goes into court and says:—"I had that skin in my possession: It is a doe skin, but the evidence of sex has not been removed, as you can see. Suppose the evidence is there, can he be convicted, and of what? This is puzzling our District Attorney, and he does'nt hope to convict, as he says one of the skins secured is that of a buck, with evidence of sex attached, and the other is of a doe, which also shows ½ the uterus, although dried and shriveled.

I just call your attention to this in a hurry, and if you can make any suggestion to Dist. Atty. Bruner it would be well. This is only a private note, hurriedly written and if it contains the suggestion of an idea, use the idea yourself.

In relation to a recent shooting trip Mr. White says: Mr. Willis and I had a pleasant afternoon's hunt. We found plenty of quail, but considerable chapparal as well. Still, we bagged about 40 birds, notwithstanding we were out of practice and too soft for hill-work. I had only a puppy with me in lieu of a dog, but for her first time out she did very well, retrieving all my birds and showing good nose. But she knew nothing about ranging, her efforts in that line having been confined to a 40 foot town lot. I see Judge Post referred to her as a "fine Gordon." You have probably heard her pedigree described a thousand times. It is something like this: "Out of Bill Smith's black and tan bitch, which he got from John Brown, to whom she was presented by a man who worked for Tom Jones, whose son is said to have imported her sire and dam. The sire's breeding is more definite, only he is largely Irish. So, I don't see why my pup might not be called anything else as well as a Gordon. However, she will probably die of old age before I get another chance at the birds, and in the meantime I can be looking out for another pup. My wife says it seems to her that I am always raising some pup or other, and never have a hunting dog. And when I come to look back over the last eight years of my life I am forced to admit that she is about right.

The Winchester Repeating Arms Company have the distinguished honor of having been awarded the grand prize at the Paris Exposition. There were 33,139 prizes of various descriptions awarded to all exhibitors in the following order of merit: 1st or grand prizes, 903; 2nd or gold medals, 5,153; 3rd or silver medals, 9,690; 4th or bronze medals, 9,523; 5th or honorable mentions, 8,070. Of the first or grand prizes, only one came to America for firearms or ammunition, and that one was awarded to the Winchester Repeating Arms Company, a distinguished honor to feel proud of.

Deputy Game and Fish Commissioner Bogart seized about a thousand deer hides at the railroad depot, Yreka, on October 29, sent there for shipment to this city, on account of being the hides of does, there being no evidence to show that all were not doe hides. The object is to stop the killing of does, and the sale and transportation of their hides. Even if the hides are of bucks, there must be evidence to show, else they will be seized just the same, and the person buying, selling or transporting the same is guilty of a misdemeanor, as it is unlawful to kill, destroy or take any female deer, elk, antelope, or mountain sheep at any time.

ATHLETICS.

Athletic Sports and Other Pastimes.

Edited by Arphippus.

SUMMARY.

The weather at present is all that could be desired for outdoor practice, and the athletes are taking advantage of the fact.

The wheelmen and oarsmen are training assiduously for Thanksgiving Day.

The bay anglers are thinking about giving up their sport for the Winter months.

RUNNERS, WALKERS, JUMPERS, ETC.

Cooley and McArthur took a ten-mile spin along the Cliff House Beach last Sunday. Both men are now in excellent condition and will make things rather lively in the boxing tournament.

Several of the amateur athletes take exercise on the Ocean Road.

Nearly every amateur in San Francisco was at the Bay District Track last Sunday forenoon. Upwards of thirty men were stripped. Runners, jumpers, walkers and shot putters were to be seen practicing for their special events.

The Olympic team in charge of Pete McIntyre, made an excellent showing, and the team across the bay will need to work hard to earn the greatest number of points at the coming games.

An impromptu race of one hundred yards was run off; athletes from the Olympic, Pacific, Golden Gate, California, Acme and Young Men's Christian Association Athletic Clubs taking part in the race, which was scratch. S. V. Cassidy, the Olympic champion, breasted the tape first, in 10½ seconds. W. J. Kenealy, of the same club finishing second two yards behind. About fifteen started. Judging from the turn of speed shown by the two first men it is safe to assert that the University men will be "out of it" in the hundred on Nov. 28th.

Captain Phil Moody, of the P A C, proved himself to be one of the quickest starters at the track.

Young Frank O'Kane is still improving, and will soon be rated as a scratch man. He ran several excellent trial heats on Sunday morning.

Kortick, of the G G A C, exercised for the first time in several months.

Archie Layton, the professional runner, ran a quarter in fast time.

The Armburster Bros., George and Charles, made a first class showing against some of the more experienced sprinters.

Peter McIntyre and Martin Espanosa, ran a mile in fair time, finishing close together. McIntyre is training Espanosa and thinks that the young amateur will easily beat five minutes on Thanksgiving Day.

Williams, of the O A C, is regarded as a sure winner of the novice race. McDonald it is thought will come in second.

The Day District Track was in very fine order and capital time was made in several instances.

Coffin and Gafney have both made up their minds not to train for the November games. Jarvis will probably give an exhibition walk for the purpose of lowering the Pacific Coast record for one mile.

J. F. Larkin, the well known amateur fencer, is looked upon as a sure winner in the coming boxing tournament. He will enter in the bantam class.

Billy Keneally says he will make a big effort to beat Kitchen in the heavy weight class.

As a general rule good long distance runners make good boxers as far as wind is concerned, and Cooley, Espanosa and McArthur should capture some of the prizes.

There is a slight possibility that the Fall games of the O. A. C., which are announced to come off on Thanksgiving Day, may be postponed until the new grounds of the club are finished. There will be horse racing at the Bay District Track on that day, and most of the athletes dislike the idea of having the games held at Berkeley; therefore, there is no other alternative but to postpone the games. As quite a number of long and short distance runners have been in training for some weeks past, it is possible that the O. A. C. will help them out in case the games are put off, by donating medals for three or four races, which could be decided on the University cinder track at Berkeley. After all we think it would be much better to postpone the regular games until Washington's Birthday, when the new track will be finished, and a good many of the athletes coincide with us in this opinion. The opening of the new Olympic grounds will be one of the greatest events ever recorded in the annals of athletics on the Pacific Coast. Each and every athlete will strive to improve their former records, and we may conscientiously affirm that several of the coast records after that day will be equal to, if not better than the records made by the Eastern crack athletes.

UNIVERSITY JOTTINGS.

Several members of the Bicycle Club will take part in the joint meeting at Napa on Thanksgiving Day.

It is expected that Fred C. Clift will have a walk over in the one mile walk. He is fine trim and will surely lower the record, which is 8:17½.

The boys are all in fine condition for their coming field day, and many of the college records stand in danger of being smashed. Several new men will make their debut on the cinder path and their performances will be closely scrutinized by the Olympic fraternity.

The cinder path will be in nice condition. It will receive a thorough rolling the day previous to the games.

The pole vault will bring out some new men. Baldwin and Clark will enter as before.

The one hundred yards and forty yards Olympic special races will prove highly exciting, all the crack sprinters having signified their intention of competing.

Bouse of the U. A. C. will no doubt win the largest number of medals. He is looked upon as the coming all round champion of the Pacific Coast.

The following is the official programme of the Fall Field Day of the University of California, which will be held on Saturday next, November 16th:

1—Maiden Hundred.
2—Half-mile Run.
3—Standing High Jump.
4—Putting Shot.
5—Standing Broad Jump.
6—Pole Vault.
7—100-yard Dash (Handicap).
8—Running High Jump.
9—Three-legged Race.
10—Hammer Throwing.
11—One-mile Run (Handicap).
12—220-yard Run (Handicap).
13—High Kick.
14—100-yard Olympic Special (Handicap).
15—Running Broad Jump.
16—120-yard Hurdle Race (Handicap).
17—One Mile Walk.
18—440-yard Olympic Special.
19—440-yard Run (Handicap).
20—Relay Race.
21—Tug-o'-War.

JOTTINGS FROM THE EAST.

T. Sherman, the crack amateur heel and toe walker of the New Jersey Athletic Club, will shortly take his departure for Canada, where he has been offered a lucrative position.

On Sunday last I. A. Ten Eyck, the oarsman, defeated Harry Vall of Canada in a three-mile race over the National Course on the Schuylkill. He won by ten lengths and made the fastest time on the course, 20m 15s.

Frank F. Dole, George Littlewood's former backer, announces through the Sporting Life, London, Eng., his readiness to back Dan Herty against Charley Rowell or any other man in the world to race for 142 consecutive hours for any amount. Or he will join in a sweepstakes of $500, the winner to take all, and the gate money to be divided in accordance with Astly belt conditions. Race to take place in either England or America.

The Missouri Amateur Athletic Club's annual handicap steeplechase, four miles, will take place over the regular steeplechase course at the Fair Grounds on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 28th, at 3 P. M. The event is open to all eligible amateurs, and the prizes will consist of a gold watch to first, a diamond pin to second, gold medal to third, and silver medal to fourth. The entrance fee is $1, which must accompany the entry. The race will take place rain or shine.

The fall field meeting of the Yale College Athletic Association was held at New Haven, Ct., on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 26th, with the following result:—

One hundred yards run—Won by H. L. Deming, '90, S, in 10 3-5s; S. L. Lassell, '92, second.

Half mile run—Won by J. D. Cheney, '92, S, in 2m 5 s; R. M. Raymond second.

One mile walk—Won by W. G. Brownson, '91, S., in 7m 52s; J. K. Punderford, '92, S., second.

One hundred and twenty yards hurdle race—Won by E Griswold, '90, in 17 2 5s; E Lentilhon second.

Two mile bicycle race—Won by F. A. Clark, '91, S., in 6m 48 1-5s. W. G. Brownson, '91, S, second.

Four hundred and forty yards run—Won by C. B. Davison '90, S, in 5m 13s; J. A. Waller, '93, second.

Two hundred and twenty yards hurdle race—Won by E. Lentilhon, '90, S, in 28 1-8s.

Mile run—Won by H. Cheney, '92, in 4m 49s; J. P. Lloyd second.

Two hundred and twenty yards run—Won by H. M. Sedgwick, '93, in 23s; A. W. Robinson second.

Running broad jump—Won by W. H. Murphy, '83, 18ft 4in; E. D. Rider, '91, second.

Pole vault—Won by E. D. Rider, '91, 9ft 2in.

Tug of war—Between '92 and '93. Won by '92 by three inches.

The fall games of the National Cross Country Association were successfully held at the grounds of the Staten Island Athletic Club on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 25th. The following is a summary of the events and the names of the winners:—

One hundred and fifty yards run—Final heat: W. P. Halpin, New Jersey Athletic Club, 10½ yds start, first, in 15 4-5s; J R McMullen, B A A, 5 yds, second, by a yard.

Half mile run—A B George, Manhattan Athletic Club, 10 yds start, first, in 1 m 59 4-5 s; W C Johnson, Varuna Boat Club, 45 yds, second, by four yards; W F Thompson, Staten Island Athletic Club, 12 yds, third, two yards behind.

Six hundred yards run, novice—W P Paret, New Jersey Athletic Club, first, in 1m 25 4-5s; James J McCann, Pastime Athletic Club, second, by six yards; John W. Moore, Columbia College Athletic Association, third, ten yards behind.

One mile walk—J. B. Keating, Pastime Athletic Club, 30s start, first, in 7m 24s; Thomas Shearman, New Jersey Athletic Club, scratch, second, by forty yards; C L Nicoll, Manhattan Athletic Club, scratch, third, five feet behind, the times of the scratch men being respectively 5 m 59s and 6m 59 1-5s.

Three hundred yards run—William P Halpin, New Jersey Athletic Club, 24 yds start, first, in 32 3-5s; Walter Smith, B A A, 15 yds, second, by five feet; J C Devereux, Manhattan Athletic Club, 5 yds, third, two yards behind.

Running high jump—Z A Cooper, Brooklyn, allowed 4½in, first, actual jump 5ft 4½in; F Rush, Scottish American Athletic Club, 5in, second, 5ft 3½in; E E Barnes, New Jersey Athletic Club, 3in, and F C Puffer, same club, 3in, tied at 5ft 4½in.

Running long jump—F C Puffer, New Jersey Athletic Club, allowed 1ft 9in, first, actual jump 20ft 2in; W P Slattery, Staten Island Athletic Club, 1ft, second, 20ft 5½in; J W Steinrich, Pastime Athletic Club, 3 ft, third, 18ft 2½in.

Hurdle race, 250 yds—George Schwegler, Staten Island Athletic Club, scratch, first, in 31 4-5s; E E Barnes, New Jersey Athletic Club, 6 yds start, second, by four yards; J C Devereux, Manhattan Athletic Club, 3 yds, third, two yards off.

Three mile bicycle race—C M Murphy, Kings County Wheelmen, 60 yards start, 1st, in 9m 20 4-5s; F G Brown, New Jersey Athletic Club, 30 yards, 2d, by 3 yds; S B Bowman, New Jersey Athletic Club, 70 yds, 3d by a like distance.

Ten mile run—S T Freeth, Staten Island Athletic Club, 3m 25s, start, 1st, in 55m 55 3-5s; W D Day, New Jersey Athletic Club, scratch second, by 25 yds in 52m 38 2-5s, being the fastest time recorded in America by an amateur; Sidney Thomas, Manhattan Athletic Club, scratch, 3d, in 52m 43 1-5s. The previous record for the distance was 52m 58 3-5s, credited to E C Carter. Thomas, the leader at 9 miles, made a new record for that distance, viz., 47m 41 4-5s.

Referee William B Curtis; Judges, B C Williams, J E Sullivan and N M Sweet; timekeepers, G A Avery, C C Hughes, S D See and Robert Stoll; clerk of the course, G M L Sacks; starter, W H Robertson.

It is expected that the Olympic and University Athletic clubs of California will send representatives to take part in the American championship games next year.

IN THE SURF.

There was a slight improvement in the attendance at the surf baths during the week.

The Terrace Club swimmers gave their usual exhibition on Sunday afternoon.

The members of the Lurline Club practice every afternoon.

Ed Finley, C. Pless, J. Hardy, E. Coffee and D. Batteau, all of the Ariel Rowing Club, swam a race of fifty yards at Hunter's Point on Sunday last. Finley won by two yards.

AT THE OARS.

Owing to the roughness of the bay on Sunday last, only a few of the crews mustered up courage enough to take a spin.

The following crew from the Ariel Club left their slip with the intention of visiting the Dolphins, but owing to the rough water abandoned the idea and took a spin to the Sugar Refinery: J. J. Larkey, H. Pless, H, Tank, L. Nunan and E. Zimmer.

Crew No. 2 of the Ariels, rowed to Hunters Point early on Sunday morning.

C. Lipp, of the Ariel Club, took a row up Mission Creek in the club's whitehall boat.

Leander Stevenson and William H. Growney, contemplate doubling up and issuing a challenge to any two oarsmen on the Pacific Coast.

The Ariel Club is singularly fortunate in being able to name a crew for each of the four events at the regatta which will come off at Sausalito on Thanksgiving Day. The club members are particularly excited over the crew picked for the four-oared shell race, and each and every member feels confident that the A R C colors will reach the finishing point first

The South End Club members have been rather inactive of late, and it is a rare sight to see one of the club boats on the water.

Charley Long, of the Pioneers, took his usual spin on Sunday. The easy and skilful manner in which he handles the oars, proves that he is an oarsman of the first quality.

At the last regular meeting of the Ariel Rowing Club, the following champion crew were selected:—Henry Tank, bow; Harry Brown and Fred Smith, waist; Al Branch, stroke. The club will back this crew against all comers.

The Bohemian Boat Club has recently been organized at North Beach, A. Duperu, secretary.

Stansbury, of Australia, has challenged the world to row over the Paramatta River for £1,000.

A match race in whitehall boats for $25 a side, between William McCarthy and James Quigley, took place on Sunday last. The course was from the foot of Second Street to Mission Rock and return. McCarthy won the race.

There is but little prospect of any amateur races being held on Thanksgiving Day. The oarsmen are all interested in the professional regatta and the amateurs are unable to make the necessary arrangements for the holding of their races.

The chief race on November 28th, will be the four-oared shell race. The contest for first honors will be between the Ariel and Pioneer crews.

Henry Peterson has a fair show of winning the single scull race.

At the last meeting of the Pioneer Rowing Club the following officers were elected:—P J McDonell, president; Edward Heenan, vice-president; John T Sullivan, treasurer; Robert Espy, secretary; Michael Long, captain; M Stokes, Lieut.

Delegates to Pacific Rowing Association:—Patrick Brannar, R J Espy and J P McDonald, trustees; Louis White, Jas. Brannan and John McDonnell.

THE WHEELMEN.

It is reported that another long distance professional bicycle race will be held in the course of a couple of weeks. We hope the report is false at least for the sake of the riders, and we can hardly credit that they will be foolish enough to engage in another swindling match. The winners of the last race were cheated out of their money and this fact should prove a warning to others.

We notice by the Los Angeles Weekly Bulletin, that the Los Angeles wheelmen will have the most elegant club house on the Pacific Coast when their new one now in course of decoration is finished. This club is indebted to the League to the amount of $100, and it would have been considered more honorable on the part of the club to have liquidated this debt before paying out money for a new club house.

There are quite a number of racing men practicing in the park during the moonlight nights, for the Napa meeting.

Prominent among the novices who practice nightly in the Park are A. Marshall and L. G. Rowell, of the B C W, both of whom have developed remarkable spurting powers.

There will be a moonlight run of the San Francisco Bicycle Club to San Jose to-night.

Robert M. Welch, ex-Chief Consul of California, and a member of the Bay City Wheelmen, had a side fall at 23rd Street and Potrero Avenue last Saturday evening, which broke his right arm at the elbow. He had intended meeting Mr. Burmesher and riding in his company to Santa Cruz by moonlight.

Fred Russ Cook, also of the B C W, was standing opposite the cyclery at the Park the same evening, holding a tandem Safety, when a cart with two men in it struck him and knocked him down. One of the wheels passed completely over his body, fortunately, however, inflicting no serious injuries. The tracks of the new cable prevented the cart from using the street.

The meeeting of the B C W called to consider the cases of the men who participated in the amateur race at the Mechanics' Pavilion resulted in suspending the men from all rights and privileges of the club for a number of months. They have also been suspended from all California tracks for the period of one year. This will probably serve as a warning to others to keep clear of "fake" professional shows.

R. A. Smythe of the B. C. W. and a member of the National Racing Board, will go to Chicago shortly to attend a meeting of that body.

The names of the new safety riders are legion, but the names of some of them will be "Dennis" if they don't learn to keep the right side of the road. One of them (and on a safety, too) was returning from the Cliff House the other evening on the wrong side of the road, when he ran into Mr. C. A Howard of the B. C. W., who was on an ordinary. Mr. Howard escaped unhurt, but the safety man will have a new front wheel to buy and a number of bruises by which to remember—"to keep to the right."

The Oakland Bicycle Club of '89 took their second run to Alvarado on Sunday last. The run was under the directions of Captain Drake and Lieutenant Larsen. They reached the Riverside Hotel at 11:30 A. M., and sat down to a fine dinner, which had been ordered beforehand. After resting for an hour they started on their homeward journey via Haywards, reaching Oakland before dusk, after having spent a very enjoyable day.

The next run of the club will be to San Leandro on Sunday, November 17th, when the boys will be treated to a fine breakfast.

The club has attached the '89 to their name to distinguish hemselves from a club that existed some years ago.

CLUB JOTTINGS.

The Lurline Swimming, Boating and Athletic Club has now over 200 names on its membership list.

The Pacific Athletic Club will give a grand benefit exhibition at its club rooms on Mission street, near Twentieth, the last week in November. Several of the leading professional boxers have promised to appear and an excellent programme is assured. After Christmas the club will be reorganized and will move from its present quarters to a fine building now in course of erection on Tenth street, near Market. There are about three hundred members in the club, but when the club reorganizes the membership will probably be limited to about one hundred and fifty. Great care will be exercised in the acceptance of members, as it is intended that the club will start in on a new basis. Only gentlemen of good social standing will be elected.

The benefit tendered to Professor Louis Gerichten at the San Francisco Turn Verein Hall, 323 Turk street, last Sunday evening, was a great success. The programme was excellent.

The amateur members of the Golden Gate and California Athletic Clubs are still growling because there is evidently no prospect in store for them.

Now that the rain is over the workmen will have a chance to finish the new Olympic grounds.

The entries for the amateur boxing tournament of the Olympic Athletic Club closed on Tuesday evening last. The tournament will commence on Thursday evening next, the 14th, and will be continued for three days. Judging from the entry list, some good boxing may be expected. All the leading amateurs on the Pacific Coast have entered their names. The following is a complete list of the entries in the different classes:—

Bantam weight, not exceeding 115 pounds—William E Zanders, 123; William J Donegan, 115; B E Richmond, 113; Jack McLaughlin, P A C, 115; A Sparrow, Alameda A C, 115, J H Smith, Acme A C, 122; D Wephsburg, 115; John Sullivan, 114; John Fitzsimmons, 126; J A Muller, 130; P C Kelly, O B C, 122; J F Larkin, O A C, 119; M Espinosa, 115; F G Dickinson, 115.

Feather-weight, not exceeding 125 pounds—A Alexander, 125 pounds; James Lucy, 127; Gus Muller, 137; E Morrissey, P A C, 125; Thomas Rennalson, P A C, 125; William Kramer, P A C, 125; Paul Trumbull Alameda A C, 125; E C Wilcox, Acme A C, 125; William Smith, 123½; E S Toadvin, 124; Oscar Ellinghouse, Olympic A C, 125; J G Brady, O A C, 140; G F Green, O A C, 126; T L Albrolli, O A C, 125; S F Hughes, O A C, 125; S Howard, O A C, 125; Peter Shea, 124; Richard Nicholson, 124; Thomas McCord, O A C, 125; F L Cooley, O A C, 125.

Light, not exceeding 135 pounds—E P Duggan, 135; Philip Knap, 142; H Gahagher, 134; J P McAuliffe, P A C, 135; J E Hesketh, P A C, 135; G W Sheehan, P A C, 135; Mylchseet, 135; Patsey Jones, 135; William Brown, 141½; H Woods, 135; Frank Richards, 132; R Macarthur, O A C, 133; Harry Jander, O A C, 135.

Welter weight, not exceeding 145 pounds—E P Dugg, 135 pounds. John Conlon, 142; F Wood, P A C, 145; William Gallagher, Acme A C, 150; Patsey Jones, 145; R MacArthur, O A C, 133; M Tyson, O A C, 145; J L Lafferty, O A C, 143.

Middle weight, not exceeding 158 pounds—J Jones, 157 pounds; J. Regan, P A C, 158; R McCord, O A C, 148; Geo. Sullivan, O A C, 150; G C Zimpel, O A C, 156; Ed Slosson, O A C, 150.

Heavy, any weight—J Kitchen, Acme, 170 pounds; William J Kenealey, O A C, 170.

The regular monthly exhibitions of the Pacific Athletic Club was successfully held in the presence of a large number of members on Thursday evening, October 31st, at the headquarters of the club Mission Rink, Mission Street near 20th. The programme consisted entirely of boxing. The following is a summary of the events:

1. Reardon and Reynoldson five rounds. Both men proved themselves to be scientific and many hard blows were exchanged. Honors were about even.

2. Regan and McAuliffe (a brother to the well known local pugilist) three rounds. Young McAuliffe proved that he can dodge as well as hit, and with proper training should make his mark, although he can never equal in any way his big brother Joe. Regan also made a good showing but McAuliffe was the more clever of the two.

3. Sullivan and Hogan, three rounds. Hogan being in better condition than his opponent, had the best of the contest.

4. Woods and Greaney, three rounds. Woods made a very creditable showing against the professional, but of course, Greany never attempted to do his best at any time.

5. Reardon and Dudy, five rounds. This was an interesting bout and ended slightly in favor of Reardon.

6. Hesketh and Sheehan. This six-round match proved to be the event of the evening, and in the fifth round both men were so exhausted that they fell through the ropes. Hesketh was out of condition, and came very nearly being knocked out. In future he will train when he expects to meet such a man as Sheehan. Both men were repeatedly applauded for their gameness. The match wound up with points about even. Hesketh, with proper handling, might develope into a very clever boxer, but he should remain in the amateur ranks, where, after all, he will find more inducements. During the course of the evening President C. Giry made a speech, in which he thanked the members of the press for their kindness towards the club since its organization.

Mr. Newton Williams informs us that our intimation printed in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of October 26th, to the effect that he could not properly compete in a race for Novices was done in error. He has never done anything that could bar him in a maiden race, and he will most assuredly compete at the Olympic Meeting.

The man who suggests that Buffalo is not a sporting city will perhaps be astonished to learn that the Queen City of the lakes can boast of two athletic clubs, four rowing clubs, two ladies' cycling clubs, three fishing clubs, two football clubs, two lacrosse clubs, two croquet clubs, two lawn tennis clubs, one polo club, two riding clubs, one kennel club, 38 amateur base ball clubs, one professional base ball club, five shooting clubs, besides bowling, curling and cricket clubs, and half a dozen gymnasiums.

THE FARM.

Something for Poulterers.

An excellent thing to feed poultry, especially hens and pullets, is parched corn. It makes but little difference how black it is so that the grains retain their shape. The active principal of the charred corn is the charcoal, an ingredient that it is put up in every egg food and condition powder that is made. It acts on the secretions of the liver and digestion, invigorates and renews the blood. Try a little parched corn and notice the wholesome effect.

Pure Crosses Are Not Dunghills.

It is a mistaken idea that pure crosses are dunghills. It is merely the cry of the fancier, who fears that the farmers pay attention to crosses the pure breds will receive a blow. The whole matter is just this: A farmer cannot afford to pay the extravagant prices asked by the fancier. He can buy pure stock that is off color, below standard, and everything but good body, and by the judicious selection of a cockeral of another breed secure a class that will be worth twice what the strictly pure article would be. A dunghill is the result of haphazard crossing and recrossing without regard to object For instance, a cross of a limited layer upon one noted for a big record would less the benefit. But reverse the cross and there would be an improvement. Again, crossing heavy fowls does not improve their condition, but put a light cock to a heavy hen and there is at once a quick growing chicken of plump carcass. This is judicious crossing, and does not run in the line of dunghills whatever.

Another point in favor of crosses, and against the pure bred is, that for market purposes the crossed bird is more profitable. Take, for instance, the Brahmas. The chicks mature very slowly, but when they do reach a marketable age they posses a good body. A white Leghorn cock or cockeral, however, crossed upon the Brahma hen gives rapid growth without taking from the plumpness of the birds. Purebreds have been reduced to fine points—too fine. In order to get exactness of feather, there has been a sacrifice to form, and the constitution is weakened. But by crossing the health of the bird is established. Therefore let not the farmer be deluded. Buy pure bred stock but cross them, and better results are sure to come.—Homestead.

Number and Value of Milch Cows.

The census of 1880 gave the number of milch cows in the United States at 12,443,120. The agricultural department this year, in its report gives the number as taken from the assessers' books made up in the spring of 1889 as 15,298 625 This shows an increase of 2,755,505 in the number of cows, which is without doubt a little larger increase relatively than there is in the population of the country.

Country store keepers and dealers in butter, dairy farmers, creamery and cheese factory men, who have the products of the dairy to sell, will get a wider range of view and a broader idea of production and value by the following table, which gives the number, average price and aggregate value for each State and Territory in the Union:—

States and Territories.	Number.	Average.	Value.
Maine	174,207	$28.00	$ 4,877,796
New Hampshire	101,011	29.61	2,963,326
Vermont	232,319	26.20	6,086,758
Massachusetts	183,925	34.50	6,161,488
Rhode Island	24,341	31.00	770,253
Connecticut	130,968	34.50	4,518,396
New York	1,552,513	29.60	45,950,241
New Jersey	181,376	34.62	6,289,624
Pennsylvania	929,371	27.56	25,613 465
Delaware	28,083	27.50	768,702
Maryland	140,422	26.25	3,686,078
Virginia	229,082	20.62	5,342,271
North Carolina	247,414	16.50	4,082,331
South Carolina	149,119	21.00	3,131,499
Georgia	344,979	17.30	5,898,937
Florida	54 407	16.68	907,509
Alabama	302,723	17.00	5,146,291
Mississippi	297,240	16.25	4,831,775
Louisiana	169,155	16.74	2,831,655
Texas	826,806	13.67	11,302,428
Arkansas	322,668	14.10	4,581,886
Tennessee	866,738	19.14	7,019,365
West Virginia	176,411	23.40	4,128,017
Kentucky	313,953	24 01	7,534,872
Ohio	783,481	28.75	22,525,079
Michigan	441,676	28.75	12,698,185
Indiana	673,670	26.50	14,628,585
Illinois	974,975	25 20	24,569,370
Wisconsin	686,598	26.00	14,664,950
Minnesota	455,664	22.30	26,161,207
Iowa	1,283,095	22.32	28,881,880
Missouri	737,259	19.30	14,229,099
Kansas	652 883	20.36	13,292,698
Nebraska	400,066	22.50	9,001,485
California	258,296	31.38	8,105,328
Oregon	82.157	28.00	2,300,396
Nevada	18.217	35 50	646,704
Colorado	64 914	34 40	2,233,042
Arizona	16,624	22 50	374.040
Dakota	239,057	28.00	6,693,596
Idaho	31,750	34.33	1,089,978
Montana	31,443	35.25	1,108,366
New Mexico	19,782	21.67	428,676
Utah	51,873	26.10	1,353,885
Washington	72,7 1	34.50	2,509 220
Wyoming	8 22	34.70	305,454
Total	15,298,625	$23.94	$ 66,226,376

The immense amount of capital in dairying is made up in the cost of farms and buildings, in the cost of hay, grain and feed, utensils, implements, young stock growing up to cows, besides the $366,000,000 worth of cows.

It is no longer profitable to rush into the dairying business with scrub cows and worse convenience. The average farmer must also get out of the old rut of letting the cows go dry five or six months of the year. Weigh their milk and find out which is paying and which is being kept at a loss. One cannot expect to prosper if half the cows milked don't give milk enough to pay for the hay they eat. One of the first essential points in milk production is a healthy cow. Then give her all the nutritious food she will digest and assimilate, plenty pure water, and free access to salt at all times. If you once allow the milk to shrink to any appreciable extent you cannot regain the ground that is lost by after feeding. That milk, under certain conditions, will become tainted in a short time is a well known fact. There are many causes for this. The first and most common cause is the animal odor, which is an active agent in producing taint and hastening decomposition. When milk is warm and exposed to the air this odor or gas takes the form of a vapor, and passes out very rapidly; but if the milk after being drawn from the cow is rapidly cooled down with cold water, or shut away from the air, this odor condenses in the milk and cannot be removed by any subsequent aeration.

Export Trade in Beef.

In their weekly review of trade, R. G. Dun & Co., emphasize the enormous expansion of the exports of beef:

The unprecedented movement of cattle and fresh beef to England attracts much attention, the exports having been over ninety thousand head of cattle, forty million pounds of fresh beef and thirty-four million pounds of cured or canned beef within three months, ending with August. With the National steamship line engaged in transporting cattle rather than passengers, this movement seems likely to increase largely, and it is noteworthy that the export trade, though barely maintained in some important branches, steadily broadens by large increase in minor items not hitherto imported.

Even at the present exceedingly high rates of ocean transportation, when it is more profitable to carry beef than passengers, there is a large profit in shipping cattle It is only a question of time when the competition of ocean steamers will take the monopoly out of the hands of the packers and reduce the price, and then breeders of good cattle will get the premium to which they are entitled.

Decline of British Agriculture.

According to the latest statistics, if we consider only the acreage and the amount of live stock, English agriculture may be considered on the decline. The decline in the area in wheat from last year was over 115,600 acres. There is a slight increase in the acreage devoted to barley and oats, but a decrease of over 10,000 acres in potatoes. The decline in the area of wheat since 1882 is 554,371 acres or nearly 20 per cent. There is a decrease of 545,362 acres in the area of barley since 1879. The decreased acreage of wheat represents about 16,000,000 bushels. Cattle have fallen off in number since 1887 from 6,441,268 to 6,140,045. There is an increase in the number of sheep from 15,863,211 in 1887 to 16,146 249 but a falling off in the number of lambs from 9,812 519 to 9,770,880 this year. The total falling off in live stock since 1887 is over 327,000 head. But there is an increase of 311,615 in pigs. There is also a great decline in the cultivation of hops. The largest number of cattle owned by England was in 1886, when they numbered 6,646 683. In 1868 she had her largest number of sheep, 30.711 396, or nearly double what she has now. The falling off on the whole is not large, but shows a general decline.

Animal Nutrition.

Prof. Sanborn, in an article in the National Stockman and Farmer reviewing the subject of ancient times and their support of immense armies while the people had only the crudest implements of tillage, and calling attention to the vast populations of China, Japan and India, upon limited areas using only the rudest implements of tillage, holds that "the main key to the understanding of these facts, without which we would be forced to suppose a very high type of agriculture, and indeed higher than all of the data warrant us in believing existed, rests in the fact that these nations raised comparatively few cattle and fewer horses. With increased density of population comes decreased relative density of cattle. This is true not only of ancient civilzations, with their crude implements and lack of cast iron which is a want almost remediless to a higher order of development of machinery, but also of modern civilization; this cannot fail (from present indications) to be true in the near future of this country. It is no rash prophecy to assert that babies will increase in the future in this country faster than calves; that the margin that exists between production and consumption will grow less and less until they meet, and at last consumption will exceed production, and beef of South America will press its If upon the Atlantic coast, provided that the present rate of meat consumption is maintained."

The subject of animal nutrition is then discussed as follows: "The reason that meat production decreases with increased population lies in the fact that the area required for the maintenance of a man upon meat is enormous compared to the area required in vegetable production for his support. This finds illustration in such data as the following: The Missouri college farm has been yielding to me an average of forty bushels of wheat per acre, or nineteen hundred pounds of the digestible materials in the wheat. As steers are ordinarily kept, three to five acres are used to keep one a year, from which a growth of not over three hundred pounds is averaged. Of this growth about forty per cent. is water, while of the dry material still left, a part is bone, and some waste, tallow and gristle, so far as food consumption is concerned. At least there is rescued for food consumption from twenty-one to twenty-six pounds per acre in lieu of the nineteen hundred pounds from wheat, when ground whole. The earth is taxed heavily to support a meat-eating nation. In the above rough calculation no credit is given the wheat for the nutrition found in the straw.

"These calculations may be regarded as belonging to the curious side of the question, yet they should serve as a stimulus to arouse us to a more critical study of a subject so important in its relations.

"If we look at the subject in its more direct bearings, we are at once met by the facts brought out by the experiments of Sir John B. Lawes, and by general feeding experiments, and amplified by Joseph Harris at the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia, that ninety per cent. of the food fed an animal is used in running the machine, in supporting existence, while only ten per cent. goes to form growth. This pound of growth is gained at great cost.

"The question arises as to whether the cost can be greatly reduced. It used to be the case that the old steam powers were fearfully wasteful of fuel. Very little of the heat generated was actually used in productive work. Studies of investigators have so far perfected the steam power that the losses have been reduced to such an extent that land and ocean transportation have been greatly cheapened. While not run by mechanical forces, animals, like machines, differ in their power to utilize the forces wrapped up in the materials upon which they feed. Machines are perfected by mechanical forces, animals by physical forces—breeding, etc. The machine is necessarily more restricted in the range of its possible improvement than the animal.

"In the work of perfecting the animal, I have advocated a procedure that does not seem to impress any one; or, at least, I have noticed no seconding of the method, and know of no one adopting it. This consists of the troublesome and profitable method of testing the food required for a pound of growth. Everything else being equal, the bull that would make a pound of growth on nine pounds of food would be selected instead of the one that required ten or eleven pounds.

"Would such a test pay? Let us see: A herd of cattle of one hundred head probably consumed one hundred and sixty or more tons of hay. Now a saving of ten per cent. on this sum would be sixteen tons of hay, or enough to winter ten more steers. Ten dollars a ton for hay would mean $160 a winter, saying nothing about a summer, a year. This thought might be extended, but need not be.

"I believe that a great advance lies along this line of work, and when made, as it will be by some one, will constitute the greatest and most profitable improvement made since the times of the fathers of the breeding art."

Diseased Meat.

Dr. Behrend gives us an article in the Nineteenth Century and shows that disease may be communicated to man from the use of animal food—that tubercular disease, for instance, may be produced by eating the meat of animals affected with lung trouble. There is consumption among the cattle as well as among men, and this dread disease may be caused not only directly by certain parasites being carried into the lungs, but indirectly by eating the flesh of affected cattle. But how shall the presence of disease in cattle be known so as the public may avoid the danger? Here lies the chief difficulty. The disease cannot usually be recognized until after the animal is killed and exposed in the market. Dr. Carpenter declares that 80 per cent. of the meat used in the London market is affected by tubercular disease. Formerly it was thought that the cutting out of the diseased portions of the meat was all that was required and that the other parts could be safely exposed for sale. It is now ascertained that the disease of one part affects the whole of the body and every part of the animal is then capable of transmitting tubercular disease to man. But how is the public to be guaranteed against the use of diseased meat? Proper inspection in our local markets might result in destroying any animal the lungs of which had become affected. But what about the foreign meat from Australia and South America? What of the canned meats or the sausages or the smoked beef, mutton or pork? Who shall guard us against these sources of danger, these ever active causes of the spread of tuberculous disease? Dr. Behrend in his article points out the curious circumstance that the sanitary regulations of the Mosaic code are thoroughly in accord with the latest conclusions of the most distinguished experts in sanitary science.

Brought Him in Debt.

The following queer story of a transaction between a farmer and a butcher in one of the counties near San Francisco, is told by the Butchers' and Live Stock Gazette: Mr. Jones sold a bullock to Mr. Lazarus for $16, to be taken and paid for when fat. When Mr. Lazarus came for the animal, Jones said he would like to have a fore-quarter for his own use. Mr. Lazarus willingly accepted the order, and after the bullock was slaughtered, delivered the meat. A few days later Jones went to town, called on Lazarus, and as a preliminary to a settlement, asked for his bill. "Dot's all right, Mr. Jones; I haf the bill already made out. Mr. Jones read:

Mr. Jones, Dr., to Jacob Lazarus—

To one-quarter of beef, 185 pounds, at 10c	$18 50
By credit, one bullock	16 00
Balance due	$2 50

"Good heavens, Lazarus, you get three-quarters of the beef, the hide, tallow and offal, and bring me in debt $2 50! How's that, old man?"

"Ah, Mr. Jones, that beef was cheap at 10c a pound."

"But, Lazarus, you only gave me $16 for the whole bullock."

"Ah, but Jones, dot's pizness, pizness, do you see?"

"Well, Lazarus, next time I have a fat bullock I'll kill it myself, use one-quarter and throw away the rest, and then I will save $2 50. You see?"

"Ah! ah! but dot's not pizness; farmers should not be butchers— dot's bad."

Pedigreed Sheep.

There are many good men in this world even to-day, who have so much confidence in their own skill and integrity, that they refuse to register anything they produce. Especially is this true of sheep and hogs; and yet the Register, modern institution though it be, is one of the most valuable and desirable known to man. Everything kept for breeding purposes should be religiously entered in the personal and private register, and if possible, also in the public and printed one. It is desirable to know that all breeding animals have nothing but pure blood, and though this is ensured and guaranteed on farms where none else are allowed to come, still there are good, better and best in all flocks and herds, and it is only by registration that these can be traced.

Mortimer Levering, an authority on Shropshires, says in the N. E. Homestead:

"Pedigree is alike an advantage to the one who buys, the one who owns and to the sheep itself. Taking these in their order: When a breeder contemplates buying a ram to improve his stock, as should be the aim of every sheep raiser, he goes to a breeder who pays strict attention to the breeding of the kind of sheep he intends to buy. If he sees an animal that pleases him, he asks: How is it bred? and if the pedigree can be shown that gives as the sire and dam animals well known as prize winners, or from prize stock, he is satisfied to pay a big price.

"Those who own sheep and have stock for sale, will find that registered stock can be sold for nearly three times the price of grades. It is a well known fact that no matter what a breeder may say regarding the quality or individual merit of his flock, or the statement that 'they are full blood, but cannot be recorded, as no pedigrees have been kept of the different animals,' he cannot sell them for half the price they would bring if they were recorded. The average price of pure-bred sheep, without pedigrees entitling them to registry, is $8, and the average price of registered sheep is $35. The one kind eat just as much as the other, and it takes about the same amount of time and labor to raise them. Then it is certainly a great advantage to the breeder to be able to record his flock by having a reliable pedigree for each sheep.

"Pedigreed sheep undoubtedly get better care than their common bred relatives and fare better, as their pedigrees show that they can boast of superb lineage. From the time a pedigreed lamb is dropped, its extra care is marked, for if the shepherd has a choice pedigreed breeding ewe, he will ascertain to a day when she will lamb and if the weather is cold and stormy, that lamb will never be left on frozen ground, but will be wrapped in an overcoat and warmed near a fire. No matter what time of the night it makes its debut on that farm from that hour it is watched, fed and especially cared for. Hundreds of such lambs, when kept for show and breeding purposes, are not permitted to get a drop of rain or snow on their fleece. Then again in the mating, care is taken when breeding pedigreed animals to avoid too close inbreeding and to use such sires as have well-established records as good individuals or prize-winners. A breeder takes pride in publishing to the world that his stock is as good as he can afford to buy.

"It is hoped that every sheep breeder will keep accurate records of his flock, that he may satisfy the inquiries of buyers, establish the representations as to pedigrees, improve his flock by getting meritorious stock and give such sheep the care that well-bred animals deserve. In this way his profits will be largely increased, his pleasure in raising stock be assured and the satisfaction gained of being classed as a breeder of thoroughbreds."

How to Choose a Heavy Draft Horse.

A French veterinarian (M. Minot), in his book "Appreciation of the Horse," gives the following directions for the choice of heavy draft horses: The choice of a heavy draft horse is a great deal easier than that of a race horse; yet it is important to know how to distinguish the best, strongest, most enduring, those who would feed well, those that are fiery, and those that are slow. The draft horse derives his power from several causes—the development of those parts which constitute bulk, the energy of its muscular action, and the firmness and hardiness of its organs. The exterior characteristics of a good heavy draft horse are a large, deep chest, straight shoulders a little inclined, fleshy, a thick body yet not too much belly, straight loin, the hind-quarters a little depressed, thick through the thighs, and a long perineum. The horse that has a long perineum prolonged down from the anus, and thick, short muscles of the thighs is a very strong and good draft animal. The walk of a heavy draft horse is immaterial. There are draft horses that are quick, and there are those that are slow. The light, quick horses are good for farm work where the ground is light and even; the heavy-slow horses, with firm tread, are excellent for new, sticky ground, and on bad, uneven roads. A horse for drawing loads to be well formed ought to be high in front, having high and projecting withers, large chest, front legs strong and well spread apart, back and loins straight, hind-quarters a little depressed, muscular, short in flank, large sinews. With such a shape a draft horse is solid and able to resist all the knocks from uneven roads and weights which presses upon it when going down a hill. To be too fiery is a fault in a horse drawing heavy loads on an uneven road. In this case a strong and slow horse is better; it will resist fatigue more and do more service.

Foothill Apples.

M. V. Doe of Nimshew sends us, in answer to our request, some facts regarding the profits in producing fruit in this country. His land is in the foothills near Nimshew, at an altitude of 2,470 feet. The soil is not as hard to till or keep free from weeds as much of the land in the valley parts of Butte:

"I give you some facts as to the cost of producing the fruit here in the hills and also the profits made from the fruit grown. I select the apple to start with. Plowing one acre, $4; pruning, $10; cultivating and harrowing, $4; picking and packing, $40; hauling to market (Chico) $30; making a total of $88. The boxes cost 20 cents each, which makes $258 for the boxes, or $346 for the total expense, per acre, of eighty-six bearing trees. Now we give what we receive for all this trouble and expense without counting the land, the trees and the time of waiting for them to come to maturity. Now I take the Ben Davis; the tree is healthy, a good grower and a prolific bearer. The fruit is very showy and a good late apple. I had trees that bore more pounds of apples than this, but I will take an average amount. In the first place we set eighty-six trees to the acre. Now fifteen boxes of fifty pounds each, or 750 pounds to the tree, amounts to 64,500 pounds to the acre. This at 1½ cents per pound makes $967.50. From this must be deducted the taxes and the interest on the valuation of the land, and it is plain to be seen why so many of our big wheat-growers are setting so much of their land to fruit trees. There are other fruits that pay as well or better than apples.

"For a second fruit we select figs. The cultivation is about the same except for pruning, which is less than half the cost for apples. I have one fig tree of the purple variety that had an enormous crop after the birds had destroyed the greater part of the first crop. I gathered and dried 567 pounds of the dried figs. This at the market price in San Francisco at only 3 cents a pound loose in cotton sacks would bring $17.01 per tree, which would be $1,452.86 per acre of eighty-six trees. I have 300 year-old Smyrna trees and if they yield in proportion to the purple figs I shall need some other method of getting them to market besides hauling them on a wagon, and my little orchard is but a speck in a large tract of country that is susceptible of like results."
—Oroville Register.

Notes.

Too many barn-yards are nothing but cesspools, breeding questionable odors, if not pestilence. With no drainage provided, the liquid manure gravitates toward natural earth depressions, which are very often under the stable floor or about the sills, and there the collected filth breeds its mischief. By all means have good drainage about the cowbarns. The odors generated from stagnated filth are quickly absorbed by the freshdrawn milk, and milk thus tainted is absolutely poisonous.

Good oats are clean, hard, dry, sweet, heavy, plump, full of floor and rattle like shot. They have a clean and almost metalic luster. Each oat in a well-grown sample is nearly of the same size. There are but few small or imperfect grains. The hard pressure of the nail on an oat should leave little or no mark. The kernel, when pressed between the teeth, should clip rather than tear. The skin should be thin. The color of the oat is not very material, but white oats are generally thinner in the skin than black.

Probably the best application that can be made to keep flies from wounds in a horse is a one per cent solution of carbolic acid. This will not keep the flies from troubling the sore, but will have a tendency to prevent a growth to proud flesh, and will keep the lacerated portions in a healthy condition, causing the wound to heal much more readily than it would were the carbolic acid not used. An application of a mixture consisting of one part carbolic acid crystals to ten parts of sweet oil will prove more effective than the solution above named, as it will be retained longer. A little medicament applied to a wound will also keep the flies away.

The Poultry Journal says: The following is a simple recipe for killing squirrels, furnished by Mr. Cottle. He has used it this season and in every instance found it successful: Saturate a piece of oil cotton cloth, say about a foot square, with coal oil then sprinkle powdered sulphur over it. The cloth thus prepared must be placed in the hole and, after setting fire to it, shoved some distance into the squirrel-hole. The mouth of the hole must then be covered with clods or loose clay, so as to allow the burning rags to smoulder. Mr. Cottle says he tried the exterminator on a colony of about one hundred squirrels a week ago, and has not seen one about that settlement since. Great care should be used in lighting the rags to prevent the fire catching the stubble and dry grass.

SITUATION WANTED.

An industrious and capable man wants to secure a situation as stallion groom. Can give good references. Address,

GROOM,

This Office.

E. J. O'ROUKE.

I have the honor to announce to my old patrons and the general public that I may be found at my old stand, where, as heretofore, the

Shoeing of Horses,

whether for the Track, Drive, or for general work will receive my personal attention.

E. J. O'ROUKE,
211 Ellis Street

By-Laws
—AND—
Rules and Regulations
—OF THE—
NATIONAL
Trotting Association
ALSO THE AMERICAN
Trotting Association,
AND THE
PACIFIC COAST BLOOD-HORSE ASSOCIATION.
With Betting Rules.
For Sale at the Office of the
Breeder and Sportsman,
313 Bush St., S. F., Cal.
Price, 25c. each.
By Mail, Postage Paid, 30c. each.

THE BUCKINGHAM.
OLD STRAIGHT WHISKIES.
141 Montgomery Street.
303 Bush Street, S. F.
M. J. BALFE, Proprietor.

Fine Hats,
Latest Styles and Colors.
Meussdorffer & Hubner
8 Kearny Street, San Francisco.
Next to New Chronicle Building

Singleton & Addington,
Bank Exchange,
2d and K Streets, Sacramento.
Superior Wines, Liquors and Cigars.

KILLIP & CO.,
LIVE STOCK AND GENERAL AUCTIONEERS,
22 Montgomery Street, San Francisco

SPECIAL ATTENTION PAID TO SALES OF
High-Bred Horses and Cattle.
At auction and private sale.

Will Sell in All Cities and Counties of the State.

REFERENCES.

HON. C. GREEN, Sacramento. HON. J. D. CARR Salinas.
J. P. SARGENT, ESQ., Sargents. HON. JOHN BOGGS Colusa.
HON. L. J. ROSE, Los Angeles. HON. A. WALRATH Nevada.
J. B. HAGGIN, ESQ., San Francisco.

Represented at Sacramento by Edwin F. Smith Secretary State Agricultural Society.
At San Jose by Messrs. Montgomery & Rea, Real Estate Agents.
Being the oldest established firm in the live-stock business on this Coast, and having conducted the important auction sales in this line for the past fifteen years, amounting to one half a million of dollars, we feel jutified in claiming unequaled facilities for disposing of live stock of every description, either at auction or private sale. Our list of correspondents embraces every breeder and dealer of prominence upon the Pacific Coast, thus enabling us to give full publicity to animals placed with us for sale. Private purchases and sales of live stock of all descriptions will be made on commission, and stock shipped with the utmost care. Purchases and sales made of land of every description. We are authorized to refer to the gentlemen whose names are appended.

KILLIP & CO., 22 Montgomery Street,

AUCTION SALE

OF

Thoroughbred

Short-Horn Cattle!

—AT—

Agricultural Park, Sacramento

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1889,

AT 1 P. M.

40 Head of

Cows, Heifers and Bulls.

That have been bred for the past 23 years with a view to producing both milk and beef. Among them will be some cows in full milk and others in calf to first class Shorthorn bulls belonging to ROBERT ASHBURNER, Baden Station, San Mateo Co., who is about to give up Baden Farm.

Saturday, November 30th, at Baden Farm, Baden Station, will be also sold at public auction, the entire stock of Farming Implements, Dairy Cows, Brood Mares and other Horses, including the Bay Stallion, Suffolk Prince, who stands 17 hands 3 inches, weighs 1,750 pounds, and is kind in all sorts of work.

Catalogues can be had of

R. ASHBURNER,

Or of KILLIP & CO., Auctioneers,

22 Montgomery St., S. F.

Have Arrived.

Thoroughbred

Clydesdale Stallions

and Mares.

Consisting of the following: Bismarck, 6 years old, 2300 pounds; Brown Ben, 6 years old, 2000 pounds; Boss, 3 years, 2000 pounds; Young Malcolm, 5 years, 1900 pounds; Madam (Clydesdale), 5 years, 1800 pounds, and Rose (Clydesdale), 6 years, 1800 pounds.

IMPORTED BY

J. Trestrail,

Per Steamship Mariposa, from Australia.

May be seen at Stables of

J. G. DOANE,

No. 1117 Golden Gate Avenue.

Catalogues and particulars of

KILLIP & CO., Auctioneers,

22 Montgomery Street, S. F.

Grand Opportunity

TO PURCHASERS.

A FINE STOCK FARM

2200 ACRES

OF THE

Best and Richest Valley Land

In Ventura County

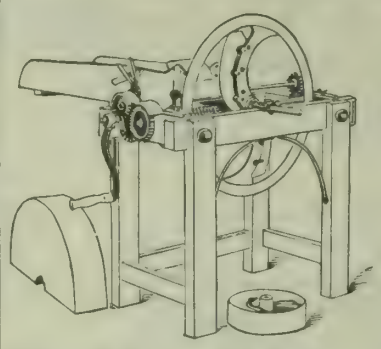
For Sale at a Bargain.

This land joins the great oil wells at Sespa, and is directly on the line of the Southern Pacific Railroad. It is well watered and well timbered, and will be sold as a whole or in parts to suit purchasers. The land adjoining this tract has been sold in small parcels to farmers who have fine orchards of oranges and olives, and vineyards. It would make two handsome ranches on which to breed fine horses or cattle, or it presents a fine opportunity to the speculator who would divide it up into small fruit farms and a town site. For further particulars, address

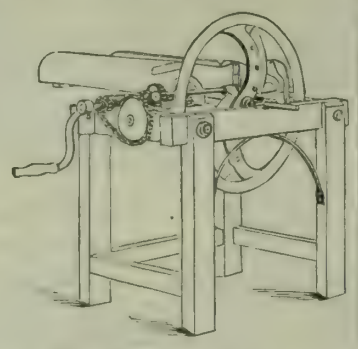
THOS. R. MORE,

Box 9, Santa Barbara, Cal.

SAMUEL VALLEAU. JAS. R. BRODIE



J. R. BRODIE & CO.,



Steam Printers,

—And Dealers in—

Pooiseller's and Bookmaker's Supplies.

401—403 Sansome Street, corner Sacramento, San Francisco.

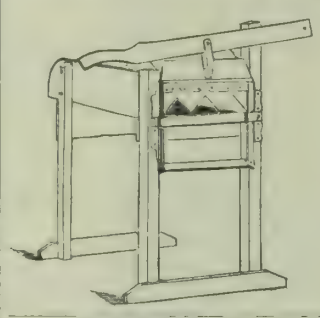
Belle City Feed Cutters

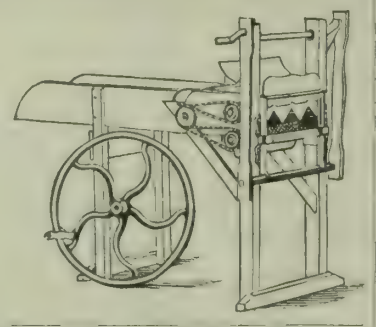
UNIVERSALLY USED BY

Eastern Horse Breeders and Trainers.

Economical and Healthful.



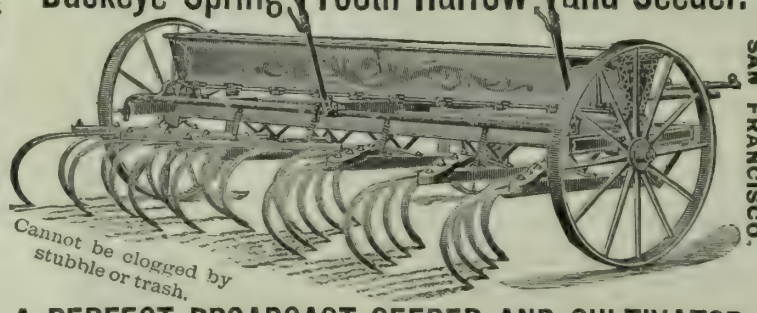
Write for Catalogue and Prices.



BAKER & HAMILTON,

Sole Agents,

San Francisco and Sacramento.



Dealers in Agricultural Implements, Road Carts, Buggies, Wagons, Blacksmith Supplies, and Wholesale Hardware.

Buckeye Spring Tooth Harrow and Seeder.

P. P. MAST & CO.,

Cannot be clogged by stubble or trash.

31 MARKET ST. SAN FRANCISCO.

A PERFECT BROADCAST SEEDER AND CULTIVATOR.

SIZES 6 3-4, 8, 10 and 12 FEET.

Give them a Trial.

They will Speak for Themselves.

No Sale if not Satisfactory.

Address P. P. MAST & CO.,

31 Market Street, S. F.

PASTURAGE

AND

FIRST-CLASS CARE

TAKEN OF

Gentlemen's Road Horses and Trotters.

Colts Broken and Trained to Harness or Saddle.

Twenty new Box Stalls. First-class Pasturage, and the best of care given to all horses. Terms, $4 per month. Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Address,

K. O'GRADY,

Laural Creek Farm,

SAN MATEO, CAL

HORSES PURCHASED ON COMMISSION.

THOROUGHBREDS A SPECIALTY.

Will select and buy, or buy selected Animals for all desiring, for reasonable compensation

KEEPS PROMISING YOUNGSTERS IN VIEW.

L. M. LASLEY, Stanford, Ky.

References:—J. W. Guest, Danville, Ky.
B. G Bruce, Lexington Ky.
S. H. Baughman, Stanford, Ky.
G. A. Lackey, Stanford, Ky.
Geo. McAlister, Stanford, Ky.
First National Bank, Stanford, Ky.

DUANE WESTCOTT. SAMUEL BRECK.

HARDY

Send for Catalogue FREE.

NORTHERN GROWN

SEEDS

ALSO

Grass, Farm and Garden Seeds, Plants, Trees and Bulbs in Stock.

Correspondence Solicited.

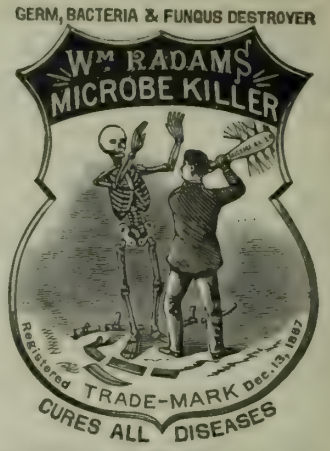
WESTCOTT & BRECK,

406 and 408 Sansome Street, S. F., Cal.

Shoes For Comfort, Elegance and Durability.

Having my own Factory, and giving my personal supervision to all work I am in a position to warrant perfect satisfaction. Inspection invited.

Gentlemen's Park Riding Boots made to Order.



FACTORY—8 W. cor. Battery and Jackson Sts.
SALESROOM—Pioneer Building, corner Stevenson and Fourth Streets.

A full line of Boots and Shoes constantly on hand, and rules for Self-Measurement by Mail.

JNO. T. SULLIVAN.

THE GREATEST MEDICINE IN THE WORLD.

GERM, BACTERIA & FUNGUS DESTROYER

Positively Cures Diseases

By destroying and removing their cause, viz.:

MICROBES.

A New Theory. A New Medicine.

Thousands Already Cured.

Send for book giving full information.

Radam's Microbe Killer CO.,

1332 Market Street, San Francisco.

THE PROPRIETORS OF RADAM'S MICROBE KILLER REFER BY PERMISSION TO THE WELL-KNOWN HORSEMAN AND LIVE STOCK AUCTIONEER, J. N. KILLIP, 22 MONTGOMERY STREET, AS TO THE EFFICACY OF THIS MEDICINE. BY INVESTIGATING, YOU WILL FIND THIS A

Universal Family Medicine

Adapted to Every Disease and Emergency.

DIXON DRIVING PARK

Association Races,

THURSDAY, Nov. 28, 1889,

AT THE

Dixon Driving Park

No. 1.—Running. Citizen's Stake of $100. Five-eighths of a mile and repeat; free for all; $10 entrance added to stake; second horse to receive $75.

No. 2.—Pacing. 2:25 class. Purse $250.

CONDITIONS.

Pacing purse will be best 3 in 5. National Association rules to govern pacing races. Rules of the Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association to govern running races. Entrance fee $10 per cent. of purse to accompany nomination: in the pacing race the purse is to be divided into three moneys: 60, 30 and 10 per cent. Five or more paid up entries required to fill, and three or more to start, but the Board reserves the right to hold the entries and start the race with a less number, and deduct a proportionate amount of the purse or stake.

A horse winning a race is entitled to first money, only except when distancing the field, then to first and third moneys.

Non starters must be declared out the day previous to the race before 7 o'clock P. M., or be required to start.

Entries to close with Secretary or President at Dixon, November 18, 1889, at 9 o'clock P. M.

G. WRIGHT.

J. P. ROCHFORD, President.

Secretary.

PERRIER-JOUET

& Co.

EPERNAY

CHAMPAGNE

W. B CHAPMAN,

Sole Agent for Pacific Coast.

For sale by all first-class Wine Merchants and Grocers.

Breeders' Directory.

Advertisements under this heading 50c. per line per month.

HORSES AND CATTLE.

MAMBRINO WILKES COLTS and FILLIES, full brothers and sisters to Gus. Wilkes 2:22, and Balkan 2:29½, for Sale. Address SMITH HILL, Walnut Creek, Contra Costa County, Cal.

B. F. RUSH, Suisun, Cal., Shorthorns, Thoroughbred and Grades. Young Bulls and Calves for Sale.

PETER SAXE & SON. Lick House, San Francisco. Cal.—Importers and Breeders for past 18 years of every variety of Cattle, Horses, Sheep and Hogs.

HOLSTEIN THOROUGHBREDS of all the noted strains. Registered Berkshire Swine. Catalogues. F. H. BURKE, 401 Montgomery St., S. F.

CLEVELAND BAYS and Norman Horses, Jersey Cattle, and pure bred Poland China Hogs.—DR. W. J. PRATHER, Fresno, Cal.

G. VALENSIN. Valensin Stock Farm, Pleasanton, Alameda County, Cal.—The get of Sidney, 2:19¾; Valensin, 3 year old, 2:23; Shamrock, 2 year old, 2:25, out of first-class mares, for sale at reasonable prices.

MAPLE GROVE FARM—GEO. BEMENT & SON.—Registered Ayrshire Cattle and Essex Swine. Oakland, Cal.

HENRY C. JUDSON. Wild Idle Farm.—Breeder of Thoroughbred Horses. The home of "Wild Idle." P. O. Santa Clara; Box 223.

W. S. JACOBS. Sacramento, Cal. — Breeder of Thoroughbred Shorthorns and Berkshire Hogs.

J. H. WHITE. Lakeville, Sonoma County—Breeder of Registered Holstein Cattle.

EL ROBLAR RANCHO—Los Alamos, Cal , Francis T. Underhill, proprietor, importer and breeder of thoroughbred Hereford Cattle. Information by mail. C. F. Swan, manager.

SHORT-HORNS—Imported and Recorded Short-Horns of the best strains. Catalogues. Address P. PETERSON, Sites, Colusa Co. Cal.

PAGE BROTHERS.—Penn's Grove, Sonoma Co. Cal. Breeders of Short-Horn Cattle; Draft, Roadster and Standard Bred Horses.

VALPARAISO PARK. — Thoroughbred Durham Cattle. Address F. D. Atherton, Menlo Park.

JAMES MADDOCK, Petaluma, Cal.—Trotters trained at reasonable prices. Stock handled carefully. Correspondence solicited.

SETH COOK, breeder of Cleveland Bay Horses, Devon, Durham, Polled Aberdeen-Angus and Galloway Cattle. Young stock of above breeds on hand for sale. Warranted to be pure bred, recorded and average breeders. Address, Geo. A. Wiley, Cook Farm, Danville, Contra Costa Co., Cal.

Highland Farm,

LEXINGTON, KY.,

Home of Red Wilkes.

Standard-bred Trotting Stock

For Sale,

Sired by Red Wilkes, Wilton, 2·19¼; Allandorf and Sentinel Wilkes, out of highly bred Standard Mares of the most fashionable blood of the day.

W. C. FRANCE, Proprietor.

Brushes.

BUCHANAN BROS.,
Brush Manufacturers,
609 Sacramento Street, two doors above Montgomery.

Horse Brushes of every description on hand and made to order. Bristle Body Brushes our Specialty

JESSE E. MARKS & CO.,
Wholesale and Retail Dealers of Choice Brands
Havana & Key West Cigars
922 MARKET ST., S. F.

R. LIDDLE & SON
538 Washington St., S. F.,
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
Guns, Rifles and Pistols.
A Full Line of FISHING TACKLE and SPORTSMAN'S GOODS.
Orders by mail receive prompt attention.

John D. Gall. Jas. P. Dunne
"The Resort,"
No. 1 Stockton Street, cor. Ellis,
San Francisco.

Old Hermitage Whiskies
"STEINER'S,"
No. 311 BUSH STREET,
San Francisco.
Under Breeder and Sportsman Office.

BOYCE TABLETS.

Leg and Body Wash.

THE BOYCE TABLETS are packed in a nicely decorated metal box with hinged lid—one hundred tablets in each box; directions for use plainly engraved upon the box; therefore, the convenience of the package—no liability to leakage and breakage—economy and ready solubility, together with the absolute certainty of their action, will at once commend the use of BOYCE'S TABLETS to the intelligent horsemen of the country. TABLETS sufficient to make one hundred pints of leg and body wash are conveniently carried in an inside coat pocket or in the hip-pocket of the trousers.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y, August 23, 1889.

BOYCE TABLET CO., Terre Haute, Ind.

GENTLEMEN: I look upon horses the same as human beings. They say that a horse has no soul. I dont't believe that is possible. It does not seem to me that so true, brave and noble an animal as a horse, after having spent a life of toil and drudgery, will die, and that is the end. I feel like thanking everyone who does a kind act for the horse family, and for that reason, if for no other, I take the opportunity of thanking you for having invented a medicine that brings as much comfort to them as I am sure your CELEBRATED TABLETS do. Mr. Wm. McClosson, the foreman of my stable, tells me that he has never tried anything in his long experience that gives such relief to a sore horse as the wash prepared from your medicine.

Hoping for the sake of the horse family that every horse owner in the land will try it, I remain,

Yours truly, JOHN SPLAN.

Price per Box of One Hundred Tablets, $2, sent postpaid to any part of the United States; six boxes for $10. A sample of BOYCE'S TABLETS will be mailed to any address on receipt of four cents to pay postage. These TABLETS are warranted to keep in any climate. Address

BOYCE TABLET COMPANY,
600 Wabash Avenue, - - - Terre Haute, Indiana.
J. A. McKERRON, Pacific Coast Agent,
228-230-232 Ellis Street, San Francisco, Cal.

The Wine that is held in HIGHEST ESTEEM
by the LEADING CLUBS and in SOCIETY
IS
MOËT & CHANDON
-:- "WHITE SEAL," -:-
THE PERFECTION OF A DRY
Champagne

For Sale by all the Leading Grocers and Wine Merchants.

SHERWOOD & SHERWOOD,
PACIFIC COAST AGENTS,
212--214 Market Street, San Francisco, Cal.

TO HORSEMEN!

PREPARE!!

Your Stallion Advertisements for the

Breeder & Sportsman

For the Coming Season---1890.

We are pleased to announce that we have the best facilities for furnishing

Stallion Pictures,

Stallion Cards,

Pedigrees, Folders.

Contracts, Bills, Etc.

We make a specialty of this department of our business, and have UNRIVALED FACILITIES FOR LOOKING UP PEDIGREES and doing accurate and handsome work.

Promptness, Good Work, Low Prices.

TO REACH ALL
OF THE
Horsemen and Breeders on the Pacific Coast
ADVERSISE in the
Breeder & Sportsman,
313 Bush Street, S. F.

Pacific Coast.
Blood Horse Asso'n.

Fall Racing Meeting, 1889.

Bay District Track.
San Francisco,

Regular Days:

SATURDAY, November 16.
TUESDAY, November 19.
THURSDAY, November 21.
SATURDAY, Novemb r 23,

First Race at 2:00 P. M.

General Admission to Grounds and Grand Stand, ONE DOLLAR.

The Bay District Course adjoins the Golden Gate Park, and is reached by either the Geary Street, McAllister Street or Powell Street lines of Cable Cars, or by fine drives via Golden Gate Avenue and the Park.

M. F. TARPEY.
First vice-President.
E. S. CULVER, Secretary.
313 Bush Street, S. F.

W. H. WOODRUFF.
Veterinary Dentist,
AT FASHION STABLES,
221 Ellis Street, San Francisco
Improved Instruments, Humane Methods, First-Class Work.

"TOBEY'S,"
214 Post Street,
Between Grant Avenue and Stockton Street,
Adjoining New Hamman Baths.
D. J. TOBIN, Proprietor.

ROME HARRIS. JOHN MERIGAN.
"Laurel Palace,"
N. W. corner Kearny and Bush Streets,
SAN FRANCISCO

"DICKEY'S,"
SIXTH AVENUE AND D ST.
Near entrance to Bay District Track.
Choicest Brands of
WINES AND CIGARS.
A Delightful Resort.
Telephone 1485. J. R. DICKEY, Propr.

PHIL J. CRIMMINS. JOHN C. MORRISON.
"Silver Palace,"
36 Geary Street,
San Francisco, Cal.

NOTICE.

C. BRUCE LOWE,
Pedigree Stock Agent,
19 Bligh Street,
SYDNEY, New South Wales.
Reference—J. B. HAGGIN, ESQ.

$3,000. GUARANTEED. $3,000.

THE

BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN'S

-: Futurity Stakes :-

For Mares Covered in 1889.

Trotting Foals of 1890.

Subscriptions payable as follows: $10 on January 1st, 1890, when nominations close; $10 August 1st, 1890; $10 January 1st, 1891; $10 January 1st, 1892; $10 January 1st, 1893, and $50 for starters, payable July 1st, 1893.

Race to be mile heats three in five in harness; to be trotted on a course in California offering the largest amount of added money. Race to be governed by the Rules of the Association, of which the selected track is a member. Nominators not making all payments forfeit former ones, and the entire amount of forfeits and payments, together with added money, will be divided as follows: 65 per cent. to first horse, 20 per cent. to second horse, 15 per cent. to third horse.

The BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN guarantees $3,000, to be divided as above stated.

If the payments, etc., amount to more than $3,000, the additional amount, after deducting cost of advertising, will also be divided in the same proportion to the winning horses.

Nominators whose mares prove not to be in foal, will be refunded the amounts paid upon furnishing a written statement to that effect before August 1, 1890.

In nominating, give name of mare and stallion to whom she is bred, and within sixty days after foaling forward description of foal.

NOMINATIONS close on JANUARY 1st, 1890, but may be made any time BEFORE THAT DATE, WITHOUT RISK OF LOSS, AS PAYMENTS ARE REFUNDED FOR MARES NOT PROVING IN FOAL.

ADDRESS,

BREEDER and SPORTSMAN,

313 BUSH STREET, SAN FRANCISCO.

$3,000. GUARANTEED $3,000.

Southern Pacific Co.

(PACIFIC SYSTEM.)

Trains leave and are due to arrive at San Francisco.

LEAVE (FOR)	FROM OCTOBER 6, 1889.	ARRIVE (FROM)
7.30 A M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose ...	*12.45 P M
7.30 A M	Sacramento and Redding, via Davis	7.15 P M
8.00 A M	Martinez, Vallejo, Calistoga and Santa Rosa	6.15 P M
8.30 A M	Los Angeles Express, Fresno, Santa Barbara and Los Angeles	11.15 A M
8.30 A M	Niles, San Jose, Stockton, Galt, Ione, Sacramento, Marysville and Red Bluff	5.45 P M
10.30 A M	Haywards and Niles	2.15 P M
*12.00 M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose...	* 3.45 P M
*1.00 P M	Sacramento River Steamers	* 6.00 A M
3.00 P M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose....	9.45 A M
3.30 P M	2d Class Sacramento, Ogden and East, connects at Davis for Knight's Landing	10.45 A M
4.00 P M	Stockton and §Milton; Vallejo, Calistoga and Santa Rosa	9.45 A M
4.30 P M	Sacramento and Knight's Landin via Davis	10.15 A M
* 4.30 P M	Niles and Livermore.	* 8.45 A M
* 4.30 P M	Niles and San Jose	‡ 4.45 P M
5.30 P M	Haywards and Niles	7.45 A M
6.30 P M	Central Atlantic Express, Ogden and East	7.45 P M
7.00 P M	Shasta Route Express, Sacramento, Marysville, Redding, Portland, Puget Sound and East	7.45 A M
8.00 P M	Sunset Route, Atlantic Express. Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Deming, El Paso, New Orleans and East	8.45 P M

SANTA CRUZ DIVISION.

‡ 7.45 A M	Newark, San Jose and Santa Cruz	‡ 8.05 P M
8.15 A M	Newark, Centerville, San Jose, Felton, Boulder Creek and Santa Cruz	6.20 P M
2.45 P M	Centerville, San Jose, Felton, Boulder Creek and Santa Cruz	*11.20 A M
4.45 P M	Centerville, San Jose, Almaden, and Los Gatos	9.50 A M

Coast Division (Third and Townsend Sts.)

7.25 A M	San Jose, Almaden and Way Stations	2.30 P M
8.30 A M	San Jose Gilroy, Tres Pinos; Pajaro, Santa Cruz; Monterey; Pacific Grove, Salinas, San Miguel, Paso Robles, Santa Margarita (San Luis Obispo) and principal Way Stations	6.12 P M
10.30 A M	San Jose and Way Stations	5.02 P M
12.01 P M	Cemetery, Menlo Park and Way Stations	3.38 P M
* 3.30 P M	San Jose, Tres Pinos, Santa Cruz, Salinas, Monterey Pacific Grove and principal Way Stations	*10.00 A M
* 4.20 P M	Menlo Park and Way Stations.	* 7.58 A M
5.20 P M	San Jose and Way Stations	9.03 A M
6.30 P M	Menlo Park and Way Stations	6.35 A M
‡11.45 P M	Menlo Park and principal Way Stations	‡ 7.23 P M

A M for Morning. P M for Afternoon.
*Sundays excepted †Saturdays only. ‡Sundays only.
‡Mondays excepted. §Saturdays excepted.

6 DOS

DO you bet?
DO you go to the races?
DO yon know HOW to bet?
DO you know BEST system?
DO you want Good ADVICE?
DO as you ought to do :

SEND FOR PROSPECTUS TO

GOODWIN BROS.,

241 BROADWAY, NEW YORK,

Who will mail you

FREE OF CHARGE,

one of their circulars showing the GREAT SUCCESS they have met with from the time they established the system of "Point" providing in this country in 1881; it also contains

MANY OTHER INTERESTING ITEMS

with which the general public is not familiar.

HEALD'S

Business College, 24 Post St.

San Francisco.

The most popular school on the Coast
P. HEALD, President. C. S. HALEY, Sec'y.
☞ Send for Circulars

The Poodle Dog

"Rotisserie,"

FIRST-CLASS IN EVERY RESPECT.

Elegant Family Dining Rooms.

S. E. cor. GRANT AVE. and BUSH STREET.

ANDRE POTENTINI, Proprietor.

BROU'S INJECTION

A PERMANENT CURE

in from 3 to 6 days, of the most obstinate cases; guaranteed not to produce Stricture; no sickening doses; and no inconvenience or loss of time. Recommended by physicians and sold by all druggists. J. Ferré, successor to Brou), Pharmacien, Paris.

KENNEL ADVERTISEMENTS.

Great Dane Puppies for Sale

Sire Cæsar, 10523, A. K. S. B., winner of 1st, and special, San Francisco, 1888; 1st and special, San Francisco, 1889.

Dam Dora, 10331 A. K. S. B., winner of 2nd San Francisco, 1889; H. C. San Francisco, 1888. Puppies whelped Sept. 8, 1889, steel and silver gray and likely marked. Price $35.

Also puppies by Cæsar out of a prize English Mastiff bitch. Price $25. Address.

NAHL.
2436 Central Ave, Alameda Cal.

POINTER PUPPIES.

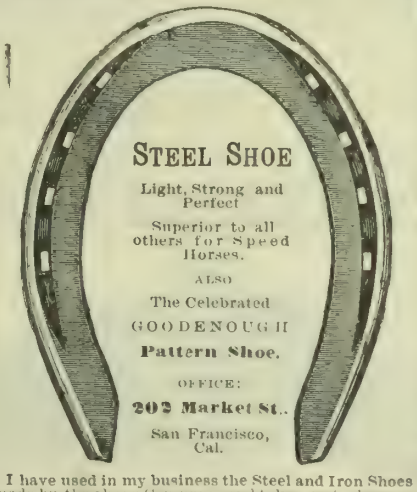
TWO WHITE AND LEMON BITCH PUPPIES, nearly five months old, perfectly healthy, of good size, very handsome and superbly bred, being by Climax (Bang Bang—Bellona) out of Drab D. (Vandevort's Don—Vandevort's Drab), for sale. Address

WILLIAM DEMOTT, San Rafael.

Fox-hound for Sale.

FINE ENGLISH FOX-HOUND BITCH, well broken. Winner of 2d prize at San Francisco Bench Show of 1889. Price $50.

Apply to



CLABROUGH, GOLCHER & CO.,
630 Montgomery Street, S. F.

Stud Irish Setter.

CHAMPION MIKE T., 6435, A. K. S. B. (Nemo—Nida) winner of first whenever shown, sixteen firsts and specials, never beaten. In the stud to approved bitches, fee $25. Irish setter puppies by Champion Mike T. 6435 A. K. S. B.—Champion Lady Elcho T. 6451 A. K. S. B., for sale. Two pointers, a year old, by Rush T. 10069 A. K. S. B.—Champion Patti Croxteth T. 10128 A. K. S. B. for sale. Address,

A. B. TRUMAN,
1425 Steiner St., S. F., Cal.

California Horse Shoe Co's

I have used in my business the Steel and Iron Shoes made by the above Company, and take great pleasure in saying they are the best I have ever used in twenty-two years' practice. I have never seen anything like the STEEL SHOE made by this Company. I can fully recommend them to every practical Horseshoer in the country. Yours respectfully,

No. 8 Everett Street. JOHN GRACE.

GOLDEN EAGLE HOTEL

Corner SEVENTH and K STREETS, SACRAMENTO.

FIRST CLASS IN EVERY RESPECT.

The LARGEST and FINEST HOTEL in the City.

W. O. BOWERS, Proprietor.

Free 'Buss to and from the Hotel.

Telephone, Telegraph Office and Messenger Service at Hotel

AL. LEACH & CO.

AUCTION

POOL SELLERS

Will be pleased to give terms to Racing Associations throughout the Pacific Coast. We have perfect facilities, and can give any references or security desired. Address

8 Eddy Street,

San Francisco.

For any Kind of a

SORE THROAT

USE

McCLELLAN'S

DIPHTHERIA REMEDY

An Unfailing Cure..

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS

Scientific Horse Shoeing.

BOYD & MORGAN

Are now permanently located at

No. 106 Golden Gate Ave.,

A few doors above Crittenden's Stables.

Partibular attention given to Track and Road Horse. Our Motto: "The Shoe to fit the foot vs. The foot to fit the shoe."

We have references from the leading Trainers, Drivers and Breeders of the Coast. Give us a trial.

THE B. & Y. HOOF OIL

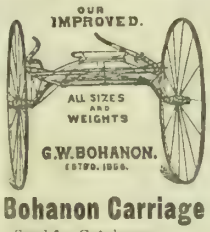
GOOD FOR MAN OR BEAST.

Will positively destroy the effects of the "Cattle Fly"

A SURE CURE for Sores, Scratches, Cuts, Wounds, Bruises, Corns, Thrush, Foot Rot, Quarter Crack, Sand Crack, Dry, Britle, Hard and Fevered Hoof, or any local trouble about the Horse.

Warranted to make the hoof grow without cause of complaint on the part of the horse-shoer for gumming his rasp.

B. & Y. New Process Neats Foot Oil,



Best Leather O l made.

CHEAP AND LASTING.

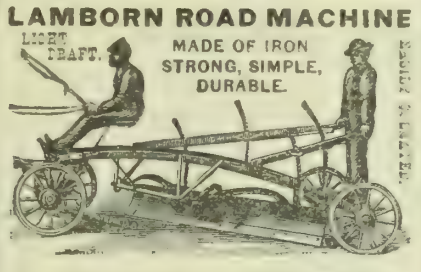
Recommended by leading Harness Men, Drivers and Trainers. Is well adapted to wet weather, as it does not open pores like old process goods.

Ask your dealer for it, or send to

HUNT & DOREMUS,
99½ FLOOD BUILDING, San Francisco.

BOHANON

LKY!



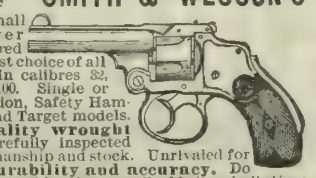
T MADE.

Perfect Riding Buggies.
Breaking Carts.
Fine Repairing,
Reasonable Prices

Bohanon Carriage Co., 161-163 Ogden Ave., CHICAGO.

Send for Catalogue.

LAMBORN ROAD MACHINE



TRUMAN, HOOKER & CO.

SAN FRANCISCO. - - CALIFORNIA

IF YOU WISH A GOOD REVOLVER
PURCHASE ONE OF SMITH & WESSON'S

Finest small arms ever manufactured and the first choice of all experts. In calibres 32, 38 and 44-100. Single or double action, Safety Hammerless and Target models. Best quality wrought steel, carefully inspected for workmanship and stock. Unrivaled for finish, durability and accuracy. Do not be deceived by cheap malleable iron imitations often sold for the genuine article. They are unreliable and dangerous. The SMITH & WESSON REVOLVERS are stamped upon the barrels with firm's name, address and dates of patents, and are guaranteed perfect. Insist upon having them, and if your dealer cannot supply you, an order sent to address below will receive prompt attention. Descriptive catalogue and prices upon application.

SMITH & WESSON,
Springfield, Mass.

HORSE OWNERS!

TRY GOMBAULT'S

CAUSTIC BALSAM,

A Safe, Speedy and Positive Cure for Curb, Splint, Sweeny, Capped Hock, Strained Tendons, Founder, Wind Galls, all Skin Diseases or Parasites, Thrush, Diphtheria, Pinkeye, all Lameness from Spavin, Ringbone or other Bone Tumors. Removes all Bunches or Blemishes from Horses and Cattle.

Supersedes all Cautery or Firing

Impossible to Produce any Scar or Blemish.

Every bottle sold is warranted to give satisfaction. Price $1.50 per bottle. Sold by druggists, or sent by express, charges paid, with full directions for its use. Send for descriptive circulars. Address

LAWRENCE, WILLIAMS & CO., Cleveland, O.

VETERIRARY.

DR. THOS. BOWHILL, M.R.C.V.S

VETERINARY SURGEON.

Graduate New Veterinary College, Edinburgh. Awarded the Highland and Agricultural Societies Medals for Horse Pathology, Anatomy, Physiology and Histology. The Williams' Prize, '84-'85, for highest works in professional examinations, and six first-class certificates of merit. Honorary Member Illinois State Veterinary Medical Association.

CENTENNIAL STABLES,

1523-25 California Street. Telephone No. 66.

Veterinary Infirmary and Residence, 2209 Jackson Street. Telephone 4128.

DR JOHN C. HINGSTON

M.R.C.V.S., London, England.

Veterinary Surgeon & Dentist,

The most noted Operator in the Profession.

CASTRATES IN TWO MINUTES with the animal standing. Acknowledged to have no equal with the Firing Iron.

PERFORMS ALL OPERATIONS WITH THE ANIMAL STANDING.

Specialist in Lameness.

The highest testimonials from the most noted Owners, Trainers and Breeders in America and England.

Will visit any place on reasonable terms.

Office,

ST. GEORGE STABLES,

Bush Street, above Kearny.

Residence,

THE "BALDWIN" HOTEL,

San Francisco.

Dr. Wm. H. Jones, M.R.C.V.S.

Veterinary Surgeon,

(CLUB STABLES)

409—411 Taylor Street, San Francisco.

Consultations by letter, and cases of URGENT NECESSITY in the interior will receive prompt attention.

H. E. CARPENTER,

Veterinary Surgeon,

Graduate of Ontario Veterinary College, Toronto, Canada.

RESIDENCE AND VETERINARY INFIRMARY

331 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco.

Telephone 3069.

☞OPEN DAY AND NIGHT.☜

No risk in throwing Horses. Veterinary Operating Table on the premises.

DR. C. MASOERO,

Veterinary Surgeon,

Successor to DR. A. DeTAVEL,

GRADUATE OF ROYAL VETERINARY COLLEGE, TURIN.

OFFICE AND INFIRMARY,

No. 811 HOWARD STREET,

Between Fourth and Fifth. SAN FRANCISCO.

Telephone, No. 457.

R. WATKINS,

Veterinary Dentist,

Of twelve years practice, is now permanently located in San Francisco, and may be found at C. S. Crittendens' Golden Gate Livery and Riding Academy, 24 to 28 Golden Gate Avenue.

Will treat ailments of the horse's mouth, and cure all such. Sidebein Pullers and Tongue Lollers etc. Satisfaction guaranteed. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. Examination Free.

DR. FISHERMAN'S

Carbolized

Alkaline

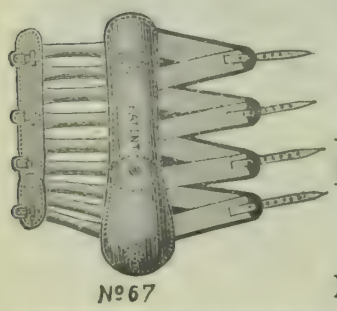
LOTION

Cures after all other Remedies have Failed.

Sprains, Sores, Bruises, Galls, Swellings, Scratches, Thrush, Grease Heels, Curb, Rheumatism. Restoring Weak Knees and Ankles to their original condition. As a wash it insures flossy manes and tails. Valuable as an internal remedy for Coughs, Colic, Congestion or Fever. You really get Half a Gallon of Remedy for $1.00, or Two Gallons for $3.00, after being adulterated as directed.

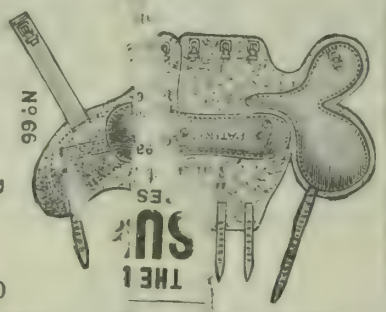
This Liniment has received the endorsement of some of our best horsemen. Recommended by Jos. Cairn Simpson See BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of November 10th, 1888.

LYNDE & HOUGH, Proprietors.



116 California St., S. F.

Or ask your Druggist for it.



Everything for Trotter or Runner.

At J. A. McKERRON'S,

228, 230 and 232 Ellis St., San Francisco

No 67

1889 SOUTHER FA[illegible] 1889

Trot[illegible]

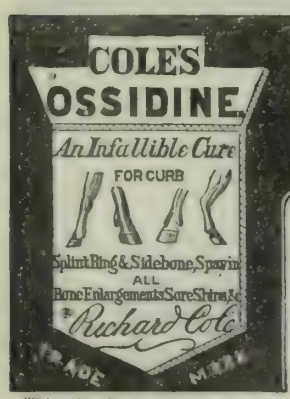
P. O. Box 149. S[illegible]andro, Cal.

JESTER D. 5696.

- Almont, 33..... Sire of 31 trotters and 2 pacers in 2:30 list.
  - Alexander's Abdallah, 15,.... Sire of 6 in 2:30 list.
    - B[illegible]n, 10, Si[illegible] 2:30 list.
    - K[illegible]rling
  - Sally Anderson.....
    - M[illegible]cino Chief, 11. Si[illegible] 6 in 2:30 list.
    - K[illegible] by Pilot Jr., 12. [illegible] of 9 in 2:30 list.
- Hortense.....
  - Messenger Duroc, 106 ..... Sire of 15 in 2:30 list; also sire of Elaine, dam of Norlaine, yearling rec. 2:31¼.
    - [illegible]mbletonian 10. re of 41 in 2:30 list.
    - [illegible]tinet, by Roe's Abdallah Chief,
  - Nelly McDonald Thoro-bred.. (See Bruce's American Stud Book.)
    - Colossus, son of imp. Sovereign.
    - Maid of Monmouth, By Traveler.

See BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of August 25, 1888, for photograph and description.

FIGARO.



- Hambletonian, 725 (Whipple's)
  - Guy Miller.....
    - Hambletonian, 10. (Rysdyk's)
    - Bolivar Mare.
  - Martha Washington.....
    - Burr's Washington.
    - Dam by Abdallah, 1.
- Emblem.....
  - Tattler, 300 ....
    - Pilot, Jr., 12.
    - Telltale..... Telamon. Flea.
  - Young Portia...
    - Mambrino Chief, 11.
    - Portia by Roebuck.

See BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of September 1, 1888, for photograph and description.

The above stallions will make the season of 1889 at the Souther Farm, one and one-half miles northeast of San Leandro. Each horse is limited to thirty mares besides those of the Souther Farm. Terms, for either horse, Twenty-five Dollars for the season, with privilege of return in season of 1890, if mare fails to prove with foal. Good accommodation and the best of care for all mares sent to the Farm, but no responsibility for accidents.

Colts Broken and Trained. Horses Boarded in any manner desired at all times.

GILBERT TOMPKINS, Proprietor.

OSSIDINE

Results obtained at the well known KALAMAZOO FARM.

KALAMAZOO, MICH., Sept. 15, 1888.

GENTLEMEN:—We have used OSSIDINE for the past two years, and consider it invaluable for Sprung Tendons, Curbs, Ringbone, and Spavins; there is nothing equals it and for us it effected a permanent cure where firing failed, although performed by one of the most successful veterinarians on the continent. We have recommended it to others with like success, and believe it has more merit than any blister ever used. Very respectfully yours,

S. A. BROWNE & CO., Prop's.

This scientific preparation is an absolute cure for all bony or callous lumps on horses, and is a more powerful absorbent than "firing," without creating the slightest blemish.

Acknowledged by leading horsemen of the world to be the ONLY preparation that will remove a Bone Spavin after it has become ossified.

We have authority also to refer to

Mr. JEROME I. CASE, Mr. FRED. GEBHARD, Mr. JOHN PORTER (Trainer to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales),

And hundreds of others from whom we have very flattering testimonials.

One Style Only. $3.00 per Bottle.

A. P. BUSH & CO., 149 Pearl St., BOSTON, MASS., Sole Agents for United States and Canada. Beware of Imitations.

SOLD BY C. N. Crittenton, A. R. Van Nest & Co., and C. M. Moseman & Bro., NEW YORK CITY. Morrisson, Plummer & Co., Peter Van Schaack & Sons. CHICAGO, ILL. John D. Park & Son, CINCINNATI, O.; Floyd & Foster, DETROIT, MICH.; F. S. Slosson, CLEVELAND, O.; Meyer Bros. Drug Co., ST. LOUIS, MO.; R. A. Robinson, LOUISVILLE, KY.; H. H. Moore & Sons, STOCKTON, CAL.

J. O'KANE, 367 MARKET STREET.

Horse Boots, Clothing and Furnishings, For Track, Driving Training and Stable. Every requisite for Horsemen. Harness, Medicines, Etc.

J. C. JOHNSON & CO.,

IMPORTERS, MANUFACTURERS, AND DEALERS IN

HARNESS & SADDLERY

We carry a large assortment of goods in our line, from the cheapest to the best made.

400 to 404 Market Street

Corner BATTERY STREET, San Francisco.

The "L. C. Smith" Guns.

At PRIZE WINNERS we challenge any other make of Gun to make a showing like the following.

All Previous Records Broken.

Never before were 100 live pigeons killed straightly in a similar match, under same conditions, until the L. C. SMITH GUN was made and did it. In the hands of Mr. Al Bandle, of the firm of Bandle Arms Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, this wonderful score was made. Capt. A. H. Bogardus scoring with a 12-gauge L. C. Smith in the match against Bandle, the very high score of 95. A remarkable score with a 12-guage.

——OFFICIAL SCORE——

Made in the match at 100 live pigeons, Hurlingham rules, barring gauge of gun, between Capt. A. H. Bogardus of Elkhart, Ill., and Al Bandle, of Cincinnatti, Ohio, on Independent Gun Club grounds, Cincinnati, Ohio, Christmas Day, December 25, 1888:

AL BANDLE, 10-gauge L. C. Smith gun.....	CAPT. A. H. BOGARDUS, 12-gauge L. C. Smith gun...
1121112111 2121112112 11221	1122121222 0122121121 01112
1111122112 2111112212 11121	1012122111 1110112111 11222
1121221112 1112111112 11121	1221212122 2211012111 12111
1211121111 1222111211 11212—100	1111112221 1111112122 22111— 96

2 Denotes killed with second barrel.

S. A. TUCKER, Meriden, Conn., Referee. ED. TAYLOR, Cincinnati, O., Official Scorer. A. C. DICK, Cincinnati, O., Trap Puller. H. BOGARDUS, Elkhart, Ill., Trap Announcer.

The PARKER Hammerless Shot Gun.

At the Annual Tournament of 1889, held at Cannes, France, the grand prize, consisting of 2000 Francs and a Valuable Cup, was won by The Parker Hammerless.

The first Parker Hammerless Gun made won the championship of America at Decatur Illinois.

SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED CIRCULAR.

PARKER BROS., Makers,

New York Salesroom, 97 Chambers St., Meriden Conn.

Poplar Grove Breeding FARM.

Standard-bred Trotters, Colts and Fillies.

The get of CLOVIS, 1909; PASHA, 2039; APEX, 2935.

For Sale.

Address S. N. STRAUBE, Poplar Grove Breeding Farm, Fresno, Cal.

Inspection by intending purchasers invited, and information by mail.

For Sale by Pleasanton Stock Farm Co.

ONE STALLION COLT, 1 year old, by DIRECTOR, 2:17, dam Sweetness, record 2:21¼. This Colt is a half brother to Sidney, the great Sire of Pacers.

ONE STALLION COLT, 1 year old, by DIRECTOR, 2:17, dam Echora, record 2:28¼. This Colt is a full brother to Direct, record 2:23 at Three Years Old.

ONE FILLY, 1 year old, by CLOVIS, dam Nettie, trial record to Wagon 2:26.

ONE STALLION, 2 years old, by NUTMONT, he by Nutbourne, brother to Nutwood, dam by Pioneer. This Colt can trot very fast.

ONE STALLION, 2 years old, by SIDNEY, dam Fernleaf. This Colt is a full brother to Gold Leaf

ONE FOUR-YEAR-OLD FILLY, GOLD LEAF, pacing record 2:15.

ONE THREE-YEAR OLD FILLY, by DIRECTOR, dam by a son of Whipple's Hambletonian. This is a grand mare in looks and breeding, and is very fast.

ONE Filly, 2 years old, by MONROE CHIEF, full sister to Miss Gilmer, sold at auction when three years old for $1,700.

ONE PACING HORSE, 4 years old, by STEINWAY, dam by Nutwood This horse is very stylish, and can show a 2:10 gait.

One Brown Mare, heavy in foal to DIRECTOR, by Gibraltar, dam May Day, by Cassius M. Clay. This Mare is very fast; showed a quarter in 34 seconds, and is a half sister to Margaret S., that got a record of 2:31 at twenty-four months old.

One Brown Mare, by DEL SUR, he by The Moor, heavy in foal to Director. This Mare is very fast.

For particulars call on or address M. SALISBURY, 330 Sansome Street, Room 96, San Francisco, or

ANDY McDOWELL, Pleasanton, Cal.

TWENTY PAGES.

BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN

Vol XV. No 20.
No. 313 BUSH STREET.

SAN FRANCISCO, SATURDAY, NOV. 16, 1889.

SUBSCRIPTION
FIVE DOLLARS A YEAR.

RECORD BREAKERS.

SUNOL, 3-year-old, by Electioneer-Waxana - 2:10 1-2

PALO ALTO, 7-year-old, by Electioneer-Dame Winnie 2:12 1-2

STAMBOUL, 7-year-old, by Sultan-Fleetwing - - 2:13 3-4

REGAL WILKES, 2-year-old, by Guy Wilkes-Margaret, 2:20 3-4

FAUSTINO, yearling stallion, by Sidney-Faustine 2:35

California has the Yearling Stallion Record, the Two-Year-Old Stallion Record, and the Three-Year-Old Record of the World.

The Greatest Days' Racing Ever Witnessed in the United States. What California Climate Can Do for Horses.

In the issue of October 19th of this year "Grim," in his Gossip department, had the following paragraph:

Since our last issue Axtell has made another new record, the present one being for three-year-olds, 2:12, but in making this he also establishes a new stallion record for all ages. The cutting was done at Terra Haute, Indiana, on Friday, October 11th. With good weather here there are at least two horses that can beat Axtell's record, and I only hope my Eastern readers will not think I am puffing California, for there is a chance that before this copy may reach them that not only the three-year-old record will be beaten, but that the stallion record will be rubbed out.

The assumption was warranted, as it was an open secret that Sunol could go the distance whenever called upon, and Palo Alto, 2:13¾, was also known to be very fast, in fact, if it had not been for Senator Stanford, Axtell's record would have lasted exactly twenty-four hours. On October 12th Sunol was started for the three-year-old stake on the first day of the Trotting Horse Breeders' Meeting, and there were not ten persons on the grounds but what felt confident that the filly could have beaten Axtell's 2:12; as it was she went to the quarter in 36 seconds, to the half in 1:11¼, and came home the last half in 1:04½, making the mile in 2:15¾. That Senator Stanford has a pride in his horses is only natural, and he delights in showing his friends what the Palo Alto horses can do. On the Saturday that his entry walked over for the stake there was a train travelling Westward, carrying a number of his Senatorial confreres who would undoubtedly have taken great delight in witnessing Sunol lower the world's record for three-year-olds, and it was to afford that pleasure to his friends that determined the Senator to postpone the great trotting event of the year until the following week. The elements were against the well-laid plans, however, and the rain poured in such torrents that the Directors put off the stake races until November 9th.

The paragraph quoted above has caused a great deal of comment from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and a number of so-called sporting journals have seen fit to deride the supposition that 2:12 could by any possible means be rubbed out by a three-year-old. The writers were only "pencil shovers," and know nothing whatever about California, its horses or its climate. Among the worst of the lot is one who should know better, his education and experience having fitted him for thoughts of a liberal nature, and he is not supposed to be biased by the mean little prejudices that warp the mind of the bigot. His writings are well known to all horsemen, and the articles from the pen of "Aurelius" are read with avidity by all who are students of the trotting horse. It is true there are many who do not believe in what he writes, but he is brilliant in his theories, and the lover of the horse devours his articles much as a crowd will listen to a lawyer who is magnetic, even although he be defending a murderer; or as a congregation will harken to a popular minister, and then take no stock in what he has said.

In the last number of the Horse and Stable that able writer takes up almost two columns of that valuable paper in trying to prove that as Sunol received a front page cut for lowering the record at Fresno, that Axtell should have had a cut and seven pages in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN for his performance at Terra Haute. Aurelius evidently wants to show how much he knows about running a newspaper, but then outsiders are all alike, they know it all. This paper is devoted to the horse breeding interests of the Pacific Slope, and affairs that happen in the East are of secondary consideration unless California horses play a prominent part therein.

As stated before, the Pacific Coast Trotting Horse Breeders Association elected to have the final day of their meeting on Saturday, Nov. 9th, a day that will long be memorable in the trotting annals of America.

The announcement that Sunol would start in the Stanford Stake to beat her own record of 2:13¾, and that Palo Alto 2:13¾ would also start to beat his record, occasioned some twelve hundred persons to assemble at the Bay District Track.

The weather was all that could be desired, excepting a little too much wind from the northwest, but even that died away to a considerable extent while the records were being smashed. For fear that some of our Eastern readers may take exception to the officials of the day, we give them in full: J. H. White, President of the P. C. T. H. B. A., Hon Frank H. Coombs and A. K. Grim, were the judges for the day. C. W. Smith, owner of Abbottsford, R. T. Carroll, one of the Directors of the Association, and A. B. Spreckles, known by reputation all over the country, were the timers. The Secretary, Mr. Wilfred Page, acted as clerk of the day. There were many prominent horsemen from the Eastern States present, among whom were W. H. Crawford of Lexington, Ky., Ed Bithers, the trainer and driver for Jerome I. Case of Racine, Wis., and L. A. Davis, the owner of Roy Wilkes. On the evening before the race all of these gentlemen, and in fact, many others, made quite a number of wagers that old Father Time would prove the victor in Sunol's case, and it is to be presumed that the backers of the Scythe-bearer got all they wanted, for on the day of the race, there was but little money put up.

Mr. Marvin had been prevailed on to have Sunol clipped, and she presented a peculiar appearance to those who were accustomed to see the handsome bay, for the cutting of her coat left her almost a dun color. However, there was the same trim, natty, easy-going filly that was about to astonish the world and stamp herself the greatest three-year-old trotter living. She has been accustomed to carry ten-ounce shoes in front, but on this occasion they were reduced to nine ounces in weight. However, the difference did not seem to effect her speed, for never was a truer mile made than that compassed by Sunol on Saturday last. Promptly at one o'clock the bell tapped and Charles Marvin drove his charge on the track. Mr. Grim announced that the Palo Alto entry was about to start for the Stanford Stake, and as she was the only one on which the last payment had been made, she would be accompanied by a runner and endeavor to beat her own time, 2:13¾. The bustle and noise incidental to a race-track was immediately hushed and points of vantage were eagerly sought by the excited and expectant crowd. The track was fast and the scraper had gone over it prior to the filly being brought out, so that there was nothing to impede her in the great undertaking. Some small wagers were made as Sunol jogged up the track, principally on the beating of 2:13¾, and odds of two to one could be had that she would not beat 2:12.

Marvin came down the track twice before he was satisfied with the way his charge was moving, but on the third attempt he nodded for the word, and "Go" was sounded from the judges stand. Instantly hundreds of watches were started to catch the time, and every motion of the filly was watched with intense interest. As each eighth was passed, those who had no timing watches would cry "up," and a low hum from the watch holders arose every few seconds as the time was announced. The first eighth was made in 15 seconds, and the quarter in 32 seconds, the runner trailing away behind, the clattering of his hoofs inciting the game filly to do her very best. When the half was reached the watch showed 1:05. Orrin A. Hickok held the reins over the runner and also held his watch in his hand; both he and Marvin thought that Sunol was going too fast, but the game little filly kept up at the same speed as much to Marvin's astonishment as to that of the spectators; the third quarter was negotiated in 32¼ seconds, thus carrying her to the three-quarters in 1:37¼. It was at this point that the suppressed excitement broke forth and shouts rent the air, "She'll do it," "Axtell is beaten," "She'll make 2:10," then a long-headed individual shouted, "Keep quiet," and the assemblage again became as still as death. Down the homestretch came Sunol, with the runner nose and nose. At the draw-gate Marvin hit her a sharp tap with the whip and Hickok's voice now rang out on the air, sharp and distinct. Marvin also called in encouraging tones to the filly, and she responded gamely, passing under the wire in 2:10½, the fastest mile ever trotted by a three-year-old. The pent up excitement of the assemblage now broke forth in cheering of the most vigorous nature, the record had been broken and a California-bred animal had secured still further honors for the glorious State. As Marvin came back to dismount, he was the recipient of quite an ovation, every one wanted to shake hands with the skillful reinsman, and he had to lift his grey cap several times to the enthusiasts in the grand stand and clubhouse balcony. There was a smile on everyone's face, congratulations were in order, and every one who witnessed the great feat was happy. A review of the time made shows that Sunol trotted each quarter with exceeding uniformity, notwithstanding the high rate of speed at which she was going, and Mr. Marvin deserves great credit for the faultless style in which he drove the filly.

SUMMARY.

Bay District Track, Saturday, Nov. 9, 1889.—The Stanford Stake—A sweepstakes for trotting colts and fillies of 1886, $175 each, $25 payable on the 1st of January, 1887; $25 on the 1st of January, 1888; $25 on the 1st of January, 1889, and $100 thirty days before the day fixed for trotting, whatever amount up to be considered forfeit, and the neglect to pay at the stipulated time incurring forfeiture of the previous payments. The race to be heats of a mile, best 3 in 5, to harness. First to receive six ninths of the whole sum, the second two-ninths, the third one-ninth.

Sunol's b f by Electioneer—Waxana 1
Time by quarters, 0:32, 1:05, 1:37½, 2:10½.

The original entries in the stake were as follows:

C. R. Lewis, Oakland, Cal., names Athenian, brown colt, star in forehead, foaled April 1, 1886, by Antevolo, his dam Ruby by Winthrop; grandam by Chieftain.

G. Valensin, Oakland, names George V., bay colt by Sidney, his dam Flirt by Buccaneer.

G. Valensin names Cupid, bay colt by Sidney, his dam Venus by Captain Webster.

H. W. Meek, San Lorenzo, Cal., names Brilliant, dark bay colt, star and a little white on heel of left hind foot, foaled March 17, 1886, by Dictator, his dam by Lady Bell by Chieftain; grandam Bonnie Bell by Belmont.

Wilber Field Smith names E. H. Miller, Jr.'s Antonia, black filly star, left fore heel white, foaled February 8, 1886, by Berlin, her dam Arabia by Fred Low; grandam Lady Hubbard by Benicia Boy.

F. L. Duncan, Walla Walla, W. T., names Carrie A., sorrel filly, white stripe in face, foaled March 22d, 1886, by Antelope, by Nutwood, her dam Gold Fish by Sam Purdy.

F. L. Duncan names Zilpi Z., dark brown filly nearly black, near hind foot white half way to pastern, foaled March 19th, 1836, by Antelope, her dam Nellie H. by Signal.

Palo Alto's b c Coin by Electioneer, dam Cecil by Gen. Benton.

Palo Alto's b c Good Gift by Electioneer, dam Miss Gift by Wildidle.

Palo Alto's b f Elsie by Clay, dam Esther by Express.

Palo Alto's br f Norlaine by Norval, dam Elaine by Messenger Duroc.

Palo Alto's b f Sunol by Electioneer, dam Waxana by Gen. Benton.

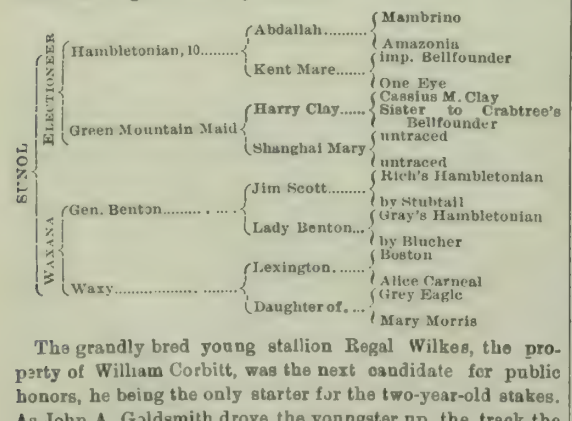
Palo Alto's blk c Niles by Ansel, dam Juliet by Mohawk Chief.

Palo Alto's ch c Will Florence by Piedmont, dam Florence by Electioneer.

Palo Alto's ch c Isonomy by Piedmont, dam Ivy by Don Victor.

L. J. Rose's b c by Stamboul, dam Flower Girl by Arthurton.

L. J. Rose's b f by Stamboul, dam Gulnare by The Moor.



Wm. Corbitt's blk f, star, foaled March 4, 1836, by Guy Wilkes, dam Sable by The Moor.

Wm. Corbitt's b f, star, near hind pastern white, foaled April 6, 1886, by Guy Wilkes, dam Atlanta by The Moor.

Wm. Corbitt's b f, foaled May 13, 1883, by Guy Wilkes, dam Blanche by Arthurton.

Jas. Martin's blk f Directress by Director, dam by Speculation, grandam the dam of Lou Whipple.

Owing to the great speed shown by Sunol all the balance of the owners failed to make the last payment and allowed the Queen of the Turf to compete for the honors alone. The following is Sunol's pedigree:

The grandly bred young stallion Regal Wilkes, the property of William Corbitt, was the next candidate for public honors, he being the only starter for the two-year-old stakes. As John A. Goldsmith drove the youngster up the track the presiding judge announced that Regal Wilkes would start to beat the two-year-old stallion record of Axtell, 2:23, and at the same time go for the two-year-old stakes. When everything was in readiness Goldsmith nodded, the word was given, and another record smasher started off on his journey. True and faithful the great colt trotted to the quarter in 36 seconds, on to the half, which was reached in 1:10¼, and to the three-quarters in 1:45½. Here the "teaser," who was accompanying him, moved up and came on even terms with the trotter. Steady as a die, and without skip or break Regal turned into the homestretch; at the drawgate he faltered, but Goldsmith hit him with the whip and he passed under the wire in 2:20¾, beating the two-year-old stallion record by 2½ seconds. That the believers in the Wilkes blood were jubilant goes without saying. The wind by this time had died down almost entirely, and there was no telling where the record-breaking would end. The colt, driver and owner were heartily applauded as Goldsmith returned to the wire and an offer of $30,000 was made to Mr. Corbit for the colt, but he laughingly said the colt was not for sale at any price.

SUMMARY.

Bay District Track, Saturday, Nov. 9, 1889. Two-year-old stake for trotters.

B c Regal Wilkes, Guy Wilkes – Margaret.....Goldsmith 1
Time, 2:20¾.

The following is Regal Wilkes' pedigree.

REGAL WILKES
Guy Wilkes, 2867 — George Wilkes, 519 — Hambletonian, 10. / Dolly Spanker.
Lady Bunker — Mambrino Patchen, 58. / Lady Dunn.
Margaret. — Sultan, 1513 — The Moor, 870. / Sultana.
May Sproul — The Moor, 870. / Belmont Mare.

Once more Marvin appeared, this time driving Palo Alto, 2:13¾. It was announced from the stand that the stallion would start to beat his best time, but he hardly looked fit for the task. The leg which has given him some trouble in the past was still "off color," and the rains had prevented the necessary amount of work. Just before getting into the sulky Mr. Marvin was asked if he could do the trick with Palo Alto, but his answer was not assuring. As before, Hickok handled the runner to assist Senator Stanford's horse in the hard undertaking. Several scores were made and at last the word was nodded for. Away went the stallion to the quarter in 33½ seconds; up the backstretch Marvin urged him a little faster, and the half was reached in 1:06¼. The clip he was going was a great one, and could only be appreciated by watching the runner. Around the turn his speed increased a trifle and the three-quarters were negotiated in 1:39, The turn into the homestretch was made at the same gait, and here it was that Hickok brought up the runner. The two came down the stretch almost head and head, but at the drawgate the pace was too much for the son of Electioneer, and he left his feet. Marvin drew him in toward the rails and he soon settled, but his chance to beat 2:12 was gone for that day, but as he passed under the wire the timers stopped their watches at 2:12½, a second and a quarter better than his former record. There was no question in the minds of the spectators but that he would have beaten the stallion record if he could have kept his feet, but the lack of work told perceptibly on Palo Alto, and he will have to start again if California hopes to secure that record also.

Immediately on the accomplishment of Palo Alto's feat, Mr. Marvin telegraphed to Senator Stanford, who was at Santa Rosa, what the two representatives of the stock farm had accomplished. As the train bearing the distinguished party rolled into the station at Santa Rosa, an old friend of the senator's told him the news and a few moments afterwards the telegram was handed to him. The owner of Sunol was just a little disappointed, for he had fondly anticipated that the figure would be 2:10. However, he at once telegraphed his congratulations to Mr. Marvin on his wonderful success with the two horses.

Some months ago the Hermitage Stud Farm Co., of Nashville, Tenn., bought from Palo Alto the full brother to Bell Boy, but he was left here to gain the benefit of the California climate. He was brought out to see if it were possible for the two year old to enter the "30" list. Lack of work was a drawback in this case also, for the little fellow broke twice before reaching the quarter pole, but Marvin kept him at his task and the mile was accomplished in 2:32½. This was the first of the starters to fail in the work assigned them, but it was no damper to the occasion, for it could hardly be expected that all would perform satisfactorily.

As Hickok had assisted Mr. Marvin twice by driving the runner, the latter gentleman now reciprocated and drove a runner while Hickok was handling the reins over Stamboul. Mr. Hobart's famous stallion was started to beat his record of 2:14¼ and also to try and win $5,000 for his former owner, L. J. Rose of Los Angeles, who wagered that amount last spring with W. H. Crawford of Lexington, Ky., that before the end of this season Stamboul would trot in 2:12 or better. He has been started at various places on the circuit, simply to get him in good order for the trial, and it can be said that he looked more like the Stamboul of last year than at any time previous this season. He is a horse that requires hard work and lots of it to fit him for fast time, but sickness struck the stable and Stamboul has not had as much work as is necessary for him to perform the low mark set for him by Mr. Rose. When the usual scoring had been accomplished the word was given, watches clicked and away went the winner of the National Stallion Stakes of 1888 to try and perform his allotted task. Marvin kept the runner about a length behind Stamboul, and at the quarter 33½ seconds had been consumed. The half was reached in 1:06½. Here Hickok let up a little, probably wishing to save a bit of speed for the straight. The three-quarter pole was passed in 1:40, and now Stamboul's driver started him for the wire. When forty yards from home Stamboul broke, and it was only by the very best of handling that Hickok got him down to trotting before the mile was completed. The watches showed that he had lowered his record, however, and for the present 2:13¾ will stand against the name of Stamboul. As on all the former occasions, horse and driver were heartily applauded as they drove back to the wire, and the many friends of W. S. Hobart were eager to shake hands and congratulate him on the noble performance of his horse. Mr. Crawford and several of his Eastern friends who were present seem to think that Mr. Rose is liable to lose his wager, but those who have watched the career of the horse closely fancy that the Los Angeles gentleman still stands a very good chance to win the money. There is one thing positive, if Stamboul improves as much in the next two weeks as he has in the past three, Mr. Rose will be $5,000 richer than he is before the new year is ushered in. The following is Stamboul's pedigree:—

STAMBOUL.
Sultan 1513, 2:24, Fleetwing
The Moor, 870 — Clay Pilot, 93 — C. M. Clay Jr. 2) / Catch Filly
Record 2:37 / Sire of 5 in 2:30. — Belle of wabash — Copperbottom Colt / s. t. b. Daughter of Black Hawk
Sultana — Delmonico, 110 — Guy Miller / Daughter of Hambletonian 10
Dam of Sultan, 2:24 — Sire of Darby, 2:16¼ — Mambrino Chief 11 / Celeste — Big Nora / Mambrino
Hambletonian, 10 — Abdallah, 1 — Amazonia / Imp. Bellfounder
Sire of 42 in 2:30. — Sire of 3 in 2:30. — Chas. Kent Mare — One Eye / C. M. Clay 18
Daughter of — Geo. M. Patchen, 30 — Dau. of Head'em / Abdallah 1
Record, 2:23¾. / Sire of 4 in 2:30. / Daughter of

Palo Alto Stock Farm, San Mateo Stock Farm and Mr. Hobart's horse had all added to the fame of the Golden State, and it remained for Mr. Valensin to contribute his quota toward the record breakers. Some time ago, Mr. Waters, of the Genoa Stock Farm, Genoa, Wis., purchased from G. Valensin a young colt by Sidney, dam Faustine. The colt was also left with Mr. Valensin, and instructions given that if a record could be secured for the colt to send him for one. The yearling stallion record was 2:38½ made by Von Wilkes, a son of Victor Von Bismarck. James A. Dustin had handled the colt for a short time and felt convinced that he could beat the Von Wilkes record so he was started to make a new record for a California production. The little fellow was sent up and down the quarter stretch twice or three times and then was given the word. He started rather slowly and was 41 seconds in arriving at the quarter pole, but got to the half in 1:20 and from there home Dustin sent him for all he was worth and the last half was completed in 1:15, making the mile in 2:35, thus adding another record to California's already lengthened list. Mr. Dustin has worked assiduously to get the youngster in such good form, and he comes in for full measure of congratulations with owner and breeder. A telegram was sent to Mr. Waters announcing the result, and later in the day an answer was received expressing his pleasure at the fast work of the colt.

The record breaking part of the programme was now over, but several interesting trotting events were still on the card

The first special race, mile heats, two in three, was between Palo Alto's grey stallion Sport—a half brother to Sallie Benton 2:17¾—and C. W. Smith's Lucy Abbott. Sport won easily in straight heats with Lucy a hundred yards back each time. Sport in the second heat got a mark of 2:22¾, and can easily lower it a couple of seconds.

SUMMARY.

Special race, mile heats, two in three.

Palo Alto Stock Farm's g s Sport, Piedmont—Sontag Mohawk... Marvin 1 1
C. W. Smith's ch m Lucy Abbott, Abbotsford—by Whipple's Hambletonian... Brandow 2 2
Time—2:24¾, 2:22¾.

The second special was between Gracie S and Melrose. The former won easily in straight heats, best time 2:22.

SUMMARY.

Special race, mile and repeat.

A. B. Spreckles' ch m Gracie S., by Speculation—unknown..... Hickok 1 1
John Green's b g Melrose, Del Sur—California..... Green 2 2
Time—2:22, 2:23.

When the 2:30 trotters came out Alfred G. was made a red hot favorite at $25 to $5 for the field. The first heat was closely contested all through. Nona was up and down again quickly, losing half a length. Alfred led a length up the back stretch, and trotting steadily held his advantage round the turn and to the seven furlongs, when Nona came up to him, but breaking, was beaten two lengths, with Balkan at the drawgate. Time 2:24.

There was no poolselling when the trio came out, and soon receiving the word, Alfred out out the pace all the way, with Nona at his wheel, and after a pretty finish won by a head, Balkan six lengths back. Time 2:23½.

When the third heat was called up a start was effected at the third attempt, and Alfred, breaking at the turn, was three lengths back up the backstretch, and with Hickok sending Nona right along, she won by a length from Alfred, who finished strongly, but broke just before the wire. Time 2:25.

The fourth heat saw the field favorite over Alfred for the first few pools, but on settling down, he sold favorite at $35 to $20 for the field.

When the bell was tapped Nona was trotting well, and she led two lengths all the way round to the head of the stretch, when Alfred gradually closed and with Goldsmith driving one of the best finishes of his life, Alfred collared the mare at the drawgate, and had his head in front when she broke, running under the wire a nose behind Alfred, Balkan ten lengths back. Time, 2:23.

SUMMARY.

Trotting, 2:30 class, mile heats three in five.

G. E. Guerne's b h Alfred G., by Anteeo, dam Rosa B ... Goldsmith 1 1 2 1
Napa Stock Farm's b m Nona Y., by Admiral, dam Black Flora..... Hickok 2 2 1 2
Irwin Ayres' b h Balkan, by Mambrino Wilkes, dam Fanny Fern..... Hinds 3 3 3 3
Time, 2:24, 2:23½, 2:25, 2:23.

The 2:20 trot owing to postponements and accidents, had but three starters. Junio settled down favorite at $120, to $75 for Thapsin and $25 for Bay Rose.

When the three had scored up twice the word was given and Thapsin going steadily soon showed in front, while Junio broke before the turn was reached and left his feet again after passing the quarter. Thapsin was two lengths in front of Bay Rose all the way and won cleverly by a length. Bay Rose running under the wire six lengths in front of Junio. Time, 2:21½.

Thapsin and Junio sold pretty evenly at $50 and $60 each to $10 for Bay Rose. A start was soon effected and though Junio left his feet before the turn he caught handily and was level with Bay Rose at the quarter, four lengths in front of Thapsin. Junio drew out and had a length the best of it round the upper turn but when fairly in the stretch Goldsmith called on Bay Rose, and the son of Sultan responded nobly, winning easily by a length, Thapsin six lengths back. Time, 2:21¾.

For the third heat Junio was still favorite at $40 to $32 for Bay Rose and $24 for Thapsin. The favorite went away from the wire well and going very steadily had a two lengths' lead to the three-quarters, Thapsin five lengths back. Bay Rose, under persuasion, closed up on Junio, and carrying him to a break at the distance won easily by three lengths. Time, 2:23.

The race was then postponed until Monday morning, when Thapsin had to withdraw, owing to a severe attack of congestion of the lungs, and with only two in Bay Rose sold for $25 to $10 for Junio. A start was soon effected, and Junio cut out the work, trotting very steadily to the head of the stretch when Goldsmith drove Bay Rose hard, and catching Junio at the distance was a neck in front, when Junio broke and Bay Rose won readily. Time, 2:22¾.

SUMMARY.

Trotting, 2:20 class. Mile heats 3 in 5.

W. W. Ayres' b h Bay Rose, by Sultan, dam Madame Baldwin.....Goldsmith	2	1	1	1
A. Gonzalez' b h Junio, by Electioneer, dam by Granger.....Shaner	3	2	2	2
W. F. Smith's g g Thapsin, by Berlin, dam Lady Hubbard.....W. F. Smith	1	3	3	dr

Time, 2:21¾, 2:21¾, 2:23, 2:22¾.

Marvin got up behind Junio to drive him for a record, but he scored up very badly and finally bolted, and hitting the inside fence threw Marvin out. Fortunately the popular driver was only badly shaken up. The sulky was smashed up, but the horse was caught without further damage.

Of course since Saturday the question of breeding has formed one of the principal topics of conversation among all horsemen and the same old theories of breeding has been gone over times without number. To show what others think of Senator Stanford's methods, the following article written for the Kentucky Stock Journal comes in very appropriately this week; of course it will be noticed that the letter was written before the records were lowered.

The recent remarkable campaign of the stallion Palo Alto in California, winning six successive races in the average time of less than 2:19½, and closing with a record of 2:13¾, made in the third heat of a race, has given a fresh impetus to the discussion of the question of the utility of running blood in the trotter, or, more exactly speaking, whether it is of advantage to him to have thorough blood close up in his pedigree. Hitherto the controversy has been a sort of guerrilla warfare, in which few breeders cared to engage. For years there was a widespread belief that the trotter could best be produced by the indiscriminate use of thorough blood. The first to combat this theory with any force was John H. Wallace, of the Trotting Register and Wallace's Monthly, and he has maintained his position with signal success.

All general rules have their exceptions, and the power of Pilot Jr. and the ten-fold greater power of Electioneer in controlling the gait of the thoroughbred, stand out as striking exceptions to the almost universality of the rule that with running crosses in the pedigree of the trotter, the further off they are the better. The fact that almost nothing is known of the blood lines of Pilot Jr. ends all satisfactory inquiry regarding the sources of his remarkable abilities. Before searching for the causes of the striking departure from the general rule shown in the case of Electioneer, let us consider his relative stud achievements when coupled with running and trotting-bred mares. If his success with thoroughbreds was not any greater than with trotters or even pacers, then his phenomenal case is no argument for resorting to thorough blood. The following is a list of his 2:30 trotters having running blood close up in their pedigrees:—

Palo Alto, 2:13¾ Big Jim, 2:23½ Gertrude Russell, 2:23½	Dame Winnie, thoroughbred
Ansel, 2:20	Annette, thoroughbred.
Cubic, 2:28½	Cuba, thoroughbred.
Express, 2:21	Esther, thoroughbred.
Junio, 2:22	Daughter of Granger, thoroughbred.
Anteeo, 2:16½ Antevolo, 2:19½	Columbine, nearly thoroughbred
Azmoor, 2:24½ Emaline, 2:28½	Mamie C., nearly or quite thoroughbred
Sunol, 2:13¾	Grandam thoroughbred.

I have taken for the purpose of the argument Gov. Stanford's version of the pedigrees, though some are disputed by the compiler of the Trotting Register. The variances are immaterial. It will be seen that Electioneer has sired six 2:30 trotters from strictly thoroughbred dams, four from dams nearly thoroughbred, and two from dams probably half bred. One of these from a thoroughbred dam is Palo Alto, with a third-heat stallion-race record of 2:13¾, and another from a half bred dam is Sunol 2:13¾, the fastest as a two-year-old, and barring Axtell, as a three-year-old, that has yet appeared. The getting of these, taken alone, stamps him as one of the greatest trotting sires, but has he not brought as great results from his stud service with indifferently bred trotting mares and also pacers? From such he has sired thirty-six, with records from 2:16 to 2:30, eight of th m in the 2:20 list, and but one of them from a really gilt-edged, trotting-bred mare. True, Beautiful Bells (dam of Bell Boy, 2:19½; St. Bel, 2:24½; Hinda Rose, 2:19½; Palo Alto Belle, 2:22½) is one of the foremost brood mares; but, like Green Mountain Maid, great deeds, not pedigrees, have given her great reputation. Some of the very best of the get of Electioneer are from pacing mares whose breeding is entirely unknown. Of such are Manzanita (4), 2:16; Bonita, 2:18¼ Wildflower (2), 2:21; Fred Crocker (2), 2:25¼. All these are from dams by St. Clair (pacer), breeding unknown, and out of mares of unknown blood.

A study of these facts makes it seem very probable that had Electioneer never covered a running mare, but his stud services been confined to such trotting and pacing stock as California afforded, his success would not have been less; and it is certain that had his harem been filled in the beginning with high-class trotting-bred mares, neither George Wilkes nor Blue Bull would now be within hailing distance of him. That Electioneer has sired trotters of the most extreme speed from thoroughbred mares, only proves that trotting blood, unpolluted for several generations, will sometimes exercise a controlling influence when it meets that of even the thoroughbred.

In considering the main question, the inquiry naturally arises as to the measure of success which other great sires have had in getting trotters from thoroughbred dams. The following table is an answer to the question:

1. Alexander's Abdallah	None.
2. Aberdeen	"
3. Almont	Four.
4. Belmont	None.
5. Blue Bull	"
6. Daniel Lambert	"
7. Dictator	"
8. Edward Everett	"
9. General Benton	One.
10. George Wilkes	"
11. Hambletonian	"
12. Happy Medium	"
13. Harold	None.
14. Kentucky Prince	"
15. Mambrino Chief	"
16. Nutwood	"
17. Volunteer	"
Total number	Six.

Pilot Jr. has been left out of this table for reasons that have been mentioned. The list embraces all the great sires who have been long enough in the stud to make their get a proper subject for our inquiry. They have produced, all told, six trotters, able to go a mile in 2:30, from thoroughbred dams. It cannot be said that it was for want of opportunity, that their efforts were almost wholly failures, for Hambletonian, Volunteer, Dictator, Harold, Belmont, George Wilkes and Mambrino Chief were bred to many excellent thoroughbred mares, but from such not one of them ever got a 2:30 trotter.

To use the language of Mr. Wallace, the thoroughbred "has an inheritance of deathly contests and glorious victories coming down to him from an illustrious ancestry, and these have become an unseen part of the very nature of the horse. "It is also nearly a certainty that the habit of moving with the utmost speed has become a fixed quality in his nervous organization, but the disposition in him to adhere to the running gait is so strong that, outside of the exceptional cases of Electioneer and Pilot Jr, and in a much less degree Almont, the attempts to impart to the trotter these two qualities of the thoroughbred by direct crosses have been almost entirely barren of good results. The trotter is a product of recent times, and it is not strange that his blood is less potent than that of the thoroughbred with twenty generations of pure lineage. It is a significant fact that the near thoroughbred cross in the pedigree of Maud S., 2:08¾, Jay-Eye-See, 2:10, Palo Alto, 2:13¾, and perhaps Sunol, 2:13¾, comes from Boston, one of the greatest race horses that has ever appeared on the turf. Some exceptional quality in him, aside from the generality of his breed, may have been the main cause of the harmonious union of his blood with trotting strains.

While it is true that the fastest trotters have come from thoroughbred grandams, and in the case of Palo Alto a thoroughbred dam, the fact is not to be viewed as suggesting a similar rule of breeding, but as proof that in the present formative condition of the trotting horse his highest rate of speed is reached in instances where a near cross has been made with the thoroughbred, and contrary to the usual result, the trotting parent controls only the gait and the offspring is essentially a trotting thoroughbred. Such an animal, while it may be unrivaled on the trotting course, will perhaps be unable to impart to its progeny its own individual qualities. A breeder aiming to produce one fast trotter and do it in the first generation, would be justified in making the attempt by breeding a thoroughbred or half-bred mare to Electioneer or one of his strictly trotting-bred sons, but his chances of success would perhaps be very much greater from a trotting mare having the desirable qualities of the thoroughbred.

A notable exception to the general rule has lately come under my observation. Among the colts of St. Bel now being educated by Cope Stinson, at Prospect Hill Stock Farm, are two fillies out of thoroughbred dams—Bonnibel, out of Belle D., by Belmont, son of Lexington; and Belle Dame, out of Bertha, by Bigaroon, son of Bonnie Scotland. I watched them closely in their work, with others from gilt-edged dams, and in speed, purity of gait and trotting disposition, they appeared in no way inferior to their half sisters, indeed, the fastest of this lot of very speedy youngsters was the filly Bonnibel. Her dam, Belle D., was not only a thoroughbred in blood, but was a good race mare in fact. The chances are very strong that she will enter the 2:30 list as a two-year-old. Notwithstanding this, I would not consider her worth nearly as much for breeding purposes as one of her less speedy but more strongly trotting-bred half sisters.

FALLSTOWN.

Capt. Sam Brown, speaking of his season's winnings, said: "There have been reports that my stable only won $65,000 the past season. I figured up the winnings a day or two since and they foot up $81,250. This is outside of bets. I did fairly well with them also. Senorita was the money maker, she capturing about $25,000."

Racing at Oakland.

About four hundred people congregated at Oakland Park last Sunday to witness a half mile dash and a mile hurdle race. About 2 o'clock the horses were called up for the half mile dash. Four horses turned out, all well known to most race-goers. Rondo was installed favorite, the majority of the pools selling Rondo $5, Applause $2 and the field $1 50. After several attempts Lige Downer dropped the flag with Rondo a little in front and Applause in advance of the other two. Rondo increased his lead round the turn and was a good three lengths in front when fairly in the homestretch. Painkiller drew up in the last hundred yards after going easy all the way, and beat Applause a neck for the place, Rondo winning by a lengih. Had Painkiller been ridden all the way he would probably have won easier than Rondo did. Time, 0:49½.

SUMMARY.

Running, catch weights; half mile.

D. F. Abel's ch g Rondo, a, Vanderbilt—Dutchy.....Hazlett 1
C. Lyman's b h Painkiller, 4, Joe Hooker—Betsy McGuire .... Lee 2
W. George's b g Applause, 5, Three Cheers—Alice N.....Sible 3
Also ran Minnie B.

Time, 0:49½.

The other event was a hurdle race, with two starters. Several years ago a good deal of hurdle racing was indulged in at Oakland, and an attempt was made to revive the interest in it, but unfortunately an accident spoilt the proceedings. Willie Stewart, who is a very promising young rider, had the leg up on Sir Ladd; at the first jump the saddle girths broke and Stewart, unfortunately, did not pull up, and at the next fence horse and rider fell, the horse rolling on Stewart and breaking a rib, or possibly two. Jack Pot won the race easily. We have seen many hurdle races, and with one or two other spectators who are old hurdle race men, were surprised to see a boy who had never ridden in a hurdle race before put up on Sir Ladd, who, although when last seen at Fresno was one of the best hurdlers there, but he was not properly turned out on Sunday. A horse cannot jump with his head tied down, and as a matter of precaution and custom it is better to have a strong surcingle round the saddle.

SUMMARY.

Hurdle race over three hurdles; one mile.

T. Hazlitt's br g Jack Pot, Joe Hooker—Lugena.....Timothy 1
J. P. Ross' ch g Sir Ladd, Richard III.—Queen.....Stewart 0
Time—2:05.

Oakland Park.

Several prominent Eastern horsemen decided to winter in California, and a few weeks ago Major Du Bois brought a car load from Denver, Colorado, and, located at the Oakland track. Among the lot were several good-looking—though rather undersized—yearlings and the two well-known stallions Magnet (2:28¾), 1328, by Magnolia 68, dam Mischief by Abdallah 15, grand dam by Bolivar. The brown stallion is fourteen years old and as playful as a kitten; and Superior (2:19¼), 4012, by Egbert 1136, dam Mary (dam of Benefactor 2:28), by Woodford Mambrino 345, grand dam Belle by Norman 25. He is a brilliant red chestnut, handsome, well shaped, and with nice action. Last week Phallas (2:13¾) and Roy Wilkes (2:12¾) arrived. The former is well known to all trotting horsemen as the holder of the stallion record which Palo Alto equalled at Stockton. The bay stallion looks as fit as a fiddle and evidently is in good trim. E. Bither, the well known reinsman, who assisted Jay Eye See and other equine heroes to make their records, has Phallas in charge, while Mr. Davis, the owner of Roy Wilkes, the pacer, is jogging his horse himself, and when moving his action is almost perfection. His staunchness and unflinching courage have been proved on many of the Eastern tracks, and if he works well the next two or three weeks we shall probably have a sensational race between he and Adonis. James Dustin has his usual string jogging along. Faustino, the yearling Sidney, was taken over to Oakland last Sunday, and will be kept in work, and if the weather holds out Dustin will probably start him to beat Norlaine's yearling record. Hinds has several useful youngsters among his string, particularly a big fine yearling who trots in good style. The Hazlitt stable has had a big string of runners at the track until a few days ago, when they moved across the Bay for the Blood Horse Meeting.

W. T. Woodard's Sale of Feb. 17, 1890.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I have just closed a very successful sale at Lexington, Ky., 222 head aggregating $113,365 an average of $510 65, which is a remarkable showing, considering the fact that a large number of the animals were non-standard and business horses. I now solicit consignments of California stock, standard bred, and feel sure that your breeders cannot do better than sell their horses at this point. Lexington is undoubtedly the best sale mart on the continent for trotting horses and her sales attract not only the Western buyers but the Eastern, and this accounts for the phenomenal success of her sales. Last February, after 700 horses had been sold at public auction, I disposed of 800 mares at an average of $603 60, the highest price being for one of your California colts, Bell Boy, $51,000, then the greatest sum ever paid for a trotting horse. The distance is so great that I doubt the advisability of sending any but standard-bred stock and I feel safe in the assertion that they will bring one hundred cents on the dollar. Some of the best in the land are already entered.

The weather last week was unusually favorable to the trotting meeting and fast time was the result. Edgemark made a four-year-old record of 2:16 as one of the sensations, but the great Axtell, though here, did not start. For entry blanks and particulars of my sale of Feb. 17 to 26, 1890.

Address, W. T. WOODARD.

ATHLETICS.

Athletic Sports and Other Pastimes.

Edited by Arphippus.

SUMMARY.

The Fall games of the University Athletic Club will be held at Berkeley this afternoon.

The athletes are in splendid condition for the Olympic handicap meeting, which will be held on November 28th.

The wheelmen are anxiously awaiting the Napa race meeting, and the oarsmen are training day and night for coming events.

RUNNERS, WALKERS, JUMPERS, ETC.

George Armbruster of the Y. M. C. A. A. C. is training hard for the mile handicap walk on Thanksgiving Day.

C. A. Eldridge of the G. G. A. C. has retired from the cinder path.

The amateur athletic world was well represented at the Bay District Track last Sunday morning. The teams from the different athletic clubs were exercised under the directions of their Captains.

The usual "hundred" was run off and S. V. Cassidy once more took the lead. W. J. Kenealey and — McDonald were tied for second place, Newton Williams coming in a good ourth. Winner's time, 10 2-5 seconds.

Espinoza, Cooley, Scott, Hare, Jim O'Kane, Frank O'Kane, McDonald, Williams, Giry, Moody, George Armbruster, Charles Armbruster, Cassidy, Schlengheid and Kenealey were all stripped and entertained the spectators with splendid exhibitions of sprinting and distance running.

The manager of the Bay District Track refused to allow the athletes to dress in the judges' stand and they are compelled to seek the shelter of the horse stalls. Such discourtesy on the part of the lessee of the track deserves to be severely criticised, and when the new grounds of the Olympic Club are ready for use the athletes will give the Bay District Track a wide berth. It is a consolation, however, to note that this has been the first season since the opening of the track that the athletes have been incommoded by the managers. When Mr. Hinchman had charge of the track he always took an especial delight in welcoming the runners and walkers.

Captain George W. Jordan made a mental memorandum of the different performances, and perhaps some of the cute sprinters will be put back a peg or two.

President C. Giry of the P. A. C. is in fine shape for the "half," and with a proper start should make it hot for the Scotchmen.

Bob McArthur and Frank Cooley will have a hard tussle for first place in the mile. It is an assured fact that both men will smash the coast record.

Cassidy will win the open hundred, if not too heavily handicapped, while McDonald, Kenealey, McNear, McGee and Hare will have a hard battle for second honors.

Scott, Cooley, Espinoza and Archie Layton (a professional) ran a "quarter" on Sunday morning. The professional won easily, as the amateurs contented themselves with jogging.

Fully 200 persons were present at the track to watch the doings of the athletes.

According to the new adoption Phil Moody will be eligible to enter the novice race, and he certainly should win a medal.

Frank L. Cooley, the distance amateur runner, is now a member of the Olympic Club, and will help to swell its record at the championship games next year.

Haley, the latest addition to the Olympic Club champion list, will be heavily handicapped on Thanksgiving Day. Those who have seen him run are of the opinion that he will lower the present Pacific Coast one mile running record by at least five seconds.

Capt. E. N. Jennings, who was reported dead some months ago, is now conducting a fencing and riding academy in Sydney, Australia. He was at one time fencing instructor to the Olympic Club

The prizes to be awarded to the winners in the boxing tournament are on exhibition at the store of George C. Shreve, corner of Montgomery and Sutter streets.

UNIVERSITY JOTTINGS.

The university men are in tip-top condition for their fall games, which will be held on the Campus at Berkeley today.

Great interest will be taken in Bouse, as it is expected that this young athlete will do wonders.

Clift expects to beat eight minutes in the mile walk.

Moffett is not in good trim, therefore he will not try to lower any of the records.

McGee's friends think that he is good for two first medals.

The cinder path is in fine order and just suited for record breaking. The sporting editor who last Monday stated that this track was slow was evidently misinformed, as it is considered one of the fastest tracks on the coast.

Cassidy is looked upon as the winner of the Olympic special "hundred," while Kenealy is expected to have a soft thing in the "four forty."

A fine band of music will perform while the games are in progress.

The medals will be on hand and will be presented to the different winners at the conclusion of the sports.

There will be no class pennant awarded this year, but any student breaking a college record will receive a special medal.

A 220 yards maiden race for freshmen has been substituted for the standing high jump.

The Relay race will no doubt be one of the most exciting events of the day. The struggle will be between the Seniors and Juniors. Both classes are determined to win.

The runners will save themselves for this event.

The three-legged race should prove amusing to the audience. Several of the sprinters will compete.

A large crowd of ladies and gentlemen are expected from San Francisco, and the students anticipate an immense audience. Preparations have been made for the comfort of all.

The lawn tennis court is in good order and the game is once more practiced.

JOTTINGS FROM ALL OVER.

The Modesto Athletic Club gave its first exhibition on Saturday evening last. The principal event on the programme was a three hours run for amateurs, which was won by Geo. Young, Joe Lone winning second place. Gold and silver medals were presented to the winners. The records were: Young, 18 miles and 17 laps; Love, 17 miles 13 laps. The track was 28 laps to the mile. Athletes from San Francisco will be invited to take part in the next games. The club is strictly amateur.

At the annual Fall games of the Yale Athletic Association the following records were made, despite the drizzling rain which fell all the afternoon, 2 miles bicycle race, 6:38 2-5. 440 yards run, 51 3-5 seconds. 1 mile run, 4:49. Pole vault, 9ft 2½in.

The new gymnasium at Yale is built of brick and stone, with base dimensions 130x80 feet, containing bowling alleys, two rowing tanks, and two running tracks. The entire floor surface is about 10,000 square feet. The building cost in the neighborhood of $150,000.

The Waverly Athletic Club has changed its title to that of the West Hoboken Athletic Club.

The Passaic City Wheeling and Athletic Association has applied to the Amateur Athletic Union for admission to that body as an associate club.

Charles H. Sherrill, the champion intercollegiate sprinter, is taking a post graduate course in electricity at Yale College, and may wear the blue of Yale University in the sprints at the intercollegiate games on the Berkeley Oval in May.

The Games Committee of Company I, Thirteenth Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y., have decided to postpone the games and reception announced to be held on December 16, until Friday evening, December 20, when the affair will be decided in the regimental armory, corner of Flatbush Avenue and Hanson Place, Brooklyn. Silver cups will be given to the winners in each event, and silver medals to the second athletes.

Quite a daring feat was recently performed at Widnes, England. The London Sportsman of October 10th says: "Tom Burn of Liverpool, who is noted for his endurance both in swimming and running, jumped off Runcorn Bridge into the River Mersey, a distance of eighty-five feet, and swam back to Liverpool. He then dressed and started on a foot-race to London and back, having made a wager to do the journey in nine days."

Two English athletes, Jones and Barnes of the Bristol Harriers, were sent to jail for a month for conspiracy to defraud the Stourbridge Football Club of the prize in a one-mile race at the last athletic games held by that organization. Jones entered and received a large start from the handicapper, but Barnes ran in his name and won.

To show how little the Eastern sporting fraternity know about athletic affairs in California, we print the following from the New York Sunday Sun: There have been cases of bribing amateur athletes to a more or less degree in the majority of athletic and aquatic organizations throughout the country, and there was a charge last year that Victor E. Schifferstein, the great California sprinter and running broad jumper, was supported by the Olympic Athletic Club of San Francisco. This case made quite a stir out there, but was eventually dropped. John Purcell, of the same organization, was implicated also, but it is thought that he ended the matter by becoming the instructor or director of athletics for the club at a regular salary.

Charles F. Eston, the Australian champion light-weight wrestler, was defeated by James Faulkner, the American champion, in a match for $250 a side at Tacoma (W. T.), Nov. 7th.

Peter Hegelman was the winner of the forty-eight hours' race, contestants traveling eight hours daily, which finished at Bridgeport, Ct., on Nov. 2d. The score by miles was given as follows: Hegelman, 327 miles; Gus Guerrero, 323; Charles Connors, 316; T. Howarth, 306; D. J. Herty, 304; F. Taylor, 301; J. Sullivan, 258. There is a strong probability, however, that there was considerable of a shortage in the track, which renders these big figures valueless.

Cannon and Pietro gave another exhibition of wrestling at Paris, France, on the evening of October 31st, the result being a draw. They met again the following evening, when the Frenchman won.

The half-mile race between A. B. George and J. C. Deveraux, both of the Manhattan Athletic Club, was decided at the grounds of that organization, this city, on the afternoon of Oct. 31, on a track that was heavy from the rain that had been falling during the most of the day, and was still coming down when the runners were sent away. George took the lead at once, and gradually improved his position, ultimately winning in 2m 3 3-5s, Deveraux stopping forty yards from the goal. Starter, Jack Goulding; timer, C. C. Hughes; referee, Al Copland.

The Fall games of the Harvard College Athletic Association were held on Holmes' Field, Cambridge, Mass., on Nov. 1st. The weather was unpleasant, the spectators limited in number, and no specially good performances were accomplished. Winners: 100 yds dash—S. Saltonstall, in 10⅖s. Two mile bicycle race—J E Tweedy, '93, in 6m 4⅗s. One mile walk—C T R Bates, '92, in 7m 7 2 5s. Putting the shot—W H Shea, '92, 34ft 6in. Running high jump—R G Leavitt, L S, 5 t 7 1-10in. 440 yds dash—F J Stead, '91, in 53 2-5s. One mile run—G Collimore, '93, in 4m 39s. Two mile safety bicycle race—P W Davis '91, in 6m 14⅘s. 220 yds dash—J S Cook, in 23 3-5s. Throwing the hammer—W H Shea, '92, 85ft 3½in. 880 yds dash—J L Batchelder, '92, in 2m 5 4-5s. Running broad jump—F Mason, '91, 19ft 4in.

E. C. Carter and L. R. Sharp were the only starters in the mile race at the grounds of the New York Athletic Club, Travers Island, on Oct. 31. The trophy was the $1,000 cup presented by Seth French, and which is annually run for, the winner having his name inscribed on the cup and receiving a gold medal as a prize. Rain was falling when the men toed their mark, Carter being on scratch and Sharp having an allowance of fifty yards, while the track was in bad condition, being covered in places with water. It was almost dark when the race was started, and it became necessary to place lighted lamps at different points along the path. Carter won handily in 4m 43s, remarkably good time, considering the condition of the track and the state of the weather.

The athletic sports arranged for the benefit of Jack Goulding and his assistant came off at the grounds of the Manhattan Athletic Club on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 2d. The beneficiaries were in no better luck than upon the two previous days set for the affair, as rain fell steadily all the afternoon, the path was heavy and dead, and the gathering was rather light. In consequence of the storm, the exhibition runs announced to take place did not come off, neither L. E. Myers nor M. K. Kittleman making his appearance. A summary of the events follows:—

One hundred yards run—First heat: E L Sarre, M A C, 7yds, first; W J Dixon, M A C, 4yds, second by 3 yds. Time 10 3-5s. Second heat: E S Dolan, P A C, 6½yds, first; J A Grey, Star A C, 6½yds, second by 5yds. Time 10 3-5s. Final heat: Grey first; Sarre second by 8yds; Dixon third by 2 yds. Time 10 2-5s.

Four hundred and forty yards run—E L Sarre, 25yds, first; W J Dixon, M A C, 18yds, second by 7yds; J C Deverux, M A C, third by 3yds. Time 51 4-5s.

Eight hundred and eighty yards novice run—Kenneth Grieve, New York City, first; Frederick Shroder, New York City, second by 100yds. Time 2m 23s.

One hundred and twenty yards hurdle race, 2ft 6in high—J C Devereux, M A C, 5yds behind scratch, first; Z A Cooper, Brooklyn, 8yds behind, second by 3yds. Time 17s.

One mile novice bicycle race—W Hall, C C A A, first; A G Bennett, K C W, second by 100yds. Time 4m 20 1 5s.

Two mile walk—C L Nicol, M A C, scratch, first; E C Phillips, Allerton A C, 1m 55s, second by 100yds. Time 16m 1 1-5s.

Two mile run—A B George, M A C, scratch, first; Sidney Thomas, M A C, 60yds, second by 40yds. Time 10m 3s.

Two mile professional run—Fred Carlton, 150yds, first; Timothy Regan, scratch, second, by 15yds; Nicholas Cox, scratch, second by 150yds. Time 11m 23s.

IN THE SURF.

The surf baths were almost entirely deserted by the general public during the week. The members of the different swimming clubs, however, stuck to their practice in order to get themselves into condition for the coming races under the auspices of the Lurline Club.

The Palace and Crystal Baths had a very fair share of custom during the week. The temperature of the water at both places has lately been increased owing to the cold state of the atmosphere.

Next Sunday the Lurline Swimming, Boating and Athletic Club, will hold its inaugural entertainment at the Shelter Cove Baths, foot of Mason Street. There will be three swimming events, as follows: 100 yards, 440 yards and one mile. All three races to be scratch. Gold medals will repay the first men and silver medals will be given as second prizes. The races are open to all amateur swimmers. Several of the Terrace Club swimmers will enter, and excellent exhibitions will no doubt be the result.

AT THE OARS.

From an aquatic point of view, last Sunday was a perfect day. There was no wind and the bay was as smooth as glass. Several crews were out.

Four crews left the Ariel Boat House and accompanied the Pioneer Club a short distance on their annual outing

The members of the Pioneer Rowing Club made use of every available boat in the service on Sunday and rowed to Hunters Point, where theo landed and spent the day. Swimming and other games helped to make up the programme. Some of the non athletic members contented themselves with spinning yarns, which savored very much of past deeds and performances done by the members of the club since its organization. Champagne flowed freely and an elegant lunch was served. The Pioneer club is the oldest rowing club in California.

There will be a grand re-union of all the rowing clubs on the Pacific Coast on Washington's Birthday.

Dan Leahy, the ex-champion of the coast, was out in his shell on Sunday for the first time in seven years. He showed a sad lack of condition, but with a couple of months practice he will make some of the scullers "take water" and leave it right away.

Sunday was general over-hauling day with most of the scullers who intend competing on Thanksgiving Day.

The race between Leander Stevenson and William Julian, has been postponed for two months, owing to the illness of Mr. Julian, who, a short time ago, contracted pneumonia.

Eugene Flanders takes more interest in boating affairs than any other oarsman on the Pacific Coast.

There is not the slighest doubt but that if proper inducements were offered by the S P C, all the boat clubs around the bay would be willing to move into one large club house, each club to have a separate entrance. We think it would be a very good investment on the part of the S P C to erect such a building on the Alameda mole, for the exclusive use of the rowing clubs. We have no doubt but that the clubs would be perfectly willing to help to defray the expense of erecting and maintaining such a building

The professional crew of the Ariel Club are getting into fine trim for the four-oared shell race on Thanksgiving Day.

The Lurline Club will hold its first regatta next Sunday at North Beach. There will be sculling, wherry and barge races. Cups will be awarded the winners. All the clubs have been invited to participate.

Post Office "Station B" crew, in charge of J. J. Larkey, will enter the four-oared barge race, and from all accounts will make things rather lively for the other crews.

The races are open to amateurs only.

THE WHEELMEN.

The Bay City Wheelmen are about to move their club rooms, their present ones not being at all satisfactory. It is the earnest desire of the members to secure an entire house and if possible a la Los Angeles wheelmen "the handsomest club rooms on the Pacific Coast."

The committee of the Vineyard Valley Wheelmen, who visited Camp Taylor with a delegation of the B C W, spent Sunday evening at the club rooms on Van Ness Avenue. Their captain, William Parker, entered the safety races and promised many more racing men from his club.

Chairman Davol has reversed the decision in the case of the men who participated in the amateur races at the Mechanics Pavilion as regards suspension from "all" tracks. The decision of the home club, however, cannot be changed.

The Oakland Bicycle Club of '89 was organized at the residence of its Captain George F. Drake in September last. During the past couple of months the club has gained considerable headway and is now, thanks to its efficient officers, on a footing with most of the older clubs. It is the intention of the members to enter the racing world next spring and there is no cause why some of the riders should not give a good account of themselves on the path. The following is a list of officers: Captain George F. Drake, 1720 Seward Street, Oakland, Cal., Secretary Samuel Small, 804 10th Street, Oakland, Cal., President, Dr. L. Van Orden: George H. Gihon, vice-President L. Hubbard, 1st Lieut. A. C. Lassen, 2nd Lieut. J. F. Revalk, Bugler.

R. M. Welch is slowly recovering from the effects of the accident which happened to him a couple of weeks ago.

The next regular monthly smoker of the San Francisco Bicycle Club will be held on Thursday evening November 21.

Nominations of officers for 1890 will be made.

The Club will also tender a reception to Charles A. McDonald. A fine orchestra will furnish music during the evening.

CLUB JOTTINGS.

There will be an in-door meeting of the P. C. A. A. A. at the Mechanics Pavilion in January.

The P. C. A. A. A. will probably send athletes to represent it at the next American Championship meeting.

E. C. Hill the university delegate acted rather hastily at the last meeting of the P. C. A. A. A. in voting against the holding of an in-door meeting. We do not see upon what grounds Mr. Hill could fear a failure. A meeting under the auspices of the Association would unquestionably attract an immense crowd of people to the Pavilion and the entertainment would in all respects prove a big success. Mr. Hill should remember that in-door games in New York City and in other large cities outside of California generally draw a larger audience than the out-door games.

The following delegates to the P. C. A. A. A. were chosen at the last regular meeting. T. Bouse, J. C. Ainsworth, Jr., E. C. Hill of the University A. C., F. Drum, F. Knight, M. Clements of the Reliance A. C., C. Giry, P. Moody, E. Dwyer of the Pacific A. C.

Previous to the next Championship Games, an effort will probably be made to allow only such men as are actually attending the University to represent the Club. If this law was enforced the Olympic Club would have a walk over for the pennant.

The Lurline Club will receive its friends at its club rooms next Sunday. A good time is anticipated. Boat races, swimming matches, boxing, fencing, weight lifting, wrestling, and other sports will be included on the programme. A fine lunch will be served. Invitations will be sent to the members of the different boat clubs.

The next exhibition of the Occidental Club will take place Monday evening, Nov. 25th.

The Amateur Championship boxing tournament of the Olympic Athletic Club was in progress as we went to press, and we are compelled to hold over our account until the next issue.

It will be some weeks yet before the new grounds of the Olympic Club are finished

The Pacific Athletic Club will give a grand benefit exhibition at its club rooms, Mission Skating Rink, Mission Street near 20th., on Tuesday evening November 26. The following talent will appear and one of the best programmes ever before given on the Pacific Coast is assured.

Joe McAuliffe, champion heavy weight; Joe Choynski, ex-champion Amateur; W. J. Keneally, heavy weight; R. Collins; Texas Frenchy; Paddy Gorman of Australia; Paddy Smith; Charles Bogan; Gallagher; Fred Bogan; Joe Hesketh; Regan; Renelson; I. McAuliffe; Mr. Woods; McLaughlin; Ed. Morrissey; Kramer; Billy Meehan; Ed. Graney; G. Muller; M. Henes; Iones; Philips; besides several other boxers including the champions of the late Amateur boxing tournament.

Tumbling by Steve, Boulo, Kehoe and Mack.

Horizontal Bar, Steve, Boulo, Clown, Hemme.

Duel scene, by Professors R. Ingrahm, and La Rue, 15 points.

Wrestling, Schwartr and Rechter, Mertes and Ungermann.

It will be seen from the fore-going list that nearly every athlete in San Francisco will appear. The event of the evening will be a ten round contest between Joe Hesketh and Texas Frenchy for a valuable trophy.

Mr. C. C. Johnson, a prominent young colored gentleman of this city, a graduate of Westminster University and a student of the San Francisco Academy of Music, will be an aspirant for athletic honors at the coming games, given by the Olympic Club, on Thanksgiving Day. He will represent the Pacific Athletic Club, of which he is a member, and if a fair handicap is given, no doubt he will make a very good showing. Johnson is an insurance clerk, and is being "kept covered."

The American Trotting Association.

The following persons and horses are suspended for non-payment of entrance and other causes, viz:—

Oct. 15th, 1889. By order of the Kansas City Agricultural and Horticultural Fair Association, Kansas City, Mo.:—

R. Bean, Emporia, Kansas, and gr g Captain.
F. E. Drivers. Helena, Mo., and ch h Russell Chief (pacer).
Geo. Johnston, Belton, Mo., and —— John Scott (pacer).
Fred Young, Lawrence, Kansas, and b g Billy Wells.
Fred Young, Lawrence Kansas, and b m Lady Tilden.

Oct, 5th, 1889. By order of the Licking County Agricultural Society, Newark, Ohio:—

M. Critchfield, Howard, Ohio, and br m Daisy E.
F. J. Critchfield, Howard, Ohio, and br m Daisy B.
Donahue & Abbott, McConnelsville, Ohio, and h m Lizzie S.
—— Wise, —— ——, and b m Lizzie S.
George Yearly, Newark, Ohio, and ch m Sadie Y. (runner).
John Davis, —— —— and ch m Sadie Y. (runner).
J. Barber, Philo. Ohio, and gr m Dell (runner).

Oct. 4th, 1889. By order of the West Side Racing Association, Butte City, Montana:—

F. H. Starkey, Lockford, Cal., and ch g Cyclone.

Oct. 6th, 1889. By order of the Morris County Exposition Company, Council Grove, Kansas:—

W. N. D. Bird, Emporia, Kansas, and blk n Col. Crocket.

Oct. 7th, 1889, By order of the Carroll County Fair, Carrollton, Ohio—:

C. E. Haff, Caniz Junction, Ohio, and d h Flying Hiatoga (pacer).
H. J. Kennedy, Canton, Ohio, and b g Billy German.
John A. Richey, Scio, Ohio, and b g Joe Christian.

Oct. 7th, 1889. By order of the Hocking County Agricultural Society, Logan, Ohio:—

Jas. F. Morgan, Mt. Sterling, Ky., and blk g Daniel D.
G. A. Clifton, Etna, Ohio, and blk g Packet.

Oct. 7th, 1889. By order of the Kansas City Exposition Driving Park, Kansas City, Mo.:—

Henry Poppert, Kaneas City, Mo., and blk g Winder.
M. B. Jackson, Olathe, Kansas, and b g Cy Sprague (pacer).
F. H. Sammis, Minneapolis, Minn., and b m Cricket (pacer).
T. J. Taylor, Shelton, Neb., and —— Prince Taylor.

Oct. 15th, 1889. By order of the Minerva Union Agricultural Association, Minerva, Ohio:—

John A. Richey Scio, Ohio, and b g Joe Christian.
H. J. Kennedy, Canton, Ohio, and b g Billy German.

Oct 9th, 1889. By order of the Tascale County Agricultural Society, Vassar, Michigan:—

George E. Cole, Oxford, Mich., and ch g Trixie (runner)
Bullock Bros. (Richard and William), Millington, Mich., and ch h Somber.

Oct. 9th, 1889. By order of the Waukegan Driving Club, Waukegan, Illinois:—

Chas. Walker, Chicago, Ill., and bl g Benzol.
J. S. Wolfe, Chicago, Ill., and gr g Gray Bill.

Oct 11th, 1889. By order of the Republican Valley District Fair Association, Superior, Neb.:—

A. H. Brockway, Beatrice, Neb., and —— Patsy.

Oct. 11th, 1889. By order of the Edinburg Fair and Trotting Association, Edinburg, Indiana.—

Jos. Andruss, St. Louis Crossing, Ind., and b h Jubilee Lambert Jr.
Frank O'Brien, Columbus, Ind., and br h Sunlight.

Oct. 11th, 1889. By order of the Port Huron Agricultural and Driving Park Association, Port Huron, Mich.:—

M. N. Petit, Port Huron, Mich., and br g Robert.

Oct. 12th, 1889. By order of the Garrattsville Horse Breeders' Association Garrattsville, Ohio:—

Geo, Baxter, Fairview, W. Va., and b h Sir Oricle.
W. Edwards, Cleveland, Ohio, and —— Mendicant.

Oct. 16th, 1889. By order of Terra Haute Trotting Association, Terra Haute, Ind.:—

F. D. Clark, Chicago, Ill., and b m Kitty C. (pacer).
F. D. Clark, Chicago, Ill., and b m Betty Jones.
P. E. Clark, Chicago, Ill. ,and b g Prince.
Edward O'Dell, New Orleans, La., and g g Jack Curry (pacer).
J. P. Stonewall, Witchits, Kan., and b m Minnie P. (pacer).
E. E. Prentice, Joliet, Ill., and ch h Shilo.
H. Barnes, Cedar Rapids, Iawa, and bl m Gipsey A.
G. G. Newman, —— —— and b h Boyalty.
Meyers & Wagner, Dayton, Ohio, and b gBilly Akerson.
H. W. Rekher, Springfield, Ill., and g g Col. H.

J. H. STEINER,
Secretary.

The following persons and horses, suspended for non-payment of entrance and other causes, have been reinstated, provision having been made for the claims, viz.:

——, The br m Blue Wing (pacer), suspended by order of the member at Crawfordsville, Ind.
C. L. Gilbert, Fremont, Mich., and ch g C. L. G., suspended by order of the member at Coopersville, Mich , through error.
J. F. Marshall, Cleveland, Ohio, and blk g Black Dick, suspended by order of the member at Youngstown, Ohio.
——, The ch g Manzanita (runner), suspended by order of the member at Los Angeles, Cal.
H. B. Kingsley, Cortland, Ohio, Frank Kingsley, Fowler, Ohio, and b h Atlantic Boy (pacer), suspended by order oi the member at Jefferson, Ohio.
C. C Bates, Decorah, Iowa, and b g Thalberg, expelled by order of the member at St Louis, Mo., is temporarily reinstated.
P. W. Brown, Bourneville, Ohio, and b g Contest (runner), suspended by order of the member at Marietta, Ohio.
Chas. Brown, Marietta, Ohio, and b g Jack Brown, suspended by order of the member at Fostoria, Ohio.
John Sharon, Woodstock, Ont., and ch m Meda, suspended by order of the member at Blenheim, Ontario.
J, H. Wilcox, Frankfort, Ind., and b m Daisy Young, suspended by order of the member at Crawfordsville, Ind.
F. B. Loomis, Minneaholis, Minn., and blk g Highland Laddie (pacer), suspended by order of the member at Milwaukee, Wis.
Samuel Drakely, Atchison, Kan., and dn g Pilot, suspended by order of the member at Burlington, Kan., and the American Trotting Association.
Edward White, Newcastle, Ind., and b g James W., suspended by order of the member at Charleston, Ill.
Wright & Hanna, Sharon, Penn., and br h Baladin, suspended by order of the member at Youngstown, Ohio, through error.
Jos. Hilgert, Marysville, Mo., and ch m Flora West, suspended by order of the member at Council Grove, Kan., and by Abilona, Kan.
Silas Walters, Hiawatha, Kan., and b m Express (pacer), suspended by order of the member at Sioux Falls, Dakota.
G. A. Vignola, Los Angeles, Cal., and gr g What Ho and ch m Sunrise (pacer), suspended by order of the member at Fresno, Cal.
Andy Dill, Glenwood, Iowa, and ch m Maud Dill, suspended by order of the member at Shenandoah, Iowa.
L. C. Neal, Petersburg, Tenn , and b h Rock Bottom (pacer), suspended by order of the member at Chattanooga, Tenn.

Nov. 7, 1889. J. H. STEINER, Secretary.

English Exports.

The exports of pure-bred stock (of which horses form the largest portion) still increase, although the destinations and class of the animals vary. The value of the exports for the nine months ending September 20th was $4,466,975, against $4,003,345 last year. Of horses the value was $3,745,420, against $3,304,440 last year. There were 10,642 horses exported, against 10,119 last year. Of these 2,411 were stallions, 4,330 mares, and 3,901 geldings. The following shows the distribution of the horses during the nine months compared with the same period in 1888 and 1887:—

	1887.	1888.	1889.
Holland	$ 233,730	$ 250,945	$ 411,980
Belgium	386,575	377,180	383,195
France	145,160	356,910	360,510
United States	240,495	338,415	283,060
British North America	788,365	969,755	764,200
Other countries	414,655	1,031,225	1,640,475
Total	$2,138,980	$3,304,440	$3,745,420

It will be observed that the value of horses exported to the United States and Canada has decreased, while the chief gain has been in the export to other coutries, which is doubtless due to the large number of thoroughbreds taken to South America. The number of stallions exported to the United States was 524, against 508; and of mares 317, against 651. The number of stallions exported to British North America was 1,124 against 1,671; and of mares 993, against 780. There were 11,235 horses imported, against 9,276 in the same period last year, the value having been $1,102,500, against $772,640 last year. Of these 870 were stallions, 2,283 mares, and 8,082 geldings.—London Live Stock Journal.

To Be Bred in California.

The following highly-bred trotting matrons have been shipped to this State by Mr. J. E. Green, of Louisville, Ky., to be bred to Guy Wilkes. These, with the mares shipped by Messrs. Clancy & McFerran, make a large and choice Kentucky contribution to the harem of that great young sire:

Clarinda, by Nutwood, dam Beatrice (dam of Patron, 2:24½, and sister to Elvira, four-year-old record, 2:18½) by Cuyler; second dam Mary Mambrino (dam of Elvira, four-year old record, 2:18½) by Mambrino Patchen; third dam Belle Wagner by Embry's Wagner; fourth dam Lady Belle by Bellfounder Jr.; fifth dam thoroughbred.

Matilda, 2:30 at four years old and while heavy in foal, by Nutwood, dam Lualaba (dam of Roger Hanson, 2:28½, and Magic, sire of Clemmie G., 2:15½) by Berkley's Edwin Forrest; second dam by Grey Eagle.

Mystic, by Nutwood, dam Emma Arterburn (dam of St. Arnaud, 2:29¼; of Mercedes, trial 2:28; of Mercedita, trial 2:36, etc) by Mambrino Patchen; second dam Jennie Johnson (dam of Judge Owsley) by Sweet Owen; third dam Lux by Wagner; fourth dam Butterfly by Sumpter, etc.

Sunbeam, by Nutwood, dam Lucia (dam of Day Dream, four-year-old record, fifth heat, 2:21¾, dam of Lotsey, trial 2:39½ at three years; she the dam of Wyatt, record 2:27, and of Monte Vista, trial 2:31) by Hambletonian, sire of Dexter, 2:17¼; second dam Trusty (dam of Deucalion, 2:22; John Love, 2:29½, and Scotland Maid, 2:28½) by Marlborough; third dam by Henry Duroc.

Lethe, by Pancoast, 2:21¾ (sire of Patron, 2:14¼ (dam Lizzie Wilkes by George Wilkes; second dam Ladoga (sister to Mambrino King) by Mambrino Patchen; third dam by Edwin Forrest (sire of dam of So-So, 2:17¼, etc.) fourth dam (dam of Fisk's Mambrino Chief, 2:29½, sire of Mambrino Sparkle, 2:19) by Birmingham; fifth dam by Bertrand; sixth dam by Sumpter; seventh dam by imp. Buzzard.

Chantilly, by Nutwood, dam Coupon (dam of Brilliantine, trial 2:32¾ at four years; and dam of Betsy Button, quarter in :39¾, secured as a yearling); second dam Crepe Lisse (in the stud of Maj. H. C. McDowell) by George Wilkes; third dam (dam of Tarlton 2:31).

Springtime, by Nutwood, dam Anthem (sister to Chanter, 2:20½; Shallcross, trial 2:22) by Cuyler; second dam Augusta (dam of Chanter, 2:20½; Shalloross, trial 2:22) by Rysdyk's Bellfounder; third dam Dolly Mills (dam of Orange Girl, 2:20, Walkill Chief, sire of Great Eastern, 2:18; Dick Swiveller, 2:18; Ajax, trial 2:28) by Seely's American Star; fourth dam Jennie Lewis by Young Messenger; fifth dam by Diniwiddie.

Dorothea, by Harold, sire of Maud S., 2:08¾; dam Debutante (sister to Davenant, 2:29½) by Belmont, sire of Nutwood, 2:18¾; second dam Dahlia, dam of Daireen, 2:22¼, dam of Dacia, 2:29½, she the dam of Daciana, 2:27½, dam of Dalphine, she the dam of So Long, 2:27½), by Pilot Jr.; third dam Madam Dudley (dam of Dudley, four-year-old record 2:32½; dam of Sue Dudley, dam of Mambrino Dudley, 2:19½, and of Gros Jean, 2:30; dam of Belle Dudley, dam of Belford, 2.26, Dod Peet, 2:19, and of Prince Dudley, two years old, 2:29¾; dam of Dulce, dam of Greenhorn, 2:28½; dam of Tulip, dam of Ulva, 2:27: dam of Dahlia, dam of Daireen, 2:21½, dam of Dacia, 2:29½, she the dam of Daciana, 2:27½; dam of Dalphine, dam of So Long, 2:27½) by Bashaw horse; fourth dam by May Day.

Mildred, by Egotist, 2:29; dam Ray by Pilot Mambrino; second dam Sunshine (dam of Sol, three-year-old trial 2:34½), by Golddust; third dam Mollie Able by Lexington; fourth dam Nancy Perkins, by Glencoe; fifth dam Martha Washington by Sir Charles. Mildred is a yearling and has trotted a quarter in :39.

Betsy Britton by Egotist, 2:29; dam Coupon, dam of Brilliantine, four-year-old trial 2:32¾; dam of Chantilly, three-year-old trial, 2:39; dam of Betsy Button, one-year-old trial, one-quarter, :39¾; second dam Crepe Lisse (in the stud at Major H. C. McDowell's) by George Wilkes; third dam, the dam of Tarlton, 2:31.

The Standard.

[AS REVISED AND ADOPTED BY THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF TROTTING-HORSE BREEDERS, DECEMBER 14, 1887.]

IN order to define what constitutes a trotting-bred horseand to establish a BREED of trotters on a more intelligent basis, the following rules are adopted to control admission to the records of pedigrees. When an animal meets the requirements of admission and is duly registered, it shall be accepted as a standard trotting-bred animal:—

FIRST.—Any stallion that has himself a record of two minutes and thirty seconds (2:30) or better, provided any of his get has a record of 2:35 or better, or provided his sire or his dam is already a standard animal.

SECOND.—Any mare or gelding that has a record of 2:30 or better.

THIRD.—Any horse that is the sire of two animals with a record of 2:30 or better.

FOURTH.—Any horse that is the sire of one animal with a record of 2:30 or better, provided he has either of the additional qualifications: (1) A record himself of 2:35 or better. (2) Is the sire of two other animals with a record of 2:35 or better. (2) Has a sire or dam that is already a standard animal.

FIFTH.—Any mare that has produced an animal with a record of 2:30 or better.

SIXTH.—The progeny of a standsrd horse when out of a standard mare.

SEVENTH.—The female progeny of a standard horse when out of a mare by a standard horse.

EIGHTH.—The female progeny of a standard horse when out of a mare whose dam is a standard mare.

NINTH.—Any mare that has a record of 2:35 or better, and whose sire or dam is a standard animal.

Best Trotting Records.

1 mile—2:08¾, Maud S., against time, in harness, accompanied the distance by a running horse, Glenville, O., July 30, 1885.....2:13¾, best time in a race between horses, Maud S., Chicago, Ills., July 24, 1880.....2:12, Axtell, against time, accompanied by running horse—fastest stallion time, Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 11, 1889.....2:13¾, Phallas, fastest heat by a stallion against other horses, Chicago, July 14, 1884.....2:13¾, Palo Alto, third heat in race at Stockton, Cal., Sept. 26, 1889.....2:15½, Jay-Eye-See, half-mile track, Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 14, 1887.....2:15¼, Great Eastern, under saddle, third heat, Morrisania, N. Y., Sept. 22, 1877.....2:10¾, Jay-Eye-See, against time, best five-year-old record, Providence, R. I., Sept. 15, 1883.....2:16, Manzanita, third heat, best four-year-old record, Lexington, Ky., Sept. 3, 1876 .... 2:16, Edgemark, four-year-old stallion record, against time, Lexington, Ky., Oct. 18, 1889.....2:10½, Sunol, against time, accompanied by a runner, best three-year-old record, San Francisco, Nov. 9, 1889.....2:18, Sunol, 2 years, against time, San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 27, 1888.....2:20¾, Regal Wilkes, two-year-old stallion record, San Francisco, Nov. 9, 1889 .... 2:31½, Norlaine, yearling, against time, San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 12, 1887..... 2:35, Faustino, yearling stallion record, San Francisco, Nov. 9, 1889.

2 miles—4:43 against time, Fanny Witherspoon, Chicago, Ill., Sept. 25, 1885.

3 miles—7:21½, Huntress, harness, Brooklyn, L. I , Sept. 21, 1872.

4 miles—10.34½, Longfellow, wagon, California, Dec 31, 1869.

5 miles—13:00, Lady Mac, harness, San Francisco, Cal., April 2, 1874.

10 miles—27:23¾, Controller, harness, San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 23, 1878.

20 miles—58:25, Captain McGowan, harness, half-mile track, Boston, Oct. 31, 1865.

Pacing Records at One Mile.

Johnston, harness, against time, Chicago, Ills., Oct 3, 1884, 2:06¾.
Brown Hal, best stallion record, Cleveland, Ohio, July 31, 1889, 2:12½.
Westmont, July 10, 1884, Chicago, Ills., with running mate, 2:01¾.
Ed Rosewater, two years old, Council Bluffs, Iowa, Nov. 3, 1888, 2:20½.
Yolo Maid, 3 years old, San Francisco, Oct. 13, 1888, 2:14.
Gold Leaf, four years old, 2:11¼ on August 17, 1889, at Napa.
Arrow, five years old, 2:13¾, made at Cleveland, Ohio, August 1, 1888.

Fastest Time on Record.

MILES.	RUNNING.
¼	Jim Miller, 2, Deer Lodge (Mont.), Aug. 16, 1888 / †Sleepy Dick, a, Kiowa (Kan.), Nov. 24, 1888	0:21½
⅜	Cyclone, a, 120 lbs., Helena (Mont.), Aug. 28, 1889	0:34¾
½	Geraldine, 4, 122 lbs., Westchester Course, Aug. 30, 1889	0:46
⅝	Britannic, 5, 122 lbs., Westchester Course, Aug. 31, 1889	0:59
¾	Fordham, a, 115 lbs., Westchester Course, Oct. 4, 1889	0:59
⅞	El Rio Rey, 2, 126 lbs., Westchester Course, Aug. 31, 1889.	1:11
⅞	Tipstaff, 3, 107, Westchester Course, Oct. 4, 1889	1:11
⅞	Britannic, 5, 110 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 5, 1889	1:26 2-5
1	Ten Broeck, 5, 110 lbs., Louisville, May 24, 1877 (against time)	1:39¾
1	Maori 4, 105 lbs., Chicago, July 12, 1889, (in a race)	1:39 4-5
1 1-16	Wheeler T., 3, 98 lbs., St Louis, June 1, 1888	1:47¾
1 1-16	Eylton 4, 106, Chicago, Ill., June 28, 1889	1:47¾
1⅛	Terra Cotta, 4, 124 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, June 23, 1888	1:3
1 3-16	Joe Cotton, 5, 109½ lbs , Shee shead Bay, Sept. 7, 1887	2:0¾
1¼	Kingston, 5, 122 lbs., Gravesend, Sept 21, 1889	2:06½
1 m	500 yds. Ben d'Or, 4, 115 lbs., Saratoga, July 25, 1882	2:10½
1⅜	Trivoulet, 4, 117 lbs , San Francisco, April 26, 1888 / Richmond, 6, 122 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, June 27, 1888	2:21½
1½	Firenzi, 4, 113 lbs., Monmouth Park, Aug. 2, 1888 / Luke Blackburn, 3, 102 lbs , Monmouth Park, Aug. 17, '88 / Jim Guest, 4, 98 lbs., Chicago, (Washington Park, July 24 '88	2:34
1⅝	Hindoocraft, 3, 75 lbs., Westchester, Aug. 27, 1889.	2:48
1¾	Glidel a, 5, 116 lbs , Saratoga, Aug. 5, 1882	3:01
1⅞	Enigma, 4, 90 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 15, 1885	3:20
2	Ten Broeck, 5, 110 lbs , Louisville, May 29, 1877	3:27½
2⅛	Monitor, 4, 110 lbs., Baltimore, Oct. 20, 1880	3:44½
2¼	Springbok, 5, 114 lbs., / Preakness, a, 114 lbs , Saratoga. July 29, 1875.	3:56¾
2⅜	Aristides, 4, 104 lbs., Lexington, May 13, 1876	4:27½
2⅝	Ten Broeck, 4, 104 lbs , Lexington, Sept. 16, 1876	4:58½
2¾	Hubbard, 4, 107 lbs., Saratoga, Aug. 9, 1873	4: 8¾
3	Drake Carter 4 115 lbs , Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 6, 1884	5:24
4	Ten Broeck, 4, 104 lbs., Louisville, Sept. 27, 1876	7:16¾

MILES.	HEAT RACES.
¼	Sleepy Dick, a, Kiowa (Kan.), Nov. 24, 1888	0:21½—0:22¾
½	Bogus, a, 113 lbs., Helena (Mont.), Aug. 22, 1888	0:48 —0:48
⅝	Kittie Pease, 4, Dallas (Tex.), Nov. 2, 1887 / Sudie McNairy, 3, 98 lbs., Chicago, July 2, 1883	1:00 —1:00
¾	Lizzie S., 5, 118 lbs , Louisville, Sept 28, 1883	1:02¾ —1:03
1	Bounce, 4, 90 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 7, 1881	1:13¾—1:13¾
1	3 in 5. L'Argentine, 6, 115 lbs., St. Louis, June 14, 1879	1:42 —1:41½
1 1-16	Slipalong, 5, 115 lbs., Chicago (Wash. Park), Sept. 2, 1885.	1:43 —1:44 —1:47¾
1⅛	Gabriel, 4, 112 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 23, 1880	1:7 0½—1:48
1⅛	Glenmore, 5, 114 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 25, 1880	1:56 —1:56
1⅛	Keno, 6, Toledo, Sept. 16, 1880 (1st and 3d heats)	2:10 —2:14
2	Miss Woodford, 4, 107½ lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 20, 1884	2:43½—2:45
3	Norfolk, 4, 100 lbs., Sacramento, Sept. 23, 1865	3:33 —3:31¾
4	Ferida, 4, 105 lbs., Sheepshead bay, Sept. 18, 1880	5:27½—5:29¾
		7:23½—7:41

†Made in a heat race.

Grim's Gossip.

Phil Seibenthaler brought Sheridan and King Hooker to the track last Thursday.

A good looking colt by Joe Hooker, out of Atalanta by Norfolk, died last week.

Muta, two years old, (Wild Idle—Mutiny) ran six furlongs in 1:15 1-5 on Thursday morning.

Sunol wore nine ounce shoes in front and a trifle less than four ounces behind in her mile in 2:10½.

The Oakland contingent, Applause, Jessie C. and the Hazlitt stable, came across the Bay last Thursday.

H. G. Crickmore of the New York World, has been appointed secretary of the Monmouth Park Association.

The Canadian Sportsman is issuing and publishing a list of Canadian trotters that have trotted in 2:45 or better.

W. L. Appleby has six horses at the track, Mikado, Tycoon, Wild Oats, Joe Viva, Raindrop and Steve Stroud.

F. J. Baldwin says that Budd Doble will winter in Fresno. Whether he will bring Axtell or not, he does not know.

Jones had a trial of his runners on Wednesday, and decided to bring Abi down and leave the rest at Sacramento.

Daisy D was given a mile on Thursday morning, starting in front of the half mile pole. The full mile was run in 1:44.

C. Marvin will probably put seven or eight Electioneers in the 2:30 list after the Blood Horse Meeting if the weather keeps good.

Whisban was accidently omitted from the list of entries in the Ladies' Stakes run to-day. With average luck she should about win it.

Faustine, the Palo Alto three year old, is still sore, the result of an accident on the ranch, where she reared and fell over backwards.

H. D. Miller, of Montana, has purchased from the Cockrill Bros., of Soledad, the two running horses Daisy D. and Capt. Al, the price being $4,000.

The City Council of St. Louis have passed an ordinance that hereafter owners of pool rooms must pay an annual licence fee of $1,000.

One of the first congratulatory telegrams Senator Stanford received was one from Senator Hearst, who was on the track to witness the phenomenal heat.

Matt Storn has five thoroughbreds at the track, Forester, Glen Eden, Marigold, Kildare and Fannie F., all in good trim for their engagements.

Peel was worked a mile and a quarter last Thursday, starting from the quarter pole. The first mile was made in 1.43½ and the mile and a quarter in 2:10½.

Jim Garland returned from the East last week, bringing with him a car load of mares for the Rancho Del Paso Stud, including Yum Yum, Sonoma and Aurelia.

W. L. Appleby has had several inquiries as to the price of Wild Oats and White Cloud. If sold, the long-tailed Pinto will figure on the Eastern tracks next season.

Wm. Walker, the colored rider of Ten Broeck, started out in the spring as a trainer with $4,000 invested in colts. He swelled this to $75,000, which he now has in cash.

Henry Walsh has Muta, Flambeau, Rico and Racine, all two year olds, Faustine, three years old, and Peel, four years old, all at the track ready for the coming week's work.

Napa is favored. To-day, if weather and surroundings are suitable, Palo Alto and Stamboul will attempt to lower their records. Phallas, Sunol and Adonis are also on the track.

Maggie B. B., the dam of Iroquois, winner of the English Derby in 1881, died at Chestnut Hill on the 11th inst. She was the property of the Kittson estate. She was sick two days.

Quarter horse men are bad to beat. Last week one well-known short horse had his mouth blistered and burnt up. The sponges in the bucket were changed while he was warming up.

The Hough Brothers have purchased a forty acre farm near Flemington, N. J., and will winter their horses there, under Albert Cooper's care. There is a good half mile track on the place.

The Bay District track, although in exceptional order for trotting, was as hard as a rock for runners; complaints were heard on all sides, the harrow in use was worse than a good scrubbing brush.

In the summaries of the Stockton races, the Turf Field and Farm gives Lorita the credit of winning the third heat in the 2:23 class. Hazel Wilkes won both second and third heats in 2:20 and 2:20¾.

Mr. S. N. Straube of Fresno, has leased the services of the trotting stallion Junio 2:22, by Electioneer, dam by Granger, for two years, and will stand him next season at Poplar Grove Farm, near Fresno.

The Directors of the Twenty-sixth District Agricultural Association recommended A. J. Maestretti, of Ione, vice F. Frates, term expired; E. J. Gregory of Sacramento vice self, term expired; E. C. Voorhies of Sutter Creek, vice B. Isaacs, resigned, as directors for the ensuing term.

SUMMARY.

Sacramento, Nov. 4, 1889—Sacramento Yearling Stake, value $225, one-half mile and repeat

H. Casey's b f Fanny C., by Fallis	Davis	1	1
W. Gardner's b c Elsmere, by Nutwood Jr	Blue	2	2

Time, 1:43½, 1:46.

There is some talk of the Readville track being bought by a syndicate of horsemen and used as a running track. The course is one of the most easily reached in the vicinity of Boston, as several hundred trains pass within five minutes' walk of it in the day.

It is rapidly getting to be the thing to have one's thoroughbred stock catalogued in tabulated form. All breeders should do it, as it is much easier for purchasers to compare the different strains, and at the same time should prevent erroneous entries in valuable stakes.

It is very probable that Henry Walsh, the veteran turfite and practical trainer, will be seen in the East next season with the newly formed Rose stable.

The Dennison Brothers have Hotspur Mohawk (for Herzog) and Ede at the Bay District track. The boys, if they have any luck, should have their new colors in the van once or twice in the meeting.

Veto, a stallion belonging to Professor Starr, at Ben Lomond, Amador County, was killed by some malicious person who fed him ground glass, dying last week after having suffered great agony for ten days.

Senator Hearst said he would have given any reasonable price for Sunol to keep her in the State, and had he known she was for sale would have tried to keep her here for the honor and renown of the State.

Palo Alto Stock Farm have sold to L. J. Rose, the former owner of Stamboul, 14 thoroughbreds; four or five are two years olds, the rest yearlings. Eighteen thousand dollars was paid for the fourteen. Rico is the only one which has been tried.

Was it a case of 'the biter bit' or another Benzon caught, last Wednesday. At Oakland the Stover confederacy with the assistance of a six shooter and the fact that both horses were under their control, lauded five or six hundred dollars. The details are well known to most people in the city.

The runner in Sunol's great mile was driven by Hickok, who also drove in Palo Alto's trial. Marvin returned the compliment when Stamboul came out, while, when Regal Wilkes and Goldsmith appeared Tom—Hickok's understudy—judiciously handled the runner, in a manner almost surpassing his cool-headed mentor.

H. R. H. The Prince of Wales has again been unlucky with Magic, who started favorite for the grand Sefton Steeplechase at Liverpool, and only finished fourth in a field of five. The winner was an ex-Irish hunter, a son of Ben Battle, the sire of the well-known race horse Bendigo.

M. F. Tarpey, chairman of the California Board of Review of the American Trotting Association, has selected Col. H. I. Thornton and Capt. N. T. Smith as associates to listen to the testimony which will be presented in the case of Martin and Zane vs. the owners of the trotting mare Directa. The case will be heard Nov. 20th.

Roy Wilkes was jogged on the Oakland track last Monday and pleased every one by his perfect, mechanical style of going. The pacer was feeling very good, and hitting out sharply in a playful moment, removed a little skin from one hock, where it came into contact with the sulky, but luckily did no further damage.

The jockey, William Stewart, who was so severely injured last Sunday at the Oakland track is in straightened circumstances, and some of his friends are collecting money to assist him. Any of my readers who wish to assist the injured lad may send their donations to this office, and they will be acknowledged.

Maine men are proverbially sharp. After a lot of dickering a Belfast peddler told a horse jockey in that neighborhood that he would be given $15 and ten bushels of clams for a horse. The offer was accepted, and then the peddler told the jockey that he'd have to go to the flats and dig the clams himself.

Jimmy McLaughlin had sixteen horses to start one day last week at Clifton, and when they broke away the second time in violation of his orders he fined the whole crowd $25 each. Garrison, who was one of the lot, could hardly believe he was included in the list, and McLaughlin received a ringing cheer when he informed him that he was not excepted.

The executive committee of the Brooklyn Jockey Club last week determined on its racing dates for 1890. The spring meeting will begin on Thursday, May 15 (Brooklyn Handicap day), and continue up to and including Friday, May 30 (Decoration Day). The fall meeting will begin Tuesday, September 16, and continue up to and including Tuesday, September 30.

Friar's Balsam has retired from the turf, and left Porter's stable at Kingsclere early last month for Mr. Chaplin's breeding establishment at Blankney, where, in time, he will take the place of his sire, Hermit, as lord of the harem. It is now twenty-five years since Hermit was foaled, and as he cannot be expected to do duty much longer he should have a worthy successor in his four-year-old son.

Live stock auctioneers, that is, of the right sort, are hard to find, and it is with pleasure that I call the attention of Gossip readers to the advertisement of Cresswell Bros., 1628 Folsom street, who are prepared to take the very best care of stock consigned to them for sale. The firm is a reputable one, and owners may rely on being treated fairly in business done through the Cresswell Bros.

Cyclone (2:23½) has put three in the 2:30 list this season, and all are out of dams by Monroe Chief (2:18¼). Dr Sparks, two years old, by Cyclone, is undoubtedly the best two-year-old that has started in the East this season, as he has been trotting a race a week nearly since midsummer, and has beaten all opponents. His record is 2:25, one second slower than that made by the Valenzin filly of the same age, Fleet.

It is worth mentioning (says "Pavo") that before the race for the Cesarewitch, W. Goater wrote to Mr. Godfrey asking him if he would like to back Primrose Day with him, and suggesting that he should do so; but the latter excused himself on financial grounds and his sister, who acted as his amanuensis, adopted the trainer's suggestion to the extent of £1, which curiously enough, was the first bet she ever made in her life!

The parting between Mr. Cassatt and W. Hayward, his jockey, was characteristic of the model turfman. Mr. Cassatt wrote Hayward a letter in which he begged him to be assured of his esteem, commending him for the honesty, skill and attention he had shown in his (Mr. Cassatt's) service, and regretting the severance of the connection caused by his own retirement, wishing him continued success in his profession, and enclosing him a very handsome and substantial present, which he begged him to accept. The present, by the way, was one of the largest on record, and quite out of the line, as owners are not apt to make presents under such circumstances. Hayward will ride next season for Senator Hearst, who says that he is satisfied he has the best all-round man in America to wear his colors now.

Any one who owns a popular stallion has many more trials and tribulations than the ordinary person would think for. Mr. Corbitt has announced that Guy Wilkes' book is closed for 1890, yet he receives requests every day from persons who think that he ought to strain a point and favor them, but Guy has all the mares booked to him that will be taken, and positively no others will be received.

Scotch turf laws, like Scotch marriage laws, are peculiar, to say the least. At one of the Edinburgh meetings recently a man, on the complaint of a bookmaker, was turned out of the ring as a defaulter. The rejected forthwith brought an action against the body that stands for the Scotch Jockey Club, and although the Duke of Montrose and the clerk of the course appeared for the defense, the complainant was awarded £250 damages.

The position of starter at the Blood Horse meeting, which begins to-day, was not filled when we went to press. There is always a good deal of dissatisfaction engendered by the starting, and it is not entirely the starter's fault, as long as there is no certainty who will start and be retained in his position for at least a year. It is a very arduous task to obtain control of the boys. We should have a paid starter for the Blood Horse and State Fair meetings.

Last week at Clifton one of the inmates of newspaper row created quite a sensation by accepting odds of 5 to 1, made by another scribe, that the horses in the fifth race could not be placed 1, 2, 3. The party of the first part named Capulin, Mary T. and Prince Edward, the exact order of the finish, and collared the wealth. Then the party of the second part, to get square, bet the other "double or quits" Latitte against Swift, and lost that also. And yet some say that selections are all luck.

Mr. Morse of Lodi, the well known owner of Dexter Prince (son of Kentucky Prince 2470, and Lady Dexter, sister to Dexter, 2:17¼), called in to see us last Wednesday. He speaks wonderfully well of the get of his stallion; two of them, three year olds, I have seen, viz, Jaggers, who easily won the first heat at Ione in 2:31½, and had he been driven out would have trotted in 2:28, while Princess Alice, who paces, showed exceptional form against such horses as Edwin C, Ned Winslow and Frank.

The third annual spring racing and trotting meeting of the Overland Park Club, Denver, Colorado, will be held May 30th to June 7th, 1890. It will be the first great racing event of the season in the Western States, and the managers have determined to spare no pains or expense to make it one of the best and most interesting. They have concluded to largely increase the value of stakes and purses offered for running, trotting and pacing, and in the programme to be issued about January 1st, will endeavor to arrange races and classes to such stables and owners as are expected to attend the meeting. $12,000 in purses and stakes will be offered, and four or more races will be given each day.

E. H. Douglas, proprietor of Grand View Stud Farm, Franklin, has suffered a serious loss by fire, several valuable animals perishing in the flames that destroyed the barn. The animals lost are the thoroughbred brood mares Margaret D, by Buckmaster, out of Elyton's dam, in foal to Perkins; Kitty Grass, by Planeroid, dam by Inquirer; a weanling filly, by Farandole, dam Evaline by Enquirer, and Bohemian Girl; Rattler, Brook's dam, by Prince Pulaski; Ellen D, by Ten Broeck, out of the dam of Flyaway. Seven sucklings or weanlings were saved from the flames. The loss is said to be $6000.

The receipts at the Doncaster September Races, which have been issued, were higher than they have ever been before. The stand receipts amounted to £16 772, as against £12,376 in 1888; and from other sources, such as booths, temporary stands, refreshment places, &c, £2,859 compared with £2,660; the aggregate receipts being £19,601, as against £15,037, or an increase of £4,564. This increase is chiefly owing to the price for admission having been raised from a guinea to 30s, though there has been an increase in almost every department. It should be stated, however, that a triennial source of income, amounting to between £500 and £600, fell in this year, which, of course, was not in the last year's accounts.

August Belmont, the banker, has won $125,635.33 this season. It is several years since Mr. Belmont has taken so prominent a position in the list of "winning owners." His last great year was in 1876, when his stable won over $40,000 by the aid of Sultana, Fiddlestick, Bertram, Olitipa, etc. That was considered a great score, but the stables of Messrs. G. L. and Pierre Lorillard, Dywer Bros., Mr. Cassatt, etc., have long since made it look small. Mr. Belmont began racing in 1868, and Maid of Honor, an imported mare, by Newminster, was, we think, his first racer. In 1869 he had a great year, as he had in 1870, in those days he headed the list with Glenelg, Fenian, Nellie James, Telegram, Kingfisher, Finesse. In 1881 he retired, but returned to racing in 1885.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the New York Jockey Club held Nov. 1 it was decided that the Spring meeting at Morris Park for 1890 shall begin on May 30 (Memorial Day) and continue to and include June 14.

At the same meeting the terms for membership were revised as follows:

Until further notice by the Governing Committee, which will be duly published, members admitted and qualifying under the present rule are not required to pay any initiation fee. The annual dues for 1890, and thereafter will be for resident members $25, for non-resident members (over one hundred miles from New York City) $25. The initiation fee for resident members elected after publication of above notice will be $100. No initiation fee will be required of non-resident members.

A meeting of the Jerome Park Villa and Improvement Company, which is almost identical with the American Jockey Club, was held at the rooms of the American Jockey Club, No. 1 West Twenty-fifth street yesterday. The opening of the Morris or Westchester racing-course this season has proved a severe blow to the Jerome Park, and the loss on the season is estimated at between $25,000 and $30,000. It was expected that the fight with the new track would come up for discussion, but the subject was laid over for consideration at another meeting to be held before the end of the year. The following directors were elected for the ensuing year: John Hunter, William A. Duer, William R. Travers, Charles F. Bauerdorf,, George R, Fearing, F. A. Lovecraft and Theodore Moss. Mr. Moss declined a re-election to the Presidency and Mr. Duer was chosen to that position, and Mr. Lovecraft as Secretary and Treasurer. James R. Keene, John Bloodgood and D. B. Van Emburg retired from the Board.

The Royal Stud at Kisber.

How the Austro-Hungarian Army is Supplied with Fresh Horses.

The Hungarian State keeps altogether four studs, viz., Mezohegyes, with 1,646 horses of various breeds; Babolna, with 539 horses, and Fogaras, with 421, both for Arabian horses; finally Kisber, with 509 horses, principally for the importation and breed of British horses, racers as well as half breeds. The State keeps other depots of stallions at different places, having altogether 2 300 there in 1887, the latest year for which a return has been prepared.

The review at Kisber lasted over two hours. The Emperor was seated on the covered tribune of the open riding school, and all the generals and other staff officers, as well as the military attaches, were allowed to go where they liked, in order to have the closest inspection of the splendid horses and the whole establishment. The first to pass muster were thirty-five half-breed stallions, beautiful animals, all led into the circle by their trainers, as the State does not dispose of this costly material except when the horses are fully broken in.

The enthusiasm of the connoisseurs at seeing these fine creatures was somewhat premature, for soon afterward ten thoroughbred stallions were brought in, the pride of the royal stud of Kisber. There was no need of mentioning their names, as was done in the case of the half breeds, as all of the guests knew and recognized them.

Horses like Verneuil, winner of the Ascot gold cup in 1878, Craig Millar, winner of the St. Leger in 1875, Doncaster, winner of the Derby in 1873, Ruperra, winner of the great Yorkshire Stakes in 1879, Sweetbread, winner of the Goodwood Steward Cup in 1884, and Gunnersbury, are too well known by the international turf not to be recognized by the gentleman who were assembled, so that their curiosity remained concentrated on the four thoroughbreds bred of English parents in Kisber. Verneuil had not been in the arena for several years, as his temper had caused many inconveniences.

He proved so unmanageable and obstinate on the last occasion that this time it was deemed advisable to put on him a leather muzzle, from which chains were suspended on each side, and these were held by strong men. The horse consequently kept perfectly quiet, with his head on one side, and the emperor and his guests expressed their admiration at his form.

His majesty and the visitors afterward made a round of the stable, pasture places, and the rest of the breeding establishment. For each couple of mares there is an enclosure of nearly two acres of pasture land, with a stable divided into two parts in the center of it. The mares have their colts and fillies until the latter are taken away to put on a puszta and handed over to the picturesque Esikos for supervision while grazing on the vast plain.—London Standard.

Too Many Stallions.

The following very sensible advice is from a contributor to Horse and Stable. We doubt the propriety and efficacy of the remedy suggested. The hard school of experience is the only one in which some people will learn, and breeders who stint their mares to half-bred and scrub horses will discover when they have kept the produce four or five years and when after it has "eaten its head off" several times and is put on the market, that a stallion of inferior breeding is the most expensive animal a breeder can use.

"As the observing man visits our town, county and State fairs he cannot help noticing the great number of colts that are intended for the stud, and if he has had any experience in keeping stallions for service, he will agree with me in the remark which heads this article. Now I am not going to advocate the theory that a man has no right to do as he chooses with his own, but I do say that he has no right to induce those with whom he may come in contact, to be a party to his folly.

"While visiting a country fair a few weeks since I noticed a young man proudly exhibiting a yearling to a few of his friends, and as I came near him I asked his breeding. 'He is by ——, he by ——, he by Gen. Knox.' 'What is the breeding of his dam?' 'She belongs to the unknowns,' said he. 'Castrate him,' said I, 'before the weather gets too cold.' 'I would not do that for $500,' said the proud owner of the son of the unknown dam.

"Now I have no doubt that the dam of this colt was a good mare, but the very fact that her breeding could not be traced is enough in my mind to reduce the colt to a gelding. And further than that, although the owner thought his colt was perfect at every point, one glance would show an experienced horse-breeder that he was faulty in more than his breeding. Now suppose this young man has a neighbor who is well posted in regard to the breeding of the great trotting families of the country, and after looking the different breeding establishments over, selects a yearling from among them, sired, say, by Red Wilkes, dam by Almont, second dam by Hambletonian and so on, and pays $1,000 for him, brings him home, and the neighbors all came over to see him, and all pronounce him a big, homely, coarse brute, would use him no how, and when the next season comes around, not a man comes to see him, but the other fellow with the unknown serves twelve mares and turns away as many more. The next year it is the same, and the next also, till for miles around there is a mean little dung-hill of a colt in every man's barnyard, sired by the colt who had for his dam an unknown mare. And I will venture to say that there is not one in the lot that will sell for $200.

Some will say farmers will get tired of raising that kind after a while, and patronize the other stallions. Yes, after a while; but if my advice had been taken and the colt castrated at once, the country would not have been filled with worthless scrubs. Now for the remedy. I would make every owner of a stallion that stands for service pay into the county treasury $25 per year for every horse whose service fee is $15 or less, and $50 for every horse whose service fee is not more than $30 or less than $15, and $75 for every horse whose service fee is more than $30. And no stallion whose breeding could not be proven should be allowed to serve a mare at any price. Now, this may seem a little severe to some, but my experience is that it would be the best that could happen to the poor man with the colt whose breeding is not good enough to warrant him in keeping him entire. I know whereof I speak when I say that the time has passed when a poor man can make it profitable to keep a second class stallion (and this is the only kind he can keep). So by following my advice the country will be rid of a great nuisance.

G. M. Luce."

Death of Maggie B. B.

On Monday evening last week the famous broodmare Maggie B. B., by Australian, dam Madeline by Boston, died at the Erdenheim Farm. Glen Cair in the Sportsman, says she was foaled in 1867, and bred by the late John M. Clay of Ashland Park Farm, Lexington, Ky. Her success as a broodmare is well known to all turfmen, and during her sojourn in the harem, she gave birth to sixteen foals, as follows: In 1872 Lord Clive by imp. Leamington; in 1873 Pera by Leamington; in 1874 Magnum Bonum by Leamington; in 1875 Jaconet by Leamington; in 1876 Harold by Leamington; in 1878 Iroquois by Leamington; in 1879 Francisca by Leamington; in 1880 Red and Blue by Alarm; in 1881 Panique by Alarm; in 1883 Wawekus by Alarm; in 1884 Okema by Reform; in 1885 Onas by Reform; in 1886 Hutoka by Reform; in 1887 Homeopathy by Reform; in 1888 chestnut filly by Woodland, and this year a foal by Woodland.

This great matron while in the stud produced every year, with the exception of the years 1877 and 1882, and may be said to have stood alone among the notable American broodmares, for she was the only one whose progeny won the Epsom Derby.

As a race mare she was a good performer and won several stakes in her three-year-old form, but never raced afterwards, being purchased by Mr. Welch, who bred her to Leamington. Lord Clive, the produce of the union, was not a success as a racehorse, and in fact never started. Pera, her next foal, was a fair race-mare and won some good races for the Lorillard Stable Jaconet was a failure on the turf but a success in the stud, as she produced Sir Dixon and Belvidere. After Jaconet came Harold, a renowned two-year-old, who carried the colors of the late G. L. Lorillard. Then came Iroquois, winner of the Epsom Derby, the Prince of Wales Stakes and the Doncaster St. Leger, and following came the renowned Panique, who won the Withers and Belmont Stakes in 1884. Her next prominent representative on the turf was Homeopathy, who carried Mr. Morris colors this year and was a very respectable winner.

Taken altogether, her record was a hard one to beat, and the grand old mare will always be spoken of as one of the best matrons ever known to the American turf.

The Horseshoe Superstition.

The origin of the horseshoe superstition has never been satisfactorily explained. Among the theories offered, that contained in the following is among the possibilities: The horseshoe of old was held to be of special service as a security against the attacks of evil spirits. The virtue may have been assigned, perhaps, to the rule of contraries, from it being a thing incompatible with the cloven foot of the Evil One, or from the rude resemblance which the horseshoe bears to the rays of glory which in ancient pictures were made to surround the heads of saints and angels, or, finally, from some notion of its purity, acquired through passing through the fire. This latter supposition receives some countenance from the method resorted to for the cure of horses that had become vicious or afflicted with any distemper which village farriery did not understand. Such disease was invariably attributed to witchcraft, and the mode of cure seems to imply the belief that the imperfect purification by fire of the shoe which the animals wore had afforded an inlet to malevolent influences. Accordingly, the horse was led into the smithy, the door was closed and barred, the shoes were taken off and placed in the fire and the vitan or warlock was speedily under the necessity of removing the spell under which the animal suffered. Sailors are, for the most part, careful to have a horseshoe nailed to the mizzen mast or somewhere on the deck near midships for the protection of the vessel. The Chinese have their tombs built in the shape of the horseshoe, which custom is very curious, as it may be fairly regarded as a branch of the superstition long prevalent among ourselves.

The principal gateway at Allahabad is thickly studded with horseshoes of every size and make. There are hundreds of them nailed all over the great gates, doubtless the offerings of many a wayfarer who has long since finished his earthly pilgrimage. We could not find out what was the exact idea connected with this custom—probably much the same notion of luck as we attach to finding a horseshoe, especially one with the old nails still in their place. We afterward noticed that the sacred gates of Somnath are served in the Fort at Agra, are similarly adorned. It reminded us of that curious old manorial rite still kept up at Oakham, in Rutlandshire, where every peer of the realm is bound the first time he enters the town to present a horseshoe to be nailed on the old portal, which is well nigh covered with these lordly tributes. It is said that in case any contumacious peer should refuse to pay this tax, the authorities have a right to stop his carriage and levy their blackmail by unshoeing one of the horses. To avert so serious an annoyance, the tribute shoe is generally ready, some being of enormous size and inscribed with the name of the donor. Whether these Eastern horseshoes were taxes or offerings I cannot tell, but it certainly is very curious to observe how widespread is the superstitious reverence attached to this particular form.

It has been suggested, and apparently with some reason, that in ancient pagan times it may have been a recognized symbol in serpent worship, and hence may have arisen its common use as a charm against all manner of evil. The resemblance is obvious, more especially to that species of harmless snake which is rounded at both ends, so that head and tail are apparently just alike. The creature moves backward or forward at pleasure; hence the old belief that it actually had two heads and was indestructible, as even when cut into two parts it was supposed that the divided heads would seek one another and reunite. It stands to reason that in a snake-worshiping community such a creature would be held in high reverence. Even in Scotland various ancient snake-like bracelets and ornaments have been found which seem to favor this theory, and at a very early period both snakes and horse-shoes seem to have been engraven symbols on sacred stones. We hear of the latter having been sculptured, not only on the threshold of old London houses, but even on that of ancient churches in various parts of Britain. And in the present day we all know the idea of luck connected with finding one, and how constantly they are nailed upon houses, stables, and ships as a charm against witchcraft. In Scotland, all parts of England and Wales, and especially in Cornwall (where not only on vans and omnibuses, but sometimes even on the grim gates of old jails)' we may find this curious trace of ancient superstition. Whatever may have been its origin, it certainly is made of, and worn by, the most powerful ministers of civilization whose mission is, "good will to men."

The McCarty Sale.

The sale of D. McCarthy's trotters, pacers and road horses by Mr. Easton last week, attracted a goodly number of horsemen. The prices were all that could be expected, considering the season, and the fact that trials were all the horses had by way of endorsement as to speed. The horses sold and prices received were as follows.

Cæsar, b g, by Steinway, said to have shown a mile 2:20 M. F. Dakin	$2,650
Hidalgo, b g, '83, by Sultan, dam by Arthurton, said to have shown 2:17¼	2,050
Farrell, b g, '84, by Patchen	1,125
Kitty Wilkes, b m, '81, by Young Wilkes. M. F. Dakin	1,050
Roy, b g, by Electioneer. E M. Ives	825
Brown filly, '86, by Sweepstakes	725
Dolphin, blk g, '81	700
Ed, ch g, '82. J Rudd	880
Harry, br g, 8 S D Merrill	125
Jot, b g '81. J Quinn	200
Bell Briggs, br m, 7. W. Donoghue	475
B. g, 8. M. Fellman	200
Wallie, b g, '82, by Electioneer—Maggie Norfolk. R D Wilson	525
Alec, gr g, 6, by Alexander—Belle, by Whipple's Hambletonian. M Felleman	325
Gaston, ch g, '81. W A Dell	475
Consul, b g, 4, by Belnor. M Felleman	250
Dan, ch g, '89. Mr Edelmeyer	140
Garfield, b g, '81. M Felleman	450
St David, ch g, '81. D. Doherty	400
Fred and George, geldings. C Carroll	1,250

Five horses belonging to Mr. George Crawford, were also sold.

Nannie K, b m, '81, by Deucalion—Emblem. F. H. Flag	900
Buffalo Bill, b g, '82, by Vermont Messenger—Randolph Maid. F H Flag	350
Tommy, b g, yearling Mr Wood	180
Bay gelding, '82. F H Flag	240
St John, ch g, '80. Mr Wood	225

Mr. Crawford withdrew the remainder of his lot owing to the low prices and poor bidding which prevailed.

Horse Owners.

We often hear a complaint against what are called the "magnates," the "potentates," and the "swell owners" in racing on the ground that they possessed such extensive establishments, that they have so many chances compared to those of the owners of the smaller stables, as to render it impossible for the latter to make racing a success. In other words, they "corner" the rich events, leaving only the bones to owners whose means will not allow them to maintain establishments so extensive. The other day, says the N. Y. Spirit of the Times, we met a gentleman who, lamenting the growth of the numerous small race courses in the vicinity of New York and Chicago, attributed it and "winter racing" to this identical cause, and predicted that if it continued summer racing on the large race courses would be "left to the 'swells,'" and the smaller tracks would grow in consequence.

Of course we cannot coincide in this opinion. Nor do we think the Winter racing to which exception is taken has its outgrowth from any such cause. Winter racing has its growth from the fact that racing has become so attractive a medium of speculation that it has created a class of people who have become purely professional speculators. They live on racing, doing little or no other business than speculating upon it. This class demands racing all the year round, and capitalists have found profit in catering to their demands. The fact that the wealthy owners maintain large stables and win the greater share of the rich stakes at the Summer meeting would not affect the Winter meetings even if it did not exist. The Winter meetings owe their existence to the continued demand for speculation.

All experience has shown that no owner, however wealthy he may be, "can corner the market" on race horses. We are not sure that it has ever been attempted, but certainly what some people call cornering has been attempted and it has always failed. The first conspicuous incident is that furnished by the case of Col. McDaniel. In 1871-'72 the great success of his stables, with the great winnings of Harry Bassett, Joe Daniels, Tubman, etc, caused him to purchase to an extent that soon found him with a stable of over thirty—a very large one in those days. But his success did not increase in proportion. Indeed, the expenses and failures soon rendered him bankrupt. Mr. Pierre Lorillard then branched out with a great stable. He paid the highest prices and collected the choicest yearlings, but he had many failures. He about held his own and no more, although there has never been a man who was more liberal in his purchases.

In 1887 Mr. Haggin had 104 horses, mostly two-year-olds, in training. Yet the best of the lot was Fitzjames, a very moderate horse, while Mr. Green Morris, singlehanded with Sir Dixon, always held Mr. Haggin safe. Take the case of the Dwyer Bros., who, in 1888, purchased upwards of $80,000 worth of yearlings, yet not one of these yearlings showed stake winning form last season as two-year-olds, and Mr. Warnke, the old German flagman who purchased as a yearling the filly Reclare for $420, had in this filly a two-year-old which could concede 15 lbs. and a beating to any colt or filly in Dwyer Bros.' stable. Mr. Scott and Mr. Belmont had great success with their two-year-olds. Yet Mr. Winters, with only two or three in training, had one in El Rio Rey which held all Mr. Scott's or Mr. Belmont's safe. The fact of the matter is, racing is very much of the nature of a lottery.

The poorest owner in the land is as likely to own the best horse as is the richest. Greater numbers increase the percentage of chances, but only in a small degree nowadays when so enormous a number of thoroughbreds are produced. Without men of wealth on the turf racing would never attain the same importance. Racing for valuable stakes is essentially a rich man's sport, as he is alone able to meet the great expense in the shape of forfeits. Without him great stakes could not be made. But this accrues to the advantage of the poor owners should they be so fortunate, as they often are, to beat the richer ones.

Old Tom Hal is now in better shape than he has been for several years, says a Tennessee correspondent. He is sturdy. We could not help feeling veneration and love for the old horse who has given to the world such sons as Brown Jug, Brown Hal, Hal Pointer and scores of others. Though old in years he is without a blemish, and his back looks as strong as when five years of age. His muscular development surpasses any horse I have ever examined. This power he transmits uniformly, and his colts could win prizes in any ring of colts simply for their muscular development.

Mares for California.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I noticed in your issue of the 24th ult. that I offered $10,000 for Rosa Wilkes, 2:18½, by George Wilkes out of a Mambrino Patchen mare. You have been misled, for I only offered $5,000, which I consider is a very big price for an old, untried brood mare.

The report was started here by interested persons in the East, to increase the boom in brood mares. Brood mares are dear enough here, anyhow, without misrepresenting and trying to increase the value. And as my name has been used in this connection, I have simply given you the facts. Good stock are very expensive here; in fact, almost unbuyable in many instances. The sale of Axtell was the cause of every one raising the selling prices forty per cent. I have already purchased four head of good trotting mares and fillies, viz.: Four Corners, 2:20¼, by Mambrino Time, 1686, dam Laura Wynn, be by Abdallah, 15. She is in foal to Bell Boy (5350) 2:19½. A mare by Mambrino Boy (844), 2:26½; she is in foal to Simmons (2744), 2:28. A mare by Mambrino Patchen (58) out of a Strathmore (408) mare; she is in foal to Simmons. The yearling filly Carlotta Wilkes is by Charley Wilkes (3563) a son of Red Wilkes (1749), dam by Alcantara (729), 2:23. As can readily be seen, they are all from producing mares and sires. I think the Mambrino Boy mare is the best in the land. She has already produced well, while her dam is the dam of a 2:20 trotter, and has a record herself. If bred to Guy Wilkes the result should be a world beater, for it would be bred the same way as Axtell, 2:12, only with more fast records in the pedigree. At two years old, if it should be a stallion, it would take a small bank to buy him.

Yours truly,
SAM GAMBLE,

LEXINGTON, KY., Oct. 28th, 1889.

Has the Brute a Soul?

The following from the pen of the late Dr. Meynell, an eminent Catholic priest, is striking and interesting:—

"That the brutes have souls is as certain to my mind as that I have a soul myself. A man must be very dull not to see that the same arguments which prove an immaterial, immortal principle in ourselves prove the same for the brutes. Cardinal de Cusa, Cudworth, Butler, Balmes, and I dare say others, have noticed this; it is indisputable. A brute, though it is not a person, possesses those attributes of unity, individuality and identity which are at the base of personality. It is not by a mere figure of speech that I speak of a dog or cat as he or she, that I give them a name, and say that they think and feel, and love those who are kind to them. Their minds are certainly different from our own, not only in degree but in kind. I suppose Aristotle is right in saying that the difference consists in this, that the brutes only know particulars; however, I observe that my parrot uses a concrete word so as to give it a generic force, in the same way that infants do. For the rest, the mind of the brute is like our own. As they have no general notions they should be unable to reflect or make a proposition; but they have feelings, associations and affections. They are capable of improvement within their own sphere to an indefinite extent. And if anyone shall say that such qualities and endowments are accounted for without the supposition of a soul, then have I none myself. That scriptural phrase, 'The beasts that perish,' must be so explained as not to contradict the speculation of the Wise Man as to the upward or downward destination of the life of the beast when he dies, nor that affirmation of St. Paul that not only 'ourselves,' 'who have the first fruits of the spirit,' but 'every creature groaneth and is in labor * * * * waiting for the adoption of the sons of God.' To say that a brute has a soul and to say that he is immortal is to say the same thing.

"I spoke with one the other day who was averse to this notion of immortality on the part of the brutes as being an odd conceit. His own was, that God had so contrived the union of soul and body in the brute that on the death of the latter the former naturally perished; but on my reminding him that God himself could not do that which was unintelligible or contradictory, he then had recourse ta the conceit of annihilation—so often as a man crushes a beetle or a gnat, or slaughters a sheep, God takes occasion to blot out the immortal life by an act of omnipotence. Thus did he think God was employed in perpetually undoing His own work by a series of miraculous interpositions. And yet it were a less evil that the whole material universe should be destroyed throughout the immeasurable expanse of space than that a single living, thinking, loving creature should perish. I say that it is this conceit of annihilation which is the odd conceit. There is no warrant for it in nature, reason, or in Scripture; it is purely gratuitous, and equally unworthy of the Almighty and of common sense. Moreover, it must be a dreadful doctrine to hold for one who has a feeling heart, considering how many deaths men are thus answerable for through wanton sport, or anger, or heartlessness and indifference. I assure you that this view of the case saddened my sport when I was a child, for though I felt as if it were a wicked thing to do, I could not refrain from the slaughter of small perch. 'Why should you take away that life which you cannot give?' was the saying of my betters; and I was simple enough to believe them, that God had put this awful power in my hands of dealing around me that annihilation I believe, of St. Thomas Aquinas, is worse than damnation."

Experiences with Quarter-Horses.

BY JIM MILLER'S BREEDER.

"Yes, I bred Jim Miller, and he ran a quarter in 21½ seconds. I bred his sire and dam, but I've quit the business now. Jim Miller always was a racehorse from the time he was foaled, but when I tell you about his sire and dam you will know he ought to be a good one. Roan Dick was the horse that got him, and was foaled in 1876. Dick's sire was a horse called Black Nick, and his dam a Boanerges mare. The latter was a very strong, well-muscled, heavy-boned mare, showing lots of good blood, but she never produced anything fast except Dick. He was small and backward till he was two years old. At that age he took to running fast and I matched him for $35 a side against a big black mare with a good local reputation. My colt ran away from her from the start, and gave promise then of excellence, which he afterwards fulfilled. His first race impressed me so favorably that I kept right on matching him against anything and everything that came along, often never asked to see the horse that was to run against him—just put up the money and bet the other crowd to a standstill. Any distance up to six hundred and fifty yards suited him. I never got a chance to send him a longer journey, but I think he could have gone a half quite easily, which is a long way for a horse of his breeding.

Once a party came along from Quincy with a nag whose real name was Caliph, but which they called Bay Dennison, and I made them a race at six hundred yards, for $200 aside. The day of the race Dick was not at himself, high in flesh and just out of the stud, but he beat Dennison easily, never being brought to a drive. My horse was so palpably out of form that Dennison's owner thought his jockey was bought, so we made another race and I allowed the Quincy man to fence his share of the track and turn his horse loose without a rider. It was a great race, but Dick was a deadener that day, and the result was the same. I had some advantage in all Dick's races, for the track was my own and the horse was accustomed to it. Besides, I had two as good boys as ever crossed a pigskin at sixty-five to ninety pounds. I ran Dick in a great many races during a number of years; never missed a race I could get for him, never took a bluff and never got him beaten. To tell the truth, I don't think he ever was headed.

Jim Miller's dam, Amanda Miller (Mandy, we called her for short), could outrun Dick, but her temper always developed in training, so I never could depend on her. She was a big, deep-chested, long-quartered, heavy muscled mare, sired by the same horse as Dick, and out of a mare by a Printer horse that was stolen from Virginia in the war and taken to Southern Iowa. Her second dam was by a son of Bertrand. When she chose to try I think she was the fastest animal for a quarter I ever saw. Dick has gone that distance in 22 seconds, and the best day he ever saw Mandy beat him an open length, and she was fat and right off the grass at the time. She was the worst-tempered mare on earth, and I got her beaten as often as I won with her. Once I took her to Quincy, when the races were on there, thinking to match her against some of the thoroughbreds, but she ran away with my boy when he was exercising her, and came down the stretch at a pace that put a stopper on match-making. I could have got $1,000 for her that day, but I was sweet on her then, and no money could have bought her.

I stood Dick to all kinds of mares. He never got a bad colt. All his get are quarter horses, and all able to run fast.

A few years ago a gentleman came from Montana and bought Mandy, her yearling colt, and some more horses from me. In that lot I sold him a colt that I had purchased from a farmer called Roach, and, though only out of a scrub mare, that colt grew into a great horse. Mandy's youngster is Jim Miller, who holds the record 21½ seconds, and the other is Bob Wade, a horse that has run a quarter in 21¾ seconds.

Mandy was sold from Montana into Colorado, was put in training, ran a half in 48 seconds, and was sold for $1,200. I have since lost trace of her. I think I may fairly lay claim to having bred the best quarter horses in America, and, indeed, in the world.

I must tell you one story of Dick's racing, and I am done. I mated the little roan against a right good one, called Black Joe, and won easily. Joe was then taken to Keokuk, Iowa, to take part in the races there, and a friend of mine who had seen Dick's race happened to be there. The black horse won a race, and his owner accordingly spread himself on his merits. Starr asked him, casually, if his horse was ever beaten, and the reply was: "Oh, yes; he was beat once over in Illinois. A little roan horse there got the best of him."

"Was that Bob Wade's horse?"

"Yes."

"Well, he wasn't much."

"Wasn't much? Why, man, the first hundred yards of that race that little roan horse fell out; he didn't run—he fell out."—Horseman.

A Country Horse-Race.

Johnny, look at dat race-hoss! Jes' look at 'im. Say, mister, lemme ride de hoss, will ye?" cried a small specimen of colored humanity, and in less time than the telling takes half a dozen youngsters of all colors, ages and sizes were following at the heels of what might at one time have been a horse, but was now only a bag of bones completely covered with hood and blanket from his muzzle to the tip of his tail, and with a bandage on every leg. To make the illusion more complete the poor beast was led very carefully by a groom dressed in the prevailing fashion of the race-track rubber.

"There, now!" exclaimed an old horseman sitting near, whose attention had been attracted by the hullaballoo of the youngsters, "that shows you what great fools some people are about a horse rigged up as that one is. If I had an old, worthless, worn-out skate that I wanted to sell I would throw a nice, gaudy blanket over him, put a boot on each leg, and a toe-weight on each foot, and I'll bet my head it wouldn't be long before I would find a man ready to buy. Some folks think it's fixin's of this sort that make the race horse, and they are ready to buy a horse, no matter how badly crippled he may be, if it is only possible to make them believe he has been on a race track, while the sure-enough horseman wants the horse that doesn't need a boot or toe-weight.

"I never see a horse fixed up like that fellow out in the street that I don't think of the way we—a friend of mine and myself—walked into the horse sharps of Prince George's county, Maryland, some years ago.

"It was just after the National Jockey Club gave its inaugural meeting—I think about the winter of 1882. One of the stables had a horse with a wonderful turn of speed, but he couldn't go far, not more than half a mile, so of course he would not do to take among the cracks. They offered him for sale cheap; something like $200. I thought it would just be pie for me to buy him and take him through the 'bushes' the following spring. The races were short, not over half a mile, or maybe half mile heats. After a trial, in which he worked a half in 49 seconds, I closed with his owner and took him to my stable. He was anything but a beauty; his tail had never been banged, and he looked no more like a race horse than one of those poor creatures hooked to a street-car.

"Soon after I had broken him to harness I heard that some fellow at Horsehead, Maryland, had a great quarter horse and was just breaking his heart to make a match with some one. He had beaten all the horses round his part of the country, and thought he could do the same with anything that ever stood on iron. I sent a man down to investigate. He came back with the story that the horse was a good looking gray, could run a quarter in probably 24½ or 25 seconds and his owner wouldn't match for more than $100, but that the entire county would back the horse, and when the owner saw his friends betting their money he might put up more himself.

"I set to work to prepare for the trip and called in a young friend to help me. My friend had as nice a looking hunter as you ever saw; in fact, he looked more like a thoroughbred racehorse than a hunter, and I wanted him also to help us out. When the day came for the trip we got up early, went to the stable, cleaned the hunter and hitched him to the buggy; but nary a brush touched the racehorse. We wanted him to look as mean and dirty as possible. Then we put in a lot of blankets, bandages, rubbers, a bucket, sponge and scraper in the buggy and set out for Horsehead. The day was cold, and we traveled slowly, because we didn't want to reach our destination before night, and it was necessary to lead our good horse very slowly over the rough roads. About six o'clock, when we were within a mile of the village, we stopped and changed horses. The good one we smeared with dirt and put to the buggy, and the hunter we cleaned as neatly as possible, put a blanket and hood on him and bandaged his legs carefully, so that he looked like a well-cared-for racehorse. In about half an hour we reached our destination, the cross-roads store, where we were met by a curious lot of countrymen, who, in answer to our inquiries about a stable and hotel, showed us a neat barn just across the road from the store, where we could put up our horses. The hunter we fixed up in the most approved fashion, with straw up to his belly, and the other fellow we left to hustle for himself. Then we made for the store, where, during a supper of crackers and cheese, the conversation turned on horses.

"Reckon you uns got quite a peart racehorse, ain't yo'?' said one fellow.

"'Rather fair,' I answered; 'but he has been traveling some, is quite tired, and isn't in very good plight.'

"'Don't see how he kin be so very tired. Never did see fellows so particular with a hoss. From the way you rubbed him and fixed his bed, he oughter be pretty peart. Say, Mister, let's have a squint at him.'

"Taking a lantern we went over to the barn, and carefully taking the blanket off the hunter, I exposed his glossy coat to the view of the admiring crowd.

"'Mister, you uns better lay over here to-morrow an' see the fun. We air goin' to have a bully race 'twixt two horses fer $25 a corner. I don't reckon they'll let your'n in, but you moight git some sort of a race. If you don't get no other I'll just run my old saddle mare agin your buggy horse fer a $10 note.'

"'What! that fellow?' pointing to the good one. 'Why, he don't look as if he could head a steer in a lane. He ain't worth his salt except for my business. But we are not in a hurry, and as I am in for sport I'll stay, if my friend is willing.'

"Of course the friend was willing, and after putting the blanket on again we returned to the store

"After a bit more talk and a drink, the countryman said:

"'Come on, stranger, air you ready to put up your money fer that match with my mare?'

"Yes,' I answered; 'I am afraid it is throwing it away, but I will put up just for fun.'

"When the stake had been posted and the details of the match fixed, we said good-night and retired to our room. Whew! What a room it was! 'Pon my soul, I don't believe there was a whole pane of glass in any of the windows, and we were afraid we would freeze to death before morning. Suddenly, while we were thinking of some plan to shut out the cold, I heard voices under the window, and, moving over to see what was up, I heard the fellow I made the match with say to someone:

"'You see Henry, and git him to bring his hoss Jake White over to the lane to-morrow, and we will win all them fellers' money. I'll let them beat my old mare, and then I reckon they'll be kinder stuck up, an' Henry kin make a match for a hundred, an' he will have to give me $25 fer working this thing fer him. Min' now, an' do what I say.'

"I didn't say a word, only laughed a little to myself, and, after fixing the window as best I could, went to bed.

"Morning broke clear and cold. The ground was perfectly dry, and that was all I wanted. I was sure of winning some money.

"After the horses were fed and shaped up a bit we had a breakfast of bacon, eggs, hot-cake and coffee, and over our pipes talked with the store loungers as to the probabilities of the day's races; nearly all of them, in order to keep our courage up to the proper betting point, telling us we would win, sure.

"About 11 o'clock we started for the 'lane' where the races were to be run, and on our arrival found three or four hundred people waiting. This lane was five hundred and fifteen yards long, about forty feet wide, and was deep and sandy—in fact, no track could have been made better for runners. The $25 match race over, my time was at hand. After a lot of fixing and fooling I put my friend, a very good gentleman jock who weighed 135 pounds on my horse; protesting all the while because the other fellow put a little 100-pound darkey on his.

"At last the word 'go' was given, and the horses got a beautiful start. When they had gone two hundred yards the countryman's horse showed a trifle ahead and the crowd set up a terrific yell. My friend began to move and flourish his whip to make believe he was riding, when in reality he was pulling so as to win in the last few strides by a short head, if possible, and he succeeded admirably.

"Then the countryman came to me apparently very angry. 'Mister, I thought yo' said yo' hoss couldn't run. I reckon yo' didn't tell it jes' straight. Yo' got my money, but I got a hoss what kin beat yourn fer a $100 note, an' if you're any sort of a sportsman like what we raise 'bout here yo' will give me a chance to get even.'

'Of course I was very much pleased at the horse's winning, and didn't see why he should be angry. It was a fair race, and I was perfectly willing to give him satisfaction, but thought the stake was too high; if he would bet me a hundred to seventy-five I would try it again just for fun.

"He agreed, and after we put up the money I left the horse with my friend and started to walk away, but was immediately surrounded by a crowd offering to bet three to one against my horse. I took all such bets. Then they dropped to two to one, and finally to even money, until I stood to win about $2,700, when I stopped because I could get no more. I remarked that as I had just beaten one horse I didn't see why I shouldn't beat another, when some fellow, a little more friendly than the others, came up and told me very quietly it was a job and that I was running against the best horse south of Mason and Dixon's line. I pretended to be very much frightened, and asked several people if they wanted to draw their bets. But no, they were satisfied, and I of course had to be.

"When the quarter-horse Jake White came out and the blanket was removed, I must say I saw as nearly a perfect horse in appearance as ever had a brush passed over him. There were two breakaways before they got the word to an even start, from which White immediately showed in front by half a length, a position he maintained for three hundred yards, when the bay began to close on him and the tight began. Both riders rode furiously, and at the very last the bay got his head and neck in front and won in the fast time of 23¾ seconds. Maybe you think there wasn't a mad crowd there!

"I collected my money, and just as we were about to start home one fellow said:

"Good Lord! If that old buggy horse of yourn kin run as fast as that, what kin the race-horse do? I never gave him a chance to find out."—G. R. Tompkins, in Outing.

THE FARM.

Fattening Turkeys.

Turkeys need to be confined and fed all they can be made to eat, if they are to be fattened rapidly. Left to roam about they will run off flesh as fast as it can be put on. It is better to confine them in a dark place, only letting in enough light for them to see at feeding times. After twelve days or two weeks of such treatment they will be fat. If kept much longer thus their digestion gives way, possibly from lack of gravel, and they grow poor again, however heavily fed.

Pig Feeding.

The Michigan Agricultural College append to the pig-feeding experiment the following notes:

'It will be noticed that none of the pigs lost in weight during the entire test.

'The Duroc-Jerseys made the greatest gain during a single period, 75 pounds, or 5 3 pounds per day for the two. The least gain in any period was also made by the Durocs, 15 pounds, or 1.07 pounds per day.

'The greatest gain made by the Berkshires in one period was 67 pounds, or 4.7 pounds per day, and the least 25 lbs., or 1.7 per day.

'The largest gain made by the Poland-China was 59 pounds, or 4 2 lbs., per day, for one period and the least 19 pounds, or 1.3 pounds per day.

'The cross-breed's largest gain in two weeks was 51 pounds or 3.6 pounds per day, and the least was 23 pounds, or 1.6 per day.

'The greatest amount of food eaten in any one period by the Duroc-Jerseys was 327 lbs; on this they gained 59 lbs. The least amount eaten in one period was 95 lbs.; on this they gained 53 lbs.

'The greatest amount of food consumed in any one period by the Berkshires was 208 lbs.; and the least gain made was 25 lbs. On the smallest amount of food in one period, 77 lbs.; a gain of 41 lbs. were made.

'The Poland-China ate 274 lbs. in one period and gained 42 lbs. in the same time. The least food consumed in one period was 75 lbs., the gain 30 lbs.

'The largest amount of food consumed by the cross-breeds was 214 lbs. in two weeks; they gained 51 lbs, the largest gain made. The smallest amount eaten was 57 lbs., and the least gain 23 lbs., was made the same two weeks.'

Milk Test at the London Dairy Show.

The milk test at the show of the British Dairy Farmers' Association which supplies food for reflection, a writer in the Breeeders' Gazette says is by far the most important test held any place in the world, not only on account of the number of cows entered, but because of the accuracy of the methods and the high standard of attainment. Financially, I believe, the exhibition is not a great success, as it seems difficult to interest the people of the metropolis in what is chiefly important as a means of comparison and study. As a spectacular show fat stock is much more attractive to the multitude and the horse greatly excels either. But it will be an international calamity if lack of means compels the association to abandon its milk test, or make it less attractive to exhibitors or less instructive to other people.

In the test this year sixty-one cows were entered, and forty-eight were actually tested. These included Shorthorns, Jerseys, Guernseys, Red Polls, Ayrshires, and Holstein-Friesians. There are separate classes for Short-horns, Jerseys and Guernseys, with prizes for each. The others are merely awarded medals if thought worthy. All, however are tested in the same way and graded according to the same scale, so that for purposes of comparison they may all be considered in one class.

The scale employed is that in use now for several years, and which their experience seems to approve, viz : one point for each pound of milk, twenty points for each pound of butter fat, four points for each pound of other solids, and one point for each ten days since calving after the first twenty. The average yield of two days was taken as the basis of comparison, and separate analyses were made of the morning and evening milk. A novel feature was introduced this year, however, in a very heavy penalty (ten points deducted) from any cow whose milk failed to show three per cent fat. Both the premium Shorthorns suffered this loss, though in both the average of the morning and evening milk showed over three per cent. fat. But even with this large deduction there were but two other cows in the entire show that scaled up to them—a Jersey and a Red Poll.

Another change was made this year in dropping the separate class for registered Short-horns. The Short-horns which have always made the big records at this show are not eligible to registry. Heretofore they have had a separate class for these, but last year the registered cows did so poorly in the way of quality, that the committee refused to award any premiums; and now they must show with their unregistered sisters, which practically excludes them altogether, as they stand no chance of a premium. And this is only another illustration of the folly of breeding and feeding for show instead of practical use. The unregistered Short-horn, which has always made so fine a record in the milk tests at the London Dairy Show, owes all her excellence to her Shorthorn blood. She is in fact a pure bred Short-horn—the Short-horn of fifty years ago—bred for practical use, a strictly general purpose cow. But to the test.

Of the forty-eight cows tested, but four scored a hundred points or more—two Short-horns, a Red Pollard and a Jersey—three general-purpose cows, one specifically-bred dairy animal. No Guernsey, no Ayrshire, no Holstein could reach the figure, though, judging from looks alone, the reporter of the Live Stock Journal considered the Ayrshire section the best in the show. Another fact of the same sort is that the best Short-horn, and the cow making the highest score of any in the test, was unnoticed in her class, receiving at the hands of the judges not even a "commended."

If we consider butter alone, the first-prize Jersey, Baron's Progress, was the best in the show, and the best that has ever been tested, in public or in private, backed by a regular chemical analysis. In fact, as a butter cow alone she broke the record all to "smithereens." She made the highest record of any Jersey ever entered at this show. She gave the richest milk ever analyzed in England—8.55 per cent fat; and she gave the largest yield of fat ever obtained from twenty-four hours' milk of any cow. She gave in twenty-four hours, as an average of the two days, 36 lbs. of milk which by analysis contained the enormous amount of 2.94 lbs. of fat. This indicates a possible yield of over three and a half pounds of butter (3.67 lbs); and she actually did make, from one day's milk, in the special Jersey test, where the milk was run through a separator and the cream churned, three pounds five ounces of butter, without salt. The analysis in this case shows a little better than the churn (as it ought to do if the butter is "honest") and, as I have said, is the best ever made. All hail, say I, to the real queen of the butter dairy.

Counting butter-fat alone, the cows would stand as follows:

1st. Baron's Progress, Jersey, yield, 2.94 lbs. fat.
2d. Gadfly, Jersey, yield, 2 01 lbs fat.
3d. Corenet, Red Polled, yield, 1 98 lbs. fat.
4th. Molloy, Shorthorn, yield, 1 75 lbs. fat.

The Red Polled cow bred and exhibited by Garrett Taylor, and the only one in the test, shows well to the front in any view. In fact, for an all-round cow, she is almost an ideal animal, giving a large flow (48.2 lbs.) of well-balanced milk—4.16 per cent fat and 8.79 per cent of other solids.

The great Guernsey cow Flukes 2d, that made so fine a record at the Royal in June last, showing by analysis 2.25 lbs. of fat from one day's milk, was entered in the special Guernsey test at this show and made 1 lb. 13¾ oz. of butter in one day. Considering that she was in the flush of her milk in early summer, a yield of over a pound and three-quarters of butter a day in October is certainly a very fine record, and shows her to be a grand dairy cow if she does weigh over 1,200 pounds.

One more lesson which this test impresses—not new, but which often escapes notice—is that the variation in the total solids of standard milk is almost entirely in the fat. The great Jersey cow for instance, Baron's Progress, with a yield of 36 pounds of milk and total solids averaging 17.46 per cent, was only a shade above the first-prize Shorthorn in solids other than fat. The yield of other solids for the Jersey is 9.21 per cent, or 3 31 pounds per day; for the Shorthorn is 9 04 per cent, and 5 33 pounds per day. For any purpose except butter, the Shorthorn far excels and deserves her higher score—though according to the new rule (ten points off) her score is really lower—110.3 for the Shorthorn, 117 2 for the Jersey.

Feeding the Horse.

George A. Martin in his valuable little book on "The Family Horse," devotes one chapter to the all important subject of feeding the animal. In this attention is called to the fact that the horse has relatively the smallest stomach in proportion to its bulk and weight of any domestic animal. The entire anatomy and physiology of its digestive apparatus show that the food of the horse should be nutritious in quality, supplied often and in comparatively small quantities. The food, of whatever kind, must be of good quality, sound and wholesome; but beyond this no specific rules can be laid down for general application. The amount and character of the food must vary with the size and constitution of the horse, the climate and season and the amount of work required.

Oats are pre-eminently the grain for horses if only one kind of grain is fed. Oats ought to be at least three months old before they are fed. Many feeders now have their oats crushed even for young horses, to insure their being perfectly digested. Timothy hay or Alfalfa with oats may be regarded in this country as a standard feed for horses.

Corn, when fed to horses, should be combined with nitrogenous foods. When fed in the form of fine meal it ought to be mixed with several times its own bulk of cut hay or other coarse food. If fed alone, corn meal becomes impacted in the stomach and causes colic. Wheat brand is a valuable feed for horses either in form or warm mush or mixed with ground oats, corn or barley. Corn fodder, if bright and well cured, is a better feed than is generally supposed when cut up and mixed with nitrogenous material. Carrots, fed a few at a time two or three times a week, cool the system and assist digestion, as do parsnips and wurtzel.

The harder the work and the colder the weather the greater proportion of carbo-hydrates is required in the food. In the stables of one of the street rail-roads of Chicago, where thousands of horses are kept, the food consists of ground oats and corn with cut hay. The latter is damped sufficiently to make the meal adhere to it, and the whole is mixed together. In warm weather the ground feed consits of two parts of oats and one of corn, in winter there is one equal proportion each. Many advantages are gained by crushing the grain and cutting the hay and straw.

Every horse owner should keep on hand linseed meal or a quantity of flaxseed and feed it to the animal whenever he shows signs of constipation This has a large percentage of muscle forming material and exerts a soothing effect on the stomach.

Suggestions to Feeders.

Prof. Gulley, director of the Texas experiment station, has been making a series of experiments in cattle feeding, and as his deductions will apply well to a great many beef growers we publish them:—

Two things are essential in fattening animals:—

1. To keep the animal comfortable and quiet.
2. To induce him to eat the largest possible amount of nutritious food.

One is of little value without the other. To keep the cattle comfortable, shelter from rain is indispensable.

Range cattle, as a rule, will not do their best under close confinement—i. e., tying up by the head. They may be shut up in a building, but need room to move around.

Wild cattle must be handled quietly. This point we wish to emphasize, for it is entirely overlooked by too many cattlemen. A barking dog and a noisy, loud-mouthed man are two things that should not be permitted to enter a cattle feeding pen. It should be remembered that when a naturally wild steer is struck with a whip, or disturbed in any way, he stops gaining weight for a time and the food consumed is a loss.

This is not a sentiment, but a business matter of working the animal machine to its full capacity. Dehorning seems to effect a wild steer somewhat as "throwing" the horse in the Rarey method of breaking colts. Then the head remaining sensitive for some time wild steers are subdued and stand quietly together in a way that must be seen to be believed.

We are of the opinion that steers should be dehorned but a short time before shutting up to feed so that they may be fattened while their heads are somewhat tender.

Cattle should be fed twice a day at a regular time, if confined in a building, by the same persons, and strangers excluded for at least a month after the cattle are shut up. Feed what the cattle will eat, and clean out mangers and troughs once every day. Cattle dislike feed that has been picked over and breathed on.

Vary the rations occasionally to stimulate the appetite; have salt always before them, or better, if the feeder is careful, sprinkle a little salt on the feed, but care must be exercised not to give too much.

Making a Rich Manure Pile.

It is not alone nor chiefly the bulk of manures that makes them valuable. This is the most important lesson that farmers have learned by the use of commercial fertilizers, which are always in concentrated form. There is a widely prevalent feeling among farmers that they cannot afford to make or handle poor manure. It is doubtless the fact that considering only immediate results and the smaller cost of distribution, the concentrated fertilizer produces more crops for the same money than are produced by average barnyard manure made by poorly fed stock, and largely increased in bulk by grain straw used for bedding. Even when decomposed, such manure is only rotten straw, and has little fertilizing value, especially if exposed during the fermenting process to rain and drying winds. It pays to feed better, and make manure that at first is rich enough to draw out and let its decomposition take place in the soil. If manure piles were richer, there would be less left in barnyards next Spring, because the owner hadn't time to draw it out.

Notes.

Exports from Boston in one week included 1,719 live cattle and 3,837 quarters of beef.

A steer's transportation from Boston to Liverpool costs six dollars more than a steerage passenger ticket.

Poultry raising in Calitornia should be made to pay, for one day last week 7000 chickens passed Colfax en route to San Francisco from the East.

The City of Mexico Herald is advocating the exclusion of cattle imported from the United States. Mexican cattle raisers, it says, cannot compete with Americans.

The gold medal of the Paris Exposition has been awarded to Vermont for the best butter. The winner is G. S. Moulton of Green Mountain Stock Farm, West Randolph. Good for the Green Mountain State.

Experiments made at Cornell University show that milk may be heated to 130 or 135 degrees without injury to its butter-making qualities. It is worthy of note that this is the temperature which begins to destroy the active principle in rennet, which is totally destroyed at 150 degrees.

In speaking of the indifference of English breeders to the display of merino sheep at the Paris Exposition, the London Live Stock Journal says: It is curious that the foremost breed of sheep in the world should be entirely tabooed by British breeders, and that no attempt should be made to introduce it, even for crossing purposes.

S. B. Church is now near the head of the class in the chicken business. His Spangled Hamburgs and Brown Leghorns are especially fine. Last week he brought in a load of these beautiful fowls which had been selected and purchased for the Mikado of Japan, by an intelligent agent of that important personage who had been looking over the State for fancy chickens. By taking a large number Mr. Church let him have them at $32 per dozen, though there were in the lot one Brown Leghorn and several Hamburgh cocks that were worth $10 each.

The Jersey Bulletin says: "When the Jersey fails to make a record it is published, and when the other breeds make one it is published," and calls attention to the fact that at the New England Fair, held at Worcester, Mass, a Jersey cow, from 151 pounds 12 ounces of milk made 7 pounds 8½ ounces of butter. The Jersey cow Clissie Copperas, at the Wheeling (W. Va) Fair, in three days gave 71 pounds 6 ounces of milk, which made 11 pounds 5 ounces of butter, less than 7 pounds of milk to one pound of butter.

It is said that a combination of Western live stock exporters, headed by a Chicago firm, have devised a new plan to ship their cattle to Europe by utilizing the between decks of the oil-tank steamships which now cross the Atlantic Ocean with bare decks. All the tonnage has been chartered by the combination, which will first experiment as to what effect the vapor from the oil will have upon cattle. It is thought the odor from the cargo will be a benefit rather than an injury to the animals.

A prominent stock buyer says: "Large numbers of dehorned cattle have lately arrived in the stock yards of Chicago. They are invariably in good flesh, free from horn wounds or scratches; the hides were sound and the flesh not bruised. Many an honest cattle man has stood gazing at a pen of dehorned steers, and become converted then and there. The cattle are better off, there is no loss or discontent or unrest; they have nothing to do but to eat and remain quiet for the fat to accumulate. Said one of the heaviest buyers of cattle: 'I would, and do, give 15 to 20 cents per 100 pounds more for dehorned cattle than for the same description of horned, simply because I know their flesh is not bruised, and the hides are invariably sound and all right.'"

A drove, consisting of 738 turkeys, passed through Fresno last week en route for Stockton, says the Fresno Expositor. From that point they will be shipped by water to San Francisco. These turkeys were raised by several parties near Centerville in Fresno county. Seven men were in charge of the flock. It is understood that the owners of the turkeys failed to come to terms with the railroad company and took this, which they claim cheaper, method of conveyance. The fowls are the products of three small poultry ranches near Centerville, and are valued in the neighborhood of $1500. The drivers hope to make Stockton within a week if nothing serious happens their leader, a noble gobbler, which proudly walks in the front ranks, his well oiled plumage being particularly attractive.

C. W. Hammond of Crown Point, Ky., last week turned a fine blooded mare, valued at $500, and a large ox into the same inclosure. The two animals had been together several times before, but as soon as they entered the lot yesterday they rushed at each other. Two or three farm hands were present, and attempted to separate them, but narrowly escaped serious injury and failed in the endeavor. The mare kicked the ox in the side with both feet, nearly stunning him, but the latter recovered and gored the mare two or three times. Both fought with the greatest fury. The mare both kicked and bit, tearing chunks of flesh from the ox with her sharp teeth, while she, in turn was raked again and again by the ox's sharp horns. Both were covered with blood but continued the battle as desperately as ever despite all the efforts of the men to separate them. At last the ox plunged his horn entirely through the thick part of the mare's neck. The blow was fatal, but as the mare staggered, her weight broke the ox's horn short off, and she fell and died with it in her body. The ox was so badly kicked and bitten that he died in the afternoon.

THE WEEKLY

Breeder and Sportsman.

JAMES P. KERR, PROPRIETOR.

The Turf and Sporting Authority of the Pacific Coast.

Office, No. 313 Bush St.

P. O. Box 2300.

TERMS—One Year, $5; Six Months, $3; Three Months, $1.50.

STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

Money should be sent by postal order, draft or by registered letter, addressed to JAMES P. KERR, San Francisco, Cal.

Communications must be accompanied by the writer's name and address, not necessarily for publication, but as a private guarantee of good faith.

ALEX. P. WAUGH, - - - - - Editor.

Advertising Rates

Per Square (half inch)

One time	$1 00
Two times	1 75
Three times	2 40
Four times	3 00
Five times	3 50

And each subsequent insertion 50c. per square.

Should an Advertisement run without change three months or more 50c. per square, counting from the first insertion.

Advertisements running six months are entitled to 10 per cent. discount on rate of 50 cents per square each insertion.

Those running twelve months are entitled to 20 per cent. discount on rate of 50 cents per square each insertion.

To Subscribers.

The date printed on the wrapper of your paper indicates the time which your subscription is paid.

Should the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN be received by any subscriber who does not want it, write us direct to stop it. A postal card will suffice.

Special Notice to Correspondents.

Letters intended for publication should reach this office not later than Wednesday of each week, to secure a place in the issue of the following Saturday. Such letters to insure immediate attention should be addressed to the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, and not to any member of the staff.

San Francisco, Saturday, Nov. 16, 1889.

Dates Claimed.

Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association, November 16th, 19th, 21st and 23d.

State Agricultural Society—Running Meeting—April, 1890.

A Cyclone Day on Records.

Last Saturday, November 9th, at the Bay District Track, will long be reckoned by turfmen throughout the United States as the cyclone day for the smashing of past records by trotters. The list shows: Sunol, 3-year-old, 2:10½; Regal Wilkes, 2 year-old stallion, 2:20¾; Palo Alto, 7-year-old, 2:12½; Faustino, yearling stallion, 2:35, and Stamboul, 7-year-old stallion, to beat 2:14¾, finishing the mile in 2:13¾, after a single break upon a 2:12 rush. Glory enough for one day and for California bred trotters! Palo Alto and Stamboul would have reduced the time below the 2:12 of Axtell is the belief of every practiced turfman who witnessed the performance, had it not been for the one break by each. That it is in the two is a conviction that awaits only the complete accomplishment by each. It will surely come to pass. But as the record of Saturday stands, of Sunol, of Regal Wilkes, and of Faustino, it is the best yet shown to the world in trotting. Sunol, the daughter of Electioneer and Waxana, daughter of General Benton and Waxy, by Lexington, bred at Palo Alto, heads the list of 3-year-olds of the turf in her unrivalled performance. In point of speed, for any age, only Maud S, Jay Eye See, trotters, and the pacer Johnson have excelled that of Sunol. But each of these were aged at the time of record. It is confidently believed that Sunol will lower the record of Maud S—2:08¾—as a 6-year old. Of her excelling it in time there is no doubt, conditioned only that accident or death shall not occur.

Regal Wilkes has stamped himself as the very best stallion of his age ever started in a public performance, and it must be a source of much gratification to Mr. Corbitt, his owner, that Guy Wilkes is transmitting such great speed to his produce. That he is the best son of George Wilkes, no one questions, and he is so recognized in the East as the many mares already sent to San Mateo Stock Farm testifies to.

The performance of Faustino on Saturday is another famous victory for California bred trotters. This yearling stallion has plucked the blue ribbon from the Kentucky champion stallion colt Von Wilkes, and is master of his class. The three clear record-breaking events transfer from the East to California the wreath of complete victory, and contributes to the belief that to this State will come the pride and glory of the breeding of the two minute trotter.

In the fresh light of these great results of last Saturday the theory of Randolph Huntington, of Rochester, New York, that the Hambletonians or Abdallahs, have no speed value, cannot be sustained or intelligently defended. Futhermore, the four performances are in demonstration of Senator Stanford's conviction that the infusion of thoroughbred blood is a prime essential to the trotter. The noted breeding farms of California, furnish almost infrangible testimony to the soundness of this condition, and removes the theory to replace it with assured principle. The Abdallah and cognate blood, as it is manifesting itself in the Hambletonians and other choice strains of speediest and most valued trotters, cannot be belittled by the dogmas of theorists, or overborne by hobby-riders "Blood will tell," and the testimonies derived from the best breeding farms in the whole land, by the most successful breeders, is in ample attestation of this sound old rule.

It can now be fairly claimed that California leads the world in trotters, and the country in runners. Axtell is no longer the king of the three-year-olds. Only a brief time will be required to witness the lowering of the record of Maud S. by a California bred trotter. The coming cyclone day will be to the proof.

The Futurity Stake.

"Taking time by the forelock" is what many of the breeders of California are doing. A deep interest is manifested on all hands in the success of the $3,000 (guaranteed) Futurity Stake for trotting foals of 1890, and already several of those interested have sent in their entries so that the matter may not be forgotten at the last moment. This is bound to be one of the most valuable stakes ever instituted for trotters in the State, as most cordial support is warranted from scores of the largest breeders both in and out of California. Entry blanks have been forwarded to a large number of horse owners, but some may have been overlooked in the hurry, if those who have not received them will make application to this office, blanks will be forwarded immediately. Entries close on or before January 1, 1890.

The Blood Horse Association.

The regular fall meeting of the P. C. B. H. A, commences to-day at the Bay District Track, and from the entry list that has been published, the assurance is warranted that it will be one of the most successful that this old time organization has ever held.

The stables at the track are already filled with horses that have at least a State reputation and some of them are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The purses and stakes are large and the over night and extra events will have liberal sums allowed them. The association has always had a generous and hearty support not only from the San Francisco public, but the week is taken advantage of by many from the interior, who delight in the sport of the turf. The weather promises to be all that could be desired and there seems to be nothing to prevent a very successful four days' racing.

The Friendly Stakes.

Secretary Lawrence of the Coney Island Jockey Club, and Secretary Brewster of the Washington Park Club, Chicago, are models for the officials of other associations to copy after. There is not a season but one or the other puts some sensational event before the turf loving public and now they have put their heads together and announce in this issue that during the season of 1890 the Friendly Stakes will be run at the summer meeting of the Chicago Club and at the fall meeting of the Coney Island Jockey Club. The conditions of the race are as follows, the entries to close on December 2nd:

The Friendly Stake—A sweepstake for two-year-olds (foals of 1888), to be run at the summer meeting of 1890 of the Washington Park Club, Chicago, and at the autumn meeting of 1890 of the Coney Island Jockey Club, at Sheepshead Bay, L. I.; entrance $50 each, half forfeit; $3,000 to be added by each association. Should the same horse win in both races, $1,000 additional in plate or money will be given, halt by each association. Horses entered at either place incur liability for one forfeit only, and are entitled to start at either or both places; those starting for the Friendly Stake at Washington Park are entitled to start for the Friendly Stake of the Coney Island Jockey Club without incurring liability for starting fees at the latter place.

Conditions of the Friendly Stake to be run at Washington Park—Colts to carry 118 pounds: fillies and geldings 115 lbs; a winner of any two-year-old stake race at Washington Park of the value of $2,500 to carry five pounds additional; maidens never having run second for a race of the value of $3,000 allowed seven pounds; the winner to receive half of the joint subscriptions and $2 000 of the added money, the second $750, and the third $250 of the added money. Five furlongs.

Conditions of the Friendly Stake to be run at Sheepshead Bay—Colts to carry 118 pounds, fillies and geldings 115 pounds; the winner to receive half of the joint subscriptions and $2,000 of the added money; the second $750 and the third $250 of the added money; winners of a race of the value of $10,000, or of two races of the value of $5,000 each, to carry ten pounds extra; or of one race of the value of $5,000, or of two of the value of $3,000 each, five pounds extra; non winners of $1,000 allowed eight pounds. Futurity course, about three-quarters of a mile.

As the entrance and forfeit money will all go into one pot, it will not be practicable to pay over the same until October 1, 1890. The added money by each association will be paid immediately after each race.

The Sale of Sunol.

Last Tuesday morning the horse world of California was surprised at learning that Senator Stanford had disposed of his inimitable filly, Sunol, 2:10½, to Robert Bonner of New York. It seemed almost impossible to believe the statement, but the rumor had gained currency on Monday evening, and there were many who refused to credit it, even offering to bet that the owner would not sell his fastest horse. Senator Stanford was interviewed in reference to the matter, and he acknowledged that the sale had been consummated; ever since Sunol made her memorable two year-old record of 2:18 the great newspaper trotting-horse king of New York has had his eye on the filly, as she is bred on the lines that suit Mr. Bonner, and from which he believes the future trotting king or queen will be produced. In an interview with Mr. Stanford that gentleman stated that every horse on the ranch is for sale with the exception of Electioneer, Palo Alto, and one or two other stallions. The Palo Alto Stock Farm was not started as a fad, but as the outcome of a long preconceived opinion that it was from the thoroughbred that the trotter of the future must come, Mares have been bred with that object in view, and for the purpose of making a profit out of the investment. For several years Palo Alto has been the objective point of many a traveller who has visited the Pacific Coast, all anxious to secure a colt from the justly celebrated farm.

Senator Stanford said the prices may seem high to those who visit the farm, "but whenever I place a stated amount on an animal, it is with the conviction that the horse is worth the money asked and if the would be purchasers de not like the price it cannot be helped." No matter who may own the filly Palo Alto Stock Farm will always have the credit of having bred the fastest three-year-old in the world, at least up to the present time, and that of itself is a fact to be justly proud of. If all things are favorable Sunol will be started at Napa to-day to beat her record. There are at present there, Palo Alto 2:12½, Phallas 2:13¾, Stamboul 2:13¾ and Sunol 2:10½, and at least three of them will start to-day if the track is in good condition and the day be suitable. No matter what time Sunol may make, she will be kept in charge by Senator Stanford until the fall of next year so that there is a strong possibility that the great trotting queen may be seen on the Californian tracks next season. Senator Stanford feels confident that she will be able to trot in 2:04 in time, and in all probability she may make a much lower mark than she has already before leaving for her future home.

Robert Bonner's Horses.

In the Examiner of Friday morning there appeared the following article from the pen of Mr. Bonner. As we go to press at an early hour Friday morning, there is no chance to reply to his letter and bring out all the facts to show that he is wrong, but will do so next week:—

NEW YORK, November 11th.

Robert Bonner has sent to the World, over his signature, the following interesting letter:—

As your reporter called at my residence last evening to see if there was anything new in the horse world, it has occured to me to give you something over my own signature. I have just read in the California BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN a not over-courteous article, in which the editor says: "Who has ever heard of a horse training after Mr. Bonner purchased him?" and then suggests that a beginning be made at my farm for information in that line. Perhaps it may interest the public if I begin at my farm to state that I have bred or raised a yearling—the only yearling I ever had in harness—that trotted a quarter in 44 seconds; a two year old that trotted at a 2:31 gait; a three year old that trotted at a 2:16 gait; a four year old that trotted at a 2:16 gait; a four year old that trotted a full mile in 2:22¾, and an aged horse (Majolica) that has a public record of 2:15. Besides these I have raised a number of horses that have trotted in the neighborhood of 2:30. But as the editor of the CALIFORNIA BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN wants to know about those that have "trained on" since they came into my possession, I will try to gratify him.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF MAUD S.

In the first place I will give him a shining example. When Maud S. came into my possession she was lame in her off hind leg. She had been lame in it so long that Bair, her old trainer, said: "No veterinary surgeon can stop that lameness." After she was shod under my directions I trained her that year to beat her record. She trotted in 2:09¼. She trained on the following year not merely to beat the world, but to beat herself, by trotting in 2:08¾.

Rarus came into my possession with a record of 2:13¼. Afterward I timed him in 2:11¼.

Edwin Forrest, just before I bought him, trotted in 2:14½ in an exhibition mile at Hartford. Since I owned him he has trotted in 2:11¾.

Music, when I bought her, had a record of 2:21¼. She trotted for me in 2:18¾.

May Aird had a record of 2:21. Since I have owned her she has trotted in 2:18¾.

Keen Jim had a record of 2:19, but after I bought him I timed him in 2:14½.

Molsey had a record of 2:21¾. She reduced her time to 2:18¼.

John Taylor had a record of 2:25, and he trotted for me in 2:19¾.

Wellesley Boy, with a record of 2:26, reduced it to 2:19¼.

Pocahontas, for whom I gave more than for any other horse ever purchased, except Maud S. and Sunol, had a record of 2:36 when I bought her. I have timed her since in 2:16¾.

STARTLE'S FEAT.

Startle, for whom I paid $20,000 when he was three years old, had a record of 2:36. He "trained on" with only my road driving to trot publicly at an advertised trial, as a five-year-old, in 2:19¾ without having been even one night out of my city stable. He was the first horse to turn the Fleetwood track in 2:19.

Maud Macy had a record of 2:27¾ when I bought her. She was the first horse to trot in 2:17 on the exercising track on my farm. She has since trotted in 2:16¾.

Manetta, when I bought her, had trotted in 2:42 for Mr. Alexander of Kentucky. John Murphy afterwards drove her in 2:16¼ on my track.

Lucy Cuyler had trotted for Colonel West of Kentucky in 2:29 when I bought her. Subsequently she was timed in 2:15½ to wagon on my track, half a mile, to a top wagon, in 1:05, the fastest time ever made in that way of going.

WHAT PEERLESS DID.

I could give many instances of horses training while in my possession, but I will content myself with one more.

In 1860 I bought from Mr. Johnson, the Baltimore banker, the well-known mare Peerless. At that time she trotted a mile in 2:28 to wagon, and was being trained by the great driver, Hiram Woodruff. I took her home and drove her on the road for about two years, when I sent her back to Mr. Woodruff to train. One day he told the well-known Wall street broker, William Parks, and myself that he could drive her to beat the best time that had ever been made by any horse to wagon. He named the following Saturday.

On that day Mr. Parks and two other gentlemen went into the judges' stand and timed her a mile to wagon in 2:23½, which, by the way, was the fastest mile Hiram Woodruff was ever timed in his life, either in public or private, behind a trotting horse.

I hope I have now satisfied the editor of the California BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN that I own and have owned horses that have "trained on." ROBERT BONNER.

Changing the Rules.

The American Turf Congress has been in session this week in Chicago, and have made changes in the rules, as follows:

Rule 4 was changed so that the conditions referring to maidens shall mean maidens at the time of entry unless otherwise specified. Rule 10 was changed to read that where no entrance fee is required the declaration must be accompanied by 5 per cent. of the first money. Rule 21, relating to change of name, was changed so that no association shall receive an entry of or allow a horse whose name has been changed anywhere to run over its course. Rule 48 was changed so that the owner or trainer must consent to the declaration of the jockey to carry legal overweight.

Rule 5 now reads: "Every horse whose jockey has weighed out and whose number has been put up is a starter, and is liable for the whole stake. If a horse is excused after he is weighed out all book bets on the race are void, and additional time before the race shall be granted by the judges. In auctions or Paris mutuals bets stand, but money bet on an excused horse shall be refunded."

In rule 92, section A, relating to Stake penalties, and section C, "beaten and maiden allowances" was stricken out.

Rule 129 was amended so that jockeys, grooms and stable boys found on the betting grounds may be fined as well as suspended or ruled off.

Rule 140 was stricken out and a new rule adopted in its place reading: "If an ineligible horse be entered for the purpose of betting against him, and he finishes first, or if he be entered for the purpose of having him disqualified by objections made after the race, all bets shall be declared off."

Inflammation of the Bowels.

Symptoms of the Trouble with Horses and a Remedy.

When the colic pains, at first intermittent, become longer in duration or constant, when the horse grows weaker or flinches from external pressure of the body, and the feet and ears grow cold, inflammation of the bowels has commenced, and you have a long, dangerous and very painful case before you. Pay great attention to the pack as your sheet anchor of hope here. Increase the injections, and remove any hard accumulations within reach with a well-oiled hand and arm. Get the legs well rubbed by hand and loosely bandaged with flannel. Life or death here is just a question of whether you can or cannot keep enough blood at the surface and extremities. After the accumulations have been removed and the rectum washed out with abundance of warm water or soap and water, inject a quart of warm thin gruel, made either from oatmeal or from coarse sharps, and repeat the injection every hour.

Get the horse to drink as much water as possible, in any shape that he can be got to take most of it. Very thin gruel would suit him best, but if he will not drink that, give him slightly warmed water. If he will not drink that, give him cold water in small quantities at a time, but as often as he can be got to take it. If he will not drink pretty freely and often in any shape, pour very thin gruel down his throat, as water he must have, and without it he cannot recover.

Food at this stage is of very little consequence. The horse must not have much, and had better have none than take any unsuitable. The best food will be a very little withered grass, free from buttercups or other injurious weeds. If this cannot be got, carrots, swedes, and a very little sweet hay may be given. Very coarse, clean bran may be given, wetted with warm water, and mixed with a little chaff. Not a grain of any kind of corn must be given, nor must the horse be drenched with starch and fine flour, so commonly recommended and so fatally administered.

No medicine of any kind is admissible here. The most rash drug dealers would hardly venture to pour their medicines down the throat of an animal in this state. Even Youatt breaks loose from the drug school here, and ventures to follow the severe lessons of his own experience. He says "The human practioner gives, under this disease, and with advantage (?) very powerful doses of purgative medicine, and he may be disposed to demur to the cautious mode of proceeding we recommend with regard to the horse. Although we may not be able to give him a satisfactory theoretical reason, in defense of our treatment, we can appeal to the experience of every veterinary surgeon, that a strong dose of physic given in inflammation of the bowels would be certain poison." Dr. Dadd says: "Super purgation, induced by active cathartics, would be equivalent to a sentence of death."

Communication.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—Mr. Hicks, in his letter to you, has written a delightful article on his favorite theme, pacing blood, as the basis on which to build to get a trotter. Certain, it is no harness horse shows the lithe form for great speed to compare with a pacer. As a rule, all pacers are low in the withers and high in the rump; they have the form of the deer, the hare and the greyhound. Quoting from Mazeppa: "The speed of thought was in his limbs." So I thought when I carefully scrutinized a picture of the great pacer, Johnston.

My friend, Mr. Jas. Learned, of Stockton, years ago, annunciated the fact that no harness horse carried a gait so low to the ground and so persistently (without a break) as a pacer. Princess never got such a colt as Magdallah from Mr. Learned's pacing mare by Napa Rattler. Alexander never got a faster trotter than Reliance from the same dam, unless Alexander Button, and he is out of a mare by the same sire as the Learned mare, as Lady Button was by Napa Rattler.

Pacers as a rule, run back in a few generations to the thoroughbred, hence their high form and want of knee action. Consequently, toe weights have become a necessity to give them the necessary bend to the knee.

My idea, coming from a cow county, it may not, from a horsman's standpoint, be valuable, is, that at Pleasanton there are two great stallions whose produce ought to be mated together. That is, breed Director or Direct to mares by Sidney out of Flaxtail dams. By such a cross you have on the dam's side high form and great speed. On the sire's side you have a faultless trotting gait thoroughly defined, coupled with great muscular development and bull dog courage. Mr. Salisbury tells me that Gold Leaf's brother is the fastest colt or horse that he ever rode behind.

The sire, I think, controls, as a rule, the gait. To the mother should be attributed more the disposition, constitution and size. If my premises are true, how necessary it is in the stallion to have the frictionless gait. It is a sine qua non, is the stepping stone to all things desired. That is why, to my mind, Electioneer, Guy Wilkes and Dictator (brother to Dexter) excel Nutwood as sires of trotters. These three are the greatest living stallions as breeders of a large number of trotters to be found, and only simply because their gait at the trot is so thoroughly defined that it controls all mixed gaits in the dams where high form to carry speed is bred to. No toe weights, no hobbles, no artificial appliances to make the pace trot. These things are permissable in the dam if she does trot and has the racing form and ancestry.

P. J. SHAFTER.

OLEMA, Nov. 5th, 1889.

Facts vs. Opinions.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—With due deference to those whose observations and opinions differ from my own, I wish courteously to reply to some statements made by "Fallstown," and copied in the BREEDER of Nov. 2d, intended as arguments against the admission of the pacer to standard rank. As I do not propose discussing the question of his admission at the present time, I will ask but brief space to notice the unsupportable assertion of the writer, who has probably mistaken his own prejudice for a general sentiment.

He says: "The fact still remains that not one of the great trotting horse breeders of the country will now buy a pacing stallion or brood mare on their blood or speed."

So much the worse for the "big breeders." But is it true? When Dr. Herr advertises to breed his high-priced stallions to pacing mares "on shares," and makes no such offer for trotting mares, and when Mr. Broadhead, Mr. Alexander's Superintendent, boasts that he was "loyal" to Pilot pacing blood when the great breeders held it as trash, and can now proudly point to Maud S, Jay Eye See, Nutwood, and others in justification of his judgment, it is quite possible that Fallstown has not canvassed the breeding sentiment of late, and that he is himself behind the advanced thought of the age. He further says: "Had St. Bel's dam or sire been a pacer, his book at $500, instead of filling in five days would not have filled in five years." This would seem like a reflection upon the intelligence and courage of breeders, for of course the gentleman knows that St. Bel has two pacing courses on his sire's side and four on his dam's. What if they are remote? Their potency in giving speed is no more lost by their remoteness than is the potency of his trotting lines, which are supposed to increase and intensify with each generation. I can see but one difference. When the pacing crosses are remote and covered up with fashionable "top crosses," the timid breeder who never trusts his own judgment until it is endorsed by men who think for themselves, can get the benefit of this speed-giving element without the fear of ridicule from his slow-going friends.

Again he says: "The argument that has been advanced against 'running foolishness' in the trotter will be effectively used against the pacing folly."

The writer seems to have mistaken this for a "boomerang." Let us see if there is any "flyback" to it.

Thoroughbreds bred to thoroughbreds do not get fast trotters. They have no speed at the "intermediate gait" and cannot transmit what they do not possess.

Pacers bred to pacers do get fast trotters and a multitude of them. They have speed at the 'intermediate gait," and can and do transmit it with a certainty that is marvelous, whether the gait be lateral or diagonal, and whether mated with pacer, trotter, or even, in a few instances, with a runner.

Having thus briefly answered the few points attempted to be made against the admission of the pacer to standard rank I will not occupy your valuable space further except to call attention to two breeders whom your readers all know, and who would not be called small breeders in any country.

Count Valensin, from a pacing stallion and out of a mare pacing bred on both sides, has bred Fleet, 2-year-old trotting record 2:24, the fastest, I think, of the year for a two-year-old. If not the fastest, I am confident that any of the great exclusives would be proud to breed as good an one.

Wm. Corbit, from a pacing mare, has bred Lillian Wilkes, 3-year-old trotting record 2:17¾, the fastest and stoutest of the get of Guy Wilkes.

Facts and records are stubborn things. Respectfully,

M. W. HICKS.

Answers to Correspondents.

Answers for this department MUST be accompanied by the name and address of the sender, not necessarily for publication, but as proof of good faith. Write the questions distinctly, and on one side of the paper only. Positively no questions will be answered by mail or telegraph.

F. H. G.

Please let me know the pedigree of Abdul and Paddy McGee.

Answer.—Abdul, by The Grand Moor, dam The Holcomb mare, 2nd dam a Morgan mare.

Paddy McGee, by Gen Taylor dam Peggy McGee.

Los Angeles.

Will you please let me know the pedigree of King David, formerly owned by B. P. Hill.

Answer—King David, by imp. Kyrle Daly, dam Trophy by imp. Great Tom, 2nd dam Bonnie Mead by imp. Bonnie Scotland, 3d dam Tallulah by Planet, 4th dam Mazurka by Lexington, 5th dam Miss Morgan by Imp. Yorkshire, etc.

J. W. D.

Will you kindly answer the following? (1) Is Anteeo by Electioneer, first dam Columbine, in this State at present? (2) If so, who is his owner? (3) Are there any of his get in the 2:30 list? If so, please name some of them.

Answer.—Anteeo is now owned by S. A. Brown and Mrs. Bissell of Kalamazoo, Mich., and is now in Chicago. Redwood, 2:24¼, and Alfred G, 2:23, are both by Anteeo.

Subsciber.

I would like to ascertain the fastest heat Tilton Almont ever made by trial or in a race and if he is recorded.

Answer—Tilton Almont's best time in a race is 2:26. We do not know his fastest trial. If you want to ascertain whether he is registered or not, his number is 1583 in the American Trotting Register.

San Jose.

Can you give me any information that will lead me to the identity of a stallion that died at San Louis Obispo County two or three years ago, the property of John Bolton, Esq. He was represented to have been bred by the late Mr. Whipple, sold at auction sale when his (Whipple) estate was settled and purchased by Miller & Lux (Gilroy), who sold him to Mr. Bolton. The breeding given is as follows: Sired by Speculation (son of Hambletonian 10, dam Martha Washington, dam of Hambletonian 725, etc.); first dam by Lancaster, son of Williamson's Belmont. Should you succeed in furnishing above information and further breeding of the Lancaster mare, you will confer a favor on a constant reader of you paper.

Answer.—The only information we can give you is as follows, which Mr. Chase, of the firm of Killip & Co., kindly furnishes: The horse you speak of was sold by Killip & Co. to Miller & Lux at the great sale of S. B. Whipple, June 11, 1873. His breeding was as follows: Chestnut colt, two years, star in forehead, hind legs and near fore leg white; by Speculation 928 (son of Hambletonian 725 and Martha Washington by Burr's Washington 332), dam Old Luce, known as the Morrow or Lancaster mare. Nothing is known regarding the breeding of the mare.

Importation of Thoroughbred Horses.

Mr. A. W. Whitehouse, of Oxford Horse Ranch, Leab, Wyoming, has imported the following thoroughbred horses from England, and will use them for breeding purposes at his horse ranch in Wyoming. Fireball, chestnut horse, foaled in 1881, bred by Mr. Hume Webster, by Thunderbolt, dam Ninna, by Buccaneer; second dam Infanta, by Orlando; third dam Mamie, by Jerry, out of Fanchon, by Lapdog, &c. Dutch Skipper, brown horse, foaled 1883, bred by Lord Rosebery, by Dutch Skater, dam Schirene, by Macaroni; second dam Corisande, by King Tom; third dam Maybloom, by Newminister, out of Lady Hawthorn, sister to Thormanby, by Windhound. Brooklet, brown mare, foaled 1883, bred by Mr. S. Beard, by Moorlands, dam Franboise, by Cobnut; second dam Fragola, by Gladiator, out of Fretillon, by Silvio, covered by Fireball. Little Minx, brown mare, foaled 1883, dam Pompano, by Nutbourne; second dam The Fawn, by Venison, out of Cecilia, by Comus, &c., covered by Edward the Confessor, son of Hermit. Musk Plant, gray mare, foaled 1882, bred by Mr. E. Armstrong, by Ambergris, dam Princess Louise, by Strathconan; second dam Charmione, by Orlando, out of Vivandiere by Voltaire. Cocotte, chestnut filly, foaled 1886, bred by Mr. T. Lant, by Galliard, dam Elegance, by Ely; second dam Nemesis, by Newminister out of Varsoviana, by Ion, &c.

Cruelty to Horses.

The horse will be abused as long as he is in the power of human beings who have not learned that the ill-treatment of any dumb or helpless creature places them far lower in the scale of conscious existence than the object of their brutality. He will be abused as long as men are too stolid to heed his sufferings or too thoughtless to perceive it. He will be abused as long as men believe that they know more about him than the Power that created him. The mouth of a colt is as sensitive as a child's. That will never do, so in the process of breaking, a term which ought to be as inappropriate as in a child, it is frequently torn and bruised with rough bits until when it finally heals, a strong man can pull on it with all his might. If it had been left normally sensitive, the animal could have been guided by the turn of a finger. His eyes can be covered by pieces of leather, and a lock of his mane can be pulled forward under the forehead strap so that it will fall into his eyes and irritate them. The tail, his defense against the annoyance of insects, can be strung or docked—although, as we are happy to mention, these offenses are now punishable in several of our States by fine or imprisonment. The head affords another opportunity to readjust creation. It is still the opinion of many that its natural position is one of those mistakes of a stupid unknown first cause, which man, with his superior judgment, ought to rectify; so it is strapped high in the air, and the restless movements and foaming mouth occasioned thereby are supposed to indicate the suffering creature's unconquerable mettle. Even if it is not raised to the point of torture, but merely to that of discomfort, what object can be more discordant to the eye of the human and humane being who admires the natural form of a horse than to see his nose poked out stiffly and his whole pose suggesting jaded patience and disgust? No wonder, poor fellow!—he knows in his dumb way how little his driver knows, but he would probably be pounded or jerked if he showed any resentment, so he does what few men would do if they were compelled to work with their heads tied back—suffer in silence.—Horse World.

THE KENNEL.

Dog owners are requested to send for publication the earliest possible notices of whelps, sales, names claimed, presentations and deaths in their kennels, in all instances writing plainly names of sire and dam and of grandparents, colors, dates and breed.

American Coursing Club—Fourth Annual Meeting.

The American Coursing Club at last seems in a way to attain the object for which it was founded, the popularizing of the sport in the county east of the Rocky Mountains. The fourth annual meeting, held at Great Bend, Kan., on October 24, 25, 26, 28 and 29th, was run off to rule, was well attended, and in most respects successful. From the excellent report made for the American Field, we take such portions as serve our purpose:

The weather was very favorable, none of it was disagreeable and most of it was delightfully pleasant. The dates were set at a very fortunate time, for it had rained steadily after the people had returned to town after the final course was finished. As a consequence of the prolonged rains the bottoms were heavy on the first day, making the riding somewhat unpleasant. Rabbits at first were not plentiful, they having sought the higher and drier grounds in the adjacent hills. After the first day, however, they were found in sufficient numbers.

Admirable progress has been made in improving the greyhounds in every respect—in breeding, fleetness, type and condition. At the first meeting many of the hounds ran cunning habitually; they were more irregular in type, and some were not in good condition; at the meeting just closed there were only two or three mild instances of a departure from true running. There was also a palpable superiority in the quality of the running, exhibited in the greater uniformity in fleetness and endurance. Many of the courses were very closely contested, thus affording intensely interesting sport to the spectators, besides demonstrating that there were a commoner knowledge of proper conditioning and evenness in general improvement. That this improvement is largely due to the superiority of the imported blood, there is hardly room for doubt; and there is no doubt whatever in the matter if the records of this meeting are accepted as the criteria. Out of thirty-two dogs entered in the American Field Cup Stake, eight were imported, namely, Lord Neversettle, Trales, White Lips, Verdure Clad, Lady Graham Glendyne, Little Lady Glendyne, Dick's Darling and Babazoun. As will be seen in the list of the winners, the imported blood is in the front, and every dog ran up well in the competition.

Trales, Lady Graham Glendyne and Little Lady Glendyne were selections of Dr. G. Irwin Royce, well known as an enthusiastic coursing man, to whose energetic individual efforts the American Coursing Club owes its organization.

Trales is a well-made dog, weighs about sixty pounds, is very fleet and has fine control of his action in his turns, thus being able to stay very close to the rabbit. Unless a dog can turn very short and quick, he has but a slight chance of winning a course, for, to go wide at the turns allows a smart competitor to repeatedly cut in ahead and score, besides giving the dog which runs wide a vast deal more work in again running up to the rabbit. White Lips distinguished herself last year as the runner-up in the American Field Cup Stake, and repeated the same performance this year. She is a wonderfully good bitch, very speedy, and can keep closer to a rabbit's tail in its sharpest and quickest turns than any other greyhound at the meeting. It was surmised by several people that, while she had the speed, she did not have the necessary endurance for long courses. By some of the longest, hardest running, her stamina and endurance were placed beyond question. Her race with Babazoun, a magnificent dog himself, was one of the longest and most closely contested courses of the meeting, being estimated at from four to five miles, the dogs being but a few lengths apart at any time. Shortly afterward she was put in the slips with Trales to run the final course and ran magnificently; although outworked in the first part of the course, she kept improving, working with great speed and pluck, and scoring well toward the finish. It is difficult to predict which would have been the winner had not the rabbit gone to earth. The rabbit was subsequently dug out of the ground and presented by Mr. D. N. Heizer to the National Coursing Association, which will keep it, on their preserve, to live in undisturbed peace during the remainder of its life.

Lord Neversettle showed himself to be a dog of very high quality. Mr. Lowe, his owner, said that he still suffered from the effects of a broken shoulder which impaired his running; nevertheless he ran some very superior courses.

Lavina did some of the hardest of running, exhibiting wonderful staying powers combined with high speed. Verdure Clad showed excellent capabilities, but was beaten in a closely-contested course by Spring, an excellent dog himself.

Out of sixteen puppies in the Derby six were out of imported stock namely, Lady in Black, Lady Barton, Little Thought Of, Lady in White, Lancaster and Lord McPherson, the latter being absent. The two first mentioned divided first and second; thus the more important places in both stakes were won by imported dogs or their descendants.

Lady Graham Glendyne lost the course with Lord Neversettle, but it was the openly declared sentiment of many experts who were present that the judge made an inexcusably stupid blunder. In running subsequently in byes, she proved herself a remarkably good working hound.

It was asserted as the opinion of many that the English imported hounds had greater fleetness for a half mile or a mile but that they did not have the endurance for a long hard course. The running in nowise sustained such views. The longest, most trying courses were in most instances run by the imported dogs and they not only ran pluckily to the finish, but repeated admirably. That many rabbits escaped from them is true, but it is equally true that they escaped quite as often from the American bred dogs. It was conceded by some of the oldest coursers that no hounds could catch some of the swift whitetail jacks of the Cheyenne Bottoms. This meeting settled beyond question that, if a rabbit escaped after a three-mile run, it did not prove that the dogs were slow or loafers, but proved conclusively that the rabbits were very fleet. There were owners present who felt certain that their dogs could catch any rabbit within a half mile, but they were satisfied that, whatever their dogs might do elsewhere, there could not be any certainty of catching rabbits on the grounds referred to. Owing to high growths of grass here and there on the grounds, the rabbits in a number of instances unsighted the dogs, which will explain the frequency of such occurrence in the report of the courses.

Some owners of imported dogs maintain that the climate seems to unfavorably affect their dogs' coursing capabilities during their first season, they not holding either their speed or endurance; however, as a whole, they scored better at the meeting than their competitors, and any comparison with the native-bred stock is decidedly to their advantage.

There were several accidents on the grounds, two of them being quite serious, the first one being a runaway, in which a lady was thrown from her carriage and her eye seriously injured if not destroyed. The last one was the unfortunate accident to the judge in the dashing course between White Lips and Babazoun. The judge had mounted for that course a fresh horse, a stable horse which was not familiar with running on the prairie. He had ridden about a quarter of a mile at three-quarter speed when his horse stepped in a badger or coyote hole which was partially concealed by a light growth of grass; he stumbled three or four lengths, and, being unable to recover, fell down, rolling sidewise over his rider. The high iron pommel of the Mexican saddle struck the ground with great force, bending it downward. The judge lay lifeless on the ground, and it was thought that he was dead. By the careful attention of two physicians who ware present, he soon recovered consciousness. Beyond the effects of the shock, a severe abrasion of his face and a not very serious injury to his chest, he was uninjured. It was a great relief to all present when it was known that he had escaped so fortunately from what at first appeared to be a fatal accident. For the time being the shock unfitted him for further riding, and he was placed in a carriage and taken to town.

The reporter of this journal emulated the judge's example a short time before his accident. His horse, while going at speed, stepped in a hole and turned a complete somersault with much vivacity and determination. It was neatly done, but the force with which a rider is slammed on the ground somewhat detracts from the interest of the performance, and it cannot be recommended as a desirable act to follow habitually.

Horses which are ridden regularly in rabbit coursing or cattle herding, learn to watch for the buffalo wallows, badger, wolf and prairie dog holes, they running with a low head, and are constantly on the alert for them, either passing or jumping them safely. Had the judge been riding one of Mr. Vernon's experienced horses, furnished for him, the accident would in all probability not have occurred. Without the necessary experience a horse is never safe in that kind of riding, however good his speed may be; indeed, the greater the speed under such circumstances the greater the danger; on the other hand, there is hardly any danger if the rider is mounted on an experienced horse.

The Executive Committee selected that genial gentleman and expert in coursing matters, Mr. C. G. Page, to judge the remainder of the running. At first he declined, but the pressure for his able services was so great that he at last consented, and he was greeted with hearty applause.

The judge was Mr. Wm. Green, of Apishapa, Colo. He did not ride with the fearlessness and judgment of those who judged at prior meetings. On long straightaway courses he rode rather tenderly, and frequently would be left far in the rear. In many instances he was stopped by wire fences, which he could have avoided had he ridden faster and with better judgment, the fences being cut at convenient distances, thus leaving openings in them which were marked by white flags. This gentle riding was the cause of several undecided courses. When Mr. Bartel and Mr. Halloway judged, it was a rare occurrence when they were not well up with the hounds, a contrast to Mr. Green's riding. His decisions were in many instances received with open disapproval. It was claimed that he had a very extensive and accurate knowledge of all the details of coursing, gained in England many years ago. While he had a fair theoretical knowledge, his application of it was a decided failure.

Mr. Charles Halloway was the slipper. Sometimes the dogs were given a short thirty-yard slip and sometimes a long one hundred and twenty-five yard slip, which was not according to the rules or the requirements of a uniform competition.

The Secretary, Mr. Frank K. Doan, was absent, owing to business interests which he could not keep in abeyance. It is unnecessary to add that he was greatly missed at the meeting. Col. David Taylor was absent, he suffering from serious sickness.

There was some difficulty in maintaining order on the grounds during the first few days. There were two disturbances, both apparently due chiefly to the failure of prohibition to prohibit. The club is not blamable for the misdoings of individuals, yet it is blamable for not expelling the disturbers from the grounds, an exemplary course which would be beneficial in maintaining future good order.

Mr. C. G. Page acted as marshal most of the time, and the last days were marked by excellent order. By his superior tact and management he handled the large crowds well.

A large attendance of ladies and gentlemen, the best society of the section, were present. That the sport is fascinating and popular, such a magnificent attendance of spectators proves beyond question. One gentleman from New York went out to see the sport awhile on the first day and found the sport so fascinating that he remained throughout the meeting. It is really the most dashing and spirited of all out-door field sports.

The hospitality to the visiting sportsmen and kindly interest in the success of the Club cannot be excelled by any other people. The success of the Club is a matter of local pride with them, and they have supported it nobly. It is the leading event of the kind in the United States, and can be made the Waterloo meeting of America by careful guidance.

The dogs at the club house were fed on Spratt's Patent.

The prospect for other meetings indicates a general further improvement in the dogs. Mr. D. N. Heizor has a very promising lot of puppies out of Lady Millie Glendyne and Little Lady Glendyne (both bitches by London—Lady Glendyne), and Lady Graham Glendyne (Jester—Lady Glendyne), all the puppies being sired by Trales. Mr. Luse is also reported as having a very nice lot; hence, with those owned by others, the Derby of next year should be keenly contested.

A meeting of the Club was held on the evening of October 23, when the drawing took place. The question of the eligibility of Mr. Arthur Massey to act as slipper, was raised by Dr. Van Hummell, it appearing that the latter had made a bet with the slipper which involved nearly all the dogs. As the rules disqualify anyone from acting as judge or slipper who is "in any way interested" in the running, it affected Mr. Massey, although his integrity was not questioned, and it was so stated in the meeting. On the matter being submitted to a vote of the Club, Mr. Charles Halloway was elected slipper. Mr. Massey had also trained Trales, Lady in Black and Lady Barton, and he trained them well as the event proved, but this was also mentioned as disqualifying him for the position of slipper.

At the meeting held on Tuesday Night, October 29, a great deal of routine business was transacted. It was found that the Club was heavily in debt, but owing to the books not being kept fully posted no accurate statement at that date was obtainable. It was probable that the Club would wipe out all the old indebtedness and begin with a clean balance sheet on the next year. There were quite a number who were in arrears for dues. Members who will not pay their dues are a weakness in a club and should be expelled without any hesitation. The presence of such men has a discouraging effect on men who do pay. There are also some disturbing elements in the Club which are partially personal in their nature yet very disturbing to the best interests of the Club, and the sooner they are taken firmly in hand and traced to their responsible source and rigidly suppressed, the better it will be for the future success and harmony of the Club.

Mr. D. H Halladay of Great Bend, and Mr. E. T. Vernon, of Larned, Kan., were elected members and Mr. B. Waters, of Chicago, Ill., was elected an honorary member.

The officers elected for the following year are as follows: President, D. N. Heiser; vice-president, W. W. Carney; secretary, Ira D. Brougher; treasurer, J. V. Brinkman. Executive Committee, C. G. Page, H. C. Lowe and D. C. Luse. Committee on grounds, W. W. Carney with four associates to be selected by himself.

The thanks of the Club were tendered to the American Field for benefits conferred and interest in its success. The members of the press present received the thanks of the Club.

On the whole, the meet of 1889 was a decided success, and there is no question but what the sport will become general East and West in the near future, and hold a high place in the esteem of all who are fond of healthy field sports.

Some pedigrees are not given in the summary because at the last moment they were not obtainable therefore could not be given.

SUMMARY.

Great Bend, Kan., October 24.—American Field Cup Stake. Thirty-two all-age dogs; entrance fee, $10; to winner, $400 and American Field Cup ($100 cash), donated by Dr. N. Howe, editor American Field; to runner-up, $150, third, $100; fourth, $50. Thirty-two dogs.

FIRST SERIES.

Doan & Smart's blue bitch, Belle Smart, by Flink—Toot.	beat	E. L. Branch's red dog, Faucet, by ——— ———.
Rockwood-Landseer Kennels' brindle and white dog, Master Rich, by Rich and Rare—Minnie,	beat	Dr. G. I. Royce's white and blue bitch, Hand Maid, by Joe Burnside—Humming Bird.
Mr. E. Burgess' fawn dog, Spring, by ——— ———	beat	Rockwood-Landseer Kennels' brindle and white bitch, Verdure Clad, by Greentick ——— ———
L. & C. Lowe's brindle and white dog, Lord Neversettle, by Jester—Squirrel.	beat	D. N. Heizer's white and black bitch, Lady Graham Glendyne, by Jester—Lady Glendyne
T. W. Bartel's white and brindle dog, St. Patrick, by Rich and Rare— ———	beat	D. C. Lusen's Little Lady Glendyne, by London—Lady Glendyne.
E. T. Vernon's blue bitch, Beauty, by ——— — ———	beat	J. W. Brown ns. brindle dog, Rip Van Winkle, by Sport Aileen—Queen (absent)
E. L. Branch's fawn dog, Arkansas Traveler, by ——— ———	beat	Doan & Smart's brindle bitch, Bessie Lee, by Flink—Toot.
H. C. Lowe's black and white bitch White Lips, by Hotspur—Kiss.	beat	Rockwood-Landseer Kennels' white and red bitch, Minnehaha, by Snowflight— ———
D. C. Luse ns. white and brindle dog, Trales, by Wandering Tom—Little Emily III.	beat	Rockwood-Landseer Kennels' white and brindle bitch, Miss Rare, by Rich and Rare—Minnie.
W. W. Carney ns. blue dog, Holly, by Joe Burnside—Humming Bird,	beat	E. T. Vernon's bitch, Blue Bessie, by ——— — ———
Alfred Haigh's black bitch, Bar Maid, by ——— — ———	beat	Emporia Kennels' white and brindle bitch, Lightning.
Emporia Kennels' fawn dog' Jack Baird, by ——— — ———	beat	Alfred Haigh's blue and white dog, Nip, by ——— — ———.
D. C. Luse's white and fawn bitch, Jessamine, by Red Jacket May,	beat	H. C. Lowe's brindle and white bitch, Partera (withdrawn).
D. C. Luse's white and black bitch, Dick's Darling, by Colerain Diamond-Daylight,	beat	Emporia Kennels' black and white bitch, Meta, by ——— — ———
Rookwood-Landseer Kennels' red dog, Bambazoun, by ——— — ———,	beat	Emporia Kennels fawn and white dog, Axtell, by ——— — ———.
D. C. Luse's fawn bitch Lavina, by Sport Aileen—Thorna,	beat	Emporia Kennels' blue dog, Bobolink, by Flink—Toot.

SECOND SERIES.

Belle Smart beat Master Rich.	Trales beat Holly.
Lord Neversettle beat Spring.	Jack Baird beat Dick's Darling.
St. Patrick beat Beauty.	Lavinia beat Bar Maid.
White Lips beat Arkansas Traveler.	Babazoun beat Jessamine.

THIRD SERIES.

Lord Neversettle beat Belle Smart.	Trales beat Jack Baird.
White Lips beat St. Patrick.	Babazoun beat Lavinia.

FOURTH SERIES.

Trales beat Lord Neversettle.	White Lips beat Babazoun (withdrawn).

FIFTH SERIES.

Trales beat White Lips and won first.

1st—Trales.
2nd—White Lips.
3rd—Lord Neversettle.
4th—Lavinia.

GREAT BEND DERBY.

FINAL.

Mr. Luse owning both dogs, Lady in black and Lady Barton, divided first and second without running.

Great Bend, Kan., Oct. 24th. Great Bend Derby.—For sixteen greyhounds eighteen months old or younger; entrance fee $5; to winner $200, donated by citizens of Great Bend; to runner-up $75; third $60; fourth $25; fifth $20; sixth $15; seventh and eighth $10.

FIRST SERIES.

M. E. Allison's red dog, Reno Redwood, by Rowdy—Reno Belle,	beat	D. C. Luse's brindle dog, Lancaster, by Trales—Dick's Darling.
E. L. Branch's black and white dog, War Cloud, by ——— ———,	beat	E. T. Vernon's black dog, Jack, by ——— ———,
E. Burgess' fawn dog, Spring, by ——— ———,	beat	D. C. Luse's white and black bitch, Lady in White, by Trales—Dick's Darling.
D. C. Luse's fawn bitch, Lady Barton, by Trales—Dick's Darling.	beat	M. E. Allison's red dog, Rexensnoozer, by Sandy Jim— ———,
D. C. Luse's black and white bitch, Lady in Black, by Trales—Dick's Darling.	beat	J. Walton's fawn bitch, Lady Walton, by ——— — ———.
Doan & Smart's brindle dog, Dublin Paddy, by ——— — ———,	beat	D. C. Luse's white and brindle dog, Lord McPherson, by Trales—Dick's Darling (absent).
Rockwood-Landseer Kennels' blue and white bitch, Melodrama, by ——— — ———,	beat	M. E. Allison's red bitch, Fanny Oller, by Sandy Jim— ———.
D. C. Luse's brindle bitch, Little Thought Of, by Trales—Dick's Darling,	beat	M. E. Allison's red bitch Queen Downs, by Sandy Jim — ———.

SECOND SERIES.

Reno Redwood beat War Cloud.	Melodrama beat Little Thought Of.
Lady Barton beat Spring.
Lady in Black beat Dublin Paddy.

THIRD SERIES.

Lady Barton beat Reno Redwood.	Lady in black beat Melodrama.

FOURTH SERIES.

Lady Barton and Lady in Black divided first and second.

1st and 2nd—Lady Barton and Lady in Black.
3rd—Melodrama.
4th—Reno Redwood.
5th—Little Thought Of.
6th—Dublin Paddy.
7th—Spring.
8th—War Cloud.

Whelps.

Mr. H. S. Wort's English setter Beezy (Regent—Wildflower), whelped Sept. 9, '89, seven, three dogs, to W. S. Kittle's Luke (Carl R—Bessie). Two bitches since dead.

Mr. W. S. Kittle has presented to Dr. Geo. E. Davis, San Francisco, the English setter by Luke—Beezy, whelped Sept. 9, 1889.

Occidental Coursing Club.

The regular Fall meeting of the Club will be held at Ocean View Coursing Park, on Thanksgiving Day Nov. 28th next. The skate is limited to twenty-four entries, at $10,00 each.

Ocean View Park is reached from the Townsend Street depot the trains leaving at 7.25 and 10.30 A. M., returning at 2.05, 3 14, 4.41 P. M. The Park can be reached by trains leaving San Jose at 7.10 and 8.23 A. M. Returning to San Jose at 5.41 P. M. Coursing will begin at 11 A. M.

Mr. J. R. Dickson will judge and James Wren handle the slips. The officers of the meeting are field stewards, S. L. Abbot Jr., H. E. Deane, J. F. Carroll; step steward Col. S. O. Gregory; flag steward H. Boyd.

Mr. C. A. Loud has presented to Miss Orr (Oakland) the black and tan cocker spaniel dog Hiawatha, whelped June 1, 1888, by Punch—Judy.

The Fish Commission is about to introduce some Bob Whites, and we request that any of our readers to whom these presents may come, who know where the birds can be had, will inform us. Reports are that Texas is over-run by quails, and they are plenty throughout Kansas.

Professor J. F. B. McCleery kindly sends a corrected pedigree of the pug puppies recently offered for sale through these columns by Mr. W. H. Taylor, 2411 Ellis street, San Francisco. The young pugs are by Budge (Mr. J. G. Fair's prize pug—Mamma Shoots) and out of Fido (Punch—Fanny). Budge won the first prize at the P. K. C. show of '88. Mamma is also a bench winner.

Mr. C. A. Loud, of Corvallis, Or., whose letters to this paper about the Mongolian pheasant have attracted so much attention, called upon us on Monday last, as he was passing through the city en route to San Diego, where he will live in future. We found him to be just the bright, observant, enthusiastic sportsman, suggested by his writings. Southern California with its Bruner, its Britton, its Chick, its Knight, its Unger, its Payne and henceforth its Loud, is getting more than its share of rare good fellows and fine shots. Mr. Loud brought down with him several dainty English setters and several puppies. He expects to train a few dogs in connection with other employment in San Diego.

Popular Harry A. Weaver, once of Sacramento sends us a comical story from his present home, Stockton. He writes: "Have been wanting to write you for a long time—ever since my friend Joe Kane of Sacramento told me a funny thing about a dog. You know, like Sam Clemens, I am fond of a dog. Well, there is a man in Sacramento—he lives there yet—who has an immense dog—never saw him, but think from Joe's description it must be of the mastiff species; and Joe remarked to this dog's owner, 'It must cost you a good deal to feed such a big dog, Mr. Dunknowho?'

" 'Oh, no,' said Dunknowho, 'it don't cost us much.'

" 'Why?, asked Joe; 'what do you feed him?'

" 'Feed him bran,' said Dunknowho; and investigation proved that bran was the dog's diet.

"This will be good news, eh?"

A very wise man of the East, whose experience in doggy matters is co-extensive with the growth of kennel interests in America, writes us: "I believe that dog matters will never grow so fast or so firm on the Pacific Coast as in the East, for the reason that the California quail is not the factor in insuring an interest and growth that the Eastern quail is." It is the custom to revile the California quail and attribute to him all the devilish cunning of a Machiavelli. In point of fact, given good cover, good conditions of weather, a good dog and a good man, and no better sport can be had over Bob Whites than with our saucy little blue bird. Put the Bob White out on waterless hillsides, where long flights or longer runs must be made to water, where the cover is high, crackling and noisy, and we doubt whether the plump little brown fellows nurtured sometimes to the number of a half dozen bevies in a ten acre grass field, would not develope more wildness and less disposition to lie to a dog.

The sturdy men who go reporting to the field trials of the East and South are just now girding up their loins. Mr. Bernard Waters, of the American Field, writes, that he is just starting upon his three months of the most tasking labor that falls to the lot of any newspaper man. Major S. T. Hammond, of Forest and Stream, under a course of down-East mince pie and crusty cider, lost the line of demarkation between his loins and the rest of him long ago, so he packs the loins aforesaid into an elegant old pair of corduroys, of which it is said that along about November 1st the sterling old cords prance about with the evident purpose of being in good condition by trial time, after months of disuse. Those reporters are a "gentle folk," and we wish them good work to report, good weather, facility in the evenings, and "just a little sunshine" after mail time. There are hotels less like chicken coops as regards ventilation than the Belle Vue at High Point, and the famous hostelry might be improved thirty or forty thousand per cent. in any one of a half dozen other ways, but where, except there, is the roof that covers "all to once," Bergundthal, Coster, Donner, Wilson, Uncle Ned, Gregory, Hitchcock, Henricks, Hamilton, Merriman, Rowe, Avent Denny, Nesbitt, McMurdo, Titus, Stafford, Bruce, Height, Short, and the hundred other true men who have made High Point synonymous with splendid setters and pointers, most perfect field trials, and most hearty hospitality?" If the cellar of the Belle Vue has not caved in, we invite all to join us. If it has, the invitation goes anyhow, but we will climb up to "Dad" Wilson's den and sample that three story flagon of old Monongahela, or else go to the village store and test the solution of tobacco in coal oil, dispensed there as apple-jack. Anyhow, here's better luck still, to the Eastern Field Trials and all connected with them.

THE GUN.

Cultivation of Intellect in Sport.

After discussing in its own calm, and most satisfactory manner, the matter of making the practice of games in schools compulsory, that time-honored journal, the London Field, takes up another aspect of the question, which embraces broader issues than those of school-games only. That is the question of actual intellectual culture through the medium of out-door sports. The mere medical effects of such sports might be attained by compulsory walking exercise or drill.

If at the public schools a rule existed, that boys who did not elect to "qualify" for a certain time per diem at some regulation game, must as an alternative take walking exercise under supervision (like prison convicts or young ladies at a seminary), or be drilled for a hour by a drill sergeant, in the absence of medical certificate for exemption, we fancy that most of the ground would be cut from under the feet of the malcontent minority who are declaiming against that infringement of the liberty of the subject which they seem to discern in the practice or compulsory play. It is, we believe, because the proportion of malingerers is small, and of parental malcontents still smaller, that such a system of alternative exercise is not considered worth the candle at the best of our schools. If it did exist, we think that the intellectual advantages of active games, as compared to the mere animal recreation of those who elected to walk "two and two, Newgate fashion," would be more apparent.

To play with the head as well as the hands is a secret of success in sport and games alike. In cricket, apart from education of eye and of hand, a distinct effort of brainwork is involved in the rapid mental calculation which a batsman makes upon the premises given by his eye, aided by induction from former deliveries of bowling, before his brain telegraphs to his hand and foot how to act in the emergency after the ball has pitched. In like manner a bowler, whatever may be his powers of pace or twist, etc., adds much to the effect of his deliveries if he makes each ball a study, instead of playing the machine part of a catapult. That is, when he observes from a batsman's style that a ball of a certain pitch, though difficult to many, seems to be mastered by him, while, per contra, he plays another sort in a less safe style, and delivers accordingly—even indulging him with a half volley to leg if he has observed that he is prone to give a chance of a catch in such a case. The placing of the field for this or that batsman or bowler, or both, deeper or wider now and then, are in like manner examples of the brain work to which we allude. Again, the opportunities for display of qualities of generalship in the stroke of a racing boat have been so often enlarged upon, that we need not here do more then indicate them. At football, in like manner, the brain has to be at work, with concentrated care and active induction, to guide each movement, and calculate the direction of each step. So also in the offices of command, of cricket, boating and football, does intellectual capacity enter. Shall A. be selected for his bowling, or B. for wicket-keeping, or C. because his fielding (a la Boyle) saves more runs than many batsmen often make in the day? Or, as to an eight-oar and its make up; shall A. row stroke and B. stand out as a light weight, or shall A. move to some other seat, B. come in at stroke for the sake of his style, and some second class middle weight make way? Similar problems exercise the mind of the captain of a football team.

In minor games, such as lawn tennis, we often see a player, who cannot show equal activity or skill of stroke, none the less get the best of an opponent, simply because he makes each stroke a matter of mental calculation with regard to the past and the future of the game; in other words, he gains by his mental strategy more than his opponent obtains by his extra skill of muscle. Or, if we turn to field sports, our shooting readers will recall many an instance where A., in command of the field, somehow obtains lighter bags, with equal average of game on the ground and of straight powder in the guns, than B., who has a knack to frapper vite, frapper forte, when birds are found. In race riding—apart from hands and seat—judgment of pace, with quick observation of incidents during the running, and sharp calculation of the course to be pursued, to pull round here or to push through there, have much to do with the nearest road to the winning post.

Now here we have two classes of physical exercise, the one automatic, that of the peripatetics, Newgate fashion; the other that of votaries of sport and active pastime. Granting, for the sake of argument, that each produces the required effect of securing digestion and circulation of blood; granting also that, for the battle of life, intellectual culture is the object of a school curriculum, surely, then, that alternative of exercise which trains the intellect to a certain extent while recreating the body, is entitled to some preference over that which leaves the brain uncultured while the bodily exercise of the day is being got through? Putting aside for the moment the otherwise valuable ingredients, the cultivation of pluck and endurance, which outdoor games tend to produce, and confining ourselves solely to the desideratum of cultivating those qualities of tact, judgment, and intellectual effort which benefit the after man professionally, we are enabled to infer that the curriculum of sports has a direct effect for good upon the brain of those who follow them. The captain of an eleven who can judge well when to change bowling, or whether to put in hitters to win or stickers to play for a draw, has in learning this much been cultivating parts of his brain which may some day make him famous in command of a field force in warfare. The captain of a boat's crew, who has with tact preserved discipline and made judicious selections, has been showing in embryo the qualities which may enable him to shine in colonial employ as governor of a faction-broken settlement. The football player who can judge the nick of time for a run at goal is unconsciously educating himself to seize the golden minute for a cavalry swoop on hostile guns, or for the more mundane and more lucrative stroke of timing the opening or closing of a gigantic Stock Exchange speculation.

These practical results have been indirectly observed and endorsed for more than two generations; statistics showing that—given the percentage of eminent athletes as compared with those who do not shine brightly therein—these athletes in after life occupy far more than what would otherwise have been their share of responsible intellectual positions in public life. Take the judicial and episcopal benches. The average of University oarsmen produced is perhaps at most ten per annum in Oxford and Cambridge together, allowing for some who row more than once. There are in any given term more than 3000 under-graduates. Hence the "blues" are about one in 300; but on the judicial bench we have Lords Esher and Macnaghten, Justices Denman, Chitty, and Smith, and among bishops, Wordsworth, Selwyns (two), Pelham, M'Dougall, &c. This out of some fifty dignitaries of the two benches. Surely here the "blues" hold far more than their share, as compared to the polloi who graduated contemporaneously with them. To cite our Q. C.'s and minor judges on the legal side, or deans and prebendaries among blues in the ecclesiastical lists, would be beyond our space. It suffices to note the percentages broadly, as indorsing the inferences which we draw from the theory of mind being cultivated by the acquisition of skill in sport.

To the Top of Mt. Whitney.

[By C. E. Sherman.]

XI.

The spirit of fun is one of the chief jewels of humanity. A dull hour is enlivened by a hearty laugh; a gloomy way is illumined by touches of merriment; clouds of sadness will vanish even as the mists of the morning, before the sunny rays of mirth. As for the Pilgrims, they were all a set of old boys, let loose from the restraints and demands of busy business life and constantly indulged in jokes, squibs, and even a good deal of horse play. The Chaplain and the Doctor-Deacon especially, were constantly at one another. Their fun was never complete unless the pair were together, and their friendship had attained that ripeness where each was a caustic critic of all the other's doing, with unsparing condemnation. So the D. D laid down for a mid-day nap and the Chaplain went for his gun. Just as the Doctor was nearing that restful land where dreams may come, after deliberate aim, off went the gun, the bullet landing in a tree just behind the Deacon and passing a scant inch above his worthy nose. Somebody jumped in the way indicated by a most pressing necessity; it was the Deacon Some other laid down a good gun and howled with joy; that was the Chaplain. The Doctor's face changed from a shock of surprise to an expression of burning scorn and scalding indignation, and he walked off behind a tree refusing to be comforted. The Chaplain's face out-rosied Gambrinus, and waxed rounder than a fat full moon. Over all daintily settled down that waxen quietude which marks the hush when everyone wants to roar, but dares not even smile. Then the Doctor Deacon affirmed this mighty oath: "By Gum I'll get even." And on another day, as the chronicle truthfully records, justice was measured out.

Santiago Meadows, altitude 7,750 feet, were reached at 3:45, temperature 76 degrees, About here the Chaplain, who had lagged behind that he might laugh with less restraint than when near his next friend, went lost. To this fleeting moment he positively denies the charge, but the gravamen of the transaction is against him and the aimless tracks over unnecessary sidehills, prove at least that his boots were lost wherever his head and heart may have been. When finally produced, with the others he took up his line of correct march and at 7 P. M., 8,400 feet above the sea, in the Monache Meadows, Camp Grant was made: christened after a whole souled sportsman, a genial man, a mighty hunter, an expert fisherman, who spends his summers in these meadows, living in a tent, and who ever readily and to the purpose lends a helping hand to all in need. And here, in full view of Mt. Tamarack, named twelve years ago by one of his party—a perfect cone, surface covered with broken porphyry and surmounted with a magnificent growth of stately tamaracks—the party rested until the ninth day. Fish here are plentiful; too eager almost for true sport, but many a happy hour was here laid away in the place of Pleasant memories, by proper disciples of Izaak Walton, deceased. August 8th, Olanche Peak 12,700 feet high was ascended by all the party, except the worshipful master of arts culinary and upon the very summit, high above earthly things, in the full sunlight of a perfect day, responding to unanimous request, the Chaplain—as he so well knows how to do—recited

THE OLD CANTEEN.

Send it up to the garret? Well, no, what's the harm
If it hangs like a horseshoe to serve as a charm?
Had its day? to be sure. Matches ill with things here!
Shall I sack the old friend just because it is queer?
Thing of beauty 'tis not, but a joy none the less,
As my hot lips remember its old-time caress,
And I think on the solace once gurgling between
My lips from the battered and old tin canteen.

It has hung by my side in the long, weary tramp;
Been my friend in the bivouac, barracks and camp:
In the triumph, the capture, advance and retreat.
More than light to my path, more than guide to my feet,
Sweeter nectar ne'er flowed, howe'er sparkling and cold,
From out chalice of silver or goblet of gold,
For a King or an Emperor, Princess or Queen,
Than to me from the mouth of that old canteen.

It has cheered the desponding on many a night,
Till their laughing eyes gleamed in the camp's firelight.
Whether guns stood in silence or boomed at short range,
It was always on duty, though 'twould not be strange
If in somnolent periods just after "taps,"
Some Colonel or Captain disturbed at his naps
May have felt a suspicion that spirits unseen
Had somehow bedeviled that ancient canteen.

But I think of the time when in Julis of the strife
It has called the far look in dim eyes back to life,
Helped to staunch the quick blood beginning to pour
Softened broad gaping wounds that were stiffened and sore,
Moistened thin, livid lips, so despairing of breath,
They could only speak thanks in the quiver of death.
If an angel of mercy e'er hovered between
This world and the next 'twas that old canteen.

Then banish it not as a profitless thing,
Were it hung in a palace it well might swing,
To tell in its mute allegorical way
How the citizen volunteer won the day.
How unflinchingly, bravely, and grandly he won,
And how, when the death dealing work fully done,
'Twas as easy his passion from war ways to wean,
As his mouth from the lips of that old canteen.

By-and-by, when all hate for the rage with the Bars
Is forgotten in love for the "Stripes and the Stars";
When Columbia rules ev'rything solid and sole,
For her one ship canal to the ice at the pole:
When the Grand Army men have obeyed the last call
And the Mayflowers and Violets bloom over us all:
Then away in some garret the cobwebs may screen
My battered, old cloth covered, tin canteen.

Who Will Give Jim Shoemaker a Dog?

That veteran journalist and most charming sportsman, Mr. James P. Shoemaker, sends these plaintive lines f om his mountain fastness in Grass Valley:

GRASS VALLEY, Cal., Nov. 12, 1889.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I am longing for a setter pup. My old dog is dead and I want a good one (a pup) in order that I may bring him up in the way in which he should go; the straight and narrow path. I believe you can assist me in securing what I desire in that line. How much would a well-bred pup cost me? And I want you to select it for me. Let me know, if convenient, in regards to this matter and you will greatly oblige me.

George Fletcher has recovered from his late serious illness (pneumonia), and is able to attend to his R. R. duties, but not able to go to the "field and the hunt." Dr. Hoyt Jr. and about sixteen of them went out Sunday killed six deer and thought they were raising Ned. Please write me concerning the dog business. JAS. P. SHOEMAKER.

Mr. Chick Wishes to Shoot.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—Following is a copy of a portion of a letter written by a Mr. Eugene Taylor, Lynch's Station, Campbell County, Va., to Mr. E S. Babcock, Jr., of this place, in which he says: "I am coming West this spring and would like to shoot some matches with Mr. Hamilton, Mr. Chick and Mr. Robinson, if it is agreeable to said gentlemen." Now, in reply to this, I will say to our friend that Mr. Hamilton or myself will be happy to accommodate him on his journey, if he will name the kind of match and amount he desires to shoot for, and post a forfeit with the field editor of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN sufficient to warrant that he means business. I also will add that there are several other shots of this State who would be pleased to meet our friend at the trap, so I hope when this meets our friend's eyes that he may realize the pleasure which awaits for him in the future and at once arrange details of a match or matches.

I noticed a line in your journal of the 9th inst., desiring of Mr. Hamilton some notes of the climate, cover and habits of the quail in this part of the country. I will state, at his request, that the climate is delightful—could not wish any better. Cover for quail in most cases is low cactus and brush, which is scattering, and good quail are plentiful in localities other than such as have been prospected by hunters like Mr. Hamilton, who has reached as high as thirty dozen quails in a single day. I must say they are getting scarce. This may seem a falsehood to the readers of this journal, but it is known to be too true to the sportsmen of San Diego.

MARTINES CHICH.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 12th, 1889.

Enforcement of the Game Laws.

The passage by the Legislature of laws to protect and preserve the game of all kinds in the State, and the establishment of a State Commission for this special purpose, are of no practicable utility unless these laws shall be enforced against all offending parties. The California of this period is different from the California of the pioneer period. Then, wild game of every species and every kind of fish were hunted or caught in every season of the year, on account of the abundance of the game and fish and the scarcity of the population. The interior of California was imperfectly and little known, even to the early Californians, to the pioneer American settlers. Its mountain and valley game was not hunted, its fish were not heeded, except to serve an occasional feast.

All this is changed. The wild game of mountain and valley alike has become scarce; and, as to food fish, the condition is every year becoming a study. Skin hunters devastate the land of flesh and fur and peltry, and besides the rapacity of the native and European fishermen, the more rapacious Chinese prey upon the coast line, upon every river, creek and tributary.

Deer are disappearing, elk is a rarity, and likewise salmon are decreasing; trout are getting scarce and difficult to find. These are the chief quest of hunters and fishers. Other varieties of game are in similar category—game of all kinds, without enumeration.

For the due protection of all these varieties of game, the Legislature has enacted laws, and a State Commission has been instituted whose special duty it is to see to the observance of these laws. This is the State Fish Commission. As the Board is now constituted, it is alert, vigilant, and thorough in every qualification. To enact laws and afterward to be careless and negligent in their enforcement, is to trifle with the subject. It were better to have no laws appertaining to the purpose, and to leave the killing of game in natural close seasons open and without penalty.

It is a fair inference that every person is aware of certain prudential and necessary laws, just as every person knows right from wrong, knows that theft is a crime and killing a heinous offense. There are seasons for the production and for the harvesting of every growing thing. There are, similarly, seasons for the procreation and care of every creation—flesh, fish and fowl. Common sense is the natural prompter, informant and arbiter in this respect, and every offender, capable of understanding and possessed of judgment, is considered amenable to the laws which are made for the conservation of community property, for the preservation of all which concerns the community. Laws for the protection of game and fish, useful for food, are directly in point.

Anyone who slaughters game in field or stream in all seasons, regardless of common dictates of humanity and in violation of statute laws, deserves penalty adequate to the offence. It is made the duty of the State Fish Commission in this State to see that offenders shall be brought before the courts for punishment. An instance has recently occured. The wanton and cruel custom of the skin-hunter through years of inattention to these depredations and neglect of penalty, has caused and encouraged indiscriminate and reckless slaughter of deer, the same as of other game. In season and out of season, bucks and does and fawns are ruthlessly killed, solely for their skins. The law strictly forbids their killing, unless in declared open season. To more surely guard against infraction of the law governing game, every person is made amenable in whose possession game is found in close seasons—dealers and others. This law the dealers must certainly know, and cannot reasonably plead ignorance of it. In the case in point the facts are as follows: Deputy Fish Commissioner Callundan found two large bales of deer skins on one of the steamers of this city, marked from L. Labree, Ukiah, and directed to the Sawyer Tanning Company of Napa. An examination of the bales revealed lawless practice. Some of the skins were of does and fawns, and from others the distinctive evidence of sex had been cut away, Mr. Callundan promptly seized the bales, agreeably to his official duty, and the case now rests with the court. The Tanning Company makes plea "that the indications are that the officers of the law find it difficult to detect and punish the hunters, and so propose to punish all who handle illegally killed skins, thereby removing any chance to dispose of them for money." Careful reading of this plea aggravates the offence. It is made clear that "the chance to dispose of them [the illegally killed skins] for money" is the chief matter with the Company. When stolen goods are found in the possession of a "fence shop" keeper, or other person, whose lawful duty it is to reveal the identity of the thief, adequate penalty is imposed upon the party in possession. Unless dealers can be found to buy "illegally killed skins," lawless hunters will abstain from the killing; and unless dealers find a market for such skins they will not make the purchase. The dealer and the tanner each know, or are reasonably presumed to know, that the law provides a penalty for dealing in wares of the kind, and the plea of innocent purchase or possession will not and ought not to avail.

The proof is in the skins of game unlawfully killed. The person in possession is amenable. The officers of the law seek to find the killers, but in the event of failure the identity of the person in whose possession the unlawfully killed game or the skins thereof are found, is sufficient proof to warrant legal proceeding to impose the due penalty. Stop the market and the unlawful killing will cease. The dealer is supposed to know the parties from whom he buys, he should inform the officers of the law. He commits a double offense in sending them to market for sale. The person who takes counterfeit money, even through ignorance that it is counterfeit, commits a crime in afterwards attempting to pass it off as good to another. Tanners know the quality of skins when they handle them if dealers are careless in the purchase.

The case will be tested in the courts, as it should be, and the way to duly enforce the game laws is to see that "no guilty man escapes."

Mr. George C. Jewell of Petaluma had a rare day on Saturday last, shooting over the Jewell Ranch. His bag was forty English snipe, thirty five quails and three ducks.

Novato has yielded many fine strings of quail to Mr. William Schreiber this season. His two days there last week were well rewarded.

In another column Mr. John T. Peters offers an opportunity to capitalists that should arrest attention. Mr. Peters is thoroughly acquainted with Lake, Sonoma and Mendocino counties, has lived for many years in the section, and is a sound expert in all matters relative to property in those most desirable portions of the State. He is of the opinion that no more favorable tract of land for stock ranching can be purchased in California than the Lake County farm which he offers for sale; of good size, well situated, well watered, fertile and all under improvement, we are assured that in calling the especial attention of readers to the advertisement we are doing them a kindne s.

ROD.

Salmon in Bear River.

Salmon were plentiful in Bear River in early times, but the mud from the mines made it impossible for them to exist. Now, since the water is again in good condition, they ascend that stream. One was caught recently near Camp Farwest, about three miles above the railroad, which measured two feet in length, We are indebted to Daniel Fraser of Wheatland for this item, who graced our den a few minutes on Tuesday morning —Sutter Farmer.

The Manufacture of Silkworm Gut.

A correspondent, who has resided for a considerable time on the Peninsula, gives an interesting account of the process of fabricating what is known to us as silkworm gut, but in the vernacular is termed tripos de gusanos-de-seda; and in French, boyaux de vers-a-soie (literally and peculiarly, "tripes of worms of silk," and "guts of worms to silk"), says the English Fishing Gazette.

Spain is the home for silkworm gut manufacture. Other countries of the sunny south also produce the article, but only to a limited extent. People's general knowledge upon its fabrication is very vague; they know that it is a product of the intestines of silkworms, and usually at that their learning on the subject ends. Anglers who so frequently throw the subtle line out to river and lake will welcome a glimpse of light upon the production of that about which the majority are probably very much in the shade.

But not alone is the consumption of silkworm gut confined to the art piscatory. It is used in some other callings and professions, notably in medicine.

It is in the city of Murcia, that the manufacture of silkworm gut is carried on to perfection, the production being in the hands of several native houses. The reader can imagine himself entering one of the sun-dried, brick, uninviting fabricas, being received by the capataz, or head man, and conducted through the close rooms, noisy with the—to the visitante—unintelligible chatter of scores of olive-tinted, lively, but poor senoritas, who sit at their frames for many hours daily manipulating the gut, and this at a miserable pittance, they only earning from one and a half to two pesetas per diem of twelve hours or more (equal to 1s 3d to 1s 8d).

But now to describe the rearing of the silkworm prior to its being tirado, or drawn—untrabajo muy sucio ("a very filthy work"), as say with justice the operators. It is is only the month-old worms which the visitor observes the young women handling. Go into some outhouses, and note among the green stuff in boxes the almost indiscernable silkworm eggs, which some six weeks later will have developed into the full-grown silkworm, gusano-de-seda being of rapid growth. For facility's sake, let the series of little greenhouses be numbered in accordance with what are termed the different growing periods of the worm. Well, now, see compartment No. 2. Here the little trifles are nearly a week old, and are the size of and look like ordinary fly magots. At No. 3 they are seen a fortnight old, and are an inch in length, but very skinny. Section 4 reveals them three weeks of age—and what a change! The puny little things of a week ago have sprung up wonderfully. This is the growing period of their ephemeral lives, and they now measure two inches and over in length—double what they did when seen in compartment No. 3; while in diameter they have trebled and "fourbled," to use a pat term. Division 5 exemplifies them a month old, but they have not made considerable advance in length or rotundity. See them, however, at Section 6, when they are between five and six weeks old.

Their eternal gorging during the preceding ten days has proven its effects remarkably, for now the "soft and gentle worm" has grown to its bent, has had its last grand feast, and made itself sleek and helplessly fat by the gluttony. And now, when it is at maturity, measuring over three inches in length, and about two in circumference, and is, by association with the other gusanos, about to itself breed, its happiness in the sunshine is suddenly curtailed by being ruthlessly plunged into vinegar. This is the pickling process After remaining in the sour essence for some days, they are bundled out wholesale, the heads deftly nipped off, skins peel off easily, leaving little else but the bloated entrails, which closely resemble narrow strips of gristle. The general impression is that silkworms can have very little gut, and that difficult to handle by reason of its slightness; but the truth is, being pickled just when about to breed, the spirituous action causes the intestines to swell abnormally.

Following the gerente back into the whitewashed workrooms, the walls of which are littered with large bunches of perfected silkworm gut, and the floor strewn with stray ends and bits, it is interesting to note the rapidity with which the senoritas do their disagreeable work. They seize a humid entrail, draw it to a desired length—from two to three feet—keep the fingers assiduously at work upon it, testing for weak spots, rejecting any faulty strings found, and then place the different lengths upon the various-sized divisions of which their frames (marcos) consist. The usual jointed lengths are over two feet, but it is only the centre and one end, or about one and a half feet of this which has any consistency of thickness, as a third of the length tapers finer and finer into a mere filament thread. Take up a small bunch; the color, it will be noticed, is a deep yellow tint—just like full ripe corn—but the ends are of a much lighter nature.

Bleaching is the next important process, carried on in a secluded building, the operatives in which are required to hold secret the methods pursued para blanquear. It is a trade secret, though, doubtless, once inquired into, of little value; probably some common chemicals and the hot sun's rays are the extent of secreto. So visitors inquiring into the method may as well be content with the negative words of monsenor el administrador—"No se permite dar detalles."

After the first bleach, the gut undergoes a second process, which covers careful sorting, separating, removing excrescences where the gut graftings have taken place, etc. Then it is ready for picking, paralleling into skeins, and fifty of these go to make a neat, commercial bundle.

Of course there are diverse grades—the cheap and the dear. Getting into the store-room, these will be fully seen. There is the fine, the refined, the silky (marana), and the rich and pure imperial; also guts of short lengths dyed remarkably well in very pronounced tints; and the visitador will see any amount of other articles manipulated from the gut of the useful silkworm.

Conversing with the fabricante, he unfolded one trick of the trade: "Don't believe that all silkworm gut so-called is produced from the gusano-de-seda. Oh, no! After the month of April the worms' breeding time is over. There are no gusanos now. In place, capillos (any kind of guts) are used extensively by those unparticular casas who run out of their stock of tripos, and then the material is palmed off as genuine silkworm gut."

"Why cannot we get in England unbleached gut very transparent in nature?" was a question the editor of the Fishing Gazette asked me to get answered. "We are always anxious to meet a demand, and should be glad to send the raw substance to Inglaterra if there were inquiries, and those wants can best be met if people address us direct. It would be found of little practical use, because in that state the gut is in the rough, and unprepared, and lacks the solidification acquired by bleaching."

Mr. W. A. Perry, "Silalicum," has moved from Seattle to Clearbrook, Whatcom Co., W. T. In sending notice of the change, Mr. Perry adds: "This is the place for salmon. They are running up the brooks in millions. I caught two tons yesterday, and the only tackle I used was a club."

Numerous salmon have been seen in Feather River near the bridge lately, and old-timers say it is a sure sign the fish will soon begin to "run" the river as they did twenty years ago. We hope their prophecy will come true.—Gridley Herald.

[The run of salmon to the head waters of the Sacramento has not been so heavy for ten years as it was on the recent freshet. With cessation of hydraulicing and enforcement of the fish laws, there seems good reason to believe that the Sacramento and San Joaquin could soon be replenished.—ED.]

Of all the days in the year for bay fishing last Sunday was the poorest. The weather was splendid, the tides good, but the fish would not bite.

The average catch of rock cod did not weigh over three pounds.

It is becoming painfully evident to the boatmen that the season is about over; for last Sunday many of them were unable to rent even one boat.

Large quantities of carp are being daily caught at Lake Merced. Paladini has entered into a contract with the Water Company, which gives him the sole right to catch carp in the lake. Through him the markets are supplied.

Close to Lowry's Station is a pond which is filled with carp. It is owned by a private gentleman, who has the carp trained so that when he whistles they stick their heads over the water in search for food. To a stranger the sight is an amusing one. The fish will answer only the whistle of their owner.

A writer in the Cornhill Magazine describes the carp as follows:

The carp is a fine looking fellow, with his golden olive brown back and sides. The edges of his scales are golden yellow and his belly is yellowish white; the fins are dark brown. Still water suits his ruminating disposition; the place to look for him is a pool or pond with great clumps of flag round about it, and masses of water weeds, with channels running between them which lead out to the open spots of deep water. I say to look for him; to catch him is a very different matter, for he is crafty as a fox in regard to bait.

On a warm summer evening you may see the carp moving about in all directions, their great black fins showing above the water. Some of them weigh four, and some of them as much as seven pounds. One peculiarity about hooking a carp is that you are almost sure to do it when you are fishing for some other fish which differs entirely in its ways and habits. He is a strong creature, and requires judicious treatment to bring him to grass. And when one has got him there, what to do with him is a question, at least to myself, with whom he is not the favorite he was with the monks of old, who were supposed to be good judges in the matter of eating. After admiring him as a fine bit of fish study, I have generally restored him to his native element, very little the worse for what he had undergone, for he is a regular die hard of a fish.

CRESSWELL BROTHERS,

LIVE STOCK

AND

General Auctioneers.

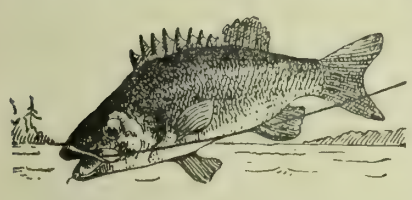
Particular Attention will be given to the Sale of HORSES and CATTLE of approved breeding.

CRESSWELL BROS. have established a reputation for efficiency and fair dealing, and having unexcelled facilities for the sale of Live Stock are in a position to warrant successful sales and strict honesty in every instance.

The largest Sale of Young Horses in 1889 was conducted by CRESSWELL BROS.

They also received the appointment of Official Auctioneers at the late Bench Show.

Horses and Cattle consigned to them for sale on commission will receive prompt attention and the best of care.



Sales Yards and Corral, 1628 Folsom Street.

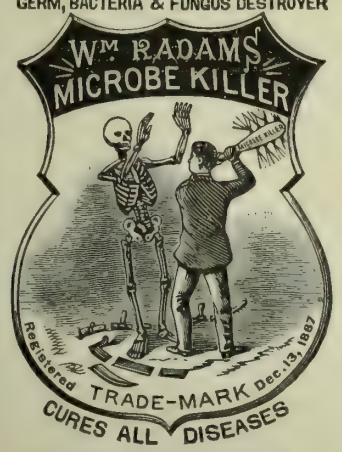
HORSES AND CATTLE PURCHASED ON COMMISSION,

See announcement of sales from time to time.

CRESSWELL BROTHERS,
1545 Market Street, S. F.

FIRE ARMS,

FISHING TACKLE,



Sporting Goods, Etc.

E. T. ALLEN,

416 Market St., San Francisco.

GERM, BACTERIA & FUNGUS DESTROYER

THE GREATEST MEDICINE IN THE WORLD.

Positively Cures Diseases

By destroying and removing their cause, viz.:

MICROBES.

A New Theory. A New Medicine.

Thousands Already Cured.

Send for book giving full information.

Radam's Microbe Killer CO.,

1332 Market Street, San Francisco.

THE PROPRIETORS OF RADAM'S MICROBE KILLER REFER BY PERMISSION TO THE WELL-KNOWN HORSEMAN AND LIVE STOCK AUCTIONEER, J. N. KILLIP, 22 MONTGOMERY STREET, AS TO THE EFFICACY OF THIS MEDICINE. BY INVESTIGATING, YOU WILL FIND THIS A

Universal Family Medicine

Adapted to Every Disease and Emergency.

SAMUEL VALLEAU. JAS. R. BRODIE

J. R. BRODIE & CO.,

Steam Printers,

—And Dealers in—

Poolseller's and Bookmaker's Supplies.

401—403 Sansome Street, corner Sacramento, San Francisco.

THE FRIENDLY STAKES

To Close DECEMBER 2d, 1889.

A Sweepstakes for 2-year-olds, Foals of 1888,

To be Run at the Summer Meeting of the

VASHINGTON PARK CLUB,

CHICAGO,

And at the Autumn Meeting of the

CONEY ISLAND JOCKEY CLUB,

At SHEEPSHEAD BAY' L. I.,

Of $50 Each, h. f.; $3,000 to be added by each Association.

Should the same horse win both races, $1,000 additional in plate or money will be given, half by each association. Horses entered at either place incur liability for one forfeit only and are entitled to start at either or both places; those starting for the Friendly Stakes at Washington Park are entitled to start for the FRIENDLY STAKES at the Coney Island Jockey Club without incurring liability for starting fees at the latter place.

Conditions of the FRIENDLY STAKES to be run at the Summer Meeting of the Washington Park Club, 1890.

Colts to carry 118 pounds, fillies and geldings 115 pounds. A winner of any two-year-old Stake race at Washington Park of the value of $2,500 to carry 5 pounds additional. Maidens never having run second for a race of the value of $3,000, allowed seven pounds. The winner to receive half of the joint subscriptions and $4,000 of the added money; the second $750 and the third $250 of the added money. Five furlongs.

Conditions of the FRIENDLY STAKES to be run at the Autumn Meeting of the Coney Island Jockey Club, 1890.

Colts to carry 118 pounds, fillies and geldings 115 pounds. The winner to receive half of the joint subscriptions and $2,000 of the added money; the second $750 and the third $250 of the added money. Winners of a race of the value of $10,000, or of two races of the value of $5,000 each, to carry ten pounds extra; or of one race of the value of $5,000, or of two of the value of $3,000 each, five pounds extra. Non winners of $1,000 allowed eight pounds.

FUTURITY COURSE, about three-quarters of a mile.

Note. The Sweepstakes will be paid over on October 1, 1890. The added money by each association immediately after each race.

Nominations to be addressed to CLERK of the CONEY ISLAND JOCKEY CLUB, 5th Ave. and 22nd St., New York, or to

J. E. BREWSTER, Secretary,

The WASHINGTON PARK CLUB, 32 Palmer House, Chicago.

SAN MATEO STOCK FARM

HOME OF GUY WILKES,

Record, 2:15 1-4.

Guy Wilkes' Book is full for 1890, and positively no more mares will be received. Book now open for 1891, at $500 the Season.

Sable Wilkes, three-year-old record 2:18, will be allowed to serve 25 mares in addition to those already engaged at $250 the season of 1890. SABLE Wilkes, 15½ hands, black horse, by Guy Wilkes, first dam Sable by The Moor; second dam Gretchen by Mambrino Pilot; third dam Kitty Kirkman by Canada Chief; fourth dam by Fanning's Tobe; fifth dam by imp. Leviathan.

Leo Wilkes, brown horse, four years, 16 hands, full brother to Sable Wilkes, will be allowed to serve 30 mares at $100 the season

Mares not proving with foal may be returned the following season free of service fee. Parties engaging the services of any of the above horses must send a deposit of 10 per cent. of service money with engagement. Pasturage $6 per month, and when the condition of the animal requires it, hay or grain, or both, are fed, the charge will be $12 50 per month. Good care will be taken of all mares sent to the Farm, but no liability will be assumed for accidents or escapes.

All bills are due at time of service, but must be paid by August 1st of each year. No stock will be allowed to leave the place until all bills are paid.

WILLIAM CORBITT.
San Mateo Stock Farm.

To Horse Breeders and Stockmen.

SPECIAL OFFER.

I offer for sale, title warranted, the best bargain in stock ranches on the coast. The ranch contains 857 acres; one mile frontage on Clear Lake; 340 acres alfalfa land; 420 acres now seeded to alfalfa, cuts six tons per acre; 70 acres in timothy cuts four tons per acre, both without irrigation. The rest of the land is fine rolling pasture, or can be cultivated. There are two dwellings on the property, one new, cost $2,000; three barns, capacity 350 tons of hay; two artesian wells, with pipes laid to houses, barns and dairy house. Fine cold spring on premises. An orchard of apples, pears and cherries now in bearing. Peaches, prunes, apricots, strawberries and all other fruits do well. At option of purchaser with the property will be sold 600 head of sheep, 60 head of cattle, 22 horses, and 7 young brood mares in foal. Also wagons, harness, farming implements, etc.

This is a grand opportunity to establish a stock ranch The S. F. & N. P. R. R. now runs within 35 miles of the property and will in a short time be extended quite to the place. Price $35,000, half cash. For further particulars, apply to

JOHN T. PETERS,
Agent for Sonoma Lake and Mendocino County Land.
29 New Montgomery St., in Grand Hotel

E. J. O'ROUKE.

I have the honor to announce to my old patrons and the general public that I may be found at my old stand, where, as heretofore, the

Shoeing of Horses,

whether for the Track, Drive, or for general work, will receive my personal attention.

E. J. O'ROUKE,
211 Ellis Street

Fine Hats,

Latest Styles and Colors.

Meussdorffer & Hubner

8 Kearny Street, San Francisco,

Next to New Chronicle Building

"DICKEY'S,"

SIXTH AVENUE AND D ST.

Near entrance to Bay District Track.

Choicest Brands of

WINES AND CIGARS.

A Delightful Resort.

Telephone 1485. J. R. DICKEY, Propr.

FOR SALE.

A Thoroughbred Saddle Horse

Six Years Old.

Has made ¼ mile in 25, and half in 53 seconds; about 15¾ hands high. Perfectly sound and handsome. Can be seen at O'GRADY'S STABLES, San Mateo. For further particulars address

K. O'GRADY, San Mateo

Or BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, 313 Bush Street.

DIXON DRIVING PARK

Association Races,

THURSDAY, Nov. 28, 1889,

AT THE

Dixon Driving Park

No. 1.—Running. Citizen's Stake of $100. Five-eighths of a mile and repeat; free for all; $10 entrance added to stake; second horse to receive $75.

No. 2.—Pacing. 2:25 class. Purse $250.

CONDITIONS.

Pacing purse will be best 3 in 5. National Association rules to govern pacing races. Rules of the Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association to govern running races. Entrance fee $10 per cent. of purse to accompany nomination; in the pacing race the purse is to be divided into three moneys: 60, 30 and 10 per cent. Five or more paid up entries required to fill, and three or more to start, but the Board reserves the right to hold the entries and start the race with a less number, and deduct a proportionate amount of the purse or stake.

A horse winning a race is entitled to first money, only except when distancing the field, then to first and third moneys.

Non starters must be declared out the day previous to the race before 7 o'clock P. M., or be required to start.

Entries to close with Secretary or President at Dixon, November 18, 1889, at 9 o'clock P. M.

G. WRIGHT.
President.

J. P. ROCHFORD,
Secretary.

Horse Pictures for the Office, the Stable and the Library.

Factory, 716 Mission St. Telephone, 3286

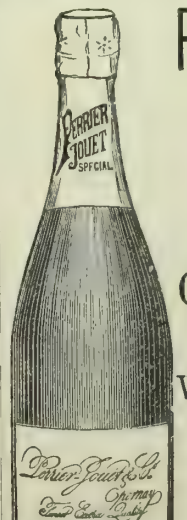
SCHUSSLER BROS.,

Manufacturers and Dealers in

Mirrors, Frames, Engravings

Mouldings,

Artists' Materials, Etc.



WHOLESALE AUD RETAIL.

27 GRANT AVENUE,

Formerly Dupont Street.

San Francisco, - - - California.

Particular attention given to the Framing of Horse Pictures in appropriate frames. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention.

PERRIER-JOUET

& Co.

EPERNAY

CHAMPAGNE

W. B. CHAPMAN,

Sole Agent for Pacific Coast.

For sale by all first-class Wine Merchants and Grocers.

ROME HARRIS. JOHN MERIGAN.

"Laurel Palace,"

N. W. corner Kearny and Bush Streets,

SAN FRANCISCO

'TOBEY'S,"

214 Post Street,

Between Grant Avenue and Stockton Street,

Adjoining New Hamman Baths.

D. J. TOBIN, Proprietor.

JESSE E. MARKS & CO.,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers of Choice Brands

Havana & Key West Cigars

922 MARKET ST., S. F.

W. T. WOODARD

Will hold a

BREEDER'S COMBINATION SALE OF

STANDARD-BRED STOCK

at

Lexington, Ky.,

FEBRUARY 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 24, 25, 1890.

Entries Close January 15, 1890.

FIRST-CLASS STOCK SOLICITED.

For Entry Blanks and Particulars, address

W. T. WOODARD, 120 East Main St., Lexington, Ky.

Have Arrived.

Thoroughbred Clydesdale Stallions and Mares.

Consisting of the following: Bismarck, 6 years old, 2300 pounds; Brown Ben, 6 years old, 2000 pounds; Boss, 3 years, 2000 pounds; Young Malcolm, 5 years, 1900 pounds; Madam (Clydesdale), 5 years, 1800 pounds, and Rose (Clydesdale), 6 years, 1800 pounds.

IMPORTED BY

J. Trestrail,

Per Steamship Mariposa, from Australia.

May be seen at Stables of

J. G. DOANE,

No. 1117 Golden Gate Avenue.

Catalogues and particulars of

KILLIP & CO., Auctioneers,

22 Montgomery Street, S. F.

DUANE WESTCOTT. SAMUEL BRECK.

HARDY

Send for Catalogue FREE.

NORTHERN GROWN

SEEDS

ALSO

Grass, Farm and Garden Seeds, Plants, Trees and Bulbs in Stock.

Correspondence Solicited.

WESTCOTT & BRECK,

406 and 408 Sansome Street, S. F., Cal.

Shoes For Comfort, Elegance and Durability.

Having my own Factory, and giving my personal supervision to all work I am in a position to warrant perfect satisfaction. Inspection invited.

Gentlemen's Park Riding Boots made to Order.

FACTORY S. W. cor. Battery and Jackson Sts.
SALESROOM - Pioneer Building, corner Stevenson and Fourth Streets.

A full line of Boots and Shoes constantly on hand, and rules for Self-Measurement by Mail.

JNO. T. SULLIVAN.

PHIL J. CRIMMINS. JOHN C. MORRISON.

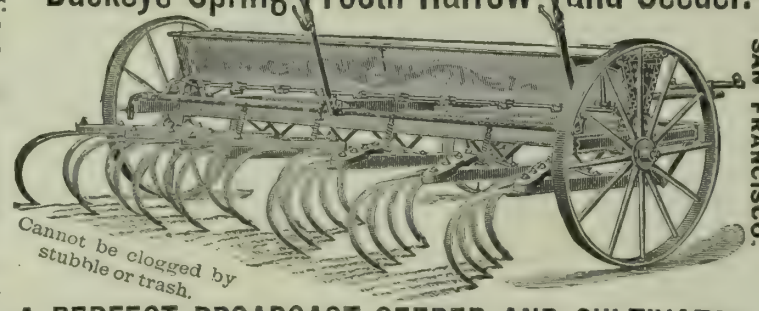
"Silver Palace,"

36 Geary Street,

San Francisco, Cal.

THE BUCKINGHAM.

OLD STRAIGHT WHISKIES.



141 Montgomery Street.
303 Bush Street, S. F.

M. J. BALFE, Proprietor.

P. P. MAST & CO.,

Buckeye Spring Tooth Harrow and Seeder.

31 MARKET ST. SAN FRANCISCO.

A PERFECT BROADCAST SEEDER AND CULTIVATOR.

SIZES, 6 3-4, 8, 10 and 12 FEET

Give them a Trial.

They will Speak for Themselves.

No Sale if not Satisfactory.

Address P. P. MAST & CO.,

31 Market Street, S. F.

COLE'S OSSIDINE.

An Infallible Cure FOR CURB

Splint Ring & Sidebone, Spavin ALL Bone Enlargements Sore Shins, &c.

Richard Cole

TRADE MARK

OSSIDINE

Results obtained at the well-known KALAMAZOO FARM.

KALAMAZOO, MICH., Sept. 15, 1888.

GENTLEMEN:—We have used OSSIDINE for the past two years, and consider it invaluable for Spring Tendons, Curbs, Ringbone, and Spavins; there is nothing equals it: and for us it effected a permanent cure where firing failed, although performed by one of the most successful veterinarians on the continent. We have recommended it to others with like success, and believe it has more merit than any blister ever used. Very respectfully yours,

S. A. BROWNE & CO., Prop's.

This scientific preparation is an absolute cure for all bony or callous lumps on horses, and is a more powerful absorbent than "firing," without creating the slightest blemish.

Acknowledged by leading horsemen of the world to be the ONLY preparation that will remove a Bone Spavin after it has become ossified.

We have authority also to refer to

Mr. JEROME I. CASE, Mr. FRED. GEBHARD,
Mr. JOHN PORTER (Trainer to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales),
And hundreds of others from whom we have very flattering testimonials.

One Style Only. $3.00 per Bottle.

A. P. BUSH & CO.,
149 Pearl St.,
BOSTON, MASS.,
Sole Agents for United States and Canada.
Beware of Imitations.

SOLD BY C. N. Crittenton, A. R. Van Nest & Co., and C. M. Moseman & Bro., NEW YORK CITY. Morrisson, Plummer & Co., Peter Van Schaack & Sons CHICAGO, ILL. John D. Park & Son, CINCINNATI, O.; Floyd & Foster, DETROIT, MICH.; F. S. Slosson, CLEVELAND, O.; Meyer Bros. Drug Co., ST. LOUIS, MO.; R. A. Robinson, LOUISVILLE, KY.; H. H. Moore & Sons, STOCKTON, CAL.

For Sale by Pleasanton Stock Farm Co.

ONE STALLION COLT, 1 year old, by DIRECTOR, 2:17, dam Sweetness, record 2:21½. This Colt is a half brother to Sidney, the great Sire of Pacers.

ONE STALLION COLT, 1 year old, by DIRECTOR, 2:17, dam Echora, record 2:28¾. This Colt is a full brother to Direct, record 2:23 at Three Years Old.

ONE FILLY, 1 year old, by CLOVIS, dam Nettie, trial record to Wagon 2:26.

ONE STALLION, 2 years old, by NUTMONT, he by Nutbourne, brother to Nutwood, dam by Electioneer. This Colt can trot very fast.

ONE STALLION 2 years old, by SIDNEY, dam Fernleaf. This Colt is a full brother to Gold Leaf

ONE FOUR-YEAR-OLD FILLY, GOLD LEAF, pacing record 2:15.

ONE THREE-YEAR OLD FILLY, by DIRECTOR, dam by a son of Whipple's Hambletonian. This is a grand mare in looks and breeding, and is very fast.

ONE Filly, 2 years old, by MONROE CHIEF, full sister to Miss Gilmer, sold at auction when three years old for $1,700.

ONE PACING HORSE, 4 years old, by STEINWAY, dam by Nutwood This horse is very stylish, and can show a 2:10 gait.

One Brown Mare, heavy in foal to DIRECTOR, by Gibraltar, dam May Day, by Cassius M. Clay. This Mare is very fast; showed a quarter in 34 seconds, and is a half sister to Margaret S., that got a record of 2:31 at twenty-four months old.

One Brown Mare, by DEL SUR, he by The Moor, heavy in foal to Director. This Mare is very fast.

For particulars call on or address M. SALISBURY, 320 Sansome Street, Room 96, San Francisco, or

ANDY McDOWELL, Pleasanton, Cal.

By-Laws

—AND—

Rules and Regulations

—OF THE—

NATIONAL

Trotting Association

ALSO THE

AMERICAN

Trotting Association,

AND THE

PACIFIC COAST BLOOD-HORSE ASSOCIATION.

With Betting Rules.

For Sale at the Office of the

Breeder and Sportsman,

313 Bush St., S. F., Cal.

Price, 25c. each.

By Mail, Postage Paid, 30c. each.

KILLIP & CO.,

LIVE STOCK AND GENERAL AUCTIONEERS,

22 Montgomery Street, San Francisco

SPECIAL ATTENTION PAID TO SALES OF

High-Bred Horses and Cattle.

At auction and private sale.

Will Sell in All Cities and Counties of the State.

REFERENCES.

HON. C. GREEN, Sacramento. HON. J. D. CARR Salinas.
J. P. SARGENT, ESQ., Sargents. HON. JOHN BOSES Colusa.
HON. L. J. ROSE, Los Angeles. HON. A. WALRATH Nevada.
J. B. HAGGIN, ESQ., San Francisco.

Represented at Sacramento by Edwin F. Smith Secretary State Agricultural Society.

At San Jose by Messrs. Montgomery & Rea, Real Estate Agents.

Being the oldest established firm in the live-stock business on this Coast, and having conducted the important auction sales in this line for the past fifteen years, amounting to one half a million of dollars, we feel justified in claiming unequaled facilities for disposing of live stock of every description, either at auction or private sale. Our list of correspondents embraces every breeder and dealer of prominence upon the Pacific Coast, thus enabling us to give full publicity to animals placed with us for sale. Private purchases and sales of live stock of all descriptions will be made on commission, and stock shipped with the utmost care. Purchases and sales made of land of every description. We are authorized to refer to the gentlemen whose names are appended.

KILLIP & CO., 22 Montgomery Street.

Old Hermitage Whiskies

"STEINER'S,"

No. 311 BUSH STREET,

San Francisco.

Under Breeder and Sportsman Office.

Singleton & Addington,

Bank Exchange,

2d and K Streets, Sacramento.

Superior Wines, Liquors and Cigars.

Breeders' Directory.

Advertisements under this heading 50c. per line per month.

HORSES AND CATTLE.

SETH COOK, breeder of Cleveland Bay Horses, Devon, Durham, Polled Aberdeen-Angus and Galloway Cattle. Young stock of above breeds on hand for sale. Warranted to be pure bred, recorded and average breeders. Address, Geo. A. Wiley, Cook Farm, Danville, Contra Costa Co., Cal.

MAMBRINO WILKES COLTS and FILLIES, full brothers and sisters to Gus. Wilkes 2:22, and Balkan 2:29¼, for Sale. Address SMITH HILL, Walnut Creek, Contra Costa County, Cal.

B. F. RUSH, Suisun, Cal., Shorthorns, Thoroughbred and Grades. Young Bulls and Calves for Sale.

PETER SAXE & SON. Lick House, San Francisco, Cal.—Importers and Breeders for past 18 years of every variety of Cattle, Horses, Sheep and Hogs.

HOLSTEIN THOROUGHBREDS of all the noted strains. Registered Berkshire Swine. Catalogues. F. H. BURKE, 401 Montgomery St., S. F.

CLEVELAND BAYS and Norman Horses, Jersey Cattle, and pure bred Poland China Hogs.—DR. W. J. PRATHER, Fresno, Cal.

G. VALENSIN. Valensin Stock Farm, Pleasanton, Alameda County, Cal.—The get of Sidney, 2:19¾; Valensin, 3 year old, 2:23; Shamrock, 2 year old, 2:25, out of first-class mares, for sale at reasonable prices.

MAPLE GROVE FARM—GEO. BEMENT & SON.—Registered Ayrshire Cattle and Essex Swine. Oakland, Cal.

HENRY C. JUDSON. Wild Idle Farm.—Breeder of Thoroughbred Horses. The home of "Wild Idle." P. O. Santa Clara; Box 223.

W. S. JACOBS, Sacramento, Cal. — Breeder of Thoroughbred Shorthorns and Berkshire Hogs.

J. H. WHITE, Lakeville, Sonoma County—Breeder of Registered Holstein Cattle.

EL ROBLAS RANCHO—Los Alamos, Cal., Francis T. Underhill, proprietor, importer and breeder of thoroughbred Hereford Cattle. Information by mail. C. F. Swan, manager.

SHORT-HORNS—Imported and Recorded Short-Horns of the best strains. Catalogues. Address P. PETERSON, Sites, Colusa Co. Cal.

PAGE BROTHERS.—Penn's Grove, Sonoma Co. Cal. Breeders of Short-Horn Cattle; Draft, Roadster and Standard Bred Horses.

VALPARAISO PARK. — Thoroughbred Durham Cattle. Address F. D. Atherton, Menlo Park.

JAMES MADDOCK, Petaluma, Cal.—Trotters trained at reasonable prices. Stock handled carefully. Correspondence solicited.

SITUATION WANTED.

An industrious and capable man wants to secure situation as stallion groom. Can give good references. Address,

GROOM,

This Office.

WANTED SITUATION

An industrious and capable man wants to secure a situation as Trainer and Driver. Can give best of references of his horsemanship. Fifteen years experience in the East and in California, and is considered a good and careful man in handling colts. Open to engagement after December 1st. Address,

TRAINER AND DRIVER. this office.

Highland Farm,

LEXINGTON, KY,

Home of Red Wilkes.

Standard-bred Trotting Stock

For Sale,

Sired by Red Wilkes, Wilton, 2:19¼; Allandorf and Sentinel Wilkes, out of highly bred Standard Mares of the most fashionable blood of the day.

W. C. FRANCE, Proprietor.

PASTURAGE

AND

FIRST-CLASS CARE

TAKEN OF

Gentlemen's Road Horses and Trotters.

Colts Broken and Trained to Harness or Saddle.

Twenty new Box Stalls. First-class Pasturage, and the best of care given to all horses. Terms, $1 per month. Satisfaction Guaranteed. Address,

K. O'GRADY,

Laural Creek Farm,

SAN MATEO, CAL

Brushes.

BUCHANAN BROS.,

Brush Manufacturers,

609 Sacramento Street, two doors above Montgomery.

Horse Brushes of every description on hand and made to order. Bristle Body Brushes our Specialty

John D. Gall. Jas. P. Dunne

"The Resort,"

No. 1 Stockton Street, cor. Ellis,

San Francisco.

The Wine that is held in HIGHEST ESTEEM by the LEADING CLUBS and in SOCIETY

IS

MOËT & CHANDON

-:- "WHITE SEAL," -:-

THE PERFECTION OF A DRY

Champagne

For Sale by all the Leading Grocers and Wine Merchants.

SHERWOOD & SHERWOOD,

PACIFIC COAST AGENTS,

212--214 Market Street, San Francisco, Cal.

TO HORSEMEN!

PREPARE!!

Your Stallion Advertisements for the

Breeder & Sportsman

For the Coming Season---1890.

We are pleased to announce that we have the best facilities for furnishing

Stallion Pictures,

Stallion Cards,

Pedigrees, Folders,

Contracts, Bills, Etc.

We make a specialty of this department of our business, and have UNRIVALED FACILITIES FOR LOOKING UP PEDIGREES and doing accurate and handsome work.

Promptness, Good Work, Low Prices.

TO REACH ALL

OF THE

Horsemen and Breeders on the Pacific Coast

ADVERSISE in the

Breeder & Sportsman,

313 Bush Street, S. F.

BOYCE TABLETS.

Leg and Body Wash.

THE BOYCE TABLETS are packed in a nicely decorated metal box with hinged lid—one hundred tablets in each box; directions for use plainly engraved upon the box; therefore, the convenience of the package—no liability to leakage and breakage—economy and ready solubility, together with the absolute certainty of their action, will at once commend the use of BOYCE'S TABLETS to the intelligent horsemen of the country. TABLETS sufficient to make one hundred pints of leg and body wash are conveniently carried in an inside coat pocket or in the hip-pocket of the trousers.

The BOYCE WASH can be applied ALL OVER THE BODY WITHOUT FEAR OF BLISTERING OR AFFECTING THE KIDNEYS.

The BOYCE WASH will cure CRACKED HEELS, PUFFS, STOCKINGS, SCRATCHES, INFLAMED TENDONS and FEVERED LEGS.

Price per Box of One Hundred Tablets, $2, sent postpaid to any part of the United States; six boxes for $10. A sample of BOYCE'S TABLETS will be mailed to any address on receipt of four cents to pay postage. These TABLETS are warranted to keep in any climate. Address

BOYCE TABLET COMPANY,

600 Wabash Avenue, - - - Terre Haute, Indiana.

J. A. McKERRON, Pacific Coast Agent,

228-230-232 Ellis Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Pacific Coast.

Blood Horse Asso'n.

Fall Racing Meeting, 1889.

Bay District Track.

San Francisco,

Regular Days:

SATURDAY, November 16.

TUESDAY, November 19.

THURSDAY, November 21.

SATURDAY, November 23,

First Race at 2:00 P. M.

General Admission to Grounds and Grand Stand, ONE DOLLAR.

The Bay District Course adjoins the Golden Gate Park, and is reached by either the Geary Street, McAllister Street or Powell Street lines of Cable Cars, or by fine drives via Golden Gate Avenue and the Park.

M. F. TARPEY.
First vice-President.

E. S. CULVER, Secretary.
313 Bush Street, S. F.

Winter Racing!

Entrance Free. Entrance Free

AN ALL RUNNING MEETING WILL BE HELD AT

AGRICULTURAL PARK

Los Angeles, Cal.,

December 25, 26, 28, 31,

AND

JANUAR 1, 1890.

Owners and trainers can be supplied with entry blanks, and any other information, on application to the undersigned.

H. T. RODMAN.
Secretary and Treasurer.

Or at the office of BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN,
313 Bush Street, S. F., Cal.

HORSES PURCHASED ON COMMISSION.

THOROUGHBREDS A SPECIALTY.

Will select and buy, or buy selected Animals for all desiring, for reasonable compensation

KEEPS PROMISING YOUNGSTERS IN VIEW.

L. M. LASLEY, Stanford, Ky.

References:—J. W. Guest, Danville, Ky.
B. G. Bruce, Lexington Ky.
S. H. Baughman, Stanford, Ky.
G. A. Lackey, Stanford, Ky.
Geo. McAlister, Stanford, Ky.
First National Bank, Stanford, Ky.

NOTICE.

C. BRUCE LOWE,

Pedigree Stock Agent,

19 Bligh Street,

SYDNEY, New South Wales.

Reference—J. B. HAGGIN, ESQ.

$3,000. GUARANTEED. $3,000.

THE

BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN'S

-:Futurity Stakes:-

For Mares Covered in 1889.

Trotting Foals of 1890.

Subscriptions payable as follows: $10 on January 1st, 1890, when nominations close; $10 August 1st, 1890; $10 January 1st, 1891; $10 January 1st, 1892; $10 January 1st, 1893, and $50 for starters, payable July 1st, 1893.

Race to be mile heats three in five in harness; to be trotted on a course in California offering the largest amount of added money. Race to be governed by the Rules of the Association, of which the selected track is a member. Nominators not making all payments forfeit former ones, and the entire amount of forfeits and payments, together with added money, will be divided as follows: 65 per cent. to first horse, 20 per cent. to second horse, 15 per cent. to third horse.

The BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN guarantees $3,000, to be divided as above stated.

If the payments, etc., amount to more than $3,000, the additional amount, after deducting cost of advertising, will also be divided in the same proportion to the winning horses.

Nominators whose mares prove not to be in foal, will be refunded the amounts paid upon furnishing a written statement to that effect before August 1, 1890.

In nominating, give name of mare and stallion to whom she is bred, and within sixty days after foaling forward description of foal.

NOMINATIONS close on JANUARY 1st, 1890, but may be made any time BEFORE THAT DATE, WITHOUT RISK OF LOSS, AS PAYMENTS ARE REFUNDED FOR MARES NOT PROVING IN FOAL.

ADDRESS,

BREEDER and SPORTSMAN,

313 BUSH STREET, SAN FRANCISCO.

$3,000. GUARANTEED $3,000.

Southern Pacific Co.

(PACIFIC SYSTEM.)

Trains leave and are due to arrive at San Francisco.

LEAVE (FOR)	FROM OCTOBER 6, 1889.	ARRIVE (FROM)
7.30 A M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose ...	*12.45 P M
7.30 A M	Sacramento and Redding, via Davis	7.15 P M
8.00 A M	Martinez, Vallejo, Calistoga and Santa Rosa	6.15 P M
8.30 A M	Los Angeles Express, Fresno, Santa Barbara and Los Angeles	11.15 A M
8.30 A M	Niles, San Jose, Stockton, Galt, Ione, Sacramento, Marysville and Red Bluff	5.45 P M
10.30 A M	Haywards and Niles	2.15 P M
*12.00 M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose	* 3.45 P M
*1.00 P M	Sacramento River Steamers	* 6.00 A M
3.00 P M	Haywards, Niles and San Jose	9.45 A M
3.30 P M	2d Class Sacramento, Ogden and East, connects at Davis for Knight's Landing	10.45 A M
4.00 P M	Stockton and §Milton; Vallejo, Calistoga and Santa Rosa	9.45 A M
4.30 P M	Sacramento and Knight's Landin via Davis	10.15 A M
* 4.30 P M	Niles and Livermore	* 8.45 A M
* 4.30 P M	Niles and San Jose	‡ 4.45 P M
5.30 P M	Haywards and Niles	7.45 A M
6.30 P M	Central Atlantic Express, Ogden and East	7.45 P M
7.00 P M	Shasta Route Express, Sacramento, Marysville, Redding, Portland, Puget Sound and East	7.45 A M
8.00 P M	Sunset Route, Atlantic Express. Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Deming, El Paso, New Orleans and East	8.45 P M

SANTA CRUZ DIVISION.

‡ 7.45 A M	Newark, San Jose and Santa Cruz	‡ 8.05 P M
8.15 A M	Newark, Centerville, San Jose, Felton, Boulder Creek and Santa Cruz	6.30 P M
2.45 P M	Centerville, San Jose, Felton, Boulder Creek and Santa Cruz	*11.20 A M
4.45 P M	Centerville, San Jose, Almaden, and Los Gatos	9.50 A M

Coast Division (Third and Townsend Sts.)

7.25 A M	San Jose, Almaden and Way Stations	2.30 P M
8.30 A M	San Jose Gilroy, Tres Pinos; Pajaro, Santa Cruz; Monterey; Pacific Grove, Salinas, San Miguel, Paso Robles, Santa Margarita (San Luis Obispo) and principal Way Stations	6.12 P M
10.30 A M	San Jose and Way Stations	5.02 P M
12.01 P M	Cemetery, Menlo Park and Way Stations	3.38 P M
* 3.30 P M	San Jose, Tres Pinos, Santa Cruz, Salinas, Monterey Pacific Grove and principal Way Stations	*10.00 A M
* 4.20 P M	Menlo Park and Way Stations	* 7.58 A M
5.20 P M	San Jose and Way Stations	9.03 A M
6.30 P M	Menlo Park and Way Stations	6.35 A M
‡11.45 P M	Menlo Park and principal Way Stations	‡ 7.23 P M

A M for Morning. P M for Afternoon.
*Sundays excepted. †Saturdays only. ‡Sundays only.
‡Mondays excepted. §Saturdays excepted.

6 DOS

DO you bet?
DO you go to the races?
DO yon know HOW to bet?
DO you know BEST system?
DO you want Good ADVICE?
DO as you ought to do:

SEND FOR PROSPECTUS TO

GOODWIN BROS.,

241 BROADWAY, NEW YORK,

Who will mail you

FREE OF CHARGE,

one of their circulars showing the GREAT SUCCESS they have met with from the time they established the system of "Point" providing in this country in 1881; it also contains

MANY OTHER INTERESTING ITEMS

with which the general public is not familiar.

HEALD'S

Business College, 24 Post St.

San Francisco.

The most popular school on the Coast
P. HEALD, President. C. S. HALEY, Sec'y.
Send for Circulars

The Poodle Dog

"Rotisserie,"

FIRST-CLASS IN EVERY RESPECT.

Elegant Family Dining Rooms.

S. E. cor. GRANT AVE. and BUSH STREET.

ANDRE POTENTINI, Proprietor.

BROU'S INJECTION

A PERMANENT CURE

in from 3 to 6 days, of the most obstinate cases; guaranteed not to produce Stricture; no sickening doses; and no inconvenience or loss of time. Recommended by physicians and sold by all druggists. J. Ferré, successor to Brou), Pharmacien, Paris.

KENNEL ADVERTISEMENTS.

Great Dane Puppies for Sale

Sire Cæsar, 10523, A. K. S. B., winner of 1st, and special, San Francisco, 1888; 1st and special, San Francisco, 1889.

Dam Dora, 10531 A. K. S. B., winner of 2nd San Francisco, 1889; H. C. San Francisco, 1888. Puppies whelped Sept. 8, 1889, steel and silver gray and nicely marked. Price $35.

Also puppies by Cæsar out of a prize English Mastiff bitch. Price $25. Address.

NAHL.
2436 Central Ave, Alameda Cal.

POINTER PUPPIES.

TWO WHITE AND LEMON BITCH PUPPIES, nearly five months old, perfectly healthy, of good size, very handsome and superbly bred, being by Climax (Bang Bang—Bellona) out of Drab D. (Vandevort's Don—Vandevort's Drab), for sale. Address

WILLIAM DEMOTT, San Rafael.

Fox-hound for Sale.

FINE ENGLISH FOX-HOUND BITCH, well broken. Winner of 2d prize at San Francisco Bench Show of 1889. Price $50.

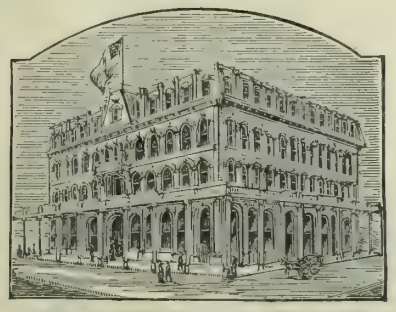
Apply to

CLABROUGH, GOLCHER & CO.,
630 Montgomery Street, S. F.

Stud Irish Setter.

CHAMPION MIKE T., 6435, A. K. S. B. (Nemo—Nida) winner of first whenever shown, sixteen firsts and specials, never beaten. In the stud to approved bitches, fee $25. Irish setter puppies by Champion Mike T. 6435 A. K. S. B.—Champion Lady Elcho T. 6451 A. K. S. B., for sale. Two pointers, a year old, by Rush T. 10069 A. K. S. B. -Champion Patti Croxteth T. 10128 A. K. S. B. for sale. Address.

A. B. TRUMAN,
1425 Steiner St., S. F., Cal.



California Horse Shoe Co's

I have used in my business the Steel and Iron Shoes made by the above Company, and take great pleasure in saying they are the best I have ever used in twenty-two years' practice. I have never seen anything like the STEEL SHOE made by this Company. I can fully recommend them to every practical Horseshoer in the country. Yours respectfully,

No. 8 Everett Street. JOHN GRACE.

GOLDEN EAGLE HOTEL

Corner SEVENTH and K STREETS, SACRAMENTO.

FIRST CLASS IN EVERY RESPECT.

The LARGEST and FINEST HOTEL in the City.

W. O. BOWERS, Proprietor.

Free 'Buss to and from the Hotel.
Telephone, Telegraph Office and Messenger Service at Hotel

R. LIDDLE & SON

538 Washington St., S. F.,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

Guns, Rifles and Pistols.

A Full Line of FISHING TACKLE and SPORTSMAN'S GOODS.

Orders by mail receive prompt attention.

For any Kind of a

SORE THROAT

USE

McCLELLAN'S

DIPHTHERIA REMEDY

An Unfailing Cure..

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS

Scientific Horse Shoeing

BOYD & MORGAN

Are now permanently located at

No. 106 Golden Gate Ave.,

A few doors above Crittenden's Stables.

Partibular attention given to Track and Road Horse. Our Motto: "The Shoe to fit the foot vs. The foot to fit the shoe."

We have references from the leading Trainers, Drivers and Breeders of the Coast. Give us a trial.

THE B. & Y. HOOF OIL

GOOD FOR MAN OR BEAST.

Will positively destroy the effects of the "Cattle Fly"

A SURE CURE for Sores, Scratches, Cuts, Wounds, Bruises, Corns, Thrush, Foot Rot, Quarter Crack, Sand Crack, Dry, Brittle, Hard and Fevered Hoof, or any local trouble about the Horse.

Warranted to make the hoof grow without cause of complaint on the part of the horse-shoer for gumming his rasp.

B. & Y. New Process Neats Foot Oil,

Best Leather Oil made.

CHEAP AND LASTING.

Recommended by leading Harness Men, Drivers and Trainers. Is well adapted to wet weather, as it does not open pores like old process goods.

Ask your dealer for it, or send to

HUNT & DOREMUS,
99 FLOOD BUILDING, - San Francisco.

HORSE OWNERS!

TRY GOMBAULT'S

CAUSTIC BALSAM.

A Safe, Speedy and Positive Cure for Curb, Splint, Sweeny, Capped Hock, Strained Tendons, Founder, Wind Puffs, all Skin Diseases or Parasites, Thrush, Diphtheria, Pinkeye, all Lameness from Spavin, Ringbone or other Bony Tumors. Removes all Bunches or Blemishes from Horses and Cattle.

Supersedes all Cautery or Firing.

Impossible to Produce any Scar or Blemish.

Every bottle sold is warranted to give satisfaction. Price $1.50 per bottle. Sold by druggists, or sent by express, charges paid, with full directions for its use. Send for descriptive circulars. Address

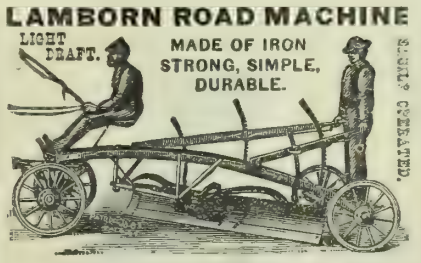
LAWRENCE, WILLIAMS & CO., Cleveland, O.

THE BOHANON SULKY!

BEST MADE.

Perfect Riding Buggies.



Breaking Carts.

Fine Repairing.
Reasonable Prices

Bohanon Carriage Co., 161-163 Ogden Ave., CHICAGO.

Send for Catalogue.

LAMBORN ROAD MACHINE

TRUMAN, HOOKER & CO.

SAN FRANCISCO. - - CALIFORNIA

IRON TURBINE WINDMILL & BUCKEYE PUMP

THE MOST Powerful and Durable Combination FOR RAISING WATER IN THE WORLD.

IF YOU WISH A GOOD REVOLVER PURCHASE ONE OF SMITH & WESSON'S

Finest small arms ever manufactured and the first choice of all experts. In calibres 32, 38 and 44-100. Single or double action, Safety Hammerless and Target models. Best quality wrought steel, carefully inspected for workmanship and stock. Unrivaled for finish, durability and accuracy. Do not be deceived by cheap malleable iron imitations often sold for the genuine article. They are unreliable and dangerous. The SMITH & WESSON REVOLVERS are stamped upon the barrels with firm's name, address and dates of patents, and are guaranteed perfect. Insist upon having them, and if your dealer cannot supply you, an order sent to address below will receive prompt attention. Descriptive catalogue and prices upon application.

SMITH & WESSON,
Springfield, Mass.

VETERIRARY.

DR. THOS. BOWHILL, M.R.C.V.S

VETERINARY SURGEON.

Graduate New Veterinary College, Edinburgh. Awarded the Highland and Agricultural Societies Medals for Horse Pathology, Anatomy, Physiology and Histology. The Williams' Prize, '84-'85, for highest works in professional examinations, and six first-class certificates of merit. Honorary Member Illinois State Veterinary Medical Association.

CENTENNIAL STABLES,

1523-25 California Street. Telephone No. 66.

Veterinary Infirmary and Residence, 2209 Jackson Street. Telephone 4128.

W. H. WOODRUFF.

Veterinary Dentist,

AT FASHION STABLES,

221 Ellis Street, San Francisco

Improved Instruments, Humane Methods, First-Class Work.

DR JOHN C. HINGSTON

M.R.C.V.S., London, England.

Veterinary Surgeon & Dentist,

The most noted Operator in the Profession.

CASTRATES IN TWO MINUTES with the animal standing. Acknowledged to have no equal with the Firing Iron.

PERFORMS ALL OPERATIONS WITH THE ANIMAL STANDING.

Specialist in Lameness.

The highest testimonials from the most noted Owners, Trainers and Breeders in America and England.

Will visit any place on reasonable terms.

Office,
ST. GEORGE STABLES,
Bush Street. above Kearny.

Residence,
THE "BALDWIN" HOTEL,
San Francisco.

Dr. Wm. H. Jones, M.R.C.V.S.

Veterinary Surgeon,

(CLUB STABLES)

409—411 Taylor Street, San Francisco.

Consultations by letter, and cases of URGENT NECESSITY in the interior will receive prompt attention.

H. E. CARPENTER,

Veterinary Surgeon,

Graduate of Ontario Veterinary College, Toronto, Canada.

RESIDENCE AND VETERINARY INFIRMARY

331 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco.

Telephone 3069.

OPEN DAY AND NIGHT.

No risk in throwing Horses. Veterinary Operating Table on the premises.

DR. C. MASOERO,

Veterinary Surgeon,

Successor to DR. A. DeTAVEL,

GRADUATE OF ROYAL VETERINARY COLLEGE, TURIN.

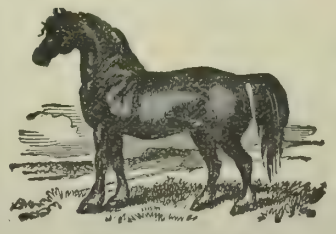
OFFICE AND INFIRMARY,

No. 811 HOWARD STREET,

Between Fourth and Fifth. SAN FRANCISCO.

Telephone, No. 457.

R. WATKINS,



Veterinary Dentist,

Of twelve years practice, is now permanently located in San Francisco, and may be found at C. S. Crittendens' Golden Gate Livery and Riding Academy, 24 to 28 Golden Gate Avenue.

Will treat ailments of the horse's mouth, and cure all such. Siderein Pullers and Tongue Lollers etc. Satisfaction guaranteed. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention. Examination Free.

DR. FISHERMAN'S

Carbolized

Alkaline

LOTION

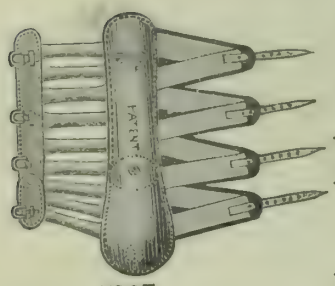
Cures after all other Remedies have Failed.

Sprains, Sores, Bruises, Galls, Swellings, Scratches, Thrush, Grease Heels, Curb, Rheumatism. Restoring Weak Knees and Ankles to their original condition. As a wash it insures flossy manes and tails. Valuable as an internal remedy for Coughs, Colic, Congestion or Fever. You really get Half a Gallon of Remedy for $1.00, or Two Gallons for $3.00, after being adulterated as directed.

This Liniment has received the endorsement of some of our best horsemen. Recommended by Jos. Cairn Simpson. See BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of November 10th, 1888.

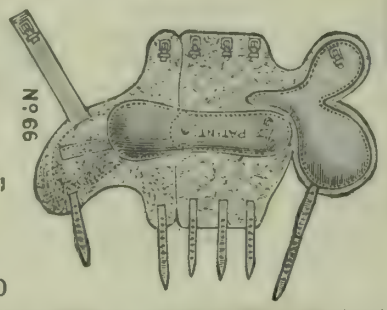
LYNDE & HOUGH, Proprietors.

116 California St., S. F.

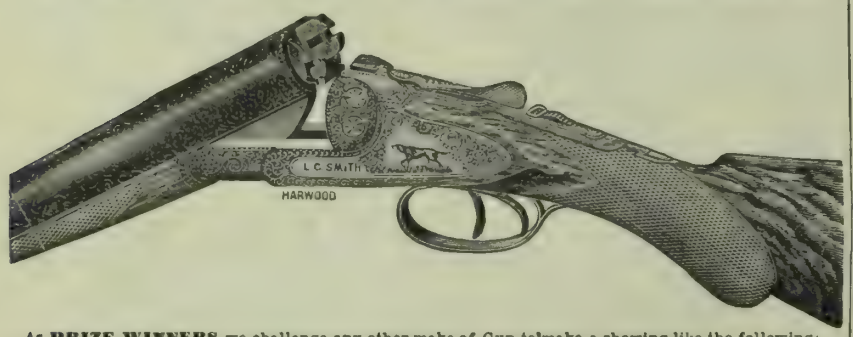


Or ask your Druggist for it.

Everything for



Trotter or Runner.



At J. A. McKERRON'S,

228, 230 and 232 Ellis St., San Francisco

The "L. C. Smith" Guns.

As PRIZE WINNERS we challenge any other make of Gun to make a showing like the following:

All Previous Records Broken.

Never before were 100 live pigeons killed straightly in a similar match, under same conditions, until the L. C. SMITH GUN was made and did it. In the hands of Mr. Al Bandle, of the firm of Bandle Arms Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, this wonderful score was made. Capt. A. H. Bogardus scoring with a 12-gauge L. C. Smith in the match against Bandle, the very high score of 95. A remarkable score with a 12-guage.

——OFFICIAL SCORE——

Made in the mate h at 100 live pigeons, Hurlingham rules, barring gauge of gun, between Capt. A. H. Bogardus of Elkhart, Ill.,and Al Bandle, of Cincinnatti, Ohio, on Independent Gun Club grounds, Cincinnati, Ohio, Christmas Day, December 25, 1888:

AL BANDLE, 10-gauge L. C. Smith gun.....	CAPT. A. H. BOGARDUS, 12-gauge L. C. Smith gun...
1121112111 2121112112 11221	1122121222 0122121121 01112
1111122112 2111112212 11121	1012122111 1110112111 11222
1121221112 1112111112 11121	1221212122 2211012111 12111
1211121111 1222111211 11212—100	1111112221 1111112122 22111— 95

2 Denotes killed with second barrel.

S. A. TUCKER, Meriden, Conn., Referee. A. C. DICK, Cincinnati, O., Trap Puller.
ED. TAYLOR, Cincinnati, O., Official Scorer. H. BOGARDUS, Elkhart, Ill , Trap Announcer.

J. O'KANE, 767 MARKET STREET.

Horse Boots, Clothing and Furnishings,
For Track, Driving Training and Stable.
Every requisite for Horsemen.
Harness, Medicines, Etc.

1889 # SOUTHER FARM 1889

P. O. Box 149. San Leandro, Cal.

JESTER D. 5696.

- Almont, 33..... Sire of 31 trotters and 2 pacers in 2:30 list.
  - Alexander's Abdallah, 15,.... Sire of 6 in 2:30 list.
    - Hambletonian, 10, Sire of 41 in 2:30 list.
    - Katy Darling
  - Sally Anderson.....
    - Mambrino Chief, 11. Sire of 6 in 2:30 list.
    - Kate, by Pilot Jr., 12. Sire of 9 in 2:30 list.
- Hortense.....
  - Messenger Duroc, 106..... Sire of 15 in 2:30 list; also sire of Elaine, dam of Norlaine, yearling rec. 2:31½.
    - Hambletonian 10. Sire of 41 in 2:30 list.
    - Satinet, by Roe's Abdallah Chief,
  - Nelly McDonald Thoro-bred.. (See Bruce's American Stud Book.)
    - Colossus, son of imp. Sovereign.
    - Maid of Monmouth, By Traveler.

See BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of August 25, 1888, for photograph and description.

FIGARO.

- Hambletonian, 725 (Whipple's)
  - Guy Miller.....
    - Hambletonian, 10. (Rysdyk's)
    - Bolivar Mare.
  - Martha Washington.....
    - Burr's Washington.
    - Dam by Abdallah, 1.
- Emblem.....
  - Tattler, 300 ....
    - Pilot, Jr., 12.
    - Telltale.....
      - Telamon.
      - Flea.
  - Young Portia...
    - Mambrino Chief, 11.
    - Portia by Roebuck.

See BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of September 1, 1888, for photograph and description.

The above stallions will make the season of 1889 at the Souther Farm, one and one-half miles northeast of San Leandro. Each horse is limited to thirty mares besides those of the Souther Farm. Terms, for either horse, Twenty-five Dollars for the season, with privilege of return in season of 1890, if mare fails to prove with foal. Good accommodation and the best of care for all mares sent to the Farm, but no responsibility for [illegible]

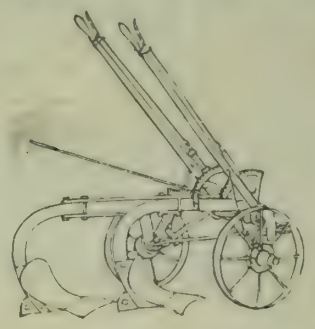
Colts Broken and Trained. Horses [illegible] any manner desired at all times.

GILBERT TOM[illegible]

J. C. JOHNSON & CO.,

IMPORTERS, MANUFACTURERS, AND DEALERS IN

HARNESS & SADDLERY



☞ We carry a large assortment of goods in our line, from the cheapest to the best made.

400 to 404 Market Street

Corner BATTERY STREET, San Francisco.

Peerless GANG PLOWS!

Two, Three or

Four Gang.

The ONLY Gang Plow Strong Enough for Satisfactory STEAM PLOWING.

Testimonials.

"The 3-Gang 10-inch PEERLESS PLOW is doing excellent work. with only four small horses. We recommend it." POUETT & ARNOLD, Madrone, Cal.

"I have used the 'John Deere' and other makes, but recommend your PEERLESS GANG PLOW as the most suitable for the adobe lands of this valley." JOHN MALCHI, Suisun, Cal.

"We have two PEERLESS PLOWS and want another. We have tried a 4 Gang 'Bradley,' and would not give one PEERLESS for half a dozen of them."
J. H. & S. W. SEAVERS, Colusa, Cal.

"I have tried the PEERLESS with the 'New Deal,' and much prefer the PEERLEES."
JOHN HUNTER, Salinas, Cal.

☞ Send for Circular and Price List to

BAKER & HAMILTON,

Sole Agents,

San Francisco and Sacramento, Cal.

Agricultural Implements and Wholesale Hardware.

The PARKER Hammerless Shot Gun.

At the Annual Tournament of 1889, held at Cannes, France, the grand prize, consisting of 2000 Francs and a Valuable Cup. was won by The Parker Hammerless.

The first Parker Hammerless Gun made won the championship of America at Decatur Illinois.

SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED CIRCULAR.

PARKER BROS., Makers,

New York Salesroom, 97 Chambers St. Meriden Conn.

Poplar Grove Breeding FARM.

Standard-bred Trotters, Colts and Fillies.

The get of CLOVIS, 4909; PASHA, 2039; APEX, 2935.

For Sale.

Address S. N. STRAUBE, Poplar Grove Breeding Farm,
Fresno, Cal.

Inspection by intending purchasers invited, and information by mail.

TWENTY PAGES.

BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN

Vol XV. No 21.
No. 313 BUSH STREET.

SAN FRANCISCO, SATURDAY, NOV. 23, 1889.

SUBSCRIPTION
FIVE DOLLARS A YEAR.

BUDD DOBLE, 2:13 1-2.

It has been the usual custom to present to our readers, pictures of Pacific Coast horses, but this week the plan is deviated from, owing to the prominence which this celebrated pacer has obtained, by the remarks made in many of the Eastern papers avent the judging at Lexington, during the late breeders meeting. Budd Doble was sired in 1883, but he was not asked to show his speed until four years old, his success was not great however, he managing to get second money, in two races only. As a five year old he won three races at Detroit, Hillsboro and Maysville making a record of 2:19¼. This season in his first attempt, at Detroit he showed very much improved form and lowered his record to 2:15¾. Not withstanding he won two heats at Hartford he was beaten by Hal Pointer. At Terre Haute, Hal Pointer was again the victor and the subject of this sketch was withdrawn after four heats had been paced. The following week at Lexington a very sensational race of six heats was paced and it is that contest that has raised the ire of many sporting journalists in regard to the judging and what one of the judges wrote about the race. The Breeders Gazette was probable more pronounced than any of the others, and from that paper we quote as follows:

Referring to the Roy Wilkes race and the fine and punishment imposed, the general expression is, "Served him right." Now, was it right? Possibly, yes; but was not the punishment too extreme; did it not amount to persecution? The trouble all came from the pernicious practice of laying up heats to, as usually claimed, make sure of winning a race, but, as you well know, this is but a pretext to rob at the mutual pool box. Who are the drivers that have principally engaged in this practice? Why, most of the old field marshals, will be the answer. Custom has almost made it turf law to lay up heats, and when the novices see the artists, "generals," etc., playing the game and getting away with it, why not they try the same scheme? More of this later on.

The judges' stand at Lexington was presided over by P. P. Johnson, Esq., President of the National Trotting Association, whose object is to purify the turf and divest it of all immoralities and wrong acts. Mr. Johnson's chief of staff was Editor Busbey, who, if judged by his written words, would visit condign punishment upon all evil-doers, who, in any manner, should seek to debase turf sports.

Recently, at Denver, a very rich man, for using vile, vulgar and violent language to the judges was ruled off all the tracks of the American Trotting Association. At Denver financial position could not save the man from disgrace. At Lexington this person who so outraged public decency was given full recognition by Messrs. Johnson, Busby & Co., his colts participating in the stakes. At St. Louis and at Terra Haute, very properly, his nominations were not allowed to start. If I am correctly informed, had this same millionaire been expelled by the National Trotting Association, he would not have been permitted to start over any track, member of the American Association. The prosperity of the American Trotting Association is no longer a surprise to those familiar with the policy of both associations.

Davies and Robens were punished for dropping two heats for the purpose of improving the odds. Grant the justice of the punishment and that a good precedent was established. Later on we find that for three—not two, but three—heats the pacer Budd Doble could not do better than 6, 6, 7, no heat paced by him better than 2:20, but his speed "came to him" in the fourth, so that he could win in 2:15½, the fifth in 2:13¾, and the sixth in 2:18½. Besides one horse had won two heats before Budd Doble recovered his speed.

Now for the difference between "tweedle dee and tweedle dum." Busby, editor and judge, says of this race: "Then Budd Doble rushed his namesake into the the thickest of the fight. He won the fourth, fifth and sixth heats. Many wounded were discovered after the smoke had lifted from the battle-field." Gallant, wasn't it? "Many wounded" by Doble, many robbed by Davies! Bosh! I am not defending or apologizing for Davies, but he has won every race he has started for this season but one (not a robber's record), and that one he lost after making a gallant fight against a combination at Cleveland.

The Roy Wilkes race referred to was the free for all in which Robens, the driver of Roy Wilks, laid up two heats, and he was then removed by the judges, the new driver winning the race. The occupants of the judges' stand fined Robens $500, and L. A. Davis, the owner of Roy Wilkes, $1,000.

This well-known pacer is now at Oakland, where he will winter.

Budd Doble is a well-bred horse, as his pedigree shows.

BUDD DOBLE, 2:13¾.

- Indianapolis, 2:21.
  - Tattler, 2:26
    - Pilot Jr. 12 — Pilot / Nancy Pope
    - Telltale — Telamon / Flea
  - Indiana
    - Mambrino Chief 11 — Mamb. Paymaster / untraced
    - Daughter of — Bertrand / untraced
- Kate, 2:31½.
  - Stocking Chief 2038
    - Clark Chief 89 — Mambrino Chief 11 / Little Nora
    - Daughter of — Cadmus / by Parrish's Pilot
  - Daughter of
    - Caven's DavyCrockett — Blackburn's Davy Crockett / untraced
    - Pacing mare — untraced / untraced

Lexington (Ky.) Letter.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—As you are aware, there is a growing demand in the East for California horses. In my sale of February next I hope to have representatives of every popular sire in your State, and think it would pay your breeders to consign their horses to my sale rather than send them elsewhere. I believe a colt or filly with like breeding and individuality will realize twenty per cent. more money in Lexington than at any other point on the American continent. Here sales attract all of the Eastern buyers, and in addition have Kentucky, Tennesse, Virginia, and the great West to draw from.

I have already received the promise of three choicely bred sons and a daughter of the great George Wilkes, and am encouraged in the belief that this catalogue will contain more grandly bred animals than were ever before included in one sale. It was at my sale of last February that the phenomenal Bell Boy (a California bred three-year-old) realized $51,000, then the highest price ever paid for a horse in this country, and is to-day the highest price ever realized for a horse at public auction.

My terms are six per cent. commission and $1 per day stable bill while in Lexington. Advertising, auctioneers, etc., are paid by me.

For information, particulars or entry blanks, address
W. T. WOODARD, 120 East Main St.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 21, 1889.

Colts at San Miguel Stock Farm.

The colts and fillies at Mr. Iwin Ayres, San Miguel Stock Farm have all been named and now the youngsters are launched to the world with all the eclat imaginable. Mambrino Wilkes has already four in the charmed circle with a splendid prospect of increasing the number before the end of next season. This year he has made an increase with Clara P. 2:29½, and although Balkan still retains his last years mark of 2:29½ he has been timed in several races between 2:22 and 2:23, although the company was so hot that he could not win. There is no fear, but that the newly named weanling, will add many a new lustre to the brow of the old horse. The colts with their breeding, marks, names etc., is as follows:

SARGON, Brown colt, white on right hind pastern and coronet of left hind foot, by Mambrino Wilkes, dam Contra by Electioneer, 2nd dam by Billy Cheatham, foaled April 18th.

GONDAR, Bay colt, black points, by Mambrino Wilkes, dam Piracy by Buccaneer, 2nd dam Louise (sister to Zanderlyn, record 2:21) by Geo. M. Patchen Jr., 3l, 3rd dam by Joseph, son of Hermes, foaled May 22nd.

BAIKAL, Bay colt, white on right hind pastern, star in forehead, by Mambrino Wilkes, dam Fanny Fern, by Jack Hawkins, son of Boston, foaled April 6th

WILFAN, Brown filly, white on coronet of right hind foot, by Mambrino Wilkes dam Fancy, by Bonner, son of Whipple's Hambletonian, 2nd dam Sophia, by Williamson's Belmont.

KARLUK, Brown colt, star in forehead, by Mambrino Wilkes, dam Cora (dam of Clara P, 2:29¼) by Circasian, 2nd dam by Jack Hawkins, foaled March 23rd.

KATHOR, Bay filly, twin to above colt.

NAVASSA, Black filly, no white, by Mambrino Wilkes, dam Fredolia, by Fred Arnold, 2nd dam by Mambrino Wilkes, foaled June 16th.

LARSA, Brown filly by Mambrino Wilkes, dam Virginia by Brown's Bellfounder, foaled June 13th

ALIMA, Bay Filly by Mambrino Wilkes, dam Nana by Nephew, 2nd dam by Woodburn, foaled April 13th.

ARBELA, Bay filly, white on left hind pastern and right hind coronet, dam Molly Fern by Capt. Cole, son of Whipple's Hambletonian, 2nd dam Fanny Fern by Jack Hawkins.

ANAURUS, Bay filly by Mambrino Wilkes, dam Maud by Don Juan, son of Speculation, 2nd dam by Young Niagara, foaled March 1st

CRISPI, Bay colt by Mambrino Wilkes, dam by Fred Arnold, 2nd dam by Eugene Casserly, foaled March 5th.

The following colt is sold:—

Brown colt by Mambrino Wilkes, dam Narka by Nephew, 2nd dam Bake by Chieftain, 3rd dam Fanny Hayes (dam of Gold Note, 25) by Jack Hayes.

If your horses have worms give them Simmons Liver Regulator—a safe and sure remedy.

Thorough-breds and work-horses are kept in condition by the use of Simmons Liver Regulator.

NAPA.

PALO ALTO REDUCES HIS RECORD TO 2:12 1-4. STAMBOUL ALSO REACHES THE SAME NOICH.

A Grand Son Of Electioneer Trots Inside 2:20.

GRAND PERFORMANCES.

Last Saturday was the day selected by the large stables to try and best the records. A success has been made, but not such time as was anticipated by many who had watched the horses in their work through the circuit. When the finishing day of the P. C. T. H. B. A. came around there were several who desired still another chance to demonstrate what their horses could do. After careful consideration the Napa track was selected for the trials, as the Bay District course was occupied by the running division and it became necessary to pick out another track hastily and one close at hand, as the horses had to be kept "on edge" for the final attempts of the year; Petaluma, Napa and Pleasanton were each thought of in turn, but as there was every probability of fine weather until the new year, Napa carried off the palm and manager Harry Starr in conjunction with the Directors at once set to work to fit the track for the reception of the distinguished visitors. Monday afternoon and Tuesday was all the time allowed them for on Wednesday Messrs. Marvin and Hickok appeared on the scene of action and took the work over to themselves. Morning noon and night these well known knights of the rein could be seen devoting their time to the preparation of the track and in between times, speeding their horses so as to fit them for Saturday's work. Friday evening a special commissioner of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN started for Napa to witness the great events which were promised for the following day. Early on the morning of Saturday a trip was taken around the track and never was there a course which was in better order for the trials about to take place. For about twelve feet from the pole the ground was like the bed of a billiard table that being the portion on which the most time had been spent. As the trains rolled in from different points, the visitors came to see the work and all were willing to acknowledge that the track was the fastest that had ever been prepared in this State. The Eastern visitors who came upon the trains from San Francisco were amazed at the work performed and one and all proclaimed the track the acme of perfection. Early in the morning Stamboul was shod for the task he had before him, and scores of persons stood around while the job was being performed. Never was more care taken of, and greater attention paid to, the shoeing of any horse than that given to the great son of Sultan on that Saturday morning. There is no hesitation in saying that every one present felt that it was his bounden duty to see that every attention was given to the most minute detail, for every one wanted to see Stamboul win the large wager for L. J. Rose, and at the same time a low prayer went up from each that he beat the great mark set by Axtell, so that California might gain possession of that most coveted honor, the lowest stallion record. At last the work was completed and the horse was sent for a preliminary warming up. He looked well, acted well, and gave every indication of being able to sustain the honors of the State.

But that was only one horse, and Palo Alto had as many admirers, if not more than the great repesentative of the mighty Moor family. Senator Stanford's adherents of the thoroughbred line of breeding for trotters, were out in full force, and many were the discussions that arose as to the wisdom of the theory. One gentleman said after looking Palo Alto carefully over "I would not mind wagering a trifle that if he were prepared for it, Palo Alto could run a mile in 1:42." One thought he was too fine, but the large majority did not care how he looked as long as he could beat 2:12. Quite a number of horses were on the outside portion of the track during the early morning hours and a large crowd stood around looking at the speedy trotters as they received their preliminary work.

One sun burned son of the soil asked in my presence "What that was going up the track." An answer was given by his companion, "Why, that's Adonis." It is true Hickok was driving, but there were many, better posted, who knew that it was the Coombs' Bros. yearling colt by Stamboul that the "Tallyrand of the Turf" was giving a few little touches of education to. The Directors of the Association are mostly young men imbued with a great love for the sport of the turf, and all were on hand to render every assistance necessary to have the amusements of the afternoon pass off pleasantly. After careful consideration, J. H. White, President of the P. C. T. H. B. Association, I. DeTurk, President of the Santa Rosa Association, and F. W. Loeber of the local organization, were selected as judges, while the responsible position of timers fell to the lot of Dr. C. W. Aby, manager of the Langtry farms; Hon. F. L. Coombs, and Wilfred Page, Secretary of the P. C. T. H. B. A. Able men, one and all, and the Eastern gentleman who was backing old Father Time against Stamboul knew that he would have an equal show in the scale of justice with the late owner of the noted stallion.

Mr. Charles Scott of Napa, acted as marshal of the day, and after the course was cleared the opening event was announced in the presence of about 1500 persons. Among the better known were Ariel Lathrop, representing the Palo Alto Stable; Hon. L. J. Rose, who was present to see if Stamboul would trot in 2:12; W. H. Crawford from Lexington, Ky., had a seat in the timer's stand to protect his interest in the wager made with Senator Rose. M. Salisbury of the Pleasanton Stock Farm, was present, accompanied by his trainer and driver, Andy McDowell. Dr. Latham, whom everybody knows, was an interested spectator; as was likewise D. M. Reavis of Chico. Geo. Guerne and his son after whom Alfred G. is named, had come over from Santa Rosa to see if their well-known Anteeo colt could reduce his record of 2:23. Capt. Martin Bulger of San Francisco, had a front seat, and Dr. Maclay, the President of the California Veterinary Society, could be seen just over the wire in the grand stand. Mr. Kemper was down from Oakville, while still another portion of the county was represented by W. W. Whitten. Mr. Valensin was on hand to see if the Sidney yearling Faustino would start, and he was accompanied by L. A. Davies, of Roy Wilkes fame.

One gentleman who rarely talkes about horses, but is frequently seen on the prominent tracks, is Prof. Heald, and he was there to witness the flyers. The Directors of the Napa Agricultural Association were on hand to manage affairs, and under their able guidance everything passed off smoothly,

While the crowd kept pouring in to the enclosure, Mr. Ed. Bithers trainer for Jerome I. Case drove out behind the world renowned Phallas 2:13¾ and jogged the great stallion a couple of miles the first in 2:29½, and the second in 2:28½. There are but few in this State who have seen the only horse who ever trotted the fourth heat of a race in 2:13¾, so a description may not be out of place here. His color is a deep seal brown; stands 15.3 hands; he has a clean-cut, expressive head, a happy medium between the Stars and Hambletonians; full, lustrous eyes; ears good length, thin and nicely tapered; good length of neck, much longer than the average Hambletonian; straight, powerful back and broad loin, the croup and rump moderately sloping to a flag which he carries nicely (a feature which he imparts to all his progeny); deep, massive quarters, powerful stifle, with legs that have a perfect combination of bone, muscle and tendon, feet well rounded, with a strong, tough wall. He is by Dictator, dam Betsey Trotwood, she by Clark Chief. It may just be possible that an early season will be made with Phallas in this State before his return to the East.

It was almost two o'clock before Bow Bells, an Electioneer colt was brought out to commence the events which were on the programme. He was hardly at himself, the journey from the Bay had caused him to lose speed, and he could do no better on the first attempt than 2:41, so Mr. Loeber announced from the stand that after an interval he would be given another trial.

Mr. Marvin then brought out Sunol, and the judges announced that owing to an injury which the three year old trotting Queen han sustained, while on her way to the boat, at San Francisco, Sunol would not try to beat her record but would give an exhibition mile. It seems that the filly slipped and fell to the ground skinning her quarters, and it was fortunate the injury was no greater. Notwithstanding the misfortune, the daughter of Electioneer was in fine fettle and trotted a wonderful mile. During the preliminary scoring, she acted rather badly and did not take kindly to the work, and it was several minutes before Marvin nodded for the word. She got off in good shape, and went to the quarter in 31½ and only 1:05 was necessary to complete the distance to the half. Here Marvin drew in the filly and kept her well within herself as he did not care to have her go too fast. The three quarter pole was reached in 1:42¾ and she came under the wire in 2:15. The audience was delighted with the exhibition, and showed their appreciation by vigorous applause.

The track was now occupied by Stamboul and the yearling Faustino, both of whom were given warming up heats. At the conclusion of this work James A. Dustin, Faustino's driver, requested permission from the judges to withdraw the Sidney baby from the programme, as he did not like the manner in which the colt worked. He promised to try and improve him by the following Saturday and then go for a low record. Permission having been given to Mr. Dustin to withdraw Faustino, Palo Alto was brought out accompanied by a runner, the latter causing a great deal of laughter by the manner in which he cantered up the track. There were but few who indulged in the merriment that knew the breeding of the thoroughbred, or their hilarity would have been changed to pity, to see such a royally bred horse brought down to the menial position of a teaser. The runner was Lucifer by Hindoo, dam Mattie Amelia, by King Alfonso, 2nd dam Amy Farley by Planet, 3rd dam Lulu Horton by imp Albion, 4th dam Martha Dunn by imp Sovereign, etc. Orrin A. Hickok drove the runner, and of course Charles Marvin was behind Palo Alto. When Marvin nodded, the Stanford favorite was going a merry clip and he reached the quarter pole in 32¾ a 2:09 gait. The next quarter is a little up hill and 1:05 was the announcement as Palo Alto trotted past the half, the three quarters were negotiated in 1:39¾, but in that last quarter he made a disastrous break, causing him to lose at least a second, and when within one hundred yards of the wire he again left his feet but Marvin quickly caught him and he trotted squarely under the wire in 2:12¼, the second fastest mile up to then ever trotted in the State. It is due to Mr. Marvin to state that his injured arm inconvenienced him greatly, he not having recovered from his spill out on the Bay District Track. If he had had the necessary amount of strength it is likely that Palo Alto would not have broken the second time and the stallion record would at least have been equalled if not beaten. Again the delighted spectators broke out in loud applause and Mr. Marvin lifted his hat in response to the cheers.

Bow Bells was once more given a chance to get in the 2:30 list, but the little fellow was sadly handicapped as there was a scraper away up on the backstretch which he had to go around, and within a few feet thereafter he broke and it was hard work to make him settle. If it had not been for his breaking he would beyond question have accomplished his task, as it was he made the mile in 2:32½.

The next event on the card was the attempt of Stamboul to beat his record of 2:13¾ and at the same time try to win the Rose wager that he would make 2:12 during the year 1889. Stamboul usually carries his head away to one side, giving him a rather strange appearance, but on Saturday he was bent on work and looked neither to the right nor to the left, but kept his head straight out in front and stuck to his work faithfully. The runner was taken in charge of by Marvin and his driving on the last eighth of the mile was one of the finest bits of generalship seen in many a long day. When the word was given from the stand the $40,000 stallion started of in good shape and accomplished the quarter in 33 seconds. He would have to keep this same gait up to the wire to win Mr. Rose's bet and the query was everywhere asked, could he do it? The second quarter was in a quarter of a second less, the timers watches showing 1:05¾ for the half mile. When on the turn in the third quarter, Marvin who had been hanging behind came up with the runner, and Stamboul wanted to go faster, but Hickok was afraid he would break and took him back just a trifle, and the stallion consumed 34 seconds in making the third quarter. The official time given by the watch holders was 1:39¾ for the distance, when the son of Sultan swept into the straight. From this point he came home with a great burst of speed and completed the mile in 2:12¼ only taking 32½ seconds for the last quarter. Mr. Crawford was sitting in the timers stand and as the game horse passed under the wire, not having made skip or break in the mile, he pressed forward to the timers with his own watch held in his shaking hand and inquired what time they made. When Dr. Aby showed 2:12 1-5 and Frank Coombs showed exactly the same time, Crawford drew a long breath, his $5,000 was not gone yet, there was still another show for it, and as he sat down once more the bleached face gradually disappeared and the nervousness quickly left him; it was a narrow shave and the possession of $10,000 had hung for the moment on the decision of the timers, and the Lexington man had retained his interest in the wager by the infintisimal part of a second. As the horse came back to the wire, the most rapturous applause was lavished on both horse and driver. The people seemed carried away with the great feat which they had just seen performed, and Napa had two more low records added to the credit of her track. When Mr. Hickok returned to the stand to weigh, he was rather nervous and claimed that he was entirely to blame in not touching or beating 2:12; he said that when Marvin came up on the turn with the runner he was afraid that Stamboul would break and took him back not feeling that the stallion had the speed which he afterward displayed coming down the homestretch. To Mr. Marvin, every credit is due, for the way in which he encouraged the trotter in his work, and it was patent to every one present, that with fair weather, Stamboul with Hickok behind him could reduce the stallion record. He now stands in the same niche as Palo Alto and California has the credit of having two of the three fastest trotting stallions in the world.

When the excitement had somewhat subsided Mr. Marvin brought out Sport 2:22¾, (by Piedmont—Sontag Mohawk) and sent him a mile to beat his record, but 2:25 was the best he could do.

Sonoma County breeders have universally taken advantage of the chance they had to avail themselves of the services of Anteeo, the first son of Electioneer to get into the 2:30 list, and as a consequence there are many of the grandchildren of the Palo Alto sire in and about Santa Rosa, Napa and surrounding towns. During the circuit Alfred G. made a record for himself of 2:23, and it was to beat that, that he faced the wire under the handling of Marvin. That the four-year-old was speedy was a well known fact, after the fight he made for first honors against Atto Rex at Oakland, but even the enthusiasts did not believe he could enter the "twenty" list. When the judge said "go," he struck a fast gait and got to the quarter in 34 seconds; he was at the half in 1:10 and at the three-quarters in 1:45¼. He came down the long homestretch with a splendid burst of speed but made a break a hundred and fifty yards from home, but was caught in magnificent style and passed under the wire in 2:19¾, thus making the first grandson of Electioneer to beat 2:20.

The Welkin fairly rang with the plandits of the excited horsemen. When the announcement of the time was made from the stand, Mr. George Guerne was the happiest man on the grounds. His friends clustered around him and it took him some time to shake hands with the many who wanted to congratulate him.

We now come to a special race arranged between Cora C., a pacer, by Whippleton, and Mambrino Chief Jr., a trotter, by McDonald Chief, he a son of Clark Chief. Harry Starr drove the pacer, which is owned by H. W. Crabb, and Thomas Smith, of Vallejo, drove the trotting stallion which he owns himself. They were sent off to a very even start. The mare broke on the upper turn and in a moment or two afterwards the horse broke, but while she was hard to settle he caught very prettily and it took the stallion but a very short time to get thirty lengths in the lead, Cora C. proving a bad breaker.

Mambrino Chief Jr. again broke on the homestretch from the effects of interfering, but he is a handy breaker and he was on his feet in no time and came under the wire an easy winner in 2:34½.

The second heat was a reversal of the first one, as Cora C. paced very steadily while Mambrino Chief Jr. broke twice. The mare won by a dozen lengths, the time being 2:31¼.

The third heat furnished a surprise, inasmuch that Cora C. went to the quarter pole in 34½ seconds and kept up the same speed almost to the half, but she broke badly on the backstretch and had to be brought almost to a stand still, whereupon Smith gradually reduced the space between the two and finally passed Cora. From here out, the stallion had things all his own way and he won the heat in 2:39¾. Owing to darkness, the judges postponed the race until Monday, at 2 o'clock P. M.

There were many who left on the afternoon train for San Francisco, but a few remained to avail themselves of the hospitality of the Napaites, which is proverbial. Around the stove of the sitting room in the Napa Hotel, on Saturday evening, many an almost forgotten story was told, and old battles of the turf were fought over again. Ed Bither related his victories with Phallas, and how he drove Jay-Eye-See to his record. Ashland, Lodi, Langford and Norfolk, although dead to the turf, had many of their deeds told over to willing listeners, and taken all in all, a very pleasant evening was spent at the horseman's home.

When the train arrived from San Francisco on Sunday morning, the city papers were eagerly scanned to read an account of the performances of the preceding day. One of the dailies was illustrated by pictures, among which was one purporting to be Palo Alto and his runner up. The artist evidently made a mistake, for both of the horses in the sketch are trotters, but a little trifle like that makes no difference to the great daily of the present day. In the columns of the same paper there was a statement to the effect that W. H. Crawford had made an assertion to the effect that the Napa track was thirty feet short of a mile. The Directors were very indignant that such an accusation had been made, and arrangements were made on Monday morning to have affidavits forwarded to each of the daily papers, showing that the course was full length. The following is a copy of the document:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, } ss.
COUNTY OF NAPA. }

O. H. Buckman, being duly sworn, deposes and says: That he is County Surveyor of Napa County. That he laid out the race course for the Napa Agricultural Association. That he has measured said race track and that the same is one mile one inch and a fraction of an inch in circumference measured three feet from the pole. O. H. BUCKMAN, County Surveyor.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 18th day of November, 1889. W. E. DEWEESE,
Notary Public.

Mr. Crawford was very indignant when he saw the statement, and hastened to send a telegram to W. J. McCollum, one of the Directors of the Napa Agricultural Society, as follows:

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18, 1889.

To W. J. McCollum:—Please say to Messrs. Coombs that the Examiner's report is without foundation. That every heat was trotted just as announced. W. H. CRAWFORD.

The aspersion cast on the track was of a most damaging nature, and the reporter is much to blame for having written such a statement. If the weather had held good, it was the intention of the association to give another day's racing, but the elements seem inclined to put a barrier to any more phenomenal performances this year.

The total amount of money won by Mr. Haggin in stakes and purses this year amounts to $106,473, divided as follows:

Name, etc.	Sts.	First.	Amt. Won.
Salvator, ch c, 3, by Prince Charlie Salina	8	7	$71,180
Firenzi, b m, 5, by Glenelg—Florida	21	12	21,505
Aurelia, ch m, 5, by Algerine—Santa Lucia	3	2	5,870
Fitz James, br c, 4, by Kyrle Daly—Electra	21	3	3,713
Kern, b c, 3, by Ten Broeck—Kathiaen	16	1	1,800
Geroltimo, ch c, 4, by Glenelg—Bessie Peyton	7	1	800
Fernwood, br c, 2, by Falsetto—Quickstep	4	1	500
Fresno, br c, 3, by Falsetto—Cachuca	4	1	350
Hawkstone, b c, 2, by Hindoo Queen Maud	4	1	260
Prose, b f, 4, by Onondaga—Poetry	7	1	500
Mirabeau, br c, 4, by Enquirer Matlingly	2	1	195
Rosetta, ch f, 2, by Joe Hooker—Rosa B	10	1	100
Totals	111	27	$106,473

Mr. John Bailhache, of Healdsburg, and I. DeTurk, of Santa Rosa, have been in attendance on the Board of Review of the American Trotting Association during the week.

Now that big prices and offers for thoroughbreds are the order of the day, it may be interesting to note that Mr. McCalmont has been tendered £10,000 for Timothy, to go abroad. But Mr. McCalmont is not at present "short" for a few thousands (nor is he likely to be), and as he is a good sportsman and, moreover, is fond of the horse, he declined to be tempted by a price which is doubtless much above Timothy's real value. This is the right feeling for a man to have.

The Derby of 1890 was made the medium of a little trade in London on Friday for the first time, and Surefoot was made favorite at 4 to 1! The only other candidate inquired after was Le Nord, and the Baron's colt was supported to the tune of 125 to 25. When we consider the performances of the two colts it is no matter for surprise that they should be pounced upon as the best goods, more especially as the flying Signorina is not engaged in the race, but when, on the other hand, we contemplate the fact that the winter has to be got through—a season that discovers and develops many weaknesses of the highly-bred horse—it is truly strange that such prices should be taken seven months before the race.

Young Stock From Kentucky.

Funck Bros. and T. J. Drais of Farmington, San Joaquin County, have recently returned home after an extended visit to the blue-grass region of Kentucky, and are very enthusiastic over the number of fine trotting stock they saw whilst there, and the high-class trotting and fast performances at the Lexington meeting in October.

Whilst in Kentucky, these gentlemen visited the majority of the breeding establishments, including that of W. C. France, Highland Stock Farm, and of which place they speak in terms of the highest praise. Highland Farm is described as consisting of about 600 acres of the richest soil of that region, all down in blue-grass, and divided off into fields and paddocks, supplied with a perfect system of water-works as are necessary for the requirements of a great establishment. The stabling and barns are well finished, convenient and extensive, and a mile track probably the best on any private place in the State is immediately contiguous.

The stallions at Highland Stock Farm are the renowned Red Wilkes, Wilton, Allandorf, Sentinel Wilkes, Pilot Mambrino and Dark Night, whilst not the least prominent feature is a grand collection of about one hundred broodmares, handsome and sound, highly bred, of great uniformity, finish and individuality, composed of judicious selections of the Mambrino Patchen, George Wilkes, Almont, Belmont, Kentucky Prince and other most famous families of the day. The young stock, some 50 or 60 in number, are stated to be very superior and promising, and for which there was apparently much demand.

It being the week of the Lexington trotting meeting, Highland Stock Farm was inundated with visitors, all anxious to get a glimpse at the noted stallions, inspect the famous broodmares or make some selection of young stock to take home. Both gentlemen made several purchases from Mr. France, and speak with a considerable degree of pleasure and satisfaction of the courteous treatment and fair-dealing they received in the transaction.

Mr. Drais has brought home a representative of the famous Wilkes-Mambrino cross, a dark grey weanling filly by Onward, 2:25¼, out of Blanche Patchen (half-sister to Alcryon, 2:15½) by Mambrino Patchen, second dam Lady Blanche by Hoagland's Privateer, third dam by Alexander's Abdallah. This is an exceedingly fine filly of substance, make and quality. She has good bone and muscle with neat yet stout conformation, whilst her breeding is in lines that are productive of fast speed and fameness. Her sire, Onward, has quite a good record, and is also the sire of 26 in the list, including Houri, 2:17, and Acolyte, 2:21, his dam being the famous old Dolly, who also produced Director, 2:17 (sire of Direct, 2:18½, Margaret S, 2:19½) and Thorndale, 2:22¼, by Mambrino Chief. The dam of the filly Blanche Patchen is one of the most handsome and valuable brood mares on Mr. France's establishment—a typical Mambrino Patchen mare—and out of the dam of Alcryon, 2:15½, one of the most famous and fastest race horses of the year, is sufficient testimony as to the lines of speed in which her breeding lays.

The purchase of Funck Bros., was a bay weanling filly by Wedgewood 2:19, out of Helen Wilkes by George Wilkes 2:22, second dam by Edwin Forrest represents a strain that for high class breeding cannot be surpassed. This is a filly of handsome color, attractive appearance, with a neat looking head and neck and all the quality, substance, bone and finish peculiar to the Wilkes family. She is evenly and maturely developed, has quite a fine set of limbs and great indications of speed. Her sire Wedgewood, is a race horse himself, well known as begetting stock with speed stamina and endurance, chiefly Favonia 2:15, Conway, pacer, 2:18¾, Connaught 2:24 and Nugget 2:26¾, is by Belmont renowned as a great producer having now thirty in the list inclusive of nine this year and whose stock continue to breed on all the time. His dam was Woodbine (dam of Woodford Mambrino 2:21½ sire of Abbotsford 2:19½, and Mambrino Dudley 2:19¾), by Woodford. The dam of the filly is a remarkably fine looking daughter of George Wilkes (and for whom Mr. France paid big money) a family too well known as great speed producers throughout the States to need comment, and out of Kitty Forrest, one of the few daughters of Edwin Forrest in Kentucky, and which blood for brood mares line is in great demand. Her third dam is Kitty Kirman (dam of Gretchen, the dam of Romero 2:19½, Del Sur 2:24, and Inca 2:27), by Fanning's Canada Chief and thence thoroughbred. Any practical man who analyses the breeding of this filly, cannot help being struck with her rich pedigree, and coupled with individuality and high promise makes her quite a valuable investment.

Both Messrs. Faulk Bros and Drais report the youngsters as standing the long journey exceedingly well and being in excellent condition on their arrival at Stockton. We congratulate them on their practical judgment in bringing such high-class goods to the State, and wish them every success in such undertakings. All seem more than satisfied with their dealings with Mr. France, and we should not seem surprised were they, as a result of their experience, to take another trip to Kentucky in a little while and return with something exceedingly choice.

Another Californian gentleman, Mr. Lowell of Sacramento, has recently visited the home of Red Wilkes and secured from Mr. France what we estimate will prove quite a prize. This is Red Wedge, 11,278, a bay weanling by Red Wilkes, first dam Ulva, record 2:27, trial 2:19, by Wedgewood, 2:19, second Talejo by Alexander's Abdallah, third dam Madame Dudley (grandam of Mambrino Dudley, 2:19¾, by a Bashaw horse. Here is very select breeding with an extremely handsome individual backed up by race speed of the right kind, and an animal that will undoubtedly prove very valuable to his owner and quite an acquisition to the Pacific Slope.

Samuel Gamble, of San Francisco, has also within the past few days purchased of W. C. France, the bay weanling filly by Red Wilkes, dam Patchen Girl by Mambrino Patchen, second dam Daisy Dean by Joe Downing, third dam Kitty by Redmon's Boston, son of Redmon's Valentine. Also the bay weanling filly by Wilton 2:19¼, dam Ball by Homer, (son of Mambrino Patchen), second dam Susie by Marion, son of Lexington, third dam by Brown's Bellfounder, son of imported Bellfounder. Both these fillies are very handsome, highly-bred and of considerable promise. They are quite a credit to their breeder, Mr. France, and being selected by such a practical judge as Mr. Gamble, out of a member amounting to nearly thirty, specially for this State, is sufficient proof of their intrinsic merit and high value.

For horses and cattle—Simmons Liver Regulator. One dose is worth 100 dollars.

To make a slow horse fast tie him to a post, or give him S. L. R. (Simmons Liver Regulator.)

New York Jockey Club. Spring Meeting 1890.

ENTRY LIST.

Great Eclipse Stakes, for two year olds. A sweepstakes of $250 each, h f, or only $10 if declared by January 1st, 1890, or $25 if declared by April 1st, 1890, or $50 if declared by May 1st, 1890, with $10,000 added of which $2,000 to the second and $1,000 to the third. Three-quarters of a mile. 22 entries.

Auburndale Stable—br c St. Crescent, by imported St. Blaise—Lovelle; b c by Duke of Montrose—Reina Victoria; ch c by Ten Broeck—Belle of Nautura; blk or br c by Imp. Pizarro—Tea Rose; b c by Imp Tympanum—Creda.

Bathgate, Chas. W.—ch c by Spendthrift—Longitude.

Belmont, August—b c Lepanto, Kingfisher imp. Leighton; b c Fritz, Imp. St. Blaise—Fillette; ch c St. Patrick, Imp. St. Blaise—Imp Patience; b c Masher, Imp. The Ill Used—Magnetism; ch c Potomac, Imp. St. Blaise—Susquehanna; ch c St Omer, Imp. St. Blaise—Olitipa; ch c Jack of Diamonds. Imp. St. Blaise—Imp. Nellie James; ch c St Charles, Imp. St. Blaise—Carita; ch f Beauty, Imp St Blaise—Bella; b f Seramis, Imp. St. Blaise—Sultana; ch f Flavia, Imp. St. Blaise—Flavina.

Blunt, Edward—b c Somerset, Stratford—Imelda.

Brown, Ed.—b c Oberlin, Onondaga—Glenora.

Brown, S. S.—ch c by Imp. Richmond—Mayfield; ch c by Imp. Richmond—La Vigale; ch c by Imp. Richmond—Gladys

Bruce, L. O —ch c Brentano, Imp. Great Tom—Addie Hart; b f Krikina, Imp. Muscovy—Krik; blk f Vocaletta, Vocalic Vietta.

Castle Stable—b c by Imp. Glenelg—La Polka; b c by imp. Glenelg—Return.

Cheppu, W. H.—ch h by Miser—Peradventure; ch c by Miser—Bonaventure; blk c by Volturno—Black Libby; b c by Leonatus—Periwinkle; b f by Volturna—Emily F; b f by Gunnar—Annie S.; br f by Volturno—Merry Lass; blk f by Volturno—Vergie Shepherd.

Clay, Jas. B.—br c Elknore, Longfellow—Locust Bloom; blk c Pompet, Longfellow - Fuchsia; b c Chesterton, Longfellow - Insignia; blk f Mon Droit, Falsetto—Imp. Playingfields.

Connor, Wm. M.—ch c Glenbriar, Imp. Glenelg—Susie Linwood; ch f Minuet, Imp. Woodlands—Waltz; ch f Gardelia, Imp. Woodlands—Glidelia; b f Imperieuse, Imp. Pizarro—Imogene; br f Beata, Strathmore—Beatrice.

Corrigan, Ed.—b c by Falsetto—Mary Howard; blk f by Powhatan—Hattie Harris.

Daly, Marcus—b c by Imp. Sir Modred—Carissima; ch c by Imp. Sir Modred—Trade Dollar; br c by Imp. Darebin—Imp. Angenoria; b c by Ban Fox—Imp. Queen; ch c by Imp. St. Blaise—Maud Hampton; b c by John Happy—Susan.

Davis & Hall—ch c by Luke Blackburn—Janet Norton.

Davidson, J. H.—b c Bullnut, Fonso—Impromptu.

Dwyer Bros.—ch c Young George, George Kinney—Arizona; b c Blacklock, Imp Billet—Jaconet; b c Beware, Imp. Billet - Distraction; b c Hempstead, Hindoo - Emma Hanley; b c Longshore, Longfellow—Sea Shell; b c Headlight, Hindoo—Delight; b or br c Westchester, Falsetto - Semper Vive; b c Hannibal, Hindoo—Mercedes; b c Baldwin, Enquirer—Bribery; b c Baychester, Luke Blackburn—Silvermaid; b or br c Great Guns, Imp. Great Tom—Mariposa; b c Envoy, Enquirer—Tomboy; b or br f by Hindoo—Bourbon Belle; blk or br f by Hindoo—Katie; ch f by Hindoo—Manhattan.

Empire Stable—b c Lyceum, Prince of Norfolk—Sister to Jim Douglass; ch f Landscape, Imp Woodlands—Artifice.

Frazer, Edward—b c Sir Thomas, Himyar Floss.

Gibbons, J. E.—b c Ammunition, Farandale - Bird Shot.

Gray & Co.—b c Zender, Faustus—Bank Stock; ch c Ketchum, Faustus—Annie Richards.

Hanningan, John & Co.—b f Borealis, imp Billet—Mattie Amelia.

Harlan Bros.—br c by Vanderbilt—Nina Turner.

Harris, N. T.—b c by George Kinney—Kate Clark; b c by George Kinney—Coupon; b c by George Kinney - Kinney; ch c by George Kinney—Bijou; b f by George Kinney—Mayonnaise, b f by George Kinney—Midsummer; ch f by Neptune—Alma.

Hearst, Geo.—b c by Warwick or Ban Fox—Second Hand; ch c by Joe Daniels, dam Faustino; blk f by Falsetto, dam Explosion; ch c by Hyder Ali, dam Fidelity; ch f by Hyder Ali, dam Graciosa; b c J. B., by Warwick, dam Maria F; b c Yosemite by Hyder Ali, dam Nellie Collier; ch c Anarchist by Joe Hooker, dam Chestnut Bell; ch c Charley Brown by Jim Brown, dam Viola; ch c Snow Ball by Joe Hooker, dam Laura Winston.

Holloway, R. T.—b c Wildwood by Forester, dam Azalia.

Hunter, John—ch c Orawampum by Onondaga, dam Nellie Booker; ch c Hoodlum by Joe Daniels, dam Miss Clay; b c Kiawah by Iroquois dam Buttercup; ch c Calcium, by Imp Great Tom, dam Bonnie Belle; ch or rn c Conundrum by Enquirer, dam Tassel.

Ingleside Place—ch c The Kaiser by imp Pizarro, dam Blomidia.

Ireland Bros.—b c Woodvale by imp Deceiver, dam Lady Crafton.

Jennings, Wm,—ch c by imp Sir Modred, dam Tyranny.

Johnston, F. F.—ch c B G T by Himyar, dam Vitality.

Kernaghan, George H. br f Dodo by Falsetto, dam Brocade; b f by Lisbon, dam Bertha B, b f by Duke of Montrose, dam Helen Wallace.

Kraus, George J. b c Happy George by John Happy, dam Florine.

Lakeland, A.—ch c Sheepshead by imp Rotherhill, dam Pauline Sprague; b f Madge L by Warwick or imp Darebin, dam Altitude.

McCarty, D. J. & Bro.—gr c by Blazes, dam Emma Howson; blk f by Joe Daniels, dam Test.

McGuigan, A.—ch c Chimes by Onondaga, dam Fonwitch.

McClelland, B.—ch c by Blue Eyes, dam Etna

McClelland & Roche—ch f by Hindoo, dam Red and Blue; ch c by Hindoo, dam Morgan Girl; b c by The Rake, dam imp Flora McDonald.

Madison Stable—ch f Scotia by Forester, dam Mollie Hart; b c Riot by Jack Cade, dam Atlanta; b f Crutches by Tom Ochiltree, dam Mollie Carew; b c Rocket by Voltigeur, dam Birdie B; br c Arctic by Greenland, dam Lucette; b c Baritone by Greenland, dam Patti; ch f Bonita by imp Dalnacardoch, dam Preciosa; b f Penitent by Pardee, dam imp Essayez II; ch c Austral by Reform, dam Australind; b c Heel Taps by imp Glenelg, dam Peru

Maltese Villa, S. F.—br c King Alta by Alta, dam Cousin Peggy; b c Sir Rae by Alta, dam Consteiation.

Megibben, T. J.—ch c Eldora by Springbok, dam Astora; ch c McKinley by Springbok, dam Zulite; ch c Tom Rud by Audrain, dam War Lass; b c Claude Melnotte by Audrain, dam Mademoiselle; b c Pisara by imp Pizarro, dam Sister Monica.

Morris, G. B.—b g Strathmeath by Strathmore, dam Flower of Meath

Morris, J. A. and A. H.—b c Westchester by imp Glenelg, dam Ann Fief; b c Key West by imp Glenelg, dam Florida; b c by Forester, dam Glendalia; b or br c by Onondaga, dam Bliss; b c by imp Darebin, dam Kiss-me-quick; b c by imp Darebin, dam Mileta; ch c Dr. Hasbrouck by imp Sir Modred, dam Sweetbrier; b c by Eolus, dam Tillie Russell; b c Hands Off by Luke Blackburn, dam Touch-me-not Morris, J. A. and A. H.—b c by Luke Blackburn—Toplight; b c by imp St. Blaise—Clara; b c by imp. Billet—Francesca; b c by Iroquois—Martica; b c by Alarm Bonnella; b f by Tom Ochiltree—Minnie Mc; b f by Tom Ochiltree—Letty; b f by Tom Ochiltree—Aspiration; br f Tom Ochiltree—Faithless; br f by imp. Sir Modred or imp. Darebin—Miss Woodford; ch f by imp. St. Blaise—Affinity; ch f by imp. Kyrle Daly—Mura; b f by imp. Sir Modred—Parthenia; b f by imp Glenelg, dam Finework; b f by Onondaga—Black Maria; ch f by imp Pizarro—Perhaps; b f imp Pizarro—Zoo Zoo; b f Alarm—Sister of Mercy.

Munro, James & Co's—ch c Katerfelto, imp Great Tom, dam Mary Washington

Neil Jack—ch c by Fonso, dam Aetna.

Uudine Stables—b c Homer by Shannon, dam Sallie Gardner; ch f Glenlivet by Flood, dam Glendew.

Preakness Stable—b g Putnam by Powhatan, dam Amethyst; br g Dunbarton by Macduff, dam Virginia Bush.

Rancocas Stable—b c Sirocco by Emperor, dam Breeze; br c Happy Day by Emperor, dam Felicity; b f Pandora by Emperor, dam Susan Ann; b f Arrogrance by Emperor, dam Disdain; ch f Portia by Joe Daniels, dam Sly Dance; br f Morgheda by Iroquois, dam Marchioness; ch f Lima by imp. Pizarro, dam Gladiola; b or br f Varina, by imp Pizarro, dam Virginia Wallace.

Reed, Chas & Sons—b c Sextus by Long Taw, dam Belle of the Meade; ch c Trinity by Forester, dam imp British Beauty; b c Hallenbeck by imp Mr. Pickwick, dam Sarong; ch c Benjamin by imp Mr. Pickwick, dam Countess.

Sands, Wm H.—b c by imp. Kyrle Daly, dam Trellis.

Scoggin Bros.—b f Lady Washington by Miser, dam Minarette; b c Eli Kindig by George Kinney, dam Leona.

Scott, W. L.—b c Versatile by imp Rayon d'Or, dam Valleria; ch c Bolero by imp Rayon d'Or, dam All Hands Around; b c Pestilence by Wanderer, dam imp. Quarantine; b or br f Amulet by imp Rayon d'Or, dam imp Presto; b f Fugitive by Wanderer, dam imp Honey Bee; ch f Seashore by Wanderer, dam Lison; b f Maywood by imp Rayon d'Or, dam Belle of Maywood; ch f Milbrace by Wanderer, dam imp Santa Lucia; ch f Miss Ransom by imp Rayon d'Or, dam Nellie Ransom

Shippee, L. U.—b c Lodowic by Longfellow, dam Carrie Phillips; b f False Queen by Falsetto, dam Queen Victoria.

Spendthrift Stud—b c by Spendthrift, dam Phœbe Mayflower; b c by Spendthrift, dam imp Constantinople; ch c by Spendthrift, dam imp Torchlight; ch c by Spendthrift, dam Doubt; b c by Spendthrift, dam Janet; ch f by Spendthrift, dam imp Kapanga; b f by Spendthrift, dam Miramir; blk c by Onondaga, dam imp My Nannie O; b f by imp Dutch Roller, dam Excellenza; b c by imp Dutch Roller, dam Grenadine.

Stanley, F. G—b c Bob Arthur by imp Saxon, dam Pearl Tyler.

Thomas, B. G—ch c Best Boy by Ten Broeck, dam Highflight; ch c Catlan by Cymbal, dam imp The Cat; b c Asben by Petrarch, dam imp Astolat; b c Himlex, by Himyar, dam War Reel; br c Bush Bolt by Himyar, dam Booty; b c Ben's Pet by Himyar, dam Themis; ch c My Craft by Fellowcraft, dam Hegiaz ch c Ourfellow by Fellowcraft, dam Lena Oliver; ch c Simrock by Fellowcraft, dam Almira; b c Craft by Fellowcraft, dam Lady Himyar.

Thompson Andrew—b or br c by imp Great Tom, dam Duchess.

Thornton, H. I.—br c Austrian by imp Darebin, dam Bavaria; br f Bessie Barnes by imp Darebin, dam Carrie C.; ch c Memnon by Three Cheers, dam Aurora.

Walcott, A. F.—b c by imp Mr. Pickwick, dam Maratana.

Walden, Jeter—br f Katrina by imp Sir Modred or imp Kyrle Daly, dam Miss Laura.

Williams, J. T—ch c by King Alfonso, dam Pearl Thorne.

Wood, W G.—b c King Silver by imp Silver Mine, dam Miss Mickey.

Fleetwood Stakes for three years old. A sweepstakes of $100 each, h f, or only $20 if declared by January 1st, 1890, with $2 000 added, of which $500 to the second and $200 to the third. One mile. 74 entries.

Auburn late Stable—ch c King Hazem, Imp. King Ban—Hazem; ch g by Harry O'Fallon—Sue Finnie

Belmont, August—ch c Chesaphake, Imp. St. Blaise—Susquehanna; ch c St. Carlo, Imp St. Blaise—Carina; ch c Padishah, Imp. St. Blaise—Sultana; b c Magnate, Imp. The Ill Used—Magnetism b c Lord Dalmeny, Imp. The Ill Used—Lady Roseberg.

Brown, Ed.—b c Prodigal Son, Pat Malloy—Imp. Homeward Bound; b f Charming, Imp Prince Charlie—Nannie Bay; b f Ruperta, Imp. Prince Charlie - Marguerite; b f Pearl Set, Falsetto - Pearl Thorn.

Brown, S. S.—b c by Powhatan—Lady Jane; b c by Leonatus—Martina; b c by Ten Broeck - Belle of Nautura; b c by Longfellow—Rosemary; b g by Longfellow—Anne Boleyn; b c by Geo. Kinney—Matinee;

Beverwyck Stable—b f Minuet by imp Glenelg, dam La Polka; ch f Can Can, Imp, Prince Charlie—La Esmeralda.

Campbell, R. E.—b c Protection, Imp Prince Charlie—Manola.

Cassatt, A. J.—b or br c Eurochlydon, Eolus—Majestic.

Castle Stable—ch c Elkton, Eolus - Helen; br c Elmstone, Imp. Stonehenge—Majority.

Chicago Stable—br c Robespierre, Jils Johnson—Agnes.

Davis & Hall—b c Fad, Fadladeen—Betsy; b f Little Ella, Little Phil—Ella Warfield.

Dwyer Bros.—b c Blackburn, Luke Blackburn - Tomboy; ch c Caldwell (late Starter Caldwell) Ten Broeck—Miss Nailer; b c Juneday, Falsetto—Virga; b c Flatbush, Imp. Glenelg—Florida; b c Houston. Hindoo—Bourbon Belle; b c Bluebird, Imp. Billet—Mundane; b c Extra Dry, Imp. Glenelg—Peru; b c Longford, Longfellow—Semper Idem.

Empire Stable—b c Favorite, Fiddlesticks - Imp Favonia.

Gray & Co—b c Roseberry, Faustus—Bonnie Rose.

Hanningan, John & Co b c Millsdale, Onondaga—Emily F.

Hearst, George—b c King Thomas, Imp. King Ban—Maud Hampton; b c Ballarat, Imp. Sir Modred - La Favorita; b c Anaconda, Spendthrift—Imp. Maid of Athol; br c Tournament, Imp Sir Modred—Plaything; b f Gloaming, Imp. Sir Modred - Twilight; b f Golden Horn, Spendthrift—Imp. Constantinople; blk f Everglade, Iroquois Imp. Agenoria.

Hough Bros.—b c Drizzle, Ventilator—Mag.

McGuigan, A.—b c Queer Toy, Enquirer—Toilet.

Madison Stable—b c Devotee, Alarm—Sister of Mercy; b c Iago, Bend'or—Billet Doux; b c Australitz, Greenland—Australia.

Maltese Villa Stock Farm—b c Abdiel, Jacko Cousin Peggy.

Morris, G. B.—ch c Jersey Pat, Pat Malloy—Jersey Lass; b c Lisimony, Lisbon—Patrimony.

Morris, J. A. and A. H.—ch c Cayuga, Iroquois—Letola; b c Civil Service, Reform—Bonnella; b c Mucilage, Imp. Kyrle Daly—Mura; br c Dr. Helmuth, Imp. Sir Modred—Sweetbrier; ch f Druidess, Imp Stonehenge Imp Castagnette; ch f Homeopathy, Reform—Maggie B. B.; b or br f Starlight, Iroquois—Vandalite; b f Frailty, Imp. Prince Charlie—Blunder.

Preakness Stable—b c Windsor, Imp. Sir Modred or Warwick—Lady Middleton; b c Monroe, Macduff—Bonnie Lizzie.

Scott, A J.—b g Gunwad, Gunnar—Annie S.

Scott, W. L.—ch c Leighton, Imp. Rayon d'or—L'Argentine; b g Banquet, Imp. Rayon d'Or—Ella T.; ch c Torso, Algerine, Imp. Santa Lucia; ch g Chaos, Imp Rayon d'Or—Lilly R.

Shippee, L. U.—b c Fellowcharm, Longfellow—Trinket.

Stanley, F. G.—blk c Onaway, Onondaga—Kelp; br c Ralph Bayard, Imp. Muscovy—Imperatrice.

Withers, D. D—b c by Imp. Stonehenge—Eccole; b c by Kinglike—Fan Fan; b c by Imp. King Ernest—Imp. Cyclone.

ELMS—SPRING MEETING, 1890.

Elms Stakes, for fillies three years old. A sweepstakes of $100 each, h. f. or only $20 if declared by January 1, 1890, with $2,000 added, of which $500 to the second and $200 to the third. Those not having won in 1890 $2,000 (handicaps not counting) allowed 5 lbs. Beaten maidens allowed 10 lbs. One mile and a furlong. 47 entries.

Auburndale Stable—ch f Unadaga, by Onondaga, dam Una; b f Folly by Onondaga, dam Paradox

Belmont, August—ch f Her Highness by imp St Blaise, dam imp Princess; b f Leda by Kingfisher, dam imp Leightonia; b f Amazon by imp The Ill Used, dam imp Fair Barbarian.

Brown, Ed.—b f Charming by imp Prince Charlie, dam Nannie B, b f Ruperta by imp Prince Charlie, dam Marguerite; b f Pearl Set by Falsetto, dam Pearl Thorne.

Brown, S. S.—gr f by Springbok, dam Jennie V.

Beverwyck Stable—b f Minuet by imp Glenelg, dam La Polka; ch f Can Can by imp Prince Charlie, dam La Esmeralda.

Cassatt, A. J.—ch f Abaca by King Alfonso, dam Jamaica; b f by Stratford, dam Maudina.

Clay, Mrs. John M.—b f Kincsern by Longfellow, dam Sylph; ch f Equal Rights by Himyar, dam Georgette

Davis & Hall—b f Little Ella by Little Phil, dam Ella Warfield.

Dwyer Bros.—b f Blue Dress by Enquirer, dam Bribery; b f Red Dress by King Alfonso, dam Lily Duke; b f by Enquirer, dam Colossa.

Empire Stable—b f Gertie D by imp Dalnacardoch, dam Preciosa; b f Miss Rhodie by Milner, dam Rebecca.

Gray & Co.—b f Edith Gray by Ten Broeck, dam Alice Gray; b f Tulla Blackburn by Luke Blackburn, dam Tullahorna.

Hearst, George—b f Gloaming by imp Sir Modred, dam Twilight; b f Golden Horn by Spendthrift, dam imp Constantinople; blk f Everglade by Iroquois, dam imp Agenoria; ch f Cosette by Joe Hooker, dam Abby W.

McCarty, D. J. & Bro.—ch f Pandora by imp Rayon d'or, dam Blue Grass Belle.

Madden, J. E.—ch f Grace Ely by Onondaga, dam Fonwitch.

Morris, G. B —b f Tigress by imp Billet, dam Vega.

Morris, J. A. and A. H.—ch f Druidess by imp Stonehenge, dam imp Castagnette; ch f Homeopathy by Reform, dam Maggie B B; br f Starlight by Iroquois, dam Vandalite; b f Frailty by imp Prince Charlie, dam Blunder; ch f Mamie Russell by Eolus, dam Tillie Russell

Nassau Stable—b f Elize by Reform, dam North Arms; ch f Pauline F by imp Hopeful, dam Buxom.

Preakness Stable—br f Livonia by Longfellow, dam Elkhorn Lass; b f Flossie by Pownatan, dam Amethyst.

Scott, W. L.—ch f Minuet by imp Rayon d'Or, dam Reel Dance; ch f Paradox by imp Rayon d'Or, dam Lizzie Cox; ch f Martha by imp Rayon d' Or, dam Lucy Wallace

Shippee, L. U.—ch f Whisban by imp King Ban, dam Whisperine.

Withers, D. D.—ch f Bibelot by imp King Ernest, dam Knickknack; b f by imp King Ernest, dam Invermore.

Yale Stable—b f Fannie C by Democrat, dam Moonlight; ch f Phœbe by St. Blaise, dam Mohallah.

HICKORY—FALL MEETING, 1890.

Hickory Stakes, for three-year-olds. A Sweepstakes of $200 each, half forfeit, or only $25 if declared by January 1, 1890, or $50 if declared by July 1, 1890, with $10,000 added, of which $2,000 to the second and $1,000 to the third. One mile and a half. Eighty-three entries.

Auburndale Stable—ch g by Harry O'Fallon, dam Sue Finnie; ch f Unadaga by Onondaga, dam Una.

Bathgate, Chas. W.—b c by Spendthrift, dam Janet.

Belmont, August—ch c St. Carlo by imp St Blaise, dam Carina; ch c Chesapeake by imp St. Blaise, dam Susquehanna; ch c Padishah by imp St. Blaise, dam Sultana; b c Clarendon by imp St. Blaise, dam Clara; b c Magnate by imp The Ill Used, dam Magnatism; b c Lord Dalmeny by imp The Ill Used, dam Lady Roseberry; ch c Belisarius by imp St. Blaise, dam Bella.

Brown, Ed—b c Prodigal Son by Pat Malloy, dam imp Homeward Bound, b c Charming by imp Prince Charlie, dam Nannie Boy; b f Ruperta by imp Prince Charlie, dam Marguerite; b f Pearl Set by Falsetto dam Pearl Thorn.

Brown, S. S.—b c by Longfellow, dam Rosemary; b g by Longfellow, dam Anne Boleyn; b c by Powhatan, dam Lady Jane.

Beverwyck Stable—b f Minuet by imp Glenelg, dam La Polka.

Campbell, R. E.—b c Protection by imp Prince Charlie, dam Manola

Cassatt, A. J. br c Eurochlydon by Eolus, dam Majestic; ch f Abaca by King Alfonso, dam Jamaica.

Castle Stable—ch c Elkton by Eolus, dam Helen.

Chicago Stable—br c Robespierre by Jils Johnson, dam Agnes.

Dosher, John—br c Sterling by imp Rayon d'Or, dam Nettie Sterling.

Dwyers Bros.—b c Blackburn by Luke Blackburn, dam Tomboy; ch c Caldwell (late starter Caldwell) by Ten Broeck, dam Miss Nailer; b c June Day by Falsetto, dam Virga; b c Flatbush by imp Glenelg, dam Florida; b c Houston by Hindoo, dam Bourbon Belle; b c Bluebird by imp Billet, dam Mundane; b c Extra Dry by imp Glenelg, dam Peru; b c Longford by Longfellow, dam Semper Idem.

Empire Stable—b c Favorite by Fiddlesticks, dam imp. Favonia.

Gray & Co.—b c Roseberry by Faustus, dam Bonnie Rose.

Hanningan John & Co.—b c Millsdale by Onondaga, dam Emily F.

Hearst, Geo. - br c Tournament by imp Sir Modred, dam Plaything, b c King Thomas by imp King Ban, dam Maud Hampton; b c Ballarat by imp Sir Modred, dam La Favorita; b c Anaconda by Spendthrift, dam imp Maid of Athol; blk f Everglade by Iroquis, dam Agenoria; b f Gloaming by imp Sir Modred, dam Twilight; ch c Baggage by Warwick—dam Maria F.

Hough Bros.—b c Drizzle by Ventilator, dam Mag.

Jennings, Wm.—br c Wyndham by Warwick, dam Lorlila.

Kingsbury, B. C—b c Ben Kingsbury by Regent, dam Miss Ella.

McGuigan A.—b c Queer Toy by Enquirer, dam Toilet

Madison Stable - b c Devotee by Alarm, dam Sister of Mercy, b c Iago by Ben d'Or, dam Billet Doux; b c Australitz by Greenland, dam Australian Maltese Villa S. F —b c Abdiel by Jocko, dam Cousin Peggy.

Melleon, B. B.—b c Bell Letcher, by Longfellow, dam Ida Lewis.

Montana Stable - b c Polemus by Red Boy, dam Lady Prewitt.

Morris, G. B.—ch c Jersey Pat, by Pat Malloy, dam Jersey Lass.

Morris, J. A. and A. H.—ch c Cayuga by Iroquois, dam Letola; br c Dr. Helmuth by imp Sir Modred, dam Sweetbriar; b c Telephone by imp Glenelg, dam Acoustic; ch c King's Own by imp Hopeful, dam Queen's Own; ch f Druidess by imp Stonehenge, dam Castagnette; b f Starlight by Iroquois, dam Vandalite; ch f Homeopathy by Reform, dam Maggie B. B.

Mulkey, Wm.—blk c Verge d'Or by Virginius, dam Golden Slipper.

Nassau Stable—ch f Pauline F. by imp Hopeful, dam Buxom.

Preakness Stable - br f Livonia by Longfellow, dam Elkhorn Lass; b c Windsor by imp Sir Modred or Warwick, dam Lady Middleton.

Scoggan Bros.—ch f English Lady by Miser, dam Bonny Lass; ch c Good by by Hyder Ali, dam Jennie Rowett; b c Ja Ja by Leonatus, dam Apple Blossom.

Scott, A. J.—b g Gunwad by Gunnar, dam Annie S.

Scott W L.—ch c Leighton by imp Rayon d'Or, dam by L'Argentine; b g Banquet by imp Rayon d'Or, dam Ella T; ch g Chaos by imp Rayon d'Or, dam Lilly R; ch f Minuet by imp Rayon d'Or, dam Reel Dance; ch c Torso by Algerine, dam imp Santa Lucia.

Shippee, L. U.—b c Fellowcharm by Longfellow, dam Trinket.

Stanley, F. G.—blk c Onaways by Onondaga, dam Kelp; br c Ralph Bayard by imp Muscovy, dam Imperatrice.

Winters, Theo.—ch c El Rio Rey by Norfolk, dam Marion; ch c Rascal by Joe Hooker, dam Mattie Glenn; b f Novetto by Norfolk, dam Ballinette

Withers, D. D.—b c Chieftain by Uncas, dam imp Chamois; b c by Uncas, dam Sweet Home.

Yale Stable—b f Fannie by Democrat, dam Moonlight; ch f Phoebe by imp St. Blaise, dam Mehallah

Elms Stakes, for fillies three years old. A sweepstakes for $100 each; h f, or only $10 if declared by January 1st, 1890, or $20 if declared by January 1st, 1891, or $30 if declared by April 15th, 1891; with $1,000 added, of which $500 to the second and $200 to the third. Those not having won in 1891, $2 000 (handicaps not counting) allowed 5 lbs. Beaten maidens allowed 10 lbs. One mile and a furlong.

Auburndale Stable—bb f by Onondaga - Gleam.

Belmont, August—ch f Marigold, Imp. St Blaise—Simple Gold; ch f Beauty, Imp St. Blaise Bella; ch f Flavia Imp St. Blaise Flavina; b f Semiramis, Imp. St. Blaise - Sultana; ch f Belligerent, Fiddlesticks—Bellona.

Brown, S. S.—ch f by Imp. Richmond—Ellen Alice; ch f by Imp. Richmond Virginia

Cassatt, A. J —gr f Stratford—Victress; ch f by Bend 'Or—Eclat; b f by Stratford—Water Lily; ch f by Stratford—Bye & Bye; ch f by Bend 'Or—Equipoise.

Castle Stables—b f by Imp Glenelg—Silk Gown.

Clay, Mrs. John M.—b f Semper Fidele, Longfellow, La Sylphide; b f Fanna, Longfellow—Sylvia; b f The American Gridiron, Duke of Montrose—Badger.

Connor, Wm. M.—ch f Minuet, Imp. Woodlands—Waltz; ch f Gardelia, Imp. Woodlands—Glidelia; b f Imperieuse, Imp Pizarro—Imogene; br f Beata, Strathmore Beatrice.

Daly, Marcus—ch f by Imp. Sir Modred—Bonnie Kate; b f by Imp. Sir Modred—La Favorita; b f by Imp. Sir Modred—Letola; b f by Imp Darebin—Bessie Peyton; b f by Joe Daniels—Nonage; b f by Hyder Ali—Pandora.

Davis & Hall—ch f by Gaberlunzie—Eunice ch f by Gaberlunzie—May D.

Dwyer Bros —b or br f by Hindoo—Bourbon Belle; blk or br f by Hindoo—Katie; ch f by Hindoo—Manahatta.

Empire Stable—ch f Landscape, Imp. Woodlands—Artifice; br f Calypso, Imp St. Blaise—Carmen; ch f Federal, Milner—Felatina

Gray & Co.—b f Betty Prather, Faustus—Zula; b f Lenor, Faustus—Peggy Woods.

Hannigan, John & Co.—b f Borealis, Imp. Billet—Mattie Amelia.

Hearst, Geo.—blk f by Falsetto—Explosion; ch f by Hyder Ali—Graciosa; b f by Imp. Mr. Pickwick—Elaine; b f Elvira, Jim Brown—Scamperdown Mare; ch f Chippie, Jim Brown—Daisy S

Hunter, John—blk f Ortowin, Onondaga Annette; b f Mayflower, Iroquois—Blue Gown.

Israel, E. L.—ch f by Onondaga—Flora.

Jennings, Wm.—b f Release, Tom Ochiltree or Imp Hopeful—Remember; br f Mary Stone, Imp. Sir Modred—Rosemary by Joe Daniels.

Kernaghan, Geo. H.—br f Dodo, Falsetto—Brocade; b f by Lisbon—Bertha B; b f by Duke of Montrose—Helen Wallace.

Lakeland, A.—b f Madge L., Imp. Warwick or Darebin—Altitude; b f by Joe Daniels—Carrie.

McCarty, D. J. and Bro.—b k f by Joe Daniels—Test.

McClellan & Roche—ch f by Hindoo—Red and Blue.

Madison Stable—ch f Scotia, Forester—Mollie Hart; b f Crutches, Tom Ochiltree - Mollie Carew; ch f Bonita, Imp. Dalnacardoch—Precious; b f enitent, Pardee - Imp. Essayez II.

Maltese Villa Stock Farm—blk f Outi Orr, Alta - Thetis.

Megibben, T. J.—ch f Birdella M., Springbok—Easter Planet; ch f Actress, Springbok—Edith.

Morris, J. A. and A. H.—ch f by Imp. St. Blaise—Affinity; b or br f by Imp. Sir Modred or Imp. Darebin - Miss Woodford: b f by Imp. Sir Modred—Parthenia; b or br f by Imp. Glenelg Finework; b or br f by Onondaga—Black Maria; br f by Imp Pizarro—Zoo Zoo; br f by Imp. Pizarro—Belle of the Highlands; ch f by Imp. Pizarro - Perhaps.

Morris, J. A and A. H.—ch f by impWoodlands, dam Maggie B B; b f by Alarm, dam Sister of Mercy; b f by Tom Ochiltree, dam Minnie Mac; blk f by Tom Ochiltree, dam Faithless; b f by Tom Ochiltree, dam Letty, b f by Tom Ochiltree, dam Aspiration; b f by Tom Ochiltree, dam Gulnare; b f by Plevna, dam Achsah.

Undine Stable—ch f Glenlivet by Flood, dam Glendew.

Preakness Stable—ch f Flavilla by Macduff, dam Vintage; ch f Adelina by Macduff, dam Adele.

Rancocas Stable—br f Killdeer by imp Darebin, dam Lou Lanier; b f Pandora by Emperor, dam Susan Ann; b f Arrogance by Emperor, dam Disdain; ch f Portia by Joe Daniels, dam Sly Dance; br f Morgheda by Iroquois, dam Marchioness; br f Vanity by imp Rotherhill or imp Glenelg, dam Pride; ch f Lima by imp Pizarro, dam Gladiola; b or br f Varina by imp Pizarro, dam Virginia Wallace.

Scott, W. L.—ch f Miss Ransom by imp Rayon d'Or, dam Nellie Ransom: b or br f Amulet by imp Rayon d'Or, dam imp Presto; b f Maywood by imp Rayon d'Or, dam Belle of Maywood; b f Fugitive by Wanderer dam imp Honey Bee; ch f Milbrace by Wanderer, dam imp Santa Lucia; b f Exclusion by imp Rayon d'Or, dam Monopoly; b f Tudie by Wanderer, dam imp Clemency; b f Wendaway by Wanderer, dam imp Waitaway.

Shippee, L. U.—b f False Queen by Falsetto, dam Queen Victoria; b f Mary H by Falsetto, dam Glenluine.

Spendthrift Stud—ch f by Spendthrift, dam imp Kapanga; br f by Spendthrift, dam imp Bombazine; b f by imp Dutch Roller, dam Excellenza.

Stuart, Louis & Co.—b f by imp Mr Pickwick, dam Acquittal.

Thomas, B G —ch f Last Ban by imp King Ban, dam Rudha; ch f Ada B by Himyar, dam Adonia; ch f Pet Filly by Himyar, dam Puzzle; b f Queer Girl by Himyar, dam Queen Ban: b f Miss Himyar by Himyar, dam Dixietta: b f Miss Williams by Himyar, dam Grace Lee: ch f Jewel H by Himyar, dam Jewel: b f Correction by Himyar, dam Mammie Grey: br f Lady Mary by Himyar, dam Queechy: b f Rosa H by Himyar, dam Rosaline: ch f Hansa by Fellowcraft, dam Hanap: b f Miss Winkel by Fellowcraft, dam imp Lady in Waiting: br f Aunt Betsy by Longfellow, dam Sis Himyar: blk f Favora by Himyar, dam Favoress: blk f Ella T by Himyar, dam Ella G: b f Fanny S by Fellowcraft or Himyar, dam Lulu S

Thornton, H. I —br f Bessie Barnes by imp Darebin, dam Carrie C.

Walden, Jeter—br f Katrina by imp Sir Modred or imp Kyrle Daly, dam Miss Laura: b f Gretchen by Joe Daniels, dam Fortuna: ch f Hazy by Ventilator, dam Mag.

Withers, D. D —ch f by imp Mortemer, dam imp Castagnette: ch f by imp Mortemer, dam Adage: ch f by imp Mortemer, dam Bijon: b f by Uncas, dam Mimi: ch f by Kinglike, dam Ponpome: ch f by imp King Ernest, dam Wyandotte: ch f by imp King Ernest, dam Laura Gould: ch f by Ventilator, dam imp Cyclone.

SPRING MEETING, 1891.

Fleetwood Stakes, for three years old. A Sweepstakes of $100 each, half forfeit, or only $10 if declared by January 1, 1891, or only $20 if declared by January 1, 1891, with $2,000 added, of which $500 to the second and $200 to the third. One mile. One hundred and forty-one entries.

Auburndale Stable—b c by imp Tympanum, dam Creda; br c St. Crescent b. imp St. Blaise, dam Lorelle; ch c by Ten Broeck, dam Belle of Nantura; b c by Duke of Montrose, dam Reina Victoria; blk or br c by imp Pizarro, dam Tea Rose.

Belmont, August—ch c Jack of Diamonds by imp St. Blaise, dam imp Nellie James; ch c St. Omer by imp St. Blaise, dam Olitipa; ch c Potomac by imp St. Blaise, dam Susquehanna; b c Masher by imp The Ill Used, dam Magnetism; b c Lepanto by Kingfisher, dam imp Leighton-ia; b c F. itz by imp St. Blaise, dam Fillette; ch c St. Patrick by imp St Blaise, dam imp Patience.

Blunt, Edmund, b c Somerset by Stratford, dam Imelda.

Brown, S. S.—ch c by imp Richmond, dam Mayfield; ch c by imp Richmond, dam La Cigale; ch c by imp Richmond, dam Gladys; b c by imp Richmond, dam Alabama.

Cassatt, A. J.—b c by Stratford, dam Relay; ch c by Stratford, dam Tara; br c by Stratford, dam Evelyn Carter; b c by Stratford, dam Fox Glove; ch c by Stratford, dam Heatherbell.

Castle Stable—b c by imp Glenelg, dam La Polka; b c by imp Glenelg, dam Return.

Conner, Wm. M—ch c Glenbriar by imp Glenelg, dam Susie Linwood.

Daly, Marcus—ch c by imp Sir Modreo, dam Trade Dollar; b c by imp. Sir Modred, dam Carissima; br c by imp Darebin, dam imp Agenoria; b c by Ban Fox, dam imp Queen; ch c by imp St. Blaise, dam Maud Hampton; b c by John Happy, dam Susan.

Davis & Hall—ch c by Luke Blackburn, dam Janet Norton.

Dwyer Bros.—b c Blacklock by imp Billet, dam Jaconet; b c Hempstead by Hindoo, dam Emma Hanley; b c Longshore by Longfellow, dam Sea Shell; b c Headlight by Hindoo, dam Delight; b c Hannibal by Hindoo, dam Mercedes; b c Baldwin by Enquirer, dam Bribery b c Envoy by Enquirer, dam Tomboy; b c Baychester by Luke Blackburn, dam Silvermaid; b c Beware by imp Billet, dam Distraction; b or br c Great Guns by imp Great Tom, dam Mariposa; ch c Young George by George Kinney, dam Arizona; b or br c Westchester by Falsetto, dam Semper Vive.

Empire Stable—b c Lyceum by Prince of Norfolk, dam Sister to Jim Douglass.

Gibbons, J. E.—b c Ammunition by Farandale, dam Bird Shot.

Hannigan, John & Co.—blk or br c Dungarven by Hindoo, dam imp Calphurnia.

Hearst Geo.—b c by Warwick or Ban Fox by imp Second Hand; ch c by Joe Daniels, dam Faustina; blk f by Falsetto, dam Explosion; ch c by Hyder Ali, dam Fidelity; ch f by Hyder Ali, dam Graciosa; b c El Verano by Hock Hocking, dam Vixen; b c J. B. by Warwick, dam Maria F., ch c Charley Brown by Jim Brown, dam Viola; ch c Snow Ball by Joe Hooker, dam Laura Winston; b c Yosemite by Hyder Ali, dam Nellie Collier.

Jennings, Wm.—ch c by imp Sir Modred, dam Tyranny.

Lakeland, A. ch c Sheepshead by imp Rotherhill, dam Pauline Sprague,

McGuigan, A.—ch c Chimes by Onondaga, dam Fonwitch.

Madison Stable—ch f Scotia by Forester, dam Mollie Hart; b c Riot by Jack Cade, dam Atalanta, b f Crutches by Tom Ochiltree, dam Mollie Carew; b c Rocket by Voltigeur, dam Birdie B.; br c Arctic by Greenland, dam Lucette; b c Baritone by Greenland, dam Patti; ch f Bonita by imp Dalnacardock, dam Preciosa; b f Penitent by Pardee, dam imp Essayez II; ch c Austral by Reform, dam Australind; b c Heel Taps by imp Glenelg, dam Peru.

Maltese Villa S. F. br c King Alta by Alta, dam Cousin Peggy; b c Sir Rae by Alta, dam Constellation.

Megibben, T. J.—b c Pisara by imp. Pizarro, dam Sister Monica; blk or gr c Aypolite by Springbok, dam Jennie V.

Morris, G. B.—b g Strathmeath by Strathmore, dam Flower of Meath.

Morris, J. A. & A. H.—b c Westchester by imp Glenelg, dam Ann Flef; b c Key West by imp. Glenelg, dam Florida; b c by Forester, dam Glendalia; b or br c by Onondaga, dam Bliss; b c by imp. Darebin, dam Kiss-me-quick; ch c Dr. Hasbrouck by imp. Sir Modred, dam Sweetbriar; b c by imp. Darebin, dam Mileta; b c by Eolus, dam Tillie Russell; b c Hands Off by Luke Blackburn, dam Touch-me-not; b c by Luke Blackburn, dam Toplight; b or br c by imp. St. Blaise, dam Clara; b c by Iroquois, dam Martica, b c by Alarm, dam Bonnella; b c by imp. St. Blaise, dam Allie Slade; ch f by imp. St. Blaise, dam Affinity; b or br f by imp Sir Modred or imp. Darebin, dam Miss Woodford; ch f by imp. Kyrle Daly, dam Mura; b f by Sir Modred, dam Parthenia; b f by imp. Glenelg, dam Finework; b or br f by Onondaga, dam Black Maria, b f by Alarm, dam Sister of Mercy; b f by Tom Ochiltree, dam Minnie Mc; ch f by imp. Pizarro, dam Perhaps.

Munro, James & Co.—ch c Katerfelto by imp. Great Tom, dam Mary Washington.

Neil, Jack—ch c by Fonso, dam Ætna.

Undine Stable—b c Homer by Shannon, dam Sallie Gardner; ch f Glenlivet by Flood, dam Glendew.

Preakness Stable—br g Dunbarton by Macduff, dam Virginia Bush; b g Putnam by Powhatan, dam Amethyst.

Rollins, W. C. b c Laurestan by Kingfisher, dam Laurette.

Rancocas Stable br c Algonquin by Iroquois, dam Bric-a-Brac; b c Uncertainty by Emperor, dam Quandary; b c Lillian by imp. Glenelg, dam Stamps; br f Killdeer by imp. Darebin, dam Lou Lanier; b f Arrogance by Emperor, dam Disdain; b f Pandora by Emperor, dam Susan Ann.

Scott, W. L.—b c Versatile by imp. Rayon d'Or, dam Valleria; ch c Bolero by imp. Rayon d'Or, dam All Hands Around; b c Pestilence by Wanderer, dam imp Quarantine; br or br f Amulet by imp. Rayon d'Or, dam imp. Presto; b f Fugitive by Wanderer, dam imp. Honey Bee; ch f Seashore by Wanderer, dam imp. Lison; b f Maywood by imp. Rayon d'Or, dam Belle of Maywood; ch f Millrace by Wanderer, dam imp. Santa Lucia; ch f Miss Ransom by imp. Rayon d'Or, dam Nellie Ransom; ch c Florimor by imp. Rayon d'Or, dam Florence I.

Shippee, L. U.—b c Lodowic by Longfellow, dam Carrie Phillips; b f May H. by Falsetto, dam Glenluine.

Stanley, F. G.—b c Bob Arthur by imp. Saxon, dam Pearl Tyler.

Stuart, Louis & Co.—ch c by Falsetto, dam Mary Anderson; b c by imp. Mr. Pickwick, dam Shamrock.

Thomas, B. G.—ch c Best Boy by Ten Broeck, dam Highflight; ch c Catlan by Cymbal, dam imp. The Cat; b c Asben by Petrarch, dam imp. Astolat; b c Himlex by Himyar, dam War Reel; br c Bush Bolt by Himyar, dam Booty; b c Ben's Pet by Himyar, dam Themis; b c Craft by Fellowcraft, dam Lady Himyar; ch c My Craft by Fellowcraft, dam Hegiaz; ch c Ourfellow by Fellowcraft, dam Lena Oliver; ch c Simrock by Fellowcraft, dam Almira.

Thornton, H. I.—br c Austrian by imp. Darebin, dam Bavaria; ch c Memnon by Three Cheers, dam Aurora.

Withers, D. D.—ch c by Uncas, dam imp. Abundance; b c by Uncas, dam Necromancy.

Wood, W. G.—b c King Silver by imp. Silver Mine, dam Miss Mickey.

FALL MEETING, 1891.

Hickory Stakes—For three years old. A sweepstakes of $200 each, half forfeit, or only $10 if declared by January 1, 1890, or $25 if declared by January 1, 1891, or $50 if declared by July 1, 1891, with $10,000 added, of which $2,000 to the second and $1,000 to the third. One mile and a half.

Auburndale Stable—b c by imp. Tympanum, dam Creda; br c St. Crescent by imp. St. Blaise, dam Lorelie; ch c by Ten Broeck, dam Belle of Nantura; b c by Duke of Montrose, dam Reina Victoria; blk or br c by imp. Pizarro, dam Tea Rose.

Bathgate, Chas. W. ch c by Spendthrift, dam Longitude.

Belmont, August b c Lepanto by Kingfisher, dam imp. Leightonia; b c Fritz by imp. St. Blaise, dam Tillette; ch c St. Patrick by imp St. Blaise, dam imp. Patience; b c Masher by imp. The Ill-Used, dam Magnetism; ch c Potomac by imp. St. Blaise, dam Susquehanna; ch c St. Omer by imp. St. Blaise, dam Olitipa; ch c Jack of Diamonds by imp. St. Blaise, dam imp. Nellie James; ch c St. Charles by imp. St. Blaise, dam Carita; ch f Beauty by imp. St. Blaise, dam Bella; b f Semiramis by imp St. Blaise, dam Sultana; ch f Flavia by imp. St. Blaise, dam Flavina.

Blunt, Edmund—b c Somerset by Stratford, dam Imelda.

Brown, Mrs. Harriet—b c by Attilla, dam The Squaw.

Brown Ed—b c Oberlin by Onondaga, dam Glenora.

Brown, S. S.—ch c by imp. Richmond, dam Mayfield; ch c by imp. Richmond, dam La Cigale; ch c by imp. Richmond, dam Gladys.

Bryant & Scoggan—ch g John P. White by Long Taw, dam Mollie Seabrook; b c Cerebus by Luke Blackburn, dam Glen Hop.

Buck, E. A.—b c by imp. Darebin, dam Flora.

Cassatt, A. J.—b c by Stratford, dam Relay; ch c by Stratford, dam Tara; br c by Stratford, dam Evelyn Carter; b c by Stratford, dam Fox-glove; ch c by Stratford, dam Heatherbells; b f by Stratford, dam Water Lily; ch f by Bend'Or, dam Equipoise.

Castle Stable—b c by imp. Glenelg, dam La Polka; b c by imp. Glenelg, dam Return.

Cheppu, W. H.—ch c by Miser, dam Peradventure; ch c by Miser, dam Bonnaventure; blk c by Volturno, dam Black Libby; b c by Leonatus, dam Periwinkle; b c by Volturno, dam Emily F.

Clay, James B.—br c Elknore by Longfellow, dam Locust Bloom; blk c Pompet by Longfellow, dam Fuchsia; b c Chesterton by Longfellow, dam Insignia.

Clay & Woodford—b c Allan Bane by imp. Billett, dam Lady of the Lake.

Conner Wm. M.—ch c Glenbriar by imp. Glenelg, dam Susie Linwood.

Davidson, J. H.—b c Hullnut by Fonso, dam Impromptu.

Daly, Marcus b c by imp. Sir Modred, dam Carissima; b f by imp. Sir Modred, dam La Favorita; b f by imp. Sir Modred, dam Letola; ch c by imp. Sir Modred, dam Trade Dollar; br c by imp. Darebin, dam imp. Agenoria; b c by Ban Fox, dam imp. Queen; ch c by imp. St. Blaise, dam Maud Hampton, b f by Joe Daniels, dam Nonage.

Durham, H. B.—b c by Longfellow, dam Misfortune.

Dwyer Bros.—b c Blacklock by imp. Billett, dam Jaconet; b c Hempstead by Hindoo, dam Emma Hanley; b c Longshore by Longfellow, dam Sea Shell; b c Headlight by Hindoo, dam Delight; b c Hannibal by Hindoo, dam Mercedes; b c Baldwin by Enquirer, dam Bribery; b c Envoy by Enquirer, dam Tom Boy; b c Baychester by Luke Blackburn, dam Silvermaid; b c Beware by imp. Billet, dam Distraction; b or br c Great Guns by imp. Great Tom, dam Mariposa; ch c Young George by Geo. Kinney, dam Arizona; b or br c Westchester by Falsetto, dam Semper Vive.

Eastin & Larabie—b c High Tariff by Longfellow, dam Christine; b c Poet Scout by Longfellow, dam Gypsy.

Empire Stable—b c Lyceum by Prince of Norfolk, dam Sister to Jim Douglass; ch f Landscape by imp. Woodlands, dam Artifice.

Frazer, Edward—b c Sir Thomas by Himyar, dam Floss.

Gibbons, J. E.—b c Ammunition by Farandale, dam Bird Shot.

Gray & Co.—b c Menthol by Faustus, dam Lida Laroy; b c Zender by Faustus, dam Bank Stock.

Harris, N. T.—b c by Geo. Kinney, dam Kate Clark; b c by Geo. Kinney, dam Coupon; b c by Geo. Kinney, dam Lilly Babbe; ch c by Geo. Kinney, dam Rosa R.; ch c by Geo. Kinney, dam Bijou; b f by Geo. Kinney, dam Mayonnaise.

Hearst. Geo.—b c by Warwick or Ban Fox, dam imp. Second Hand; ch c by Joe Daniels, dam Faustina; blk f by Falsetto, dam Explosion; ch c by Hyder Ali, dam Fidelity; ch f by Hyder Ali, dam Graciosa.

Hunter, John—ch c Orawampum by Onondaga, dam Nellie Booker; ch c Hoodlum by Joe Daniels, dam Miss Clay; b c Kiawah by Iroquois, dam Buttercup; b c Dictum by Iroquois, dam Bonnie Meade; ch c Fantrum by imp. Great Tom, dam Moselle; ch c Calcium by imp. Great Tom, dam Bonnie Belle; ch or rn c Conundrum by Enquirer, dam Tassel.

Ireland Bros.—b c Woodvale by imp. Deceiver, dam Lady Crafton.

Jennings, Wm.—ch c by imp. Sir Modred, dam Tyranny.

Johnson, P. P. ch c B. G. T. by Himyar, dam Vitality.

Lakeland, A.—ch c Sheepshead by imp. Rotherhill, dam Pauline Sprague.

McCarty, D. J. & Bro.—gr c by Blazes, dam Emma Howson.

McClelland & Roche—ch c by Hindoo, dam Morgan Girl; ch f by Hindoo, dam Red and Blue.

McGuigan, A.—ch c Chimes by Onondaga, dam Fonwitch.

Maltese Villa S. F.—br c King Alta by Alta, dam Cousin Peggy.

Madison Stable—ch f Scotia by Forester, dam Mollie Hart; b c Riot by Jack Cade, dam Atalanta. b f Crutches by Tom Ochiltree, dam Mollie Carew; b c Rocket by Voltigeur, dam Birdie B.; br c Arctic by Greenland, dam Lucette; b c Baritone by Greenland, dam Patti; ch f Bonita by imp. Dalnacardoch, dam Preciosa; b f Penitent by Pardee, dam imp. Essayez II.; ch c Austral by Reform, dam Australind; b c Heel Taps by imp. Glenelg, dam Peru.

Megibben, T. J.—ch c Eldora by Springbok, dam Astora; ch c McKinley by Springbok, dam Qulite; ch c Valerra by Springbok, dam Valasco; b c Claude Melnotte by Audrain, dam Mademoiselle.

Morris, G. B. b g Strathmeath by Strathmore, dam Flower of Meath.

Morris J. A. & A. H—b c Westchester by imp Glenelg, dam Ann Flef; b c Key West by imp. Glenelg, dam Florida; b c by Forester, dam Glendalia; b or br c by Onondaga, dam Bliss; b c by imp. Darebin, dam Kiss-me-quick; b c by imp. Darebin, dam Mileta; ch c Dr. Hasbrouck by imp. Sir Modred, dam Sweetbriar; b c by Eolus, dam Tillie Russell; b c Hands Off by Luke Blackburn, dam Touch-me-not; b c by Luke Blackburn, dam Toplight; b or br c by imp. Billett, dam Francisco; b c by Iroquois, dam Martica; b c by Alarm, dam Bonnella; b c by imp. St. Blaise, dam Clara; ch f by imp. St. Blaise, dam Affinity; b or br f by imp. Sir Modred or imp. Darebin, dam Miss Woodford; b f by imp. Sir Modred, dam Parthenia; b or br f by imp. Glenelg, dam Finework; b or br f by Onondaga, dam Black Maria, ch f by imp. Pizarro, dam Perhaps; b f by Alarm, dam Sister of Mercy.

Munro, James & Co.—ch c Katerfelto by imp. Great Tom, dam Mary Washington.

Undine Stable—b c Homer by Shannon, dam Lillie Gardner; ch f Glenlivet by Flood, dam Glendew.

Preakness Stable—b c Norwood by Longfellow, dam May Day; b g Glenarvin by imp. Glenelg, dam Triangle; b g Putnam by Powhatan, dam Amethyst.

Rancocas Stable—br c Algonquin by Iroquois, dam Bric-a-Brac; b c Uncertainty by Emperor, dam Quandary; b c Lillian by imp. Glenelg, dam Stamps; br c Adorer by Emperor, dam Doris; br f Killdeer by imp. Darebin, dam Lou Lanier; b f Pandora by Emperor, dam Susan Ann; b f Arrogance by Emperor, dam Disdain; ch f Portia by Joe Daniels dam Sly Dance; br f Morgiana by Iroquois, dam Marchioness; b f Vanity by imp. Rotherhill or imp. Glenelg, dam Pride; br f Paola by Bersaw, dam Manola.

Reed, Chas. & Sons—b c Sextus by Long Taw, dam Belle of the Meade; ch c Trinity by Forester, dam imp. British Beauty; b c Hallenbeck by imp. Mr. Pickwick, dam Sarong; ch c Benjamin by imp. Mr. Pickwick, dam Countess; ch f Georgette by Forester, dam Thora; b c Fairview by Forester, dam Wissahickon; ch c Dennis by Long Taw, dam Herminie.

Scoggan Bros.—b c National by Leonatus, dam Brandoline; b f Lady Washington by Miser, dam Minnarette.

Scott, W. L.—b c Versatile by imp. Rayon d'Or, dam Valleria; ch c Bolero by imp. Rayon d'Or, dam All Hands Around; b c Pestilence by Wanderer, dam imp Quarantine; b or br f Amulet by imp. Rayon d'Or, dam imp Presto; b f Fugitive by Wanderer. dam imp. Honey Bee; ch f Seashore by Wanderer, dam imp. Lison; b f Maywood by imp. Rayon d'Or, dam Belle of Maywood; ch f Millrace by Wanderer, dam imp. Santa Lucia; ch f Miss Ransom by imp. Rayon d'Or, dam Nellie Ransom; ch c Florimor by imp. Rayon d'Or, dam Florence I.

Shippee, L. U.—b c Lodowic by Longfellow, dam Carrie Phillips; b f May H. by Falsetto, dam Glenluine.

Stanley, F. G.—b c Bob Arthur by Saxon, dam Pearl Tyler.

Stuart, Louis & Co.—ch c by Falsetto, dam Mary Anderson; b c by imp. Mr. Pickwick, dam Shamrock; b f by imp. Mr. Pickwick dam equittal.

Spendthrift Stud—b c by Spendthrift, dam Phœbe Mayflower; b c by Spendthrift, dam imp. Constantinople; ch c by Spendthrift, dam imp. Torchlight; ch c by Spendthrift, dam Doubt; b c by Spendthrift, dam Janet; ch f by Spendthrift, dam imp. Kapanga; b f by Spendthrift, dam Miramir; blk c by Onondaga, dam imp. My Nannie O.; b c by imp. Dutch Roller, dam Grenadine; b f by imp. Dutch Roller, dam Excellenza.

Talbot Bros.—ch c Mountjoy by Pontiac, dam Accidenta; b c Bontus by imp. Billet, dam Hi; b f Mary C. by imp. Billet, dam Vega.

Talbot & Rogers b c Cossack by imp. Uhlan, dam Kate Claxton.

Thomas, B. G.—ch c Best Boy by Ten Broeck, dam Highflight; ch c Catlan by Cymbal, dam imp. The Cat; b c Asben by Petrarch, dam imp. Astolat; b c Himlex by Himyar, dam War Reel; br c Bush Bolt by Himyar dam Booty; b c Ben's Pet by Himyar, dam Themis; b c Craft by Fellowcraft, dam Lady Himyar; ch c My Craft by Fellowcraft, dam Hegiaz; ch c Ourfellow by Fellowcraft, dam Lena Oliver; ch c Simrock by Fellowcraft, dam Almira.

Thornton, H. I. br c Austrian by imp. Darebin, dam Bavaria; br f Bessie Barnes by imp. Darebin, dam Carrie C.; ch c Menmon by Three Cheers, dam Aurora.

Viley, B.—b c Longwood by Longfellow, dam Astelle; b f Tokay by Ten Broeck, dam Miss Nailer.

Walcott, A. F.—b c by imp. Mr. Pickwick, dam Maratana.

Walden. Jeter—b or br c by imp Glenelg. dam Cameo.

Williams, J. T.—ch c by King Alfonso, dam Pearl Thorne.

Winters, Theo.—b c Rey del Rey by Norfolk, dam Marion; ch c San Juan by Norfolk, dam Ballinette; ch c Judge Post by Joe Hooker, dam Countess Zeicka.

Withers, D. D.—ch c by Uncas, dam imp. Abundance; b c by Uncas. dam Necromancy.

Wood, W. G.—b c King Silver by imp. Silvermine, dam Miss Mickey.

Food Better Than Physic.

The bowels of the horse can always be kept working pleasantly and healthfully by supplying them with suitable material to work on, and avoiding those sudden and extreme changes which give the delicate and sensitive tubes no time to adapt themselves to their altered work. More or less nutritious corn, more or less hay, straw, or other woody fibre, more or less wet bran, more or less soft pulp, more or less green food, are the simple agents by which the bowels of any horse can be kept in healthy, working order, without attacking them with any of the destructive poisons we have learned to call medicines.

Why Some Horses Go Lame.

Trainers for the race course are constantly sailing as near the wind as they can. Their horses must be well nourished, but the trainer wants the tubes by which the nourishment must be conveyed to occupy as little room as possible, in order that more room may be left for the expansion and play of the lungs. Their horse's natural appetite craves for more bulk in his food; he longs for grass, hay or even straw, and it is often necessary to muzzle him or to litter him with sawdust to prevent him from eating his bed. The more oats a horse can be got to eat the better his trainer is pleased, but no horse can live on oats alone, and some more bulky food must be allowed.

But some successful modern trainers allow their horses some succulent food, such as a little roots or grass, with great advantage, especially for very nervous horses. Bulky, succulent food is the surest relief for excessive nervousness in horses. But the trainer tries to find out how much hay or other woody fiber, or bulky food, is absolutely necessary to keep his horse in health, and in nine cases out of ten he errs on the side of too little and too dry. Only thoroughbreds will stand this treatment, and a large proportion of them go lame or otherwise break down under it. None of them will stand it very long; all get "stale," stiff or prematurely old under it, and so prematurely injurious is it to the constitution that the best mares that have been long trained will often not breed at all afterwards, and hardly any of them ever breed a winning foal, however good they may have been themselves.

W. P. Ijam, proprietor of Warren Park, Terre Haute, Ind., and part owner of the Great Axtell, pronounces the Boyce Wash the finest preparation for fevered Legs and cracked heels ever used in his stables.

One of our exchanges says the horses in Nevada are trained to wear snowshoes. After an animal becomes used to them, he can travel four or five miles an hour, where it would be impossible to get that distance in a week without them. The shoes are made of thin steel plate, and measure about nine by eleven inches. The horses are shod with long heel calks, which go through the snowshoes and prevent their slipping going up and down hill.

The Standard.

[AS REVISED AND ADOPTED BY THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF TROTTING-HORSE BREEDERS, DECEMBER 14, 1887.]

In order to define what constitutes a trotting-bred horseand to establish a BREED of trotters on a more intelligent basis, the following rules are adopted to control admission to the records of pedigrees. When an animal meets the requirements of admission and is duly registered, it shall be accepted as a standard trotting-bred animal:—

FIRST.—Any stallion that has himself a record of two minutes and thirty seconds (2:30) or better, provided any of his get has a record of 2:35 or better, or provided his sire or his dam is already a standard animal.

SECOND.—Any mare or gelding that has a record of 2:30 or better.

THIRD.—Any horse that is the sire of two animals with a record of 2:30 or better.

FOURTH.—Any horse that is the sire of one animal with a record of 2:30 or better, provided he has either of the additional qualifications: (1) A record himself of 2:35 or better. (2) Is the sire of two other animals with a record of 2:35 or better. (2) Has a sire or dam that is already a standard animal.

FIFTH.—Any mare that has produced an animal with a record of 2:30 or better.

SIXTH.—The progeny of a standsrd horse when out of a standard mare.

SEVENTH.—The female progeny of a standard horse when out of mare by a standard horse.

EIGHTH.—The female progeny of a standard horse when out of mare whose dam is a standard mare.

NINTH.—Any mare that has a record of 2:35 or better, and who sire or dam is a standard animal.

Best Trotting Records.

1 mile—2:08¾, Maud S., against time, in harness, accompanied the distance by a running horse, Glenville, O., July 30, 1885.....2:13½, best time in a race between horses, Maud S., Chicago, Ills., July 24, 1880.....2:12, Axtell, against time, accompanied by running horse—fastest stallion time, Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 11, 1889.....2:13¾, Phallas, fastest heat by a stallion against other horses, Chicago, July 14, 1884.....2:13¾, Palo Alto, third heat in race at Stockton, Cal., Sept. 26, 1889.....2:15½, Jay-Eye-See, half-mile track, Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 14, 1887.....2:15¾, Great Eastern, under saddle, third heat, Morrisania, N. Y., Sept. 22, 1877.....2:10¾, Jay-Eye-See, against time, best five-year-old record, Providence, R. I., Sept. 15, 1883.....2:16, Manzanita, third heat, best four-year-old record, Lexington, Ky., Sept. 3, 1876 .... 2:16, Edgemark, four-year old stallion record, against time, Lexington, Ky., Oct. 18, 1889....2:10¾, Sunol, against time, accompanied by a runner, best three-year-old record, San Francisco, Nov. 9, 1889.....2:18, Sunol, 2 years, against time, San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 27, 1888.....2:20¾, Regal Wilkes, two-year-old stallion record, San Francisco, Nov. 9, 1889 ... 2:31½, Norlaine, yearling, against time, San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 12, 1887..... 2:35, Faustino, yearling stallion record, San Francisco, Nov. 9, 1889.

2 miles—4:43 against time, Fanny Witherspoon, Chicago, Ill., Sept. 25, 1885.

3 miles—7:21½, Huntress, harness, Brooklyn, L. I., Sept. 21, 1872.

4 miles—10:34½, Longfellow, wagon, California, Dec 31, 1869.

5 miles—13:00, Lady Mac, harness, San Francisco, Cal., April 2, 1874.

10 miles—27:23¾, Controller, harness, San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 23, 1878.

20 miles—58:25, Captain McGowan, harness, half-mile track, Boston, Oct. 31, 1865.

Pacing Records at One Mile.

Johnston, harness, against time, Chicago, Ills., Oct 3, 1884, 2:06¼.

Brown Hal, best stallion record, Cleveland, Ohio, July 31, 1889, 2:12¼.

Westmont, July 10, 1884, Chicago, Ills., with running mate, 2:01¾.

Ed Rosewater, two years old, Council Bluffs, Iowa, Nov. 3, 1888, 2:20½.

Yolo Maid, 3 years old, San Francisco, Oct. 13, 1888, 2:14.

Gold Leaf, four years old, 2:11¼ on August 17, 1889, at Napa.

Arrow, five years old, 2:13¾, made at Cleveland, Ohio, August 1, 1888.

Fastest Time on Record.

MILES.	RUNNING.
¼	Jim Miller, 2, Deer Lodge (Mont.), Aug. 16, 1888 / †Sleepy Dick, a, Kiowa (Kan.), Nov. 24, 1888	0:21½
⅜	Cyclone, a, 120 lbs., Helena (Mont.), Aug. 28, 1889	0:34½
½	Geraldine, 4, 122 lbs., Westchester Course, Aug. 30, 1889	0:46
⅝	Britannic, 5, 122 lbs., Westchester Course, Aug. 31, 1889	0:59
⅝	Fordham, a, 115 lbs., Westchester Course, Oct. 4, 1889	0:59
¾	El Rio Rey, 2, 126 lbs., Westchester Course, Aug. 31, 1889	1:11
¾	Tipstaff, 3, 107, Westchester Course, Oct. 4, 1889	1:11
⅞	Britannic, 5, 110 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 5, 1889	1:26 2-5
1	Ten Broeck, 5, 110 lbs., Louisville, May 24, 1877 (against time)	1:39¾
1	Maori 4, 105 lbs, Chicago, July 12, 1889, (in a race)	1:39 4-5
1 1-16	Wheeler T., 3, 98 lbs., St. Louis, June 1, 1888	1:47¼
1 1-16	Eylton 4, 106, Chicago, Ill., June 28, 1889	1:47¼
1⅛	Terra Cotta, 4, 124 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, June 23, 1888	1:53
1 3-16	Joe Cotton, 5, 109½ lbs., Shee shead Bay, Sept. 7, 1887	2:00¼
1¼	Kingston, 5, 122 lbs., Gravesend, Sept. 24, 1889	2:06½
1 m	500 yds. Ben d'Or, 4, 115 lbs., Saratoga, July 25, 1882	2:10½
1⅜	Triboulet, 4, 117 lbs., San Francisco, April 26, 1888 / Richmond, 6, 122 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, June 27, 1888	2:21¾
1½	Firenzi, 4, 113 lbs., Monmouth Park, Aug. 2, 1888 / Luke Blackburn, 3, 102 lbs., Monmouth Park, Aug. 17, '80 / Jim Guest, 4, 98 lbs., Chicago, (Washington Park, July 24 '86	2:34
1⅝	Hindoocrait, 3, 75 lbs., Westchester, Aug. 27, 1889	2:48
1⅝	Glidelia, 5, 116 lbs., Saratoga, Aug. 5, 1882	3:01
1¾	Enigma, 4, 90 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 15, 1885	3:20
2	Ten Broeck, 5, 110 lbs., Louisville, May 29, 1877	3:27½
2¼	Monitor, 4, 110 lbs., Baltimore, Oct. 20, 1880	3:41¾
2¼	Springbok, 5, 114 lbs., / Preakness, a, 114 lbs., / Saratoga, July 29, 1875	3:56¾
2½	Aristides, 4, 104 lbs., Lexington, May 13, 1876	4:27½
2⅝	Ten Broeck, 4, 104 lbs., Lexington, Sept. 16, 1876	4:58½
2¾	Hubbard, 4, 107 lbs., Saratoga, Aug. 9, 1873	4: 8¾
3	Drake Carter 4 115 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 6, 1884	5:24
4	Ten Broeck, 4, 104 lbs., Louisville, Sept. 27, 1876	7:15¾

MILES.	HEAT RACES.
¼	Sleepy Dick, a, Kiowa (Kan.), Nov. 24, 1888	0:21½—0:22¼
½	Bogus, a, 113 lbs., Helena (Mont.), Aug. 22, 1888	0:48 —0:48
⅝	Kittie Pease, 4, Dallas (Tex.), Nov. 2, 1887	1:00 —1:00
⅝	Sadie McNairy, 3, 98 lbs., Chicago, July 2, 1883	1:02¼—1:03
¾	Lizzie S., 5 118 lbs., Louisville, Sept 28, 1883	1:13¼—1:13¼
1	Bounce, 4, 90 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 7, 1881	1:42 —1:41½
1	3 in 5. L'Argentine, 6, 115 lbs., St. Louis, June 14, 1879	1:43 -1:44 —1:47¾
1 1-16	Slipalong, 5, 115 lbs., Chicago (Wash. Park), Sept. 2, 1885	1:10½—1:48
1⅛	Gabriel, 4, 112 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 23, 1880	1:56 —1:56
1¼	Glenmore, 5, 114 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 25, 1880	2:10 —2:14
1⅛	Keno, 6, Toledo, Sept. 16, 1880 (1st and 3d heats)	2:43½—2:45
2	Miss Woodford, 4, 107½ lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 20. 1884	3:33 —3:31¾
3	Norfolk, 4, 100 lbs., Sacramento, Sept. 28, 1885	5:27¼—5:29½
4	Ferida, 4, 105 lbs., Sheepshead Bay, Sept. 18, 1880	7:28¼—7:41

†Made in a heat race.
*Doubtful, and made in a heat race.

Feet to Be Healthy Must Be Clean.

Any foul and diseased condition of the foot primarily consists in inflammation and ulceration of the villous and sensitive surfaces within the clefts of the frog; it appears to arise from the continual application of various kinds of dirt and muck, which irritates the tissues both externally and internally. Animals standing continually in foul, damp stables, or in straw yards, are liable to have this disease. Among its first symptoms is a discharge of a fetid mucopurulent fluid from the cleft of the frog, which gradually extends to the neighboring parts, and if neglected may involve the whole foot. This condition produces lameness, and of course constitutes unsoundness.

Carefully remove the diseased horn and thoroughly clean out the excavation with a drachm of carbolic acid, to which must be added one ounce of water. After this the following remedy may be used: Calomel, four drachms; glycerine, two ounces.

This mixture must be put on a pledget of orkum and into the cleft of the frog. Outside this a bandage with some wood tar will do good service and keep the feet scrupulously clean.

P. C. Blood Horse Associat'n.

The opening day of the Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association last Saturday was a success in every respect, the track, which was in exceptional order the week previous having been specially prepared for the record breaking trotters had been cut up a little, but was, nevertheless, very fast, as the time made in different races proves. With the exception of a few prominent trotting horse owners, all the well known horsemen from Sacramento, Stockton, and in fact all over the State, were present. Prominent among the spectators were Senator George Hearst, W. S. Hobart, J. V. Coleman, Adolph Spreckels, Colonel H. I. Thornton, Robert Grayson, Porter Ashe, Will Ashe, Charles Neal, Sands Forman, Joseph Hale, Daniel Murphy, M. H. de Young, Louis Parrott, Alfred Tubbs, F. R. Webster, Downey Harvey, Covington Johnson, Ward McAllister, James Robinson, Lieutenant Thomas Francis Meagher, W. B. Tubbs, Cary Friedlander, Alexander Hamilton, Fred Tallant, Jerome Lincoln, Jr., Leon Weill, C. B. Stone, George A. Knight, Judge Ferral, Robert Effey, George Smith, W. W. Foote, D. A. McDonald, John A. Wise, Harry Wise, George R. B. Hayes, Peter Higgins, Henry Hart, Marion Biggs, Jr., Roger Magee, R. T. Carroll, T. D. Riordan, Edward Fay, Maurice Schmidt, P. A. Finnigan, Irwin C. Stump, Aleck McBoyle, Judge McM. Shafter, Judge Lawler, C. A. Buckley, Carlton Coleman, General Clunie, H. C. Dibble, C. M. Chase, Edwin F. Smith, Calvin Fargo, Chris Green, Dr. Clinton, E. B. Stetson, John Foley, P. B. Quinlan, Charles Webb Howard, W. B. Lambert, A. Jackson, Fred Rathbone, John Morton, Colonel Harned, William F. English, D. T. Biggs, S. H. Seymour, E. H. Miller, Jr., Joe Spanier, Mayor Pond, Alex. McCord, Robert T. Harris, Geo. F. Lundy, L. E. Clawson, Will Dargie, Nick Steiner, L. E. Paulsell, James L. Flood, Dr. Ross, Fred Davis, George Morrow, Robert Tobin, Walter Turnbull, Wilfred Chapman, John D. Spreckels, John Chenowith and Charles Ackerman.

The racing all through was good. The first race was productive of a good contest, Daisy D., with 120 pounds up, running a game race. her effort being greatly appreciated, for the mare is always a great public favorite, while—the winner's—Abi's owner, Col. Thornton, is one of the most popular, straightforward, thoroughbred sportsmen in the State. The two year old and the mile and a half were both won by the Palo Alto representatives. An unfortunate accident spoilt the two year old race, but, fortunately, very little damage was done. Peel ran a splendid race in the mile and a half, winning cleverly when asked in 2:36¾. The six furlong and repeat was unfortunately marred by the start in the second heat, and Kildare, who won the first, could not repeat.

The officers for the day were: Judges—Senator Hearst, M. F. Tarpey and Col. Thornton (Carlton Coleman officiated in place of Col. Thornton during the first race). Timers—C. Green and R. T. Carroll. Starter—Thomas F. Meagher. Secretary—E. S. Culver.

At two o'clock the first race was called up, and betting was fast and furious in books, but the pool box was not much patronized. The Montana contingent backed Jubilee as though the race was all over, while Daisy D. was heavily backed by the talent, who had seen her easily work a good mile in 1.44 two days previous, while the cognoscenti who were at Sacramento recalled Abi's form at the State Fair, when she was second, with 122 pounds up, to Glen Ellen in 1:42¾, and third, with 119 pounds up, to Rico in 1:42, and played their money on her freely at four to one. Of the others, McGinnis, who is always a favorite with the public, carried a good lot of money in small quantities.

In the auction pools Daisy D. $25, Jubilee $25, Abi $15 and the field $13. The starting price in the books was: Jubilee, 8 to 5; Daisy D, 3 to 1; Abi, 4 to 1; Picnic 8 to 1; McGinnis, 8 to 1; Nerva, 30 to 1; Perigrene, 30 to 1.

Place betting: Jubilee, 3 to 5; Daisy D., 1 to 1; Abi, 6 to 5; Rico, 3 to 1; McGinnis, 3 to 1; Nerva, 10 to 1; Perigrene, 10 to 1.

When the seven horses faced the starter, Abi, with her light weight boy, delayed the start for a while, but when the flag dropped they were all together and under way. Hazlitt, on Jubilee, set the pace round the turn, with Abi close up and Daisy D. clear of the rest. Up the backstretch Jubilee drew further away, being a good two lengths in front of the rest. Daisy passed Abi and drew up to Jubilee on the turn, and when well in the straight both were ridden hard, but Daisy had a shade the best of it until Casey, on Abi, who rode with admirable judgment, came through with a rush, and had themall beaten at the drawgate, wining readily by two lengths, Daisy D. a length and a half in front of Jubilee.

SUMMARY.

Purse $400—For three-year olds and upward; $15 entrance from starters to go to the second horse. Winners in 1889 at this distance when carrying weight for age or more of one race to carry two pounds extra; two or more, ten pounds extra. Maidens beaten at this distance, if three years old, allowed seven pounds, if four years old or over, twelve pounds. One mile.

H. I. Thornton's br m Abi, 5, Red Boy—Abi, 103 ..... Casey 1
H. D. Miller's bm Daisy D., a, Wheatley—Black Maria, 120.. Hennessy 2
C. Peterson's b g Jubilee, 3, Kyrle Daly—Joy, 106 ..... Hazlitt 3

Time 1.41.

Ed McGinnis, 118, (Williams); Nerva, 115, (Monahan); Picnic, 106, (Narvez); Peregrine, 118, (Leonard) ran unplaced.

When the excitement had subsided, and Col. Thornton had been congratulated on all sides, he took his seat in the judges' stand, and the three starters were called up for the Ladies' Stake, which was generally conceded to be a gift for the Palo Alto representative Muta, who worked the distance in 1:15 1-5 a couple of days previous. The betting was not very brisk, except for the place Jessie C. carrying a lot of money.

In the auction pools Muta sold for $100 and the field $30. The books had Muta 1 to 4, Whisban 3 to 1, Jessie C. 6 to 1. Place betting: 2 to 5 Whisban, 4 to 5 Jessie C.

There was very little delay at the post, and when the flag fell Muta soon showed a shade in front before an eighth of a mile had been run. Whisban was pulled in behind Jessie C., and striking her, fell on to the rails and threw O'Niel; Jessie C. on suffrance ran at Muta's girths until half way down the straight, when the favorite drew away, winning easily by two open lengths. O'Niel was taken in a carriage to the Villa, where Dr. W. G. Ross, the well known owner of imported Cheviot, attended to him, and reported that though severely shaken, no bones were broken.

SUMMARY.

Ladies' Stakes—For two-year-old fillies; $50 each, $25 forfeit, or $10 if declared out on January 1, 1889; or $20 if declared out on August 1, 1889. All declarations void unless accompanied by the money, with $400 added; second to receive $100, third to save stake. Winners of three stake races to carry five pounds extra. Three-quarters of a mile.

Palo Alto Stock Farm's ch f Muta by Wildidle, dam Mutiny, 107 lbs. ..... Monahan 1
A. G. Todd's b f Jessie C. by Bishop, dam Jennie C., 107 ..... Hennessy 2
L. U. Shippee's ch f Whisban by King Ban, dam Whisperine.... O'Niel 0

Time, 1:16.

When everyone had calmed down, the mile and a half was put on the slates. In the auctions Peel sold for $100, the stable $40, and the field $17. In the books, Peel 1 to 8, Tycoon 5 to 1, Mikado, Hotspur and Coloma 15 to 1 each, Forester 20 to 1. Place betting: Tycoon 4 to 5, Mikado 4 to 1, Hotspur and Coloma 3 to 1, Forester 10 to 1.

After a short delay, caused by the fractiousness of Forester, who behaved in his usual way, the flag was dropped. Mikado was rushed to the front, evidently under orders to make the pace for Tycoon, and so well did he do it that he beat his stable companion. Mikado was followed by Coloma, Peel and Tycoon the first time past the stand, and being urged right along, increased his lead round the turn and into the backstretch. Peel gradually closed up and Mikado, under persuasion, astonished every one by running as game as a pebble, but Peel slowly but surely got up to him, and with Monahan sitting still, won by a neck with something in hand, Tycoon two lengths back third, and Forester last, he and Hotspur being evidently out of their class.

SUMMARY.

The November Stakes—For all ages. $25 entrance, $10 forfeit, with $500 added; $75 to second $25 to third. Winners over this distance this year of two races (handicaps excepted) to carry five pounds; of three such races to carry ten pounds extra. One mile and a half.

Palo Alto Stock Farm's b h Peel, 4, Monday—Precious 118 .. Monahan 1
B. P. Hill's ch h Mikado, 5, Shiloh—Margery, 117 ..... Murphy 2
B. P. Hill's ch h Tycoon, 4, Reveille—Margery, 115 ..... Hitchcock 3

Hotspur, 10, (Dennison); Forester, 115 (Pierce); Coloma, 118 (Harmen) ran unplaced.

Time—2:36¾.

The three-quarter mile and repeat selling race had eleven starters and betting was fast and furious. In the auctions the field sold for $40, Longshot and Ida Glenn $15 each, and Bessie Shannon $8. In the books Ida Glenn sold favorite 3 to 1, Longshot 4 to 1, Oro, Billy D. and Kildare 7 to 1, Applause and Tom Daly 8 to 1, Bessie Shannon 10 to 1, Nabeau and Johnny Gray 15 to 1, Minnie B 25 to 1.

Place betting: Ida Glenn 6 to 5, Longshot 7 to 5, Oro, Kildare and Billy D 2 to 1, Tom Daly and Applause, 3 to 1, Bessie Shannon 4 to 1, Nabeau and Johnny Gray 5 to 1, Minnie B 8 to 1.

After two false starts the flag was dropped to a fairly good start, the big field being moving, and all well together.

Ida Glenn cut out the work at a merry clip, closely followed by Tom Daly, Applause and Billy D. The Montana mare had a good two lengths' lead round the turn, but when fairly in the straight Applause challenged her on one side and Kildare on the other, and after a short struggle Kildare drew away and won easily by two lengths. Applause, who was eased in the last few strides, lost the place by half a length, Tom Daly coming with a rush, Minnie B, Bessie Shannon, Billy D and Johnny Gray were distanced. Time 1:14.

Second Heat. Kildare sold favorite in the pools at $25, Tom Daly $24 and $30 for the field. In the books Kildare was at 8 to 5, Tom Daly 4 to 1, Ida Glenn and Longshot 5 to 1, Applause 10 to 1, and Nabeau 20 to 1.

Very little time was wasted at the post and when the flag fell Oro jumped off in front and opened up a gap of four lengths on Longshot and Ida Glenn. Longshot was ridden hard, and slowly but surely overhauled Oro, and passing him in the stretch won cleverly by a length, Oro second, Ida Glenn third and Kildare fourth, barely saving his distance Nabeau, Tom Daly and Applause distanced. Time, 1:14.

There was a good deal of grumbling about the start and several complaints were made, Applause, Tom Daly and Nabeau, although in line when the flag fell, were not moving. Mr. Mulkey who was given permission to hold his horse's head at the post said he did not blame the starter, the horses were all together when the flag fell, but he held his head as he did not think it would be a start, the riders of Applause and Nabeau said they were watching Mr. Mulkey and did not get off on that account.

There was little or no betting on the deciding heat. Longshot had no price and Kildare was 4-5. Longshot led from start to finish and won cleverly. Time, 1:16¼.

The winner was not sold.

SUMMARY.

Selling Purse, $350; fixed valuation $1,000. Three pounds allowed for each $100 less down to $700, then one pound for each $100 down to $300. Three-quarter mile heats.

J. McBride's ch c, 3, Longshot by Duke of Norfolk, dam by Langford, 108; $1,000 ..... Spooner 4 1 1
M. Storn's ch g, 4, Kildare by Kyrle Daly-Mistake, 99; $500 ..... Casey 1 4 2
J. P. Ross's b g, 5, Oro by Norfolk, dam Golden Gate, 110; $700 ..... Davis 7 2
H. D. Miller's ch m, a, Ida Glenn by Glen Elm, dam Unknown 1 1; $700 ..... H zlett 5 3
C. Mulkey's ch g, a, Tom Daly by Patsy Duffy, dam Sunshine, 98; $500 ..... Narvez 2 dis
W. George's b g, 5, Applause by Three Cheers, dam Alice N, 110; $1,000 ..... D. Dennison 3 dis
Elwood Stable's b g, 4, Nabeau by Nathan Coombs-Beauty 100; $700 ..... Williams 6 dis
G. Howson's g g, a, Johnny Grey by Shiloh, dam Margery, 110; $1,000 ..... Howson dis
S. H. King's b m, 5, Minnie B. by Leinster, dam Unknown, 99; $500 ..... C. Dennison dis
J. Reavey's b m, 3, Bessie Shannon by Shannon, dam Betty Bishop, 95; $700 ..... Murphy dis
H. Schwartz's b g, a, Billy D. by Norfolk, dam Unknown, 107; $900 ..... Monahan dis

Time, 1:14, 1:14, 1.16¾.

CORRESPONDENCE.

The Moor and Flaxtail Families.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I see again an article in your paper from Dr. M. W. Hicks comparing the Flaxtail family with The Moor family. Perhaps this may be a compliment; the Doctor may consider The Moor family as a shining mark (I so take it), yet comparisons are said to be odious. When made they should tell all the truth. This may not have been in the reach of the Doctor, and I will give a few facts which have been omitted.

Flaxtail was sired 1854.

The Moor was sired 1867.

Flaxtail lived in stud service to good old age.

The Moor died when nine years old, and only had 51 foals all told. Say that half of these were mares, then The Moor got one broodmare out of every five mares produced that got a 2:30 performer, which perhaps is an average never attained by any other horse.

As regards the extreme speed attained by some of the Flaxtails, it would be fair to state that it has been at the pace, whereas The Moors have all been at the trot. There are other facts that could be stated now in favor of either horse or family to their advantage which have transpired since Dr. Hick's article was written, and this will continue as long as trotting horses are bred, for both families may be claimed to be remarkable in transmitting speed and of breeding on.

Dr. Hicks is very kind in his high opinion of myself, and I can assure him that I reciprocate; his long illness is not only a misfortune to himself, but to the breeding interests of California, for when well he was full of energy and work, and all his feelings of love went out for his pets, and the Flaxtails did not have many drawbacks in the way of a lack of training. Hoping, however, that his letter may be an indication of his recovery, I am,

Yours sincerely,

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16, '89. L. J. ROSE.

BASE BALL.

Probabilities of a Six-Team League next Season.

The indications at present are that the California League will be increased to six clubs next season. Last week Henry Harris, of the Stockton Club, visited San Jose and succeeded in effecting an organization of prominent business men who will place a strong team in the field next season, of which Mr. Harris will have the management. The same gentleman went to Fresno this week for the purpose of organizing a Club in that city, and he will no doubt be successful in his mission, for the residents of that place are exceedingly anxious to be represented in the League. For a while it looked as though Stockton would throw up her charter and drop out of the base ball arena, but the Slough City papers have taken up the cudgel in defense of the great sport, and it is more than probable that Stockton will have a team of pennant winners in the field again next year.

Sacramento is in the ring to stay and Tom Gleason promises if he can purchase the franchise, to secure a team that will compare favorably with any in the country. Finn and Robinson are already casting about for players for next year and if the Eastern clubs do not gobble up all of our best players, Californians may look forward to a great base-ball boom next season.

The California League season closes to-morrow, and for the first time Oakland gets away with the championship. Colonel Robinson is to be congratulated upon the success which has crowned his efforts to secure a winning team; but he also merits severe condemnation in placing a vulgar hoodlum over his aggregation of gentlemanly ball players. O'Neill is neither a ball-player or a gentleman; on the contrary he is a disgrace to the diamond, and it is an insult to the patrons of the game to continue him on the diamond, yet Robinson has already signed him to captain the Oakland team for next season.

The old enmity between Finn and Robinson has broken out in a new form. The San Francisco manager has announced his intention of compelling the Oakland club to secure grounds in its own city and have its home games scheduled there the same as any other club, or else surrender its charter. Finn rightly claims that under the present arrangement, San Francisco is compelled to support two clubs, and he is tired of dividing the profits of the Haight Street grounds with a club owned in another city.

Fred Carroll says that if he can secure his release from Pittsburg, he will remain in Sacramento and take charge of that club. Fred don't mean it, but he has to make a bluff of some kind every year, and that is as good as any he can conjure up.

Several more of the old time California players will be shelved with the close of this season. Perrier has probably participated in his last championship contest, and Hanley will likewise have to make room for younger blood. Shea will either have to give up his trade or the diamond, and it is likely he will abandon the latter. One or two others will also probably step down and out.

Hardie, Coughlan and Smalley will not be seen in an Oakland uniform next season. The two former will never again play in the same team with O'Neill, while the third baseman is anxious to spend a season in the East. His ambition can easily be gratified, for there are several large clubs that would like to secure him. Hardie will also go East, probably to Chicago, while Coughlan will most likely pitch for San Francisco next year.

Jerry Hurley would like to remain on the coast if he can get as much salary as he does in Milwaukee. There will not be any trouble about that if Harris takes the San Jose club.

There will be a hard struggle among the League managers to secure Tom Power for next season. He would be a welcome acquisition to any team in the country.

The Brotherhood is already beginning to show signs of decay. Jerry Denny, Jack Glasscock and Mark Baldwin have withdrawn, and their example will shortly be followed by many others, until there will not be enough members left to form a single club The boys are wise not to be made tools of by Johnny Ward and his colleagues. The New York shortstop will find himself without any followers next year, and unable to get back into the National or any other league by reason of the black-list. This is as it should be. If Ward had been retired from the game three years ago, both players and stock holders would be better off to-day

Many prominent Eastern players will be seen in California next year. Already the managers are besieged with applications for positions in the various teams. Let us have good ball, no matter were the players hail from.

Condition Powders—the best in the world is Simmons Liver Regulator.

Grim's Gossip.

In Belgium a description of every foal must be sent to the Government immediately after birth.

Imported Intruder, sire of Interpose, the dam of Spokane, will probably make a season in the center of the State.

Of the five George Kinney youngsters that have appeared on the turf, four are winners and two of them stake winners.

R. S. Perkins of the Holton House, Portland, the owner of Guido has been in the city for the past few days, to look after the interests of his colt.

The net profits of the recent Lexington Breeders' Meeting was a little less than $50,000. About $10,000 was paid in stakes, purses and premiums.

Frank H. Burke anticipates that he will have a number of Eros colts to put in the list next year. Good enough, the more the merrier.

If the weather holds good racing will be resumed at the Bay District track to-day. The proverbial luck of the Blood Association still hangs to them.

The great English Eclipse died at the age of 25 and sired three hundred and twenty four turf winners. He was a "roarer" and his heart weighed fourteen pounds.

Born, on the 6th, to the wife of R. Bruce James of Gilroy, California, a son. Mrs. James and son are at the residence of her father, Col. W. H. Wilson, at Abdallah Park, Cynthiana, Ky.

Hon. James White again heads the list of winning owners in Australia. In 31 races 11 horses won for him $72 500. D. S. Wallace, with $51,000, is the only other winner of more than $50 000.

As years rolls around Dan Dennison gets older but he tell his immitable stories as well as ever. It is dollars to doughnuts that whenever he wants to raffle off another horse he will find it difficult to sell chances.

Abi, Col. Thornton's long tailed runner, is by Red Boy out of Abi's daughter by Norfall, out of Abi by Woodburn, out of Peggy Ringgold. Abi's grandam is therefore an own sister of Geraldine's dam, Cousin Peggy.

J. L. McCord of Sunny Knoll Ranch, Sacramento, was in the city last Wednesday, and judging from the flattering accounts we have received from elsewhere he in no way exaggerated the description of Tom Benton's colts.

W. H. E Smith, of Humboldt County, and owner of Susie S., purchased Al Farrow last Tuesday. The price was not stated, but it is known to be in the neighborhood of $5,000. Now the old proposition comes up, does he get reinstated or not?

B. C. Holly of Vallejo, has sold to H. S. Hogoboom of Rhonerville, Humboldt County, the bay colt Headlight, one year old, by Alcazar, dam Young Signal by Arthurton. Also, bay colt, one y ar old, by Woodnut, dam (s. t. b.) by Gladiator.

Some miserable wretch at the Chicago Horse Show, cut a long piece of Justina's handsome tail. She is the property of C. J. Hamlin, of Buffalo and in company with Belle Hamlin has gone a mile in 2:18. A reward of $500 is offered for the capture of the vandal.

The racing meeting advertised to take place at Gilroy, commencing the 18th inst., has been indefinately postponed, the rain having left the track in a bad condition. The disappointment is great as the entries were numerous and a good time had been anticipated.

The following shipment of American trotters has recently been made to Germany: Blanchard, 2:25½, by Daniel Lambert; William C., 2:23¾, by Young Wilkes; Morning Star, no record; Dandy, no record; Busbey, 2:29¼; Scott Newman, 2:27½, and Jersey Thorne.

By Holly not satisfied with owning one Echo mare (world-renowned) is reported to have intimated to John Mackey, the Rancho Del Paso superintendent, that he would like five or six Echo mares. John is said to have replied that he ought to have plenty of that breed already.

J. C. Pickering, one of the best known old-time racing men in Yorkshire, Eng., died at Gainsborough on October 15th, of heart disease. The above clipping has appeared in almost every sporting weekly in America. I suppose it should be Joe Pickersgill.

Ben P. Hill, of San Diego County, will take his stable of race horses East next year if he does not sell them. Already several offers have been made for them, but the price does not suit. Ben has several useful animals and should do well on the Eastern tracks with them.

The New York Sporting World would imply that the racing public who frequent Clifton are very well versed in rules in heat races, for it says: After Young Duke had won two heats at Clifton, many people looked for the tail enders to contest alone for place honors.

Tom Smith, of Vallejo has a grand young colt in his three year old colt, George Washington, 2:20, whose sire is Mambrino Chief Jr. The sire is a fine looker and comes from the very best of trotting lines, he is short of work or another 2:30 horse would have been recorded last Saturday at Napa.

An exchange says barbed wire make a good fence for a hog yard. It does not need to be high, but must be close. Swine soon learn to respect it. Probably it is correct but that is no reason for barbed wire being used to enclose paddocks for thoroughbred youngsters as is done on many farms in the State.

The Friendly Stakes to be run over the courses of the Washington Park Club, Chicago, and the Coney Island Jockey Club at Sheepshead Bay next year is thought very favorable of by many Californian breeders and there will be a good many entries from this State. The only liability for non starters is $25.

Ambassador, the premier stallion at the Kalamazoo Stock Farm, carried off the first premium in the trotting stallion class at the recent Chicago Horse Show. He defeated the noted horse Mambrino King, who was never before beaten in a show ring, and such celebrated horses as Jerome Turner, King Reno, Anteeo and Star Hambletonian.

Dr. C. W. Aby superintendent of the Guenoc Stock Farm is in San Francisco and may stop over to see at least one day's racing. He reports the stallions in good condition and also says that their books are fast filling for 1890.

Mr. C. E Needham feels a little disappointed that he did not get a chance to lower the record of Steve Whipple, 2:23. Epozootic was the cause of him being thrown out of training. Bar accident this grand horse should get about a "16" mark next year. Only a few months ago he showed a mile in 2:17¼.

Messrs Killip and Co. have disposed of the Clydesdale stallion "Boss" and Clydesdale mare "Medamo" recently imported by Mr. John Westrail from Australia to Mr. D. J. Murphy of San Jose at a high figure. Mr. Murphy also purchased from Mr. Westrail three Clyde mares of his last Spring importation.

When Sunol made her wonderful record of 2:18 as a two year old Mr. Nathan Coombs of Napa was one of the judges in the stand. When she made 2:10½ as a three year old at the Bay District track his brother, Hon. Frank L. Coombs, was one of the judges, and he feels highly pleased to think that he can claim that honor.

Mr. Alf Estell has taken a very happy way of expressing his appreciation of the favors and courtesy shown the California Stable during their sojourn at the new Westchester track. One day last week he presented Mrs Ward, wife of Capt. Percy Ward, Superintendent, with a yearling filly by Norfolk, and it is needless to say that the gift was highly appreciated.

Jockey Hennessey has got into trouble, and was taken to Salinas from this city on Wednesday. The story is told that he abducted a girl from her home, but those who claim to know the truth of the matter say, that he is not to blame and that he will most surely be acquitted when a hearing is had.

Chas. Scott, of Napa has purchased from S. C. Davidson, of Witchita, Kansas, the stallion Wilkes Pasha. Mr. Scott had leased the horse for two years, but rather than loose his service he finally brought him outright. Wilkes Pasha 2618 is by Onward 1411, (son of George Wilkes,) dam Fisher by American Clay 34. The price paid is reported to be $1,500.

The Eastern breeders all have their eyes turned toward the noted stallions of the Pacific Coast, and every week mares are arriving to be bred to some of the favorites. Jerome I. Case has sent out two to the San Mateo Stock Farm where they will be stinted to Guy Wilkes. The first is Alco by Princeps 536 dam Althea by Almont 33, 2nd dam Lady by Bourbon Chief 383. The second one is Leontine 2:24¼, (trial 2:17) by Hamlet 160, dam by Clark Chief 89; 2nd dam by Highlander.

And still the entries roll in for the Breeder and Sportsman Futurity Stakes ($3 000 guaranteed) with a regularity that promises to make it the largest stake ever trotted for in California Those who miss making an entry will make a great mistake. Before two years pass every entry in the stake will be worth an enhanced value, owing to being in it. Those who have not received entry blanks should send for them and make entries at once. Ten dollars each is all that is necessary to nominate, and if the mare has no foal the money will be returned.

Samuel Gamble of San Francisco, Cal., on the 9th inst., purchased from C. W. Storey of Chillicothe, O, the bay mare Modjeska, dam of Reference 2:18, by Enfield 128, dam Madonna by Zilcasdi Golddust No. 4400; second dam by Green Mountain Black Hawk; third dam Lucy Adams by Glencoe (thoroughbred), and was immediately shipped to Abdallah Park, Cynthiana, Ky., to join Mr. Gamble's broodmares, which will soon be shipped to California by express.

John Mackey, the Rancho del Paso Superintendent, was in the city this week. He says that in addition to the thoroughbred yearling sale, Mr. Haggin will have a sale of undeveloped trotters every year, and when one considers the quantity of regally bred trotting mares, among them a sister to Beautiful Bells and an Electioneer stallion Albert W., 2:20, the sale should be as great a success as the thoroughbred auctions has been. There are 101 thoroughbred weanlings and 107 trotting weanlings at the Haggin farm.

It is a strange thing that the Eastern papers will not get items right especially when they can rely on the Breeder and Sportsman for information, but no, they will print statements at haphazard, without any regard to the truth or falsity of them. One New York paper is especially at fault in this respect. In the current issue its says that Regal Wilkes made his record 2:20¾ in a special race to beat 2:23, whereas, he made the record in a walkover for the two-year-old, Breeders Association Stake. Give Regal Wilkes all the credit that is due him gentlemen.

I had a call a day or two ago from Wm. Babb, of Oregon who is known to every horseman west of the Rockies. Bill had a complaint to make, he says that the Breeder and Sportsman had done him an injustice in copying an article, relating to himself from the Salem Democrat, which was totally false. He had no connection with Beard in the betting or in the law suit which was brought against Petersen, the owner of Jubilee by Mr. Beard. We supposed the article was correct as the Democrat rarely get the wrong end of the story. I am pleased that Mr. Babb is innocent.

It will be of interest to many of our readers to learn that Ormonde arrived safely at Buenos Ayres yesterday week. As mentioned before in this column, his racing career has ended, and he will now be used solely for stud purposes, and will stand at the ranche of Don Juan Bocau. That gentleman, we may mention, has purchased a number of highly-bred mares, all of which will be put to Ormonde. Amongst them are Floripar, Victorine, Philosophy, Oberhof, Queen of the South and Lady Bountiful.

I have just read a letter written by Mrs. C. R. Noyes, of Boston, one of the most enthusiastic lovers of a good trotting horse to be found in America. The lady says: "I have been offered $5,000 for my Director filly, and on refusing it have twice been asked to name my price. I desire to put her in the great broodmare list as early in life as possible, and can not think of selling her. I have booked her to Bell Boy for next year. When she has had two foals, no money will be spared to give her a low record. I have a filly not quite two years old whose grandams are Green Mountain Maid and Miss Russell I shall in all probability breed her to Director, and expect to get a Maud S. While in Kentucky a few weeks ago, I saw Mr. Veech, and he is having all of his Director colts and fillies worked again. They can all show quarters in from 37 to 45 seconds. He will not sell any more of the fillies, they are showing up so well."

W. J. Gordon, of Cleveland, Ohio, is using for road purposes what is perhaps the most wonderful team ever driven. Guy, 2:10¾, and Clingstone, 2:14, compose it. There is no question that the pair, given a good day and a good track, could easily beat the team record and even do better than the trial mark of 2:15½ made by Aldine and Maud S. When Mr. Vanderbilt drove Maud S. and Aldine, the latter could not go alone faster than 2:19, yet Maud carried her along. Good judges say that Guy and Clingstone could make 2:14 when on edge.

Talking of cripples, what a glorious old fellow the aged Marsh Redon is. For years it has been his wont to pull up dead lame after every race, and yet he jumped out the other day at Clifton and galloped his first half mile in :49. When one "glances down the vistus of the past," as the college commencement orator so loves to say, and sees how very much younger he was when Marsh Redon's handsome colt first flashed across his optical retina, he can scarcely believe that he is still with us in the flesh. As the Juliette colt, he was the contemporary of Barrett, Gildelia and Girofle. The majority of our race-goers scarcely remember that the three last named horses ever lived.

I wonder if the editor will run the blue pencil through this. Robert Bonner says in his open letter that he has read "a not over courteous article," in the Breeder and Sportsman. Indeed! was he very courteous to Mr. Corbett when he singled out Sable Wilkes as a colt that did not train on, why did he not take an example nearer home. When he made the remark, he little thought that his interests would carry him to California within a few weeks, or he never would have made it. Mr. Bonner is at present the guest of the horsemen of the State, and to them I bow, but when he leaves, his own letter shall be the text for a sermon that will reach him in due time, and every other line shall be a subhead.

An effort is being made to render the steeplechases at Nice more interesting than they have been of late years, and to attract English horses by an addition to the value of the prizes. The meeting has been fixed for the 13th, 16th, 19th and 21st of January, and while the three or four biggest races are to be worth from £1,200 to £800 each, none of the prizes will be of less value than £160. This is a step in the right direction, and will, perhaps, have the effect of attracting a better class both of horse and of owner. If the authorities will keep the hands of the Nice police off the English bookmakers, and prevent them fingering money which does not belong to them, the meeting will have a better chance still.

The Pacific Coast Board of Review of the American Trotting Association held a meeting at the Breeder and Sportsman office on Wednesday to listen to the case of Zane & Martin vs. S. C. A. P. Association. Loeber & Heald are the owners of the mare Directa, and it was claimed by the plaintiffs that the payments for the mare in the three year old trotting stake held at Santa Rosa had been made in an irregular manner. After a hearing of the case the Board, which consisted of M. F. Tarpey and Col. H. I. Thornton, decided that the payments had been made in accordance with the conditions and that the owners of the mare were justly entitled to the first money, which she won.

One of the greatest evils connected with the turf during the last few years has been the question of collecting forfeits. It has been the cause of innumerable scandals, and turf legislators have studied night and day for some solution of it, but always without result. Tuesday night, November 5th, however, a move in the right direction was made, and it will receive the hearty commendation of every honest racing man in the country. Representatives of the five leading Eastern jockey clubs met in the rooms of the Coney Island Jockey Club, and, after a little discussion, elected Capt. J. H. Coster forfeit clerk, and hereafter when an owner has a forfeit due him from either one of them, all he will have to do is to apply to Clerk Coster. The custom in force in England is rather better. Have an "Unpaid forfeit list" which includes all due and unpaid entrances, stakes, fines and forfeits, and when once a horse and owner are in the list, neither the owner or the horse can start again until it is paid.

The death of the famous trotting stallion Belmont is announced. He was bred and died at Woodburn. He was a bay horse, foaled in 1864 by Abdallah, dam Belle, by Mambrino Chief. Wallace's "Year Book" for 1889 reports that Belmont was the sire of nineteen trotters and two pacers in the "thirty" list, of which Nutwood has a record of 2:18¾, Wedgewood a record of 2:19, and Viking a record of 2:19½, while seventeen of Belmont's sons were the sires of fifty trotters, and eleven of his daughters were the dams of eleven trotters and two pacers in the "thirty" list.

The death of the famous thoroughbred stallion Whisper is also reported. He was bred by the late Hunt Reynolds and died the property of L. P. Tarlton, who married the widow Reynolds. Whisper was foaled in 1870 and was by Planet, out of Mattie Gross, she by Lexington. He ran a good many races, but having to contend against Tom Bowling, Springbok, Count d'Orsay, Fellowcraft, Strachino and Waverly for the three-year-old stakes in 1873, he was not very successful. Whisper in his four-year-old form met Tom Bowling for the Cups, and he came so near beating Tom for the Monmouth Cup that Bobby Swim had to ride almost for his life. As a sire, Whisper has been fairly successful; his "get," however, proved better stayers than sprinters.

Mr. Theodore Winters has had such remarkable success in the East with his small stable this year, that he will branch out considerably for the season of 1890. The present yearlings will be shipped early in the spring to join the horses now at Westchester. The full brother to El Rio Rey is a beauty and those who have had the pleasure of seeing him move, speak of him with unqualified praise. He was tried a quarter, a short time ago with 128 pounds on his back, and he beat his stable companion San Juan by a head in the remarkable fast time of 23¾ seconds. San Juan carried 115 pounds. The youngsters that will go East may in all probability be found in the following:

B c Rey Del Rey, by Norfolk, dam Marion; ch c San Juan, by Norfolk, dam Ballinette; Judge Post, by Joe Hooker dam Countess Zeicka; blk c Black Bart, by Three Cheers, dam Bonita by Shannon; ch c Average, by Joe Hooker, dam Avail; ch c Uno Grandee, by Joe Hooker, dam Jessie R.; ch f Oleita, by Joe Hooker, dam Mattie Glen; ch f — by Joe Hooker, dam Addie O'Neil; ch f Belle Songer, by Joe Hooker, dam Lou Spencer; ch f Hattie Humphry, by Joe Hooker, dam Alice N. There are also two good two-year-olds which may also be sent, they are b c Chan Haskell, by Norfolk, dam Addie O'Neil; b f Noreitta, by Norfolk, dam Ballinette; ch f Florence A., by Joe Hooker, dam Atalanta by Norkfolk. The colt named after Judge Post of Sacramento promises to be a very fast one.

THE KENNEL.

Dog owners are requested to send for publication the earliest possible notices of whelps, sales, names claimed, presentations and deaths in their kennels, in all instances writing plainly names of sire and dam and of grandparents, colors, dates and breed.

INDIANA KENNEL CLUB.

Third Annual Field Trial.

The Indiana Kennel Club's third meeting was run off at Bicknell, Ind., beginning on November 1st., with the members' slake.

The meeting as a whole was not satisfactory, the weather being unpropitious, the grounds unfavorable, and the management of the spectators injudicious. The lands used were closely cultivated, and the waste grass ground so favored by quails was scarce. The cover was high and green, wholly unsuited to keen and close work, and rabbits were numerous, inducing doubt as to whether the dogs were on fur or birds.

The Members' Stake was judged by Messrs. P. T. Madison and Andy J. Gleason.

The other stakes were judged by Messrs. P. T. Madison, Royal Robinson, J. B. Stoddard and J. R. Freeman. On November 4th Mr. Stoddard judged, but after that day his place was taken by Mr. Freeman because the former had some dogs to run in the trials.

Two new trainers made their debut, Mr. Frank Richards of Stewart, Minn., and Mr. G. R. Howse of Trenton, Tenn.

A detailed account of all the heats in all the stakes will not particularly interest our readers, and we therefore present so much comment as is pertinent, together with summaries, to complete the record.

MEMBERS STAKE.

Three entries appeared. The work was indifferent, the dogs not being nervy and quick.

SUMMARY.

Bicknell Ind , Nov. 1, '89.—Members Stakes, owners to handle. Each member permitted to enter one dog, said entry to be owned by said member ninety days preceding Nov. 1st. Entrance $5, 40 per cent to first, 30 per cent to second, 20 per cent. to third, 10 per cent. to fourth. Special prizes: Silver cup to first, a copy of B. Waters' Modern Training, Handling and Kennel Management to second.

J. R. Freeman's blue belton setter bitch Esther by Don caster—Endora } beat { H A. Comistock's liver and white pointer Hoosier Harry.

J. H. Hunter's orange and white setter bitch Daisy Hunter by Gath's Hope—Daisy F., a bye.

II.

Esther beat Daisy Hunter and won first. | Hoosier Harry beat Daisy Hunter (drawn) and won second.

1st—Esther.
2nd—Hoosier Harry.

SETTER DERBY.

Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 4th and 5th, were warm, and birds plenty, but grounds were so patchy and moves from one tract to another so frequent as to vitiate the work and handicap the dogs.

The first series were trial heats, the dogs to score 60 per cent to entitle them to compete in the remainder of the stake.

Bicknell, Ind., November 4th.—Indiana Kennel Club's Setter Derby. For all setter puppies whelped on or after January 1st, 1888. 1st, 50 per cent.; 2nd, 30 per cent.; 3rd 20 per cent. Forfeit $5. $15 additional to fill. 1st, $150.28; 2nd, $90.17; 3rd, $60.12.

I.

A. J. Gleason's lemon and white bitch, Frankie Folsom, by Marksman--Nellie. } { Rose & Madison's black, white and tan dog, Simonides, by Gath's Hope--Gladys.

J. I. Case Jr.'s black, white and tan dog, Zulu, by King Noble--Nellie Belton. } { Wm. Dingle's black, white and tan dog, King Leo's Boy, by King Leo--Flaxey Gladstone.

Dr. J. McDowell's blue belton bitch, Modesty, by Gath's Mark--Esther. } { D. E. Rose's black, white and tan dog, Hope's Ray, by Gath's Hope--Lady May.

G. R. Howse's black, white and tan bitch, Temple Cambridge, by Count Paris--Nellie Cambridge. } { J. I. Case Jr.'s lemon belton dog, Sam C., by King Noble--Cricket.

G. R. Howse's black, white and tan bitch, Daisy Girl, by Count Paris-Nellie Cambridge. } { J. I. Case Jr.'s lemon Belton bitch, Nannie B., by King Noble—Queen Vashti.

N. B Nesbitt's black, white and tan dog, Braxton Brag, by Roderigo--Lufra. } { George N. Whiteley's orange and white bitch, Lilly Burges.

P. Lorillard Jr.'s black, white and tan bitch, Clochette, by Roderigo--Lavalette, a bye.

II.

Hope's Ray beat Sam C. | Lilly Burges beat Temple Cambridge.
Nannie B beat Simonides. | Daisy Girl beat Frankie Folsom.

III.

Nannie B beat Hope's Ray. | Lillo Burges beat Daisy Girl.

IV.

Lilly Burges beat Nannie B, and won first.

V.

Hope's Ray beat Daisy Girl.

1st—Lilly Burges.
2nd—Nannie B.
3rd—Hope's Ray.

POINTER DERBY.

There were but six starters. The work done was very indifferent in merit. The stake was begun immediately after the Setter Derby was finished. Mr. P. T. Madison was ill during the afternoon, and retired soon after lunch for the remainder of the day.

The first series resulted in the retiring of Electric and Fancy Free, thus leaving four dogs which had scored the necessary sixty per cent. or more. As they were running to determine whether their capabilities were sufficient to make them eligible to compete, and as there was no competition in the first series, a detailed report of it is not of any special value, particularly as the general grade was poor. Electric seemed to have sufficient merit to remain in, taking the performances of the others into consideration; for none of them were brilliant, and the Pointer Derby was much inferior to that of setters.

SUMMARY.

Bicknell, Ind., November 6th.—Indiana Kennel Club's Pointer Derby. For all pointer puppies whelped on or after January 1, 1884. First, 50 per cent; second, 30 per cent.; third, 20 per cent. Forfeit $5, and $15 additional to start. First $67.20, second $40.33, third $26.89.

J. W. Patterson's liver and white bitch, Devonshire Jilt, by Forester—Cherrystone. } { Walter H. Holmes' liver and white dog. Thomastone, by Cornerstone—Firenzi.

Herman T. Schmidt's liver and white dog, Robert Spring, by Hairspring—Diables. } { James B. Turner's liver and white bitch, Pearl's Dot, by Trinket's Bang—Pearlstone.

Worthington Hoyt's liver and white bitch, Fancy Free, by Donald—Lady Bow. } { Frank Carlisle's orange and white dog, Electric, by Croxteth—Young Beulah.

II.

Pearl's Dot beat Fancy Free. | Thomastone beat Devonshire Jilt.

III.

Pearl's Dot beat Thomastone and won first.

IV.

Fancy Free beat Devonshire Jilt.

V.

Thomastone beat Fancy Free and won second.

1st—Pearl's Dot.
2d—Thomastone.
3d—Fancy Free.

ALL AGE SETTER STAKE.

One heat of the stake was run on November 7th, when rain began and running was suspended for the day. On Friday the weather was cloudy and threatening, but no rain fell during the day, excepting a light drizzle toward night. Mr. Madison was in better health and resumed his position as judge. A moderately strong wind blew from the south. The grounds were wet and heavy. The cold, rainy weather had affected the habits of the birds, they being wilder, in many instances running from the dog's points, and also when the dogs were roading. Saturday was rainy until noon, when a start was made. The cover was wet and heavy and the birds acted badly, running and being wild.

SUMMARY.

Bicknell Ind., Nov. 7, 1889.—All-Age Setter Stake.—Open to all setters which have never won a first prize in an all-age stake at any recognized field trial in America. First, 40 per cent; second, 30 per cent.; third, 20 per cent.; fourth, 10 per cent. Forfeit, $10; $15 additional to fill.

I.

N. B. Nesbitt's (agent) lemon and white bitch, Babe Gladstone, by Paul Gladstone—Bessie A. } { J. D. Sperry's black and tan Gordon dog, Stubble, by Malcolm—Dream IV.

Gen. W. B. Shattuc's black, white and tan dog, Noble Dido, by Count Noble—Dido II } { Maj. J. W. Renfroe's black, white and tan dog, Dan Gladstone, by Gladstone—Sue.

Bert Crane's black, white and tan bitch, Maud, by Dog Whip—Harrison's Juno W. } { W. H. Daley's black, white and tan dog, Count Eric, by Count Noble—Fannie W.

A. J. Gleason's blue belton bitch, Dashing Dixie, by Dashing Dale — Dashing Model. } { George W. Ewing's black, white and tan dog, King's Dan, by King Noble—Elsie Belton.

J. I. Case, Jr.'s black, white and tan dog, Sam C by King Noble—Cricket. } { Clarence Swanman's blue belton bitch, Dot Belton, by King Noble—Elsie Belton.

J. I. Case, Jr.'s blue belton dog, King Mark, by King Noble—Belle Belton. } { W. R. Huntington's black, white and tan dog, Beaumont, by Prince Royal—Nettie.

Frank Richard's blue belton dog, Blue Mark, by Gath's Mark—Lufra. } { J. I. Case, Jr.'s blue belton bitch, Nannie B, by King Noble—Queen Vashti.

Fred H. Kennedy's black and white ticked dog, Prince Royal H, by Royal Ranger—Daisy Queen a bye.

II

King's Mark beat King's Dan. | Maud beat Stubble.
Dan Gladstone beat Babe Gladstone. | Dashing Dixie beat Sam C.
Beaumont beat Noble Dido. | Blue Mark beat Nannie B.

III.

King's Mark beat Dan Gladstone. | Dashing Dixie beat Blue Mark.
Maud beat Beaumont. |

IV.

King's Mark beat Maud. | Dashing Dixie, a bye.

V.

Dashing Dixie beat King's Mark and won first.

1st—Dashing Dixie.
2nd—King's Mark.
3rd—Maud.
4th— { Blue Mark.* / Dan Gladstone.*

*Divided.

A summary of the all-age Pointer Stake is necessarily deferred until next week.

Sales.

Mr. E. W. Briggs has sold to Mr. W. D. Howe, of San Francisco, a white and lemon pointer dog by Climax—Drab D. Whelped April 7, 1889.

Mr. A. B. Truman (Elcho Kennel, San Francisco) has sold to Mr. Jos. King, San Francieco, the white and liver pointer dog Rab T., whelped Aug. 5, 1888, by Rush T.—Champion Patti Croxteth T., winner of third and special, San Francisco, 1889.

Also, to Mr. John Rowen, Oakland, an Irish Red setter bitch, whelped July 30, 1887, by Champion Mike T—Champion Lady Elcho T.

Also, to Mr. Chas. Doberty, Oakland, an Irish red setter dog, same litter as preceding.

Also, to Mr. Chas. Schmiedell, San Francisco, and Irish red setter dog, same litter as preceding.

Also, to Dr. James Stanton, an Irish red setter bitch, same litter as preceding.

Also, to Mr. C. D. Thomson, Laird, Colo., an Irish red setter bitch, litter sister to preceding.

Also, to Mr. J. Jordan, Napa, an Irish setter bitch, whelped Jan. 5, 1888, by Champion Mike T.—Champion Lady Elcho T.

Whelps.

J. C. Nattrass' (Clearbrook, Whatcom County, W. T.) Judith, Red Irish setter bitch (Champion Brush—Lucille) whelped on November 6th, 1869, fourteen, eight dogs, by his Nat Glencbo (Champion Glencho—Maid).

Mr. M. P. McKoon's (El Cajon, San Diego County, Cal.) Cocker spaniel bitch Floss, No. 10,417 A. K. C. S. B., (Fleet—Col. Stubbs) whelped six puppies, October 29th, 1889, sired by owner's Cocker stud dog Rex by Capt. Stubbs, ex Dot, three of the dogs being beautiful orange and white.

Names Claimed.

Mr. A. B. Truman (Elcho Kennel, San Francisco) claims the following names:—

For pointers whelped Aug. 5th, 1886 by Rush T—Champion Patti Croxteth T:—

KING CROXTETH, liver and white dog.
CRICKET CROXTETH, liver and white bitch.
QUEEN CROXTETH, liver and white bitch.

Also for an Irish red setter bitch whelped Jan. 5th, 1888, by Champion Mike T—Champion Lady Elcho T:—

PAT ELCHO.

Mr. W D. Howe claims the name DON for a white and lemon pointer puppy by Climax—Drab D, whelped April 7th 1889.

The president and secretary of the Pacific Coast Field Trial Club left for Bakerfield last night to draw the grounds and arrange for the trials in Janurary.

Mr. C. E. Sherman, of the Kern County Californian, to whose brilliant pen the field trial interests, and those of sport in general, owe so much, was in the city last week. He went away full of various fullnesses, the chief being admiration for our brisk city and its rapid progress toward metropolitanism.

We urge our readers to attend the meeting of the Occidental Coursing Club at Ocean View Park on Thanksgiving Day. The meetings of that club are always unexceptionable in every respect, and the sport can be enjoyed with certainty that no roughness or unseemliness will be permitted. The Park is reached from Fourth and Townsend streets at 7:25 and 10:30 A. M.

THE GUN.

Twenty Years Ago.

November 15, 1869, Joe M. Bassford Jr. and A. Perkins, two young men went gunning out near the Springs. Joe Bassford did'nt know so much about a gun as he does now, and accordingly was dragging his along the ground by the muzzle, when it was discharged. The shot ranged from his wrist to his shoulder lacerating the flesh badly. Some of the shot struck Perkins in the leg. Drs. Brown and Frisbie attended the wounded men.

[That same Joe Bassford is about thirty five years younger than he was twenty years ago, in everything relating to sport. Wherever big trout hide, or quails whistle, or bucks snort, either Joe, or some other one of the ten or eleven sport-loving Bassfords is likely to be there ready for the cream of the fun.—ED]

To the Top of Mt. Whitney.

[By C. E. Sherman.]

XII.

No physician has yet betaken himself to the classifying of mental diseases in the language of every day. In their unfortunate absence, it may be presumed after a laymanlike way, that the zeal which led the Pilgrims to ascend unto such high places, was a sort of mental fever. While under its influence they tugged and toiled and sweated manfully, reaching their goal, and there goaded by a mental enthusiasm far and away beyond the ordinary human level, they experienced moments of rapture rarely given. There they were, mountain high, miles away from their kin and kind, loftily elevated indeed. But; there is always a hush that follows the prayer; next after fever, whether toward worse, convalescence or chill, is a grim state. So with the Pilgrims. They were very much on top, but night was at hand, and exaltation is like fireworks, in that it flashes and quits. To get a long ways down hill to where something substantially satisfying could be had; a something which sign painters generally designate as "food and lodging," was a gruesome need stepping right upon the heels of sky scraping. They did it, but utterly devoid of mental fever to be sure, until within the potent sway, of the savory smell of smoking viands. The next day there was little show of convalescence unless universal grumpiness might be construed as a promising sign.

All however, recovered and investigated the shaking sod, where by jumping up and down, the turf for many feet around, vibrates something like span on a bridge under similar trial. This leads to the belief that this meadow, in parts at least, is not founded upon a rock, or upon sand, not upon anything firmer than water or quicksilver, with the odds all in favor of water.

The Enthusiast wanted some grasshoppers hereabouts, and none to be had, but his trained ear heard a buzzing not exactly in the order of sounds natural. He followed up his ear—which is ordinarily pretty hard to do—and discovered that grasshoppers in this region can be caught galore. The ground dries and cracks in places, just as anywhere little fissures form in helter skelter direction when mud dries. Driven by instinct, or quite likely by cold, these hoppergrasses crawl into these cracks, and by turning the clods over can be caught by scores in the early morning when too chilly to exercise their provided means of self defence and jump out of reach. In this connection it is said, that a pre-eminent member of the Pilgrim band, confidentially relates a history—which somehow cannot be caught for paper—of how a large man hunted a small grasshopper all over an immense country for a tremendous length of time, and didn't seem to catch anything except the fidgets.

Throughout this region the quaking asp can be found, along the flats and nearing the hillsides. By sheep men it is found, to be hailed with pleasure, and felled with one stroke of a sharp axe, that the wandering herd may browse upon its leaves. To burn, slash and destroy is the sheep man's delight. The title to the Monache Meadows seems to come somewhere in the line of an uncompleted chain of evidence. It has grown to be a valuable possession, commanding a substantial annual rental, and its fair fields lie undisturbed under the summer's sun and the winter's ermine, but the question of who shall become the residuary legatee of this choice bit of Nature has been in the Courts for years.

The ascent of Olanche peak 12 700 feet above the level of the sea, in the very heart of the Sierra Nevadas, guarded by the rugged escarpments which mountain chains always throw out against the easy access of men, is in no wise a slight achievement. Camp Grant 8,400 feet elevation was left at 9 a. m. The horses did their duty up to noon and 11,375 feet high. Then the spirit of those who were bound to get there, made the bodies trudge, passing timber line at 11,500 feet and reaching the very topmost summit at 1:30. And then coming down to Camp Grant again, with most thankful sensations at 5:30 p. m.

The day following, bodily rest being urgent and the mind weak, fish stories were in demand and all unsatisfactory, as not taking sufficient license, until the camp was pleasantly surprise by the advent of a known before in comer. By strong urging he yielded and said, "Gentlemen and friends, I will tell you a true fish story. I had a horse, which was almost more than a brother, and what he didn't know about a good many things, I couldn't tell you, you know. And we went out riding, one day, and we came to a chasm something like a hundred feet wide you know, and I didn't know how we were going to make it. I knew you know, that my horse was pretty good on the jump, but I didn't know you know, if that wasn't too much for him. So I talked to him, pretty much confidentially you know, and walked out to the edge of that big crack, and he shook his head you know. Well, we considered the thing awhile and he didn't seem quite sure you know, but finally, I had so much confidence in him that I thought he could make it anyhow you know, and so we walked back about fifty yards and then came for it. The noble old horse was getting right down to his best you know. His ears were pointed straight ahead, his neck outstretched and I could feel him under me you know, in his steely strength like a mighty giant. We reached the very edge you know, and with a grand uprear, he shot out to make the mighty leap you know. He saw he couldn't do it, quicker than I did you know, and so he turned right square around and we landed back on the same side you know. That is why I am here, where I had no thought of being you know, but I really believe that if I had given him about a hundred yards for a running start you know, and the old hole hadn't been more than five or six feet across, we would have jumped it anyhow you know."

How an Emperor Goes Shooting.

[Dispatch to the London Daily Telegraph.]

The Emperor's hunting party in Styria is now favored by splendid weather. The royal hunters went out singly the other day, and Prince Leopold of Bavaria made the largest bag. Yesterday morning the entire party, after having gone out to hunt early, returned for mass at 9:30, it being the Emperor's fete day. The life led in the little hunting box is of the simplest, a game of cards being the greatest gayety ever indulged in after the day's laborious and fatiguing sport. At 9 the imperial huntsman and his guests retire to rest. The house contains a large number of rare works of art, the finest being a collection of carvings in wood The entrance hall is decorated with a wealth of trophies of the hunt, and beneath every pair of stag's horns is the name of the huntsman who killed the animal and the date. On the Emperor's writing table is a portrait of the Crown Prince Rudolph at the age of ten. The room used by the Crown Prince whenever he went to Muerzsteg remains unoccupied and in exactly the state he left it in a year ago. The stables belonging to the hunting box hold a large number of horses, and the party always drives in carriages to the wild district where the chamois are to be found. While it was not possible for the late Crown Prince of Austria and the Prince of Wales to kill a single bear this time last year, a great number of bears have recently showed themselves in the Carpathians. At one place some bears were discovered in a field of oats, and a mother with two young cubs killed. In another place a bear which had been wounded attacked the huntsman and tore his flesh off.

Lassoed a Deer.

While in the vicinity of Lake Tahoe, a week or so ago, in charge of R. C. Swift's horse, Charles Dickerman captured a two year old buck in an unusual manner. He was riding on horseback, when he heard the deer coming through the brush, Getting his lariet ready he waited until the animal came into the open ground, when he swung the noose with such dexterity as to catch the buck by the horn. With the assistance of two or three of his companions, Mr. Dickerman got the deer into camp, and afterwards it was tied alongside of a pack horse and driven with the band of horses all the way down to Mr Swift's ranch on Dry Creek, where it was kept for a few days. Saturdy evening the young buck was brought into town and led up and down Main street, exciting considerable couriousty. It was given to Mich Hammer, who took much pride in its possession for a few days, but he is now disconsolate, for the deer was found dead in the yard where it was kept, Thursday forenoon, having hung itself with the rope with which it was tied,—Jone Valley Echo.

A Cruise of the "Marshall."

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—A few weeks ago an invitation was sent to the writer to join Mr. Austin B. Sperry and Mr. J. H. Budd, of Stockton, on the trial trip of a new shooting boat just completed for them. The invitation was peculiar, in that it outlined a round of sport covering everything from free sailing to honker shooting. A Friday afternoon was set as the time for leaving Stockton, and at the appointed hour this scribe sauntered along the levee, wondering what extraordinary occasion could necessitate the string of delivery wagons which streamed to a point a few hundred yards from the steamer landing. Butcher carts, grocers carts, carts that carried wicker packages, dainty phætons freighted with fair faces, all stopped by the slough side where was anchored a curio in the way of boats.

The builder and part owner, Mr. Oscar Marshall, was aboard stowing away luggage and making everything shipshape. Along toward 3 o'clock a naptha launch was hailed and engaged to tow the sailboat a few miles down the slough to a point where sailing room could be found. When the launch had fastened to the catamaran, everything was cast loose, and as way was gained, a bottle of beer was smashed over the bowsprit of the "Cat," and the boat christened the "Marshall."

The hours of towing were spent in a study of the craft. Three hulls about thirty feet long, and braced firmly together by iron rods and heavy timbers did the floating. The outer hulls were copied from the ordinary Chinese junk. The middle hull was simply a narrow box in which the mast and rudder were stepped, the hull acting like a keel. Over the hulls a roomy deck was built, and a commodious cabin with five nice bunks, cupboards, place for stove, etc. Ample canvas was in place, and all had been done by the builder to make the catamaran the most comfortable boat it was ever my lot to board.

The only trouble was with the crew. There were seven of them, all captains. Col. Jim H. Budd, Austin B. Sperry, Oscar Marshall, Frank E Lane, A. C. Chalmers, Chas Rich and this scribe were the crew. The key note of the trip was Col. Budd's tirelessly repeated "Let me do it."

When the launch was cut loose and the actual sailing began, the trouble also commenced. The rudder only had one tiller, and the seven captains insisted on steering. Then one of them intimated an intention to handle the jib sheet. The rest immediately were fired by the same desire, and the seven hauled on the sheet while the poor old "Cat" steered itself. If one captain began to sweep the deck the others pounced on him with Comanche yells, and made him quit. This scribe was the cutest of the officers. He contented himself with standing by and yelling Col. Budd's slogan, "Let me do it "

The Catamaran under its able manning sailed nearly a mile ahead during the first twelve hours, not counting the distance made in whirling about when all the captains were doing something beside steering. It was actually dangerous at times, the way the captains acted. If one of them started into the rigging to look out, the rigging was instantly full of captains and the way in which they conversed was peculiar. It may have been sea talk, but it sounded like a mixture of longshore, fish market, trading boat, duck shooting conversation. Captain Lane was usually highest in the rigging, and his notion of conversation was to order the other captains down to the tiller or the jib sheet, in terms that would have scared every duck out of the tule if any had been there.

The captains sailed and sailed exactly as fast as the tide and when the tide turned so did the captains.

The Catamaran behaved beautifully, minding its own business strictly, until it grew dark and the captains tied the boat to the tule and began preparing supper. A new gasoline stove of the most approved pattern was after strenuous effort filled with gasoline and six of the captains stood by.

Chalmers applied a match to one of the burners. The stove was soon burning merrily, and the captains each washed a potato, really the only thing any one of them could do unassisted.

Chalmers soon had a course of rich beefsteak, baked potatoes, golden toast and coffee rivalling that of New Orleans, ready.

After the captains were gorged they went to bed like pelicans and made noises like honkers all night. Before retiring, catfish lines were set, and in the morning several fine fish were pulled in, averaging three or four pounds in weight. It may be said, in parenthesis, that the lives of the captains were saved by catfish. When the beef was finished and the wet groceries exhausted, the catfish was still there.

On Saturday morning, the floods came, but the just captains feared nothing. They hoisted sail and ran before a fair wind for a mile or so until the mouth of Middle River was reached. There an adverse current and a headwind made progress impossible except by setting a few captains out in duck boats and letting them rustle an ashen breeze. The captains did not know anything about rowing, and none of them had ever been on water more than two or three feet deep before, so the long suffering old Catamaran was hitched to the tule and the captains went cat fishing. It rained all the time, and not one of the captains knew whether he would ever see home and friends again; but somehow between Austin Sperry's sardonic cruelty Colonel Budd's brilliant defiance of the elements, Frank Lane's artistic characterization of hard luck and judicious admixture of various cordials, the day was one of the happiest ever passed. None of the captains had more than half a suit of clothes, and most of the mariners were in bed a great part of the time while garments dried. No sooner dry than a trip aloft or to one of the catfish lines would bring a captain in soaking.

